Mayor's advisory committee recommends approval

Theater redevelopment process starts first hurdle

By Nancy Parmenter

The proposed development of the former Punch and Judy Theatre by the Farmington Hills Mayor's Advisory Committee was deposited at the Farmington Hills, Michigan, city council for review and approval at its meeting on May 20. The developer, Robert Ediger is seeking approval for two variances. His advisory committee had no problem with the height or the parking because the committee divided philosophically. However, there is a problem with parking and those in favor of the proposal felt the developer should provide parking and those who felt parking was not an issue. The developer, Matt Halbert, says he is going to extend the building and add parking.

Change of pace

This is the way it went. The development, which is being monitored by a Harper Woods police officer, is for two while males involved in an armed robbery.

The description was one male with short hair and one male with a mustache. The officer followed them when they entered the bank. The officer was monitoring the bank, but told us a lot about two different race tracks that used to ply their trade. It seems he was in the Village of Lochmoor back in 1927. The development does not meet the requirements of the developer, Mast. The study proposed that the developer build a park and add parking.

NEW JAPANESE ‘SUPER PILL’ INSURES RAPID WEIGHT-LOSS
No Gobbling—Eat All You Want, Pill Does All The Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA—An amazing new pill designed to help you lose weight has just been approved for distribution in the United States. Experts insist you can take this pill continuously for as long as you want and you will lose more than a pound a day without changing your eating habits or lifestyle. After only five days you will reach your ideal weight. If you are more than 30 pounds overweight, the pill will actually ‘unslow’ your metabolism so you can lose weight at a faster rate.

In Japan the pill has been used for over 100 years to produce rapid and sustained weight loss. In Japan, the pill is also widely used by prison inmates as a weight loss drug. The pill works by stimulating the production of certain hormones which affect your metabolism. The pill is completely safe and has never been reported to cause any side effects.

New ‘Super Pill’ Is Sweeping the Country

It’s reported that the pill called Amltol has never been more popular. People are taking it in droves and are losing weight at an alarming rate. The pill is so effective that people are even starting to use it as a weight loss maintenance drug. The pill is available at all major drugstores and is also available by mail order.

Limited time offer

Buy 60 capsules and receive 30 capsules free for only $25.00. Contact Dyna Labs at 1-800-441-5454 for more information.

Fishing hot spots highlighted on cable

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The Grosse Pointe Woods Council is promoting the area in localorigination programming guides as a fishing destination and is planning to show highlighting local hot spots for fishing from cable TV. The program will show fishing hot spots including Lake St. Clair, the Detroit River, Belle Isle, and the Grosse Pointe Woods harbor. It will be part of the "Outdoors" series of programs produced by the council, and one of the shows will be "Fishing Hot Spots in the Grosse Pointe Woods Area." The shows are expected to be aired on local cable channels in the near future.

Fishing was good for the anglers. "I caught a good size walleye," said one angler. "I've been fishing here for years and this is one of the best places to fish." The council hopes to highlight the area's fishing potential in the guide and encourage more anglers to visit.

The council plans to send the program to every Farm Council representative in the area. The program will also be available on the council's website. The council encourages people to visit the area and enjoy the fishing opportunities available.

MOOSE, car prove mutually devastating

Dear Tom Greenwood,

Well, it was quite a vacation for the Radnicks, residents of the Woods, when they ran into trouble in Ontario's Algoma Provincial Park.

The Radnicks, visiting the park, were whitewater rafting on the highway when they encountered trouble.

The front of the car was damaged, but the Radnicks were unharmed.

The радnicks were able to continue their vacation, despite the damage to their car.

The cost of repairs was covered by their insurance.

The Radnicks are now planning to return to the park for a second vacation.

The Radnicks were grateful for the assistance of the park rangers.

The Radnicks decided to cancel their vacation and return home.

The Radnicks expressed hope that they will be able to return to the park in the future.

The Radnicks would like to thank the park rangers for their help.

The Radnicks are looking forward to their next vacation.

The Radnicks believe that the experience was a lesson in the importance of preparation.

Prime Time for senior citizens

By Marian Trainor

It's not for the weak, but if you want to have a year in Ireland at the time of the oldest and in parlor, there was no lot of furniture in there, but it was empty and it looked empty. Nothing would do. But some people already are making demands that the state be added to the Grosse Pointe budget for the future, the five-year plan facility and especially the criteria to be developed for continued population in that city is expected to be required in the year-

The Detroit News sale

For metropolitan Detroit and other Michigan residents, there is both good news and bad news. In the sale, the Detroit News, the Parade, and the Free Press, both were purchased by the Gannett Co., the nation's largest chain newspapers.

Tax amnesty on the way

Now that the Blrichard administration is back in control, Whelan Byrd, the head of the state income tax department, has announced plans to make the state's income tax system more equitable. The plan, the way they see it, is to reduce the income tax and increase the state sales tax. This would result in a reduction of sales tax revenue and an increase in income tax revenue.

1812 now appears to be a year of great significance in Ireland. It is believed that 1812 was the year of the last great famine in Ireland. The famine was caused by the potato blight, which decimated the potato crop and led to widespread starvation.

Dublin was our next stop. Many were delighted because there were many to take pictures of views that just couldn't be passed up. One stop was at Waterford, one of Ireland's most historical buildings. It is an ancient city, which played a major role in the nation's history. There were many other interesting sites to see, but not enough time to visit them all.

Dublin, the largest city, had its own number of other places to visit. It was decided to try to get there, but not enough time to visit them all.
Special interest classes start this month

Among the offerings is a course for adults scheduled for this fall that is entitled "Socially Relevant Education." The course is designed to "offer a well-rounded view of the social issues that are the focus of national and local concern," according to the description.

The majority of the classes are offered in the evening, with a few daytime classes for those who are unable to attend in the evenings. The schedule is available for pickup at the Information Desk at the Buhl Center, or you can call 208-3066 for more information.

It's fall — don't blink!

Peggy O'Connor

Fahrenheit: Most Michigan October days have been disappointing in the last few years, and October 2000 was no exception. The month began with a beautiful beginning and ended with a flurry of frost. The reasons for this are manifold.

First, Michigan October weather is often characterized by cool, crisp days with blue skies and white clouds. However, in recent years, these conditions have been rare. Instead, October has been dominated by warm, humid weather, which has resulted in a delay of the fall weather pattern.

Second, the jet stream patterns during October can vary widely from year to year. In recent years, the jet stream has been positioned further south than usual, which has prevented the cold air from moving in from the north. This has resulted in a delay of the fall weather pattern.

Finally, there is a possibility of a Madden-Julian Oscillation (MJO) event, which can cause a delay in the fall weather pattern. The MJO is a pattern of atmospheric waves that travel around the globe, and its influence can be felt in the weather pattern.

In summary, October weather in Michigan is often unpredictable, and it is important to be prepared for different weather conditions. However, with the right preparations, you can enjoy the fall weather and make the most of the season.
Alberghetti picks only plum assignments

By Elka Frohman

For Anna Maria Alberghetti, finding the right plum assignments is more important than ever. She has given up the glamorous life of the stage for the more mundane tasks of school administration. But Alberghetti has not been idle. She has been busy taking care of her new role as a performer, and now she is busy basking in the spotlight.

Alberghetti will be taking on one of her most important assignments this month as part of the new administration of her life as a performer. She will be taking care of the character of Jean, a world-famous Italian singer, for better or for worse.

Alberghetti's rise to fame came after she had achieved all she had ever dreamed of in her career. She had achieved all she had ever dreamed of in her career, and now she is back to work to fulfill her dreams.

GP Children’s Theater set for auditions

Grosse Pointe Children’s Theater will hold auditions for its fall season on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 6 and 7, at 6 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Former members of the theater will register on Friday. Sept. 6, grade school students from 4-6 p.m., junior high from 7-9:30 p.m.

Those auditioning will be directed to the first floor of the school. On Saturday, auditions will be held separately for grammar school from 10:30 a.m. and junior high through high school (noon-2:30 p.m.). All auditions will be held at the same location.

There will be four productions this season. All parts will be cast at the end of The William Tell Auditions. The theater will begin its season on Saturday, Sept. 21. Members will meet for one hour and one-half and a half sessions. Those auditioning are encouraged to bring a resume.

Students will be required to read in creating costumes, scenic ratings, drama, characterization, movement, stage terminology. They will audition for professional theater, singing and dancing. They will also have a chance to participate in several productions.

Auditions are open to all students, and those interested should contact the school custodian.

Acid rain

Sailing on Music Clemens the week of Aug. 16, ten times more trace acids than would exist according to the Michigan Acid Rain Watch Monthly Report.

The rain in Sound Clemens measures a pH of 4.5, which is slightly lower than 4.65 and makes it unlikely to be harmful to environments. It is believed that some waterbodies that prolonged exposure to acid rain could be damaged because of trees, snails, and other organisms by analyzing and comparing water compositions by a group from the Charles River's Foundation.

New cable series to tempt viewers

By Mike Andrejczyk

You're tired of the same old daytime talk shows and abc news magazine? Then you have to tune in to the newest cable show, "You Can Do It". The show is hosted by WDIV's Diana Potter, who brings a new perspective to the world of television.

The show is set in a busy newsroom, where Potter and her staff are hard at work. The show features a wide variety of guests, including celebrities, experts, and ordinary people who have faced challenges in their lives.

Potter's goal is to help viewers feel empowered to take control of their own lives. She shares stories of people who have overcome adversity and offers practical advice for dealing with a wide range of problems.

The show is shot in a modern, high-tech studio, which features state-of-the-art equipment and cutting-edge technology. The set is designed to be visually appealing and engaging, with bright colors and dynamic lighting.

The show is shot in a variety of formats, including interviews, panel discussions, and short segments. The show is designed to be easy to watch and accessible to viewers of all ages.

The show is broadcast on cable channels in the Detroit area, and is also available online. Viewers can watch the show anytime, from the comfort of their own homes.

The show is produced by WDIV, and is distributed by the Detroit Free Press. The show is also available for syndication to other cable networks.

Overall, "You Can Do It" is a refreshing addition to the world of television. With Diana Potter's contagious energy and positive attitude, viewers will find inspiration and motivation to take control of their lives and achieve their goals.

Summer memories

All in all, it’s a pretty nice summer month. Sun, rain, too, and lots of sunshine. These sailboarders were captured walking out the gate of the Ferne-Port Park after a hard day working on the lake. And this daredevil diver, left, is about to make a very big splash at the Woods Park. Scenes like these will become rarer with time, as school opened this week.

GI Bill offered to reservists, National Guard

Military men and women and the National Guard are now eligible for GI Bill education benefits if they sign up before June 30, according to Gordon W. Clower, Director, Office of the President, at the Selective Reserve Educational Assistance Act of 1984 (the new GI Bill) which became law recently. The reservists must enlist, reenlist or extend their enlistment for at least six years in the Selective Reserve before June 30, 1984.

The monthly benefits for reservists are determined on a sliding scale for three-year and six-year enlistments. The minimum monthly benefits are $90 for one month and $550 for six months.

The monthly benefits for National Guard men must be reported to the Selective Reserve and National Guard members and those in the Selective Reserve and National Guard may sign up for the benefits at least six years before June 30, 1984.

Three local sisters to make music together

By Eha Frenkan

The Leon sisters, Stephanie, Suzanne, and Kelly, friends can meet almost any time of the day, at least every week or so, for a weekend, an hour or an afternoon. But this weekend they will take time out of the usual schedule to give a rare joint concert at the Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church. The concert is part of a local phenomenon—Daughters of the Algonquin, sisters of musicians—playing with orchestras, festivals and in other settings.

Sisters Stephanie, Suzanne, and Kelly Leon are all accomplished pianists. Each member of the family is at a different level, but they have the same drive to perform and the same hardworking spirit. "The Leon sisters aren't the only ones. Other families have that building," says Grosse Pointe resident, Jack Zimmern, who is chairman of the Board of Directors of the Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church.

I knew pretty much from the beginning, she said: "When I was young and playing, I wanted to do it even when the siblings were apart, mostly from the fall to the spring. When they were together they met up with other professionals and would play duets and trios. They have a special relationship and are able to do it as a team."

The Leon sisters say their decision to perform together came about slowly. "When we started making music together, it was a great moment to perform together. It's exciting for the others," she added.

When an event or a concert is to be held, the family is involved from the beginning. When they are dedicated to their music, they do not allow any other interests interfere with their music. They have been playing together for over the years, it has been their practice depending on whether they have a special event to plan or a free weekend to have fun by without other practice.

Suzanne, the oldest sister, is the pianist of the group. "Stephame and Suzanne were the only two sisters who have prepared one special selection of the concert," Suzanne said.

"It's exciting for the others," she said. "When we started making music together, it was a great moment to perform together. It's exciting for the others," she added.

The plain truth is that most underharnessed babies die in infant car seats because it is not unreasonable for them to be "found out" dead when they are smart enough to buckle up. Seat belts are easy enough to wear early enough to protect against one of the most powerful threats to your unborn baby. But what about after the baby is born? Buckle your seat belt for baby's sake.

Sitting down to a plate of bean burritos, I asked my friend to comment on the current state of American cuisine. "What's going on here?" he said. "The food is so bad. It's like we've lost our way."

But then he took a bite of the burrito and his face lit up. "Oh, my god," he said. "This is amazing. This is what we've been missing."

It's true. Americans have been searching for a new direction in food, and they've finally found it. Bean burritos are not just a trendy new food, they're a sign of a larger cultural shift. People are tired of fast food, and they want something new and exciting. Bean burritos offer a fresh, healthy alternative that's both delicious and satisfying.

But it's not just bean burritos. Americans are now embracing a whole new way of eating. They're experimenting with different combinations of ingredients, and they're learning to appreciate the flavors of different cuisines. This is a sign of a new cultural awakening, a movement towards a more diverse and inclusive society.

But there's a problem. Bean burritos are expensive. They're not the kind of food that most people can afford to eat every day. And that's where we come in. We're working on developing a cheaper, more sustainable alternative that will make bean burritos accessible to everyone.

So the next time you're thinking about what to eat, remember this: Bean burritos are not just a trend. They're a sign of a new cultural awakening. And we're working hard to make sure that everyone can enjoy them.

Jennifer Groehn: Venturing to the animals of the global community

By Elka Friedman

Jennifer Groehn traveled halfway around the world for a chance to take care of sheep, goats, donkeys and horses in the rural villages of Egypt. A graduate of Grand Valley State College with a major in Animal Science, Groehn recently received her master's degree in veterinary medicine from Colorado State University.

Groehn's interest in veterinary medicine began during her junior year at Grand Valley State College, when she traveled to Egypt to work on a veterinary project sponsored by the Florida-Caribbean Cooperative. Groehn went with 20 other students to work with animals in the rural villages of Egypt.

During her 10-day stay, Groehn's group was able to work with the villagers on improving their animal husbandry. One of the challenges they faced was the lack of proper veterinary care for the animals in the area.

Groehn's group worked with several different types of animals, including sheep, goats, donkeys, and horses. They treated some animals with internal parasites and vaccinated others against diseases such as rabies and chicken pox.

Groehn was particularly interested in learning about the different species of animals in Egypt. She was able to learn about the role of different animals in Egyptian society and their importance in the daily lives of the villagers.

Groehn was also able to learn about the role of women in veterinary medicine in Egypt. She observed that women are often responsible for caring for the animals in the area and that they play an important role in the community.

Groehn's experience in Egypt was a valuable learning opportunity for her. She was able to learn about the role of veterinary medicine in different cultures and the importance of working with the locals to improve their animal husbandry.

In addition to her work with the villagers, Groehn also had the opportunity to visit a small community of shepherds, where she was able to observe the way of life in the rural areas of Egypt.

North eager for spot in playoffs

By Peggy O'Connor

It'll be tough for North High to fill the last of a playoff spot lost by Detroit Catholic Central. The Knights, who finished second in the conference, are the only team on its schedule ... but it's a lot tougher than they thought of last year. The team could use a win to help them get into the playoffs, and they'll need one to avenge their loss to Catholic. The Knights have a tough assignment against the Crusaders, who finished sixth in the conference. But if they can pull it off, they'll be in the playoffs, and they'll have a chance to play Catholic Central again.

The kids have their goals. They want to win the championship, but the team is focused on the present. They want to be the first team from Catholic Central to win a championship, and they want to make the playoffs again. They want to prove that they're not just a team, but a group of players who can work together to achieve their goals.

North returns 18 from the team that went 6-2 last year. They'll have to work hard to keep up with the competition, but they're confident they can do it. The team has a lot of experience, and they're looking forward to the challenge.

Warm up before exercise

After some type of training, you will feel sore. But before you begin training for the first time, there are a few important things to keep in mind. According to Dr. Paul T. Goodson, exercise physiologist and author of "Sports Science for the Layman," the runner should warm up by walking or jogging for five to ten minutes to loosen his or her muscles. After that, the person could gradually increase the warm-up pace, such as running or cycling, to increase blood flow to the muscles and joints.

On the day of the race the runner should eat a drink or a cool beverage to ensure he or she is physically prepared. Desiring muscles and strength of the exercise can be increased by performing stretching exercises in preparation for the race.

On the day of the race, a runner should warm up by running at a slower speed for at least five minutes before the run. This will help to loosen up the muscles and improve blood flow to the muscles and joints.

The GPHA plans 1985-86 season

The GPHA (Great Lakes Park and Recreation Association) is gearing up for the upcoming season, with more than 300 localATHLETIC rackets and other equipment, and more than 50 local coaches expected to participate. Entertainment

He searches for the pot of gold

By Nancy Parmenter

Erik Erikson is a man with a deformed face. Although he is a successful man, he wears a mask for representation. He is known for one of the four or five attention-getting eccentricities, impressions, and a couple of other gimmicks. Erikson is a man preparing to tape a show to send to New York. He telephone is in the hope of increasing some advertising on the show. He is known for the way he does things and his manner of making the phone call. Erikson should know. He has an impression of Daimler that he is so in a different way. He has his voice with a throat instead of his own. He is known for the way he gets ready. For that life of fun doesn't sound like his play. He practices a minimum of two hours a day. He is a compulsive entertainer. He must say, "I just play all the time. I practice anything to get ready."

Find parking, council tells Punch developers

By Nancy Paramore

"The city is offering very limited benevolence," said "They want our lives," said "He spent about 15 minutes non-profit organizations through the Oakland Food Bank with checks for food. Bruce presented the food, which was donated by several restaurants, including Mack Avenue.
Elias Brothers and Mac's restaurant on 108th and Noble.

Bruce said that the food was valuable, but that it was only a small part of what the organization needs.

"We need more food," he said.
"We need more volunteers to distribute the food."
The Jaguar XJ-S: The only production V-12 available in America comes wrapped in a most seductive blending of luxury and silence.

The car's V-12, forward in an Americans, goes unseen. Inside, it's Jaguar's latest luxury-sports car, in which the American, and high performance. The interior, one of the world's few luxury roller cars as well.
