H. C. Hanley Criticizes Park Administration

In the pages of this paper two weeks ago, we candidates for the Grosse Pointe Park Commission, Harry C. Hanley, Marvin Moesta, Jules Degraeve, and Carl A. Williams, in an open letter published by Mr. Hanley, our candidate for the presidency, set forth in no uncertain terms things the public is entitled to know before it votes March 9th. Mr. Hanley gave seven reasons why we should change our commission at this time to prove to you that he was right. And sent along with it a challenge to debate. It had been the plan of the incumbents to give the public the "silent treatment" this election. But when they became aware that so large a number of people had read Mr. Hanley's letter and were waiting for an answer they became alarmed. So in last week's issue of the Review they attempted somewhat of a reply. Mr. Garska, incumbent opposing Mr. Hanley, after advertising that he headed a courageous government on a back page refused the challenge to debate. Thereby confirming the belief that the seven accusations were too hot to handle, and too true to undo. Then Mr. Garska proceeded to further show weakness by not even answering the seven points in his published reply. He said in speaking of Mr. Hanley's letter it "could have been copied from antiquated political propaganda which puts in a perennial appearance" and then in the next lines says, "time is too short to answer Mr. Hanley" but given two weeks to work out the answers he promised to appear in this week's issue of the Review with a full reply. Why does Mr. Garska want two weeks of head scratching to reply to "old stuff"? If Mr. Hanley's seven accusations were "perennial" he should have had the answer right at his finger tips. Every Grosse Pointer in our Village who was looking for Mr. Garska's reply in last week's issue immediately recognized his trick in delaying his reply until the last issue of The Grosse Pointe Review. They could see that this would make it impossible for his opponents to publish a check up on his statements. To further this plan the police have been ordered to prevent (Continued on Page Five)

March Wind Blows $100 Bills Around Grosse Pointe Park

Police Officer Receives Citation for Honesty

That honesty still exists in these modern times was proven Wednesday, when Stanley Enders, a member of the Grosse Pointe Park Police Department turned in to the Park Police Department a wallet containing $340 in cash and $418.64 in checks. It was only through the thoughtfulness and ingenuity of Officer Enders that the money and checks were found. After pulling the police box, corner of Kercheval avenue and Devonshire road, at 7 a. m. Wednesday, Officer Enders noticed a wallet lying in the center of Kercheval avenue. He picked it up and found it to contain identification cards but no money or checks. He commenced searching in the street and found a $100 bill. Noticing the direction in which the wind was blowing, he searched further and found another $100 bill and several checks which had been blown by the wind into a yard close by. In a search over several blocks, he recovered another $100 bill and two $20 bills. He immediately reported to the Park Police Headquarters and turned the wallet, money and checks over to Chief Drysdale. The owner was immediately notified and was very grateful to Officer Enders. He insisted upon rewarding the officer. The owner of the wallet was A. J. Auchterlonie, who resides at 748 Lincoln Road, Grosse Pointe. Mr. Auchterlonie explained that the wallet had fallen from his pocket on entering his car, and had no doubt fallen to the running board and then dropped to the street. The wallet was a new one and the owner stated that he had lost the wallet in a similar manner a short time ago. Officer Enders has been on the Park police force since September 1, 1935 and he is to be commended for his honesty and ingenuity in recovering the scattered money and checks. The officer will receive a citation on his record for his splendid work.

A. J. Garska Replies to Hanley's Accusations

Many compliments and promises of support of the present administration of the Village of Grosse Pointe Park, four members of which are up for re-election on Monday, March 9th, have been received by President Alfred J. Garska following publication of an article published in last week's Grosse Pointe Review in which Mr. Garska made reply to his opponents in the coming election. In order to boil down the lengthy charges and innuendo of his opponents, a set of questions was propounded and Mr. Garska was requested to make reply thereto. These questions and answers follow: Q—What about taxes in Grosse Pointe Park? A—Here is a comparison between 1935 taxes in Grosse Pointe Park and in our neighboring communities:

	Tax rate	Cost of Govt. per $1,000 Valuation	Person
City of Grosse Pointe	$19.60	$ 49.98
Grosse Pointe Farms	19.00	107.38
Grosse Pointe Park	13.27	35.96

These rates were computed on approximately the same basis of assessment. In 1935 the Grosse Pointe Park tax rate was reduced 87 cents per thousand dollars from the 1934 rate and a further reduction is anticipated for 1936. During 1935 water rates have been reduced 12 cents per thousand cubic feet and our residents enjoy a lower water rate than any other community outside of Detroit. Q—Is the total bonded indebtedness of Grosse Pointe Park $3,000,000.00 as charged by certain candidates? A—No. The total bonded indebtedness of Grosse Pointe Park is $2,275,000.00 from which must be deducted the sinking fund on hand which is $559,524.82 leaving a net bonded indebtedness of $1,715,475.18. Q—Does but 34 per cent of Grosse Pointe Park's sinking fund consist of Grosse Pointe Park securities as charged by certain candidates for office? A—No. 73 1/2 per cent of the sinking fund investment of Grosse Pointe Park securities. The remainder of the investment of the sinking fund is made up of $5,000.00 of City of Melvindale bonds and $500.00 of Village of Clawson bonds and bonds of various school districts in this vicinity. All of these bonds were purchased from licensed investment firms. These bonds are all safe and sound investments. One hundred per cent will be realized on all bonds held by the Grosse Pointe Park sinking fund. No bonds other than Grosse Pointe Park securities have been purchased by Grosse Pointe Park for the past six years. Q—What is the present financial status of Grosse Pointe Park? Gen. Smedley Butler at Town Hall March 11

Two famous World War fighters—Gen. Smedley D. Butler and Private Harold R. Peat—will direct a double-barreled blast against the encroaching threat of war in a symposium, "How Can We Wipe Out War?" Wednesday morning, March 11, before the Detroit Town Hall in the Fisher Theater.

The famous fighting General who served 33 years in the U. S. Marine Corps, has come under fire 121 times, been twice wounded and 20 times decorated, contends that "War is a racket—we can wipe it out as we wipe out other rackets, by legislation, by making it unprofitable."

However, the noted private who joined the First Canadian Contingent in 1914, fought in the bloody battles of Armentieres, Neuve Chapelle, Ypres, Hill 60 and the Somme, and became a world-known hero, claims that "War is a habit, a tradition, a state of mind. Education rather than legislation will eradicate war, but it will take time."

Gen. Butler is engaged now in what he considers his greatest operation, the campaign for world peace. Private Peat began his campaign against war after the Versailles Conference, and for the past 16 years has spoken before more than 2,000,000 persons. He has been called the greatest orator of the war.

Tickets for the Butler-Peat symposium are on sale now at Grignells, and Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Fisher Theater.

Art Institute Presents 'A Tour of Insect World' on March 8th

Everyone who owns a garden, a backyard or a window box will have a vested interest in the public motion picture lecture on "The Personality of Insects" by Brayton Eddy, young scientist and founder of the world's first Insect Zoo, at 3:30 on Sunday afternoon, March 8, at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

With remarkable motion pictures Brayton Eddy takes his audience touring through the insect world. He tells of insects that electrocute their prey, that gooly fight with 10,000 suitors, that build bullet-proof nests, that keep cows and servants, that build lighthouses and manufacture cardboard, that have ears in their legs. In the workaday world of the insects he shows lilliputian farmers, hunters, trappers, fishermen, carpenters, engineers, health officers and electricians. At the conclusion of his lecture he will answer questions.

In his Insect Zoo in Rhode Island Carator Eddy exhibits 2,000 representatives of the more than 600,000 races and tribes of insects. His dieticians must provide flies, lettuce, meat, bananas, caterpillars, honey, fruit juices and many other delicacies for the insect guests.

A tea party ranging from the crescendoes of America's leading colored dance orchestra to superstitious backgrounds, rustling canopies, broken mirrors and blinking lights, young people from Detroit as well as Ferndale, Royal Oak, Pontiac, Ann Arbor and the metropolitan districts will be unusually feted for five hours of dancing and entertainment on Friday, March 13, when Youth, Inc., gives its first big reception and hoodoo dance for young people of high school and college ages at the Naval Armory in Detroit.

Child Guidance Clinics in School Carefully Studied

The other day the State Crime Commission members—authorized Herbert J. Orr, head of the juvenile delinquency committee, to confer with Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, State Superintendent of public instruction, for the purpose of creating in the public school system of "Gary Plan" child guidance clinics for treating problem children.

This plan or any other plan whereby problem children are recognized at a very early age is a long step forward in solving the juvenile delinquency problem. There is no sense or reason to the method now employed by the State in dealing with juvenile delinquents. It is much better for the community and the child if he could be prevented from becoming delinquent in the first place.

The fact that Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan and Prof. L. J. Carr, director of the juvenile delinquency service, both are much interested in the proposal should go a long way to encourage the adoption of such a plan.

The proposals call for identification of problem children in the schools, before they have become outright criminals, and their treatment by psychiatrists who will make periodic visits. It is estimated that a large school would need to spend only $200 or $300 a year to pay the psychiatrists' traveling expenses.

Judge D. J. Healy Jr. of the Juvenile Division of the Wayne Probate Court praised the step taken by the members of the State Crime Commission towards the establishment of some child clinic plan in the schools. "I have always felt," said Judge Healy, "that the schools can and should play a major part in decreasing the number of juvenile delinquents. The school in almost daily contact with the child from an early age can discover problem children long before they get into serious difficulties. These children with proper treatment can in most cases be developed into healthy, normal boys and girls."

Christian Science Church

"Man" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, March 8.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Psalms 17:15): "As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 346): "When man is spoken of as made in God's image, it is not sinful and sickly mortal man who is referred to, but the ideal man reflecting God's likeness."

Flower Show Will Open at Convention Hall on March 28th

One of the most outstanding features of the Michigan Flower and Garden Exhibition opens in Convention Hall, March 28 to continue until April 3, will be a conservation exhibit in connection with a nature trail and trail-side museum under the direction of the Louisa St. Clair Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution and the River Rouge Park Wildwood Nature Advisory Committee. The committee in charge of the exhibit is headed by Ben J. Hollis, who is undertaking its construction, assisted by Mrs. Archibald N. Goddard, Dr. Robert T. Hatt, Cranbrook Institute of Science and C. Edmund Smith, Detroit City Forester.

The exhibit will consist of 4,500 square feet of natural planting, a literal re-creation of a small section of wilderness to Convention Hall. A brook will course through the garden, if such it may be called, winding its way through birches, under overhanging branches of flowering dogwood, around rocks and under rustic bridges. This brook and its banks will be the natural reproductions in every detail. Where the brook bends and leaves a morass, such plant material as will be found naturally growing in such a situation will be used even to mossy pieces of dead timber. In another section an erosion of the bank of the stream will be reproduced and nearby will be shown how several boulders prevented erosion. How a stream of water naturally tends to straighten itself will be shown in another section. The stream at this point has deviated from its previous course, cutting out a large bend. The still water in this bend has brought about plant life of a different nature with the changing condition.

Plants in this exhibit aside from the birches and dogwoods will include a large hawthorne bush, 10 feet high and 8 feet across in full flower, shown for the first time at a local flower show; some redbuds, shadblow and hundreds of flowering native plants. Every tree in the exhibit will be a living tree and all trees and plants will be properly labeled. Plants and material to build the garden have been assembled from over the entire state; the birches from Cheboygan County, hemlocks from the eastern part of the Lower Peninsula, stones from Washtenaw County, part-ridge berries and wintergreen from Clare County; 40 bushels of pine needles, also from Clare County; tan bark from Iron Mountain and the wildflowers from different localities. To show the necessity for the various conservation movements for the preservation of wildflowers and trees, several offenses the average invader of the woods who is not a conservationist is guilty of, will be shown. A beautiful dogwood tree in bloom with one branch broken down spoiling the shape of the whole tree will show what damage flower pickers can do. Damage done to trees by initial carvers will also be shown and how a birch bark souvenir may cost the life of a beautiful birch tree.

The Nature Museum will be housed in a building 20x14 feet built with native boulders and covered with mossy shingles to give the appearance of age and to fit in with the naturalistic surroundings. This museum is to contain native stone of all kinds and colors with the story of the formation of these stones and their classification. A stone of particular interest will be a piece of limestone from the glacial period showing the markings made by the scraping of the glacier over the rocks.

There will also be a collection of Michigan fish, mounted insects found in Michigan, still life boxes of woodland scenes in Michigan from the Cranbrook Institute of Science and other interesting features which may be collected until the opening day of the show.

The nature trail will be a reproduction of a section of the Rouge Park Nature Trail and will show what the committee expects to accomplish with this project. Plants will be labelled and informative and prohibitive signs posted at intervals like those to be used at the part nature trail.

On and Off the Records

By LEE MONTGOMERY

Bob Tobin stopped in at the County Building on his way to Washington. Tobin is from Strong's, Chippewa County, Michigan, and there isn't a soul in the Upper Peninsula who hasn't heard of him. At one time he was mayor of the town, postmaster, school commissioner, telegraph operator, road commissioner, train master, and chief advisor of the town folk. He was the town of Strong's.

Bob led Strong's to a place in the sun where they were envied and inspected by all town governments for thousands of miles. They had the first modern school house, outside of the Soo, in the entire upper country. They had their own electrical plant, they had running water, they had their own movie, all this remarkable, because the town is situated in the center of the Michigan wilds and at that time there wasn't a good road outside of wagon tracks for a hundred miles. The first modern highways in the Upper Peninsula were pushed by the town of Strong's and they persuaded the state to run the main line by their four corners.

Tobin was the first Democrat in Chippewa County. Despite this fact he was never out of public office and persuaded the State Republican administration under Alex Groesbeck that the upper needed good roads.

When Henry Montgomery, County Clerk, was editor of the Detroit Times he took Tobin's election predictions on the Upper Peninsula to the vote and printed them. Actual returns would show Tobin but a few votes out of the way. Tobin never was politically biased on his predictions, he was accurate. He had his own straw vote system. He would get on the wire and ask the telegraph operators all along the line what the vote would be in this lumber town, or that logging camp. He never missed a vote.

One time Montgomery called before Tobin had made his compilation. "I'll call back," he said. Two hours later he called the Times. "Well, I'm sorry, here are incomplete predictions and can't get certain results until tomorrow morning," he said. "Why not?" asked Montgomery. "Well," drawled Tobin, "There is a crazy fellow up here and he's lost somewhere in the woods. I don't know which way he's voting."

Tobin says that if Frank Murphy runs he will come out of the Hiawatha country with a 2,500 majority over Fitzgerald. He considers Comstock still the strongest candidate up there.

Auditor Ray Schneider announces that his defense fund for the recounters is swelling fast. Collecting the money to file briefs with the Supreme Court, Schneider considers it his duty to see that these 18 men get a fair break before the law.

"These men were out of work and needed money. They acted as the normal man would under the same situation and they should be allowed every recourse the law has to offer. My employees and I are going to see that they get it," said Schneider.

Three hundred thousand in Michigan and 30,000 in Detroit were without license plates when the deadline was reached last Sunday. A goodly portion of these cars are still off the road.

We have gasoline taxes which are being lost with these cars idle. There should be some system to keep these cars running, and the Secretary of State is of this same opinion. He has done his part. He has extended the time way past the original deadline. There must be a remedy, and the one offered by Auditor Ed Williams sounds logical. He says: "We should have our license tax placed on the purchasing price of the new car. It should be permanent until the car is sold. We would do away with all this last minute rush, the extra expense of a rush, we would aid the state government immeasurably in a tax way and still appease the customer who has a dislike for direct tax but he doesn't mind the indirect tax."

I, for one, think this suggestion of Williams is a real brain child. A tax that could be paid over a period of time as we paid for the automobile, a tax that we didn't realize we were paying, and yet a tax whose collection would facilitate the government in collection method is to me a very good tax, if we have to be taxed.

More good news for home owners. February, the shortest month of the year, carrying with it two holidays, set a new record for redemptions. Harold Stoll, register of deeds, announces that 29 families saved mortgage foreclosures, turning $96,951.26 across the register's counter.

Veterans of Alger Post Sponsor Two Contests in Grosse Pointe Schools

The Alger Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars are sponsoring two contests in Grosse Pointe schools which they hope to be the first of a series of such contests in the furtherance of Americanism amongst the younger generation. They intend, as their program expands, to hold more contests in both the Grosse Pointe and Detroit schools. The first contest is open to all students who are taking Civics I and Civics II in the Grosse Pointe schools. A medal is to be given to the girl and to the boy who, in the opinion of the judges, write the best essays on "Americanism." The awards for this contest will be made at special exercises held on or near Memorial Day. The Post will have a double quartet, their ritual team and a prominent speaker for the exercises.

The second contest will be for the best scholastic record amongst the students taking American history. This contest will also have a medal for both the winning boy and the winning girl. The award for this contest will be made in connection with the regular commencement exercises.

The Alger Post has also laid plans for a junior unit in connection with their post, the plans for which will be announced in the near future. It is their hope that they will be able to counteract many of the socialistic groups now firmly imbedded in our schools which are preaching communism.

E. C. Beck to Be Guest of Honor at Dinner at Grosse Pointe High

Dr. E. C. Beck, head of the English department at Central State Teachers College, Mount Pleasant, Mich., will be the guest of honor at an informal dinner to be given in the high school cafeteria by the English department of the Grosse Pointe High School on Thursday, March 12, at 5:30 p. m. Dr. Beck received his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Nebraska, his Master of Arts degree from Harvard University, and his doctor's degree at Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tennessee. He taught at Nebraska State Teachers College at Peru, Neb.; while there he collected a large amount of American folklore as it related to the prairie states. While at Peabody College he collected folklore in connection with the southern states. Since he has been at Mount Pleasant, he has been interested in Michigan material, particularly the folklore of the early logging days in Michigan.

Home

IT IS safe to say that there are few people to whom the thought of home is not dear. It stands for companionship, affection, shelter, a place where one can throw off the cares of the world and pursue one's own bent unhindered. It provides opportunity for mutual consideration, unselfishness, and reciprocal respect for the feelings and opinions of others perhaps afforded in no other way.
A home is indeed a sacred trust. There is probably nothing in our human experience whose influence is more formative. The right home atmosphere can do a great deal to offset inimical outside influences. Its training can help to plant integrity and uprightness in the youthful heart. Indeed, there are not many who can shake off in after life the effects of a godly childhood home.
Moreover, the atmosphere of a beautiful home is felt far beyond its own immediate precincts. People are naturally drawn to a household where happiness and harmony reign. Having entered it, they can go their way with new inspiration, mentally refreshed and encouraged, and thus better equipped to deal with their own individual problems. Such a home may truly become as "the shadow of a great rock in a weary land."
Dear as home associations are, however, to those who can constantly share them, they are perhaps still more dear to those who are compelled to pass much or most of their time away from such companionships. Today business conditions apparently demand that a vast number of individuals shall spend many months of the year away from home. Not alone is this the case, but the occupation of many necessitates constant travel, a continual moving from place to place which forbids any settled sojourn for protracted periods of time. Such a mode of living may tend to become somewhat unsettling, and may even engender a false sense of freedom from certain responsibilities. . . .
No matter what a person's earthly location may be, he who has grasped the fact of his spiritual at-onement with God knows that in reality he is always at home, dwelling in "the secret place of the most High," constantly enfolded by the Father's love and care. Furthermore, he realizes that this same love and care also surrounds those who are dear to him, even though many leagues may lie between them, for there can be no actual separation when thought is at one with the understanding of spiritual reality.
Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, has expressed this thought most beautifully in one of her much-loved hymns, where in speaking of the ever-presence of infinite Love she writes (Poems, p. 4):
"His habitation high is here, and high,
His arm encircles me, and mine, and all."
It is impossible to estimate the number of people to whom these lines have brought succor from anxious thought, replacing any troubled sense with reassurance and comfort, when time and space have seemed to separate them from those dear to them. The same arm of tender, omnipotent, care-enfolding all. Surely such confidence, with its promise of no division, no severance, its assurance of but the one household of God held in His tender care, is worth striving for and attaining!
The effect of realizing that man as the spiritual idea or child of God is always at home in divine consciousness, cannot be overestimated. It supplies a new standard for ethics and morals. It provides a plumb line for righteous thinking and living by which each suggestion or situation can be appraised. It is an impregnable defense against temptation. Moreover, this realization of true method engenders genuine self-respect, supplies poise and balance, and imparts a consciousness of dominion over material conditions which can be gained in no other way. The assurance that "His habitation high is here, and high," and that every moment we can mentally abide in this secret place of Love's dwelling and there know the true sense of home, heals all feelings of loneliness or isolation. . . .

Grosse Pointe Schools Entertain Several Noted Educators

Following the meetings of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association in St. Louis last week, the Grosse Pointe schools entertained a number of educators. Mr. Arthur E. Trippensee, assistant principal at Grosse Pointe High School until this year and now superintendent of schools in Medina, New York, spent Friday at the high school. Also visiting the school on Friday was Mr. Jerome Burt, former principal of Grosse Pointe High School and at present superintendent of schools in Fitchburg, Mass.

At the general teachers' meeting last Thursday, Dr. Richard D. Allen, assistant superintendent of schools of Providence, R. I., spoke on the place of guidance in the public schools. During the day he had conferred with members of the high school staff and had discussed the problems of guidance in Grosse Pointe. At the afternoon meeting there was a number of guests from outside the school system; from other Grosse Pointe schools—parochial and private—and from other school systems in the Detroit Metropolitan area as well as the members of the teaching and administrative staffs of the Grosse Pointe public schools. After the meeting in the high school auditorium at 4 p. m., there was an informal dinner in the cafeteria attended by about 75 members of the staff. Dr. Allen at the dinner spoke further and in greater detail of the guidance program in Providence and the school guidance set up in Grosse Pointe.

 By JOHN SMITH
 In one corner we have the incumbents and in the other we have the opposition, both sides enter the ring sparring, the gong sounds and the battle is on.
 A right to the body, a left to the jaw, what a fight, what a fight. Then John Public steps in to decide the issue by casting his vote and the winner is declared. Such is a writer's view of the coming election next Monday.

Hanley Criticizes Park Administration

vent the circulation of opposition literature from door to door, making it impossible to check up on his reply in this manner. The machine Mr. Garska heads does not like a check up on their statements. The statements are just that kind.

For example, to bait his readers somewhat in last week's issue Mr. Garska did make an answer to one of the seven accusations; namely, about the 3,000 park tickets in the hands of Detroiters. Mr. Garska says each individual resident is supplied with a card and "that the present population in Grosse Pointe Park is 13,000 persons" and then he goes on to say that the total number of Park cards issued was 12,354. Is one to take Mr. Garska to mean by this that there are no tickets issued to any Detroiters? What do Grosse Pointers who know by sight such a large number of our people think of this statement as they watch the hundreds and even thousands of strangers in our Park on a hot day? What do the residents on Barrington who see the traffic of bathers come down their street from Detroit think of this statement?

Mr. Garska concludes his letter with "next week I shall make a full reply to Mr. Hanley's scurrilous charges."

To which Mr. Hanley says, "My charges were the truth, offensive truths perhaps to Mr. Garska but nevertheless the truth. I have been an attorney for the last seventeen years, and certainly the voters of Grosse Pointe would know that with my experience in law I would not lay myself open to a slander suit. I have ample proof of everything I have said and I am prepared to back up my statements either in a debate or in the law courts."

Mr. Garska's trick in postponing his reply to our charges until too short a time before the election for us to check into, causes us to anticipate his answers.

Can Mr. Garska's machine dare deny that the employees of the village are in a grip of compulsory politics? Certainly he knows that a large part of our public are well aware that the four police officers so recently discharged on the grounds of "economy" simultaneously as five new policemen were hired was a deliberate act to get "better vote getters." The "trumped up" charges brought against one officer, that he be discharged because he passed an unlocked door on the back of a building up some alley one dark night, as all related in the trial records printed in the "Review" constitute the biggest farce in Grosse Pointe police records. There are a thousand people in Grosse Pointe who know that your machine attempted to fire this man for the reason that he returned his proposed "list of pledged votes" back to you unsigned. We were glad to see that at the conclusion of the trial, Judge Moynihan forced you to re-instate this officer.

As to what you might say about the charge that you make political use of the assessment roll, we want to say that we have photostatic evidence and other ample information to prove our assertion in any court.

Can Mr. Garska possibly deny that our supposedly non-partisan commission is part and parcel of a machine. There were but two "elected" to the commission in recent years who didn't have to go through the "wringer."

We want to say right here, that judging from the high pulse of public feeling as expressed from all quarters of our village as a result of this campaign, there will be some new faces on the commission after this election who be "elected" but instead asked the voter did not ask the machine if they might ers of Grosse Pointe, Park.

We predict that Mr. Garska's reply to our plan for more voting places will be that this will cost too much money. We claim it would cost very little more to use the voting facilities now set up by our Township. When you come to vote Monday remember you can not vote at your precinct booth, that would be too handy to suit the machine. If you live south of Kercheval you will have to go to the Municipal Hall at Jefferson and Maryland. If you live north of Kercheval you go to the Defer School. These long distances to the two voting places afford the machine an opportunity to have their large fleet of cars taxi the voters to the polls and during the ride attempt to influence their vote.

We have no doubt but what our opponents will defend their sinking fund by pointing to some of the purchases of other communities. But can they point to any other community with such a large portion of their investments in bad outside bonds? Do the mistakes of any other community justify our failure to put our investments into Grosse Pointe bonds?

Thus we candidates come to the verbal conclusion of our campaign. We have made an attack which is the political license of candidates opposing incumbents. Grosse Pointe Park is a village of over 12,000 inhabitants and is now too large for our people to keep in direct touch with activities of public officials. It takes a campaign such as we have just given, to let them know what is really going on. We have given you the truth and in so doing we have shown you courage. The rest is up to the voters.

An Answer To GARSKA

Your campaign statement is that your government is fearless, intelligent, honest and low cost.

Is it fearless and honest to refuse a debate and wait until the last moment to answer our charges?

Is it intelligent to invest Grosse Pointe Park money in Clawson, Melvindale, Royal Oak and Ecorse bonds in preference to Grosse Pointe Park bonds?

Is it low cost to have your tax rate based on an assessed valuation $8,000,000.00 in excess of the accepted State and County valuation?

Was it low cost to pay your village engineer $7,000.00 per year and in addition pay him a fee of $12,500.00, (for work we claim he should have done as part of his job?)

Was it low cost to pay your village attorney $3,000.00 per year and in addition pay him $7,000.00 for work (we claim he should have done as part of his job?)

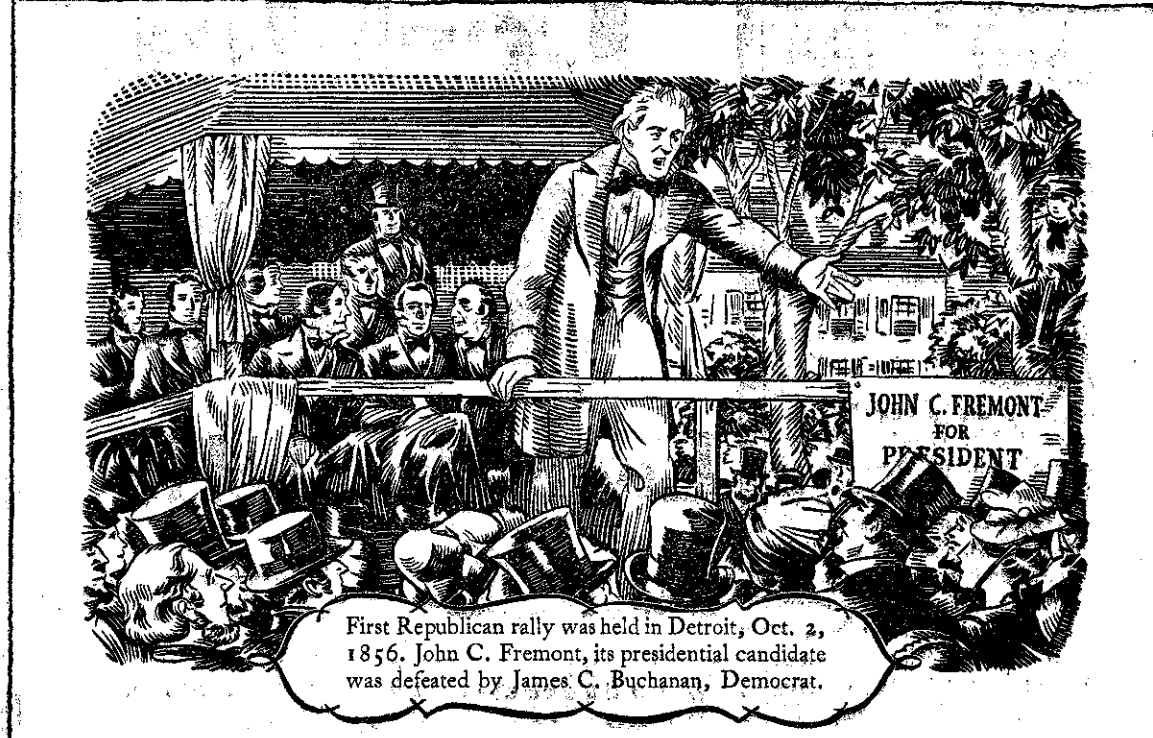

Was it low cost to pay a real estate firm $9,557.00 for appraisal work that we claim under the published Detroit Real Estate Board Rates could have been done for $485.00?

The figures on the above paid fees were taken from a report of the Audit Company of Michigan.

In addition to this, we understand that fabulous fees were paid in the acquisition of our present park at the foot of Barrington Road.

If elected we guarantee to give an "honest, fearless and intelligent" report of these "low cost" fees.

Kling's Beer was elected "the taste that satisfies"

Since 1856 lovers of good beer have preferred Kling's because it has a tang all its very own.

The new Kling's contains all of this old-time goodness. It is brewed in a brand new brewery from a fine old recipe, with choicest malts and costly imported hops . . . by men long skilled in their art and interested only in producing the best beer they know how.

Try a glass or bottle of Kling's . . . You'll agree that here is a beer that is really different—at last, beer with "the taste that satisfies."

Border Minstrels at Amity Temple on Saturday, March 14

Under the direction of Mr. James Hamilton and Mr. Robert McKenzie

the Border Minstrels will give their opening performance in Amity Temple, Kercheval and Parkview, on Saturday, March 14, in aid of Clan Scott No. 283 of the Order of Scottish Clans.

Following the performance there will be a dance, with music furnished by Fors Brothers orchestra. This is an old-time minstrel show and four sparkling end-men will keep you in a happy frame of mind throughout the show.

Mr. McKenzie received his musical education under Mr. R. Burnett of Edinburgh, Scotland, and has been heard over the air in many local programs. Mr. Hamilton has played in amateur theatricals for many years, both here and in Scotland. He studied dramatic acting under W. T. Prentice of Lanark, Scotland, and is a member of the Criterion Dramatic Club of Grosse Pointe.

For those of you who like a minstrel show this should be a very delightful evening with plenty of humor and melody.

He is a member of the United States Health League, a life member of the Association of American Medical-Physical Research, a licensed Naturopath for the State of Indiana, licensed for the practice of dentistry in Michigan his own research, discovered the remedy for his difficulties and since that time has been an ardent worker in the cause of health improvement for others.

However, "As the years passed by, constant observation was necessary as to what was or was not of real food value. There could be but one conclusion—genuine food for man is contained in grains, fruits, and vegetables. Meat is and Ohio, and has practiced the latter from the same address in Toledo for the last 36 years. He is a man of great energy, he is author of several books and pamphlets of health topics. In addition to his research in health fields, he is chairman of the Board of Elders of the Central Christian Church, Toledo's largest downtown church, and a singer of great talent.

BOY SCOUTS

Plans for the Merit Badge Show (or, to be correct, the Boy Scout Exposition), to be held at Convent Hall April 16 and 17, are going forward with great speed and enthusiasm. Many troops, which have been assigned subjects for demonstration, are ready to set up their booths as soon as the Hall is available. In all, about 31,000 square feet of space will be needed to effectively demonstrate all of the 75 subjects under assignment.

Many outstanding business firms, industrial organizations, and educational institutions, are being called on by various troops for co-operation. Wayne University will sponsor the mining demonstration by Troop 264, whose Assistant Scoutmaster, Bertram Robb, is a junior at that University. The Central Kiwanis Club of downtown Detroit is sponsoring the Landscape Gardening Exhibit of Troop 225 which meets at the Neighborhood House, Fourth and Porter Streets. John Snook of the Western Union Telegraph Co. is Scoutmaster of this troop.

Cass Tech High School is sponsoring the printing booth which will be manned by scouts of Troop 56, Redford District. John Niesz, Realtor in the Grand River area, is Scoutmaster of this troop. In this booth will be found a modern printing shop—with printers' devils, type, forms, ink, and even the stock necessary for producing souvenir cards for every visitor.

Live animals to be seen at the Exposition include horses, cows, a little cow (calf to you), monkeys, dogs and cats. They will all be used by ingenious scouts for the purpose of demonstration.

Garska Replies to Hanley's Accusations

(Continued from Page One) All current operating expenses and bond interest have been promptly paid to date and the Village has on hand over $106,000.00 in cash which is more than enough to pay operating expenses until the next tax collection, July, 1936. Today a one thousand dollar bond of the Village of Grosse Pointe Park will sell for $1,068.70. This indicates the extremely sound financial condition of Grosse Pointe Park.

Q—Does the present Village Administration welcome a financial investigation by taxpayers?

A—Most certainly. In June, 1934, following the usual election time "charges" by political office seekers, Mr. Charles S. Cole, chairman of the Grosse Pointe Park Protective Association, and who is at the present time President of the Citizen's Association of Grosse Pointe (publishers of the Grosse Pointe Civic News), had an investigation made of financial conditions of Grosse Pointe Park. An audit was made by the "Audit Company of Michigan," certified public accountants, and we quote from Mr. Cole's letter dated June 25, 1934:

"During the campaign for election of three Commissioners for Grosse Pointe Park, certain candidates charged that the administration of its affairs had been such as to bring it to the verge of bankruptcy, and in particular charged that its sinking fund had been mismanaged and depleted.

"As a consequence, many residents became alarmed over the alleged financial involvement of the Village finances, although the overwhelming defeat of the candidates who made these charges indicates that the majority of the voters paid little heed to them.

"As Chairman of the Grosse Pointe Park Protective Association, I was instructed to make an investigation, for the purpose of ascertaining whether there was any basis for making these charges, so employed the 'Audit Company of Michigan,' public accountants, to overhaul the books and records of the Village, and render an unbiased report of their findings.

"I am pleased to advise you that this report shows that they are unfounded, and in accordance with the instructions of the Grosse Pointe Park Protective Association, I am enclosing copies to you of the 'Audit Company's' three reports for your files.

Q—Why do we have but two voting booths for Village Elections whereas the Township has eight voting booths?

A—Because the Village Charter specifically provides that there shall be but two election booths and it is, therefore, in accordance with Village law.

Q—How about economy in operation of Grosse Pointe Park government?

A—In 1930 with a population of 11,174 the annual operating expense was over $406,000.00 and in 1935 with a population of about 13,000 the operating expense is under $230,000.00.

Q—Have any of the political office seekers who make these unfounded "charges" against the present administration a real and sincere interest in the welfare of Grosse Pointe Park?

A—No. If they were they would at least take the trouble to get complete and correct information regarding Village affairs before attempting to become candidates for public office. Village records are open to all citizens and the Village Commission has always welcomed constructive criticism and helpful suggestions for the betterment of Village government.

"As far as I am personally concerned," stated Mr. Garska, "I am willing at any time to stand on my record of past achievements and I believe that Village Commissioners Louis A. DeHayes, John B. Renaud and William P. Shoemaker certainly deserve re-election due to their very conscientious work and faithful performance of their official duties. The malicious picture of mismanaged Village government is certainly not in keeping with the rapid and substantial growth of Grosse Pointe Park and the many satisfied new residents who have selected Grosse Pointe Park as a future home. All facts and figures given in reply to the questions submitted to me have been taken from public records and can easily be verified."
