Noted Diplomat and Attorney Died Here Monday, February 3

Charles Beecher Warren, internationally known as a lawyer and diplomat, former ambassador from the United States to Japan and to Mexico, and for years a power in the Republican Party, died Monday morning in his residence, 372 Lake Shore Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, of heart trouble, at the age of 65 years.

Mr. Warren had been ill for the last few years, but until a few months ago had maintained contact with his office in the firm of Warren, Hill, Hamblen, Essery and Long, 2822 Union Guardian Building.

Mr. Warren's legal talents had been internationally recognized ever since 1896 when, at the age of 26, the young native of Bay City, Mich., was appointed associate counsel for the United States Government before the Joint High Commission which adjudicated the claims of Great Britain in the historic Bering Sea Controversy.

Mr. Warren was married, Dec. 2, 1902, to Miss Helen Wetmore, of Detroit. Mrs. Warren and three sons, Charles Beecher Warren, Jr., Robert Warren and John Buel Warren, survive. Their eldest son, Wetmore Warren, died in 1919.

In 1908, Mr. Warren was first named a Michigan delegate-at-large to the Republican National Convention. He became a member of the Republican National Committee in 1912.

In June, 1921, President Harding named Mr. Warren ambassador to Japan, where he remained until February, 1923.

Later in 1923 Mr. Warren and Judge John Barton Payne went to Mexico as High Commissioners. Their work resulted in the resumption of diplomatic relations with the Obregon Government, and in Mr. Warren's appointment by President Coolidge as ambassador to Mexico. Mr. Warren returned to the United States in 1924.

Efforts were made repeatedly in Washington to place Mr. Warren in a Cabinet position. Twice the Senate withheld confirmation of President Coolidge's nomination as attorney general because Mr. Warren had at one time been allied with sugar interests against which charges of restraint of trade had been brought by the Federal Trade Commission.

In Detroit Mr. Warren was twice president of the Board of Commerce. He had been a director of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Co., and of the National Bank of Commerce.

Golden Gloves Contest Eliminations Planned at Neighborhood Club

Here is one of the events you have been waiting for. The Golden Gloves elimination tournament will be fought at the Neighborhood Club at 17145 Waterloo avenue, Monday evening, February 10, at 8:30. Tickets are now available at the Neighborhood Club.

Sport fans who attended the last one held at the Neighborhood Club recollect the excitement and thrills of that evening some two years ago. Quite a crowd assembled to witness the youngsters fight for distinction and honor in the field of fistcuffs.

This year a fine group of talented young boxers will be here again to entertain the sporting fraternity with thrilling knockouts and a display stamina and dexterity. Don't miss this treat. Some of these boys are destined to become famous, and your applause and encouragement will drive them on to greater heights.

The Neighborhood Club was fortunate in having the elimination of the 1936 Golden Gloves assigned to Grosse Pointe. This promises to be the most spectacular boxing show ever staged in the local ring. Four rows of seats will be reserved at $1, general admission will be 40 cents.

Judging from the large attendance at previous affairs of this kind we would suggest that you make your reservations early so that you won't be disappointed. A capacity crowd is anticipated.

303 NEWS

By AL ZARB

The first of our regular Saturday night parties, which was staged at our club house at 17520 Mack Ave., was a humdinger, from a financial standpoint it was quite satisfactory, the "hum" in the humdinger was furnished as usual by "Tex" Hoyt and what a "hum" that was; you could hear it two miles away. It was late in the evening before the boys got "hot," and, from then, until the wee hours of the morning, it was a typical "303" shindig, the height of the entertainment was reached, when the boys took the place of the regular orchestra with Jack Flancher at the piano and Doc Cranson furnishing the comics. "Big Chief" Baldwin of the "Shores Reservation" furnished us with the Indian atmosphere, a feather duster tied in back of his head.

The sandwiches made up by Del Barba, were, as usual, very edible, and were consumed by the customers with great relish. Van De Heuvel worked like a trojan behind the bar; Eggleston, Porter and Korte on the tables, with myself at the door and Bishop in the check room. We need some workers for next Saturday. Turn in your name to Bill Korte.

You can have your bonus application filled at 17520 Mack any evening between 6 and 9 p. m. or at my station on Mack at Lakeview any time. This includes all veterans whether they are members or not. Drum and Bugle Corps practice every Wednesday, and don't forget to practice at home. You have to give Lou Baldwin the best you have if you intend to take in the State and National conventions, so let's get going.

Skill of Royal Coach Builder Lent to Aid Crippled Children

This is the way Colleen Moore, motion picture actress, characterized the Napoleonic model that has served as the project of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild competitions since 1930 when officials of the General Motors-sponsored educational foundation offered to build a replica of it to fit her famous doll house, a veritable fairy palace valued at nearly $500,000, which is now on tour of the country for the benefit of the nation's crippled children. She is shown here discussing the plan with Walter Leuschner (left), formerly the head of a family-owned concern that began building state carriages for European monarchs during the reign of Frederick Wilhelm III of Prussia and designer of the coach that thousands of boys have reproduced for entry in the competitions, while Frank C. Riess, technical director of the Guild, makes notes.

World War Veterans Attention

For the convenience of World War veterans in this community, the Grosse Pointe Post of the American Legion will maintain a distribution point for "bonus" applications at their headquarters, 17520 Mack Ave. evenings from 6 to 9 starting February 1.

Judge Healy Talks Over Bar Hour

Judge D. J. Healy, Jr., Judge of the Probate Court, Juvenile Division, in a recent talk over WWJ on a program sponsored by the Detroit Bar Association urged the co-operation of the entire community in the prevention of juvenile delinquency. Judge Healy, after explaining the functions of the various departments of the Juvenile Court summed up his talk with the following:

This court in all the dealings with the children that come before it has always tried to instill in the child confidence in the court. We have always sought the co-operation of the child itself in the solution of his or her problem. We have tried to make him feel that we are his friends and are there to help him and not to prosecute him.

The Juvenile Court serving the child and the community in the manner it does today is a necessary and vital institution in a socially minded community. For without the protection and care the state has thrown around the child, dependent and neglected children would still be brought up in a hazardous and precarious manner dependent upon private charity. Poor fatherless children would be shunted off to poor-houses and almshouses there to be buried without the loving care of a mother to guide them along the path of truth, honor, and obedience. Without the Juvenile Court to aid youthful delinquents, they still would be tried in adult criminal courts and be made to suffer the same punishment as adult offenders. For the theory behind the criminal courts is to vindicate the law whereas the Juvenile Court is to protect the child and to discover and correct the cause of the delinquency and if possible help the child to lead a normal life.

The Juvenile Court as a legal institution is based on the principle of guardianship and for that reason, is obligated to co-operate and utilize all institutions which tend to protect and guide the interest of the child. One of the most important child caring institutions.

That Old Famous Kling's Brewery Resumes Operations

The Ph. Kling Brewing Co. will place its product, Kling's Beer, on the market early in February, it was announced Monday by Kurt Kling, chairman of the board, and William G. Breitmeyer, president. The company, founded in 1856, ceased operations with the advent of prohibition.

Christian Jetter is the brewmaster. Kurt Kling is a son of the brewery's founder and Breitmeyer has had wide experience in the business. Other officers of the company are Philip Kling, grandson of the founder, vice president, and Jack Sutton, son-in-law of Kurt Kling, secretary-treasurer.

Kling's Beer is brewed in Flint and is made by the so-called "childproof" process. The capacity of the plant is 120,000 barrels annually.

"The company will not seek an extensive volume," Kurt Kling explained, "but will attempt to appeal to a discriminating clientele. Our process preserves clarity and flavor regardless of temperature, and to insure the flavor we will use 50 per cent of imported hops in our brewing."

Chrysler Corporation to Distribute $2,300,000 Bonus To Employees

Of special interest and concern to Grosse Pointers was the announcement last week of the intention of the Chrysler Co. to distribute a $2,300,000 cash bonus to all employees who were associated with the company during the first three months of 1935. This great industrial organization, makers of Chrysler, Plymouth, DeSoto and Dodge automobiles and allied products exerts a great influence in the lives of many residents of this section inasmuch as it gives employment to a large number of people in Grosse Pointe. The bonus, while enormous in aspect, is not by any means the first manifestation of exceptionally pleasant relations between employer and employees on the part of the Chrysler Co., in fact, it is noted for its fair and generous policy toward all of its great "Family" of workers.

A great many of the recipients of the bonus will be persons who have been associated with the Chrysler Corporation for ten years or more. These fortunate employees' will, of course, receive a larger portion of the cash grant than those with a comparatively more recent term of employment, the initial basis being a minimum of $30, with a pro-rated addition for each successive year of association with the firm. Through the Grosse Pointe units there are many hundreds of employees and the cash bonus will be a welcome addition to the compensation ordinarily received.

During the depression and especially just after the dark days of 1932, the Chrysler Company, in re-employing many of its former workers and also in taking on a great many new workers recruited from the ranks of unemployed in Grosse Pointe, did the community an incalculable amount of good; restoring not only the extremely low finances of these people, but greatly aiding the morale of the fortunate ones.

In addition to Fred M. Zeder, W. Ledyard Mitchell, and Joseph W. Fraser, other executives of the Chrysler Corporation who reside in Grosse Pointe are: C. T. Wingers, A. G. Herreshoff, J. H. Mack, E. C. Chapman and many others.

In the Stratosphere The stratosphere is approximated to be 20 miles thick, and its temperature is about 70 to 80 degrees zero Fahrenheit.

The campaign guns have been fired, and the race is now well underway. Watch for election dates and be sure to turn out at the polls election day to elect your favorite candidates.

Theodore H. Hinchman, President of Grosse Pointe Farms, is unopposed, as also are John R. Kerby for Clerk and Russell J. Beaupre for Treasurer in the forthcoming election in March. There will be no primary election due to the small number of candidates filing for office in the Farms.

Sutton, Jr., and the three new candidates are Harry A. Furton, LeRoy W. May, Edward L. Rohrbach. John La Belle did not file for re-election to the Board of Trustees.

J. A. Lauhoff Funeral Rites Held on Tuesday

Requiem mass was sung in St. Ambrose's Church at 10 a. m. Tuesday for John Alexander Lauhoff, a member of one of Detroit's oldest families. Prayers were said in the home, 1033 Wayburn Ave., Grosse Pointe Park, at 9:30 o'clock.

Mr. Lauhoff died in Grace Hospital Saturday evening after an illness of several weeks. He was the grandson of the late John Alexander Lauhoff who founded the Lauhoff Flour Mill nearly a century ago, and on his mother's side was a direct descendant of Dr. Jean Chaponot, surgeon to Cadillac when he founded Detroit.

Born here 53 years ago, Mr. Lauhoff was educated in Detroit schools and had taken a leading role in Catholic activities. He was a charter member of the diocesan Young Men's Order; secretary of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul and active in the Holy Name Society at St. Ambrose's Church, the Bon More Society and the Married Men's Sodality at St. Peter and Paul's Jesuit Church.

Sigma Zeta Class to Give Play Feb. 21

The Sigma Zeta class of the Jefferson Avenue M. E. Church is giving a play in the church auditorium on Friday, February 21, at 8 p. m.

The title of the play is "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," which in itself should create enough interest to challenge one to see it.

"The Passing of the Third Floor Back" is a pronounced departure from the traditional drama. This fact assures entertainment of an unusual order. Also there is a valuable lesson to be learned therefrom, and it is delivered with an absence of anything resembling preachment that makes it far more effective because of the subtle manner in which the moral is driven home. It is in the prologue, and the first half of the play the human nature is laid bare in such realistic manner. Before the play has been concluded the reformation is well on its way, and the epilogue reveals a happy and contented group.

Houston Peterson To Discuss 'The American Boaster'

"All the world loves a boaster, and that was why Huey Long had such a wide following," says Houston Peterson, lecturer in Philosophy, Columbia and Rutgers Universities. Dr. Peterson will lecture on "The Great American Boaster"—from Benjamin Franklin to Huey Long, Wednesday, February 12, at 11 a. m., before the Detroit Town Hall audience in the Fisher Theater.

In his listing of prize boasters Dr. Peterson includes Benjamin Franklin, Walt Whitman, P. T. Barnum, John L. Sullivan, Kenneth Levinson, Jack Sharkey, Davey Crockett and Gen. Hugh Johnson. "There were those," he states, "who dismissed Long as a joke, but he was never the joke that Hitler was in 1922. Huey was probably as great a showman as was Barnum, for he could boast of his disadvantages better than others could boast of their virtues. It was so with Benjamin Franklin, Lincoln and Al Smith." Peterson labels Walt Whitman the "Barnum of American poetry" and calls Barnum the "Whitman of American business."

A brilliantly successful speaker, Dr. Peterson gives the humorist's twist to the philosopher's analysis of the quirks which make history. He is the author of several important books. His "Have-look Ellis—Philosopher of Love," based on new material contributed by Mr. Ellis, himself, is the standard biography of the great student. "The Melody of Chaos" won for him the Butler Medal awarded annually to the graduate of Columbia who has shown the most competence in philosophy of education. "Huxley—Prophet of Science" was chosen by the Scientific Book Club for April, 1932.

Tickets for Dr. Peterson's lecture are on sale now at Grinnell's, and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Fisher Theater.

meter submits samples of body finishes to wearing conditions varying from scorching heat to downpours of rain. And the stroboscope, a flashing light device, appears to arrest motion and make it possible to examine the working of rapidly moving parts.

Other interesting devices to be shown include an electric eye, a ball bearing testing machine and automatic piston pin and valve seat insert inspecting machines. In all, 15 testing and gauging devices will be shown.

In another part of the exhibit, boys from the Ford Trade School will carry on their work on lathes, shapers, and grinders, giving more views of actual operations within the school. A glass enclosed model of a soy bean processing plant and a display of parts made from the soy bean, illustrating the possibilities of using farm products in industry, will also be shown.

Finished products of the Ford industries, through which this Michigan organization "Serves the World" will be represented in the exhibit of models of the Ford, Lincoln and Lincoln-Zephyr motor cars.

The Ford Exhibit will occupy space just inside the modern entrance to the Hall on the Cass Avenue side. The displays of machinery will be arranged along aisles in the center of the exhibit space, with the soy bean exhibit on one side, and the trade school exhibit on the other.

Every effort is being made to make the exhibit informative as well as fascinating, and of interest to all members of the family.

The Chrysler exhibit, characteristic of others, will include animated displays of Chrysler's latest scientific developments and their service in world trade with reproduction of a working model of the Desoto plant showing the operations of the conveyor lines and the actual methods of producing the automobile from start to finish.

Emphasizing the fact that the Detroit and Michigan Exposition is not an auto show but an all-encompassing Exposition of Michigan's leadership in art and education, science and research, building and home construction, food and agriculture and other phases of modern life. Exposition officials point out highlights which include the reproduction of a Michigan copper mine; an elaborate display of the Michigan Conservation Department; Federal, state and city government exhibits; bones of a Michigan mastodon 50,000 years old; exhibits of foreign nations, World Trade Day; Canadian Day; State Fencing Tournament; Michigan Indians; the appearance of nationally famous radio-screen stars; popular orchestras, stage shows, style shows, and choral groups; a cooking school and other features designed to command the interest and attendance of people from all walks of life.

Interesting Exhibits Planned for Detroit-Michigan Exposition

Displays of the test machines in actual operation, which will give visitors behind-the-scenes views of automobile manufacturing, will be featured in the Ford Motor Company exhibit at the second annual Detroit and Michigan Exposition to be held in Convention Hall, Detroit, March 6th to 15th.

The Ford and Lincoln exhibit will occupy 5,000 square feet of floor space and will include many of the displays shown last year at the California and Pacific International Exposition at San Diego, not previously exhibited in Detroit or Michigan.

Helping to make the Exposition a veritable Little World's Fair, the Ford exhibit will give prominence to the novel machines. These include the stroboscope, weatherometer, fabric wear testing machine and other similar devices produced by modern science and engineering.

Though ingenious in design, these machines perform functions readily understood and fascinating to observe. The fabric wear testing machine, for example, is designed to determine the wearing qualities of upholstery and carpeting materials by rubbing two pieces of the fabric together at a rate of 10,000 times in 90 minutes. The Great Wallendas are back from Germany with a new act—three high on bicycles atop a wire 60 feet in the air. Dozens of sparkling and hazardous aerial stunts will fill the air; the beautiful Dorothy Herbert will ride over high hurdles blindfolded and without reins; sensational perch balancing, acrobatic, juggling and other typical "big top" attractions will be interspersed with the funniest clown stunts headed by the inimitable "Shorty" Flemm as the much bemuddled "old soldier."

Cheerful Gardner will be here with 15 great elephants. Seventy horses, a score of clever trained dogs, ponies, seals and camels will add to the interest of the biggest and best indoor winter circus ever produced.

An unusual feature of the gorgeous spectacle which will open each performance will be a tiller and tap dance by 48 Detroit girls. Music for the entire show will be provided by Moslem Temple band under direction of the veteran guest conductor, Merle Evans. A part of each performance, except Sunday, will be broadcast direct from the circus arena by Radio Stations WJR and WJBK.

Arrangements are being made to entertain as guests nearly 15,000 crippled children, orphans and old folks from the numerous hospitals, homes and other institutions of Detroit and vicinity. Transportation will be provided by Shriners.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (John 4:24): "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 93): "In Christian Science, Spirit, as a proper noun, is the name of the Supreme Being. It means quantity and quality, and applies exclusively to God."

tions in the board sense is the school. It should be noted that the school as the result of its contact with the child is the first social agency to recognize when the child becomes a problem to society. Therefore, it is very essential that the greatest harmony exist between the two organizations.

The task of preventing delinquency is too large for either the Court or the school alone, or together to accomplish and that is where the community as a whole must be called upon to assist in this matter.

The community has a responsibility in the prevention of delinquency in that it is an obligation of the citizens to clean out delinquent breeding spots. By that I mean that just as in medicine, we protect healthy people by forcing those with communicable disease to show signs and warnings. In this way the disease is kept under control in the community. There are breeding spots for crime and delinquency and there are signs if we but look for them which indicate these facts. It is, therefore, incumbent upon the citizens to restrain their children from attending and frequenting these socially undesirable places, and the community should co-operate with the law enforcing organizations to drive the anti-social places out of business, or at least to clean them up.

It has long been my belief that it is a foolish system which waits for a child to become delinquent and then bring it to court and attempt to correct and rehabilitate the child. We must adopt the same philosophy as in medicine. For how much better it would be for the child and the community if it would be possible for us to be able to prevent the child from becoming delinquent. I repeat then the maxim: "The place to check crime is not in the electric chair, but in the high chair."

KLING'S BEER IS BACK!

Good news to lovers of good beer!

KLING'S BEER is available once again to lovers of good beer... welcome news to those of the older generation and of the younger who have been searching for the traditional flavor and mellowness of the old-time Kling's.

The new Kling's Beer, brewed in the grand old way from a fine old recipe, contains all of the traditional goodness which, since 1856, gave Kling's the "Taste that satisfies".

More than half the hops used in it are imported. Imported hops cost several times as much as domestic hops. But the unusually fine beer they produce justifies the extra cost.

Kling's Beer is brewed by an organization long skilled in the art of producing good beer... men not interested in trying to make all of the beer in the world, but dedicated to making the best beer they know how.

If you want good beer when next you ask for beer, say "Kling's". We know it will satisfy you.

What "Chill-Proof" Means

Everyone who uses good beer has a right to expect a clear, cloudless beer—a beer that has not lost its pleasant flavor because it has been chilled. Kling's was first to use the Chill-Proof process. For many years it was an important reason why Kling's has "the taste that satisfies."

Historical Facts of Grosse Pointe Are Sought by Federal Writers Project

The work of the Federal Writers' Projects in Grosse Pointe should have the active co-operation of our community. Its workers are engaged in gathering and compiling the facts upon which to base the Grosse Pointe section of the monumental American Guide. This work will be the first complete of interest and contemporary life of America. There will be a volume for each state in the Union and all will pay particular attention to local history. Michigan is rich in history from the days of the Jesuit missionaries and the French Cour de Bois down through those of the Covered Wagon and the influx of population which followed the opening of the Erie Canal, the epic of lumber and later the magic of the motor car and other industries. The difficulty is that if one wished to secure the facts about only one small section of the state it would require endless searching through scattered books and pamphlets. Even then the story could be found only in part for much that is essential has never been reduced to writing. Local history is the thing which gives color and life to the story of any nation, and which imparts meaning to its social trends and makes its ambitions understandable. We all know in a general way that our Grosse Pointe community is rich in historic lore but there is very little accurate information on the subject. The history of Grosse Pointe goes back to the earliest days of French Detroit. Indeed, the French and Indian times in Grosse Pointe antedate the coming of Cadillac. But the sad part of it all is that the story has never been compiled. It exists in legends, memories, old letters and documents. Much of it lives only in the memories of old inhabitants who are unfortunately leaving us one by one. When they are gone it will be too late to recapture much that is of value. No private enterprise could afford the time and effort needed to gather and preserve this material. That is why the Federal Writers' Projects can be so valuable to the Grosse Pointe communities. However, it can do little without the active assistance and co-operation of everybody in a position to help. All who have written material should be glad to submit it to the project workers to be copied and fitted into the history of our section. I hope that all of this material can be deposited with the Grosse Pointe Public Library to form the nucleus of a historical collection such as one finds so often in New England towns. The Public Library is the proper place for such things. There they would be safe and always available for future use. Such a collection once started would grow with the years and could become one of the most prized assets of our community. If we do not act now to preserve these records of our history they will be lost forever.

Neighborhood Club ACTIVITIES

The A. O. C.'s were defeated last week at the hands of St. Ritas in the Recreation League, but we don't expect that to discourage the girls. Tuesday night they play Parke Davis girls and Thursday night Evangeline girls. Last Thursday evening a hot supper was served by Evelyn Horey and her committee. Loraine Rethoret did her part in telling fortunes all evening and believe it or not—she knows more about the A. O. C.'s than they know about themselves.

The F. L. G.'s are still waiting for that savory bit of news the Windbag promised us.

The results of last week's games in the Intermediate N. G. A. A. class were as follows:
Pin Guard—Little Rebels 10; Little Colonels 12.
Pin Guard—Little Rebels 9; Little Colonels 12.
Pin Guard—Little Rebels 8; Little Colonels 2.
Dodge Ball—Little Rebels 10; Little Colonels 12.
Attendance—Little Rebels 13; Little Colonels 12.

Saturday afternoon tap and social dancing class is most popular for girls between the ages of 10 and 14. The class begins at 2 and ends about 3:30. If interested inquire at the Neighborhood Club.

The Tap Dancing Class for girls between 6 and 10 is held on Thursday afternoon between 4 and 5:30. The Senior N. G. A. A. class is planning a spaghetti supper Wednesday evening, February 12. Watch those pounds, you athletes!

The Girls Guards haven't much time left on their plans for their St. Valentine's Party, which is in the hands of three squad leaders—Catherine Sablain, Marjorie Allor and Doris LaRue!

Next Friday night, February 7, Charlotte Ludeke and her players are putting on a remarkable show for the Junior Dramaticers. Charlotte always works so hard for her presentation and somehow the results always show what can be done if one really tries.
