

U. of M. and U. of D. ALUMNI CLASH ON LOCAL GRIDIRON FOR CHARITY

Trapped by Fire in Bedroom, Pair Saved by Village Fireman

When fire had cut off their only means of escape from the bedroom of their home at 627 Washington road, Grosse Pointe Village, Mrs. Stanley T. Johnson and her two year old daughter, Rosemarie owe their lives to the heroism of Charles Van Collie, fireman on the Grosse Pointe Village fire department. Van Collie carried the mother and daughter to safety down a ladder after the stairs of the home had been burned thus cutting off their only other avenue of flight.

Johnson had been awakened by the smoke from the fire and gone down to telephone the fire department. However, the wires were disconnected and before he could return to his wife and child he had been overcome with smoke. The conflagration was noticed by a neighbor who notified the department. When assistance arrived the stairs leading to the bedroom had been burned away which necessitated rescuing the pair through the window. Van Collie carried the baby down first and then returned for the mother.

Cause of the fire was undetermined and most of the damage was done by the smoke. The fire loss has not been estimated. Chief J. T. Brisson was in charge of the fire.

Mother's Club Holds Dance, Card Party for Students' Fund

In an effort to raise money for the Students' Loan Fund the Mother's Club will give a dance and card party on the evening of December 6, at which the students with their mothers and fathers are expected to attend. In view of the fact that a very pleasurable evening is in prospect, residents are exhorted to bring friends and neighbors to this event. Valuable door and table prizes will be presented. The admission charge is only 50 cents.

December 19 is the date set for the afternoon bridge club meeting as well as the monthly evening business meeting for the Mother's Club.

November 19 marked the last date of the afternoon bridge club meetings which numbered eight in all. These gatherings helped materially to increase the Student Loan Fund which is the objective of every activity sponsored by the Mother's Club.

On the evening of November 19, a business meeting was held at which time the members were entertained by Phyllis Mosner in a piano recital followed by a vocal selection from Mrs. Fred Schroeder. Phyllis Johnson then presented an interesting talk on the history of Thanksgiving. The meeting wound up with a review of recent literature given by Mrs. Evans of the J. L. Hudson company.

VILLAGE RESIDENT, SIMON KARRER, IS 90 YEARS OLD; FETED BY KIN

Last Sunday, Simon C. Karrer celebrated his ninetieth birthday at 485 St. Clair avenue, Grosse Pointe Village, where he lives with his three daughters, Agnes and Ida Marrer and Mrs. Stella Lachat.

Two sons, Walter S. and Albert Karrer as well as some of his 10 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren visited him.

Mr. Karrer is the only living alderman of 26 who purchased Belle Isle for the city of Detroit. Belle Isle today is a monument to the foresight of his colleagues back in those days when Detroit's crooked streets were paved with cobblestones and Belle Isle was a snake infested bog.

In reminiscing over his ninety years of life, Mr. Karrer remarked:

"I've had a busy life and a happy one," said Karrer. "I was born in Roesch, Switzerland, November 28, 1840. When I was seven years old, my father, Peter Karrer, with his wife and family of 11 children left Switzerland for America.

"We sailed from France on the Hercules, and old sailing vessel which took 60 days to make the crossing. It was a tremendous job to move a large family in those days for we had to furnish our own bedding and supplies.

"Our intended destination was a small town near Chicago where father had been promised work. From New York we went to Buffalo where we embarked for Detroit on the Griffin, the only steamship on the lower lakes at that time. We arrived at the foot of Third street and stopped for a few days at the 'Swan,' an immigrant house at the northeast corner of Larned and Third streets.

Here Before Schools

"When father learned that the Michigan Central railway went only as far as Niles, Mich., and that we would have to travel by wagons the rest of the way, he decided that we would remain in Detroit.

"There were no public schools in those days and I was sent to a private instructor who taught in St. Mary's church on St. Antoine street until I was 12. I got my first job carrying water on the new Dequindre right of way for the Grand Trunk railway which was just being built.

"After a few years of working at various jobs, I became an apprentice in the carriage trimming trade, working for John Patton who ran a shop at the southwest corner of Woodbridge street and Randolph streets. The first year there I received $30, the second year, $35 and the third, $40. My apprenticeship over, I remained for an Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, approaches, and today finds Grosse Pointers busily engaged in preparing for a fitting observance.

In the early morning of that day, announcements have been made by the several churches in the community of special services being held for the Thanksgiving Day occasion.

Along about the middle of the morning—10 o'clock to be exact—then entire or at least a greater part of the community is expected to turn out for the football game between alumni players of the University of Michigan and the University of Detroit. The game is to be played on the gridiron at the Grosse Pointe High School athletic field, Fisher road and Grosse Pointe boulevard.

Following the game, steps will be retraced homeward for to the homes of friends to await the Thanksgiving Day dinner.

Some, surveying the past twelve-month, may feel that they have little for which to be thankful. Let them compare their estate with that of the Pilgrims. Let them test their courage and spirit against the courage and spirit of Governor Bradford and his little company. After all, there is more to Thanksgiving day than a turkey, symbol of plenty, and a digesting-testing dinner. It is a day of retrospection. Another year of adventure and experience has passed, and here we are! Surely we are riper in knowledge; surely we know ourselves and the world better; surely we have profited, even though it may have been at the expense of hard knocks. Rather than the material achievement, reckon up the spiritual. The Pilgrims, that first Thanksgiving day, were poorer than they had been in England in goods of the world, but they had proved they could make a living in their new country, where they had the priceless blessing of liberty to think and speak after their own will. Therefore their hearts were filled with thankfulness, and they made light of their hardships.

When we study the story of that first Thanksgiving day, we find in it the holiday's true spirit.

RADIO NEWS BREVITIES

Interviews with prominent theatrical stars visiting Detroit are becoming a popular Monday evening feature over Station WXYZ. They usually take place in the studios at 6:15 p. m. with Miss Mary Humphrey, Sunday editor of the Free Press doing the interviewing.

"The Early Birds" of WXYZ, who in private life are Fred Miller and George Ray, have developed into one of the most popular teams on the air. Although they still stick to their morning program, from 8:00 to 9:00 a. m., upon which they gained their wide popularity, they are now also heard in the afternoon, as well as on an occasional evening program.

A special Thanksgiving playlet will mark the "It Actually Happened" broadcast Monday evening, November 24th at 6:30 p. m. over WXYZ. (Continued on Page Two)

No Dinner Quite So Good

When mother used to cook on holidays, for Irene, George and little Bob and me.

It must have done her dear heart good to gaze, Upon us as we clamored hungrily.

Oh, was it some peculiar knack she knew, That no one else has ever understood? I know not; but I know that this is true.

No dinner tasted quite so good. In a cloak of darkness Officer Thompson found himself in rather narrow straits when his boat refused to function entirely and he drifted along helplessly. On the chance that he might attract the attention of someone on shore he set up a shout. Shortly afterward he was rewarded—a porch light flashed several times. His efforts were not in vain for someone did hear him and called the police giving them his position. Thompson is sincerely thankful for the assistance rendered him.

I see her still, as I beheld her then, Come smiling from the kitchen, and I see, The great brown drumsticks pointing up again, In fancy I can hear the shouts of glee. I smell the savory odor of it yet, Nor might blot out the picture, if I would, As long as I may eat I'll not forget—No meal has tasted quite so good.

GROSSE POINTE SOCIETY

By DOROTHY DEE

A very interesting evening is in store for a fortunate number of society folk in the near future. The committee of the Grosse Pointe lectures have issued invitations to hear Mme. Jeanne Reol-Beaume, violinist, and Mme. Robert McKee, soprano, at the auditorium of the Grosse Pointe High School, Monday evening December 1, at 8:30 p. m. This event is by way of being a very special treat for those interested in the lectures, and is an "extra" feature. Mme. Reol-Beaume was formerly soloist with the Colonne and Lamoureux orchestras in Paris, and was a prize pupil of the Conservatory of Music there. Mme. McKee has been recently in oratorio work in Cleveland and elsewhere. And, of course, no affair is complete without the assistance of the tireless debutante coterie, so a number of these bright young things will serve as ushers. What dynamos of energy they are! They are into everything. Anyway, those who will usher are the Misses Eleanor and Florence Allington, Miss Rhoda Newberry, Miss Barbara Baker, Misses Jane and Betty Post, Miss Mary Altland, Miss Anna Fletcher, Miss Joan Nichols and Miss Jo Stoppel. Patrons and patronesses for the event are:

Messrs. and Mesdames Courtenay D. Allington, Stuard A. Fraser, Julian H. Harris, Charles H. Hodges, Wilson W. Mills, Richard P. Joy, John Bell Moran, John S. Newberry, Henry H. Sanger, Fred Sutter, Charles B. Warren; Doctors and Mesdames J. A. Barne, S. M. Donnell, Parker Heath, Walter A. Baker, J. Milton Robb, C. W. Halliday; Mesdames Harriet N. Atterbury, Arthur McGraw, Morse Robinson; Misses Anne Russell, Frances Sibley and the Hersh Stollers.

A debutante who has been frequently honored at every kind of entertainment this season, is Miss Joan Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Nichols. Thanksgiving Day will bring still another party feting this very popular debutante. Mrs. Harriet N. Atterbury and Mrs. Robert T. Newberry have issued invitations for the dance at the Grosse Pointe Club from 4 until 7 o'clock. Miss Joan is the niece of Mrs. Atterbury and Mrs. Newberry.

Gridiron Stars of 'M' and Titans Play Thanksgiving Day

More than 2,000 Grosse Pointers and friends are expected to attend the football game, Thanksgiving morning at the Grosse Pointe High school athletic field between the former star players of the University of Michigan and the University of Detroit.

With the assistance of the Grosse Pointe Lions Club, under the leadership of Julius L. Berns, president, arrangements have been completed for the staging of this gridiron classic. The kick-off is set for 10 o'clock Thursday morning, and before the morning and the game have progressed very long, many of the old gridiron heroes of the "Wolverines" and of the University of Detroit "Titans" are expected to have been seen in action.

The game has been arranged for charity purposes, the proceeds of the ticket sale going to the "Goodfellow Fund" of the Grosse Pointe Lions Club. The affair gives residents of Grosse Pointe an opportunity to view one of the most unique contests in the history of local football. Latent rivalry has always existed between teams of these institutions and particularly during the past few years in which both schools have had exceptionally fine teams, has this spirit of competition been apparent. Loyal supporters on both sides have constantly clamored for a contest, but, because of one impediment or another, this was impossible.

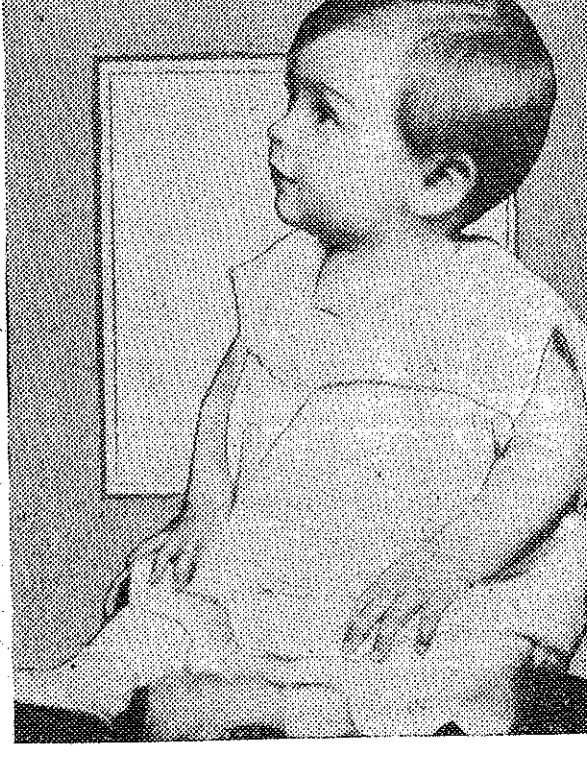

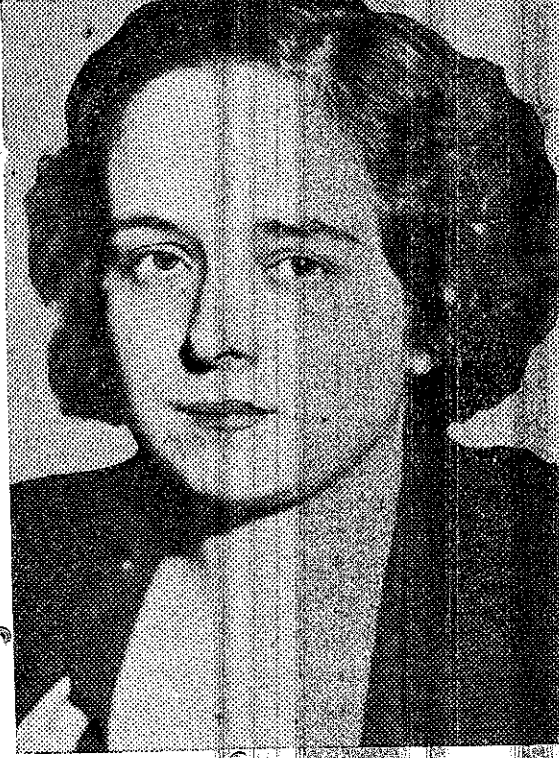

Now in the cause of charity the select of former gridiron heroes will pit their energy and ability right under the noses of Grosse Pointers.

Douglas Roby, M. '24, who has charge of the Michigan Alumni team has a squad of 19 men from which to select a starting line-up. All are expected to see service. Leading this list of Michigan stars are the names of Otto Pannering, selected by Detroit and played by Al Atterbury, and Dr. William L. Harkness, Michigan's famous "point-a-minute" team when the great Oosterbaan-Friedman combine were working havoc in the Big Ten league.

Village Fireman Rescues Mother, Child from Flames

Fire in their home located at 627 Washington road, Grosse Pointe Village, trapped Mrs. Stanley G. Johnson and her two-year-old daughter, Rosemarie, in the bedroom and presented an opportunity for an exhibition of heroism on the part of Charles Van Collie of the Village Fire department. Van Collie carried both to safety with the aid of a ladder, the flames cutting off escape by the stairway to the second floor where the bedroom is located. Mr. Johnson was overcome by smoke when he attempted to sound an alarm and found the telephone wires had been burned.

THRONGS STORM ALOMA THEATER

Unprecedented throngs of Grosse Pointers continue to assemble before the portals of the Aloma theater bearing little coupons, the like of which can be seen below, and making use of them to see the unusually fine bills offered at that theater. The customary admission is 25 cents but when presented with the ticket below two can gain admittance. Surprising how many have made use of this economizing program and it is indeed gratifying to the management of both the Grosse Pointe Review and the Aloma theater that they have been in a position to offer this bargain in spite of the great depression.

This opportunity is presented for two days in the week only, Tuesday and Wednesday. The theater is located at the corner of Charlevoix and Wayburn avenues.

As produced by Paramount on the talking scene, "Tom Sawyer" is the kind of picture you hoped it would be. It has the refreshing charm of youth. Its humor is full throated and close to everyone who is still able to remember those good old days of reading, riting an 'rithmetic. It is fast moving and gay, with one or two thrills thrown in for good measure. It is the kind of picture that youngsters, whether they be ten or fifty, are going to enjoy without reservations.

"Sinners' Holiday" Due at State Theater

A motion picture setting, hailed by Hollywood as one of the most unusual ever constructed, was built by Warner Brothers on their one thousand-acre ranch for "Sinners' Holiday," the Vitaphone production which comes to the State Theater soon.

The set is an exact duplicate of an amusement park street in one of the nearby beach resorts. The midway is more than a block long, lined on either side with the usual games of chance and pleasure booths. Grant Withers and Evalyn Knapp are seen as the romantic leads. The all-star supporting cast includes James Cagney, Lucille La Verne, Joan Blondell, Noel Madison, Otto Hoffman, Warren Hymer, Purnell B. Pratt, Ray Gallagher and others.

Nancy Carroll Brings "Laughter" to Rievier

Nancy Carroll, the adorable idol of millions of movie fans, stars in her latest dramatic screen play, "Laughter," at the Publix Riviera theater for one week starting Saturday, November 29th. This is a vehicle which gives full opportunity to Miss Carroll for a display of her emotional capabilities. She doesn't miss a moment of this big chance for new dramatic honors.

Throughout the tense action of "Laughter" Nancy Carroll sweeps along in a superb portrayal of an ex-Follies girl who, as the wife in a mismatched marriage, tries to be loyal—and is, but who always seems to be victimized by the irony of circumstances.

Ted Lewis and Band in Person at Michigan

Ted Lewis, with his magnetic personality and magic melodies is now on the Michigan theater stage in person with his greatest of all great bands. The clown prince of jazz has with him a host of entertainers, singers, dancers and comedians. Eleanor Brooks, Broadway's gorgeous dancing girl, the Seven Rangers, happy harmonizers; "Snowball" Whittier, who is most talks with his nimble, tap-dancing feet, and many others assist Lewis and his jazz clowns in making merry, mad whoopee.

Lewis is perhaps the most popular stage performer who has ever appeared before Detroit audiences. Until the Michigan theater first started bringing him and his band here in person, Detroit's only glimpses of him were in high priced musical shows. Since his appearances at the Michigan, however, Detroiters have been given the opportunity of getting an entire half hour and more at a time of Lewis, at regular Michigan prices.

"Fast and Loose," Paramount's gay comedy romance of youth, wealth and love, is on the screen. Heading a cast of stage stars contributing delightfully to the proceedings are Miriam Hopkins, who recently scored so favorably in the New York stage play, "Lysistrata"; Frank Morgan, who appeared with Nancy Carroll in "Laughter"; and Carole Lombard, Henry Wadsworth and Charles Starrett.

At the home of her mother, Mrs. Alfred Wallwork, Mrs. James Butler on Saturday, November 29, will join with Miss Agnes Kerr in honoring at a linen shower and bridge supper, Miss Kathleen Howard, whose marriage to Mr. Charles D. Young, of Sanford, Me., will take place next month. Sixteen guests have been invited. Mrs. Wallwork resides at 145 Merriweather avenue.

The day for the Christ Church Christmas bazaar and luncheon is approaching on a winged feet. In fact, Wednesday the committee heads met for the last time, in the new Christ Church, Grosse Pointe, to discuss final plans for December 4. The plans are interesting, and the bazaar promises to be even more important than its predecessors.

It will be held from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. in the Ledyard Memorial Gymnasium, Woodbridge street, back of the old Christ Church. Luncheon will be served in Christ Church House, 964 Woodbridge street, across the street from the gymnasium, from 12 o'clock noon to 2 p. m. This year there will be quite an innovation.

Of course the luncheon is always delicious, but the luncheon committee has decided the customers weren't taken care of quickly enough in the past. Business men who are tempted by the food always are in a hurry, so this year the luncheon will be "serve-self."

Mrs. William B. Crouse, of Utica, New York, has arrived for a visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Crouse, of Cadieux Road, Grosse Pointe.

Mrs. Theodore G. Fletcher will return to her home on Rivard boulevard tomorrow, after spending a month in the south.

There is always a great deal of excitement about being presented and of course additional thrill if some one from out of town comes for the event. Miss Virginia Pratt, of New York, arrived Sunday to visit Miss Eleanor and Miss Florence Allington, coming on especially for the reception, Tuesday, when they made their formal bow to society. They were presented by their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Courtenay D. Allington, at a reception at their home on Provencal road, Grosse Pointe. Miss Eleanor and Miss Florence invited a few of the younger set to have supper with them informally this evening to meet their guest.

The week promises a number of affairs of a social nature, the day following the Allington debut, Thanksgiving Day, being marked by the dance at the Grosse Pointe Club at which Mrs. Harriet N. Atterbury will compliment her debutante niece, Miss Joan Nichols. Then Friday there will be another bud presented to society, when Mrs. Sherman L. Depew will receive a large number of friends at a reception at "Hickory Grove Farms," her Bloomfield Hills home, to introduce her daughter, Miss Francis. Miss Depew, who is studying this year at Vassar, will make a short stay in the city, returning to continue her studies in the East. After the reception there will be a dinner-dance for the members of the debutante set and their escorts.

After a sojourn in Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert V. Book are expected home shortly.

We have been hearing again and again of the interest which Detroit society women have been taking in the subject of gardens. It is a fascinating subject certainly. This has been proven over and over again by the fact that busy matrons always manage to steal time from their families and their clubs to plan gardens full of lovely growing things, or to meet to discuss their latest cultivations. And now the younger crowd, led by Mrs. Sidney T. Miller Jr. and Mrs. Alger Sheldon, have organized the Junior Garden Club of Grosse Pointe. Every so often they meet to discuss the planning of their homes and the arrangement of their gardens. At a recent meeting they elected the following officers: Mrs. Renville Wheat, president; Mrs. Alger Sheldon, vice-president; Miss Marguerite Stroh, secretary, and Mrs. Seabourne R. Livingstone, treasurer. Members of the club are particularly interested in small gardens. They are all planning small, informal flower and vegetable arrangements for their homes. The last meeting was held at the home of Mrs. C. Gilbert Waldo Jr., and at this meeting a competition was held in which the members entered bowls of fruits and vegetables. Mrs. Fred T. Murphy and Miss Sarah Hendrie were the judges. They are both members of the Garden Club. Mrs. Charles B. Crouse won the first prize. Her entry was a large Mexican copper bowl filled with fruit. The second prize went to Mrs. Berrien Eaton, whose arrangement of fruit in two Italian pottery urns of cream color was extremely clever. Mrs. Haldeman Finnie was the winner of first place in the vegetable competition.

Mrs. Paul R. Gray has moved from her home on Seminole avenue, to her new residence on Voltaire place, Grosse Pointe Farms, which she purchased from Mrs. Richard H. Macauley.

To spend Thanksgiving with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Worcester, of Lincoln road, Grosse Pointe, Mr. and Mrs. Willard N. Worcester have arrived from their home in Akron, Ohio.

The growing enthusiasm among society folk for garden work is a most profitable and commendable outlet for energy. The Garden Club of Michigan held a meeting at the home of Mrs. John W. Dyer, 300 Lincoln road, Grosse Pointe Village, on Monday, November 24th, at 3 p. m. The garden that is worked by its owner is always the nicest kind of garden. Gardens have a way of growing very like who love them and get their fingers into the rich loam.

Mrs. Charles R. Walker entertained 12 guests at a bridge luncheon in her home on Moran road, Grosse Pointe, Friday. Yellow roses and lavender sweet peas adorned the table.

On Saturday Miss Ellen Skae, who is spending the winter studying in New York, returned to her home to be present at the marriage of her sister, Miss Janet Skae, and Francis Cockrell Galaudet on Saturday.

Invitations have been received from Mr. and Mrs. George Richardson Cooke for a dinner dance, November 29, at the Grosse Pointe club, for their debutante daughter, Miss Evelyn Hamilton Cooke.

Lincoln Passed His Shop

"In the fall of 1859, I went to New York to further my trade and learn some of the finer points of the business. That was during the presidential campaign of Abraham Lincoln, and one day the old rail-splitter, as he was called, passed the shop with an escort. The streets were lined with people and there was a great deal of excitement. Lincoln, himself, seemed the least excited of all.

"Shortly after that the Civil war started, and I saw the first regiments to leave New York on the SS. Vanderbilt on her way to Baltimore. After visiting a brother in the First Michigan Cavalry at Fredericksburg, Md., I returned to Detroit.

"I started a trimming department in Ed Chope's carriage works on Randolph street. Business was not very good in Detroit at that time so I went out to Pontiac, which was then a thriving town, and worked for the Parge and Pither Carriage Works.

"In 1864, I married Josephine Reno, whose father kept a grocery store at the southwest corner of Jefferson avenue and Orleans street. Returning to Detroit in 1870, I bought a grocery at Gratiot avenue and St. Aubin street from a brother. Two years later I moved to Gratiot avenue and Chene street where for 45 years I continued in business.

Was Alderman in 1876

"I was elected alderman of the Thirtieth ward in 1876. At the expiration of my term, I was re-elected and served from 1877 to 1879. It was during my last year in the council, then composed of 26 men, that Belle Isle was purchased from the campaign for $200,000. It was no easy job to get the proposition through. There was much opposition to it. All agreed that Detroit should have a park, but those on the west side wanted it located in that direction. Others wanted it more to the north. Luther Beecher, owner of the old Biddle House, opposed the acquisition bitterly. Public meetings were held on the steps of the city hall, which then was located on Cadillac Square between Woodward avenue and Bates street.

"At that time the place was called Hog island for herds of swine had been placed there in an attempt to drive out the snakes. Much of the island was swamp and to those who could not visualize the beauty spot that it would become with proper drainage and improvements, it did seem a foolhardy purchase.

Majority Was Small

"I was the youngest alderman and fought hard for the passage of the resolution to purchase the island. I thought it a wise thing for the city as a whole. And, of course, it was on my side of the town. Seymour Finney, who was the oldest alderman on the board and violently opposed the deal, used to say that some day we would find the island down in Lake Erie. Finally the proposition passed but only by a small majority.

"Mayor" Marvin Chamberlain appointed me tax receiver for three years. Finney, who had opposed the Belle Isle purchase so bitterly, was a wealthy man for those days and took great pride in getting Tax Receipt No. 1.

"Finney was a Republican and as long as they were in power, he had his way. Jim Scott, who left a fortune to build the beautiful fountain at the lower end of the island, was quite a joker. He knew of Finney's pride in the first tax receipt and decided to get the best of him.

"Scott came to me and said, 'Karrer, do me a favor. I want the first tax receipt.' I told him to leave a description of his property, which was quite as extensive as Finney's, and to be at the office early in the morning and my assistant would take care of him. Well sir, as I arrived at the office, I met Jim coming out. He was grinning so he could hardly hold his cigar in his mouth. His hat was cocked to one side as he hurried over to tell the butchers who had stalls on the first floor of the old city hall.

"He was as tickled as a kid about getting the best of Finney and got Tom Barlow to round up the bunch and they tied themselves to the bar of the old Russell House where Jim stood treat for all."

King Turkey Marches Royally to His Death

To the martial music of brass bands 10,000 Thanksgiving turkeys march down the broad street between the gaily decorated buildings as the cheering multitude applauds the strutting battalions. For Turkeyville—any one of the half-dozen Texas towns which help supply us with rare meat for the festival holiday board—is celebrating the one red-letter holiday of the year.

Row upon row until their lines stretch into the far distance in shimmering colors of red, white and bronze come the multitude of turkeys. Fluffy white privates, bronze corporals, coal-black lieutenants, dull red sergeants and gold-bedecked majors and colonels push out their wishbones a little farther as they pass the mayor's review stand and add a bit of swagger to their gait.

On and on they march, until a mile or more of the trotting turkeys have passed upon the main street, ever getting closer and closer to that ignoble fate that makes this truly the "march of death" and reach the end of that long and treacherous maneuvering which insures to the American consumer his Thanksgiving turkey. While admiring throngs to the right, applauding people to the left, cheer the turkeys on, the leaders are marching through the gates of the large dressing plant in to the very "jaws of death," Earle W. Page writes in the New York Evening Post.

All Hail King Turkey

Among the harvest festivals of America, "Turkey day" stands out unique, linking the Pilgrim Fathers' love of the tender, juicy breast of wild turkeys with the modern popularity of this piece de resistance of the annual holiday table. On this day, the turkeys are hailed as the absolute monarchs they will later become formally upon the throne of the American Thanksgiving dinner table. For this is Turkeyville, in the heart of Turkeyland—a land of magnificent distances, vast grain ranches and wealth of climate, which makes the empire a natural ranging country for the most beautiful and profitable of our farmyard fowls.

Each town in Turkeyland has its turkey dressing plant, to which all turkeys intended for the holiday table, for many miles about, head early in November. While a few are brought in motor trucks, most of the thousands each plant prepares for market are driven in great flocks, after the fashion of trailing western cattle to market.

A dozen men are required to handle these large flocks, and shelled corn is scattered to the leaders to keep them moving. When night comes a stop is made under a grove of trees, where the fowls may rest. Early the next morning the journey is continued, a man driving ahead in a cart and scattering handfuls of corn now and then, to keep the leaders headed in the right direction.

Thus it is that, during the two or three days prior to the big "turkey day" celebration great flocks of turkeys are being driven over many roads toward the town. Sunrise of the morning of the big event finds a host of turks ready for the final dash down the main street to the dressing plant. It also finds the multitude of King Turkey's hinterland gathered along the street to participate in the celebration.

After the flock has paraded into the large corral of the dressing plant, and the army of killers, pickers and packers have started in dead earnest to wind up the season's work, that the refrigerator cars of dressed turkey may start on their long journey across the continent, the milling multitude enjoys all manner of pastime, from real "turkey trot" dancing to gay ceremonies characteristic of the Southwest. In the 'days' of the Pilgrims, flocks of wild turkeys strutted in unrestricted pride and splendor through the forests of New England. Doubtless the red man introduced the early settlers to the creamy taste of the white and the succulence of the dark meat of the fowl. From that good day to the present the turkey, either wild or tame, has continued to occupy the place of honor at the American Thanksgiving dinner.

Its Name a Mystery

Just why this fowl should have been named "turkey" in the English language no one seems to know. The realm of his sultanic majesty had no more to do with the introduction of the bird into polite society than did Greenland. The real turkey is a bird indigenous to North America and was from here introduced to the rest of the world.

The name possibly may be explained by the peculiar call of the mother to her chicks, which sounds very much like "tur-r-k, tur-r-k, tur-r-k." At any rate, there is no relation between the bird and the country of the same name.

The turkey was a favorite fowl among the aboriginal inhabitants of America. It had its habitat all over that vast area, where grew its favorite food—Indian corn. When Cortez, in 1519, reached the realm of the Aztecs, Montezuma entertained him with royal splendor, and among the delicious viands set before the Spanish invaders was roasted turkey.

North of the Rio Grande the turkey was well known and the adventurous Coronado found it among the cliff dwellers and other tribes he met on his expedition through what is today Texas, Arizona and New Mexico.

The wild turkey is credited with being the progenitor of all kinds of turkeys the world over. Ornithologists accept the view that all turkeys have descended from the three forms known today as the North American, the Mexican and the Honduran varieties. The four found in certain jungles of South America and known as the curassow, although sometimes called the South American turkey, really belongs to a different family.

The North American turkey—father and mother of the whole tribe—is the original species of the eastern United States, according to experts of the Department of Agriculture at Washington. Its colors are black, beautifully shaded with a rich bronze, illuminated with a lustrous finish of coppery gold. All this emblazons the plumage with a distinctive brightness, and in the rays of the sun the burnished appearance comes out with striking brilliancy.

Wild Birds Still Thrive

To this day wild turkeys may be found in some of the most unsettled sections of their former range, especially in the wooded and mountainous regions of Arizona, Mexico, Texas, the large swamps of the Gulf, in Tennessee and the Carolinas. The Great Smoky National park boasts large flocks of wild turkeys. Their nests are discovered occasionally and the eggs given to farm hens or turkey hens to hatch, but the chicks, although mothered in a strictly modern way, revert to their wild habits when but a few weeks old.

The present demand for Thanksgiving and Christmas turkeys is so enormous as to make the business of raising, transporting and selling this giant fowl a large enterprise. Carloads of turkeys start reaching market about the middle of November and continue well into December. Should there be a surplus at Thanksgiving, those unsold are held under refrigeration for Christmas.

"Keno" Parties On in Full Swing: Several to be Held in Week

The season for "Keno" parties are on in full swing now, being ushered in a most extraordinary fashion, Wednesday evening, when the Village of Grosse Pointe Police Benevolent association held a record-smashing "Feather" party in the Neighborhood Club. Final figures as to the amount of proceeds from the affair which are to be given to charity are not available as yet, but indications are that they will represent a substantial volume.

The next party on the season's list is that being sponsored by the Gardeners Club of Grosse Pointe at the Neighborhood Club also on November 22.

On November 25, next Tuesday evening, the Grosse Pointe Athletic Club will entertain socially inclined Grosse Pointers at a "Keno" party. This affair will be held in the Neighborhood Club under the chairmanship of Arthur Wells.

The poultry to be offered for prizes at the party next Tuesday is to be supplied through the Village Market, located on Kersheval avenue and Cadieux road, Grosse Pointe Village.

Then there is the "Keno" party being sponsored by the St. Vincent De Paul next Monday evening, November 24, in the St. Anthony parish hall. This event is expected to attract large numbers of Grosse Pointe Park residents and plans now in progress for entertainment during the evening indicate an enjoyable time is to be had by all those who attend.

St. Paul's High Wins Third Division Title in Catholic League

ST PAULS SCHOOL

By virtue of her 26-0 victory over St. Rose last Friday, in her final league tilt, St. Paul's of Grosse Pointe are the undisputed holders of the championship of the third division of the Michigan Catholic High School League. Not alone do St. Paul's boast an undefeated team, but a team whose goal line has not been crossed this season.

In the St. Rose game the local squad succeeded in pushing the oval over the final stripe on four occasions. Bill Beaupre, dynamic quarterback totting the ball on two trips, and the pile driving Harold Beaupre at fullback substituted one more. Capt. Jim Casey, a converted lineman, also scored when he intercepted a pass in the final moments of the game and raced twenty yards for the final score. On two occasions the extra point was forthcoming once on a pass, Bill Beaupre to Harold Beaupre, and again when Harold Beaupre, educated toe lofted the kick between the uprights on a place kick.

This year was St. Paul's second season in the league, last season the Barrett-coached aggregation being runners-up for the championship. This is indeed a remarkable and praiseworthy feat when one considers that the total number of students in the High School numbers less than ninety.

Phyllis Johnson Is First Girl Ever to Head Student Body

For the first time since its organization, the Student Council at the Grosse Pointe High School today is headed by a girl. Phyllis Johnson, who was elected president at the recent polling for the current year's officers.

The other officers elected were: vice president, George Helander; secretary, George Lloyd; and treasurer, Edwin Allen.

The newly elected officers under the leadership of Miss Johnson plan a vigorous school year of activity. Continuation of the school hour program was promised by the new officers, and the school year will be a busy one.

CHARITY FOOTBALL GAME PROPOSED FOR THANKSGIVING DAY MORNING BETWEEN U. OF M. AND U. OF D.

Negotiations are under way to arrange a charity football game between former star players of the University of Michigan and the University of Detroit to be held at the Grosse Pointe High School athletic field Thanksgiving morning at 10 o'clock, sponsored by Dr. Coggan and Walter Mosta and the proceeds will be turned over to the Goodfellowship Fund of the Grosse Pointe Lions Club, and is expected to arouse feverish interest in view of the recent altercation over a proposed charity game between the two varsity squads.

Alumni of both universities have given undivided cooperation in securing the services of former football players and every indication points to a successful football game.

In many quarters this game is expected to become a rather pyrotechnical display considering that both universities have had an abundance of excellent football players during the past few years whose individual merits have often been compared yet never given actual and personal test. Grosse Pointe now has the opportunity of viewing this interesting contest on its own lot, so to speak, and as a result divert a few pleasure dollars into the barren coffers of the poor.

Two thousand spectators are expected to jam the stands of the athletic field with the entire revenue going to the needy of the community. The athletic field is located on Fisher road near Grosse Pointe Boulevard, Grosse Pointe Park.

High School Offers Its Seventh Operetta Friday and Saturday

The seventh annual operetta of the Glee Clubs of the Grosse Pointe High school will be presented, Friday and Saturday evenings in the High School auditorium. The title of this year's operetta is "Up in the Air."

In the cast of the play are Harry Adams, Robert Heusel, Helen Wortley, Dorothy Snyder, Roy Kaiser, Ramon Perry, Don Shepherd and Elmer Benson.

On last Thursday evening the entire cast attended a presentation of the same playlet by the students of the Wyandotte High school.

Charity Football Game at Grosse Pointe High School held Thanksgiving morning at 10 o'clock, sponsored by Dr. Coggan and Walter Mosta and the proceeds will be turned over to the Goodfellowship Fund of the Grosse Pointe Lions Club, and is expected to arouse feverish interest in view of the recent altercation over a proposed charity game between the two varsity squads.

$50,000 GIFT TO LIBRARY SYSTEM IS RUMORED AT LAST BOARD MEETING

Following the announcement of Fred Sutter, president of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education, that in the very near future he will appoint a Grosse Pointe Public Library Commission consisting of five members, comes the unverified report that a resident of Grosse Pointe Village is to donate the sum of approximately $50,000 to be used for the purpose of furthering the activities of the Public Library in Grosse Pointe.

Monthly Publication Planned to Explain G. P. School System

Consideration is being given by the Grosse Pointe Board of Education to a plan of monthly publishing a pamphlet to be known as a journal of activities of the Grosse Pointe School system. In this publication, proposed to be printed by the printing classes of the Grosse Pointe High school, the material will be edited and censored by Dr. S. M. Brownell, superintendent of schools in Grosse Pointe.

The material to be contained in the pamphlet to be distributed throughout the entire school district would concern the plans, programs and accomplishments of the school system.

Monthly Report of the Grosse Pointe Library

October has out-distanced any previous month with all departments showing a record-breaking month. The number of registrations shows that we are beginning to reach the entire population. During October 165 adults, 208 juveniles, total 371 new borrowers were added. This makes a total number of 4892 or nearly a fourth of the entire population.

The number of books circulated during October was:

	Adult	Juvenile	Total
Dark	2787	2293	5080
Village	2070	1444	3514
Farms	213	393	606
Shores	134	83	217
Lochmoor	205	199	404
Total	4059	4369	8428

The total circulation for October 1929 was 5,186, which makes a total gain of 4,583 for 1930.

The number of Grosse Pointe books in the library was 10,000.

Mr. Sutter's announcement of his forthcoming appointments was made at the School Board's meeting, last Monday evening, when the rumor of the $50,000 library gift was mentioned.

No substantiation yet has been received as to the authenticity of the report of the intended philanthropic act nor could any reliable information be obtained as to the identity of the reported benefactor.

U. OF D.-MICHIGAN STATE GAME ON SATURDAY TO BE GRIDIRON CLASSIC

A great deal of color has been thrown around the football game this Saturday afternoon, at East Lansing, between Michigan State college and the University of Detroit. Imaginative sports writers have pictured this gridiron classic as promising to be one of substantial interest from the starting whistle to the closing gun.

The U. of D. "Titans" spent a busy week this week endeavoring to brush up on offensive play. Coach Charles E. (Gus) Dorais, himself, took to the practice field with his charges and playing in a halfback position endeavored to demonstrate the knack of throwing forward passes, a phase of offensive play he was particularly adept at with Knute Rockne on the receiving end in his playing days at Notre Dame, in 1913.

Without a doubt, the Michigan State "eleven" is in for a hard assignment Saturday when the Spartans coach, "Sleepy" Crowley sends his boys out on the gridiron with orders to win.

The University of Detroit Titans, in a charity game for Milwaukee's unemployed, stemmed the "Golden Avalanche" of Marquette last Saturday in one of the most dramatic contests of the year. By the tremendous drive the Titans overcame, especially in the final minutes of the game when a Detroit touchdown seemed inevitable several times, they have again asserted their right to be regarded as one of the great teams of the country. Poetic justice was served when Detroit ruined Marquette's string of nine victories by a tie, just as Marquette ended Detroit's run of twenty consecutive victories last year.

Detroit's line was superb on defense in Milwaukee, repeatedly stopping the all-American halfback candidate, Bob Bell, and ending powerfull Marquette's drive. The Detroit line, the best

Art Classes of High View Art Exhibit at Recent Detroit Show

The recent International Art Exhibit held at the Detroit Institute of Arts was viewed by the students in the art classes at the High school and the commercial law classes of the High school were taken on a tour of the Wayne County Court house and the Federal Court house, it was learned this week.

The students in the art classes were accompanied on their trip to the Art Institute by Miss Jannette Adams, art teacher.

On the tour of the court house, the class in commercial law under the direction of Donald R. Campbell attended several court sessions to learn how the law functioned in the courts and how

Bridge and Dancing

Plans have been completed, it was announced this week for the bridge and dancing party to be given at the Defer school on Friday evening, November 21, under the auspices of the Defer Parent Teachers association. Invitations have been extended to all Grosse Pointers to attend this splendid social event on the calendar of the Defer P.T.A.

THRONGS STORM ALOMA THEATER

Unprecedented throngs of Grosse Pointers continue to assemble before the portals of the Aloma theater bearing little coupons, the like of which can be seen nowhere and making use of them to see the unusually fine bills offered at the theater. The customary admission is 25 cents but when presented with the ticket below two can gain admittance. Surprising how many have made use of this economizing program and it is indeed gratifying to the management of both the Grosse Pointe Review and the Aloma theater that they have been in a position to offer this bargain to so many of the great depression.

This opportunity represented for two days in the week only, Tuesday and Wednesday. The theater is located at the corner of Charlevoix and Wayburn avenues.

to its circumstances. The provisions in its provisions and requirements for efficient and economical operation of a school system.

Apparently then, it is to overcome such defects that the reorganization is sought.

That the School Board is contemplating such steps was precipitated into the open at the Board's regular meeting held last Monday evening. It came about when opinions were sought from the School Board's attorney of matters incident to the plan. The discussions that followed were the first public utterances made by the Board members on their proposed reorganization plan.

NORBERT NEFF CARRIES GOVERNOR GREEN'S CHARITY PLEA TO VILLAGE

A very urgent plea was addressed this week to Grosse Pointe Village residents by Norbert N. Neff, clerk for cooperation in the sale of tickets for the benefit of the school system scheduled this Saturday at the between the University of Michigan and the University of Chicago.

In a letter to residents of the village, Mr. Neff wrote:

"In accordance with the program issued by Governor Green, and operating with the move to assist the people of the State who are in need, we are assisting in the sale of tickets to the University of Michigan vs. University of Chicago football game, Ann Arbor, next Saturday, November 22, at 2:00 p.m.

The proceeds from the sale of tickets for this charity game are to be divided between the two teams participating with the stipulation that the game's share will be distributed throughout the State, to the distressed, on the basis in which the proceeds of the sale of tickets, through the sale of the relief money will be 500,000 one-half of the gross proceeds.

The game promises to be a good one, and well worth the effort to the movement to assist the needy and needy people of the State.

We are sure that the students will respond generously as attain our quota in this effort. Tickets will be on sale at the school and also at our Fire Hall. We gladly deliver them on your request; we will also arrange to change for defective tickets in any ticket.

May we respectfully request your cooperation in this effort?

Many Noted Actors in "Abraham Lincoln"

More than 112 principal speaking players are cast in D. W. Griffith's
"Abraham Lincoln," the United Artists all-dialogue screen romance of the Emancipators' life, which comes soon to United Artists theater.

For sheer numerical strength this is the largest cast ever assembled in a single motion picture, exceeding even Griffith's stupendous "Intolerance,"
"The Birth of a Nation" and "Hearts of the World."

Ninety scenes and seventy sets are shown in the picture. The sets, designed by William Cameron Menzies, art supervisor at the United Artists studios, include a slave ship on the high seas; the birthplace of Lincoln; his various law offices; a Southern plantation; various rooms in the White House; battle scenes for Sheridan's famous ride and Lee's last stand; the Ford theater where Lincoln was shot and the various symbolic backgrounds.

The whole pageant of Lincoln's life passes in review, with the romance of the martyred President and Ann Rutledge stressed in an important and entertaining way.

Clara Bow in Paris Divorce Tangle is Story at Hollywood

Clara Bow as an American motion picture actress vacationing in Europe and becoming involved in Parisian marriage and divorce laws is the setting for the fiery little star's latest talkie, "Her Wedding Night," showing on the Hollywood Theater's screen Sunday to Thursday.

"Her Wedding Night" is the jolliest, lightest and altogether the most pleasing of Clara's talkie offerings. Ralph Forbes and Skeets Gallagher are her leading men, Mr. Forbes matting her by proxy, through the bold stroke of his friend. Their efforts to become separated only entangle them the more and eventually it is discovered that true love has parked in the hearts of both hero and heroine. The ever inimitable Charlie Ruggles plays another of his inimitable drunk roles and the remainder of the cast offers such popular personages as Geneva Mitchell, Rosita Moreno, Natoline Kingston and Wilson Benge.

Eddie Loughon again leads the stage band and offers new specialties while the visiting vaudeville acts are headlined by a bevy of beautiful dancing girls in an elaborate revue.

The Hollywood management announces that performances on Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, will be continuous. The featured talking picture will be "The Life of the Party," starring Winiwe Lightner.

On each Friday and Saturday evening the Hollywood theater will give away free two new Ford Tudors or Coupes. One Friday evening, the other Saturday, at 8:45 each evening.

Also on Tuesday and Wednesday evening, the Hollywood will give away $300.00 in cash to the patrons holding the lucky numbers. Coupons are good on both drawings.

On Monday, November 24, the Hollywood will hold a big "Feather Party" giving away free 25 turkeys.

U. of D.-Michigan State Game Saturday

ened to score only once when she recovered a fumble deep in Detroit territory but the Detroit team arose to the emergency and kept most of the play thereafter well down in Marquette's territory. Parsaca's punting, and especially the punting of O'Neill, added materially in this achievement.

Detroit's tremendous drive, in the final minutes of the game was perhaps the finest Titan performance of the year, and while it just failed of victory it gained plenty of glory for the entire team which became a smoothly working offensive unit, brushing aside with apparent ease the stalwart Marquette line. Th ball carrying of Louie Berg in those final moments was something to instill confidence into the hearts of Detroit followers for the game at East
Lansing with Michigan State College
Saturday.

The Puccini family continued as an act until the death of the father and the marriage of the sister. In 1923 Puccini started six years of appearance in the "Scandals" as comedian, eccentric dancer and mandolin player. He came to Hollywood last year and has appeared in five pictures.

"Animal Crackers" at Punch and Judy

The prettiest girl from each of teen Broadway musical comedies is introduced on the screen in "Animal Crackers." Paramount's second all-talking feature for the motels Marx Brothers. This button-busting follow-up to "Cocoanuts" will be at the Punch and Judy theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 20, 21, and 22.
That number of girls was required to make up the pulchritudinous background of this production. So the casting directors, desiring to put Ziegfeld Ziegfeld, let it be known at the various New York theaters that the prettiest girl in each chorus could have a part with the Marx Brothers and still continue their stage work.

Since working with the Marxes is one of the ambitions entertained by every chorus, many came, but few were chosen at the New York studio.

The fifteen selected worked at the studio in the daytime and on Broadway at night and combine a motion picture chorus which would make the thriller of the American girl with with envy.

It is said to be such an eye-dazzling array as to make lady-killing shells depicts with one of the brothers as a police officer and the other as a thief.

In a somewhat different aspect it was used in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde"—one man paraded as two characters. In "The Masquerader" a similar situation was unfolded.

Of the same genre of stories is "Brothers," the film adaptation of the popular stage play now showing at the State theater. Bert Lytell is presented in his original dual personation. It is a story of a twin, separated in infancy and reared in contrasting environments.
One is reared in wealth, the other in poverty. The actual theme of the picture is a psycho-analytical portrayal of the manner in which their environment affected each twin.

"Virtuous Sin" Now at Fisher Theater

Two of fiction's most popular stars, Walter Huston and Kay Francis, are featured in "The Virtuous Sin" now playing at the Fisher as part of the big Thanksgiving Week show. Kenneth MacKenna also plays an important role in the production.

Lieut. Victor Sablin, a young medical student, who is on the verge of discovering a new serum to cure a dread disease, is madly in love with Marya Yanova. She does not know her own mind but marries him, hoping to learn to love him. War breaks out and Victor being in the reserve, becomes an officer in the ranks, although he feels that he can be of more service in the medical corps. His wife goes to General Platoff to plea for him and falls in love with

Society's Basic Belief,Christ's Second Coming

Shakers is the name of the religious society known as the United Society of Believers in Christ's Second Coming. Its original belief included acceptance of the prophecy that Christ would return to earth, in the new birth, in the person of Ann Lee, in the coming millennium and in spiritualism. The origins were based on the manifestations of the French prophets in the Seventeenth century, a movement which spread to the Quakers in England. In 1770, Ann Lee joined the group, and although illiterate, soon became prominent. She was imprisoned, and while in duress had a vision directing emigration to America. She had a few followers who came to this country, settled in New York state, and founded other colonies of converts on the communist plan. They have settlements in nine states. The name Shakers was early given to them on account of the members being affected with twitching in public meetings.

Nation Owes Vast Debtto Sturdy Lumberman

Iberville and his husky French-Canadian lumbermen, threading the forests of the snowy North to Hudson's bay, cutting timbers on the tributary rivers, floating them to salt water, building a battle fleet, turning sailors and defeating the regular British fleet, with their wilderness-made ships are historic figures of the lumberman in war. The axman, too, and the sawyers, put Commodore Perry afloat on Lake Erie in a fleet made from trees in the hope that the birds had been nesting only 99 days before Perry's cannon were proclaiming the mastery of Erie. Once again, in the great World war, the vocational descendants of the lumberman of a century ago launched a thousand sturdy ships of wood while the stumps of the fallen trees from which they came were still white and wet with sap. Ten years later Admiral Byrd found that only a wooden ship could conquer the crowding ice of Antarctica.

Termites Not Ants

Termites, called white or ghost ants because of their paleness (the little white ants that are likely at any time to make a meal of almost anyone's home) are really not ants at all, but neuropteroid insects. They are by no means confined to tropical regions, some species inhabiting almost every state in the country. The native species, unlike tropical termites, does not construct huge mounds with a royal cell for the king and queen, but lives in comparatively large social colonies in burrows in earth or wood.

Beethoven's Unpaid Debt

How many people know that Beethoven actually died $500 in debt to the Philharmonic society, which had sent him the money on his death bed, in the hope that they would be able to play his Tenth Symphony? queries an article in the Montreal Family Herald. He acknowledged the advance by telling them that his new symphony was lying in his desk "completely sketched." But the work was destined never to be finished. It was only eight days later that Beethoven died.

Most Difficult

Parson Tenthly and Deacon Dutton were discussing their automobiles and talk gradually took in every detail connected with automotive engineering. The conversation began with tires and ended with the beam of light cast a hundred feet up the road by the spotlight on the windshield.

"What do you find the hardest thing to overcome when driving your car, parson?" the deacon wanted to know.

"The desire to talk back to my wife," the good man answered.

Red Indian Domiciles

The Indians did not build log houses before the coming of the white man, says an article in Pathfinder Magazine. That is, they did not build log houses in the sense that the settlers did later. But many tribes built wooden houses, composed of poles for framework, and walls and roofs of bark and thatchwork. A few tribes even put logs together for their habitations, but they did not put them together after the fashion of the regular log house.

Interest Governs Price

The rate of interest is not a mere technical phenomenon, but permeates all economic relations. It is the link which binds man to the future, and by which he makes all his far-reaching decisions. It is in itself a sort of price, and plays a central role in the theory of other prices. It enters into the price of wealth, property, benefits, securities, real-estate and commodities, as well as into rent, wages, and the value of all "interactions."

Sparrows Wear Raincoats

The sparrows of Queen Charlotte islands in British Columbia wear raincoats. Because of the extreme humidity of the climate these birds have developed much longer feathers than their kin elsewhere. A number of other species of birds have developed, as a result of countless centuries of existence on these rainy-islands, into new varieties clearly marked off by their improved natural protection against mists, showers and rains.

Been Studying Einstein?

Railroad officials said that the train this morning was forced by freight trains to stop at Juliette and then to stop again at Sandy, 17 miles south of Locust Grove, at a good rate of speed. —New York Times.

Many Ways of KeepingTrack of Passing Time

In the far-off days there were neither clocks nor watches by which the passing time might be measured. The sundial was the only instrument of service in this respect. It appears in the Bible, and was most likely invented by the Egyptians. The Romans were the means of introducing it to the western nations of Europe. Before the Romans obtained knowledge of the instrument, however, they reckoned time by the dropping of water, much in the same way that we time an egg by a sand glass, and it was the duty of a slave to attend and make a sound at the recurrence of a certain number of drops.

Sundials by day and water droppers by night and in cloudy weather were the only means of measuring time.

It is the monks of the Middle ages to whom we are indebted for the invention of timekeepers by wheels and other mechanism. The early instruments were very primitive affairs, but invention succeeded invention until we have today the most perfect and delicate instruments for telling time.

Many Eagerly AwaitingAdvent of Fool's Birth

In the train coming back from the English Derby a race course tipster commenced talking to John Corlett, famous editor of the Pink 'Un, and the old man listened for a while with interest, chuckles J. B. Booth in "Master and Man."

"But," he broke in finally, "how long have you been at the business?" "Very nearly twenty years, governor!" "Then," granted Corlett, "if there be any truth in what Thomas Carlyle tells us, that the population consists of so many millions, mostly fools, how is it that you have not made your fortune and retired long ago?" "The tipster snorted contemptuously. "I don't know 'oo this 'ere Carlyle is," he rasped, "but you can tell your friend Tom this for me. Tell 'im Cheerful Charley says that for one fool as is born into this world, there's ten lookin' for 'im." —Kansas City Times.

Humming Birds Kept Busy

Taking advantage of an opportunity to keep a single humming bird in view for a period of 25 minutes, Associate Professor Tracy I. Storer of the University of California department of zoology, found that even these supposedly carefree, feather folk have their troubles, and spend as much as 18 per cent of their time chasing other humming birds from their forage grounds.

He found that during a total of 1,474 seconds, or approximately 25 minutes, one humming bird spent 782 seconds, or more than 50 per cent of the time, in perching, 420 seconds in feeding, and 260 seconds in chasing invaders from its particular forage ground on a Lonicia bush.

Hornets Put Out Light

The old simile, "thick as hornets," apparently has some basis in fact, for two cases have been cited in which hornets were so thick they put out a light.

Off the coast, from three to five miles, two gas and whistling buoys were reported extinguished and out of business. An inspection by the lighthouse service revealed the fact that the buoys were so full of hornets that the lights could not continue to burn. The hornets apparently took their tip from hornetries who made similar trouble a few years ago.

Animals Ruled by Might

Not unlike the nations of old, most animal kingdoms are ruled by might, according to observations made by ranger-naturalists in Yellowstone National park.

The outstanding of these "monarchies," the rangers declare, are those of the bear and buffalo, which, while the methods of the aspiring leaders differ somewhat, are quite similar. Bears and buffalo, strangely enough, evidently have not yet recognized the suffrage of females, consequently males always are the leaders.

Self-Investment Best

An investment in one's self is the best investment that can be made. By training, developing, and finding out how ability can be turned into money, any man or woman will receive a bigger return for the time and money spent than in any other form. A man without modern business equipment, information, training, cannot command a high price today. It is true that the man who puts more knowledge in his head will be enabled to put more money in his pocket.

Enlightening Him

Young Smith, walking in the park on Sunday morning, came upon his girl walking with another man. Seething with anger, he dashed up to the couple.

"Look here," he cried, "I'm not going to play second fiddle to anybody, and that's that!"

"Second fiddle," she replied, "you should think yourself lucky you are in the band at all, Mr. Smith."

There Goes Romance

Most people have fondly believed that the ship-in-distress signal, S O S, means "Save our ship." It's merely an easy combination of dots and dashes so that the rankest amateurs can catch it.—Country Home.

Cadmium Turns Gold Green

Cadmium is one of the rare metals, the world production being about half a million pounds a year. When mixed with gold it makes a green alloy.

When Did It Ever End?

An English clergyman breaks into print with the prediction there will be a war between the sexes. We weren't aware the present one was over.—Muskegon Chronicle.

Carpe Diem!

Seize the day, handcuff it, place it under arrest, lock it up and then sentence it to hard labor for your own benefits, lest it run away and leave you in the night.

Wealth for Italy

Italy contains vast deposits of rock of volcanic origin on the slopes of her extinct volcanoes. At one time this rock, called leucite, was despised as useless, but the work of a distinguished chemist, Baron Gian Alberto Blanc, turned it into valuable materials. The leucite contains much aluminum, which is being extracted on such a scale that Italy will become a leading producer of this metal.

Made Famous by Kitchener

Khartoum is the capital of Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, and is situated on the left bank of the Blue Nile immediately above its junction with the White Nile. It was here that the late Lord Kitchener became famous as "Kitchener of Khartoum" when he recaptured the city from the Mahdist rebels in 1898. Incidentally, Lord Kitchener designed the plan on which the city is laid out.

Work of Inspiration

"Hark, Hark, the Lark!" Schubert's famous song, was written by the composer on the back of a bill of fare while waiting for his breakfast to be served.

Artificial Silk First

The output of artificial silk is now several times that of the natural silk.

Much excitement centered about the Michigan-Minnesota football game at Ann Arbor on Saturday. Special cars, chartered by various clubs, carried gay little groups of Detroiters eager to aid the Wolverines by their enthusiasm. Among those in the Country club car were: Mr. and Mrs. James D. Standish, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. Wallace Tolles, Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Dunham, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bonbright, of Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Falconer O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Holley, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McMillan, Mr. and Mrs. Wylie W. Carhartt, Mr. and Mrs. Yates G. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney R. Small, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Towar.

The University club also had special cars and those making reservations included: Mr. and Mrs. W. Beresford Palmer, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harry, Mr. and Mrs. Howard P. Ballantyne, Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Thurber, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wilkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Kinnucan, James Dwyer

Kinnucan, Carroll Trego, Dr. J. S. Hudson, Harold DuCharme, J. Jenness Newcomb, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hodges, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Dupont M. Newbro Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William B. Colburn, Mr. and Mrs. Parker Holden, Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Preble, James B. Angell, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Bulkley, George O. Beggs, Jr., George M. Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. William R. Kales.

According to Miss Martha Maynard, authority on New York social events, jazz parties are on the wane. It is now the proper thing to accept only one party invitation for an evening, instead of several, and old-fashioned games such as Michigan rum and backgammon are fashionable.

After a visit with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Currie, at the Grosse Pointe club, Mrs. Clarence Carpenter has returned to her home in Colorado Springs.

Mrs. Frederick Williams entertained a number of her friends at luncheon and bridge in her home on Balfour road, Grosse Pointe last Thursday afternoon. Her guests were Mrs. Harry Allen, Mrs. Paul Meiser, Mrs. Joseph Jennings, Mrs. David Aird, Mrs. Claude Howard, Mrs. G. Patterson and Mrs. Willard Innmann, of Pontiac.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Cooke will compliment their debutante daughter, Miss Evelyn, at a dinner-dance at the Grosse Pointe club on November 29.

Mrs. Howard E. Coffin on Lake Shore purchased the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Coffin on Lake Shore drive, Grosse Pointe.

Mrs. Thomas Cram Whitehead, of Kenwood road, left Sunday for a visit in Boston, Mass.

Monthly Report of the Grosse Pointe Library

Adult fiction, 1440; adult classical, 820; juvenile fiction, 1308; juvenile classical, 637; total, $4,205.

A considerable amount of time has been devoted to work with schools. Approximately 480 children came to the library for class periods during the month. Miss Bidgway gave a brief announcement regarding the various libraries in Grosse Pointe at the Trombly Parent Teacher Association, and she will continue to attend both the Defer and Trombly meetings in order to make announcements of new books and other items of interest.

The officials in Grosse Pointe Farms had circulars printed telling about the library and enclosed them in the water bills. It has been difficult to advertise the library in this section and this will no doubt add to the number who are using the library.

There has been one change in staff. Mrs. Charlotte Lahey was transferred to the Wayne Branch to organize the work with children there. We are very sorry to lose Mrs. Lahey who has been a conscientious and able assistant. Miss Dorothy Schaeffer who has had three years of University work, and business training and experience has taken her place.

Respectfully submitted,
FLORENCE H. SEVERS,
Librarian

Church of Christ Lochmoor

LOCHMOOR BLVD. AT MACK

All meetings again well attended, particularly Bible School. Evangelist E. G. Rockliff will again preach at all meetings. Subject Sunday night, "Walking by Faith."

The work at Lochmoor has been started so that the people of the district may hear the Gospel as taught by Christ and His Apostles. We are patterned after the early church, both in teaching and ritual. "We speak where the Bible speaks, and are silent where the Bible is silent."

Meeting schedule—Bible School, 9:45 a. m.; Worship, 11 a. m.; Gospel meeting, 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, 7:45 p. m. Gospel service; Friday, 7:45 p. m. Gospel meeting at the home of Mr. Halsey, 213 Boulder Ave., East Detroit. Come and hear the Gospel, God's plan of salvation, at "The Little Church in the Wildwood."

Faith Lutheran Church

Special music has been placed on the program at Faith Lutheran church for next Sunday morning which has been designated, "Music Sunday." The attendance has been averaging 1000 at a service. This will be the fourth Sunday of a loyalty campaign and the program of music, which will be offered at this service is:

15-Minute Organ Recital (1030-1045)
Prelude and Fugue in F.....Bach
Distant Chimes.....Shackley
Marche Religieuse.....Handel-Guilman
Junior Choir, "Hark, Hark, My Soul".....Shelley
Senior Choir, "The Glory of the Lord".....Handel
Combined Choro, "Consider and Hear Me".....Wooley

Violin Duet (Offertory).....Selected
"The Spirit of Christian Worship" will be the subject of the sermon which the pastor, Rev. R. D. Linhart will preach. The assistant pastor, Rev. T. P. Fricke will preach the children's sermonette and will conduct the altar service. Miss Irene Weiser, a graduate of the Conservatory of Music of Capital University will be at the organ. Strangers and visitors are welcome and are cordially invite to attend this special service.

The Sunday School and Adult Bible classes will meet at the usual hour, 9:15 a. m. for devotion and instruction. Any boy or girl or adult is welcome to attend this Bible School which is in session for an hour and fifteen minutes every Sunday morning.

ment there is yet much for which we should be thankful to the heavenly Father. The people of the community who have no service in their own church on that day are cordially invited to come to Messiah Church. The Junior choir will render an appropriate anthem.

The Young People's Society will meet next Tuesday, at 8 p. m. and the Ladies' Aid next Wednesday at one o'clock in the afternoon.

Jefferson Avenue Baptist Church

Next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock a special Thanksgiving Service will be observed. Genuine thanksgiving is best pressed in thanks-living. The message on the topic, "My Supreme Gift," will be a challenge to such living. At this service we expect to receive a generous thanksgiving offering from those whose prosperity has not been seriously affected. Some cannot share in this expression, but lack of material resources will deprive no one of joining in a real offering—the greater gift of self. We anticipate a great service. Special music will contribute to the helpfulness of the hour. Invite your friends.

Boys and girls will be happy to know that Junior Church starts again next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Walter Berry, who has worked years among these young folks, will be the Superintendent. Parents should appreciate the great value of such training for their children.

"Wedding Bells Night," another of our special evening programs, will be observed Sunday evening. This will be a unique and unusually interesting service in honor of the couples Mr. Allen has married since beginning his ministry as pastor of this church. Invitations have been sent to as many of the more than four hundred couples, at whose weddings he has officiated, as could be located. A "Mystery Man," in the person of the first "groom" to be married by Mr. Allen since arriving in Detroit, will be present and provide a special musical number. The Wedding March will be played. A souvenir of special interest will be given each couple. Mr. Allen will speak on the topic, "How To Be Happy Though Married." Of course we will enjoy the usual song service and helpful gospel message. The time is 7:30.

A Retreat, being observed by the church on Saturday afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock. Recently a similar event was held by our Advisory Board with such marked blessing that the Board desired the whole church should share in a like experience. Rev. W. G. Colman of the Highland Park Baptist Church will be present and bring a challenging message. This Retreat will be held in our church and an invitation is extended to all friends who might like to attend.

The Union Community Thanksgiving Service will be held Wednesday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the Eastminster Presbyterian Church at Jefferson and Manistique avenues. Dr. Eugene M. Moore, the new pastor of the Jefferson Avenue Methodist Church, will bring the Thanksgiving message.

Presbyterian Church of the Covenant

A program of special Thanksgiving music will be given at the Presbyterian Church of the Covenant next Sunday at 10:45 a. m. The Reverend Alfred S. Nickless will preach on the subject, "In the House of the Potter."

At 7:45 p. m. the combined choirs of adults, young people and juniors will give a program of Thanksgiving music under the direction of Mr. H. Stewart, assisted by the Director of Religious Education, Mrs. M. Fillmore. The Reverend Alfred S. Nickless will preach a sermon in answer to the question put to him by a young man, "Is Christianity an Illusion That Will Pass Away in Time?"

Bible School at 9:30 a. m. Young People and Tuxis groups meet at 6:30 p. m.

Salt in Embalming

The Egyptians used salt for embalming. Doctor Hehn says they first laid the body in a strong brine for three or four weeks. It was then removed and dried; herbs and spices were added, and the body was wrapped in linen. This does not, apparently, refer to the mummies which were preserved with bitumen.

Grosse Pointe Library

Far Lake, by Wade Van Doren. The first book of poetry by a promising Detroit poet. These poems breathe the spirit of the woods and nature, of tenting and camping that the author loves so well.

My Rock-Garden, by Reginald Farrer. A helpful book on rock gardening. The author treats at length of the great races of plants, their cultivation, characteristics, and individual charm. There are illustrations to inspire the rock-gardener.

Memoirs of An Infantry Officer, by Siegfried Sasson. The author is a beautiful and practiced writer as well as a soldier. He views the war and the men in it with a detached, philosophical and quaintly humorous attitude.

Turkey Faces West, by Halide Edib is a frank and unshamed defense of her countrymen. The author writes authentically and interestingly of the old Ottoman Empire and the New Turkey. She discusses the anti-Turkish European attitude without bitterness but with feeling, and she gives a liberal Turkish appraisal of the new forces at work in that land.

Riders of the Plagues, by James A. Tobey is the story of the conquest of disease. The author discusses the old and new methods for preventing disease, the modern methods for maintaining health and some of the great public benefactors who have risked their lives that humanity might be safe.

The History and Development of Advertising, by Frank Presbrey. A complete history of advertising written by the dean of that profession in America. Three hundred and fifty illustrations contrast the ancient and modern forms used.

Hetty Green, by Boyden Sparkes and Samuel Taylor Moore. A fascinating account of the extraordinary woman who loved money. Denying herself every pleasure, pitiless toward her enemies, loving toward her children, Hetty Green stands revealed one of the most unusual women characters that the world has known.

Her Father's House, by Hilda Vaughan. When but a small girl the heroine is stolen away from her father's house, but nothing can deprive her of the culture which is her birthright. This charming story has a Welsh setting.
