Trustees of Shores Name Lake Park the "George Osius Park"

By resolution of the trustees of the Village of Grosse Pointe Shores, the recently developed park along the lake shore and adjacent to the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club property will carry the name of "George Osius Park" in honor of the man who had been president of the village since its incorporation in 1911 until his retirement from this office in 1928.

This is the second time that public officials thus have honored Mr. Osius. When after 13 years of service as a member of the Detroit Liberty Commission he retired in 1913, the branch library, 8530 Grotto avenue, was named after him.

Samuel A. Gordon Is Urged for Re-Election By Constables Club

Re-election of Samuel A. Gordon as one of the Grosse Pointe Township constables, was urged by William Brennan, president of the Detroit and Wayne County Constables Club.

"The purpose of our organization is to foster the election of honest, faithful and reliable constables. Samuel A. Gordon has proven himself a capable public servant, who has served Grosse Pointe Township admirably. He should be returned to office to continue his good work," Mr. Brennan stated.

"Constable Gordon has had considerable experience and a good record. Prior to his election as constable, he served as deputy sheriff for five years under former Sheriffs Edward Stein and Ira Wilson. He also was employed in the County Treasurer's office.

"Many of Grosse Pointe leading business and professional men and civic organizations have endorsed Constable Gordon for re-election. He also has been approved by judges and attorneys who know his ability as a constable.

"Constable Gordon was born in Detroit and has lived in Grosse Pointe for the past five years. He is married and now resides at 1096 Beaconsfield Avenue, Grosse Pointe.

"A vote for Samuel A. Gordon is a vote for honest and efficient service. Return him to office."

Magnet Saves Boy's Life

By means of a powerful magnet a ball-bearing was extracted from a six-year-old boy's lungs in a hospital at Nottingham, England. The magnet was one used for extracting particles from eyes. A tube was passed down the lad's throat, the ball located by a tiny electric light and a magnetized iron rod then inserted in the tube to attract and retrieve the ball.

Hogs and Poison

Hogs are not immune to poison. Their comparative immunity lies in the fact that they have very thick skins underlain by a thick layer of fat. For this reason poison often fails to penetrate to the blood stream of a hog attacked by a poisonous snake or in some other way subjected to poison.

Divorce Made Easy

Divorce is now very easy in China; a married couple simply write down a declaration of their desire to separate and sign it before two witnesses who also sign. Then they are divorced. If, however, either party objects, a court action is necessary.

Salt in Sea Water

The amount of salt dissolved in sea water is not uniform. It varies with the locality and with the temperature. The average salinity of the surface waters of the ocean is estimated at 35 parts in a thousand parts of water. The highest salinity is found in the North Atlantic, where it is 37.9, and in the South Atlantic, where it is 37.6 per thousand parts of water. Some streams of fresh water are found running through the ocean.

Red Cross Seals

The first Red Cross seals were issued in 1908 and continued to be issued by the Red Cross in connection with health work, such as the anti-tuberculosis campaign, until 1919, when the tuberculosis campaign took it over entirely.

Apricots Yield Almond Oil

Almond oil in the Middle Ages was prepared from bitter almonds by distillation in water. Nowadays it is obtained almost entirely from apricot kernels.

What to Eat And How to Prepare it

By ELIZABETH MONAGHAN

Preparing the Food.

The water in which spinach, asparagus, etc., are cooked should form the basis for soups. The mineral value of the vegetables is lost in the water and we must throw this away.

Aside from their mineral and nutritive value the soups are delicious and appetizing.

A plate of any of these soups, especially the thicker ones, with whole wheat bread is sufficient for luncheon for children or adults.

Cream of Spinach Soup

Take the water in which the spinach has been cooked. Boil down to about one-third the quantity of soup desired. Thicken with whole meal and season. A little tomato juice or fine parsley or both will add flavor.

When ready to serve, add about twice as much milk as you have liquid. Bring to heating point and serve immediately.

Do not allow milk to boil. (Do not throw the spinach in water when cooking—use only enough water. This makes a more concentrated liquid for the soup.)

You thicken the liquid before adding the milk, because the latter must not boil.

Cream of Asparagus Soup

Same as Cream of Spinach Soup. Some of the stalk ends of the asparagus put through a sieve will give consistency and flavor.

Do not allow the milk to boil.

Cream of Onion Soup

Same as Cream of Asparagus. Put a generous quantity of onions through the sieve.

Cream of Cauliflower Soup

Same as Cream of Asparagus Soup. Put about one-third of the flowerettes through the sieve.

In making any of the above cream soups the same results may be obtained by following a little different method easier or more convenient if you are cooking several things. Its advantage is that the soup is ready without any fussing after the vegetable is cooked.

Two-thirds of your soup is to be milk. Hence if you will need about a quart of soup, put two-thirds of a quart of soup, put two-thirds of a quart of milk to scald in the double boiler; you may then season and thicken the milk while your vegetable is cooking.

When the vegetable is done drain the liquid right into the scalded milk, add a little of the vegetable thru the sieve and serve.

If you have never eaten Cream of Onion or Cauliflower Soup, be sure to try them. You will be amazed at their deliciousness. I served the former at luncheon to a party of friends who said they did not like onions in any form. I put a generous quantity of the well boiled onion through the sieve, but was careful not to let a telltale leaf appear. They ate with relish and spoke of its deliciousness. The joke was on them. There is wonderful mineral value in the liquid form boiled onions.

WEEKLY CHAT

By A. A. PILKINGTON

That Bucky Harris will come thru with a winning team this season is sincerely hoped by baseball fans. It seems ages since Detroit won the pennant. Many cash customers are wondering if the rates will undergo a much needed cut when the time comes for "Pay as you Enter" the ball park. The powers that be should give the followers of this great American pastime some consideration. The Detroit Tigers are already in their southern training quarters, a sure sign that spring is not far in the offing and speaking of spring!

Indications point to an early spring and many of us are already getting the garden tools in shape anxious to get started. The past winter has puzzled even the old gardeners who are doubtful as to whether the bulbous plants will do as well as in previous years. Doubtless many will not owing to the freak weather.

Garden pests will be in action early and in large numbers this spring as the open winter has been most favorable for their protection. So get out the old spray gun and ammunition in preparation for some real battle with these our gardener's deadliest enemies, aphids, cut-worms, slugs and other insect pests.

War in the Far East is still taking its toll of life, wreckage, carnage, plunder and untold suffering—Refugees by the thousand taking that long, long trek into other parts in hopes of safety escaping the labelled death of shot and shell for every cannon that sends out a shell is always labelled kill as many as you can! That is warfare! So civilization cuts another notch into its list of other wars and the world still goes on.

Washington Bi-Centennial reawakened young America—Parties, plays, music, prayer and speeches marked the two hundredth mile stone of our first President—the Father of our Country. Many new revelations have been brought to light and we don't have to depend alone on history to touch upon some of the most vital points in general Washington's life—He is close to us, because we are close to him.

Water, Water Everywhere

One-tenth of the entire 83,400 square miles of Maine is lake and pond and one-third of the state is mountainous. There are 5,131 rivers and streams in Maine big enough to be on the map. There are 2,485 lakes. The stranger entering Maine sees almost from every hilltop the "sky-blue water."

Pampered Snails

Eddie snails are taken from France into London in numbers of more than 2,000,000 each year. These French snails are specially fed for restaurant trade on vine leaves and lettuce.

Lie Where They Fell

The soldiers who lost their lives in the battle of Little Big Horn were buried in one great grave on the battlefield, except General Custer, whose body, although at first interred there, was later removed to the United States burial ground at West Point.

The Wise Man

A judge remarked that a wise husband never forgets his wife's birthday. He merely forgets which one it is.

High School News Briefs

The third annual Southeastern League swimming meet, with nine schools competing, will be held in Grosse Pointe natorium this Saturday, February 27.

Preliminary trials will be held at 3 o'clock with a cash admission of 10 cents for students and 25 cents levied on all outside guests. Finals will be held at 8 o'clock, with a straight ticket admission of 25 cents for all persons. Students Association tickets will not be accepted at either the preliminaries or the finals. Tickets are on sale in the high school office. There are 396 seats in the natorium and there will be only 396 tickets issued.

Grosse Pointe will swim against eight other suburban schools including last years champions, Pontiac and Mt. Clemens, Royal Oak, Birmingham, Fordson, River Rouge, Wyandotte, and Monroe. The Blue and Gold team last year finished in fifth place with ten points. This year, however, with the relay team having the league, with the ord under their silk suits, the Pointers are figuring on giving any of them a battle.

The tankers have been beaten this season by Fordson, Royal Oak, and Monroe. All three of these meets were lost by two or three points, a small margin in a swimming meet where the mere flicking of the toe may get you a first.

The most strength in the tank team this year seems to be in the sprint events, since such speedsters as Captain Joe Smith, John Wilson, and Norman Wilcox regularly take places in dual meets.

Mr. George Elsworth of the Neighborhood Club, will again act as chief official of the meet. He will be assisted by a group of men prominent in the Michigan A. A. U. swimming circles. Eight events are to be run off in the following order: 160-yard relay; fancy diving; 160-yard free style; 100-yard back stroke; 100-yard breast stroke; 220-yard free style; 40-yard free style; 220-yard medley relay.

Lester Spitzley is president of the June graduating class of the 92 seniors. The vice-president is Jeanne Harding. Dorothy Snyder was elected secretary. Ruth Werner takes up the pen as recording secretary, and John Fraser will be the senior treasurer.

Little "Sparky" Spitzley of football fame defeated George Lloyd, the other nominee, in the presidential race. Les has always been with the first in all school ventures and his election is the climax of four years devoted to hard and school spirited work.

In Jeanne Harding the president will have an able running mate and co-worker. Her untiring and successful work in both the dramatics club and the art department stamp her as a competent executive and efficient leader. As may be expected the academic work of these two officers is of the highest quality.

Dorothy Snyder defeated Genevieve Uvick thereby becoming secretary of the June graduating class. Dot is well equipped for the secretaryship having held similar positions in the past. Her experience in the Service Club will be of use, and along with her spirit and enthusiasm the diminutive Miss Snyder should come through with colors flying.

Upon Ruth Werner has fallen the difficult and tedious task of being recording secretary. Again however perseverance should win out and although her job is merely to record action at meetings this over active June 1932 class undoubtedly will keep her plenty busy.

John Fraser, the popular editor-in-chief of the Tower, was elected to be custodian of the senior funds. Nothing needs be said about his dependability. If anyone can bring the June class out ahead of the game financially John can.

With this excellent group of officers and the senior sponsors: Miss Harriman, Miss Ruth Craine, and Mr. Don R. Campbell, all the seniors have to do is pledge their whole hearted support and they can't go wrong.

To date the seniors have well over a hundred dollars in the treasury and extensive plans for making more. The movie idea will probably be continued. The seniors are selling candy at the basket ball games, and in time other concessions will be granted. There is no doubt that the seniors will publish an annual, which costs quite a sum of money.

In the near future class colors and other incidentals will be decided upon by the occupants of room 215.

Band Concert Raises Money for Township Welfare Relief Work

Hundreds of Grosse Pointe residents attended the band concert given Thursday evening in the Grosse Pointe High School by the Catholic Boys Band of Detroit. The concert was sponsored by Edmund C. Vernier, Township Supervisor, with the assistance of his associate Township officials, officials of the several villages in the Township and the police and fire departments of the respective villages.

The proceeds from the concert will be expended in welfare relief work throughout the Township, particularly to assist needy mothers and children, Mr. Vernier stated.

The Catholic Boys band presented a varied program which was regarded as one of its most notable performances.

A specialty novelty act in which Alice Laquiere and her little sister Rachel took part was also a highlight on last evening's program.

The Catholic Boys band is one of the finest Concert Military bands in the country. It was organized in June, 1926 by Joseph W. Guinan who still directs its work.

Fischer Lecture

Louis Fischer, Moscow correspondent of the Nation, speaks at McCOLL-LESTER HALL, corner Forest and Cass on Wednesday, March 2, at 8 p. m. under the auspices of Friends of the Soviet Union. Subject: "THE SOVIETS IN WORLD AFFAIRS—OR RUSSIA TODAY."

Louis Fischer, well known as a press correspondent, author and investigator, has just come from Russia after having made a study of conditions there for over eight years. Under our management, he has arranged to make a brief tour, beginning in January, 1932, when he will deliver a lecture of supreme importance, entitled: "THE SOVIETS IN WORLD AFFAIRS—OR RUSSIA TODAY."

In his lecture Mr. Fischer will give a graphic account of what is happening in Russia, and will show what has been the effect of communism upon industry, education, religion and the life of the people generally. He will also explain what in his opinion is likely to be the outcome of the vast agricultural and manufacturing schemes launched by the Soviet Government under the Five Year Plan, which some economists believe threatens the welfare of the rest of the world, including America.

Thoughts

Let a man profess what he will, if his thoughts are generally conversant about worldly things, he has an earthly and worldly mind; and if his thoughts are conversant about sensual things, he has a sensual and carnal mind; for, whatever he may outwardly say, as he thinks, so is he.—Owen.

Anniversary Coins

Fifty-cent coins, with a miner and gold pan on one side and a bear on the other, minted in 1925 during California's diamond jubilee were of silver, and were issued in commemoration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of California's admission to the Union. One hundred and fifty thousand of the coins were issued.

Fever's Many Names

Relapsing fever is the name given to a specific infectious disease occasionally appearing as an epidemic in communities suffering from scarcity or famine. It is also known as famine fever, seven-day bilious relapsing fever and spirillum fever.

Rights Reserved

Here's a fishing story that beats anything experienced in Michigan. J. H. Essasser, or Marysville, Calif., was fishing in the Feather river when he saw a salmon leap onto a sand bar. He swam to the bar and sat on the big fish until it died. He brought home the body of the big salmon to prove his story.

Average Weather

The weather bureau says that one year differs from another in the weather it brings, and also in respect to almost everything else. However, the average of the weather for any consecutive 20 years is practically the same as for any other consecutive 20 years.

Or Potting Passengers
 "Reports from the railroads," writes a motorist, "indicate that train accidents are decreasing each year, while automobile accidents are increasing. 'How,' he questions the Safe Worker, 'do you account for this?' 'Because,' truths the editor, 'the engineer isn't always hugging the fireman!'"

Handy for Housewife
 The hearth in a house in Abersychan, near Pontypool, Wales, is never swept. All the ashes are scraped into a huge hole which has appeared under the grate, and which never fills up. This is one of the freak results of subsidence on the Abersychan mountains, where huge holes and "slips" have occurred.

DETROIT PRESBYTERY
 These Sabbaths are all special Sundays in the Evangelistic program being put on by the churches of Detroit Presbytery—the Presbyterian churches of this district. Next Sunday morning is "Extension Sunday" when the sermon will be on "Our Responsibility For American Church Work." Sunday evening we will have music by our own orchestra and visiting soloists, as well as the choir. The pastor will speak on "Is There A Personal Devil?," another of the series on "The Hereafter." Next Wednesday there will be a supper and program at the church at 7:30-looking forward to the Evangelistic program. Dr. M. C. Pearson of the church Board of Extension of Detroit will speak and there will be special music. Sunday evening March 13th will be Masonic night at the church.

"Hatchet Man" at the United Artists
 Edward G. Robinson, the man of a thousand characters, portrays one of the outstanding roles of his career with his starring appearance in "The Hatchet Man," which is now showing at the United Artists theatre in Detroit. Robinson, who has appeared in the leading roles in "Smart Money," "Little Caesar," "Five Star Final," and other big hits portrays the role of the chieftain in this story, which has been adapted from David Balasco's stage success of "The Honorable Mr. Wong."

"Broken Lullaby at the Paramount
 Ernst Lubitsch's production of "Broken Lullaby," which is now showing at the Paramount theatre in Detroit, has won the acclaim of both public and press. This picture, which has been addressed from "The Man I Killed," features Lionel Barrymore, Nancy Carroll and Phillips Holmes in the leading roles. The story is tense with drama. Barrymore, who won the picture Academy Prize last year, portrays the role of the German doctor whose son was killed during the war. Phillips Holmes, who won fame by his starring role in "An American Tragedy," is seen as the young Frenchman who killed the boy.

Indian Legend Explains Origin of Five Tribes
 After the Great Spirit had created the hills and dales, the lakes and streams, placed the animals and birds in the woodland, and the fishes in the waters of New York, he dropped five handfuls of red sand across the "promised land." The first handful, it is said, fell in the valley of the Mohawk, from the gateway—for which the Indian word is Schenectady—to the vicinity of Utica; and from this red sand sprang the Mohawks, of whom Joseph Brant was a prominent member.

Gret Garbo At the Riviera
 Greta Garbo, the fiery temptress of the screen, has created a sensational performance by her superb role in "Mata Hari" now at the Riviera theatre, Grand River and Joy Road. "Mata Hari" offers the talented actress a rare romantic action role. She portrays the part of the world-famous spy who traded her love for secrets. Garbo is perfectly surrounded by a group of finished artists such as Lionel Barrymore, Ramon Navarro and Lewis Stone.

Marlene Dietrich At the Michigan
 A long, run picture, "Shanghai Express," a story of seething China with Marlene Dietrich in the long role, is now playing a limited engagement of one week at the Michigan Theatre by special arrangement with the producers. The exotic German star never appeared in a better role, than that of "Shanghai Lily," while Olive Brook, Warner Oland, Anna May Wong and others appear in the supporting cast.

It is an exciting story packed with excitement, romance and fun.

The third handful fell among the hills near Syracuse and today 550 people of the hills, which the word Onondaga means, still dwell in the hills of Onondaga county.

The story is that of a man who steps into the shoes of his dead twin brother and inherits his mistress and sweetheart. There ensues thrills and adventures that promises to keep firm fans on the edge of their seats. There is a great supporting cast including Stuart Erwin, Juliette Compton, George Barbier and Lucien Littlefield.

An hour out of Pekin the train is stopped by Chinese soldiers, the passengers searched, and a frightened Chinaman arrested as a rebel spy. Oland is revealed as the leader of the revolution. He telegraphs Shanghai, calling attention to Brook's presence on the train, and offers to let the Express proceed if his spy is returned unharmed. The offer is accepted, and the passengers imprisoned until Oland's spy arrives.

The Cayugas arose from the fourth handful, dropped around the lake which still bears their name, and from this group came the great orator, Logan, who is buried at Auburn.

There is a real treat on the screen at the Fisher this week. Fredric March, handsome romantic screen favorite, appears in "Strangers in Love," with Kay Francis. It is an exciting story packed with excitement, romance and fun.

Warner Oland an Eurasian politician of great power, is in the same compartment with Eugene Pallette, a rollicking gambler who will offer odds on anything.

The fifth handful of red sand was dropped in the beautiful valley which the word Genesee means, and from this mighty tribe came the noted Red Jacket, Big Tree, and other councilors. We speak of the Six Nations, or tribes, of Iroquois today since the Tuscaroras, who now live in Niagara county, came from the South in 1712 and joined the original five, named in the legend above.

The invention of cut glass seems to be somewhat obscure. It was made in Bohemia early in the Seventeenth century and introduced into England in 1719. However, some authorities believe that cut glass was not unknown to the ancients. It was probably produced in a more primitive manner.

Skua, Air Pirate
 The skua, a species of gull, is third largest of the sea birds. Despite its fondness for fish, the skua is no fisherman so it resorts to piracy and robs other birds of their gains. It will dart at a gull in the air, causing it to drop the fish it has just caught, and then swoop down and catch the fish before it touches the water.

Topham, the famous strong man of Islington, finding a watchman asleep in his box, took up box and man, the whole weighing at least five hundredweight, and dropped them over a four-foot wall into a burying ground. William Joy, known as the English Samson, saw four men trying vainly to move a great stone which had fallen into the road. He picked it up, carried it ten yards and pitched it into a ditch. This man was able to hold a big horse motionless even when his rider tried to whip and spur it forward. Years ago "Monsieur Gregorie," a French strong man, amazed the people of Hereford by carrying a balk of timber weighing seven hundredweight. At that time he was seventy-one years old. Gregorie was afraid to pet his own baby for fear he should give it a fatal squeeze.—London Mail.

Walnuts as Fuel
 Considered from the standpoint of fuel value, walnuts exceed many other foods. They have an oil content of 63.4 per cent, a protein content of 16.6, carbohydrates 16.1, water 2.5 and minerals 1.4 per cent. They are also a good source of vitamin B.

Dublin can be full of interesting trips not only to the Irish, but to folk of all nations, for it has many literary and historic shrines. You may see the birthplace of George Bernard Shaw at 23 Synge streets, of Swift at 7 Hoey's court, of Thomas Moore at 12 Aungler street, of Oscar Wilde in Merlan row, and if you will search, of Balfe the composer, of Lover and Lever the novelists, of Drew the actor, of Lecky the historian and of Peg Woffington the actress. Borrow once lived at 75 Stephens green, Shelley at 35 Cuffe street, while the tourist will read here Joyce's "Dubliners" and his other works which have scenes in this city, and out at Glasnevin cemetery he will find the tombs of many of the notables of the little nation.—Exchange.

Early Cosmetics
 The ancient Egyptians used cosmetics. The women tattooed their bodies with zigzag designs and painted their faces and eyebrows with green paint which they made by grinding malachite on palettes of slate. This is believed to be the earliest known use of cosmetics.

Ant Constructs Umbrellas

The umbrella ant derives its name from the waterproof shelter that it builds for itself. Small pieces of leaves, usually taken from fruit or coffee trees, are cemented together with a sort of mud to form this structure. Large colonies of these ants build domes as much as two feet high and forty feet across, so it is no wonder that they frequently ruin trees by stripping off too many of their leaves for building materials.

By WM. G. WIEDBUSCH

Once each year, the Lions Club of Grosse Pointe, or rather the individuals who make up the membership of the Club, foregather for the purpose of showing up the human material of masculine order they have acquired in the years of wedlock; and, incidentally, to once a year give the boys a good time. Thursday, February 18th, was the third celebration of this kind staged by the Club. It was a pronounced success from the point of attendance, as well as entertainment. A total number of 104 sat down to eat, of which number there were 46 members of the club; the balance of 58 was made up of sons and fathers of the members. Last year the attendance was made up of 27 members and 36 guests, including a couple of colored boys brought as substitutes by Art Gnich and Geo. Ingram. The large increase in attendance can be attributed to a considerable extent to Doc Neuman, who had no representation last year, but brought along five of his boys this year. Rudy Kamischke, was there with his four stalwarts. What a lot of dough he must have kneaded to bring them to where they are. Rudy is a baker, as you know. Those three exponents of numerical superiority, Charley Strand, Doc Neuman and John Kerby were tied for the prize to be awarded to the member with the largest number of sons present, and John won. The prize for the oldest dad present went to Jul W. Berns, who has two sons in the Club and was himself a charter member, but recently retired from active membership. By a very narrow margin he nosed out the dad of Bill Bantlin. Bill, as you know, is the guy who cuts down our overhead so efficiently. The competition for the prize of having the youngest son present was between Carl Dell, the pill surveyor and Sam Brownell, tycoon of teaching in these parts. Sam got the prize.

The same Dr. S. M. Brownell, gave the boys a short, interesting and common sense talk: In keeping with the nature of the times, he told them that there were three things they could do to make things easier for dad. First, to conduct themselves well, so dad would not have the burden of reports of bad conduct or delinquency. Second, to be studious and bring home reports of progress in their studies. And, third to refrain from asking dad for things that they did not actually need. By following these suggestions, he told them, they could take much of the load off dad, and make life pleasanter for him. After this address, Art Gnich, the President of the Club, with a heavy sigh got up and said "We will now be entertained." Upon which he introduced L. Carosello and son as the Versatile Artists. A versatile they are. Music, monologue, ventriloquism, sleight of hand tricks, etc., made up a wonderful program.

Where was that leader in Grosse Pointe Park Civic affairs, who got so enthusiastic over last year's Father and Son Dinner that he went out and adopted a son?

RKO Downtown Theatre

Having pre-viewed the first of the new 1932 talking screen productions, the RKO Downtown Theatre announces that it will return to its original policy of "all the show on the screen." This new policy goes into effect next Saturday, February 27th, with the opening of Constance Bennett's "Lady With a Past."

About a year ago Hollywood went into the doldrums of depression and even the most optimistic of theatre managers were forced to admit that the screen seemed to be in a slump. Now, however, it has returned to its habit of making successful screen entertainments and the producers are again requiring extended engagements in the signing of contracts.

Long run pictures cannot successfully be combined with vaudeville. After assuring itself that these new productions are worthy of two and three week engagements, RKO executives have contracted for the pictures and arranged for the RKO Downtown Theatre to revert back to its original policy. The exclusion of vaudeville, with its expensive headliners, will also permit the theatre to return to its original bargain scale of admission prices.

"Lady With a Past" starring Constance Bennett is the opening attraction of the new policy. It is a gay modern comedy strongly dashed with romance and played against colorful, fashionable backgrounds. For the 1st time in a considerable period Miss Bennett is not cast as the poor working girl or an erring sister who has fallen and been redeemed by love. She is cast as a fashionable member of a wealthy social set and is thoroughly lovely as well as convincing in the part. One big advantage of the new characterization, which all feminine fans will appreciate, is the opportunity it affords the star of wearing beautiful, modish costumes from the first scene to the last.

Threat to Civilization Seen by Writer in 1849 "All around us the world is convulsed by the agonies of great nations. Governments which lately seemed likely to stand during ages have been on a sudden shaken and overthrown. The proudest capitals of western Europe have streamed with civil blood. All evil passions, the thirst of gain and the thirst of vengeance, the antipathy of class to class, the antipathy of race to race, have broken loose from the control of divine and human laws. Fear and anxiety have clouded the faces and depressed the hearts of millions. Trade has been suspended, and industry paralyzed. The rich have become poor; and the poor have become poorer. Doctrines hostile to all sciences, to all arts, to all industry, to all domestic charities, doctrines which, if carried into effect, would, in 80 years, undo all that 80 centuries have done for mankind, and would make the fairest provinces of France and Germany as savage as Congo or Patagonia, have been avowed from the tribune and defended by the sword. . . . The truest friends of the people have with deep sorrow owned that interests more precious than any political privileges were in jeopardy, and that it might be necessary to sacrifice even liberty in order to save civilization."—Macaulay, "History of England, 1849.

Woodcut Designs Still Used to Stamp Fabrics Hand woodblocking, the oldest form of printing known, still survives in the modern mass production methods of the traditionally 8,000-year-old mehar textile industry. A group of artisans whose fathers and grandfathers before them were woodcut designers and carvers, are perpetuating the art at Sandford (Me.) mills, mohair velvet weavers. They work, uniquely, almost in the center of forests of clanging machinery, looms and spindles that line the four-mile-long aisles of the big ultra-modern mills. Their job is to keep on hand continuously more than 1,100 individual woodblock designs for application on mohair velvets as they come off the looms. Many of the woodblocks are highly decorative and detailed in design. They are stamped on the fabric by hand. Methods of handblock carving have changed little since their inception. Sometimes motorized dies are used to speed production, but many of the first type of tools are still used, and the personal handwork of the carver controls the artistry of design.

Shoes Denoted Rank About the year 40 A. D. the shoes of the wealthier classes were enriched with precious stones. The patricians wore ivory crescents on the instep to distinguish them from the lower ranks of people. An interesting explanation of the old phrase "heroes of the sock and buskin" received its origin at this time, notes a Vancouver (B. C.) paper. The actors of this period used to wear very large masks, so that the body appeared disproportionately small. To remedy this and to raise their stature in order to appear more commanding, a thick-soled boot was invented and called the buskin. This shoe was used, however, only in tragedy scenes; in comic scenes a shoe similar to the solea or slipper called the soccus was used.

Speechless With Surprise There's the case of the woman who had never won anything in a prize contest in her life, but bought a ticket for a certain radio raffle as a matter of habit. At the drawing her number was fished out of the box first and called by the announcer, but in the excitement of the moment the woman couldn't make her vocal cords work. She opened her mouth, but no sound came forth. The master of ceremonies called the number again and she made a further heroic effort to speak. Again the number was called, but she could summon forth no sound. So another number was drawn and the radio was awarded to some one else!—Chicago Evening Post.

Built Elaborate Homes During the height of Grecian prosperity, the Roman empire in the West was rapidly becoming powerful. The rise and fall of Rome extends approximately over the period of from 700 B. C., to 450 A. D. The Romans first constructed their private gardens from ideas obtained in Greece and Asia-Minor. These together with their own tendencies aided in developing the famous Italian gardens of today. The first elaborate country homes were built during the Roman rule and at this period landscape architecture became more advanced than at any previous time.

Reason for Scottish Thrift Scotland throughout its history has been a poor country. Its land, with small exceptions, was infertile, its climate bad, with long hard winters and short, frequently dry summers, and it has also, through its history, been the scene of much strife, both foreign and civil. To surmount such conditions a people must be of a more frugal, industrious and persevering habit, and the exercise of these virtues may at times have developed into a hardness and thrift which have been commented on unfavorably and undoubtedly much exaggerated. Subject to Change Life is what you make it until some body comes along and makes it worse.

Church of Christ Lochmoor, Mack Ave., near Lochmoor Blvd., Minister E. G. Rockliff. This congregation holds Divine Services in the old Cook Schoolhouse. Very few of these little red school buildings (which were so common a century ago) remain. In them the youth of that bygone day learned, "reading, writing and arithmetic, taught to the tune of a hickory stick." Compared with modern school buildings they look mean and contemptible and yet here was laid the foundation of the careers of men like George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Thomas A. Edison and Henry Ford. The old Cook School is beautifully situated in a grove of fine maple trees and is in a good state of preservation. It serves the above church admirably as a setting for the preaching of the old time gospel. Many of the churches in the New Testament met in private homes. Present day religion has too much frill and pomp and show. Its founder was a carpenter and did most of his preaching by the lakeshore and in the fields. We cordially invite you to third of a series of four sermons on "How Christians Should Be." Services will be held as follows: German at 9 a. m., English at 11:15 a. m.; Sunday School at 10:15 a. m. The Young People's Society will meet at 8 o'clock.
