

Garska Sees Park A Reality As Residents are Awakened to Aid

Vernier Plans Court Battle With State on Mack Avenue Project

Consideration is being given this week by Edmund C. Vernier, Township supervisor, to the matter of instituting injunction proceedings against the State Highway commissioner and enjoin him from authorizing the widening of Mack avenue to a 204 foot highway from the Detroit city limits to the village limits of St. Clair Shores.

The Mack avenue improvement project has been a bone of contention between the Township and the Highway commissioner's office for some time and despite the opposition of Vernier and aides to the project, the Highway commissioner is determined to effect the improvement.

Grosse Pointe township, according to Vernier, will be required to pay 84 per cent of the $5,945,000 required to finance the widening project. For the next 10 years, this will be 50 per cent more than the entire previous assessment.

During the week, Vernier has called several meetings of attorneys who will aid him in his proposed court battle. Among the legal counsel interested in the matter are Howard Colby, attorney for the Township, Julius L. Berns, attorney for the Park, and Albert Meder attorney for the Village.

Mrs. Alice Towle Dies After Long Illness at Home; Lived in Farms

Funeral services were recently held for Mrs. Alice H. Towle, wife of Frederic Towle, who died at the family home, 130 Provenal road, Grosse Pointe Farms, following an illness of several years.

Throughout her life Mrs. Towle was a student of horticulture and was regarded as an authority on all kinds of flowers, particularly those of rare species.

Mrs. Towle was born in the old Springwells section, now Dearborn, 68 years ago. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bela Hubbard, socially prominent in Detroit during its early days.

Surviving are the husband, who retired from the manufacturing business several years ago, and a sister, Mrs. Alanson S. Brooks. An only son, Prescott, was killed in an automobile accident about 15 years ago, and since that time Mrs. Towle had been in failing health.

Neighborhood Club Activities

Have you ever gone to a Pet Show? If you haven't, you certainly should have been to the one held last Friday on the Neighborhood Club playground.

Every dog and kitten was carefully groomed, and all the rabbits and birds were as carefully arranged in nests of leaves and perched on gay swings.

The summer schedule of the music department at the Neighborhood Club is now in full swing and there are still a few vacancies in the piano division.

Results of games played July 9th in Grosse Pointe playground ball league follow:

Jolly Pals II, 16; Tigers 0. N. A. C. 4; Limits 2. Racquetters 18; Jolly Pals I, 2. St. Clare 7; Frogs 4. Kerchevals 5; Gardeners 4.

Tennis has predominated over all other interests at the Neighborhood Club during the past few weeks. A tournament for girls has just ended with Florence Wolf, of the V. V. V. Girls, victorious and Dorothy Maul, runner-up.

Later in the season, a mixed doubles contest will be staged, entries for which are now being received.

Rep. Grant M. Hudson Lauds Prohibition in Baptist Church Talk

Representative Grant M. Hudson, of the sixth district of Michigan, recently had occasion to discourse on the prohibition amendment before the evening service of the Bethany Baptist Church, of Pontiac.

"The Eighteenth Amendment was built on the eternal rock. It is like the Rock of Gibraltar. You can't uproot it. You can't change it. They say, 'What are we going to do? Look at the crime! The amendment didn't make crime. Where the amendment is enforced what is there? Peaceful and sober people, happy homes and smiling boys and girls. Suspicion and hatred have gone. That wasn't true before."

In his address, he revealed a statement he said President Hoover made to him recently in a conversation in the executive office.

The Eighteenth amendment was lauded by Rep. Hudson as one of America's most important steps. He declared that 10 years is an insufficient time for the trial of a movement so sweeping as the abolition of the liquor traffic.

Doctor's Wives, by Lieferant: A doctor's wife who discovers that it is his associates and assistants who share the work of her husband and not herself and who becomes one of a band of doctor's wives leagued against their common enemy—the patient.

Village Residents See New Pumping Station Work; Cost $660,000

Residents of the Village, last week, availed themselves of the invitation extended them by Village officials to inspect the new sewerage pumping station which was formally placed in operation early this week under the direction of William Neff.

Florence Severs, librarian of the Grosse Pointe Public Library, is endeavoring to bring home to the minds of Grosse Pointe residents, the excellent facilities available at the library.

"Are you and your family using the Grosse Pointe Public Library? The Village branch is located at 17121 Waterloo avenue and the Park branch in the municipal building."

Crystal Tea Shoppe To Remain at 14931 Charlevoix Avenue

The many patrons of the Crystal Tea Shoppe will be interested to know that the intended removal of the Crystal Tea Shoppe, from 14931 Charlevoix has been indefinitely postponed.

The contemplated measure was necessary due to the fact that many frequenters of the smart little establishment had complained of some curiosity-seeking persons who obstinately obstructed the sidewalk in front of the shop, perhaps to get a glimpse of the renowned seeress, Mrs. A. Williams, who was seriously handicapped in the performance of her wonderful work by these unwelcome spectators.

The management, however, has taken the necessary action to see that friends and clients are assured of the utmost courtesy and service as well as a satisfactory answer to their confidential lives' problems submitted to Mrs. Williams, by patronizing the Crystal Tea Shoppe.

Mrs. Williams, also wishes to state emphatically that she is in no way connected with any other similar establishment and that those who are illegally using her name will be prosecuted according to the law.

GROSSE POINTE SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Ducharme, with their three children, Charles A. II, Jerome and Isabel, who are in England at present, will leave shortly for Scotland and Ireland, returning home about the middle of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Schlotman of Grosse Pointe, with their daughters, Patricia and Josephine; Mrs. Harry N. Torrey, with her daughter, Eleanor Ford Torrey, and Mary Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Reynolds, will leave shortly on the Schlotmans' yacht, Stellaris, for Duluth.

Mr. and Mrs. Caulkins, accompanied by their little 6-year-old son, Ralph, left Friday for their summer home at Pointe aux Pins in northern Michigan.

Free Testing at Darling's Garage

With the installation of the Wearverized system for adjusting brakes, wheel alignment and headlight testing at the Darling Garage, 17153 East Jefferson Ave., just completed, the newest and most complete testing facilities are now available to car owners of Grosse Pointe and vicinity.

When we realize that at a speed of 25 miles and an emergency arises you want to be sure that your brakes are working smoothly.

Few cars owners know what wheel alignment really means or suspect how important a part it plays in the ease, economy and actual safety of motor car operation.

No car driver needs to be told how annoying and dangerous it is to be blinded by the glare of headlights from the other fellow's car—but few drivers know when they are committing the same fault or realize that, in so doing, they are endangering their own safety quite as much as that of their fellow motorists.

Bring your car in and they will gladly test it out free of charge. It will only take five minutes to do it, it might be the means of saving you a lot of trouble later.

Park President Urges Residents to Write of Co-operation Assured

Prospects of a "Waterfront Park in the Park" are day by day becoming more of a reality, Alfred Garska, president of the Park stated this week after reading a dozen or more letters sent him by residents, stating their unqualified endorsement of the project.

"The idea of a park in the district," said Mr. Garska, "is gaining ground and favor with the residents daily. But it is of extreme importance that expressions of approval of the proposed waterfront park be received by many other residents before definite action on the project can hope to be had."

"It is well appreciated by everyone, I believe, that a park is needed but the task now on hand is to awaken the residents' interest in the movement to the extent that they will lend their influence to the undertaking.

Compensation Fund Is Obtained for Meyer's Widow

Arrangements to provide compensation for the widow of Patrolman Erhardt Meyer, Grosse Pointe Park patrolman, killed by gangsters several weeks ago, have been completed, it was announced this week by Alfred Garska, president of the Park.

The amount of compensation the family of Patrolman Claude Lanstra, Park patrolman also killed by gangsters, will receive, has not yet been determined.

With this determined, immediate satisfaction of the claim has been promised Garska by the insurance company.

Real Estate Activity Reflected in Deeds on File with Otto Stoll

With a property turnover conservatively estimated at $136,906,000 between January 1 and June 30, the first six months of 1930 saw a total of 68,453 deeds, mortgages and other papers affecting real estate titles recorded in Wayne County, according to the reports of Otto Stoll, register of deeds.

Included in the total volume are 34,612 deeds, 28,430 mortgages and 5,411 other documents. June led all other months with 9,925 deeds, 5,070 mortgages and 814 miscellaneous instruments.

Twenty-two plats of new subdivisions were recorded as were also 31 condemnations, 656 certificates exemplifying court decisions affecting property, and 63 redemptions exemplifying court decisions affecting property.

Village "Nine" Tosses Ball Game to Pontiac A. C. 11-6 as Gale Sweeps Diamond; Second Defeat of Season

Playing before one of the smallest crowds of the season, the Grosse Pointe Village Baseball club, tasted their second defeat of the present season at the hands of the Pontiac Athletic Club, last Sunday at Neighborhood field, through weather much more suitable for football. A heavy gale blew over the diamond throughout the early part of the game which is responsible in part for the Villagers' commitment of ten errors. Every player on the home club who participated in the whole game took part in the misses, with the exception of Rosnow and Zahm, the former having had no opportunity.

The Pontiac Club, who are ably managed by a brother of Melvin Crandall, the "Tear" of the Village club, have a very well balanced ball club, and should be rated a little more than popular here after the brand of base game, suffered by our club this season.

Manager Crandall will stack his strong-est lineup in order to prevent any further humiliation and this game should be of unusual interest.

Joan Crawford's Latest Hit at the Michigan

Scintillating style spectacles that reach a sensational climax when the models disrobe and plunge into a pool, a spectacular ballet and society whoopee on a grand and lavish scale, sharply contrast the dramatic and human story of three shopgirls that motivates "Our Blushing Brides in which Joan Crawford, Anita Page and Dorothy Sebastian are reunited by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

A compound fracture is a fracture of a bone so that the skin is broken. This is often confused with a multiple fracture, the proper name when more than one break exists.

Long Symbol of Authority

Since the days of ancient Rome the fasces has been the symbol of authority. Originally it was a bundle of elm or birch rods, from which the head of an ax projected, fastened together with a red strap.

The Dark Stranger

The main reason why we are so uneasy about the future is because it is a stranger to us.—Dallas News.

Loving Restraint Need of Modern Generation?

Don Juan is by no means a master of love. On the contrary, he cannot love, because he has not learned that which can be experienced only at home in the nursery—fidelity. He who has seen at home how true parents are to each other, how faithful is their love for their children, as a rule will himself become a faithful and dependable person.

Varying Opinions as to "Books All Should Have"

There is a house in Chelsea which bears the intriguing sign, "The House of the Nine Books." The nine books are those which, in the occupiers' opinion, ought to be in every home.

Friend of the Helpless

Margaret Haughey, after being left an orphan and later losing her husband and baby, went to work as a laundress in a hotel in New Orleans. She spent part of every day visiting the orphans' home and taking food to them.

Famous Pair of Friends

Damon and Pythias lived in the fourth century B. C. Damon, a Pythagorean of Syracuse, was celebrated for his friendship with Pythias, or Phintias, a member of the same sect.

Assemblies of Bards

The word eisteddfod (from the Welsh eistedd, to sit) is a name applied generally in Welsh to any meeting or concourse of people, but more particularly to the assemblies, who anciently formed an hereditary order.

Memory Test

Mary needed some information to be found in the book entitled "Out of Doors in the Holy Land." She felt she could never remember the name.

Ax to Grind

When I see a merchant over-polite to his customers, begging them to taste a little brandy and throwing half his goods on the counter—thinks I, that man has an ax to grind.—Charles Miner.

"O is the noisiest of the vowels." The rest are in audile.

Marriage After Dark Not Legal in England

Although divorce is on the increase in England, it is difficult to achieve and seekers after legal separations often find it easier to find a flaw in the union itself, thus bringing about a dissolution on the ground that they were not truly married in the first place.

English courts have held, for example, that marriage by registration may be legal in Russia but cannot be so recognized in England. A Russian woman who sued for judicial separation and maintenance, stating that she and her mate had registered their union in Moscow, got the separation all right, but had no legal claim for maintenance when the court said:

"I have come to the conclusion that the petitioner and respondent were never husband and wife."

In another case a man accused of deserting his family defended himself on the ground that he married the girl after dark.

He was not joking. A marriage in England outside the hours between eight in the morning and three in the afternoon is no more legal than a whisky and soda bought at a bar after regular hours.

Finest Parchment Made in Small English Town

In Havant, Hampshire, England, there flourishes a band of men engaged in making the finest parchment in the world. They possess a skill that has been passed from father to son for centuries; in fact, before Norman times men were dressing sheepskins at Havant, and their descendants follow the same trade.

Swinburne's Rating Poor

Swinburne's admiration for large families might have been somewhat tempered (suggests a correspondent) if he had known of the remarks with which he had been disposed of by a young nephew of his own.

This lad was a boarder at a famous public school in Edinburgh, and one day the English master asked him rather pompously, "Are you any relative, my boy, of the great poet Algernon Charles Swinburne?"

With a nervous glance around at the others, the boy blurted out, "Yes, sir! He's my uncle." And then, in an outburst of confidence, added, "But he's an awful ass."

Middle Name Custom

The practice of giving a middle name to children was unknown in England before the period of the Stuarts, and it did not become at all common until Georgian times. There was, in fact, a law on the statute books forbidding parents to give more than one name to their children.

Most Expensive Avocation

The most expensive avocation which a wealthy man can find is dairying, according to the business monthly Fortune. Blooded cows cost from $800 to $25,000 a head, bulls up to $100,000. With tiled walls, vitreous windows, ice plants and ventilating systems, equipment of dairy and barn hovers around $800 a head. And of course, there's the hay roll. At a luncheon Mr. Charles M. Schwab once offered his guests their choice of champagne or milk. "Gentlemen," he said, "they both cost the same."

Old Flags

In the picture of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, by John Trumbull, the flags shown are all Colonial flags that preceded the Stars and Stripes. One is the Grand Union flag, on which the stripes appeared in conjunction with the British union.

Water a Crop of the Forest

Forests are not only generous friends because of the raw material they furnish, says the American Tree Association. They are useful in the conservation of water for domestic use, for irrigation, navigation and water power; they help to prevent floods and soil washing; they add greatly to the scenic beauty of our land; they furnish a home for many of our birds and wild animals; they offer a wonderful place for healthful recreation.

Spider's Web

An Indian spider's web, only six inches wide, was found to contain more than 41,000 meshes.

Need Not Have Worried About Waking Family

This newspaper man, is a most thoughtful person—and it is very seldom that he leaves his home for an evening out. But he did so one evening recently, intending to be out only a half hour or so. The half hour stretched into several hours and it was nearly midnight when he reached home. He thought as he approached the door that his wife and son would be sound asleep at that hour so he tiptoed softly after opening and closing the door more quietly than he had ever done before.

Even breathing more gently than usual lest he disturb the sleepers, he finally reached his own room without hearing any sound to indicate that he had awakened anybody.

Next morning at breakfast his wife casually told him that she went out to play bridge the night before and did not reach home until about two hours after his own arrival. The son reached home even later than his mother.

Husband and father still believes in being thoughtful and hopes he didn't disturb the family cat.—Brooklyn Enterprise.

Remarkable Salt Lake in Central Australia

Lake Eyre might be called Australia's "Great Salt Lake." It is located only about 250 miles southeast of the geographical center of the continent and because of its desert surroundings has been called "Australia's dead heart."

The lake and its immediate surroundings constitute the only area in Australia that lies below sea level. Its shore line is 80 feet lower than the ocean waters that surround the continent. The bottom of the lake can be considered with little error as at the same level, for Lake Eyre is in reality only a tremendous salt flat that is covered from time to time with a few inches of water.

It becomes a lake after droughts are broken by unusual rains in the far-away Queensland plains, so that floods rush down the usually dry river courses that lead to this closed basin. But quickly the shallow covering of water evaporates and the "lake" becomes first damp and then dry.

Flesh-Eating Ants

The safari ant belongs to the sub-family Dorylinae, of which the genus Dorylus, with several subgenera, frequents nearly all parts of Africa. These ants usually make only temporary nests, but spend most of their time wandering in long files. The size varies from quite minute forms to over one-half inch in length. The mandibles are very strong and the ant also has a powerful sting and a swarm is able to kill animals or birds that it may come upon. These ants sometimes enter houses in search of vermin and on these occasions the people leave all the ants are through. The same general type of ant occurs in almost all the tropical countries, except on islands. The female is without wings, which makes its distribution to islands impossible.

Terrifying Records

One of the most fascinating displays at the New York Academy of Medicine, says an article in the New York Herald Tribune, is a chart, compiled a century ago, in the columns of which are arranged the records of cases, guaranteed authentic by the author, of persons who have died of spontaneous combustion as a result of drink. In one case recorded combustion was "complete" in one "who had abused spirits for three years," and in another even more terrifying event combustion was absolute "save for a part of the skull and the last joints of the fingers" and the cause is given as "too great a proximity to a foot-stove."

The Grip of Gold

There are metals rarer than gold and more precious. But no other substance remotely approaches gold in its grip upon the imagination of mankind. We do not speak of the Platinum Rule or of the Radium Gate. We discuss, instead, golden days and golden youth and golden weddings and a golden future. Gold is the universal symbol of riches, the inevitable metaphor of wealth. And in addition it is the solid and unshakable foundation on which the world's structure of currency and credit is built.—Fortune.

Creative Instinct

Once the motive of craftsmanship went far toward keeping the world efficient and happy. This motive, and its self-expression through the homely arts, can be applied with as much satisfaction in the field of consumption as it ever was in production. Especially for men whose part in the productive system is highly mechanized, the creative instinct can find expression in the arts of use, and in the subordinate art of buying well.—From the World Tomorrow.

Frame Care

Gilt frames should be kept spotless by using a sponge dipped in oil of turpentine and allowed to dry. Apply white of egg with a fine brush to fly specks and other spots and then rub with soft cloth.

Kilt Ancient Costume

The kilt is not a Scottish invention. Kilts were worn by the ancient Assyrians, and also by the Romans when they conquered Britain. The name is derived from the Danish—"to tuck up."

"The Sea Bat" to Show at the Punch and Judy

When Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer selected the little seaport, Mazatlan, on the southern coast of Mexico, as location for its new marine melodrama, "The Sea Bat," which is scheduled to show at the Punch and Judy theater Sunday and Monday, July 20 and 21, it was not only because of the fact that this is an ideal place from which to get shots of the unique sea monster from which the picture gets its title and which plays an important part in Dorothy Yost's unusual story.

For uppermost in the mind of director Wesley Ruggles was the thought that this stretch of the Gulf of California coast line, hitherto untouched by motion picture cameras, is one of the most picturesque scenic spots within reasonable distance of Hollywood.

Ruggles is credited with a rare achievement in being able to photograph a Voodoo religious ceremony in which 500 natives participated. These scenes of the natives with fantastically painted bodies and grotesque masks were made even more effective in that the microphone permitted recording of the weird incantations and rolling of drums.

Raquel Torres is featured in the cast together with Charles Bickord, Nils Asther and George E. Marion.

"Sweetie" is Now "Honey" in New Film

Nancy Carroll, the flaming-haired sweetie of "Sweetie" fame, is to be seen and heard in her second musical romance, and her second starring picture when "Honey" comes to the Punch and Judy theater Friday and Saturday, July 18 and 19.

"Honey" is based on the famous comedy success "Come Out of the Kitchen," by Alice Duer Miller and A. E. Thomas.

The cuddlesome Miss Carroll plays the role of the Southern girl, who is forced by circumstances to assume an Irish brogue and play the role of cook in her own plantation kitchen. Stanley Smith plays the role of Burton Crane, young scion of wealth, who falls in love with Nancy during a visit to her plantation. Smith was her college-boy sweetheart in "Sweetie."

Telephone Topics

Metropolitan Boston's latest telephone directory contains 806 pages as compared with 768 in the previous book. The first individual name in the directory is that of Ole Aalerud, and the last is Stanley Zyzyz. They are the Alpha and Omega of the list, but in this case, Omega really comes up to the beginning as the double "Aa" in Aalerud's name is pronounced as a single "O." Aalerud is a native of Norway, and Zyzyz was born in Lithuania.

"Send flowers by telephone," was the suggestion made at the North American Flower Show, held in Detroit recently. At the time, it was pointed out that it was quicker and would insure personal attention to one's order at a distant point for a florist to telephone out-of-town orders.

A telephone call from New York to San Francisco, which a little over three years ago cost $16.50, now costs $4. Night rates, of course, are about 50 per cent lower.

David Irvine, a jeweller and watchmaker at Vancouver, is a bit deaf and is unable to hear the telephone bell distinctly. However, the problem has been solved by his dog Tommy. The dog has been taught to bark whenever the telephone bell rings, and Tommy keeps up this barking until he attracts his master's attention. Whenever Tommy starts barking vigorously and points his nose towards the telephone, his master knows there is someone who wants to talk to him.

There is one place where obsolete types of telephones are in demand, and that is in the big movie studios at Hollywood.

Styles change in telephones just as they do in everything else, and the telephone sets of twenty-five or forty years ago look as out of place today as do the women's gowns of the same period. But at Hollywood, many pictures are made portraying conditions in the past and it is necessary when a scene is shown representing any particular year, not only to have the costumes of the actors correspond with the period, but to have the other properties in keeping. That is why the movie directors find a place in their equipments for various obsolete types of telephones, many of which have almost been forgotten by the present telephone-using public.

Construction work has been completed on a new Long Distance circuit providing direct telephone communication between the cities of Montreal and Toronto. The placing of this new circuit in operation marks the opening of the sixteenth direct telephone circuit linking these two important Canadian cities. The new line is made necessary by the increasing use of Long Distance over this route, the increase for the first three months of 1930 having been 27 per cent over the average for the same period in 1929.

The new line forms an important part of a big construction program in 1930 for Quebec and Ontario. Approximately $11,000,000 is being expended this year by the Bell System for Long Distance lines and apparatus throughout the two provinces.

Beauty of Gratitude
Gratitude is one of those bridges which tie the ancient world to the modern, which link decent men and women of all ages together in the gentle bonds which end in the land of love. The way is dark, and many millions groping for love find it not. But the lantern of gratitude, shining in the gloom, will lead them as near to it as they can go here below.—Boston Herald.

Effectively Stirred Up

His Sleepy Listeners
A noted writer was talking about the success of a trashy and sensational novel. "This novel," he said, "reminds me of a preacher. He was preaching away, proclaiming eternal truths, one somnolent summer morning, and in the heat his congregation drowsed. "Suddenly he paused. He glared down at all those nodding heads. Then he resumed in a loud voice: "I was walking down Green lane last Thursday and in Farmer Cornelius Husk's barnyard I saw a strange sight. Yes, I saw a large sow suckling a litter of ten little pigs, and the sow and each little pig had a long horn growing out of the forehead between the ears. "The preacher paused again. He glared down at his congregation again. They were all wide awake now. They all gazed up at him with wide-eyed interest. "Aha!" he said bitterly. "A while ago, when I was telling you eternal truths, you went to sleep; but now, when I tell you a pack of silly lies, look how wideawake and interested you are!"

Divided Guilt Between Speaker and Listener

William W. Sewell, ranch manager in the West for the late President Roosevelt, and his guide on many a hunting trip in Maine, was the source of an interesting anecdote in New England in 1901.

The President, standing on the portico roof of the old Bangor house, in Bangor, Maine, called out: "Has anyone seen old Bill Sewell of Island Falls? If he's in the crowd, bring him up."

And Bill was brought up, while notables from all parts of New England were thrust aside.

"Bill, I'm glad to see you," greeted Teddy. "But I never expected a smart fellow like you would be wasting time listening to political speeches."

"And I never figured a smart fellow like you would waste time makin' 'em," grinned Bill as the two shook hands.

Suresnes in History

Suresnes cemetery, a historic spot, has been the grave of soldiers since prehistoric times. It is situated on the gentle sloping hill of Mont Valerien, named after the Roman emperor whose forces there won a bloody victory. In the Middle Ages Mont Valerien was frequently the scene of fierce battles between the Frankish tribes. Napoleon started to build a fortress there because of its strategic position. In the Franco-Prussian war Mont Valerien was the last French stronghold to surrender to the German armies besieging Paris, and was also the scene of an artillery duel between the troops of the national government and the bloody Paris communards.

Romance of the Sponges

If we only realize it, there is really a good deal of adventure represented in the articles of usefulness and luxury and necessity about us.

Sponges, for instance. We see them hanging in our bathrooms and that's all we see. But they must be brought from the bottom of the sea. Sponges do not grow everywhere, and those from some sections of the ocean's bed are superior to others. The best sponges usually come from the deepest water, and the so-called silk sponges from the Mediterranean are from deep water. For the deep-water sponge it is necessary for divers to search, though those from shallower water can be gathered by means of long poles.

White House Restored

When the British attempted to destroy the White House, in 1814, the fire gutted the interior of the building and badly damaged the exterior walls. All preparatory work and repairs to masonry were done in 1815 and early in 1816. Contracts were let for the cutting and delivery of timbers from nearby Virginia and Maryland, and the erection of the roof was commenced in October, 1816, and completed in December of the same year. By September, 1817, the work had progressed sufficiently to permit President Monroe to spend a few days in the building, and in December of that year he took up his residence there.

Home of Watercress

Motoring between Henley and Net-lebed recently, says a writer in the London Evening News, I came for the first time upon "Watercress Village." It must be unique in England. Its name Ewelme, pronounced Yewelm. A stream as clear as crystal runs down the middle of the village street, and watercress grows in profusion in it. Rustic bridges cross the stream and lead up to the cottage gardens. Further broad expanses of watercress beds lie beyond the cottages, and the occupants make a living from watercress.

Johnson's Impeachment

President Johnson was impeached by the house of representatives, but was acquitted by the senate in the impeachment trial. The Constitution gives the house the sole power of impeachment and the senate the sole power to try impeachment cases. An impeachment is similar to an indictment, in that an official who has been impeached is not necessarily guilty, any more than is a person who has been indicted by a grand jury.

William Powell on the Fisher Screen

Greater Movie Season brings to the Fisher this week William Powell in his latest talkie, "For the Defense," and the lavish Public New York stage spectacle, "The Blue Mill."

Powell's leading lady in this newest hit is Kay Francis, the screen's best dressed woman. Others in the cast of this amazing thrill picture include Scott Kolk, William B. Davidson, John Elliott and Harry Walker.

"For the Defense" was directed by John Cromwell, from the story by Oliver H. P. Garrett.

"The Blue Mill," the Public stage production, brings that prince of comedians, Ray Bolger; the Dennis Sisters; Emilie and Romaine; Helen McParland, and the Fred Evans Tulip Girls. Samuel Benavie conducting Fisher symphony and Arsene Szecl at the organ, together with sound and talking newsreels and summer screen novelties complete the Fisher program.

"Shadow of the Law," at Hollywood Theater

Instead of another detective role, William Powell plays the part of a hunted criminal in his latest talking offering, "Shadow of the Law," showing at the Hollywood theater four days beginning Sunday. Powell goes to prison through lack of testimony to show his innocence, the woman in the case having flown away to avoid notoriety in connection with the murder, which is really was accidental. Powell finally escapes in a thrilling sequence, hunts down the woman who refused to testify and again is rebuffed through her effort to blackmail him. In the meantime he had become a prosperous mill manager in a southern city and had fallen deeply in love with the owner's daughter. How the situation is finally ironed out forms one of the most moving characterizations Powell has ever offered. In the supporting cast are Marion Schilling, Natalie Moorhead, Regis Toomey, Richard Tucker and Paul Hurst.

A splendid array of vaudeville acts will be offered on the same program along with the Hollywood Merry-makers in new arrangements of popular dance numbers. Bob Clarke will perform at the organ, offering another community sing-fest. The screen shorts include a Graham McNamee news reel and a comedy "Fifty Million Husbands."

Birds Make Trouble

Short circuits are sometimes caused by birds roosting on power wires. These not only kill the birds but cause expensive breakdowns in the lines.

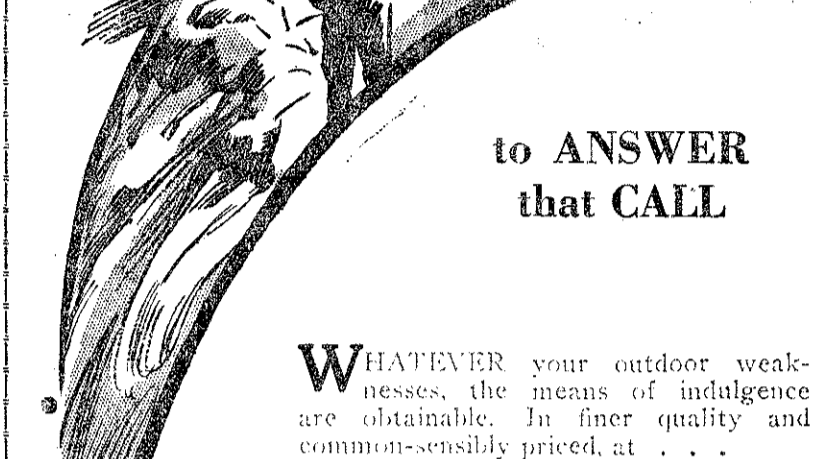

Moran and Mack at Paramount Theater

Moran and Mack, the famous musical comedy and radio stars, better known in the world of entertainment as the Two Black Crows, make their second starring appearance on the talking screen in the riotous comedy.

"Andbody's War," now at the Paramount theater. And in this new Paramount picture, Moran and Mack play throughout in blackface, in a brand new, original laugh-provoking story that reveals these two well known entertainers with a whole new set of funny sayings. As two thoroughly lazy, drawing dummies who have their own ideas on how to make the world safe for democracy, Moran and Mack reach new heights in the realm of comedy antics, getting more hearty laughs from a New York preview audience than they ever did when they were stars of Earl Carroll's "Vanities."

"Holiday" Now on the State Screen

The courage that marked Mary Astor's determination to graduate from "sweet young thing" roles to more sophisticated characterizations was rewarded by her selection for one of the merriest film plums of the season, when Miss Astor was chosen for the role of "Julie" in "Holiday," the Philip Barry stage success brought to the screen by Pathe under the direction of Edward H. Griffith.

Miss Astor was a star in her own right when she rebelled against being an eternal ingenue. Her contract was not renewed, and for nearly a year thereafter she chose to remain idle rather than accept her former type of parts.

Then Miss Astor talked a Los Angeles theatrical producer into letting her play a sophisticated role in a stage production. Although her salary was a mere fraction of that she had received for screen services, the five week engagement proved to be a wise investment.

Ann Harding plays the featured lead in "Holiday," which is now at the State. Robert Ames has the leading man's role. Others filling important parts are Edward Everett Horton, Monroe Owsley, William Holden and Elizabeth Forrester.

Americans as a Nation Laughers and Talkers?

The American laugh is most impressive. Laughing is a very important emotional expression and one learns a lot about character through careful observation of the way people laugh, Carl G. Jung, writes in the Forum.

There are some folk who suffer from a crippled laughter. It is just painful to see them laugh, and the sound of that shrill, evil, compressed rattle almost makes you sick. America as a nation can laugh. This means a lot; it means that there is still childlikeness, a soundness of emotion, an immediate rapport with fellow beings.

Cynicism Confuted by Man's Belief and Hopes

It seems the fashion now to find a cynical motive at the root of every good deed, to reduce all nobler emotions and impulses to some unsavory form of sex complex. I have even heard those who are proud of their "sophistication" explain mother love as a form of sex gratification!

They believe that virtue is always rewarded and evil is always punished. Hokum? Yes, but they are wiser than the critics. They believe these things because these things are true. Goodness may not be rewarded by money, evil may not be punished by hanging, but there are rewards and punishments that cannot be seen by the naked eye.—Cecil B. De Mille in Motion Picture Classic.

Faith in a Few Things Best

Channing said truly, "No one is so tempted to believe too little as the person who began by believing too much." Or, rather, too many things, trying to see in detail the fashion of things to be, making an Atlas of Eternity. In reaction against what it deems the over-belief of other days, our generation has fallen into an under-belief, far below what is its right.

The Bachelor's Pie

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the food expert, ended a eulogy of rhubarb with an anecdote. "There was a bachelor mason in my native Kent," he said, "who used to cook his own food, and one day he came to work with a pie over two feet long fastened to the top of his lunch basket.

Fleeting Youth

George Edwards—old London Gaiety "guy" nor—was a great believer in youth and good looks in his actresses, and he gave particular care to the selection of the "six little wives" in "San Toy," and, after the piece had run for some months, he was found at the back of the dress circle inspecting the stage critically through his opera glasses.

Citrus

One evening Mr. Brown was seated in the living room reading the paper when his little son John, age five, approached him, and asked: "Papa, what is a lemon?" "Why, a lemon is a citrus fruit. It's something that causes a bitter taste in your mouth," his father replied.

Same Term Applied

A golfing husband was entertaining a friend. They were left alone talking for some time after dinner. Then the wife entered the dining room to hear her husband pass some remark about "a hole in one."

release, is "Street of Chance," an original story by Oliver H. P. Garrett, former star reporter of the New York World.

It is a picture in which "big time" professional gambling is held up to the mirror of reality. Powell is the central character, "Natural" Davis, lord of all the gamblers, who nightly gather in green-shaded hotel rooms to stake their fortunes and sometimes their lives on the deal of a poker hand.

Powell is a lovable villain. Immersed as he is in the lawless swirl of poker cards, nevertheless he has a sympathetic spot in his case-hardened heart for Regis Toomey, his young brother.
