Art Program Will Be Presented by Richard Class: Teachers Aid

On Thursday evening, April 23 at 8 p. m. and art program will be given by the pupils of the Richard school. The program is taken from the art class studies in picture appreciation. Much of the work is correlated with the language, history; spelling and geography of the school. It is under the direction of Miss Janette Adams with the assistance of all the teachers of Richard school. Proceeds from the sale of tickets will further the beautification of the school with works of art. Following is the tableau of pictures: 1B, Secession of Helli Fritz; 1A, Jack in Bean Stalk, Little Red Riding Hood, Maytime, Playtime by Episcopal Church will give a bridge Albert Hencke: 2B, Feeding Her Birds by Millet; 2A, Simplicity, Age of In- one o'clock in the St. Columba Parish Children of the Sea by Israels; 3A, Manistique avenues. The Taxpayers Association in its letter does not vigorously attack the plan for consolidation nor does it express its agreement held at the Neighborhood Club. The letter in , ull toflows:

"Much discussion has been recently stirred up among school boards by the proposed bills introduced in the legislature for consolidation of certain school districts in Wayne County.

"One of these bills would affect only Detroit, Highland Park and Hamtramck; another would cover all the school districts in Wayne County. The ultimate object is economy. In some school districts the school tax rate, if high, would drop; in others like Detroit and Grosse Pointe it might rise slightly. However, one of the purposes of the bill is to curtail some of the extravagance, particularly in unnecessary building programs indulged in by school boards in some of the smaller townships outside Detroit. Another purpose is to simplify and reduce administrative costs.

"It is understood that individual members of the Detroit Board of Education do not favor the proposal covering all the County. In the meantime, a stud is being made of the whole matter by the proper authorities and the facts will be available in ample time for the people in Grosse Pointe Township to determine their attitude in the matter.

"While our school tax appears low because of our high assessed valuation, our per pupil and administrative costs are so high that a consolidation might result in a real economy that would be reflected in lower taxes. Certainly, under the consolidated plan it would be difficult to put over a building program way beyond our needs, and a program which we may be sure will increase our taxes and put our school costs further out of line with well administered districts.

"The Grosse Pointe Taxpayers Association promptly investigated this matter when it arose, and through proper publicity will keep the public informed of any developments. We are advised there is little likelihood of anything being done at the present session of the legislature, and that the measure proposed is more in the nature of a trial balloon to stir up discussion and elicit

"However, in the absence of facts showing the effect of such legislation on the different school districts of Wayne County, the Taxpayers Association is of the opinion that the people of Grosse Pointe Township are capable of working out their own destiny in respect to their school system.

"Unfortunately, the Grosse Pointe School Board has created a condition that invites such legislation. It should mend its ways and drop its extravagant building program when its schools are now less than half full. The superintendent should devote his time to the efficient and economic administration of such schools. Let him look to the educational standards of the system and cease gathering so-called statistics in an attempt to justify needless additional schools. In brief, it should not be necessary for the state to step in to correct the deficiencies of this school district. Our Township should do its own housecleaning, reduce its own taxes by eliminating waste and extravagance in school affairs, and insisting upon common sense management."

But of all unthinking actions, the unkindest is the proposal of the Real Estate Board and certain great branch banking institutions to reduce the period of mortgage redemption from 12 months to only 6 months. (Reference Detroit Realtor, March 31, Page 31, column 2). The foreclosure sale coming at the end of the period helps not a bit. This bill to reduce the redemption period on mortgages is already introduced at Lansing and will shortly be coming up.

No ill will to the powerful financia herein intended, but, these home owners have to get work before they can magazines during the past couple of pay. The 12 month redemption period years, have stirred public interest is the one hope of many a family. The everywhere, and his first moving pic-"Committee of 51" in "defense of the ture story, "City Streets," makes all home owners and workers" appeals to the realism of his sinister backgrounds newspapers, radio stations and legislators not to let this thing be put over quietly at Lansing. Let it be out in the open for discussion. The "Committee of 51" wishes to congratulate powerful beer-running barons when his and compliment Hon. Richard A. Mac- sweetheart, Sylvia Sidney, is framed Rae, representative from Wayne County for his endeavors in the home owners' behalf. His introduction of a bill to lengthen the period of land con- into the unlawful intrigues of the tract foreclosures is a humanitarian and thoughtful procedure.

The home owner is in a bad plight today. Temporary legislation in his behalf, giving these wives, children and worried men a short period in which to recover would be more appropriate, if feasible, but to hard heartedly suggest and actually introduce a law to shorten the period of redemption is so ill-timed that the "Committee of 51" must speak forth in defense of these home owners and workers.

Our advice to the many worried home owners, both women and men that have entreated the "Committee of 51" for help has been, "Show good faith. Try to pay what you can and get time on the balance if possible." Our advice to the proponents of this adverse legislation, shortening the period of redemption of mortgages is to forbear. Be considerate. Many worried mothers and fathers are pacing the floor these nights. If they show good faith, bear with them. Let's all work together the best we can. But don't try to change the law so as to take their homes away from them any faster than the present laws permit. The "Committee of 51" wishes to be fair to both sides but it shall be fear-

"City Streets" Heads Michigan Presentation

Enacted by a superb cast of screen players, headed by Gary Cooper and Sylvia Sidney, the amazing drama of underworld racketeering, "City Streets," is showing at the Michigan theater this week.

Dashiell Hammett's realistic story, dramatized from the actual experiences of this former Pinkerton sleuth, is a startling expose of conditions as they exist in the law-scoffing underworld of interests backing this legislation is the great cities. Hammett's stories, appearing in many of the more popular live on the screen.

Cooper, a young shooting-gallery operator with a street carnival, becomes involved in the feuds of two and convicted for a murder she did not commit. Although he had resisted the lure of the easy money until forced racketeers, Cooper takes advantage of his ability with firearms, and wins the respect and hate of his new co-workers. In a smashing climax, Cooper turns against his enemies, beats them at their own game, and escapes to safety with the girl.

Sympathy of Golfers

Will Be With Dreamer One morning a more or less methodical individual was awakened as usual by the alarm clock. He scrambled out of bed, but instead of shutting off the alarm and proceeding about the leisurely process of dressing, he merely reset the clock and climbed back into bed. His wife noted his unusual behavior with some surprise,

"What's the matter?" she asked "Don't you feel well?" "Keep quiet!" he grumbled, and went about the intensive business of going back to sleep. He explained everything later, and in spite of her huff the mistress of the household got a laugh out of it. It seemed that the alarm clock summons interrupted a dream in which the husband was engaged in an exciting game of golf with Bobby Jones.

"Well," his wife observed, "how does that explain your hopping back into bed again?"

"I wanted to finish that match," her husband replied, "and I wanted to give one particularly offensive pest a good punch in the nose. And the sad part of it is I can't for the life of me remember whether I'did or not."

Linen "Textbooks" Used in Early Schoolrooms

"Your lesson for tomorrow will be on the blue handkerchief." Children in the primary schools of Wisconsin, during the days of a century ago, fully realized the significance of the school marm's words. In the absence of textbooks, linen handkerchiefs, full of prints depicting the great moments and the great men of history, were used to instruct the youngsters. This method was used to teach children how to read and to spell. Different lessons required different handkerchiefs.

Fortunately, little Mary and little Johnny did not have to tote pocketful references. A handkerchief a day made schooling pay.

In a shaded corridor of the Historical museum, on the University of Wisconsin campus, one may see the faded linen, once the pride of a studious child. George Washington is the lesson text. A full-length print of George in characteristic Napoleonic pose fills the center of the foot-square goods. To the right, in large type, still legible, are the birth, death and other vital facts.

Byron's Pet Goose

Byron, though he sneered at many other British institutions, seems to have retained a truly John-Bullish hankering after roast goose at Michaelmas, a Manchester Guardian writer observes. Countess Guiccioli records how one year, in Venice, the poet bought a goose rly in August with the idea of hand-feeding it in readiness for September 29. Sentiment, however, interfered with the plan, for he and the bird became so attached that when Michaelmas arrived he could not bear the thought of killing it. He bought another bird for his table; and had a cage made for the pet goose, which he suspended under his carriage when he traveled.

Recalls Famous Nurse

Withered and wrinkled by years in museum, the carriage Florence Nightingale used in the Crimean war now occupies a place of honor in St. Thomas' hospital at London.

It was at St. Thomas' that the "Lady With the Lamp" started her training school for nurses after the Black with age, the carriage is ten feet long, five feet wide and about eight high. A four-wheeler with a leather hood, it was built to be drawn by two horses.

Technical Shop Term The bureau of standards says that a "Dutchman" is a shop term applied to makeshifts which may or may not be justified, depending upon conditions. More specificially, "dutching" a sheet metal roof is the term applied to the fastening of the middle of the sheet to the sheathing below when the metal roof becomes noisy after years of use. When the wind blows, the sheets of metal slap up and down. After fastening, a cap is soldered over the nail (or screw) to prevent

Exit the Ghost The tourist was making a tour of inspection of the very ancient-looking hostel. "Charming old place," he mentioned to his companion, a regular boarder. "Yes," mumbled the other, steering his head past an old oak beam just in time to save a nasty bruise. "They say it's haunted," went on the tourist enthusiastically. "Yes, it used to be," replied the regular boarder, "but the management raised the prices so high the ghost left."-London Answers.

Whist in History

Few of the many bridge enthusiasts today realize that the original of their favorite game was whist, says an article in Pathfinder Magazine. And fewer, if any, know that whist was once looked upon as a pastime fit for servants and the "lower classes" only. But they may take heart and break their silence, for once the grand old game broke into the "upper class" society about 1740, it became so popular that even children gave whist parties. But only in the present century was whist "bridged" to its present form.

Good to Remember When your face is toward the sunshine, the shadows fall behind you.

Statesmen Not Always

Masters of Foresight It is curious how great things befall. Chancellor Livingston, at the time our minister to France, closed with Napoleon's offer of the Louisiana territory without authority from government and to the dismay, so one reads, of Jefferson.

In the war with Mexico, Calhoun, who was secretary of state, sent Nicholas P. Trist, chief clerk of the State department and husband of a granddaughter of Jefferson to confer with Santa Anna about ending the war. Santa Anna offered Trist the treaty of Guadalupe, which gave us New Mexico, Arizona, upper California, nad the Rio Grande as the southern boundary of Texas.

He gave Trist two days to take it or leave it. Trist lacked authority to accept it, but did so and carried it back to Washington, where it gave great dissatisfaction and got Trist into rouble, but it stood.

Mr. Seward, who had a vision of the destiny of the United States, bought Alaska and fairly earned credit for that. He had imagination and large ideas. The Philippines we got because it was not convenient to dodge them. They were left on our doorstep and are not a popular acquisition even now .- Edward S. Martin in Harper's Magazine.

Earliest Use of Horse

Probably for Warfare In Babylonia the first domesticated horse appeared about 2000 B. C. It was introduced into Egypt by the Hyksos, or shepherd kings, who came from the north and east of Syria, and conquered lower Egypt in the Seventeenth century B. C. In both these cases it is to be noted that the horse was preceded by many centuries by the ox and the ass. From these facts and a few other scraps of evidence one may picture the first domestication of the horse as occurring in central Asia. Probably it was accomplished by a people of nomadic herdsmen to whom the convenience of riding would be obvious. Sooner or later the mounted nomad came to realize the measure of his advantage over the man who traveled and fought afoot, and was encouraged to wander farther afield, conquering as he went. In any case, the horse (either as a charger or yoked to a chariot) became in very early times an important factor in war. The use of the horse for the workaday purpose of transport and tillage is comparatively a modern development; in Britain, for example, oxen were the common plow animals until the end of the Eighteenth century.

Early English Glassmaking In Old England the glass making industry was concentrated in the county of Sussex, where an ancient glass works was dug up recently. James I issued a proclamation forbidding the melting of glass "with timber or wood or fuel made of the same" fearing, no doubt, that the forests were being depleted too rapidly. But, in spite of this order, glass works increased. Later on, in 1633, the import of foreign glass was prohibited by government order, although an exception was made in favor of Venetian ware. The most important glass factory was at Chiddingfold, which dates back to 1240. It provided Henry II with white and colored glass for his abbey of West-

fuji-yama, whose branches begin less than a yard from the ground. The trunk measures 26 feet around and the leaves are reddish, the flowers white. Four big trunks with a total circumference of 34 feet grow from the same root of the ishido kaba-sakura. The resary-hanging cherry tree of Daigo temple, has seven trunks growing from the same root, while the main trunk stands dead and rotting. The stone-splitting cherry tree has its roots buried in the cracks of a great granite rock in the grounds of the law courts in Morioka. It is one of the famous cherry trees protected

The word "sound" is used in two senses. From the viewpoint of the psychologist, sound is a sensation: from that of the physicist, sound is that form of vibratory motion which may be perceived by the ear. In the case of a falling tree, there would be no sound in the sense in which the word is used in psychology, but as it is used in physics there would be sound, because the tree in falling would set up vibrations of the air which would be capable of affecting the ear, if one were present. This explanation is from Henderson's "Physics in Everyday Life."-Washington Star.

Standish Story Myth? Apparently there is no evidence to support the assertion often made that Capt. Miles Standish, military commander of the Maflower group of Pilgrims at Plymouth, lost one of his legs in battle and wore a "cork" leg. None of the contemporary historians and chroniclers mention the fact, and it is not so stated in the reputable histories of Plymouth colony. It is not known who started the story. Perhaps it originally arose from a confusion of Standish with Peter Stuyvesant, the one-legged governor of New Nether land.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Literal Appellation The word "dime" is derived from the Latin "decima," which means "one-

During Easter vacation, the Camp Fire and Intermediate Girls enjoyed an all-day excursion. They hiked to Pine Racqueteers Woods and had a hot dog roast after N. A. C. which baseball and numerous other N. C. Juniors games were played.

The Junior Boys Basketball team still continues to play at its usual speed and as a result, has won two more games since the last edition has went to press. The first of these games was with Mr. Clemens and the final score was 32 to 13, in favor of our local boys. The first half of this game was very loosely played, with the score being 9 to 8. This poor showing, howas evidenced by the final score. Murphy judged according to design, neatness for Grosse Pointe and Chase for Mt. Clemens, were the outstanding stars in this game.

First Telegraph Line Regarded as Mere Tey

In 1834 Thomas Davenport, a blacksmith at Brandon, Vt., exhibited at Springfield and at Boston a working model of an electric car running om a small track. He had studled the ideas of Michael Faraday with the object of applying the only half-understood electrical energy to the propulsion of a vehicle, Russell Gore writes, in the Detroit News. Unfortunately, the world was not yet ready for electric street cars, even if it had available—which it had not till the Michigan deposits were developed-the copper to make them run. But the discovery of the magic metal lagged just around the corner, while electricity took some shy peeks to see if the way was clear. By 1835 Morse was exhibiting a model telegraph machine, based on the system of dots and dashes. Two years later the first telegraph line was installed on the London & Northwestern railway. The first was regarded as a toy and was not even used for railroad business. Not until it was pressed into service to tell the London police that a notorious criminal, one Tawell, wanted for poisoning a woman, would step off the train in the metropolis, did its magic dawn on the world. Tawell, astonished, was arrested by the London police, who were almost as much astonished as he was that a slender strand of copper wire had carried a message faster than the fastest courier could carry it. Tawell, a crook, was electricity's best press agent in the infancy of the telegraph.

Ball Playing Traced to

Theory of Resurrection It is interesting to read in Prof. Elliot Smith's "Human History" that the common origin of ball games may be traced to the fact that the ancient Egyptians' theory of the universe depended "upon the view that the death and resurrection of the god Osiris was essential for the maintenance of life." In the periodical dramatic mepresentations of this belief, Professor/ Smith explains, "the conflict of the followers of Osiris with those of his enemy Set was enacted," and not only the bullfighting of Spain, and the cockfighting of Asia . . . but also the tug-of-war, football, hockey, tennis, cricket, polo, and, in fact, all ball games are the modified survivals of the Osirian competitions in which the representatives of the rival parties struggled for the mummy of the king god or his head, the ball."-Montreal Family Herald.

Island Dwellers

There are only two good ways to come to Stockholm. One is to approach slowly by the canal from Goteorg, and the other is to arrive by sea through the glorious channels between its 75 miles of islands. The rugged sea and landscapes of these rocky islets not only made artists happy, but many families of the city make their summer homes on an island, and the business men commute daily by launch to their work. Everybody has a yacht or some more modest craft and they spend nearly all day

Valuable Health Rules

Irving Fisher's health rules are "Ventilate every room you occupy; wear light, loose, and porous clothes; seek out-of-doors occupations and recreations; sleep out of doors, if possible; breathe deeply; avoid overeating; eat sparingly of meats and eggs; eat some hard, some bulky, and some raw foods each day; eat slowly; move the bowels regularly and frequently; do not allow poisons and infections to enter the body; keep the teeth, gums, and tongue clear; stand, sit, and walk erect; work, play, rest, and sleep in moderation, and keep happy."

Bad Telephone Manners Alexander Graham Bell lived to deplore the casual manners his invention had introduced.

"Nobody," he said-according to Catherine Mackenzie in her biography of Bell-"would dream of coming to one's house and demanding an audience while one dined, or bathed, or slept; but every one made these peremptory interruptions by telephone."

He always made indignant protest when any member of his family left the table to answer a telephone call.-Kansas City Times.

"This Is So Sudden!"

They were strolling in the moonlight, this couple of the Stone age days, she slim and lively, he big, hairy and muscular. The dinosaurs and mastodons respectively slithered out of their way at their approach.

Suddenly, for no obvious reason, he reached over and laid her skull open with a vicious swing of his quartz dub. As she sank to the ground, her eyes opened in wonderment.

"O. Oswald," she cooed. "And I didn't know you cared !"-- Exchange.

Novel "Change of Air"

Mr. Bata, Czechoslovakian boot manufacturer, is a very busy man, and his time is valuable. When his doctor told him that he must go to a mountainous district for a change of air, he decided that he could not spare the time. Instead of going to the mountains, Mr. Bata bought a balloon, anchored it to his factory chimney, and used it as an office. Thus he was able to enjoy the pure air of the heights and carry on his business at the same time.

Hupp to Continue Free Wheeling Test Drive

So great has been the public demand for demonstration rides in the new Free Wheeling Hupmobiles in connection with the national Free Wheeling slogan contest that Hupmobile has announced that its dealers will indefinitely continue their special Seven Mile

Free Wheeling demonstration drive. Thousands of contestants have visited Hupmobile salesrooms for details about the contest. In practically every case contestants have asked for this unique Hupmobile exhibition of Free Wheeling before penning their entries in the contest.

Hupmobile's seven mile free wheeling demonstration drive was started several months ago to initiate the general public into the new sensation and driving ease of free wheeling. A feature assisting in the demonstration drive is an accurate engine revolution counter. This device, which is attached to the engine, records the number of times the engine turns over in any given distance. The visitor is requested to make note of the speedometer and the revolution counter readings at the start of the drive. The trip is then made in conevtional gear and, back at the starting point, these readings are again taken. Quick calculation shows the number of engine revolutions re-

The trip is then repeated, but this time the entire distance is driven in free wheelin. Because free wheeling permits the engine to idle a considerable portion of the time, the net revolution counter reading for the second part of the demonstration, subtracted from the number of revolutions required for the first journey in conventional gear, will show the savings in engine operation made on this particular drive in free wheeling. The same route is twice used so that driving conditions are as nearly identical as possible.

NURSE FORTUNE

Court Upholds Will Making $40,000 Bequest.

Providence, R. I.—The will of the late Mrs. Josephine Orom Peirce of Cranston stands. Miss Mary Adamson, trained nurse who cared for Mrs. Peirce during her last years, will receive nearly $40,000.

The nurse was given a $20,000 legacy and named as residuary legatee. Curtis Eames Hill, investment banker of this city and a cousin of Mrs. Peirce, contested the will on the ground that Mrs. Peirce, because of her physical condition, was not competent to execute the will which was dated November 5, three days before her death.

The case was tried before a jury last May, but the jury failed to agree. It was to have been tried again, but a settlement was reached on the eve of the trial.

The trial before Judge O'Connell in Superior court created interest because of the character of the witnesses on both sides.

Court attaches asserted that all the witnesses were "remarkably truthful and that no attempt was made to bolster either side through the aid of truth stretching."

Miss Adamson, it developed, was given the legacy because of her kindness to Mrs. Peirce. Mrs. Peirce and her husband, who died several years ago, were New Yorkers and came to Cranston to live when Mr. Peirce retired from business. Their fortune was estimated to exceed $150,000, but dwindled during the last years of Mr. Peirce's life and for the two years following his death.

At that time Mrs. Peirce, according to the testimony, called upon her cousin, Curtis Eames Hill, for assistance. She left the management of her estate in his care and through his handling of it, the estate was enhanced nearly $15,000.

High School Girl, Aged 17, Makes Flight Alone

Seattle.-With only eight hours of flying at an aviation school, divided into four hours a year ago and four hours this winter, Miss Lela Newman made a solo flight of half an hour, achieving the triple feat of making a perfect takeoff, landing and the record of the youngest flyer ever to solo in the Northwest.

Miss Newman is only seventeen, and her father, Maj. Bill Newman, operator of the Newman Flying school, believes she is the youngest girl solo flyer in the country. She is a student at the Franklin high school and president of the Franklin High School Aviation club and member of the Women's National Aerenautical association.

She comes naturally by her bent for the air, as her father has a background of 15 years of flying. He was a member of the British air forces during the World war, with two years of service in France.

Miss Newman figured in the news recently when she made her first parachute jump September 21 last, averting a serious accident by skillfully steering the "chute" away from kigh tension wires into which she was fall-

WE DELIVER

Dear Mr. & Mrs.:

You cannot be too careful in choosing your

The love and knowledge of Flowers and Landscape Architecture and the whole hearted acceptance of our responsibilities is the pride of our organization.

We can serve your needs-

Trees - Shrubs - Annual and Perennial Plants - Rose and Rock Gardens - Fountains - Pools - Pergolas-Arbors Trellises - Fencing - Garden Furniture and Statuary -Lawn Construction - Pruning - Trimming - Soils and Fertilizers - Insecticides

Our MAINTENANCE SERVICE begins with a real Spring cleaning---spraying whenever and wherever needed-your lawns kept in perfect condition-hedges and shrubbery carefully pruned-your annuals, perennials and bulbs planted -- and ends with your garden tucked away for the Winter in the right way at the right time.

An opportunity to call and explain our service will be very much appreciated.

Faithfully yours, Garden Service, Inc.

PS. We guarantee everything we plant
