Grosse Pointe held its first political rally last Friday evening, in the High school building, on the occasion of an address by Wilbur M. Brucker, Republican nominee for Governor at the fall election, next Tuesday, November 4.

Metal Weather Strips Saving Coal Bills

Metal weather stripping has shown itself a very efficient means of reducing crack leakage and thus a material aid in making a house weather tight.

The clearance between window sashes and frames and between doors and frames varies from 1/16 to 1/4 inch.

Metal weather strip will reduce leakage losses and will aid materially toward an annual saving of fuel.

A fuel saving of fifteen to twenty per cent appears possible by equipping windows and doors with metal weather strips.

U. of D.-U. of M. Game Blocked by Big Ten Conference Rulings

A University of Detroit vs. University of Michigan football game at Ann Arbor on Thanksgiving Day seemed a very remote possibility early this week despite the frenzied efforts of football fans from both institutions, state and city of Detroit executives and officials from the U. of D. to arrange such a contest.

As proposed, the proceeds from this gridiron classic—for it would be nothing short of that—are to go into the Mayor Frank Murphy's Relief Fund to aid the needy and destitute during the remaining months of the depression this winter.

As negotiations for the game were undertaken, it was pointed out that the Western Conference rules would likely prohibit Michigan from scheduling such a game.

Grosse Pointe High School Attic To Be Used as Classrooms

Anticipating a substantially increased enrollment at the second semester in the Junior High classes held in the Grosse Pointe High School building, steps are being taken by the Board of Education to alter the attic of the building so as to permit its being used for certain types of Junior High school work.

The Board plans, Dr. S. M. Brownell, superintendent, announced this week, to provide space in the attic for the print shop, the instrumental music room and a small classroom.

Brucker Planning Extensive Campaign

"The next administration of state government will have to do with at least five distinct and complex issues in which state action will be involved in the economic problems of our people," says Wilbur M. Brucker, Republican nominee for Governor.

"With reference to the first problem that of unemployment. It should be fairly said at the outset that the problem is not one confined to our state nor even to our nation but is worldwide in its scope.

Voters Await With Interest, Tuesday to Fill State Offices

Considerable speculation exists as to the outcome of the race for the gubernatorial chair in which Wilbur M. Brucker, attorney general, and Republican nominee for the office is opposed by the astute Democratic leader, William A. Comstock, Democratic nominee.

Voters Await With Interest, Tuesday to Fill State Offices

Evidence of the support Comstock has succeeded in rallying to his cause is the obtaining of the endorsement of the Crusaders, a national organization of men to secure the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment.

"Good News" Talkie at the Punch and Judy

"Good News," which will be at the Punch and Judy theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 29, 30 and November 1, was produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer under direction of Edgar MacGregor and Nick Grinde, with Bessie Love in the featured role.

is paired with Gus Shy, the well known stage comedian, who repeats the role he made famous on the stage. Bessie sings and dances in several novel numbers and gives a performance replete with comedy material.

The supporting cast includes Dorothy McNulty, Mary Lawlor and Billy Taft, who also were in the stage version of the collegiate musical hit, Miss Lawlor again appearing in the ingenue lead; Miss McNulty featuring the Varsity Drag numbers and Taft playing the freshman part.

Stanley Smith, one of the talking screen's newest singing juveniles, is teamed with Miss Lawlor in carrying the romantic interest. He last played in "Sophomore" and "Sweetie," in which he won outstanding recognition.

Others in the cast are Cliff (Ukulele) Edwards, who needs no introduction; Lola Lane, of "Speakeasy" fame; Delmar Daves, author-actor, who scored in "So This Is College"; Frank McGlynn, noted for his Abraham Lincoln characterizations; Tom Jackson, who was the detective in "Broadway" on stage and screen, and Abe Lyman's famous band.

Madison Announces Change of Policy

This week marks the change in policy at the Madison theater. Price schedules have been changed, making picture entertainment at the Madison theater, the biggest bargain buy in Detroit. The new scale of prices allows a bargain matinee every day (except Sundays) of 25c for adults until six o'clock in the evening, and from six p. m. until closing, 50c admission. Children will be admitted for 15c at all times.

Lew Ayres, hero of "All Quiet on the Western Front," and "Common Clay," is the star of the new picture, "The Doorway to Hell," screen feature attraction this week to inaugurate the new price policy.

"The Doorway to Hell" is the thrilling melodramatic story of the young gang leader of a big city — who is wanted by the gang, because he defies police and put on the spot by everything for the love of a girl. Lew Ayres portrays the reckless gang leader while Dorothy Mathews, a new leading lady of the screen, plays the feminine lead. Charles Judels, Leon Janney, Robert Elliott, James Cagney, Kenneth Thompson and a big supporting cast of well-known players are featured.

"A Lady Surrenders" at Punch and Judy

With an all-star cast of seven well-known screen and stage players, Universal has made what is claimed to be the outstanding drama of the year, "A Lady Surrenders," to be at the Punch and Judy theater from Sunday to Wednesday, November 2-6.

Adapted from the popular novel "Sincerity," by John Erskine, "A Lady Surrenders" is a blending of ultra-sophistication and astute subtlety. It was directed by John M. Stahl, one of the best-known directors and producers.

The story concerns the marital difficulties of a young and well-to-do bed manufacturer and his novelist wife who is bored by the confinement of married life.

Conrad Nagel, one of the screen's best-known and most popular stars, has the masculine lead as the young husband.

Rose Hobart, who, until her recent removal to Hollywood, where she sought a career in talking pictures, was one of Broadway's leading feminine dramatic artists, plays the smart, sophisticated, novelist-wife.

An intriguing love story, involving the husband and the wife's best friend, played by Genevieve Tobin, late star of the stage version of "Fifty Million Frenchmen," forms the basis for the action of the play.

Basil Rathbone, eminent stage star, plays the role of a French charmer, whom the wife thinks she loves.

Both Miss Hobart and Miss Tobin present a veritable fashion revue in the smart Paris creations which they wear in this story of married life in the upper social strata. Others in the remarkable cast are Vivian Oakland, Carmel Myers and Franklin Pangborn.

Chevalier New Love Picture at Michigan

Maurice Chevalier, Paramount's big personality man, brings a new kind of love to Detroit this week in his "Playboy of Paris," on the Michigan screen.

Chevalier's new leading lady is lovely Frances Dee, whom Paramount is apparently groom for stardom in short order. Eugene Pallette and the screaming Stuart Erwin are featured in the cast, together with O. P. Heggie of "Vagabond King" fame, Cecil Cunningham, Dorothy Christy, Tyler Brooke, William Davidson and Charles Giblyn.

Ludwig Berger, maker of "The Vagabond King," directed Chevalier's "Playboy of Paris," while Richard Whiting wrote the music. Vincent Lawrence, American playwright, wrote the story "My Ideal" and "It's a Great Life" are the two songs Chevalier makes famous in this new hit.

On the Michigan stage this week comes something flashily new and unusual in Public entertainment. "Harem Hokus," a mirth and melody show with color, music, and beautiful girls set at rapid-fire pace.

Stanley Smith in Person on Fisher Theater Stage

Stanley Smith is at the Fisher theater in person this week. He will be remembered for his love making with Clara Bow in "Love Among the Millionaires," and for his singing and dramatic roles opposite Nancy Carroll in "Sweetie" and "Honey."

On the screen there is a treat for children from six to sixty-five. It is Paramount's adaptation of the story, "Spanish Acres" under the title of "The Santa Fe Trail." Richard Arlen, Mitz Grenc, Rosita Moreno, Eugene Pallette and Junior Dorkin head the cast. The story is of the old West and Arlen portrays the part of a young shepherd in search of grazing grounds for his flock. He finds land at Spanish Acres and also the owner's daughter. He solves the mystery of the "Indian Curse" which proves to be the work of the owner's secret enemy and after a hard battle wins out by capturing the latter and winning the hand of the beautiful daughter.

"War Nurse" Drama Comes to the State

The story of the woman's side of the war in the front line trenches spreads itself vividly across the State theater screen this week in "War Nurse."

Directed by Edgar Selwin, noted genius of the Broadway stage, who has, with it, fulfilled his Hollywood contract of one picture a year, it brings to light the war through the eyes of the women who participated actively in the battle lines.

A cast comprising Robert Montgomery, Anita Page, June Walker, Robert Ames, Zasu Pitts, Marie Prevost, Helen Jerome Eddy and Hedda Hopper have been assembled for this startling production.

"War Nurse" was adapted for the talkies by Becky Gardner from the sensational and much-talked-of Cosmopolitan magazine story.

Sound and talking newsreels, comedies, novelties and cartoon comics comprise the big extra State screen program in addition to "War Nurse."

Marx Brothers Come to the Riviera Screen

Those very funny Four Marx Brothers, Groucho, Harpo, Chico and Zeppo descend upon the Publix Riviera Theater, and for the entire week, starting Saturday, November 1st, movie fans who have the opportunity to witness their uproarious laugh-scream will be rolling in the aisles of the theater.

"Animal Crackers" is the title of this new Marx Brothers vehicle, and from an official count by movie critics, contains 388 laughs, a greater number of laughs than any stage or screen production to date can boast. Even "The Cocoanuts," last season's Marx Brothers success, would have had to add approximately 80 laughs in order to get as much audience response as "Animal Crackers" does.

The story is something about a stately and socially proper hostess, with a house-party on her hands at a palatial country estate. A big game hunter, just back from an African expedition, his secretary, and two vagabond musicians engaged to attend to the musical appetite of the guests, is the business assigned to Groucho, Harpo, Chico and Zeppo.

"Lottery Brides" at the United Artists

Arthur Haunmerstein has done it! The New York impresario, in his first screen venture, "Lottery Brides," at the United Artists theater, has surpassed any and all of his magnificent stage successes in this United Artists production presented by Joseph M. Schenck.

Any doubt that the screen has grown up with the development of sound can be dispelled by attending this dramatic love story, unquestionably of the most complete union of music and drama so far to come from Hollywood.

Jeanette MacDonald, the leading lady, proves her right to the title of prima-donna of pictures. The cast in general is of stellar quality. John Garrick, the young English actor, plays opposite Miss MacDonald and steps into the front ranks of popularity. Honors are by Joseph Macaulay and Robert Chisholm, both well known on the New York stage. A comedy trio consisting of Joe E. Brown, Zasu Pitts and Harry Gribbon leave nothing to be desired in the way of laughs, and excellent characterizations are given by the youthful Carroll Nye and the veteran, Max Davidson.

"Animal Crackers" at Hollywood Next Week

The swiftest and most laughable comedy of the season, by almost unanimous verdict of movie fans, is "Animal Crackers," starring the four famous Marx brothers. It is to be presented at the Hollywood Theater Sunday and three days thereafter, thus promising the most hilarious engagement in many months.

Those fans who recall "The Cocoanuts," know what to expect of the Marx comedians in "Animal Crackers." The fun is of the same nonsensical sort. The plot, such as it has to do with replacement of a valuable painting by two imitations and the subsequent efforts to trace the authentic ones. It all happens at a gay house party and Groucho Marx, in the role of the famous African explorer, is the headliner in the om-fology. In addition to the Marx brothers the cast is made up of capable and well-known players. Lillian Roth is the heroine.

With Eddie Loughton continuing to take merry on the stage and as leader of the Hollywood Merry-makers, the stage presentation offers also a number of big-time vaudeville acts, these including a comedy song and dance revue with a large cast of comedians in timely and original patter and a swift and amazing riddle act. Bob Clark performs the organ and there are short subjects of wide variety on the talking screen.

Pearson Returns From International Garden Meet at Washington

Over fifty organizations in the United States and Canada have volunteered their cooperation. Among these are the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the Camp Fire Girls of America, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, the Garden Club of America, the Institute of Peace, and the National Council of Women of Canada. The project has been sponsored by an international committee of prominent American men and women, including Albert C. Burgrave, Rev. S. Parkes Cadman, D. D., Martin L. Davey, Pierre S. DuPont, Mrs. Henry Ford, Right Reverend James E. Freeman, D. D., Frank O. Lowden, Mrs. William A. Lockwood, E. B. Luke, Miss Marion H. McClench, Adolph Ochs, Hugh A. Rose, Mrs. John F. Sippel, Alfred A. Smith, Sir Henry W. Thornton, K. B. D., Thomas J. Walsh, Owen D. Young.

Mr. Pearson reports that an endowment fund of $5,000,000 will be established for planting and maintenance of the garden, which upon completion will be presented to the governments of the United States and Canada as a mutual property. The plan for the garden will be selected in open competition for landscape gardeners in the two countries. The winning blueprints will have to encompass plans for arbors and terraces, beds and borders, walks and conservatories in the largest garden ever established. All the traditional flowers for every state and every province will be included in the planting. Because of the border location of the garden, provision will have to be made for well placed ports of entry.

Several plots of land at various locations on the border have been offered as possible sites for the garden, but as yet no location has been made. The site will be chosen largely on the basis of maximum accessibility to visitors from both countries, and it is expected that the Peace Garden will be one of the show places of America.

The garden will be supported insofar as possible by the general public—men, women and children of the United States and Canada. It is the belief of the National Association of Gardeners, originators and sponsors of the Peace Garden idea, that to serve its purpose as a constant reminder of the neighborly amity that has been maintained for over a hundred years, the peace memorial must live in the minds and hearts of their peoples. Opportunity will be given every school child to contribute a few pennies toward the founding of the garden.

State, county and city chairmen are being appointed to take charge of the Peace Garden work throughout both countries. Headquarters for the work in the United States are at the offices of the National Association of Gardeners, 522 Fifth Avenue, New York City. Contributions may be sent to that address.

Next Sunday, November 2, the congregation will celebrate the Reformation Festival. The 400th anniversary of the presentation of the Augsburg Confession will be given a prominent part in the sermon. In a recent letter, President Hoover said, "From the reading of the Augsburg Confession date so many of the changes in point of view from older conception both of religion and Government. The effects of these historical events are reflected in our National life and institutions, in religion through the predominant numbers of adherents to Protestant faiths and in Government through the principle of separation of church and state. It is fitting that we should commemorate the persons and events from which these mighty forces have sprung."

Services will be held next Sunday as follows: German at 9 a. m., English at 11:15 a. m.; Sunday School at 10:15 a. m.
 The monthly Bible Hour of the Young People's Society will take place next Sunday at 5:15 p. m. The Junior Society will meet on Friday of next week, November 7, at 7:15 p. m. of the causes of the present "Hoover Panje" but I do maintain that if the "Senator Wagner, of New York, introduced bills in the Senate intended to accomplish this very thing. Unfortunately the Senate and Congress became so embroiled in the quarrels over the tariff and farm relief that they had no time in which to consider an unemployment relief measure of equal importance.

"There is a growing realization that National Prohibition has been a failure. The recent defeat in the primary of Representatives Hudson and Cranton is evidence of this sentiment in Michigan. I believe in temperance. Some years ago I voted consistently against the open saloon. National Prohibition has substituted the blind pig for the open saloon. In common with many others I believe present conditions are intolerable and should be changed. The solution of the problem lies in the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States and the return to the states of the control of the liquor problem. I realize that this whole subject is controversial and can only be finally settled through calm and unprejudiced discussion and expressions of popular opinion whenever possible. Therefore, I favor referendums on the subject, both national and state. Our Republican friends have a lot of nerve when they ask your support and sidestep the prohibition question. They know it is one of the issues of the day.

"Suppose we take up a few matters of state taxes. When the present administration went into office in Lansing the average state tax levy for the six years immediately preceding was $17,400,000. In the first year of the new administration the tax levy was $24,500,000. In 1929 it had jumped to $29,500,000, the biggest, by far, in the state's history.

Those figures, of course, are for the state tax alone. The total cost of the state government in 1926, the year before the Green administration went in, was $94,900,000. Specific taxes on automobiles, gasoline, corporations, etc., make the difference between this figure and the tax levy, which is the tax on real property; but the money comes out of your pockets, anyway. In 1929 the total cost of state government had risen to $120,350,000 and for 1930, we are told, the state general fund will have a deficit of $10,000,000.

The corporation tax was put through by Mr. Groesbeck when he was governor. It was intended to be used in the enlarging and repairing of state institutions, then in a very sad state of neglect. When Mr. Green became governor this money was diverted into the state grab bag, the general fund. In 1928, campaigning against Mr. Green, I went after him good and hard for this. He finally agreed with my views and started this money back into the proper channels. But, in the meantime, the state institutions were so crippled that the state had to appropriate $24,000,000 for their needs and this sum you will have to pay in taxes over a 10-year period. Had the corporation tax gone into the state institutions as was the intent of the law, that $24,000,000 would not be upon your tax bills.

"I want to make brief mention of the election laws. I think both the primary and general election laws should be revised with a view to limiting campaign expenditures and recapturing party responsibility, without destroying the primary. The primary should be kept open to all comers as now, but some method should be devised to keep out the purely publicity seeking self-starters from filing as candidates. This might be done by increasing the number of signatures necessary for nominating petitions or by requiring the candidates to post a forfeit to be lost if he received say, less than 20 per cent of the vote cast by his party.

"The problem of old age pensions is another thing we must take up. Fully a dozen states already have laws providing this care for the aged. We must not be laggard in meeting this issue.

"Whatever we do toward solving our state's problems, must be done with our eyes always upon the whole picture of the state. A great fault of our government has been that they were not responsible to the people. The men in office have not foreseen the troubles that were rising.

"A wise business man looks to the future. So should a public official look to the future and not let the ship of state get into troubled waters. We have had, in the past, some men in high public office who did look forward, but it has been our hard luck that they were few in number and came to us at long intervals.

"When you choose men to administer public affairs, you must pick the men who have the ability to see what to do and men who have the courage to do it. You don't want to pick a man because of his party label.

"This is the year when forward-looking citizens ought to unite for the good of their state, their nation, for their own good. The average public official, once he gets into office, seems to forget entirely the great mass of people—the common people—who put him there. You will find him, before election, stumping the district, asking for the people's suffrage, telling them he wants only a chance to do something for them, telling them he can do so much. When he gets into office he is a changed man. He is entirely changed. He has no time for these common people now. He is a party man, if you please. He must do his party's bidding. He tells the common people what they can do and where they can go, if they do not like it.

"One of our great presidents—Grover Cleveland—once said that public office is a public trust, that men who hold office are public servants and not public bosses. Those are true words, surely; but they do not seem to have made a lasting impression. Certainly the management of our state's business in recent years does not indicate this feeling to be general in the ranks of public office holders today.

"I have been fighting for good clean government for many years. In doing so I believe I have been a better citizen than the Republican who has served selfish interests, looking toward salaries, honors and other emoluments and rewards. I have been told in years past that there is no hope for a Democrat in Michigan. If that were true it would be just too bad for the intelligence of the voters of Michigan; but it is not true and I am happy to say that in recent weeks I have been told by many men and women, who come from points throughout the state, that I stand an excellent chance of being the next governor of Michigan.

"Many of these men and women who have spoken this cheering news to me are Republicans. So, you see, the party label doesn't cut so much figure after all. It doesn't mean today any more than the label on the bottle—it's the contents that counts.
