Hammond Kin Clash in Polo Tilt Next Sunday on Cook Rd.

Polo enthusiasts will see a high grade of polo when Hillwood and the Olympia Fields team of Chicago mix at the Cook road field, Mack and Seven-Mile road, this Sunday at 3:30 p. m. The visiting team will carry a six-goal handicap and in view of the usual speed of the local Hillwood aggregation the game should be one of the fastest and best played in Grosse Pointe this season.

A total of seven Hammonds will take part in the game. George, Fred, John, and Ted, with Tom as substitute, form the regular lineup of Hillwood. These boys are sons of Edward P. Hammond. The visitors offer Bud Hammond at number 1 and Stephen Hammond at number 3, sons of General Thomas S.

The fathers of these boys played coliege football together and were room mates at Michigan 1903-6. Their sons hold no brief for football, but rather have selected polo and are well on the way to make as great names for themselves in this sport as the older Hammonds did at football.

The Hillwood team returned from its victorious conquest of the Cavaliers and the Detroit Polo association team last week to take second in a roundrobin with Grosse Pointe. Lochmoor placed third. Scores were: Grosse Pointe 8, Hillwood 7, Lochmoor 1.

Village Ordinance

On August 18 in Grosse Pointe Village an ordinance recently passed by the council prohibiting the circulation, distribution or scattering of circulars, handbills, advertising cards or loose paper in the Village will become effective.

Violators of this ordinance will be subject to a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $100 and costs of prosecution, or by imprisonment in the County jail for a period not exceeding 90 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Farms Takes Sixth Consecutive Victory; Play Next Sunday

Grosse Pointe Farms team won its sixth straight game last Sunday by defeating the Tiger Athletic Club 5 to 4. Going into the ninth with all even, the Farms' boys had no trouble retiring their opponents behind the brilliant pitching of Rineholz.

The one feature of the game was the nice hit made by Rineholtz in the ninth, driving in Van Hoet who also singled and brought in the winning run. Next Sunday the Farms plays another fast Colored aggregation at Kerby field at 3 p. m. Come out,

Old Piratical Haunt

St. Thomas was once the home of two great pirate chiefs. One was called Blackbeard, because his beard was so black. And the other was Bluebeard, because his beard was blacker than black. It is a tower of crumbling stone, haunted, they say. with the ghosts of pirates bold and their lights of love.

Breaking' Game 6 to 5

Grosse Pointe Merchants lost a heart breaking game to the Huron County Club last Sunday by the score of 6 to 5, the boys from the Thunb dissolving a five-run lead of the Merchants, holding them scoreless for the last three innings while they gathered six counters to win.

Five hits and a hase on balls, aided by a stolen base and a wild pitch gave the Merchants a four-oun lead in the fifth inning. A single, an error and a two-bagger added aother tally in the Four Huron singles, accelerated with an error and two bases on balls, tied matters in the lucky seventh. A threepagger and an error in the eighth put the Pointers on the small end of the

Although the game is over, there is a possibility that the umpire miscalled one to start the Merchants' half of the ninth when he waved King away from first base on a throw from deep short. If the decision had been otherwise the coming Excursion game would have been tied up and the 60-40 changed to read 40-60. It was moved by Mr. Windisch, supported by Mr. Coffelt, that the budget for the library for the year 1932-33 be set at $14,297.00. Unanimously adopted.

It was moved by Alfriede V. Gruzhit, supported by J. M. Fee, that the salary for Trustees for the coming year be Two Hundred ($200.00) dollars, and that the salary for the Treasurer for the coming year be One Thousand ($1,000.00) dollars.

The following statement was made by Mr. Strickland concerning the salary for the Treasurer: Mr. President, there has been a great deal said regarding the salaries paid the various trustees in the various positions and I have always understood that as the Board became better organized that a number of their duties were being thrown on to the Superintendent and his staff and for that reason it was not necessary for the Treasurer to spend so much of his time as heretofore and before voting on the question of the proposed salary for the Treasurer, I think it would be well to hear from the President or someone as to just what the duties of the Treasurer are." Mr. Parcells in reply stated: "The Treasurer is and must be a person under considerable bond. This bond is paid for it is true by the district by the tax moneys raised in the district. It is however a very responsible position. I think it is true that the Treasurer at the present time does not have as much detail work as there was perhaps 5 or 10 years ago. On the other hand I think there is a great deal more responsibility attached to the position at the present time. I think it would be quite favorable to leave the Treasurer's salary as is unless the electors desire a general cut in all salaries of the school trustees.

A Yea and Nay vote was called for and the motion was unanimously approved. Treasurer Poupard then gave his report for the last fiscal year.

Pilgrims Ascend Mount

St. Patrick Made Famous One of the most unusual of all pilgrimages is that made annually to the mountain-top shrine of St. Patrick on the high, bare, cone-shaped mountain which hears his name and which overlooks Clew bay, County Mayo, on the west coast of Ireland.

According to tradition it was from this mountain that St. Patrick drove all the serpents from Ireland into the

The pilgrimage up the side of the holy mountain, where St. Patrick spent the 40 days of Lent in penance, fasting and präyer, 1,500 years ago, begins on Saturday evening any time between six o'clock and midnight.

Torchlights are carried by many to light the way and guard against precipitous falls. Often the crowd breaks into a hymn to make the walking easier or to help them to forget the difficulty of trudging over stony paths. For the climb up the last 200 yards before reaching the summit the pilgrims remove their shoes and finish the journey barefooted. Many of the more religious make the entire climb without foot protection.

St. Patrick was seventy years old when he first climbed the mountain. Now many a pilgrim of the same age makes the journey, taking a keen pride in this imitation of a part of the rigid Lenten penance of the patron saint

Devil Worshipers Must

Not Mention His Name A strange tribe of Yezidi "devil worshipers" has been discovered in the mountains of Iraq by Dr. Edmund A. Walsh, vice president of the Georgetown university. "This tribe," he said, "worships the evil spirit under the name of 'Melek Taus' symbolized by a bronze peacock, before which they offer incense, sing, dance and prostrate themselves. Their history goes back at least to the

World's Silver Output

All the silver mined in the world since man began to use the metal would make a cube only 115 feet on a side. This is no mean quantity, however, for it would pave an avenue 144 feet wide 6 inches deep for four miles.

It is estimated that the amount of silver mined in the world since 1492 is about 15,000,000,000 fine ounces, and of that amount, 40 per cent has been obtained in the last 30 years.

The May marriage season in India is one of the biggest factors in the movement of silver in the world. The metal is used in large quantities for bridal ornaments that become the "rainy day" fund of the family, Revolutionary Hero Benjamin Stoddert, the secretary of the navy, who also was secretary of war, died at Bladensburg, Md., and was buried in the churchyard of the Addison chapel, Church of St. Matthew's, Prince George county, Md. He died December 18, 1813, aged sixty-two years. He had served in the Revolutionary war with the rank of major, but was so severely wounded at the battle of the Brandywine that he was compelled to retire. He was born in Charles county, Md., and did a mercantile business at the ports of Bladensburg and Georgetown.

Army Distinction Badge More than 150 years ago General Washington wrote the general order establishing the Purple Heart as a badge of distinction in our army. The badge was to foster and encourage every species of military merit and reward not only instances of unusual gallantry, but also of extraordinary fidelity and essential service. Those to whom it was awarded were permitted to wear on the facings over the left breast the figure of a heart in purple cloth or silk, edged with a narrow lace or binding.

Trees That Whistle

In Barbadoes there is a valley with trees which bear pods with an open edge, and as the wind blows through these it causes a most uncanny note. There is another kind of whistling tree in the Sudan. Insects which infest it cause gails, and when the crea tures emerge they leave a circular hole, converting the hollow gall into a musical instruments on which the wind plays.

No Knowledge of First English Poet Laureate

There is no authentic record of the origin of the office of poet laureate of England; it is said to have been created during the reign of Edward IV (1461-1483), though earlier than this date, during the reign of Henry III (1216-1272), there was a king's poet who was paid 100 shillings a year. Geoffrey Chaucer, who lived from 1328 to 1400, assumed the title of poet laureate, and in 1389 received a royal grant of a yearly allowance of wine. But the first poet laureate in the modern sense was Edmund Spenser, who was granted a pension of £50 by Queen Elizabeth in 1591. Ben Jonson was the first to receive the office by formal letters-patent. The appellation is derived from a custom of the English universities. which continued until 1512, of presenting a laurel leaf to graduates in rhetoric and versification—the "King's Laureate" being a graduate rhetorician in the service of the king. It was formerly the duty of the poet laureate to write an ode on the birthday of the king, but this custom was discontinued in the reign of George III.

Maoris Firm in Belief

That "Tiki" Brings Luck Although the Maoris are becoming civilized to an extent where they can send intelligent representatives to the New Zealand parliament, they nevertheless cling religiously to the greenstone charm called "tiki," which they superstitiously believe will ward off all evil. The stone is of small value, so it is an easy matter for even the poorest to provide themselves with it.

They usually cut it into grotesque figures, or heads, with eyes boldly open and the tongue sticking out in defiance, or derision, the idea being to frighten away anything that might be harmful. The women wear these charms on chains around their necks. and no native woman is considered fully dressed without this superstitious challenge to fear.

Like other South sea islanders, the Maoris believe in the tapu, or tabu. They are taught not to touch the things that are forbidden, and if the tapu is broken the transgressor suffers great agony of mind. Some have died in agony after learning that they had eaten some food that was forbidden.

Where Rhine Is "Lost"

The mighty Rhine river, flowing through half of Europe, is camouflaged when it reaches Holland. The traveler need not ask, when in Holland, where is the Rhine? Not even the natives know.

The river branches into many outlets when it reaches Dutch soil, and each outlet has been given an individual name, the Dutch being careful to avoid the use of "Rhine."

The Waai is part of the Rhine, uniting the Maas, which is known in its southern course as the Meuse, and then on its way to the North sea is neither the Rhine nor the Waal but

"Romantic" Writers

Against the rather cold rationalism of the Eighteenth century there set in a reaction which emphasized the emotional side of life. It went in for poetry, and the beauties of nature, and rather idealized the past, particularly the Middle ages. In Germany, some of Goethe's earlier work was romantic in tone. In England, Coleridge, Wordsworth, Byron, Shelley, Keats and Sir Walter Scott, and in France, Victor Hugo, belong in general to the same tradition. So do most of the American writers of the earlier Nineteenth century, like Cooper, Hawthorne, Poe and Melville.

House of the Dead

In the Chinese cemetery at Panama, a strange building has been erected. Although modern in construction, it is designed after ancient Chinese architecture, preserving the oriental lines of decoration. The building contains 150 separate compartments for coffins The Chinese who die in Panama are "buried" temporarily in this building. When all of the vaults are occupied a ship is chartered and the 150 coffins are shipped back to China. Accord ing to the religious belief of the Chi nese, the soul will not gain immortality unless the body is buried in Chinese soil.

Nurses

We have always been afraid of nurses with their professional austerity, for they do so many things we do not understand. Here is the most pressing question we failed to ask "Why is it that one has to be awakened at 6:15 in the morning to have his hands and face washed when he is going to be given a bath anyway at 7:15?" It is a most annoying ordeal, but when a nurse says "Wash your face and hands," we wash. Nurses are so much like superior officers.-Concord Monitor.

"Tools" Washington Used in His Surveying Work

The George Washington bicentennial commission is authority for the statement that the essential instruments used in surveying during Washington's period of activity were the chain and an instrument for measuring angles. For the first. Washington used what is called the Gunter chain. The instruments for measuring angles then in use were the plane table, circumferenfor and theodolite. The first was of restricted use, being confined to small inclosures, and it is not likely that Washington used it to any extent; if at all. The theodolite then, as now, was elaborate and costly, and it is doubtful whether Washington ever had one, although it would probably be necessary to go through his invoices carefully in order to determine the matter finally. It is known, however, that he did have a circumferentor, so that it is safe to consider that this was his chief, if not his only, instrument. He may have had a protractor and, of course, he possessed other necessary instruments for plotting, including compasses, scales, etc., but these were for outdoor instruments. His tripod is still at Mount of Personal Combats It was in the Twelfth century that the Japanese, who until that time were fighters only for defensive purposes, came under the sway of the military organizations. Feudal chiefs gathered bands around them to protect their fiefs-and help them collect taxes from their subjects. An early Japanese battle resembled a gigantic fencing match. It was opened with a human sacrifice. usually a prisoner or a condemned criminal. Nobody advanced until notice of attack was given with a sing-

Battles Really Series

When Georgia Had Navy

Georgia had a navy of her own a year before the adoption of the Confederate constitution, Although of doubtful constitutional status, in 1861 it often was referred to as the Georgia fleet or the Georgia navy and sometimes as the Mosquito fleet. Originally it was composed of an old river steamer and two or three small tug boats on which were mounted cannon. Later it boasted four small gunboats; the Savannah, the Resolute, Sampson and the Lady Davis. In the Civil war the Georgia navy participated in engagements around Port Royal, S. C., and at points along the coast of Georgia and Florida. Savannah seems to have been its base. To prevent capture when Savannah fell to General Sherman, the Georgia navy was sunk by its commander, Commodore Tattnall.—Detroit News.

Historic Matches

Doctor Saugrain, a French physician who had settled in the Spanish garrison at St. Louis in 1800, made the matches that Lewis and Clark carried on their expedition to the West. In "The Conquest" it is stated that "he made matches for Lewis and Clark that were struck on the Columbia a generation before Boston or London made use of the secret. With intense interest Captain Lewis stood by while the chemist-physician dipped sulphurtipped splints of wood into phosphorus, and lo! his little matches glowed like Lucifer's own. 'You can make the sticks yourself,' he said. 'I will seal the phosphorus in these small tin boxes for safety."

Cost of Civil War

In the Civil war, according to Elson. "the expense to the government reached an average of nearly $3,000,-000 a day, and there was a public debt in August, 1865, of $2,845,000,000. These figures take no account of the separate expenditures of the state and cities, amounting to nearly $500,000. 000; nor of the expense to the South, nor of the incalculable destruction of property. To all this must be added the interest on the public debt and the pensions paid to the soldiers, to the widows, and the orphans. The total cost of the war no doubt exceeded $10,000,000,000."

Muddled

The churchwarden was to be married to a nurse from a local hospital, and it was decided by members of the congregation to give him some token of esteem. A committee decided on a sum of money in a net-purse worked by the curate's wife.

The decision was announced at a church meeting by the curate, a nervous little man.

Well-to-Do Chinese

China has a population in excess of 450,000,000. While about 90 per cent of the people are poor, it leaves the significant number of 45,000,000 or more who are fairly well off, while some are rich. It might be said that China has in normal times about 10, 000,000 well-to-do families.

Old Roman Water-Organ Unearthed in Budapest

The present city of Budapest stands on the exact site of the old Roman city Acquincum. In recent excavations in the northern part of Buda many interesting remains of this old city have been brought to the surface.

According to descriptions from the old Roman authors the water-organ was the largest of Roman musical instruments. It was known only from the literature of this period, as up to the present day not one had actually been found. Recent excavations have been most successful in producing a very fine example of the water-organ.

It is hoped that with the help of the notes from Heron and Vitruvius the reconstruction of this ancient instrument can be carried out success-

This water-organ has proved to be the property of a college and probably was built in 228 A. D. The names of Modestus and Probus are inscribed on a bronze plate as of those exercising power that year.

Poison Danced Away

The tarantula, commonly associated with stalks of bananas, is in reality any large running spider of the warm countries. The true tarantula is a native of southern Europe, principally in Italy. Because of its prevalence in Taranto, Italy, its name became associated with the city.

The tarantula does not build a web, but lives rather in a nest of holes or under rocks, nests which it lines with a silklike material.

It lies in wait for its prey, and as an unsuspecting bit of animated food goes by, the spider rushes out and seizes it. It was believed at one time that its bite would bring on a certain type of epilepsy unless the victim of the bite danced to a particular type of music until exhaustion.

Oil-Burning Development

Oil has been used for fuel and for heating from a very early period, but the mechanical development of the oil burner dates from the middle of the Nineteenth century; its widespread use in the United States from about the year 1922. Public interest was attracted to the possibility of oil burning with a very considerable increase in the oil production of California and Texas about 1900. Small burners were soon produced and larger ones for power and heat. The first attempts at commercial oil burning were crude. They were followed by natural-draught vaporizing burners, and a later development was the mechanical-draught automatic burner, the foundation of the modern domestic oil-heating indus-

Proposed New Language

Anglic is an international language proposed by Prof. R. E. Zachrisson in 1930, it is based on an analysis of all English words in general use, without adding new letters to the alphabet, at the same time keeping the continuity with the conventional English orthography. It embraces the most common of the existing spelling variants, introducing at the same time a few new digraphs-uu, dh, zh-which have to do the duty of new letters. Anglic has 50 letters or letter combinations to represent the 40-odd sounds that occur in English words in current use.

German Dialects

In Germany there is no standard of pronunciation that is acknowledged and absolutely followed by the mass of intelligent people. The so-called standard of some people is the pronunciation of the stage, which, again is divided into the pronunciation of tragedy and comedy. In the latter, of course, is heard the more natural pronunciation of everyday life. The sectional differences are very marked, but in general there is a North German and a South

First "Ironclad"? Yi Soon Sin is believed to have inented the first ship of ironclad type. In the Sixteenth century he built a ship of war sheathed completely in metal for the Korean navy, enabling the Koreans to defeat the Japanese in a great sea fight. Yi's ironclad was built to resemble a dragon, the figurehead on the prow being the dragon's head, breathing fire.
