WILLIAM F. DORN

$400 Raised by Band Concert For Welfare Relief in Township

By WILLIAM F. DORN
Estimated receipts of the band concert staged at the High school last week by the Catholic Boys and Girls of Detroit approximate $400, Edmund A. Vernier, Township Supervisor, announced this week. This sum, Mr. Vernier stated, would be expended for welfare relief work in the Township particularly for women and children in need.

Approximately 800 residents of Grosse Pointe, including a large number of the public officials of the Township and of the several villages attended the concert. Hearty applause greeted the numerous selections offered by the band which was under the direction of J. W. Guinan, assisted by Raymond Lenfestey.

The concert, sponsored by Mr. Vernier with the cooperation of all the public officials of the Township and the several villages, together with the valuable assistance of the police and fire departments of the several villages, was universally regarded as an outstanding success. The entertainment value was highly appreciated by the audience and the proceeds realized from the occasion will assist appreciably in welfare relief work.

Soloists on the program included Helen Leddy, Fern Demers and Josephine Bruce. A highlight on the program was the specialty act presented by Miss Alice Laquiere and her little sister Rachel. Singing and dancing by these two young ladies who, incidentally are residents of Grosse Pointe, featured their presentation.

Among the public officials present were Alfred Garska, president of the Park, James M. Rasmussen, Township Treasurer, Leo Testaert, trustee of the Village and Mr. Vernier.

Andrew T. Phillips Is Donor of Portrait of "Uncle George" Defer

The gift of a beautiful portrait of the late George Defer, who during his lifetime was numbered among Grosse Pointe's most outstanding residents, to the Grosse Pointe School district by Andrew T. Phillips, of 1100 Beaconsfield avenue, was announced this week. The painting, sketched by the well-known artist, W. Gresson has been a prized possession of Mr. Phillips and was formally presented to the School district early this week. It was in honor of the same George Defer that the elementary school at Kercheval avenue and Balfour road was named.

Mr. Phillips' gift painting will be displayed in the corridor of the Defer school in the near future, it is expected. It is valued at approximately $400 by Mr. Phillips.

Andrew T. Phillips is known among Grosse Pointe residents as the "dean" of constables due to his long service in the office of constable to which the electorate of Grosse Pointe has returned him by substantial majorities at the annual elections. Next Monday, March 7, he is again a candidate for re-election as a constable for Grosse Pointe Township.

During his lifetime, George Defer was known among the school children as "Uncle George" and to this day, children enrolled in the Defer school revere the memory of their "Uncle George."

This writer offers as his humble opinion and conviction that William F. Dorn, the candidate on the Democratic ticket possesses these qualifications and would ably fulfill the duties of this office.

The re-election of Constable Gordon was urged by William J. Brennan, president of the Detroit and Wayne County Constables Club.

Three boys were the only students in Grosse Pointe high school to achieve all "A" grades for their first semester's work. Miss Mary I. Rasey, director of parental guidance in the Detroit public schools, will address the Parent-Teachers' Association of Trombley school, Grosse Pointe, at 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening, March 8, in the school auditorium.

Miss Rasey will give the third of a series of four addresses concerning the child before adolescence.

"One of the most serious things that has come out of the present situation is the attitude of some people who think that by withholding tax payments they can reduce the cost of government," Carl H. Chatters, director of the municipal advisory council, told members of the Grosse Pointe faculty at a meeting at the Mason school on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Chatters pointed out that governments generally are facing a financial crisis due to the fact that their incomes have decreased below their expenditures.

"You are fortunate here," Mr. Chatters told the teachers in speaking of the financial condition of the Grosse Pointe schools in comparison with that of neighboring districts.

The inequality of educational opportunities of children due to the accident of the residence of their parents is a condition which Mr. Chatters feels should have adjustment, probably through state direction.

The meeting Tuesday was one of a series of monthly meetings of the teachers devoted to a discussion of civic problems. An inspection of exhibits in the Mason school and a reception by Mason teachers preceded the address by Mr. Chatters.

Wanted No Speech With Her

Giles had never been in London before, and had never used the telephone.

He felt strange and lonely amidst the roar and bustle of the traffic, so seeing a public telephone box and having heard of the wonders of this invention, he entered the box, and, taking down the receiver, demanded speech with his wife.

The operator's voice came back. "Number, please?"

"Oh," replied Giles, "ma second 'un, please." Then he added in sudden horror, "For Heaven's sake, don't give me the first."—London Tit-Bits.

Change of Heart

Mary Ann had been anxiously looking forward to a visit from her grand mother and for the first few days after her arrival they were on most friendly terms. But when the mother went shopping and left Mary Ann in her grandmother's care, Mary Ann disobeyed and was made to sit in her rocking chair for half an hour to deliberate on her misbehavior. She kept perfectly quiet for the first fifteen minutes and watched her grandmother intently. Then in a consoling voice, in a half whisper, she said: "Well, I never did like to have outsiders visit us, anyway."

Uses of a Hobby

One fine thing about a hobby is that one never knows where it will end or where it may lead. Many a man has pursued a hobby so zealously that eventually it became his vocation, leading on to fame, fortune and whatnot. But that is accidental and exceptional. The primary purpose of a hobby is to introduce a side-interest to life and impart a zest that otherwise is usually lacking. What the hobby happens to be is of lesser importance. And there are so many available hobbies—thousands and thousands of them.—Exchange.

Precious Metals in Use

as Standards of Value

The gold standard is the measure of values in a monetary system; in other words, if we wish to compare the values of certain articles, we say that one is worth so much gold, another is worth more gold, another less, etc. Before the invention of money, all exchange was by barter or trade. In the early history of this country, such objects as wampum, shells, salt, tobacco and beaver skins were used as token money. Gold and silver were selected as the standards of value for several reasons; their value is large in proportion to weight, they are easily carried and non-perishable, and, especially in the case of gold, their values change but little from year to year. The nations of the ancient world used both gold and silver as standards for their coins, then from the Seventh to the Thirteenth century the double standard was in general use, then Great Britain and later the United States and other nations adopted the gold standard. In this country the gold standard implies no restriction on gold imports or exports, the redemption of currency in gold coin, and the coinage by the mint of all gold offered it. Britain abandoned the gold standard, this involving the abandonment of some of these.

American Gardens and Homes Both Distinctive

About 1100 A. D., the Crusaders entered Byzantium and the Holy land and carried many ideas back to the countries of central Europe. The Persians and Arabians likewise carried the Byzantine influences to their respective countries. From this the Arabs developed a type of landscape architecture very different from previous styles. Their ideas were carried by them to the countries of northern Africa and by the Moors to Spain, where many famous gardens were made. These all had a touch of oriental design.

The American Colonists found no gardens in this country when they landed. They brought with them ideas from England which were influenced by the necessity of growing their own fruits and vegetables. Their desire for ornamental plantings was inherited from their English ancestors and this desire has now grown to the extent that the United States is outstanding in its development of small home gardens. The growth of these gardens has kept pace with the increase in population, and the construction of homes and the style, well influenced by many others in past centuries, has become truly and distinctively American.

Mysterious Grave

The chamber of commerce of Gary, Ind., says that it believes the grave which lies near Gary in the middle of the steel plants is that of one Andreas Zirngibl, which lies within the city limits of Chicago on the main highway between Gary and that city. Mr. Zirngibl is said to have owned large tracts of land on the southern shores of Lake Michigan which was considered in his time as waste land. When he died he willed that his remains be buried in this land and that it never be disturbed. Although the will is said to have been broken, the grave still remains in its original place, almost entirely surrounded by industry. The dates on the crude headstone are, Born 1707, died 1855, and it bears a legend in German.

Measurement Systems

The sexagesimal system of circular measurement has been in existence from a very early period. It was used by the early Greek mathematicians. Their influence was so great that all the medieval astronomers and mathematicians, Christian, Jewish and Mohammedan, used the same system. When a particular form of measurement has become established through the ages there is always reluctance in making a change, because of the confusion that would be involved; calculations would have to be changed and existing text books, tables and reference books would be out of date.

Uses Wings in Water

The water ouzel, or dipper, as it is commonly called, is a bird that uses its wings under water in exactly the same manner as when flying through the air. The birds are much like the thrush and walk along the bottom of streams in search of food. While they are thus submerged, they must make constant use of their wings to keep down, for their bodies are so light that they would immediately come to the top otherwise. When they do come to the surface the water rolls from their feathers and they are perfectly dry. They are not webfooted, but they swim on the surface with perfect ease.

Yo Ed's Explanation

The fellows who poke fun at that little meerschaum pipe which we have dug up after years of disuse may be interested in learning that a philosopher of considerable discrimination says he don't think he ever heard of a crook who smoked a pipe and doubted that anybody ever planned a murder or a holdup while smoking a pipe. Now, that's consoling and takes away some of the smack of ridicule which our friends have been using in their efforts to determine whether we are practicing economy in our smoking or just "putting on" with the jimmy pipe.—Aitchison County Mail.

Columnist Requires No Special Place for "His"

Where a few more or less well-known Pittsburghers carry the bank-roll (names withheld for the sake of their dependents): A prominent musician carries his in an old-fashioned snag purse, which he always opens at arms' length to let the moths escape!

The town's most colorful gambler packs his, which is big enough to require a rubber band, loose in a trousers pocket. Another has built-in pockets along the belt band of "his jeans and in his vest, which hold a "last stake" in case of emergency.

A political figure of the Hill district is said to start the day with $10 in quarters loose in a coat pocket. By evening he has dispensed them all to impetuous followers who park on his trail. An ex-pugilist carries his "paper" in a shoe.

Fatness a Requisite for Business Success?

I have heard of many secrets of success and have tried quite a share of them to no avail, but until recently I remained innocent of the fact that an inability to get fat may keep a good man down. Then a handsome young man of lithe and supple figure confessed to me his great desire to add 50 or 100 pounds to his weight as a stepping stone to commercial advancement.

"In my business," he complained, "all of the bosses are fat fellows. They look at me and I can see them saying to themselves: 'He's too thin to be much good.' I am, as a matter of fact, very good indeed, far better than my bosses realize, but I'll never have an even chance until I acquire more weight."—Baltimore Sun.

Seaweed as Food

Seaweed (dulse) was chewed in Scotland before tobacco took its place, says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society. (Now Scotch and Irish cooks use it to thicken and give a red color to soup. Botted laver in England, also known as sloke in Ireland and slack in Scotland, is a palatable cooked seaweed. Japanese seaweed "plantations" produce from $150 to $300 worth of seaweed per acre. Kombu and amanori are two of the chief seaweed products which have figured largely in the development of the Japanese seaweed industry. In Osaka there are 45 kombu factories. Sliced kombu is cooked with meat and soups and served with vegetables. Powdered kombu is an ingredient of sauces and soups and rice dishes, while kombu leaves make a popular Japanese tea.

Editorial Advancement

"There is an improvement in the American newspaper press upon which we look with a favorable eye—the employment of talented men as conductors," noted the Onondaga (N. Y.) Register 100 years ago. "But a few years have elapsed since the business of a newspaper editor was deemed that of a mere compiler, and he who was the most expert with scissors was deemed the most competent. Now the case is different, and the editorial chairs of some of our gazettes are filled by men of the first standing and ability, while the pens of jurists and statesmen of high rank are not considered as disgraced by being occasionally employed in contributing to their columns."—Detroit News.

Taking Precautions

During the conversation the question of superstitions arose. "Of course, I never walk under a ladder," avowed Mrs. Smith. "I think that's the unluckiest thing." "But how absurd!" put in Mrs. Wilson. "Why I walk under every ladder I meet! I just cross my heart, and cross my fingers, and I make sure that I have a piece of wood to touch; and when I have passed under the ladder I turn in my tracks three times. You see, it's simple, and if you do that every time you walk under a ladder you'll be perfectly safe. I really can't stand these silly superstitions."—Stray Stories.

East Indian Traits

Amazing as it seems, even East Indian doctors who have studied in European universities and Indian nurses who have been trained in European hospitals sink back into the unbounded filth and foulness of the Orient if they chance to be stationed in some remote spot where they are out of touch with European methods. This is the only explanation why the water of the Ganges not only is drunk by believers at a moment of ecstasy but is considered a sovereign remedy and invaluable cure, and is shipped all over India.—Exchange.

It was a warm December day. Joan wished to remove her shoes and go outside. The mother compromised by permitting her to run about the house in her bare feet, saying that it was not as warm outside as it looked. Joan retorted: "Now, mother, there is no use to 'gargle' the matter with me, for I know summer has come."

CAPABLE --- FEARLESS -- EFFICIENT

Primaries March 7th, 1932

By WM. G. WIEDBUSCH

Hello Fellows:

Some day this column may carry in it the entire Code of Ethics of the Lions Club of Grosse Pointe. For the moment may it suffice to quote the second from the last paragraph of this Code, i. e., "To aid my fellow men by giving my sympathy to those in distress, my aid to the weak, and my substance to the needy." In keeping with the spirit of this sentiment the Good Fellow Fund, so called, of the Club was started. Three years ago, in November 1929, the first funds were raised by the sale of this paper and have been replenished each year in the same manner. Many thanks are due to the people of Grosse Pointe communities who so generously contributed and helped to make these Good Fellow Newspaper sales successful year after year, and in justice to them, let us recite a few instances of worth while activity. Several months ago it was brought to the attention of one of our members, a popular civic leader of the Village of Grosse Pointe Park, that a family had been evicted from a furnished apartment and were destitute. Upon investigation he found a woman, baby in arms, seated on a soap box, who did not know where she would find shelter for the approaching night. Diligent inquiry around the neighborhood revealed a vacant building that had been used as a private automobile garage and permission for its temporary occupancy without charge was obtained from the owner. A stove and fuel were bought, and from a nearby storage warehouse enough of the necessary household equipment was obtained at a nominal cost. Thus was a case of extreme urgency relieved. Two cases of where surgical aid and hospital service were imperative, were successfully taken care of through the influence of members of the club by Dr. W. J. Nesbit and Dr. D. J. Light-houser respectively, without cost, and the Good Fellow Fund of the Club paid the hospital and nursing costs. Under the able supervision of Miss Brownlee of the Neighborhood Club a great deal of charitable work has been done. In the last two months sixty pair of shoes and seventeen pairs of galoshes were bought, mostly for school children; a hunchbacked and crippled girl was fitted with orthopedic shoes to enable her to attend school; nursing care was furnished for the mother of four small children, where the father was ill and the mother broke down under the strain of caring for them; clothing has been bought for school children, supplementing the work of the Needle Work Guild; work has been found for men and women; rent paid and groceries furnished in large number of instances.

In the meeting of February 25, 1932, Robt. L. Butts, of Grosse Pointe Post No. 303, American Legion, spoke of the splendid work the Legion is doing in finding jobs for the unemployed. He said that some 86,000 jobs have been found, of which about 2,500 were in Detroit and it environs, and offered the help of the Post in working with the Club in its Welfare work.

An instructive and entertaining film of the life of George Washington was shown at the meeting, through the courtesy of the Board of Education employees.

Chuck Marden was back at the meeting after an absence of two months. Geo. Ingram was absent for the first time in many weeks, and for some reason registered his excuse at the Coffee Shop in Fort Shelby Hotel. And where is Fred Kopp? He hasn't been around for weeks and weeks.

principles of Justice and with an understanding of the social problems of the community in which I have been a resident for the past several years. This I would do to the best of my ability.

"It would be a pleasure to work zealously in discharging the duties and responsibilities of the office of Justice of the Peace competently that I may merit the trust that would be mine at the will of the residents of Grosse Pointe Township.

"It is my sincere hope and wish that residents alert to their duties as a citizen and cherishing their voting franchise will exercise their cardinal privilege in the greatest numbers possible next Monday."

Mr. Dorn is a graduate of the Detroit College of Law, holding an LL.B. degree. He attended the Arts and Science College of the University of Detroit for several years and later the Law School completed advance law subjects in a post graduate course. He is engaged in active law practice in his own firm of Byron & Dorn, with offices in the Penobscot building. He is an active member of the Detroit Bar Association, being a member of the Association's Editorial committee.

Previous to taking up the practice of law and while completing his law studies, he was actively engaged in social service work in Detroit and spent several years in newspaper work in Detroit in various executive capacities.

In the last State election, Mr. Dorn, a candidate for State Representative from the First District which includes Grosse Pointe Township, received the endorsement of the Michigan Moderation League. He was a candidate on the official "wet slate" of that organization and other allied anti-prohibition groups. He is married and has a daughter. His residence is at 690 St. Clair avenue.

Work of Many Inventors

Electric meters were devised early in the development of electricity by numerous inventors and are of three different kinds. The earliest type of ampere-hour meter was the Edison zinc-sulphate electrolytic meter, but the trouble of reading it caused it soon to be replaced by mechanical meters. A large number of such have been invented, as those by Ferranti, Elihu Thomson, S. Evershed, Chamberlain, Hookham and others.

Still a Mystery

A magazine prints a symposium on "Why is an old bachelor?" An old bachelor represents either supreme wisdom or supreme disappointment. Which it is, all the wisdom of the world has not yet been able to settle.

Evolution Theory

People who believe in evolution do not contend that man is descended from the monkey. The modern theory of evolution states that man and the anthropoid ape are derived from a common ancestor.

Best Time of Life

Only the middle-aged are actually current. The old look back and the young look forward.—American Magazine.

From the Greek

The term "gas" was invented by the chemist Van Helmont of Brussels, who died in 1644. He applied it to a supposed vapor produced from water by cold. Its form was suggested to him by the Greek word chaos.

Affections in Same Class

That old theory that a common cow, killed by a railway locomotive, had a value far in excess of what she was worth on the hoof seems related in some way to the high price placed on alienated affections.—Toledo Blade.

Vegetables Make Silk
Although most artificial silk fabric is made of wood pulp, it can also be made from cabbages, bananas or any other vegetable matter from which cellulose is obtained.

Imagination
The word "empathy" expresses the ability to project oneself into an imaginary situation or the situation of some one else and undergo the sensations believed to be connected with it.

His Limit
"What do you think of the proposed thirteen-month calendar, Jones?" "Not in favor of it. Twelve rent days a year are all I can stand."—Boston Transcript.

Words Most Used
Although there are 450,000 live words, the, of, that, it, I, is, and, to, a, and in comprises 25 per cent of all the words used in spoken and written communications.

Old Expression

The earliest use in America of the expression "United we stand; divided we fall," was in Dickinson's "Liberty Song," first published in the Boston Gazette on July 18, 1768. The thought expressed in the lines, however, is much older and may be found in the early Roman poems.

Jiu-Jitsu's Origin

The origin of jiu-jitsu is uncertain. It is attributed by some to a Japanese physician who learned the rudiments of the art in China. Others claim that it was in common use in Japan centuries before this time. Most are agreed that Jiu-Jitsu originated in China, but that the Japanese have modified it greatly.

Dog's Long Swim

After being swept into the sea from a steam drifter in the vicinity of Elgg, Scotland, an albatross dog swam seven miles to shore, where it was taken care of by a woman doctor. The grateful animal was afterward returned to its owner, a fisherman, with the Loxmouth fishing fleet.

"Padded" Thieves

A footpad is an ancient word of humble origin, according to an article in London Tit-Bits. At least four centuries ago thieves called the highway the pad (vagrants still pad the hoof), and a mounted highwayman was a prancing padder. One was operated on foot was a foot-padder.

No "Noble" Americans

Section 9 of article I of the Constitution says: "No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States." In pre-Revolutionary days, the lord proprietor of Maryland had authority to grant nobiliary titles, but no other American authority ever has had or exercised such a right.

Business Review

By J. C. MYERS

"FOREWARD"—A review of some of the Leading and Progressive Concerns of our community and Detroit, including Contractors, Builders and Community Boosters, who have the best interests of our city at heart, and are always boosting for a greater and better city in which to live.

Sterling Coal Co. "A Yard Near You"

It is not an accident that more and more of the householders and business men of this city are turning to the Sterling Coal Company for their fuel problems. The efficiency of the firm's requirements, and the solution of its service is so evident and the quality of its reputation is so well known that they have not only won for the company the public's confidence, but a position of undisputed preeminence in its line.

Honest weight, prompt delivery and courteous service are among those things which the public has come to take for granted in its dealings with the Sterling Coal Company. But behind these high standards which have been set, there is to be seen by the close observer the sound policies and exceptional ability of its executives. They know the fuel business from every angle; and by watching the markets and taking advantage of favorable buying opportunities, it is safe to assert that they have saved their patrons thousands of dollars.

The great majority of people just order coal without securing definite information as to the kind that is best suited to their individual needs, with the result that about one-fourth of all coal that is mined, is wasted. To reduce this loss as it applies to its patrons has long been a policy of the Sterling Coal Company. It makes it a point to give every assistance possible to those who feel they are not getting the best results from their fuel and heating equipment. It is always willing to consult with engineers and private householders concerning their problems, advising them as to the proper kind and quality of fuel to use, to obtain the maximum heat or power for the minimum price.

The customers of the Sterling Coal Company are its best friends and it is a singular tribute to the business integrity of the firm that year after year these same customers place their return orders with them. More than that, the pleasure that they experience in dealing with the company customarily induces them to express their satisfaction to friends and neighbors, many of whom are also quickly numbered among the firm's patrons.

Not self interest, but the best interest of the consumer has induced the company to encourage the summertime buying of coal on the part of those who are financially able to do so. Large users of steam coal always store their supply in the summer. This plan, which is becoming more and more popular with the home user, is of immeasurable benefit to everyone in the industry, in time keeps prices at a lower level.

In addition to its main office and yards at 6650 Kercheval avenue, the firm maintains branch yards situated at strategic points over the city. All its yards are modernly equipped and have every up-to-date convenience to facilitate the handling of its coal as well as to minimize the hazards and labors of its employees. That they are among the largest and best stocked of any in Detroit goes without saying.

Their Service Department, is in charge of a licensed engineer, who will inspect your furnace and recommend the proper fuel to burn. This service saves money for you and makes your home more comfortable. Their delivery men are careful. They leave no evidence of dirt or dust in your house or on your premises. Thirty years of experience and honest service is your assurance of satisfaction.

The success of the Sterling Coal Company proves that a good firm rendering a good service invariably makes for itself a place in the public favor.

Louis A. DeHayes is president and treasurer and Arthur Nieper is secretary. For good coal or coke, call Fitzroy 4380, and you will find "A Yard Near You."

E. J. Tapert Service Stations

The name of E. J. Tapert among our community's automobile owners is recognized as a guarantee of honest dealings and prompt service in supplying of gasoline, automobile tires, batteries, and repairs. The six years that Mr. Tapert has been in business on East Jefferson Avenue, at Lakewood and also at Alter road, is ample proof of satisfactory service. He handles Goodrich Silvertown Tires, Willard Batteries, and does tire repairing and battery recharging.

Richardson Boot Shop

We wish to call attention to the general public that the Richardson Boot Shop, located at 14318, East Jefferson Avenue, (next to Sanders) is one of the community's recent new retail establishments. Their prices are reasonable and you are assured of high grade footwear that will give you service, comfort and style as well. Specializing in children's health shoes.

Martin & Krausman Co. Building Contractors

They know the quickest and most practical way to handle any job, large or small. By calling Randolph 9865, you can rest assured that your contracting problems will be properly and inexpensively solved. All work that this company undertakes will be backed with their personal guarantee to render complete satisfaction. Let the Martin & Krausman Company start planning your work for you today.

Landis Shoe Shop Moves

Landis Shoe Repairing & Hat Shop is now located at 13221 East Jefferson Avenue, a few doors west of their old address, which was 13245. Only high-class work is done by a shoemaker of twenty-two years' experience. All machinery of latest type is installed to give you good work. This is the only shop that specializes in guaranteed cement sole work on the East Side. They do blocking and cleaning of hats, and have a shoe-shining parlor in connection.

The Village Tavern Home Cooking

If you crave a real good old-fashioned delicious home-cooked meal where you can eat the best food at prices you won't mind paying (even if you have to go out of your way), then patronize the Village Tavern. It is located at 14831 East Jefferson Avenue, at Alter Road (in the Peter Platte Building). They serve special luncheons and dinners at popular prices including short orders and sandwiches of all kinds. Their special noon-day luncheons (full course) cannot be duplicated by any restaurant in the city. During the Lenten season, they are serving many Lent specials. Their service is prompt and their prices are always moderate. Give the Village Tavern a trial.

Grosse Pointe Market Now in New Location

The Grosse Pointe Market which was formerly located at 14934-40 Kercheval Avenue, is now in larger and better quarters at 16117 Mack Avenue (in the Devonshire Market). They invite their many old customers who patronized them at their old address to come and see them in the Mack Avenue store. Their stock consists of fruits, vegetables, groceries, meats, delicatessen and baked goods. Each department is in charge of experienced clerks and you are assured of prompt service at all times. Everything is sold at low prices and their stock is always up-to-date and fresh. Give them your business and become one of their regular satisfied customers.

Idea From Frenchman?

This country got the idea of a tripartite government probably, from Montesquieu, whose books were very popular in the Colonies. He was the first to introduce the tripartite idea and define the advantages of the separation of the executive, legislative and judicial functions.—Washington Star.

Quick With Scissors

Many of the silhouette cutters who made a name for themselves were extraordinarily quick with the scissors. It took Hubbard only twenty seconds to cut his shades and William Henry Brown merely looked at his subject for a minute and then proceeded to cut one of his famed outlines.

Appropriate Nickname

The name "The Tall Sycamore of the Wabash" was given to the late Daniel Voorhees, senator from Indiana, owing to his great height and erect bearing.

Relic of Confederacy
A Confederate flag fashioned from red calico, strips torn from white petticoats and Dutch blue cloth and containing eleven badly shaped stars is in the State museum at Little Rock, Ark. The flag contains only three stripes, two red and one white. Written on the white stripe was the inscription "Go and the Lord be with thee."

Steel Production
Steel is made from pig iron by first burning out the impurities and then adding known amounts of other elements, such as carbon. There are many varieties of steel, each having different characteristics, as, for instance, high tensile strength, elasticity, extreme hardness, etc.

Cost of Carelessness
The Post Office department expends about $2,000,000 annually on the postal directory service, whose business it is to search city directories and other authorities in order to correct and complete improperly addressed mail.

Legionnaires Dance

The Post Office department expends about $2,000,000 annually on the postal directory service, whose business it is to search city directories and other authorities in order to correct and complete improperly addressed mail.

If the school officials approve the plan, arrangements will be made to have five well-known Legionnaires address the children on "Honor," "Courage," "Scholarship," "Leadership," and "Service." Among the speakers will be found some of the out-standing leaders of the Legion, nationally, and locally as well as prominent civic leaders.

As the post is new and its activities limited, the program this year will, with the approval of the school activities, be limited to students of the Junior High School. There will be a suitable award both for boys and girls. These will be made on the basis of the subjects outlined above on the basis of 20 per cent each.

Until the meeting of the Grosse Pointe Post, the American Legion on Wednesday, March 2nd, the Post had been operating on a temporary charter and under a temporary name.

Although there was some sentiment in the Post to permanently name it after some individual or individuals, it was decided that the name "Grosse Pointe Post" would be retained, thereby honoring all of the citizens of the home community for their sympathetic interest in the men who served in 1917 and 1918 and who continue to serve in these "trying times of peace" for the welfare of the entire community.

The Post is taking an active interest in and is working in close harmony with state and county Legion officials in carrying on the great Employment Campaign. This effort to secure employment for those needing work is not confined to members of the Legion but is open to all deserving citizens.

Marked Changes Noted in Mistletoe Customs

Ancient Theater
 Pompeii's theater is variously stated as seating 10,000, 17,000 and 40,000. It was erected by the great Pompeii and completed in 52 B. C. It was the first stone theater in Rome, and had a marble interior. It finally collapsed in the Sixth century, A. D.

Death Punishment
 The only crimes for which capital punishment may now be inflicted, according to the law of England, are high treason and murder. By United States statutes nine crimes may be so punished, including treason, murder, arson, rape, piracy and robbery of the mail.

Fear of New Things
 Probably the greatest terror among primitive people is the sheer panic of the new and the unfamiliar.

Sun's Obscurations
 There are usually two or three eclipses of the sun, every year, visible from various part of the earth.

Wood Curiosity Common
 Petrified wood occurs at other places in Arizona as well as in the northeastern part. It is found in New Mexico, and there are many trees, some upright, in the eastern part of the Yellowstone National park.

Mice His Hobby
 Searching all over the world for rare mice is the unusual hobby of a young man, who has discovered innumerable types ranging from the size of rats down to less than one inch and a quarter in length.

Ticket of Infamy
 In Russia Jews and Jewesses were confined to the "Pale of Settlement." If any Jewish woman was willing to be registered as a prostitute, she was given a "yellow ticket" and permitted free and unrestricted residence throughout the empire.

Modernism
 The sweetest words in this day and age are—"Hurrah! That's the last payment and now it's ours."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

About Ourselves
 Since we are exposed to inevitable sorrows, wisdom is the art of finding compensation.

Derivation Unknown
 Pigskin gloves are made from the skins of wild pigs, such as the peccary of the southwestern United States and Mexico. The bramble scratches on these gloves are supposed to be an indication that the skins are actually from wild animals.

 gruelling contest and at the end of ten rounds Stribling was a battered and badly beaten contender for further heavyweight aspirations. Schaaf took a couple or more rounds to locate Stribling's left hand. From then on with his advantage of twenty pounds he banged away from every angle until the final bell.

That Jack Dempsey will ever be able to make a comeback of sufficient strength to wrest the heavyweight title from Max Schmelling is doubtful. The field is open for much new heavy-weight material, but little, if any, of a change in the heavyweight crown for 1932.

Bluebird II owned and driven by Sir Malcolm Campbell, failed to make its contemplated record of 260 miles, the best mileage being approximately 254 miles per hour. A great deal of credit is due to these sportsmen, not alone in auto speeding but also water and aircraft racing for speed breaking records.

Japan seems to have bitten off more than she can chew and undoubtedly long ere this has found out that the so-called scraps of paper which she has ignored, and thrown to the four winds will come back as a boomerang, much to her grief and despair. The stubborn resistance affected by a united China with threatenings of a possible invasion by Russia together with the attitude of other nations make a dismal outlook for the warlords of Japan. It is to be hoped that the diplomatic relations of the League of Nations at Geneva will bring about a peaceable agreement between all nations involved.

"Buy a Baby Bond"—will be the next government issue, sometime this month. In denominations from fifty dollars up it will be the patriotic duty of every citizen to take as many of these bonds as possible.

The American Legion steps to the front with the "give a job" program which has resulted in many thousands being placed to work. This effort is not only a credit but a splendid example of what united effort means throughout the length and breadth of our land. The re-echo of the martial tread of 1917, has again stimulated the spirit of cooperation among the Legionnaires.
