Ed. Vernier Blocks $301,000 Tax Levy Milton A. Renaud Cites Duties At Township Primaries, Monday

Park Residents Are Safeguarded by Him In Fight With State

That the interests of Township taxpayers residing in Grosse Pointe Park and in fact throughout the entire Township are dear to the heart of Edmund C. Vernier, who is running for reelection to the office of Township Supervisor on the Democratic ticket during the primaries, next Monday, March 3, is seen in even a casual examination of his public record while in office.

But that these interests of Park residents and others are actually being carefully safeguarded is brought out by one particular instance that deserves mention on the eve of the primary election.

Radio in Schools

Members of the Board of Education and Dr. S. M. Brownell, superintendent of schools, will attend a state meeting of superintendents and board members of the Michigan Education Association in Lansing, March 27 and 28.

Dr. Brownell will speak on the use of radios in the public schools.

And that instance is this. Since 1927, Vernier, as supervisor, has refused to spread on the Township tax rolls the sum of $301,000 assessed and ordered spread on the tax rolls by the State Highway commission in reparation for that part of the Eight Mile road improvement located in the Township. In defying the order of the commission, Vernier has done so on the grounds that he believes the levy is "outrageously excessive and arrived at without a hearing."

He has taken his fight against this assessment and thwarted the efforts of the commission to have him spread it on the tax rolls by personal appeal to Governor Fred Green and by appearances before the common council of the city of Detroit and before the commission itself at Lansing. At these, he has argued long and vehemently in maintaining his stand in refusing to spread the tax.

St. Ambrose Victors in Southern Michigan League Competition

St. Ambrose's High School basketball team today is the undisputed champion of the Southern Michigan Catholic High School league, by virtue of their victory recently over St. Rose's High quintet by a score of 14 to 12.

It was a thrilling contest, and a bitter fight to the very end of the game. At the end of the first half St. Rose's was leading, 9 to 4, but St. Ambrose's five staged a vicious comeback, and when the whistle blew for the end of the regular playing period the count stood knotted at 12 all. Then followed five minutes of combat, and in the last 10 seconds of the overtime period Francis Morris, St. Ambrose's forward, swished a long basket through the net from the center of the floor.

St. Ambrose's, besides winning the division trophy, are eligible to play in the post season "knockout" series of the league, to be held March 2 and 4, as a result of their victory.

Old Time Dancing is Featured at St. Paul's

Come one, come all, ye old fashioned and modern, and trip the light fantastic at the festivities. The Altar society of St. Paul's Parish, Lake Shore boulevard, presents Ye Old Time and Modern dancing party on Friday evening February 28, in the parish auditorium.

Township Treasurer—Candidate Appeals to Voters to Use Right

A favorable turnout approaching record poll was predicted at the Grosse Pointe Township primary election on Monday, March 3, by Dan Allor, Township clerk. This prediction was based on the registration figures to date. Allor's conception of the public interest in the spring election.

In hoping for the fulfillment of Allor's prediction Milton A. Renaud, democratic candidate for the office of Township treasurer, today prefaced pre-election statement with an appeal to Township electors to exercise the franchise of voting next Monday.

Consider This

Custom has decreed that the Democratic ballot in the Grosse Pointe Township elections shall be construed to be the "nomination ticket" or the "people's choice." Because of this interpretation gives the Democratic ballot by the electors, many of the candidates at the primary election, Monday, who are Republicans in National elections are running on the Democratic party's ticket, nominally, in compliance with the dictates of the custom.

Briefly the situation is this, in national and county elections the Township is Republican but this same majority evidences its choice in Township elections by generally limiting its selection from among the candidates on the Democratic ballot, for if it is recalled correctly election records will show that but three Republicans have been elected to Township offices in the last 20 years.

"It behooves each and every qualified Township elector," said Mr. Renaud "to go to the polls next Monday and cast his or her vote, selecting competent Township officials for the next term. It is a duty that cannot lightly be disregarded and for the sake of preserving the present popular form of government, the will of the majority should be voiced. It is my sincere hope and trust that this duty will be observed and respected next Monday.

According to Allor who also is running for reelection at the primaries on the Democratic ticket, approximately 10,000 Township electors are registered and of this number he anticipates about half or 5,000 electors will cast the vote. This number practically equals the polling at previous spring election while there is every prospect according to Allor of an increased turnout.

The public is cordially invited to attend. Events will be held at the Neighborhood Club and the program will begin at 8 o'clock.

"ANDY" PHILLIPS SEEKS 18TH TERM AS A TOWNSHIP CONSTABLE MONDAY

Six children, ranging in age from a baby in arms to 7 years, sat with their mother huddled about the stove in their humble home at 2714 Harrison avenue, Detroit, during one of the bitterest cold spells this winter. All were suffering from mumps, and lack of food.

Ducharmes Leave to Sojourn in Carolina

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bagley Ducharme, of Grosse Pointe, accompanied by their young daughter, Isabel, were to leave, this week for their winter home in Tryon, N. C. Mr. Ducharme will return after a few days stay, but Mrs. Ducharme will remain in the southern city until spring.

GROSSE POINTE SOCIETY ADOPTS NEW SPORT WRINKLE, "PING PONG"

In Grosse Pointe Society the bridge table is secreted in a hidden closet. The radio stands silent in a corner. In the center of the room, surrounded by a group of spectators, a thrilling contest is being waged. Young and old alike shout merrily. Ping Pong is in progress.

Not a scene from the Elegant Eighties. Nay, nay, for the 1930 social set has succumbed to the intricacies of the new old game, and it is now the thing in the best circles.

"Her Private Affair" at Punch and Judy

A distinguished cast of stage and screen favorites will be seen at the Punch and Judy theater when "Her Private Affair," Ann Harding's star Pathe dialogue picture has its opening here next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, until recently the foremost dramatic actress on the New York stage. Miss Harding, who proved a sensation in her first screen venture, "Paris Bound," is said to surpass herself in the thrilling sequences of this gripping story, which was adapted for the screen by Francis Edwards Farago from Leo Urvantsov's Austrian sensation, "The Right to Kill."
 A note of the romantic was injected in the selection of the cast for this picture by the choice of Miss Harding's real life husband, Harry Bannister, for the role of her mate in the screen drama. Mr. Bannister, who completed a year with the Theater Guild presentation of "Strange Interlude," shortly before beginning work in "Her Private Affair," is said to do excellent work in his initial film.
 Other notable names appearing in the cast of players are John Loder, European film favorite, who also has won decided success in American films since coming here a year ago; Kay Hammond, stage and musical comedy favorite; Arthur Hoyt, William Orlamond, Elmer Ballard and Lawford Davidson.
 Paul Stein directed "Her Private Affair," with Rollo Lloyd, theatrical producer, as co-director of dialogues.

Victor McLaglen Stars in "The Black Watch"

Take a map of the world. Stick a pin in any spot which designates an important city and Victor McLaglen can tell you all about it.
 Canada, Hawaii, Fiji Island, Tahiti, Australia, Ceylon, Bombay India, Portuguese East Africa, German East Africa, South Africa, England, Ireland, Scotland, America, Bagdad, all were ports of call for the Fox Films star during his adventurous life and he never was idle for it is in the record that he participated in seven wars.
 When the World War began McLaglen and his brother left Cape Town for London to enlist.
 When he reached London he found that, from the four corners of the globe, his seven brothers had gathered at the call of their country.
 One brother came from China, another from Canada, two from the United States.
 Now he is a soldier again, but this time in the Fox production, "The Black Watch," John Ford production in which McLaglen is starred in the role of "Captain King," of the famous Scotch regiment. "The Black Watch," is based on Talbot Mundy's story, "King of the Khyber Rifles," and is the forthcoming attraction at the Punch and Judy theater for Friday and Saturday, March 7 and 8.
 Myrna Loy plays the role of the exotic "Yasmani," the she-devil of India who aspired to a throne.
 Due to the fact that "Captain King" is in India on a secret mission, the nature of which he, obviously, cannot reveal, he is under suspicion by his brother officers who incline to the belief that he asked to be transferred to service in India to sidestep the real fighting.
 The supporting cast includes David Rollins, Lumsden Hare, Mitchell Lewis and other highly capable players.

A Teachers Bulletin Is Now Published at Grosse Pte. Schools

 Brownell, superintendent of schools, editor in chief; Angela Fowler, Cadieux school; Mrs. Mary Buck, Defer; William M. French, High school; Miss Eva Johnson, Kerby; Mrs. Dorothy Christian, Mason and Vernier; Miss Beulah Crockatt, Trombly; C. J. Messner, administrative staff.
 It is planned to publish the bulletin occasionally, as the need for it arises. Teachers bulletins are of great value in the larger school systems, in obtaining the cooperation of the teachers with each teacher of the latest developments, both in his own line and in the school system as a whole.

Besides the regular news from each school, the first number of the bulletin describes project work, contains a review of magazine articles in education, and contains a foreword by the superintendent.

Park Residents Are Safeguarded by Him

The tax is on the 1,685 feet of Eight Mile road running through the Township and extends from the Lochmoor Village limits to Mack road. It was assessed by the commission to pay the costs of acquiring the land, by condemnation, that was involved in the improvement, for paving costs and as payment for the benefits accruing to the Township by reason of this improvement.
 Of the $301,000, the sum of $51,000 was to be assessed against property owners located within the half mile limit on both sides of Eight Mile road and the balance of $250,000 was to be spread at large over the Township tax rolls.
 The estimated costs of the land taken for the improvement aggregated $34,400 while $21,000 covers the paving costs involved. The remaining sum or approximately $250,000 was intended by the State Highway commission to represent the value of the "benefits" resulting to the Township by the improvement.
 Vernier charges that the commission placed this fabulous sum of $250,000 for "benefit charges" because it was cognizant of the wealthy community the Township is reputed to be and because it believed the "Township would stand to pay for it."
 Grosse Pointe Park having the largest number of taxpayers in proportion to the other villages in the Township would have been hardest hit by this assessment were it spread by Vernier and by reason of Vernier's stand, it has been saved this huge expense and outlay.
 No notice was given nor a hearing granted Vernier by the commission previous to its making the assessment and this negligence of the commission was termed an "outrageous exercise of administrative power," by Vernier.
 "And that tax," said Mr. Vernier, "will never be spread on the roll as long as the Supreme court of this state does not instruct me to do so."

Dates for C. M. T. Camps Announced

The dates for the 1930 Citizens' Military Training Camps were announced today by Phelps Newberry, Clivian Aide to the Secretary of War.
 The Infantry Training Camps at Brady and Custer will open July 18th and continue to August 16th. Camp Custer will be commanded by Colonel F. L. Knudsen, Chief of Staff of the 85th Division and Fort Brady will be under command of Lieutenant Colonel Otis R. Cole. The training camp for Cavalry will be held at Fort Sheridan, Illinois from July 29th to August 27th. The Artillery training camp will be held at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin from July 31st to August 29th.
 "The popularity of these training camps with both parents and boys," said Mr. Newberry in announcing the dates for 1930, "is attested to by the increasing number of applications received each year. The first of these camps was held in 1921 with a total of 10,000 young men trained for the thirty day period. A total of 38,000 enrolled in the C. M. T. camps in 1929. The quota for Michigan in 1930 is 1,500.
 "Each year there are more applicants than can be accommodated. These camps are open to young men from the ages of 17 to 31, but most of the attendants are between the ages of 17 and 21. Enrollment of young men from high schools and colleges is particularly encouraged as it is the desire to have the type of material who will be qualified to become officers. In this connection, there is no obligation whatever on the part of these attending Citizens' Military Training Camps to see service in the army either now or at a later date. Less than two per cent of those attending these training camps ever enter the service. However, should it ever be necessary in time of war for these young men to join the service along with other youth of the country, they will be better prepared to meet the conditions that they would encounter.

 "Although these camps are designated as military training camps they are really "good citizenship" training camps. The greatest stress is placed on correct living, correct eating, physical training, and the principles of our government. Wholesome entertainment, properly supervised by officers from the regular army and the reserve is provided. Social functions under the supervision of women of standing are also conducted. These camps furnish young men the most wholesome introduction to the outside world that can be given them.
 "Citizens' Military Training Camps are endorsed by the American Federation of Labor, Bankers, merchants, manufacturers, and other leading groups. President Hoover stated, "I look with hope and confidence to their continued and increasing usefulness." President Coolidge repeatedly expressed the desire that greater opportunities be afforded young men to attend these camps.

Wickersham Was "Protestant Church Lobbyist"

Charges that George W. Wickersham, head of President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission, was a "Protestant Church lobbyist," were made by Henry B. Joy, of Grosse Pointe, recently in a speech before the House Judiciary committee at Washington.
 Chairman George S. Graham (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, finally asked the witness that he refrain from any more comment upon Mr. Wickersham or the Law Enforcement Commission.
 Most of Mr. Joy's prepared paper was a detailed description of the "militant, zealous, religious, political machine composed of all the ministers of all the Protestant denominations in every corner of America, subject to instruction and guidance from headquarters," which he charged with responsibility for the Eighteenth Amendment.
 "The vast enlargements of our prisons will be unnecessary. The invasions of the rights of the people will cease. The bill of rights and trial by jury, the greatest protection against oppression ever devised by man, will be restored. Temperance will prevail. We will be again a law-abiding people."
 "I fully realize that the high Protestant Church prelates composing the allied church lobby will do all within their powers to prevent such a sane, wise solution."

no compromise. We do not want saloons on the one hand or 'prohibition speakases' and poison or unwholesome alcoholic beverages on the other. We all desire to work toward temperance by intelligent control. The states can enact laws which meet with popular respect. We are convinced that no other laws can be enforced.
 "If our Congress will do and enable to be done these things, then President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission, made necessary purely by the prohibition situation, may disperse. The armed forces throughout the land can

It is entirely possible that Mr. Wickersham was not full frank with the President.
 Representative Moore (R) of Ohio, a dry, interpreted the statement as impugning the motives of Wickersham. He threatened to demand a vote of the committee to strike the statement from the record, should Joy continue along that line.
 "If it is a fact that this commission has bias and was appointed to accomplish what the church lobby wants, the people ought to know it, because it might affect their voting at the coming elections," snapped Joy.
 Stobbs (R) of Massachusetts said Joy had a wrong impression of the duties of the commission. They are to devise legal remedies for conditions, resulting from prohibition, Stobbs said.
 It was at this point that Chairman Graham stopped the references to the Law Enforcement Commission and its chairman, but not until Mr. Joy had succeeded in stating, "I shudder at the thought of the consequences in case the recommendations of this commission should be enacted into law."
 Asserting that the "Protestant Church lobby seems welcome in Washington, possibly because of its influence many congressmen are helped to gain election," Mr. Joy told the committee. "We have two congressmen in Michigan, Reps. Grant M. Hudson and Louis C. Cramton, elected in part by the influence of the Federal Council of Churches and the Anti-Saloon League, who have admitted that they have accepted money from these organizations in the form of expenses and lecture fees."
 Referring but briefly to prohibition itself, Mr. Joy said:
 "I feel most sincerely that I am on solid rock when I stand where Ex-President Taft stood 12 years ago. He said:
 "I am opposed to national prohibition."
 "The regulation and sale of intoxicating liquor should be retained by the states."
 "Therefore, Mr. Chairman, I feel that 10 years of our sad experiences with this 'noble experiment' is indeed enough and that we should repeat the Eighteenth Amendment. There can be

MUSEUM IS OPENED BY HISTORICAL SOCIETY IN DETROIT SKYSCRAPER

In the heart of Detroit's downtown business district at 2302-18 Barlum Tower, Cadillac Square, one may see the transition from the Indian teepees and the little French settlement of yesterday to the dynamic Detroit of today. This museum of over 1100 items, just a year old, is filling a long-felt want in providing for the assembling of articles representing the household, farm, civic and business life of Detroit, especially of pioneer days.

It is desired to honor the memory of George A. Custer, the swords and other military trappings of General Hugh Brady, hero of three wars; the office chair of Senator Zachariah Chandler, etc.

Museum classifications represent the occupants of Detroit—Indian, French, English and American, and the military history of our city and state.

The museum serves the double purpose of housing historical relics and those articles which were formerly in common use, but have now been displaced by modern conveniences. Here may be studied the evolution of lighting and the processes of the wool, flax and other home occupations of other days. These exhibits form an important contribution to the visual education which is available to the people of Detroit.

Large groups of school students, Boy and Girl Scouts, history clubs and other youth agencies are visiting the museum. Appointments for similar groups are welcomed. Phone Cadillac 0206.

Detroit in its great historic past well deserves the recognition thus accorded in the Historical Museum. Many homes in the city and state contain articles of furniture, utensils of early days and obsolete implements of the farm, which should find a place in our museum, where full credit is given and such articles preserved in fireproof quarters.

The museum is open without charge to the public every week-day from 9 to 12. It is maintained by the membership dues of the Detroit Historical Society.

The support and co-operation of our citizens is requested to assist in the maintenance of this collection and its enlargement to carry on a progressive program of education.

Circulation Jumps During January at Grosse Pte. Library

With a gain of 1811 more books circulated in January than in December, the circulation of the Grosse Pointe public libraries jumped from 5335 books in December to 7166 volumes in January, according to a report of Dr. S. M. Brownell, superintendent of schools, to the Board of Education.

Three hundred and twelve new borrowers were enrolled in January, 231 being juvenile and 81 being adults. Although more of the new borrowers are juvenile, 391 more adult books were circulated than juvenile.

The opening of a new library center in the Municipal Building in Grosse Pointe Farms is responsible for a good share of this growth in circulation, it is believed.

Four hundred eighty new books have been added to the Grosse Pointe library books, making the total 7070. Of this number, 1691 are the property of the Grosse Pointe library, and 5379 the property of the Wayne County library.

Candidates and their active supporters and friends are rallying at the last minute and working far into the morning following a busy day and night, campaigning in a last bid for success.

Smacking of political campaigns of "yesterday" are the efforts being expended by James Rasmussen. With the aid of loyal friends he has conducted an exceedingly aggressive campaign and the outcome of his efforts is being watched with great interest. His barbecue stand, it is reported, has been the scene of several political rendezvous while the distribution of cigars and other pleasurable trinkets are "result producers" not to be overestimated.

Milton A. Renaud has proven himself a formidable candidate for the Township treasurer office. He has predicted his campaign on the extensive interest he has taken in community affairs during his 16 years residence in the Township, on his competency as for the office a practical business man and on his experience in a similar office, that of assistant Township treasurer for a two year term in Portage Township, Houghton county, Michigan.

During the past several years, Mr. Renaud gained a wide circle of friends as result of being in the drug and pharmacy business in Grosse Pointe Park and in the Township at large and demonstrated his ability as a business man through his successful management of these drug stores and pharmacies in the Park and Village.

Pre-election statements were to the following effect: Edmund C. Vernier, running election to the office of Township Supervisor on the Democratic ticket says, "It looks very good for me."

Charles A. Paye, candidate Vernier for the office of Supervisor on the Democratic ticket says, "My campaign has been people, and I have been in close with them but I will not let outcome."

Joseph A. Primeau, candidate office of Township Treasurer Republican ticket says: "The interest that can be created in primaries by competition for office will bring out the best men in the township and should be in effect, resulting in a rule by the true test of democracy and is needed if this country survive. I believe good clean public offices. The campaign is very clean and if the citizens township turn out in large numbers have no fear of the result. I have a large vote."

The candidates for the six Township posts at stake next Monday are: on the Democratic ticket for Supervisor, Edmund C. Vernier and Charles A. Paye; for Clerk, Daniel G. Allor and Albert E. LaBelle; for Treasurer, Milton A. Renaud, Stephen H. Van Tiem, Arthur F. C. Vernier, Frank M. Allard, Clyde C. Burgess, James M. Rasmussen; for Justice of the Peace, Walter Schweikart; member Board of Review, Jerry Vanderbush; for Constable, Andrew T. Phillips, Roy A. W. Wallwork, Louis A. Wisser, Frank W. Defer, Alex W. Ehlers, Emmett O. Pentecost and Bert Forton; on the Republican ticket for Treasurer; Edward Van Assche and Joseph H. Primeau.

As a result of the proximity of the Township election interest in the various village elections is at a low ebb. The coming weekend is sure to see whirlwind hustles administered to the campaigns for the Township offices.

"The Woman Racket" Oriental Offering

With the opening of "The Woman Racket" at the Oriental theater next Friday; Tom Moore and Blanche Sweet return to the screen after a prolonged absence during which the stars were on the legitimate stage. They were as much at home in the dialogue field as they were in the silent medium.

Miss Sweet even to the extent of offering a singing voice to the screen.

The story of "The Woman Racket" was written by Philip Duning, author of the famous play "Broadway" and Frances Dunning. Miss Sweet's opportunity to sing comes in the night club sequences of the picture in which she plays the hostess. When the club is raided she is permitted to escape by Moore in the role of a policeman. This leads to a romance and a subsequent marriage. The wife soon tires of the tame life in her small flat and returns to the glittering night clubs, becoming ward, was the outstanding player against Ferndale. Lyons scored fifteen of the twenty-five points before giving way to a substitute. He played a splendid defensive game as well as offensive, holding Krause, one of Ferndale's dead shots, to two fouls. Wernet, Clafin and Guy Lyons each scored five points. The game was rather close during the first half, Ferndale leading at the end of the first quarter 5-3, but trailed at half time 11-8.

Grosse Pointe, was also victorious over Birmingham 20-8 and Mt. Clemens 19-8. Both were league games.

Maurice Chevalier at the Hollywood

Comic opera of the jolliest variety awaits the screen-goer at the Hollywood theater Sunday with the showing, for four days of Ernst Lubitsch's "The Love Parade," starring Maurice Chevalier. The audible screen has disclosed no more pleasing entertainer than the delightful French actor and with the gifted German director, Lubitsch, to handle the smart satire of the scenario and Jeanette MacDonald, the beautiful song bird from the musical stage playing the heroine role this entertainment is far out of the ordinary. Some of Chevalier's song hits in this picture are "Nobody's Using It Now," "Anything to Please the Queen" and "Paris, Stay the Same." Lupino Lane and Lillian Ralfe furnish comedy of the opera variety that often steals the show and there are novelties too numerous to enumerate.

Russ Morgan and his Hollywood Orchestra will be heard on the stage in a new series of popular arrangements and the R. K. O. vaudeville program will be featured by the renowned Frances Renault, "The Slave of Fashion," the foremost and most expensively gowned female impersonator of the stage. Broadus Earle, the gifted boy violinist also will present a recital that stamps him as one of the foremost juvenile prodigies in the amusement field. In addition to other acts there will be several reels of talking shorts on the screen and Bobi Clarke will be heard in one of his organ specialties.

Two new 1930 Ford coupes will be given away free again this week, one on Friday and one on Saturday. Both drawing are at 8:45 p. m.

Inkhorn Precursor of Modern Fountain Pen

The inkhorn was one of the earliest ink containers in this country. Carried at the belt, this horn of plenty, taken from the head of some neat animal, could be resorted to by the attorney whenever and wherever business met him upon the highways. Another old ink case which was worn at the belt and included the short quill, was made of pressed paper, darkened with gum and oil to the semblance of leather and tooled with designs of tooth-mark and parallel lines. Its height was seven inches and it was made in three parts—the bottom containing the tiny glass bottle measuring about two inches high and one across and carrying a protecting cork, the second part slipping down firmly to cover the bottle, while the third part or top, covered the quill. After many years of use and later oblivion this old ink and quill case comes to light as hard as metal and, only where it rubbed against the wearer's belt, does it betray the fact that it is of ancient, rude paper and not of well-tanned hide.—Marion Nichol Rawson, in the Boston Transcript.

French Nation Fosters Time-Keeping Industry

The making of time-keeping instruments is one of the oldest and most highly developed of French industries. When the teaching of apprentices in the shops of watchmakers became inadequate for the development of the trade, professional schools were established, fostered by the state and supported by the industry. In addition, a municipal school of watchmaking was founded at Lyons, a nationalized school at Dreux. Each year 100 to 125 watchmakers graduate from these institutions.

The industry has not yet been affected to any extent by consolidation. Many of the factories are little more than workshops, where from 10 to 80 skilled workmen with hand tools and a few simple machines turn out carefully wrought products. It is thought that the small size of French establishments has the advantage of stimulating the worker's creative ability.—New York Times.

Hard and Soft Solders

Soldering operations are classified, according to the composition of the alloy used, as either soft soldering or hard soldering. Solders of low melting points, composed mainly of lead and tin in varying amounts, are known as soft solders, while those of high melting points, composed of varying amounts of copper, brass, zinc, silver and gold, are known as hard solders. The soft solder commonly used is made up of half lead and half tin, and melts at a temperature of 370 degrees Fahrenheit. The more lead there is in this alloy the higher is its melting point, and an alloy composed of one part tin and two parts lead melts at 441 degrees Fahrenheit.

Deadliest of Snakes

The king cobra is much more rare than the hooded cobra, for he is the most poisonous snake in the world. Yet, notwithstanding his rarer occurrence, he is responsible for many of the 20,000 deaths, which, according to official statistics, are caused yearly by poisonous snakes in India alone. A man bitten by a king cobra will rarely live an hour, and death has been known to come within five minutes after the bite. It is remarkable that the king cobra is as immune to the bite of the rattlesnake as he is to the bite of his own species or to that of any snake of his native clime.—Exchange.

Thousand Carat Gem

A sapphire of record size, said to weigh 1,000 carats, is reported to have been discovered near Mogok, in India, in a mine owned by some poor Burmans. The largest sapphire hitherto known was the jewel cut in the shape of a cluster of flowers which was displayed in the Bombay court at the Empire exhibition at Wembley. It weighed 916 carats. For many years the sapphire had been used as a paperweight by an Indian state official, who did not suspect its value and had allowed his children to play with the jewel. It was found to have a history going back to the Twelfth century.

Substances in Rain Water

The composition of rain water varies. Since rain is considered water vapor it would be chemically pure if it did not gather foreign substances from the atmosphere as it falls to the earth. Rain water washes down out of the air, dust, soot, pollen, spores of fungi and similar material. It contains a percentage of dissolved oxygen, nitrogen, ammonia and carbonic acid gas. In falling through the impure atmosphere of cities it sometimes shows traces of nitric acid, sulphuric acid and other components.

Land of Roses

At Blatna, in south Bohemia, Jan Boehm has created such a wonderful rose garden that a visit to it in the early days of September has become an annual event for many visitors from Czechoslovakia, Bavaria, and Austria. Blatna is a small country town, which would not in itself attract the foreigner. But as a "rose town" it can hardly be beaten. Flower parades and flower carnivals are arranged, in all of which the rose occupies the central position.

"Roadhouse Nights" Thrills at Michigan

Charles Ruggles, remembered for his delightfully gay performance in "The Lady Lies," and Helen Morgan, the star of Broadway's current musical romance, "Sweet Adeline," are featured in "Roadhouse Nights," an exciting, all-talking and singing romantic melodrama, which will be presented at the Michigan theater in Detroit during the week of March 7th. In support of the two popular players are Clayton, Jackson and Durante, three hilarious comedians who recently romped away with first honors in the Ziegfeld success, "Show Girl."

In this latest Paramount production, Miss Morgan, appropriately enough, is cast as a roadhouse entertainer. And in this role, she introduces a new song hit, "It Can't Go On Like This," a tuneful, plaintive number that suits Miss Morgan's personality to perfection. And Clayton, Jackson and Durante take enough time out from their unending stream of rollicking comedy to sing two new numbers, "Hello, Everybody, Folks," and "Everything Is On The Up and Up."

The picture's action centers on the activities of Fred Kohler, leader of a notorious gang of bootleggers who makes his headquarters at the roadhouse where Miss Morgan entertains. And so, when a Chicago newspaper reporter in the person of Charles Ruggles makes his appearance on the scene in order to get an "inside" story for his paper, complications ensue; complications that border on dangerous ground when he falls in love with Helen Morgan despite the fact that she is supposed to be Kohler's woman.

In logical and convincing fashion, under the careful and imaginative direction of Hobart Henley, "Roadhouse Nights" emerges as one of the most exciting, and at the same time, one of the gayest and most entertaining pictures of the season. It possesses that ideal combination of dramatic suspense and comedy relief, which, put together evenly, smoothly and effectively, makes for first-rate entertainment. "Roadhouse Nights" is a story from the pen of Ben Hecht, well known author, who has contributed many stories for the screen, among them, "Underworld."

World's Largest Cities
Paris is the fifth city in size. London and New York are first and second. Some authorities consider London first and New York second, while others give first place to New York. It depends upon the area considered, as composing the cities. Berlin is third, Chicago fourth and Paris comes next.

served as Township Treasurer of Grosse Pointe Township during the years of 1926 and 1927.

He prevented re-assessed taxes from being returned to the Wayne County Treasurer and sold for tax title. No Grosse Pointe taxes were sold during 1926 and 1927.

He originated a system of mailing tax bills to property owners.

He collected, through personal effort, 99 1-2 per cent of all personal taxes, and approximately 90 per cent of the entire tax roll.

He has been complimented on his prompt returns to the County Treasurer.

He is well recommended by the people of Grosse Pointe for his honesty and integrity.

He promises a continuance of this splendid service if re-elected.

"Andy" Phillips Seeks 18th Term as Constable

(Continued from Page One) present comforts and means of sustenance to the same officer. For, forced by duty to perform an act of human unkindness, he later supplied the family with another stove, money and food, part from his own purse, and the rest from various others, charitably inclined, whom he interested in their behalf.

This man is Andrew T. Phillips, candidate for reelection as constable in Grosse Pointe Township. Phillips is one of the seven-seeking the four offices open, and is considered one of the most formidable, due to his constableness for the past 17 years in the township. He resides at 1100 Beaconsfield avenue.

When Phillips learned of the pitiful condition of the family he was forced to deprive of their stove, he immediately enlisted aid for them. Mrs. Henry B. Joy, the Spanish American War Veterans, and various other kind hearted persons, asked to help the family, which had been in dire straits, since the father was crippled and had no job. Fifteen calls from residents in Grosse Pointe alone came to Phillips, offering help.

Besides the stove, the writ of replevin called for the removal of two bed springs and mattresses. A stove and sleeping facilities were gathered together by Phillips, and given to the family, together with food.

This is only one of the highlights in the 17-year career of this veteran constable, but it is one of the most notable. He is running for reelection on the Democratic ticket, and is a member of the Otsiketa Club, and the fraternal order of Elks.

No Indian Name

There was no universal American Indian name. The Indians were of many tribes and nations, speaking many languages. They had no idea of the extent of the two continents and most of them knew only a few of their neighboring tribes. Tribes had local names for the regions in which they lived, and often other tribes had other names for the same territory.

Smoothness Noted in Operation of Hupp

The tremendous speed at which the movable parts of the modern automobile engine travel is almost beyond conception.

For example, a piston in a Huppobile Model "S" Six comes to a complete stop and starts moving again in an opposite direction 112 times each second when the car is traveling 60 miles an hour.

Obviously any part moving with such tremendous speed and stopping and starting so many times must transmit a shock to other interlinking parts. This shock creates, in automotive parlance, engine vibration. Vibration was, for many years, the bugaboo of automotive engineers. With the advent of high compression cylinder heads this shock effect was increased, thus increasing the engineer's problem. How Huppobile surmounts this difficulty and obtains a maximum performance at top speeds with an absence of vibration is an interesting story.

If a person were to twirl at arm's length a weight at the end of a string, and then suddenly lengthen the string, the resulting jerk would be comparable to the jerk exerted upon a crankshaft bearing by the piston weight when the piston reaches the top of its throw. Obviously, this jerk would be transmitted to the person's arm and then to his body. In just this way, unless something were done about it, the piston vibration of an automobile is transmitted to the engine, then to the body of the car, and finally to its occupants. Now tie a weight on the opposite end of the string and twirl the two objects by the center of the string, so that one weight is opposite the other. Any deviation in the arc wrought by one will be compensated by a familiar deviation in the arc of the opposing weight. Thus may the jar given the arm be reduced or perhaps even eliminated.

In the Huppobile six engine the vibration of piston action is compensated for by three methods. First by counterweighting the crankshaft. Second, by the use of an unusually large and heavy shaft and by large main bearings. Third, by finely machined and adjusted engine parts, permitting no play. When the piston reaches its top stopping point the opposing counterweight is traveling in such an arc that it offsets the pull and helps start the piston back on the downward stroke.

Absolute balancing of all reciprocating parts is essential in a vibrationless engine. Each set of pistons on a six-cylinder Huppobile is weighed and sorted, and then balanced to within 1/16 of an ounce for each engine. Not only are the six pistons themselves subjected to this delicate balancing, but every other reciprocating part must be held to correspondingly close limits. The piston pin, that small steel axis that fastens the head of the piston to the connecting rod, is finished to a glass-like surface by a special lapping process, insuring roundness to within one-tenth of one-thousandth of an inch. At the other end of the connecting rod is the lower bearing which, like the upper bearing, is diamond bored and held to the same close limits as the piston pin. Add to this the heavy counterweighted crankshaft of unusually rigid construction, and one sees the lengths to which Huppobile has gone to assure vibrationless performance at any and all speeds in the Model "S" Six engine.

An Appeal to the Voters of Grosse Pointe Township

EDMUND C. VERNIER

AN OPEN LETTER

To The Electors of Grosse Pointe Township

With all due respect and friendship for his opponent in the coming election we feel ourselves prompted to write a few words in favor of Edmund C. Vernier regarding his candidacy for re-election to the office of Supervisor of Grosse Pointe Township.

If you were at the head of an organization handling about $1,500,000.00 annually as the Township of Grosse Pointe does; and

If you had a man who had proved himself trustworthy and competent, and alive to his job, would you consider to have him replaced?

Edmund C. Vernier has given several of the best years of his life to the service of this Township. His work has been thorough and his dealings upright. Evidence of the keen interest he takes in his work is noticable. A business executive would have such an employee promoted; surely the least we can do is re-elect him. Are we going to show our appreciation of his excellent services in the past or are we going to cast him aside?

In all fairness to the best interests of our Township, we take this opportunity to request the electors to acquaint themselves with the true facts, and convince themselves of the required qualifications, for this important branch of the administrative work.

We deem it an unfortunate circumstance that Edmund Vernier should be opposed in this election; since his work is above reproach there is apparently no cause for his removal.
