Colony Club Hear Talk By Mrs. Henry Ford

An interested group of members o the Colony Club gathered Tuesday in the Member's lounge to hear Mrs. Henry Ford's talk on Garden and Agri while among the population as a whole, culture. This year instead of devoting their interests exclusively to flowers, and rock-gardens, a more practical angle is claiming close attention of interested women. Mrs. Ford, who is president of the Michigan branch of the National Farm and Garden association stressed the possibilities of industrializing agriculture. Mrs. Ford was entertained at luncheon following her lecture by the Board of Directors. She was modishly gowned in a black English tailleur combined with a white satin blouse and a silver fox scarf and rough black straw hat completed the ensemble. Among those, noted in the audience were Mrs. Morgan Douglas, Mrs. Leigh Roberts, Mrs. Wistar Gates, Mrs. George Klein, Mrs. C. D. Macpherson, Mrs. C. A. Newcomb Jr., Mrs. Homer Ferguson, Mrs. Arthur Lacy, Frank A. Whitten, Mrs., Don M. Dickinson, Mrs. John N. Stalker, President of the Colony Club and Mrs. George C. King, and Mrs. William E. Blodgett.

Tuberculosis and Health hundred and twenty-one billion dollars. Society Plans Drive Thus the vital wealth or the wealth

Under the new plan of attack on disease, the 1400 tubercular associations of the United States are to begin April 1st an intensive effort to fight tuberculosis in the sector of youth. For despite the general reduction of the death rate people, what happens to this vital from this disease in the last twenty wealth? Over night a producer whose years, it still kills more persons between 18 and 35 than any other cause, and has the high death rate of 120 per 100,000 in the age group of 20 to 24, formed into a liability. Is it any won-the rate is only 76. Boys and girls have been discovered in active high school work, leaders in annually alone costs the United States athletics and scholarship, apparently in good health but actually with tuberculosis smoldering within them, soon to break into flame. Modern scientific progress has brought with it the tuperculin test and the X-ray and by these aids physicians discover cases in time to check the disease-even before iny symptoms are noticeable.

Thus we have the means to arm youth against his enemy. Today, as of old, the place for David to strike Goliath is at the point of intelligence. The best weapon is the stone of knowledge.

This is how tuberculosis begins its attack on youth. In childhood, before the age of 15 is reached, fully 25 per cent already have the germs in their bodies. In most cases, resistance is community. sufficient to ward off serious damage.

But in others-and nobody knows by merely looking at them which ones they are-the damage is already done, but it is so slight there are no signs. This is called the "Childhood Type of Tuberculosis." It was the subject of last year's campaign by the tuberculosis associations of the United States. Now we pass to the next stage-the one which may follow if the warning of the previous condition has not been heeded, and steps taken to prevent (Continued on Page Four) Ontario.

mating the value of women in general as one-half that of men, Dr. Dublin arrives at the conclusion that the vital or health capital of the nation is equivalent to one thousand, five hundred der that we spend millions of dollars to fight tuberculosis, a disease which over five hundred million dollars? Every time a young man of eighteen in the $2500.00 income class is saved from tuberculosis, the community adds $29,000.00 net to its resources. Every time a young man of twenty-five in the $2500.00 income class is saved from tuberculosis, the net amount of $32,000 is added to the community's resources. For men in the higher income classes the saving is proportionately greater. Every intelligent effort, therefore, that is made by such organizations as the national, state and local tuberculosis associations, the health departments, tuberculosis sanatoria and other institutions to fight tuberculosis, is a move not merely towards ilfe saving, but is a move also in the direction of saving vast sums of money for the

Slimness and Laughter

The old advice, "Laugh and grow" fat," is out of date. Not many years ago fatness was regarded as a sign of robust health, but we know now that it is undesirable even in babies or young children.

Dr. Lechmere Anderson, medical officer for Doncaster, England, claims that the phrase should be "Laugh and grow healthy." "Laughter," he says, "is essentially associated with good health, but adipose tissue, if at all undue, cannot be regarded as a favorable condition. Leanness of body is far more likely to be associated, with strength and energy." The fat person, he explains, has to make his heart and his muscles work far harder than they were designed to do, since they are called upon to deal with an extra load of from one to many pounds. For those who wish to become slim and healthy Doctor Anderson recommends the taking of little sugar, bread, or starchy foodsand laughter.

Dutch as Money Lenders In addition to their banking activitles the Dutch people have long been identified as world money landers. As early as 1700 a decree issued by the states general ruled against "foreign loan transactions without consent." Various other restrictions, called "plac caten," were issued, which prohibited Dutch participation or active interest in any foreign corporations The prohibition against foreign corporate financing, rather than foreign government loans, was designed to prevent Dutch capitalists from financing foreign concerns competing with Dutch tráding companies.

"Ain't" Mere Colloquialism The word "ain't" has no standing, except as a colloquialism, though on account of common usage and convenience many persons would like to include it. Crowell's Dictionary of English Grammar calls it a vulgarism that is incorrect in any context, and not a true contraction of "am not, are not" or "is not." There is a temptation to use "ain't" in the Interrogative first person singular because there is no proper contraction for "Am I not?" but "ain't" cannot be used properly even in this case. 👘 🔬

Insects Aid Ripening A curious use is made of the wild fig, or capri-fig, in some warm countries. When the fruits of the common fig are growing, branches of the capri-fig are cut and placed over them. These bring insects which pierce the immature fruit to lay their eggs, and by killing it hasten its ripening. Thus earlier crops are obtained and the cultivated trees are induced to give further, speedier crops. The process is

Simple Matter Decided

Bostonian's Alma Mater The late Sherman Whipple, one of Boston's best known lawyers and famous characters, was unique among his colleagues, owing to the fact that he went through Yale instead of Harvard. It was almost sacrilege and proved a decided drawback at the beginning of his career. This is no slam at Yale, but merely states the fact that in the eyes of Bostonians, a local boy who went there instead of to Harvard has committed a social error. Of course, Whipple had intended to go to Harvard, but as expense had to be considered, his prudent mother wrote to both Harvard and Yale ask-ing them to send catalogues. Yale promptly sent a catalogue.

Harvard replied that one would be sent on receipt of 50 cents. So Sherman Whipple went to Yale. -Los Angeles Times.

Short Short Story, but

Neatly Pointed Moral A certain king sent to another king, saying, "Send me a blue pig with a black tail, or else-" The other replied, "I have not got one, and if I had-" For these words they went to war. After many men had been killed they wished for peace. But before peace could be got they had to explain the words they had used. "What did you mean," asked the second king of the first, "by saying to me, 'Send me a blue pig with a black tail, or else-'?" "Why," said the other, "I meant a blue pig with a black tail, or else some other color. But what did you mean by saying, 'I have not got one, and if I had-'?" "That if I had one, I should have sent it." Both kings were pleased, and peace was made. Many quarrels are pretty nearly as foolish as the war about the blue pig with the black tail,-Montreal Family Herald.

Great White Way

In 1815 a considerable part of London was lighted by gas, and experiments were being performed in this country. Six years later gas-lighting in Baltimore proved a success. The new agent of civilization was sneered at by the skeptical, frowned on by the conservatives and generally scouted by the great body of people who had used oil lamps and candles and who were incredulous of any change for the better. In 1828 the first gas-light establishment was organized in New York city; R and in 1826 there were 120 gas lamps installed on Broadway from the Bowery to Grand street, replacing 75 oil lamps. Thus started the "Great White Way." Sec. Sec. and the second second Shawls for Men

In the closing, years of the Civil war the cost of garments made to order was so great and money was so scarce that it was no sign of poverty to wear a shawl. Most men wore them, says an article in the Milwaukee Journal. , Men's shawls were mostly good, heavy wool, dark gray or brown. Some were strined and some were checked with dark blue or green. Men folded their shawls lengthwise. Worn that way, a shawl was good protection to the neck and shoulders COMMERCIAL DEPOSITS, viz :
