Plan Court Action in Attack on Township Board's Appointment

Attacking the validity of the appointment by the Township Board of Samuel Gordon, of Beaconsfield avenue, Grosse Pointe Park, as a Township constable, legal steps were to have been taken this week in the Wayne Circuit court to have the appointment set aside. The legal action was to have been brought by Alan Devine, of Devine, Kent & Devine, attorneys, in behalf of Alex W. Elfers who had sought to obtain the appointment.

The appointment of Gordon as Grosse Pointe Township constable was reported to have been made Monday at a meeting of the Township Board. It was made to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Emmet Penticost, also of Grosse Pointe Park, who was elected constable at the 1930 Spring election.

Andrew T. Phillips, constable, upon the resignation of Penticost, circulated a petition among Grosse Pointe Park residents, asking the Township Board to appoint Alex W. Elfers, who resides at 1380 Beaconsfield avenue, to fill the vacancy. Phillips succeeded in obtaining several hundred signatures of residents to the petition and filed the petition last week.

Elfers was a candidate for constable at the 1930 Spring election, finishing fifth in the race, a few votes behind Penticost. For the same office he was elected in the Township Board race and Penticost was the fourth in the race.

Grosse Pointe Youth; "Bill" Fitzpatrick, Scintillates On Gridiron for the "Titans"

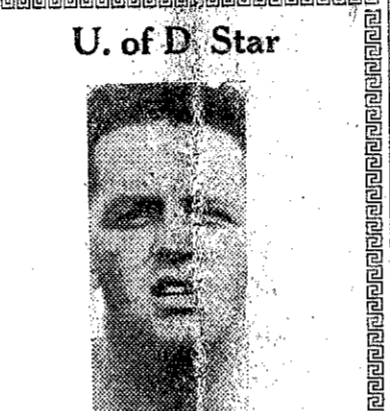

Conspicuous in the effective defensive and offensive play of the University of Detroit's football team so far this season, has been the scintillating work of William Fitzpatrick, regular center on the "Titans." Fitzpatrick, a resident of Grosse Pointe, is the son of William Fitzpatrick, attorney for the Grosse Pointe Board of Education.

Particularly in last Saturday's game with Fordham played at the U. of D. stadium did Fitzpatrick display his full ability. Pitted against Tony Siana, Fordham center, who has been a ranking candidate for All-America honors, sport writers are agreed that Fitzpatrick ran circles around the East's star in all department of the game.

University of Detroit's coach, Charles E. (Gus) Dorais, has been completely satisfied with the work of the center of the line. In Fitzpatrick, he concedes him to be the leader of the line's fighting ability and credits him with that rare and valuable ability to diagnose plays of the opposition.

In last Saturday's game the young and aggressive University of Detroit line repeatedly played to a standstill the Fordham forward wall which has been called one of the best lines in modern football, and though the Titans wilted slightly in the closing minutes of the game to let two Fordham touchdowns filter through, the Detroit team gained plenty of glory in defeat. The team as a whole was faithful to the tradition that University of Detroit teams are more dangerous when the achievements against Fordham have aroused the Titans are preparing to stem the powerful golden avalanche of Marquette which will be thrown against them in Milwaukee Saturday, November 15. The Titans will likewise be inspired by the determination to avenge the scoreless tie by which Marquette last year spoiled Detroit's long string of successive victories. Entering the Marquette game next Saturday with a record of three defeats in the last thirty games played, the Titans are determined to start a new series of consecutive victories by defeating Marquette.

"BILL" FITZPATRICK

U. of D. Star

The job will not be an easy one as Marquette boasts a powerful undefeated team this year, having beaten Iowa, conqueror of Detroit, and having conquered Boston College by the same score that Fordham did. A large migration party of Detroit supporters accompanied by the University of Detroit band, will accompany the team to Milwaukee by special train. The special will leave the Union Depot shortly after midnight, 12:30 a. m. Saturday morning, and will return to Detroit Sunday morning. A block of 700 seats on the forty and fifty yard lines are now on sale at the University of Detroit athletic office, assuring all who attend the game from Detroit the best seats in the stands at Milwaukee Saturday. Many things of interest to the migration party are being planned to take place enroute to and in Milwaukee.

The Grosse Pointe Lions Club will sponsor a benefit football game Thanksgiving morning at the Grosse Pointe High School field. Full details next week.

GROSSE POINTE HOME IS SCENE OF WEDDING OF JUDGE SWEENEY

The home of Mrs. Ralph M. Clark, 1324 Grayton road, Grosse Pointe Park, was the scene of the wedding of her sister, Mrs. Grace S. Folsom, to Judge Henry S. Sweeney, of the Recorder's court of the city of Detroit, which took place last Saturday at 6 o'clock.

The ceremony, witnessed by relatives of the couple, was performed by Dr. Chester Emerson, pastor of North Woodward Congregational church.

Following the nuptial ceremony, a wedding supper was served at the Clark home.

A week's sojourn in Chicago had been planned but before leaving, the newly-weds attended a convocation of Detroit Odd Fellows in the new Naval Armory at East Jefferson avenue near the Belle Isle bridge. There the groom received the grand decoration of chivalry, the highest honor conferred by the organization.

President Hoover's Armistice Day Address Urges World Peace

Washington, Nov. 11.—The full text of President Hoover's Armistice day address follows:

Upon this day all thoughts must turn to our heroic dead whose lives were given in defense of the liberties and ideals of our country. Their contribution to these priceless heritages was made without reservation; they gave the full measure of their intelligence and energy and enthusiasm, and life itself, forfeiting their portion of further happiness—all that we and our children might live on more safely, more happily, and more assured of the precious blessings of security and peace.

A solemn obligation lies upon us to press forward in our pursuit of those things for which they died. Our duty is to seek ever new and widening opportunities to insure the world against the horror and irretrievable wastage of war. Much has been done, but we must wage peace continuously, with the same energy as they waged war.

Peace Advance Made

This year 1930 has been rendered notable in peace annals in the achievement of the London naval treaty. That has disposed of one of those major frictions among the great naval powers—that is, competition in naval construction—and it has made a sensible advance in the reduction of warships.

The promotion of peace and prevention of war, however, cannot rest upon the accomplishments of any one year. The outlook for peace is happier than for half a century, yet we cannot overlook the fact that nations in many ways are always potentially in conflict. There are not only the accumulated age-old controversies, and ambitions which have alive with prejudice, emotion and passion, but you may be assured that there always will be an unceasing crop of new controversies between nations.

Every shift in power, every advance in communications, in trade and finance daily increases the points of contact of one nation with another. The diffusion of their citizens and their property abroad increasingly penetrates and overlaps into the four corners of the earth. The many inventions of these citizens, their ceaseless energies, bring an hourly grist to our foreign offices of contested right or grievance. It is true that many of these contacts make for understanding and good will; it is indeed of the first importance to peace that these happy influences be cultivated and that the unhappy ones be disposed of with justice and good will.

Pact Grows in Strength

The Kellogg-Briand pact, signed a little over two years ago to further safeguard against the dangers from these conflicts, has already become a powerful influence in international affairs. Several further states have adhered to it since last November, bringing the total number of nations up to 58 which have renounced war as an instrument of national policy and have agreed to settle conflicts of whatever nature by pacific means. Five other states have expressed an intention to adhere, which will bring the total to 63, a figure comprising all but two nations.

The recognition of this fundamental principle of peace and from the moral restraint that the covenant itself presents, this agreement has become one of the most potent instruments for peace which the world has ever forged for itself.

There has been much discussion as to the desirability of some further extension of the pact so as to effect a double purpose of assuring methodical development of this machinery of peaceful settlement, and to insure at least the mobilization of world opinion against those who fail when strain comes. I do not say that some such further step may not some day come about.

Such a formula would be stimulative and would appeal to the dramatic sense of the world as a mark in the progress of peace. But less dramatic and possibly even more sure is the day-to-day strengthening and buttressing of the pact by extension from one nation to another of treaties which, in times of friction, assure resort to well-tried processes of competent negotiation, of conciliation, and of arbitration.

U. S. Record Shows Gain

And we can see in our own relations record great advancement in these fundamental but less dramatic supports to the pact during the two years since its signature. Up to the signature of (Continued on Page Two)

With the increasing popularity of this program manifesting itself by the redoubling numbers who avail themselves of the bargain, the management of the Aloma and the Review again present the coupon for the Review readers to clip and present at the box-office with the admission price of one adult which will allow two to enter.

The opportunity is offered for two days only, however, the coupon being good only for Tuesday's and Wednesday's performances. The theater is located at the corner of Charlevoix and Wayburn avenues.

Village Police Will Hold a 'Keno' Party Wednesday at Club

Mobilizing its forces to provide effective relief for the unemployed and needy in the Grosse Pointe district, the Village of Grosse Pointe Police Benevolent Association is working with utmost dispatch in arranging for a "Keno Party" to be held in the Neighborhood Club on the evening of November 19, it was announced this week.

Considerable interest already is being shown in the event, the various committees, headed by E. Trombley, report as they go about their work preparing for the evening of pleasure, next Wednesday. Indications to date augur well for the success of the party as word is received from many that they intend to be present. The attendance is expected to be exceptionally large and accommodations for a record crowd ever to attend the Neighborhood club are being made.

The "Keno Party" is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock next Wednesday evening and prizes will be drawn for the various fowl commonly to be found on the Thanksgiving Day table. This includes a 75 pound dressed pig, a 15 pound turkey, and a 12 pound goose. Chances are five cents each.

Checks for books of tickets for one dollar should be made payable to the Village of Grosse Pointe Police Benevolent Association. As in the past, the proceeds will be spent for charitable purposes.

Following this party, the Gardeners Club of Grosse Pointe plans a similar affair on the evening of November 22 in the Neighborhood Club and the Grosse Pointe Athletic Club will also sponsor a "Keno Party" on November 25.

Mrs. Evans of the J. L. Hudson Company will give some interesting book reviews, and this will be followed by an appropriate Thanksgiving program. Everyone welcome!

This meeting sounds as promising as the last meeting, held October 22nd, proved to be. At this October meeting after a short business session, the mothers put on a fashion show, also made possible through the courtesy of the J. L. Hudson Company. Some of the mothers and daughters were models, and very fine one they made, too.

Kroger Opens New Store in Grosse Pointe

Saturday, November 15th at 15222 Jefferson avenue, corner Beaconsfield in Grosse Pointe Park, the Kroger Company opens a beautiful new grocery and market to better serve its Grosse Pointe patrons. This store will carry in addition to the usual complete Kroger stocks a very fine line of fancy groceries' specialties, baked goods department and meat market.

The growth of Kroger stores throughout the nation has been phenomenal. Kroger reputation at first was principally due to the fame acquired by the fine blend of Kroger Coffee. Mr. Kroger next turned his efforts to selling quality groceries and meats. Today Kroger stores and markets are the largest distributors of meats in the United States.

President Hoover's Armistice Address

(Continued from Page One) the pact our country was bound by arbitration treaties to seven other nations. It was bound to 26 nations by conciliation treaties, both bilateral and multilateral. Since that time we have completed treaties with 15 more countries, and in addition we have signed further arbitration and conciliation treaties with 45 nations, of which 26 have been ratified and the others are either before the senate or in course of presentation to it.

By these treaties of arbitration we pledge ourselves to the acceptance of the judgment of a distinguished third party in all controversies of a justiciable character. By treaties of conciliation we pledge ourselves to submit all other types of controversy to negotiations or the mediation of commissions which embrace representatives of disinterested nations.

It is our purpose to develop in every way the use of arbitration and conciliation agreements in our relations with foreign nations.

Other nations of the world have likewise been engaged over years in the building up of the machinery for pacific settlement of controversies. There are hundreds of arbitration and conciliation treaties existing directly between them. Indeed the covenant of the League of Nations provides for arbitration and conciliation amongst 54 nations of the world.

Sees Arbitration Accepted

It is my belief that the world will have become grimly interlocked with such agreements within a very few years, and that it will become an accepted principle of international law that disputes between nations which it has not been possible to determine through the ordinary channels of diplomacy shall in future be submitted to arbitration, or to international conciliation commissions.

In the development of methods and pacific settlement, a great hope lies in ever extending the body and principles of international law on which such settlements will be based. The world court is now a strongly established institution amongst 45 nations as a continuing body, performing and facilitating jus-ticiable determinations which can only be accomplished sporadically under special treaties of arbitration.

Its permanence is assured and from it there is steadily growing a body of precedent, decisions, and acceptance of law in the formulation of which we should have a part, not alone in our own interest but in advancement of peace.

A year ago I made a suggestion of a practical contribution in settlement of an age-old controversy of freedom of the seas. I proposed that food supplies should be made immune from interference in time of war, and that the security of such supplies should be guaranteed by neutral transport and management. I proposed it not alone upon humane grounds but that the haunting fears of nations who must live from over the sea might be relaxed and the sacrifices which they make for naval strength might be lessened. Our food supplies are assured, and it is therefore from us a disinterested proposal. It would make for prevention as well as limitation of war.

Plan for Emergency

We, as a nation whose independence, liberties, and securities were born of war, can not contend that there never is or never will be righteous cause for war in the world. Nor can we assume that righteousness has so advanced in the world that we may yet have complete confidence in the full growth of pacific means or rest solely upon the processes of peace for defense.

With the progress the world has made in the installation of the methodical processes for the settlement of controversies, the larger problem emerges as to fidelity to agreement to use these methods. The thought and anxiety of the world is rightly directed to the question as to what the nations of the world will do in case of a failure to use them. It is useless for us to say that we have no interest in such events.

Since our experience in the World War no one will deny the dangers which foreign wars bring to our shores or the interest we must have in the peace of the world at large. But I do not hold that our obligation in these matters lies wholly on the basis of self-interest. It is upon its moral and spiritual strength that the advancement of the world must rest.

Our basis of cooperation to preserve peace among nations must be different from that of the other great nations of the world. The security of our geographic situation, our traditional freedom from entanglements in the involved diplomacy of Europe, and our disinterestedness enable us to give a different and in many ways a more effective service to peace.

Avoid Entanglements

The nations of Europe, bordered as they are by age-old dangers of which we in the western hemisphere have little appreciation, beset as they are by long-inherited fears, believe that they must subscribe to methods which in the last resort will use force to compel nations to abide by their agreements to settle controversies by pacific means. We, in our great state of safety and independence, should make no criticism of their conclusions which arise from their necessities.

But we believe that our contribution can best be made in these emergencies, when nations fail to keep their undertakings of pacific settlement of disputes, by our good offices and helpfulness free from any advance commitment on entanglement as to the character of our action.

The purpose of our government is to cooperate with others, to use our friendly offices, and, short of any impingement of the use of force, to use every friendly effort and all good will to maintain the peace of the world.

The war that ended on this day 12 years ago taught us one thing, if nothing else, and that is the blessing of peace. When we look back upon its splendid valor and heroism then displayed, when we remember the magnificent energies poured forth by young and old, when we recall the marvelous exercise of the greatest virtues that glorify the human race—unselfishness, self-sacrifice, cooperation, both by men and women—we are looking not upon qualities which war creates but rather upon the traits of the human race which war makes seem more vivid by contrast with its own horrors. These same qualities are exercised, but are unsung and unheralded, in times of peace.

Those who died displaying them would have displayed them living, and would have wrought their fruits into the enduring fabric of our peaceful destiny. We can only pledge ourselves, in honor of their memory, to the task of making ever more unlikely that our youth shall be denied its opportunity to devote its idealism and its energies to the constructive arts of peace.

Quartermaster's Annual Report

United States at such times as may be designated by the Secretary of War between May 1, 1930 and October 31, 1933.

The responsibility for preparing plans for the conduct of this pilgrimage and for its management was delegated to the Secretary of War to The Quartermaster General. The importance of this entire effort was so evident from the first, and the responsibility for its successful execution so great that the most careful consideration has been given to this duty.

National Cemeteries

The Quartermaster Corps is charged with the care and maintenance of the national cemeteries. That the Corps realizes the honor bestowed upon it in caring for the resting places of the Nation's dead goes without saying and efforts are constantly being made not only to improve the physical condition of the cemeteries but to make them more fitting resting places for those buried there.

the standard of superintendents of the national cemeteries a system of competitive examinations was adopted during the past fiscal year. Under this system the applicants are thoroughly investigated before they are examined with a view of determining whether or not they possess the proper character as well as the ability to act as superintendents of national cemeteries. Results of this system are beginning to be apparent even at this early date. Eventually every superintendent will be of such character and ability that he will fully appreciate the honor bestowed upon him in being selected to care for the graves of his former comrades and will maintain the cemetery of which he is superintendent in such a manner that it will reflect great credit upon the Government and place it in the high position it deserves. With a further view to increasing the efficient maintenance of the national cemeteries they were reclassified during the past fiscal year and placed in three classes in accordance with their size, importance and activity. During the past fiscal year there were 3,586 interments in the National Cemeteries in the United States; making a grand total of 416,523 interments, of which 261,721 were known and 154,802 unknown. In the eight permanent cemeteries in Europe there were 30,811 interments as of June 30, 1930, of which 29,178 were known and 1,633 unknown. There are now 93 national cemeteries, 83 in the United States, one in Mexico, one in Alaska and eight in Europe. The appropriation for the care and maintenance of national cemeteries was $544,339, and the entire amount was expended for general maintenance, including some special repairs and improvements. Based on a survey made a few years ago a program was worked out for needed improvements at the national cemeteries to modernize old structures and equipment, some of which had been in use since the cemeteries were first established. Much progress has been made in making the needed improvements and with the exception of some needed replacements of old structures and additional repairs for which funds will be requested from time to time, the national cemeteries are in first class condition. The overseas cemeteries are now on a maintenance basis, the work of establishing them having been completed.

Recovery of Bodies—The investigation and research work incident to the recovery and identification of American dead in the battlefields in Europe, resulted in the identification of 22 bodies in registered graves heretofore carried as unknown; 33 bodies of those who were missing or unlocated were recovered; and 3 bodies were returned from France for shipment to relatives in the United States.

Tomb of Unknown Soldier—Under the provisions of the Act of Congress approved February 28, 1929, providing $47,500 for the completion of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery, a contract has been awarded for the drawing of the plans for the memorial preliminary to completion of the work.

Restoration of Lee Mansion—During the fiscal year the work of repairing the Lee Mansion in accordance with the Act of Congress approved March 8, 1925, was completed. While all the furniture necessary for restoration of the Mansion to its condition prior to the Civil War has not been procured, about 40% has been obtained. Some very fine pieces of furniture, silver, china and other objects have been donated by patriotic citizens and the remainder purchased. The restoration of the grounds immediately adjacent to the Mansion is now in process. On March 22, 1930, the Mansion was opened to the public and since that date there have been approximately 85,000 visitors.

Big Birthday Show at Fisher Theater

Not since the Indians made whoopee when Detroit was only the name of a fort has there been such a celebration as is now taking place at the Fisher theater which is holding its second anniversary birthday party.

By special arrangement, the most most outstanding picture production of the year has been secured for the holiday program. Two of the most beloved stars of the screen appear in the same cast for the first time in it. The picture is Mark Twain's immortal "Tom Sawyer" and the stars of the hit are Jackie Coogan and Mitzzi Green. The remainder of the cast includes such well known players as Junior Durkin, Lucien Littlefield, Tully Marshall, Clara Blandick and others. This picture finds a place in the hearts of all kids from six to sixty-six. Mischief, comedy, excitement, suspense—are all present.

The stage presentation produced by Ed. J. Weissfeldt on a lavish scale for the Anniversary, "Let's Get Happy" is presented in ten scenes. It is replete with gaiety, jazz, color, motion and features a galaxy of star acts including the famous Broadway comedians, Wilton and Weber. Bob Nolan, a new personality in Detroit, and the Fisher's new master of ceremonies contributes his share towards making this party an event.

Rex Beach's Story to Feature Screen Bill at Hollywood House

Rex Beach's classic story, "The Spoilers," now recording its thrilling, grim and romantic role of gold-digging in nerve-taut Alaska during the big Klondike drive through the talking picture, comes to the Hollywood theater Sunday for a four-day engagement. Naturally, it is one of the big events of the season. Gary Cooper, William Boyd, Betty Compson, Kay Johnson, Harry Green, James Kirkwood, Slim Summerville and Lloyd Ingraham, are only a few of the big names found in the cast. It is a story of primitive men, daring women and nature's tremendous handicaps to those who dared everything in the quest for gold. One thrill follows another until the memorable hand-to-hand battle staged by Cooper and Boyd, which will go down in screen history as one of the most grueling contests ever recorded for the camera. The vaudeville and surrounding program at the Hollywood is also of unusual merit. Eddie Loughton, popular master of ceremonies, continues to lead the Hollywood Merry-makers and to specialize in new gags and novelties in which the audience gets on intimate terms with all those on the stage. The big time vaudeville offers an elaborate revue, which combines singing, dancing and novelties and there are other acts also of wide diversity and talent. Bob Clarke offers one of his popular organ songs and the shorts on the screen include a Graham McNamee news reel and a cartoon comedy.

Gloria Swanson at Punch and Judy

When Gloria Swanson begins laying plans for a new motion picture, studio sound crews and electricians and designers begin preparing themselves to overcome hitherto unsolved problems and evolve new ways of doing things. For it is recognized in studio circles that her pet aversion is the ever imminent danger of succumbing to the influence of established precedent and becoming a copyist.

The fact that certain production methods have become recognized as sound practice and have been widely adopted does not interest Miss Swanson. If she decides to incorporate a certain type of set or a certain camera angle in her picture, sound engineers and cameramen know better than to attempt discouraging her by reporting that up to the present good results have not been obtained with such a "set up."

The staff engaged by the star invariably starts something new in film production. They proceed to adapt sound or camera equipment to the requirements of the innovation, whatever it may be, and invariably attain results far beyond their fondest hopes. The freshness of viewpoint afforded picture fans by this constant striving for originality is very apparent in Gloria's latest United Artists talking and singing picture, the comedy "What a Widow!" which will be at the Punch and Judy theater Tuesday and Wednesday, November 18 and 19. From beginning to end the picture is essentially modern. The story treatment follows new lines. The sets reveal a development of the modernistic influence far in advance of current design. Miss Swanson's clothes incorporate a sufficient number of fads and fancies to keep feminine fans alert every moment she is on the screen. And additional innovations, while not apparent to the eye in such a definite manner, serve to enhance the entertainment value of the picture to a tremendous extent.

Faith Lutheran Church

A record attending mark for a regular Sunday service at Faith church was set last Sunday morning when 1040 worshippers were present. A "Loyalty Campaign" is being conducted at this church during the month of November, last Sunday being "Visitor's Day." The assistant pastor, Rev. Theo. Fricke, will preach the sermon next Sunday which has been designated as "Prayer Sunday." A brief sermonette will also be delivered to the children. The vested choir of eighty voices will sing. The service will begin at 10:45 a. m. A special invitation is extended to the people of the East Side to attend this Lord's Day worship service.

The church auditorium was filled with children last Sunday morning at 9:15 when the classes marched in procession from their respective departments for a fifteen minute devotion and song service. Over 600 children are enrolled in Faith Sunday school with 60 teachers on the educational staff. Any child of the community is welcome to attend this Sunday Bible School. The Men's, Ladies' and Young People's Bible Classes also meet at 9:15 for this brief worship service.

The Young People's Club of Faith Church announce their big "On-Board-Ship" party for next Thursday night, Nov. 20. This event is open to all young people who will find a warm welcome among a lively group of young people.

Jefferson Avenue Baptist Church

Next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock the sermon topic will be "The Holy Spirit." This message will be a continuation of "The Apostles' Creed" series. There is probably no doctrine that has been less understood, over which there have been more hurtful heresies, than that of the Holy Spirit. Yet there is no doctrine more practical or more important than this. If you are troubled with questions about the Holy Spirit, come to this service Sunday and receive help.

The worship services of the Jefferson Avenue Baptist Church are dignified, beautiful and spiritually helpful. Large congregations attend the preaching of the Word. A fine vested chorus of volunteer singers provides music of an exceedingly attractive nature. No hungry heart will be sent away from God's House without a feast of good things for the soul. This church seeks to minister—not to be ministered unto. Rich and poor are alike welcome.

The large Bible School, with an attendance of nearly 800 each Sunday meets at 9:45 and provides study privileges to every age, from the tiny tot in the Cradle Roll to the most aged in the Adult Department.

Two flourishing young people's organizations offer spiritual culture and a means of expressing the devotional life of young people. The Judson Union is composed of those from 16 to 21 and the Friendly Union from 21 up to 30 or thereabouts. The meetings

George Bancroft on the Michigan Screen

The Mighty George Bancroft is now on the Michigan screen in the latest and greatest of his virile, dynamic roles, "Derelict."

"Derelict" is the story of a strong, fearless sailor who "loves 'em ashore— forgets 'em at sea."

William Boyd, of "What Price Glory" stage fame, is Bancroft's rival for a lady's love in this film. Jessie Royce Landis, formerly of Detroit's Jessie-Bonstelle players, recently Richard Bennett's leading lady on the stage in "Solid South," is the girl who causes all the disturbance.

Jack London's Story at Punch and Judy

"The man who lived." This phrase, the English equivalent of a name given to Jack London by his Hawaiian admirers, is completely expressive of one of America's best known... most vivid writers. The whole secret of London's stories is the fact that their author wrote from personal knowledge of his subjects and to gain that knowledge he spent many years at sea and poking about in odd corners of the globe.

Born in San Francisco in 1876, his muscular prowess and incorrigible desire for adventure often led him into questionable but exciting company. Cruising about San Francisco bay with fish pirates and other dubious acquaintances gave him a craving for the sea, and he shipped on a small trading vessel to Alaska.

Upon his return he read a story of Alaskan adventure that disgusted him. "I could write a better yarn than that," he mused, but he also realized that his scanty schooling was not adequate to the job. So he approached a friend, an Oakland saloon-keeper, and boldly told him what he wanted, asking for financial aid towards getting an education. According to the story of Mayor John L. Davis of Oakland, an old friend of London's, the bartender roared at the youth. "You're tough enough now. If you ever got educated, you'd spend your life in the penitentiary!"

However, the boy's pleadings won the other's attention, and he financed London through school. Later the youngster made a trip to Japan on a sealing schooner, getting the material which he later embodied in the famous "Sea Wolf."

Of all London's writings, "The Sea Wolf" is probably the best known. It has sold far into the hundreds of thousands.

The first all-talking version of the famous story, with Milton Sills in the title role, will be at the Punch and Judy theater Sunday and Monday, November 16 and 17. Alfred Santell directed the production for Fox Movietone, with Jane Keigh and Raymond Hackett featured with Sills. The supporting roles are enacted by Mitchell Harris, Nat Pendleton, John Rogers, Harry Tenbrook, Sam Allen and Harold Tinney.

"Abraham Lincoln" at the United Artists

To be jilted is an experience in tragedy which occurs to but few women, yet Mary Todd was jilted, and by no less a person than Abraham Lincoln.

This peculiar phase of Lincoln's character, when he was so frightened as to run away from the prospect of marriage into the most aristocratic family in the West, is revealed in U. W. Griffith's United Artists production, "Abraham Lincoln," which is scheduled to open at the United Artists theater shortly.

friendly biographers have tried to excuse Lincoln's behavior with conflicting theories. Some believe that the future president, who was shy and highly sensitive, was a victim of nerves on the night of the wedding and as a further development of that condition became temporarily deranged. It is known that he wandered the woods abstractedly for days.

Others contend that the memory of his boyhood love for Ann Rutledge proved so strong that it conquered his reasoning mind and thus caused him to jilt Mary Todd.

Bert Lytell at State Theater in "Brothers" "Brothers," the thrilling play which scored a tremendous stage success on Broadway and in Detroit has been adapted to the screen and is now at the State! As a film it is even greater than the play because the limitations of the stage have been removed. Bert Lytell, who played in the stage drama, is starred in his original role. He renders a clever dual impersonation.

"Brothers" presents a striking and intelligent psycho-analysis of the effect that environment has upon two brothers who are endowed at the start with equal hereditary gifts.

Bert Lytell plays the dual roles of Eddie Connelly, waterfront character, and Bob Naughton, wealthy young lawyer. Taken from a founding hospital in infancy, a twin is brought up in extremes of environment. The poor boy emerges as a good-natured, clean, healthy-minded individual, while the other brought up in the lap of luxury is dissipated and dissolute. Naughton's depravities culminate in the murder of his mistress' husband. Because of the physical resemblance, Eddie Connelly his twin brother, is mistaken for the crime and he is arrested.

Dry Brook, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Truman H. Newberry on Lake Shore drive was transformed into a garden of rare beauty last Saturday afternoon, when Mrs. Newberry invited about 100 friends to witness her display of chrysanthemums. All varieties and colors from the white Helen Newberry, named for the late Madame Newberry, to the William Turners, which are puff ball blossoms, reaching eight feet in height and having a circumference of 30 inches, were on view. The stairway was banked with yellow, bronze and white flowers, while yellow and white predominated in the music room. Mrs. Newberry, who received in the great hall, was attired in a garden frock of pink chiffon and lace with a large pink garden hat of horsehair braid. Tea was served in the dining room, where the tea table was spread with a lace cloth and centered with a tall silver vase, filled with varicolored chrysanthemums, and lighted by pale yellow tapers in silver branched candelabra. Mrs. Dexter M. Ferry, Jr. and Mrs. Percival Dodge poured.

Among those who attended the delightful affair were: Mrs. Henry D. Sheldon, Mrs. James S. Holden, Mrs. Jerome H. Remick, Mrs. Harry M. Jewett, Mrs. James T. Shaw, Mrs. Alexander Copeland, Mrs. Dugald S. Miller, Mrs. Edward H. Butler, Miss Frances Sibley and her guest, Miss Kathleen Trowbridge, Miss Anne D. Russell, Mrs. Edgar B. Whitcomb, Mrs. William K. Smith, Mrs. Joseph Gardner Standart, Mrs. Henry M. Campbell and Mrs. Edwin Hewitt Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Newberry entertained a number of their friends on Sunday, who had not attended the display on Saturday.

The first week in January Mr. and Mrs. Newberry will leave for their winter home in Bellair, Fla.

On last Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Eugene W. Lewis entertained at tea in their home on Jefferson avenue Grosse Pointe.

The reception in the Grosse Pointe Club after the wedding Thursday in Memorial Church of Ella Florine Henry and Robert John Bartlett was one of the most delightful affairs of the Fall season.

Many smartly gowned women were there. The very fashionable black and white ensemble predominated. In fact, one young guest said it looked like a "moving checker board." Of course, there were many colorful costumes, too, and there was dancing in the game room during the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett have left for a trip to Bermuda, Mrs. Bartlett wearing a Tappe suite of hunter's green, with a sable collar. Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett will reside in Balfour road, Grosse Pointe.

The wedding was one of those beautiful things that are a part of the gossamer web of a girl's dreams from the moment she makes her bow to society.

A beautiful November day and the stately church setting formed an unforgettable picture for the gathering which filled the church. The church was made even more lovely with standards of shaggy white chrysanthemums. At either side of the altar were candelabras holding myriads of ivory tapers.

Miss Henry's gown was distinguished by its simplicity. Made of white satin, its train extended from the waist. The full veil was trimmed with the same beautiful lace worn by Mrs. Edwin B. Henry at her wedding. Miss Henry was given in marriage by her brother, Edwin Barbour Henry.

Mrs. Edwin Barbour Henry, who is Miss Henry's sister-in-law, was matron of honor. Her gown was a Callot model of emerald green crepe Elizabeth, simply cut with a large cape collar. With it she wore a brown velvet hat, and her flowers were violets. Callot gowns fashioned like Mrs. Henry's, of tea-rose pink crepe Elizabeth, were worn by the bridesmaids. They wore brown velvet hats and slippers and carried yellow roses. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Allan Leroy Carter Jr. of Baltimore, the former Miss Ella Barbour of Detroit; Mrs. Carter's sister, Mrs. James E. Duffy Jr. of Bay City; Miss Helen Bulkley, Mrs. George Outfield and Mrs. Margaret B. Brucker of Lake Forest, Ill.

The two children of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Henry, Joan Henry and Edwin B. Henry, Jr., were flower girl and ring bearer respectively. Little Miss Joan's dress, fashioned of peach-colored marquisette, made a quaint picture with her diminutive brown velvet hat and a tiny old-fashioned bouquet. Master Edwin wore a peach-colored linen suit with a lace-trimmed collar.

J. Lester Miller of Larchmont, N. Y. was Mr. Martlett's best man. The guests were ushered to their places by Edward Steppinius Jr., Harry J. Taylor, Dr. John S. Davis and Charles Maskall, all of New York; George Henry of Macon, Ga., and William T. Barbour of Detroit.

Mrs. William T. Barbour, aunt of the bride, wore beige crepe. Her flowers were orchids. Mrs. Bartlett, mother of the bridegroom, wore a black lace gown, a black velvet hat and she, too, wore orchids.

The reception in Grosse Pointe Club was given by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Henry.

An interesting affair of Sunday evening was the gathering of the Grosse Pointe Musicals at "Deeplands," the Grosse Pointe home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Sheldon. The Detroit Symphony quartet provided the program.

Mrs. Sheldon will leave Sunday for New York, where she will join her daughter, Mrs. Stephen T. Stackpole, of Lake Forest, Ill., for a two weeks' stay.
