The students are: 12A, George Belanger, Isabelle Brandt, Phyllis Johnson, Marion Gitschlag, Albert Marshall, Carol Rosebaum, Irene Rowe, and Elizabeth Seibert; from the 12B class, Herman Bennett, William Lloyd, Dorothy Maul, Harry Pritchard, and Royer Schingerman. ### R. P. Joy Honored In Death by Residents at Funeral Services

One of Grosse Pointe's most prominent and illustrious residents was claimed by death early this week.

Richard Pickering Joy, a native of this district and an outstanding figure in civic and financial circles, passed away Monday evening in Harper hospital. His death was caused by a heart attack following an operation for appendicitis. He was 60 years old and had been in poor health for several months.

Funeral services were to have been held today from his home at 287 Lake Shore road, Grosse Pointe Farms, with Dr. Chester Emerson, a life long friend and pastor of the North Woodward Avenue Congregational church, officiating at the rites. The services were set for 2 p. m.

Although recently retired from active business, until three years ago he held the presidency of the National Bank of Commerce having been an organizer of that institution in 1907. He was a vice-president of the Detroit Copper and Brass Rolling mills, a director of the Packard Motor Car company and chairman of the board of the Union Trust company. At one time he served Detroit as alderman and city controller.

A direct descendant of Thomas Joy, who came from England to settle in Boston, Mass., in 1631, he was born on January 25, 1870, at the Joy residence at West Fort street and Cass avenue, then the exclusive residential section of Detroit. He was the son of James Frederick, an attorney, and illustrious Detroit, and Mary Bourne Joy, a descendant of Richard Bourne who located in Massachusetts in 1658.

Educated in public and private schools of Detroit, he later attended Phillips Andover academy at Andover, Mass., and was graduated from there in 1890. He then returned to his native city to become a draughtsman in the office of the Fort Street Union Depot company, while the construction of that building was under the supervision of his father.

G. P. High Net Team Win Non-League Tilt from Lakeshore High

The Grosse Pointe High school basketball team won its second non-league game last Friday night, by defeating Lakeshore High, 23-11.

The Pointe five got off to an early lead and held it throughout the entire combat. Grosse Pointe missed a number of shots, but played much better ball than they did against U. of D. They had more fight and showed up very well on follow-up shots.

Coach Geary's team was more experienced and did not have any trouble breaking through Lakeshore's zone defense.

The next court tilt before Christmas for Grosse Pointe is Friday night with Eastern High at Eastern.

Saturday, Grosse Pointe is host to Albion. Next Tuesday the Grosse Pointe Varsity plays the High School Alumni in a charity contest, while the high school faculty play a preliminary.

Alumni Dance Set

Installation of Christmas decorations in the gymnasium of the Grosse Pointe High school this week, completes the arrangements for the dance to be sponsored there, December 27, by the High school Alumni. Sale of tickets to the affair have been "heavy," the committee in charge of the party reported this week, indicating a capacity and gala attendance is expected.

THE "GOODFELLOWS" INSPIRATION

"FORGOTTEN"

Origin of the "Goodfellow" movement is creditably traced to the above newspaper illustration drawn many years ago by Tom May, veteran newspaper cartoonist. "Forgotten," he titled it, and his brain-child depicting the forgotten, deserted and destitute child at Christmas time, missing her just deserts of Christmas cheer, has moved the world to lend assistance. The Grosse Pointe Lions club sought to "Remember" the little ones in the community Christmas Day in their energetic efforts to raise a "Goodfellow Fund" today by selling this issue of the Review, inspired by the above illustration.

Harris Poisoning Is Verified by Experts in Long Will Battle

Statements which Frank H. Harris of Grosse Pointe Shores made just before his death charging that he had been poisoned were verified by University of Michigan pathologists and the second attempt started to break the Harris will in a re-trial before Judge Joseph A. Moynihan in Circuit Court. Although Harris was supposedly worth $500,000 the first trial disclosed the fact that an estate of but $1,000 remained of his fortune, the bulk of this going to George Morris, a restaurant proprietor at 15023 East Jefferson avenue.

Dr. Herbert W. Emerson and his assistant, Dr. Carl V. Weller testified at the trial that an autopsy revealed traces of mercury and phenol compounds in Harris' body, both compounds being deadly poisons. The two experts stated that the causes to which the death was attributed were incorrect. Cancer and heart disease were the causes given for Harris' death. An autopsy, performed April 2, 1925 did not reveal the poisons, because, as Dr. Weller said, it was meant only to determine the cause of death, it was very insufficient. However, if the purpose was a toxicological examination, it served its purpose.

Relatives of Harris, contesting the will ordered the examination by the University specialists and are endeavoring to show discrepancies in the final testament. A typewriting expert is expected to throw more light on the case.

Sodality Girls Take St. Ambrose Alumni Team in First Game

In the opening game of the season, the Sodality girls of St. Ambrose parish emerged on the long scoring of a hard fought and well played basketball game last Monday evening. When the final whistle was blown, Eva Blatz, Catherine Perry and Company were the losers by one point. The game was nip and tuck all the way, with the former High School girls having the edge at half time. During the second half however the Sodality girls through the efforts of Lona Bastien, rangy center, secured possession of the ball on nearly all the tip-off plays, and the

Mrs. Cecyl Macauley Gets Divorce Decree from E. R. Macauley

Charging that her husband refused to attend bridge and theater parties with her because they were "too tame," Cecyl Macauley, 20 Kenwood road, Grosse Pointe Farms, obtained a divorce from Edward R. Macauley of the Packard Aircraft division, before Judge Harry J. Dingeman of the Circuit Court.

Mrs. Macauley was given the custody of her two children, Estelle, 6 and Jane, 4 and a property settlement in excess of $100,000 was said to have been made out of court.

Last spring he sent her to Florida she said, so that he could entertain two men as house guests without her presence interfering. The couple separated upon her return from the south.

Lions Club Members, Police and Firemen Join as Goodfellows

By WILLIAM F. DORN

"Be a Goodfellow," Grosse Pointe.

And Grosse Pointe proves itself a "Goodfellow" today by responding generously to the urgent pleas of the Grosse Pointe Lions Club for financial aid in relieving the poor and needy of the community by raising a "Goodfellow Fund."

Veritable ambassadors of "Santa Claus," it might be said, were the members of the Grosse Pointe Lions club, who today in a united, gigantic effort sold this special edition—the Goodfellow Edition—of the Grosse Pointe Review—on the streets of the community to provide substance, clothing and other necessities of life for the scores of improvident families in Grosse Pointe, who need such help, particularly at Christmas time, and perhaps even more so, a helping hand during the 1931 year.

The entire proceeds from the paper sale were to go to the "Goodfellow Fund" as the thousands of copies of the Grosse Pointe Review were donated for the occasion.

Assisting the Lions in this humanitarian effort were the members of the Police and Fire departments of the several municipalities in Grosse Pointe, the Park, Village, Shores, Farms and Lochmoor.

"Be a Goodfellow, Grosse Pointe," was their battlecry today and you—Mr. Reader and Mrs. Reader—heard their cries and answered them, to be sure, to the best of your ability and means. Your contribution, regardless of proportion, went to a just and good cause, for it permits the Lions through the agencies of the Neighborhood Club, here, to carry on the merciful and charitable work of assisting those in our midst, whom misfortune has overtaken.

How happy it must make you feel to know and realize that your mite has provided true and substantial cheer to a little child, perhaps several little boys and girls, nay, even an entire family, on Christmas Day.

A toy, food, clothing, you may feel sure, Goodfellow, has been purchased with your contribution and sent to one or several who

R. P. Joy Honored In Death by Residents at Funeral Services

(Continued from Page One) Six years later the elder Joy died, and although but 26 years old, the son took charge of his father's estate, one of the largest in the city. At this time he also became vice-president and treasurer of the Union Depot company, and vice-president of the Detroit Copper and Brass Rolling mills.

From then on Mr. Joy's rise in financial circles was rapid. He became an organizer and director of the Packard Motor Car company after the plant had been moved here from Warren, Ohio, and a director of the Grace Harbor Lumber company and the Detroit Trust company.

It was in 1904 that Joy was elected alderman, soon to become known as "the most talked-of man about the city hall." For two years he served in this capacity, in 1907 becoming city controller. In this post he gained renown for his work in putting city operations on a business basis.

Prominent in social activities, Joy was a member of the Yonotega, the Detroit, the Country, the Old and the Banker's clubs. He also belonged to the Detroit Athletic club, the Detroit Boat club, the Detroit Aviation society, the Detroit Museum of Arts Founders' society, the Detroit Symphony society, the Grosse Pointe Hunt club, the Grosse Pointe Yacht club, Lochmoor club, New York Yacht club, the Bankers' club of New York and the Michigan Bankers' association. He was also noted for numerous articles bearing on the re-establishment of the American merchant marine, having been a staunch advocate of the United States shipping industry. Ten lifelong friends and business associates will act as pallbearers. They are, Murray W. Sales, Truman H. Newberry, John S. Newberry, Henry D. Sheldon, Henry H. Sanger, Harry Covington, Alvan Macaulay, Burke Graham, Henry Bodman and Lewis H. Paddock, all of Detroit.

CIVIC AND FINANCIAL LEADERS PAY TRIBUTE TO RICHARD JOY

Reflecting the sense of loss felt by his friends and business associates, the death of Richard P. Joy Monday evening in Harper hospital following an operation for appendicitis has called forth expressions of tribute from men prominent in civic and financial affairs in Detroit, where Mr. Joy was born and where he lived to occupy a high place in the community life.

Dubois Young, president of the Hupp Motor Car Corporation: "Detroit has lost an able and outstanding citizen. The wide association of his active life brought Mr. Joy into intimate contact with almost every phase of business, civic and philanthropic activity in the city. His passing is a distinct loss to the motor industry."

Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the board of the Chrysler corporation: "Mr. Joy was the type of man whose (Continued on Page Four)

The District Z, Boy Scouts of America, held their quarterly Court of Honor at the Grosse Pointe High School, Thursday evening, December 11th.

An elaborate program, arranged by Commissioner Elworthy, Dr. Brownell, Superintendent of Schools, and Julius Berns, president of the Grosse Pointe Lions Club for the benefit of the three hundred parents and friends present, was very interesting and well received. The following awards were presented: 15 Second Class, 10 First Class, 35 Merit Badges, with four stars and one Life. Troop 79 which meets at the Neighborhood Club, was awarded the Advancement Banner and Troop 190, the Parental Award for having the largest number of parents and friends present.

The V. V. V. Girls Basketball team was defeated in its first game of the season last Monday night, by the Wolverines by a score of 34-15. The local team will miss some of their veteran players of last year in their lineup, but several former high school stars are trying out for positions on the team and will account for themselves before the season is over. The V. V. V. Girls are scheduled to play some of the fastest girls' teams in Michigan and Ohio this season.

SODALITY GIRLS WIN GAME

(Continued from Page One) Bastien to Stock combination started to formation. Gertie O'Neil played a great floor game and fed the ball to her teammates in mid-season form. Eva Blatz was a little off form on shooting probably due to the fact that she had to hurry her shots because of the fast work on the part of the sodality guards. It was a great game, however, as the final score of 25 to 24 will indicate.

The St. Ambrose grads flashed their way to a 23 to 20 victory over St. Rose Alumni last Monday evening a flashy and well-played game, that had the spectators on edge throughout the fray. It was anybody's game until the last minute. During last three minutes the Cardinals tied and Garvey whistled. Cavanaugh played, a broke away from two baskets, great floor game for St. Ambrose, which was followed by a short shot basket by Twomey and the D'Arcy brothers stood out for St. Rose.

Son of Murat in America
Murat, the famous French marshal, brother-in-law of Napoleon, and sometime king of Italy, was condemned by a court-martial in 1815, and shot. His son, Napoleon Achille, came to the United States a few years after his father's death and settled in Florida. He was appointed postmaster of a small town in that state, and died in 1847.

Only Beatifier for Navy
The United States navy uses only the best butter—scored as it is necessary to consider that the butter may be subjected to extreme temperature and changes in temperature.

Think It Over
To sail a boat if the wind blew in a favorable direction would be an easy matter, but the important fact is that you can get to your destination even if the wind is against you.

To Cement Broken China
A housewife says: "Dissolve a little gum arabic in a little water so that it is rather thick, put enough plaster of paris into this to make a thick paste. Cement broken pieces of china together and in half an hour they cannot be broken in the same place. Hot water seems to make it more firm."

Use the Odd Moments
The use of odd moments is the opportunity used by more than one successful man to climb to the top of the heap. This is what has been termed "margin of effort," and the product of this extra work and study is what makes the leader.—Grit.

Pompeii Wealthy City
At the time of its destruction Pompeii had about 35,000 inhabitants. It was a city of wealth and refinement, situated on the Bay of Naples, at the foot of Mount Vesuvius. It, together with Herculaneum and Stabiae, was destroyed by a volcanic eruption August 24, A. D. 79.

Grosse Pointe Library

Laugh With Leacock, by Stephen Leacock. A delightful anthology of a famous humorist's best works.
A History of Costume, by Carl Kohler. A complete history of the evolution of dress from the time of the Egyptians through the Eighteenth century. The book is replete with illustrations of authentic styles and actual costumes. Explicit diagrams and instructions are the making of the costumes are very helpful.

The Supervision of Secondary Subjects, by Willis L. Uhl. Authoritative and specific information that should be helpful to principals, supervisors, and classroom teachers. The aims, organization, instruction and procedure of every department are discussed in detail.

The Reminiscences of a Marine, by Major General John A. Lejeune. A spirited and entertaining account of the life of a famous leader of the United States Marines.

South America, by Clarence F. Jones. An exact and detailed account of the physiography, climate, resources, population, transportation facilities and industrial possibilities of this massive country. Maps, diagrams and pictures enrich this instructive book.

The Little Theater in the School, by Lillian Foster Collins. A plea for the establishment of the theater in the school curriculum. The author discusses its organization and possibilities, and gives lists of plays appropriate for production.

Across Iceland, by Olive Murra, Chapman. An interesting account of the author's journey on horseback in Iceland. Gorgeous colored photographs and actual pictures taken on the trip substantiate the author's assertion that Iceland is a picturesque and scenic country.

Sight Saving Class

It is estimated that 3,000,000 children attending our public schools have defective vision so serious that it retards their mental development. Tens of thousands among these have such poor vision that even with properly fitted glasses they cannot see well enough to go through school in the usual way.

There are others who are suffering from progressive eye disease, whose sight will be entirely ruined if it is not protected. In a few school sight-saving classes have been organized. Three hundred fifty of such schools distributed in ninety-five cities and twenty-five states are conducted at present. Each school should deal with this problem. The child with defective vision should not be allowed to overstrain the eyes. A shorter course of study should be provided, with special attention to manual training.

The problem is to save the remaining sight of each child. These children should not be encouraged in the love of reading, which may result in total loss of vision.

The White House Conference on Child Health and Protection is lending its support to this great movement.

Papal Decorations

The order of Christ, at the disposal of the Pope of Rome, is probably the oldest order in the world, having been instituted in 1318. The late Nicholas Brady was, it is believed, the only American to receive this coveted honor. The order of St. Gregory the Great, another Papal decoration, founded in 1831, has been conferred on many Americans.

May Be Getting Tired

A New York report says that one-third of high school students fall in their senior year. High school education for these thousands does not mean opportunity, but futile effort leading to failure, it adds.—Woman's Home Companion.

Wrote Famous Music

John Stafford Smith, who wrote the music to which "The Star Spangled Banner" is sung, was born in 1750 at Gloucester, England, and died at London, September 8, 1836. He was an able organist, an efficient tenor singer, an excellent composer, and an accomplished antiquary. He was the author of "To Anacreon in Heaven," a variation of which is the music used today in singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Calculating Life's Span

The extreme life span of the higher animals may be estimated with a fair degree of accuracy by multiplying by four or five the number of years which the young of the species requires to reach maturity. For instance, suppose a species of wolf matures at three years. The greatest age reached by individuals of the species would be from 12 to 15 years.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Really an Old Trick

The old trick of lighting fires under stubborn mules and affixing a sugar loaf to a pole just ahead of the horse's nose, finds a modern counterpart in the sport of dog racing where decoy rabbits speed ahead by electric trolleys lure greyhounds to lightning speed.

"The Big Trail" Comes to the Publix Riviera
Retrace the steps of your forefathers; trek along with the pioneers of a century ago; march westward with them over prairies, deserts, mountains; join in their battles with swollen rivers, blinding blizzards, savage Indians and share with them the joys of their success as they finally arrive in the valley of their dreams.
Raoul Walsh's "The Big Trail," the Publix Riviera theater attraction for one week starting Saturday, December 20th, vividly re-enacts these stirring incidents in the lives of the early settlers as they fought their way west in search of a new and more fertile homeland. It is a picture for fathers, mothers, sweethearts and for kiddies. It is a picture which will quicken the heart beats of any and every red blooded American and one which no American should miss seeing.

"One Heavenly Night" at the United Artists
"One Heavenly Night" is the title of Samuel Goldwyn's newest production based on an original story by Louis Bromfield and Sidney Howard in which Evelyn Laye, John Boles, Leon Errol and Lilyan Tashman appear, at the United Artists theater.
Fritzi is the darling of the cabarets. Her career has been scarlet, her police dossier—brawls, duels, divorces, everything, almost, is endless. As the story opens, Fritzi has just precipitated a particularly bloody one.
In the cafe is Lilli, the drab little flower girl, whose life is without any touch of color, glamor or romance except that supplied by her distant glimpses of Fritzi. Above everything in the world, Lilli adores Fritzi, her life, everything about her.
Because of her most recent brawl, the police decided that Fritzi should be banished from the city for a few months. Fritzi evades this extradition by sending Lilli in her place to the Magistrate of Zuppa at his pastoral castle.

friendship was the priceless possession of those who knew him and whose outstanding personality influenced all with whom he came into contact. His death is a great loss to his family, to Detroit, and to me."
Henry H. Sanger, president and chairman of the board, National Bank of Commerce: "In the death of Mr. Joy, Detroit banking circles lost a man of the very highest integrity and ideals, scrupulously honest, a very shrewd investor and an exemplar of a most happy home life."
Murray Sales, president of Murray W. Sales and Company: "Mr. Joy was a very close and intimate friend of mine for many years. He was a man of absolute integrity and honesty, of great ability and when he had a job to do he did it fearlessly. He commanded the respect and admiration of everyone. I feel that I have lost a very great friend."
William E. Metzger, president of William E. Metzger Company: "Having known Mr. Joy since boyhood, I feel a distinct loss in his passing and know it is shared by the banking fraternity and civic leaders as well."
Sidney D. Waldon, commissioner, department of street railways: "The loss of Mr. Joy will be felt very keenly in Detroit banking, business and civic circles. He was a man of the very highest integrity, applied his own energies fearlessly to any job he undertook, was a very high class citizen, of the highest honor and a credit to any financial institution with which he was connected."
Federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle: "The social, financial and business communities of Detroit have suffered a great loss in the death of Richard P. Joy."
Postmaster Charles C. Kellogg: "The city lost in Mr. Joy its outstanding exception to the rule that men of ability and wealth will not campaign for public office. If we had more men of his type we would have better government."

MOVIES

Moran and Mack at the Michigan

This week on the Michigan stage another of the $440 attractions the Michigan is presenting at regular prices.
Moran and Mack in person "Those Two Black Crowns" of Ziegfeld "Follies" fame, of the talking screen hits, "Anybody's War" and "Why Bring That Up," and recording stars. Famed in vaudeville for many years, Moran and Mack, with their current appearance at the Michigan, make their first personal bow to Detroit.

A special screen production, a new Michigan symphony surprise under the direction of Eduard Werner, are features of the week's program.
In addition to Moran and Mack this week, the Michigan is introducing on its stage a new master of ceremonies, Charlie Crafts, Brunswick recording star and musician extraordinary. Crafts will be permanent at the Michigan beginning this week, in charge of the Michigan synopsators and festivities on the Publix stage shows weekly.
Other stars in the giant Michigan Moran and Mack show include Ted Healy's Three Racketeers, from the Broadway revue, "A Night in Spain," the O'Connor Family, and a chorus of twelve dancing beauties who perform on xylophones.

Buddy Rogers at Fisher Theater

Charles Rogers in "Along Came Youth," the current screen attraction in the person of Frances Dee who recently appeared with Maurice Chevalier in "The Playboy of Paris." This marks her second appearance before the screen. William Austin and blundering Stuart Erwin also appear in the cast.

In this picture, Rogers is seen as a young American sportsman stranded without funds or the means of getting them in London. By accident he meets Miss Dee, scion of an aristocratic but impoverished British family, and falls in love with her.
On the stage Bob Nolan heads a Public carnival of fun "Masquerade," which features a number of star entertainers including Three Blue Blazes, masters of rhythm; Don Cummings, boy lariat thrower and spinner; Frances Shelley, the princess of song; several other specialty artists and the Fred Evans Ensemble, dainty dimpled dancers.
Samuel Benavie and the Fisher symphony play an appropriate Christmas overture, an organ solo, short screen novelties and important news events complete the program.

Madison Introduces German Talkie Film

A startling innovation is the special booking of "Melody Of The Heart," which will be shown at the Madison theater for the week starting Sunday, December twenty-first.
"Melody of the Heart" is the first all-talking German picture to be shown in Detroit. Filmed entirely in the German language, the picture will prove of unusual interest to people speaking and understanding the German language.
This picture is now the hit of Germany, and produced by the leading stars of the German screen in one of the most romantic dramas of the year.

"Melody of Heart" is being shown at the regular new bargain prices of 25c to 45c until 6 p. m. and 35c evening.

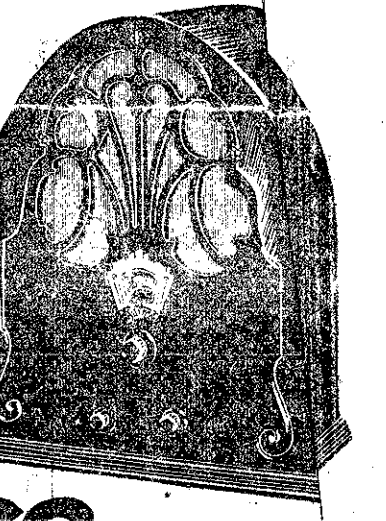

Committee Nounced for Student Affairs by School Principal

Appointment of a group of students and teachers in Grosse Pointe school, to be known as student affairs committee was nounced this week by John R. Barnes, principal.
The functions of the committee, as outlined by Mr. Barnes, is to set up standards for the organization, regulation, and recognition of all forms of extra-curricular organizations. It is planned that this will lead to the issuance of a charter to each club or organization carried into the next school year application for charters will be made to the committee before the end of the spring term. No organization will be permitted to be formed after without the approval of the committee.
It is also planned that the Student Affairs Committee regulate participation in extra-curricular activities.

and also the requirements for holding office. Heretofore students have been allowed to participate, at will, in any number of outside activities at one time thus often forcing scholarship from its proper place in the students program.
This same committee will hereafter have full control of the honor banquet, and its foremost activity in this connection will be to create a permanent set of rules to determine which activities shall be recognized as sufficiently commendable to insure admission to the honor banquet, and which shall not. This has been a matter of some doubt and uncertainty and will be thus cleared up.

There are four persons on the Student Affairs Committee who are members ex-officio, because of their respective connections with the student body. They are: Miss Anne Sima, girls' counselor; Mr. S. A. Shoemaker, boys' counselor; Mr. A. E. Trippensee, Student Council sponsor, and Phyllis Johnson, president of the Student Council. Members of the faculty appointed by Mr. Barnes are: Mr. Charles Leavitt, Miss Lula Anderson, and Mrs. Myrtle Wagner. The student body will be represented on the committee by Isabelle Brandt and Edward Ketterer.
Mr. Barnes added that the honor banquet will be held much earlier this year and that the rules for eligibility as compiled by the new committee will be announced before the end of this semester.

 The work of the Grosse Pointe Lions club in carrying out the Goodfellow Fund drive was directed by Julius I. Berns, president, aided by the following Goodfellow Day committee, Alfred J. Garska, Edmund C. Verrier, John Kerby, William Wiedbusch, and Frank Amerfelt.

Following completion of the paper sale 1 p. m., today, the Lions club members were to attend a luncheon meeting at the Hannan branch of the Y. M. C. at Jefferson and Garland avenues. There an accounting was made of the proceeds and an announcement made of the total of the fund raised. Last year approximately $2,000 was realized and expectations for this year place the amount well above that figure.

 At their residence on Lake Shore drive, Grosse Pointe, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Schlotman entertained at a dinner of lovely appointments, Thursday evening.

 Society in Detroit is becoming more and more "musical minded"—the large attendances at symphonies and keen interest shown in all musical affairs have proved this.
 Attention turned Sunday evening to one of the series of programs presented by the Detroit String Quartet given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bell Moran on Windmill Pointe drive in Grosse Pointe Park. The guests at this affair numbered about 75. For the buffet-supper which followed, the table was covered with a cloth of lace and graced with a large crystal boat, filled with Pernet roses. Illumination was provided by burning yellow tapers.
 Preceding the musicale Mr. and Mrs. Willard S. Worcester were hosts to 10 guests at supper, in their home in Washington road, in Grosse Pointe Village.
Varsity Basketball Squad Engage Alumni In Game for Charity
 The Varsity basketball team of the Grosse Pointe High School will play the Alumni in a charity game next Tuesday night in the boys' gymnasium of the High school. The two teams have not met in four years. It will not be a setup for the varsity squad, as the graduates are sure to offer a battle. The Varsity will just be hitting their stride when they meet the Alumni. The following Alumni will probably take part: Walter Knapp, Steve Marie, William Renaud, Virgil Walling, Ted Heinz, Jerome Desrocher, Paul Vandegast, George Foster, Edward Pritchard, Hazen Heitman, Robert Saunderson, James Williams, Floyd Nugent, Howard Messinger, Jack Rehor, Kent Zimmerman, Irwin Krapp, Ernest Kaiser, and William Mohrhoff.
 A game between the "Rinky-Dinks" and the "All-Stars," teams of men teachers, will be the preliminary.
 Tickets are on sale by members of the Hi-Y and Girl Reserve club, or may be obtained at the door, Tuesday evening.

Reserve Officers to Train in Detroit Is Latest Army Policy
 In keeping with the policy of the United States army to maintain direct contact with all members of the organized reserves, Michigan has been designated as a training district. This places the training of all reserve officers in this vicinity under the direction of the Detroit headquarters of the organized reserves rather than the corps area headquarters in Chicago.
 Colonel William F. H. Godson, ranking regular army officer on duty with the organized reserves in Michigan and acting chief of staff of the 85th division, is commander of the Michigan reserve training district. Under Colonel Godson, regular army officers have been assigned as unit instructors at Detroit, Lansing, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids and Saginaw.

 Under the new arrangement, just announced by Major General Frank Parker, corps area commander at Chicago, it will be possible to increase cooperation of the regular army with reserve officers.

 Promotions of reserve officers, under the new plan, will be made to vacancies in the district of Michigan rather than in the entire corps area. In this way officers are assured of assignment to units in their immediate vicinity. Promotions are to be made according to seniority among officers eligible for higher rank within the district.

Branch Post Offices
Ready for Christmas
Rush, Says Kellogg

Postmaster Kellogg has completed advance Christmas preparations at all of the 29 Carrier Stations throughout the city. The Carrier Stations are conveniently located on main thoroughfares and are easy to use using any of the several methods of travel. Additional windows have been opened at every station and extra scales have been installed in the lobby have been made ever possible so that the public be accommodated in several lines served as rapidly as possible. The Postmaster calls attention to this point,—regular daily inspections of the various units at close intervals during the Christmas mailing period indicate that just before opening in the morning and just after close of business each evening, well as during the luncheon periods, the most congested periods every, at these times, the post offices have greatest difficulty in keeping their doors and lobbies from becoming clogged. An unavoidable wait line during such rush periods even only 3 or 4 minutes is usually very annoying, particularly if one must check a time clock on time or face impatient "boss."

This situation can usually be avoided by mailing at other times than those pointed out here, and can surely be avoided by mailing early, you delay your mailing until the day in which Christmas Day comes, are not mailing early, but rather taking a chance and hoping for the best. The Postmaster General requests that all mail for points within one day's travel be mailed later than December 20th, this includes gift parcels and greeting cards; letters; within two day's travel later than December 18th; within three day's travel not later than December 16th, and to more distant points not later than December 15th. Parcels and letters for delivery should be mailed not later than December 20th.
