Frederick M. Alger Jr. Announces Candidacy For Congressional Seat

A group of some four hundred people unanimously voted their approval when Frederick M. Alger, Jr., announced that he would become a candidate for the Congressional seat on the Republican ticket now held by Louis A. Rabaut, a Democrat, at the Deutches Haus Monday, June 29.

It was the insistence of numerous friends that finally led him to the decision to run, and it is the consensus of opinion of those who know Mr. Alger that he will be an outstanding figure in Washington if elected, and will understand the problems of the average citizen and work in their interests continually.

Miles Culehan acted as chairman of the occasion, introducing Mr. Alger and a number of speakers, among them Ed Kuhlman who led the Republican ticket for State Senator in the last election, Ted Kennedy, former candidate for Congress, and former State Senator Fred W. Harding.

Sunday at The Waterfront Park

By KAY KILBRIDE

Mr. Weatherman wasn't the only one who thought last Sunday "a perfect June day" judging by the crowds we saw all day at the Park. From whole families, carrying picnic baskets filled with oranges, sandwiches, pickles, etc., to lone individuals whose favorite pastime seemed to be diving off that highest yellow board—everyone there had the same idea that it was a grand day, to be made the most of.

We had to walk down the boardwalk and under that sign "For Expert Swimmers Only" before we saw anyone we knew, though. Yes, we almost thought this column just wasn't going to be, when we spied Jean Harrington and Betty La Page. Both were sporting really red complexions, acquired, we learned, the day before, after five hours of sun and water. Jean, who wore a stunning brown and white linen outfit, was very busy wishing she'd brought her suit down and Betty, whose blondness was smartly accentuated by a blue and white dress, echoed her desires.

But because we couldn't help them any we turned our noses, out for news, you know, toward the dock. A walk to its end and back again was accomplished all by our lonesomes before we came upon Jack Uran and Johnnie Albright. They looked so cool, we decided that those white suits must have just been put on and that somewhere blue bathing trunks had been discarded. Mutual consent then took us in to get some ice cream. There it was that

KLING BREWING COMPANY AMONG LEADERS IN STATE OF MICHIGAN

Remarkable progress is reported by Ph. Kling Brewing Co., one of Michigan's oldest breweries, which recently returned to the brewery business after a lapse of 18 years due to prohibition, and which has again taken its place among the foremost breweries of the State.

According to John R. Sutton, secretary-treasurer, the brewery is now operating two shifts daily, and in preparation for a necessary expansion of the brewery's capacity, has just completed the purchase of a large site opposite the brewery which is now located in Flint.

Ph. Kling Brewing Co. is an old familiar name in Detroit's industrial history, as Kling's brewery which was one of Detroit's old familiar landmarks, was founded by Philip Kling in 1856. Kling's beer was a well-known trade name in this State in the distant days when "pre-war" meant "before the Civil War." This is one of the few Michigan breweries that still remain under original family management and ownership. The Kling Brewery today is actively headed by Kurt Kling, chairman of the board, and son of Philip Kling, the founder. Associated with him is William G. Breitmeyer, president, a member of another old Michigan brewing family and a prominent figure in the brewing industry for years.

Philip Kling, president of the company, is a grandson of Philip Kling, founder of the brewery. Jack Sutton, secretary-treasurer, is a son-in-law of Kurt Kling.

Kling's beer is brewed in a thoroughly modern plant, said to be one of only two or three brewing plants in Michigan designed and constructed expressly for brewing purposes in the last quarter of a century. Kling's beer is brewed under the closest laboratory control—under the supervision of Christian Jetter, brewmaster, a native of Germany who learned the art of brewing in one of Europe's most famous brewing schools, and who has earned an enviable reputation as a brewmaster both in Europe and the United States.

The process and formula which gives Kling's beer its flavor are closely-guarded secrets. But this much is known—that Kling's beer is still brewed from the old-time Kling formula. It is known also that an unusually high percentage of imported hops is used in the brewing of the Kling product. These hops come from Czechoslovakia in a district, formerly a part of Bohemia, which has for centuries been famed for the excellence of its beer. This is explained by the fact that Bohemian soil and climate are peculiarly adapted for the production of the world's finest hops.

Four Grosse Pointe Boys Caught Breaking Into Local Residences

The Grosse Pointe Park police department brought in four boys ranging in ages from 13 to 17 early this week for investigation. Upon questioning they confessed to breaking into nine homes in Grosse Pointe Park, and four in the City of Grosse Pointe, also implicating three other boys.

The foot was confined mostly to petty items such as tennis rackets, liquor, loose coins, etc. These boys reside in Grosse Pointe, and seemed to know just what places to break into, and find the occupants away on vacation.

The police department deserves commendation for its alertness in bringing these boys in, and there is little likelihood that any more houses will be broken into, at least by these youths.

Justice always wins out, so just do right boys and you need have no fear of the law.

A Correction

In last week's issue of The Review it was stated that a veterinarian would be on hand at the Police Station, 17150 Maumee Avenue and the inference or interpretation taken was that the vaccination or immunization of dogs conducted daily. We wish to correct this impression by stating that the Veterinarian is on hand on Thursday only, from 2 to 4:30 p. m., the fee being $1 and it being necessary to have all dogs immunized against rabies or hydrophobia before license is granted.

Landon Eulogy Heard By An Enthusiastic Gathering Tuesday

By KAY KILBRIDE

Malcolm W. Bingay, editorial director of the Detroit Free Press, was the main speaker at a meeting of the Republican Clubs of Grosse Pointe last Tuesday evening, June 30, in the auditorium of Grosse Pointe High School.

The meeting, attended by some 800 interested Grosse Pointers, opened with the audience, led by Harry MacDonald, singing "America." Mr. MacDonald then sang "I Love Life" and "Stout-Hearted Men." He was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. MacDonald.

John McPherson, in this office as president of the Grosse Pointe Republican Club, then presided. After calling attention to the watchword of the hour "On To November," Mr. McPherson introduced the following speakers:

Ben Shephard, who as a delegate from the Club to the Federation of Republican Clubs of the 14th District, told of the great need of the Federation for responsible representatives. "At the present time," he said, "the most urgent activity of every club should be the selection of able delegates." Mr. Shephard concluded by urging all to register properly.

St. Clair Coast Guard Bill Passes

The untiring efforts of those who fought for the Coast Guard Station for the Grosse Pointe area have been rewarded. It is no longer an eventuality but a reality. Bill Number H. R. 12494 was signed by President Roosevelt Tuesday morning.

The construction of the new Coast Guard Station will begin very shortly.

Detroit Boys' Banjo Band Winner in National Contest

Joe Louis and the wobbling Detroit Tigers may have failed to uphold the tradition of Detroit as the City of Champions, but there's one group of Detroit youngsters who have more than done their share in keeping Detroit out in front.

These boys are the members of the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Banjo Band, who last week returned from Minneapolis where they pretty nearly made a clean sweep at a national musical contest.

These boys, 65 strong, won first prizes for the most outstanding band at the contest, the best hill-billy band and the most popular band. In addition, Charles H. Tatham, director of the band, was awarded a sash for having the largest band at the contest.

The contest was not a Y. M. C. A. competition, but was open to all musical groups in the country. More than 50 bands competed and a crowd of 5,000 heard the finals, at the conclusion of which Mayor Latimer of Minneapolis presented the keys of the City to the Detroit boys. While at the convention the boys entertained the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon. The contest was the thirty-fifth held under the auspices of the National Guild of Banjoists, Mandolinists and Guitarists. The convention next year will be held in Detroit.

Winning a trophy wasn't a new experience for the boys, for while the troupe is only three years old, last year they went to add three silver Mass., for the finest junior band. This year they went to add three silver trophies, a record for the competition. The boys were accompanied to Minneapolis by L. L. Bever, boys' secretary of the Northern Y. M. C. A. and P. N. Munroe, who had charge of the boys in the street parade. The band is comprised of boys from all over Detroit, with members coming from the "Y" branches of Northern, Hannan, Northwestern, and Fisher.

Election Information on Registering in the City of Grosse Pointe

Because of the great interest in the forthcoming Fall Primary and Elections, certain facts should be called to the attention of the public throughout Grosse Pointe as regards registration and qualifications for voting at the Primary, September 14, and the Election, November 3, 1936. Many residents who are under the impression that they are duly qualified electors because of prior registrations, are, as a matter of fact, ineligible to vote because of the failure or neglect to vote in the elections intervening since the Presidential election of 1932, or certain election subsequently. Consequently, under the provisions of the Permanent Registration Law, electors who have allowed lapse of two years or more without voting at ANY election, must now make application to have such registration continued.

It should also be remembered that registration for balloting at school elections DOES NOT entitle the registrant to vote at any other local election. Therefore, new residents should to notice that transfers between Detroit or other local municipalities are accepted in the City of Grosse Pointe inasmuch as the Statutes do not provide for the transfer except with units of Grosse Pointe Township, in which the City separated in 1934.

In new registrations of foreign-born naturalized citizens, such citizens should be certain to bring their naturalization certificate to the registration office. (Continued on Page Four)

Woodmen of World Report Improved Business Conditions

Nineteen million dollars of new insurance business was secured by the Woodmen of the World during a twenty day campaign from May 18 to June 6, according to a report released today from national headquarters in Omaha.

The campaign, honoring the founders of the association, was the 8th nationwide campaign for new business the organization, has held in the past two years, every campaign exceeding the results obtained in the previous one.

Commenting on the amount of new business secured, De E. Bradshaw, president, said: "Certainly this figure is a heartening indication of the rapid recovery this country is making economically. Entirely aside from what this nineteen million dollars of new business means to our organization, it is strikingly significant to me as a criterion of progress being made back towards economic normalcy in America. The Woodmen of the World and myself take real pride in the part this organization has played in stimulating a return to normal economic conditions."

The campaign for new business known as the Founders' Campaign, was held honoring Joseph Cullen Root and other Woodmen of the World founders.

Grosse Pointe Girls Invited to Participate in Y.W.C.A. Activities

Grosse Pointe Girls are invited to share eight weeks of vacation fun and a gay parade of summer sports offered at Camp Talahi, the Detroit Y. W. C. A. Camp for business and industrial girls which opens on Friday, July 3, for its ninth season. The camp is situated on Lake Chelan near Brighton, Michigan, within 30 miles of downtown Detroit.

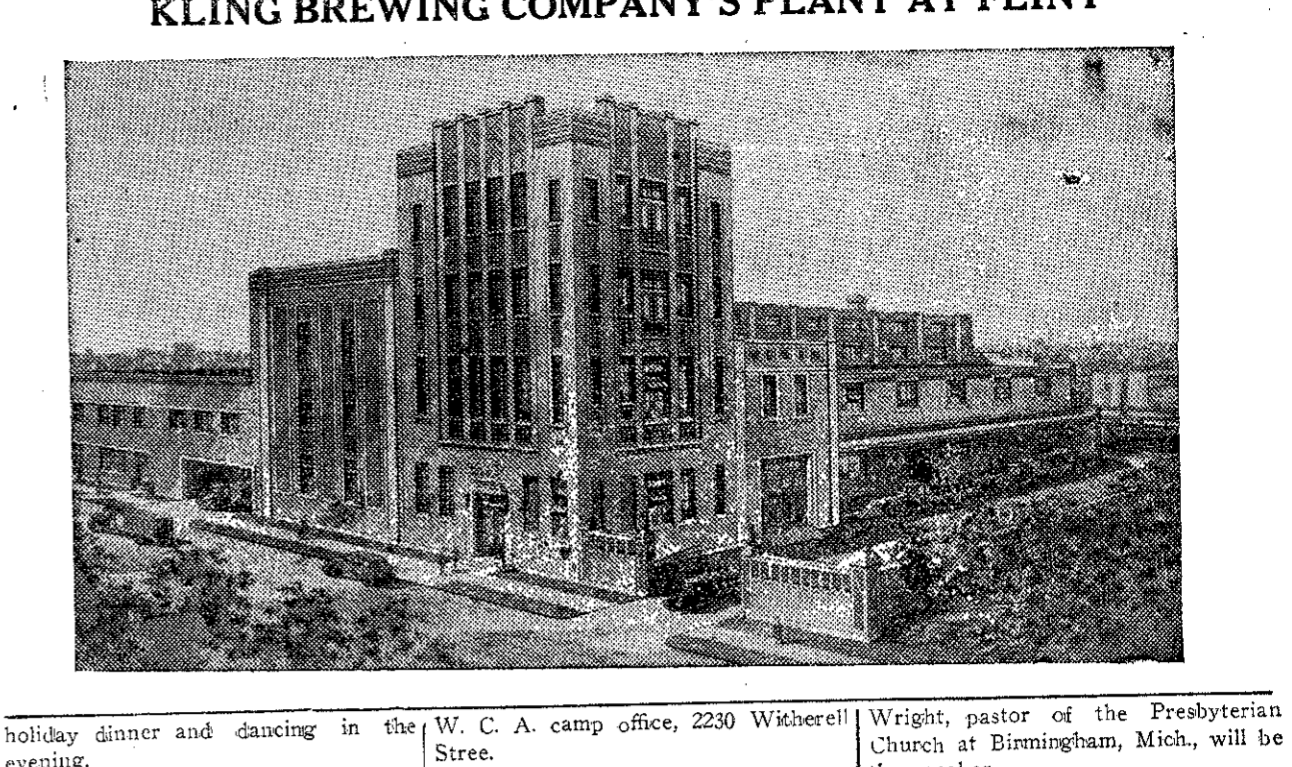

Plans for the opening week-end and Fourth of July celebration feature a water carnival, balloon races, special holiday dinner and dancing in the evening.

Camp Talahi is unique because it is the only Michigan Y. W. C. A. camp exclusively for employed girls. Its program of vacation activities and sports is planned especially for grown-up girls without any of the routine required in school girls' camps. This means that campers may rest when they please, participate in sports when they please, and sleep late in the morning if they wish to.

Regular camp activities include free instruction in swimming, diving, and golf at nearby country clubs, and picnics, hikes, hayrides, ping-pong, bridge, fancy dress parties, marshmallow roasts, singing and games complete the list. Counsellors skilled in land and water sports, crafts, music and dramatics and two graduate dietitians make up the camp staff. Miss Hazel Hardacre of the Detroit Y. W. C. A. is the camp director.

Many reservations have already been received from office workers, household employees, musicians, teachers, students, artists, nurses, etc. Information may be secured at the Detroit Y.

W. C. A. camp office, 2230 Witherell Street.

National Puppetry Conference Held in Detroit July 8 to 11

Historic puppets from all over the United States and Canada will make the acquaintance of modern marionettes at the first national Puppetry Conference to be held in Detroit July 8 through 11. There they will also meet most of the people who have served to spread their popularity among the public in general during recent years.

Among these will be Tony Sarg, noted illustrator-cartoonist, who is to be guest speaker at a welcoming dinner the evening of July 8. This will be Mr. Sarg's first visit to Detroit in 10 years.

The four-day program will feature eight plays, to be given at the Art Institute by the visiting groups. These include "The Taming of the Shrew," Shakespeare's entertaining comedy of domestic discord; "The Passion Play," traditional morality play; and "Punch's Circus," a new production by the Detroit Marionette Fellowship, performed by Catalan-type hand-puppets.

Saturday afternoon will be devoted to amateur puppets who wish to demonstrate their repertoires before the conference audience. Details of this program may be obtained from Paul McPhurlin of the Detroit Marionette Fellowship, whose headquarters are at the Artisan Guild in Highland Park. Registration for the entire conference costs $3, but admission to single performances is available upon application.

Mrs. James W. Hughes of Fisher road will speak on puppetry as a hobby in the Saturday morning meeting.

CCC Boys Make Interesting Find

CCC boys on work projects at Camp Lake Superior near Perch Lake have been intrigued by a sawdust pile, remnant of the halcyon lumbering days, covering an area of 20 acres and piled 40 feet high. Ice still reposes in the cold pile of pine sawdust and bark which may have accumulated 40 or 50 years ago.

The old mill was located on the shore of Lake Superior below the escarpment on the site of the abandoned town of Deer Park. The site of the old village is still visible to tourists, between Lake Superior and Muskegon Lake. Superintendent Steve McDonald estimates that well over two and one-half million feet of lumber was sawed to make the gigantic pile of sawdust.

A mystery which still baffles geologists has also occupied the attention of the boys. Muskegon Lake, the north shore of which is only 2000 feet from Lake Superior, is elevated between 50 and 60 feet above the latter. Sand from the shore of Muskegon Lake, when placed in a water glass and covered with water, will not allow the water to penetrate it, while the sand from Lake Superior is readily penetrated by water.

What Would YOU Do In a Case Like This?

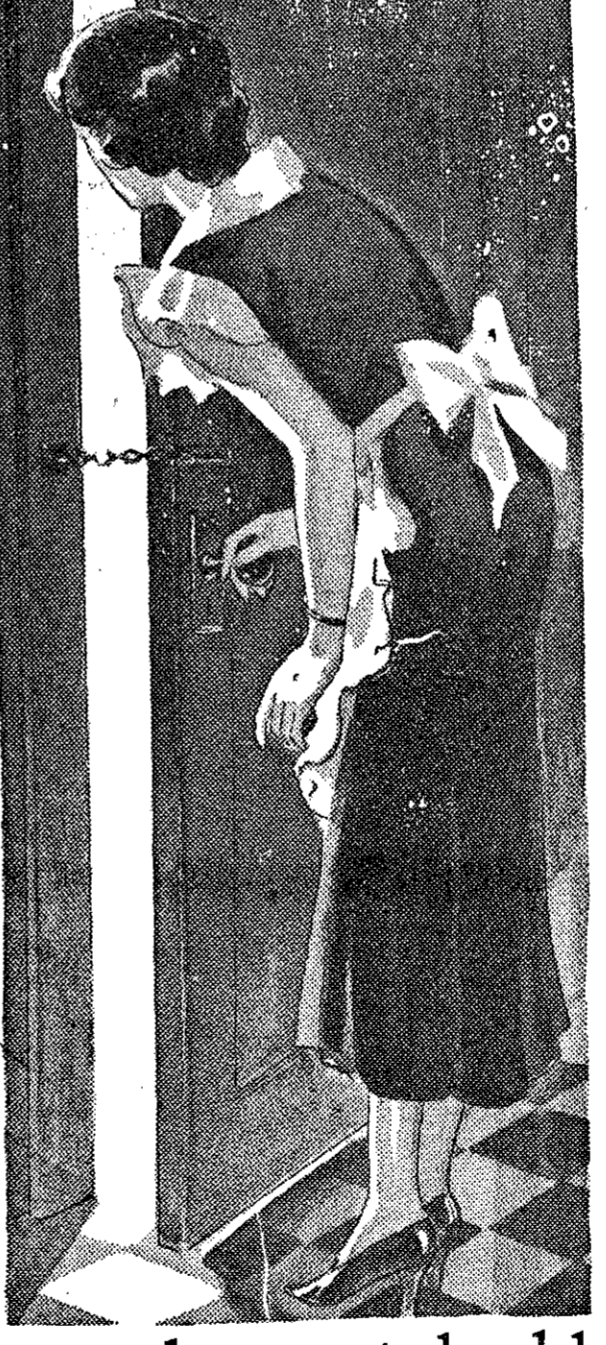

A man comes to your door. You answer his knock. You don't know him, and he can't identify himself as a representative of one of the established companies you've come to know and trust.

Question: Would you open the door?

Answer: No. Not if you're like most of the women who keep house and buy things for themselves and their families in this community.

Reason: Experience has taught them that the greatest danger in admitting strangers is the danger of being sold something without a reputation.

Result: Women who know that a value is as much a matter of "known reputation" as it is a matter of dollars and cents, buy through the ads in THE GROSSE POINTE REVIEW. They know they get double protection when they do.

Kaffee Klatsch Comes Into Its Own

The Germans call it Kaffee Klatsch; we call it an extra meal, but it's a good idea in any language.

About the middle of the morning or the afternoon most of us begin to feel pretty hungry, and fatigued. A bite of something to eat will do wonders to pep us up again and give us added strength. We've all of us noticed this fact.

The scientists are just now beginning to study this matter of five meals a day instead of three, especially for factory workers, and they are finding some strange things. In the first place it should be explained that by five meals they don't mean five complete meals by any means. Instead, they have recommended that the total amount of calories per day be the same, if there is already adequate nutrition, but that instead of eating the total amount in three meals that they be divided into five. This would include three light meals and two light lunches—one at midmorning and one in the afternoon.

Men who were given five meals instead of three, it was discovered, were much more efficient, and the output of their work was greater. There was less fatigue and irritability among them late in the morning and afternoon.

For individuals who wish to gain weight, the five-meal-a-day schedule is ideal, since one of the reasons they are underweight is that the stomach capacity is small, thereby making it impossible to eat sufficiently large meals to readily gain weight. In addition, in most thin persons, food leaves the stomach much more rapidly than in heavier men and women. This makes it impossible for the body to derive as much of the good from the food.

Many children, too, would probably thrive better if they ate oftener, and smaller quantities. This would eliminate the necessity for the parents to feel that they must force-feed their children at mealtime, in order that they receive sufficient quantities of food during the day.

It is necessary to understand, however, that the extra two lunches should be the right kind of meals, if good and not harmful to come from them. Sweet foods or rich ones would destroy the appetite for the next meal and possibly upset digestion. Most of the test additional meals given to factory workers included milk.

Following are some suggested between-meal lunches for you to try on yourself and your family.

MID MORNING

- Milk Bread and Butter Sandwich Banana Milkade Crackers Milk Simple Gaskies Orange Juice Melba Toast

MID-AFTERNOON

- Small cream cheese sandwich Pineapple juice Angel Food Cake Milk Stuffed dates Small whole wheat sandwiches Tea or milk Cinnamon Toast Raisin Cookies Tea or milk

BANANA MILKADE

Stir mashed, ripe bananas into fresh, chilled milk which has been salted to taste. Three or four bananas to a quart of milk is about the right amount.

Christian Science Churches

"God" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 5.

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Is. 44:6): "Thus saith the Lord the King of Israel, and his redeemer the Lord of hosts; I am the first, and I am the last, and beside me there is no God."

Correlative passages of text read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 465): "God is incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love."

Jefferson Avenue Baptist Church

On and Off the Records

by LEE MONTGOMERY

Boxing in Michigan is gaining the reputation of being the cleanest in the states. Which brief statement allows us to introduce Terry C. Riley, secretary to the boxing commission and friend of things clean in sports and business.

He started his career, selling newspapers, he later printed them, then wrote for them, and now is good copy for them. He prizes friendship and honesty above all else, and protects these two things with all he has. He likes life, remembering when he almost lost it in the St. Clair River only to be saved for Michigan by Charlie Crellin, boyhood pal.

He refuses to recognize pull, and has started political minded fight promoters by collecting back taxes before he allows them an interview. His bit has been a big one in balancing the budget.

An orphan, he worked his way through high school and college and still found time to play football and act as administrator in other sports. He was a soldier and a good one. He spurned a commission to stay with his friends. He thought they might die without him.

According to Pitkin, Terry's life has just started. According to the record he has lapped the field and hasn't used his second wind yet.

One of the Acadians wrote Harold E. Stoll a letter. "My people," says this son of by gone centuries, "were a very wise people. While touring the World leaving wisdom and philosophy in their wake, and bringing teachings of British gospel to America's shores, they balanced idealism with practical thoughts of the future. I am told authentically that they purchased property in and around what is now downtown Detroit property. Many of my ancestors settled in this embryo metropolis and started the old fort on the way to the grandeur that is now radiated by the Detroit Tigers. I, too, am an idealist and basque in the glory that was theirs and dream of the heroism I might have displayed. Proving my direct ancestorship I am also practical. So to the purpose of this letter. Have you records of my people's property and is my ownership to St. Paul's Church and to Hudson's store in dispute? Hoping you will have the facts ready for me, I remain your friend, until some time in the near future, when I will acquaint myself with your august person, personally."

Past depression days have brought stimulus to the marriage institution and despite lax divorce laws, have given it security and integrity.

Records compiled by Henry A. Montgomery, County Clerk, show that marriages have increased by leaps and bounds while divorces have decreased. Montgomery explains it as a natural return to normality. He says life goes in cycles, and that the new generation is one of consistency and solidness. They have learned from the past to look into the future.

Bob Brennan, captain of County Building Guards, and one of the best known county building employees to the public, is well on his way to recovery. Bob says he will be back soon watching the public's interest. An automobile accident took Bob out of circulation.

Jack Cowan, godfather of the sextuplet goats, makes a new bid to fame as a breeder of unusual in molecules. Jack, while giving full credit to Dionne, as a forerunner to his own genius, wishes science and the public to know his latest achievement.

Not only sextuplets this time, but each one has six toes on every foot. They are kittens this time, and doing fine, every one is up to scratch.

CCC Boys Guard State's Forests

Stationed in towers 100 feet high, constructed by themselves, hundreds of boys enrolled in the Michigan Civilian Conservation Corps today stand guard 24 hours a day over this state's vast forests.

CCC boys from farms, city streets and highways are ever on the alert for a tell-tale spiral of smoke which indicates a forest fire may be in the making. The youths have become the eyes of the U. S. Forestry Service.

Records of the Michigan Conservation Department reveal that the youths are helping to save the state untold millions of dollars by fire prevention in forest areas.

The 1935 forest fire damage was less than nine percent of what was once considered normal.

From January 1, to May 30, inclusive there were 35 forest fires in Michigan as compared with a normal of 400 for that period of the year prior to 1934.

Last year's total of 2,700 fires which ruined 18,900 acres of forest reserves in the full 12 months was the lowest in the conservation commission's history. Forest fires in 1929 ruined 250,000 acres, and in 1925 the loss was 750,000 acres.
