Republican Clubs to Stage Big Parade and Rally at Fair Grounds

Under the sponsorship of the Detroit Republican Club, the Four Club, and the Greater Michigan Republican Club, with the assistance of forty or more Republican clubs of Wayne County, a rally, parade and general Republican jubilee is to be given at the State Fair Grounds in Detroit, on Saturday, August 29.

An attendance of 100,000 persons is expected, and this will probably be the largest political gathering ever held in the State of Michigan.

The main address will be given either by Governor Landon, Frank Knox, or John Hamilton, the National Chairman. Definite assurances that one or more of these gentlemen will be present, have been given.

Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald and other candidates of the Republican party will be on the program. Most of the party leaders from all sections of the state will also be present.

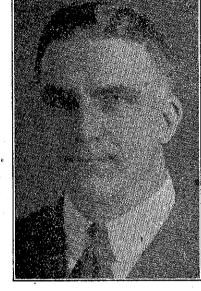

Plans for the jubilee, which will honor the founding of the party in Michigan, have been under way for two months.

Four hundred or more floats are expected to be entered in the parade. The forty Republican clubs in Wayne County will have entries, and prizes will be awarded. Any individuals or organizations wishing to participate in the parade, are asked to communicate with the committee on or before August 20.

The program will include entertainment and lunch. Special arrangements for policing the line of march of the parade are now being completed. An amplifier system will be installed to accommodate the overflow crowd that will be unable to enter the Coliseum where the addresses will be delivered.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR TAX PAYMENT

September 1st is the deadline for the payment of the second annual installment of taxes under the Michigan ten-year plan. Many property owners have already met their obligations and protected their rights. Incidentally they have avoided the last minute rush and congestion of county treasurers' offices:

Officials of the state in conducting this year's educational cam paign are endeavoring to bring home to the property owners that to carry out the terms of their agreement they must be sure and make this second payment by September 1st.

They are also hopeful that those who did not come under this legislative act in 1935 will do so this year. Provision is made for this action and it may be taken at very small interest cost.

Incidentally returns indicate that a considerable number of property owners are paying up their entire back tax assessment, thereby saving considerable money in future interest charges,

There is no more pressing governmental problem today than the question of past due taxes. Both the property owner and the various departments of the state are vitally affected. The state needs the revenue to operate in the interest of its citizens and the property owner wants to save his landed possessions.

While other states were floundering around with the problem Michigan officials went ahead and worked out an equitable solution. It had whole-hearted support last year and it is receiving it again

State officials are to be commended for working out this tax Russell A. Alger, Civil War military plan and giving it educational publicity.

Don't forget to do your part. Pay your second installment of and beloved as Detroit's pioneer philtaxes before September 1st if you have come under the plan. If anthropist. you haven't joined up, do so now. Also, if you can afford to pay all your back taxes at this time do it. Standing, Carolyn, Joan and Louis III.

In years to come when the Rabaut children look through the family album, the journey taken on the occasion of the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Representative and Mrs. Rabaut will recall to their minds the fact that they traveled in two automobiles because of the size of the family, to West Baden, Indiana, to visit their brother Dermott, a student for the priesthood in the seminary of the Society of Jesus.

It was the first time in a period of five years that the entire family has been together and the time was spent in an old-fashioned way, journeys to the surrounding countryside, survey of the beautiful grounds of West Baden, family picnics at one of which they indulged in their family song which is well-known to many of their friends, "Nine of Us."

A high spot in the entire trip for Martha, sight years old, the youngest, was the journey home which because of the heat was taken by night, She was given the privilege to stay awake and see the sun rise. Whether awake she greeted the dawn remains a family secret.

> There is always somebody who can find a way to defeat the purpose of the law. This has been manifested lately in the election laws, when candidates to further their own ends have filed other names in order to confuse the voters. These names are called 'Ghost Candidates' and carry cognomens similar to the opponent. The Murphy situation is the headline example, although it happens in almost every political battle with other candipublic. The voters often ask what type of man enters politics and the answer is anything but clarifying. All types enter politics. Auditor Ray L. Schneider is a builder, Edward/Williams is an insurance man, Henry A. Montgomery, County Clerk is a newspaperman, Jacob eal estate man, Harold E. Stoll, Register of Deeds, is an automobile man, and Jack Cowlan is a builder.

What calls these men from their professions into the political arena is hard to say. All the above mentioned were highly successful in their private businesses. It must be the glamor of public life or an altruistic desire to further government.

This bout is for one hour, contrary to erature, during the past year. Unlike Farnkie Hart's protest to make it a 90-minute time liit. By H. THOMPSON STOCK The recent fire on Moran road in Grosse Pointe Farms has aroused considerable interest in incinerators. The trouble is that people do not replace the screens on the top of the incerator stock or chimney and the result is that burning rubbish gets out and falls on the wood shingle roof or awnng and sets the house afire.

The screens rot out because smoke and moisture create a chemical action that rots the metal screens. Many of the houses that have been up for several years now have screens that no longer protect the house from flying fire brands. Even adjacent houses could be set on fire and even a conflagration would be possible if there was a strong wind.

To correct this condition in Gross Pointe Township, the various fire and building departments are inspecting or going to inspect all incinerator screens and require placements where necessary. A new type that is removable and invisible is recommended.

Benjamin Franklin who wrote "ar ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" was very much interested in fires and their causes. In 1835 h wrote "if chimneys were more frequently and more carefully cleaned some fires might thereby be prevented." He was also opposed to putting to the practice of carrying coals in a shovel from one room to another or up or downstairs. "Scraps of fire may fall into chinks and make no appearance until midnight, when your stair being in flames, you may be forced (as I once was) to leap out of your windows and hazard your necks to avoid being over-roasted."

Hog Calling Contest Conditions

Perhaps the most humorous as pect of the Michigan State Fair is the hog calling contest which will be held in the grove on September 11th, at 2:30 P. M.

Fifteen dollars will be awarded to the three highest scoring contestants as follows: $7.50 to first, $5.00 to second, $2.50 to third.

Charm Counts 3. Charm or appeal to the hog, 20 points. The hog caller's voice must have the ring of sincerity and honesty. It must carry conviction to the porkers or the calling is not a success. Truth will out.

4. Originality, 10 points. Originality creates interest. The hog should be able to distinguish its master's call from those of the neighbors.

5. Clearness, or musical quality, 10 points. Happiness aids digestion and hogs enjoy music. A clear musical call will bring them in happy and light-footed to eat with more enjoyment and more profit. Singing school lessons thus are not wasted.

Survey Shows Marked Gains in Construction

Indications of a widespread increase in residential construction, which is rapidly approaching what may be a long-term upswing, is noted in a compilation of statistics recently completed by the Federal Housing Administra-

The compilation covered eight major indexes, using the monthly average of 1933 at 100, and was compiled, tabulated, and graphed to show monthly totals over a two-and-a-half-year

The sharp rise in value of new residential construction as indicated by building permits is shown in the survey. The index for June 1934 was 82.3; in June 1935 it was 248.6; in June 1936. 742.9. This latter figure is higher than that for any month since April 1931 and represents one of the most noteworthy gains in any industry since the low period of 1933.

All of the eight classifications show substantial increases; Total industrial production, residential building permits, building permits for alterations and repairs, residential contracts awarded. contracts awarded for alterations and mprovements, employment in construction, employment in production of construction materials, and ship ments of construction materials.

Recorded data show that the volume of alterations and repairs has not varied as greatly as that for new construction. Particularly encouraging is the fact that both employment in construction and employment in production of construction materials have increased during the first six months

Senator James Couzens, Republican of Michigan and richest member of the upper branch of Congress, was quoted in an Associated Press dispatch as saving "President Roosevelt will not bankrupt the nation" and that "no one could have balanced the budget during the depression years."

"How soon, Senator," asked some one in the audience, "do you expect a 'Red' government in Washington to deliver us into the hands of Moscow?"

"In the 14 years I have been in Washington," Senator Couzens replied with emphasis, "I have learned there is no possibility, no intimation, no suggestion that our Government is a 'Red' overnment. I do not know of a single member of Congress who wants to adopt a Moscow-type of government. All three branches of our Government -legislative, executive and judicial-

All the theories regarding arm, wrist and body action will be cast into discord when Tommy McAuliffe, the world's champion armless golfer, tees off Sunday afternoon, August 23, over the Renmor golf course in a special exhibition, which is offered for golfers in Grosse Pointe and Detroit and the sporting fraternity.

McAuliffe plays golf, and mighty good golf without either arm. It's something to ponder over, Mr. Golfer and Mr. Sportsman. Words fail to describe this unusual performer. Must be seen to be appreciated—even thenyou go away wondering what two arms are really for.

That McAuliffe knows the game, can write it and play it is evidenced by the fact that he was secretary of the Buffalo District Golf Association from 1920 to 1929 inclusive.

Tommy laughs at bunkers and traps as well as bad lies. His scores are better than 70 per cent of players at any course. For grit and determination applied to practical purpose, we nominate Tommy as the shining example.

He suffered the loss of both arms when a lad of nine, when he fell in front of a heavy laden stone car, which severed both arms just below the shoulder. He was in the hospital but two weeks and a day—and has been out! going eyer since. He returned to school and took his regular place in the classroo. Write! He does that by holding pencil, or pen in his mouth-although he originally learned to write by holding these markers between his right shoulder and check, either way he writes 35 to 40 words per minute. The loss of arms was blow enough to crush the spirit of almost anyone, but he .carried on, which seems to be the habit of those who have the real misfortunes while you and I and the other fellow squawk when the toast is burned.

McAuliffe went through public school and graduated from high school as class president. He was manager of football, baseball and basket ball teams for three straight years. A member master class competition are to be reof the relay teams and a noted marathon | runner. He managed semi-pro ball teams. IT SEEMS THAT..

There is nothing more amusing (barring Mickey Mouse) than over-hearing little children's conversation, especially when they're at the age where they can't properly pronounce words. This column had the pleasure the other day of happening upon two little girls who were earnestly conversing about a cat that had just had a blessed event, beating the Canadian record by a mile. One of the girls asked her playmate

'Who's tittens is them?" "Our'd," replied the other girl. "Where didja dit 'em?"

Proudly cocking her head, the first ittle girl answered: "Our tat laid 'em!" (So what has a chicken that a cat hasn't got?)

In every household where a tramp cat has found a home there is always a problem to be dealt with when said cat has the audacity to become a mother-without consulting the master or mistress of the house. (Cats are very inconsiderate that way).

Usually the cats are of no known origin, as far as pedigree is concerned and so the litter is usually done away with; unless there are children in th home who demand that the kittens be retained. Then there arises the task of raising them to the point where kittens are no longer kittens. They're just plain ordinary cats. At this point the children's father takes the cats for a ride, telling his children that the cats ran away.

In other instances, the kittens are usually drowned immediately after

Wouldn't it be simpler to drown the cat before she becomes "that way," fore she has won your favor, that to drown a litter of kittens who never had a chance to make something of themselves in the world?

F. L. tells this one about a fellow who obeyed his mother's wishes only to be severely reprimanded for it.

It seems that a woman had a very expensive angora cat, which she had cared for and coddled for a good many years. In fact the cat had grown quite old, demanding a lot of attention and getting into a lot of mischief.

Naturally the antics of the cat made the woman very mad at times.

One day when the cat was feeling rather frisky, chasing its ball about the house, jumping up and down the furniture, and playing with the drapes the woman exclaimed "Oh, dear! I wish somebody would shoot that thing!" Of course she didn't mean it, acting upon the impulse of the moment like most

We must protect American farmers, especially from such legislation as lost him $300,000,000 in his own home market in 1935 alone, compelling this nation for the first time in history to make wholesale imports of food supplies, foreign farmers getting the profits. In so protecting the farmer we also will be protecting the American city consumer from inexcusable increases in his cost of living.

We must cut down expenses of government in order to hold down the terrific taxes now faced by the entire nation and the greater part of which will be taken out of the pockets of people who make less than $5,000 a

We must wipe out the horde of political parasites who are getting more out of the Federal relief dollar than are the people for whom it was interid-

We must aid the unemployed to get real employment, not dole jobs. To accomplish this we must help business, not hold it back by the constant interference of bureaucrats.

About the best thing we can do in the elections this Fail is to get rid of the present "rubber stamp" Congressmen who have appropriated 20 billion dollars of the people's money in the past two years, without knowing how most of it is to be used. Surrendering their own power over legislation, these 'yes men have passed what laws they were ordered to pass, without any regard to whether they were badly drawn and half baked.

As a result, the courts threw out most of their main acts. But they have no thanks for a Supreme Court which has protected them in their own rights; and which will not allow them, under the Constitution, to abdicate their legislative powers and turn them would-be dictators.

To get back to truly American gov ernment we must get rid of the kind of Congressmen who think their duties consist only of getting a bunch of political jobs for their families, relatives and friends, and of giving work on public relief projects only to those who will vote to keep them in office As Congressman, I will work for such legislation as is needed to solve the real problems of the times.

Highway Contract Awards Announced

The U.S. Procurement Division and Works Progress Administration an rounced today the award of contracts for fourteen oil laggregate highway construction projects involving a total expenditure of nearly half a million

The projects are on a cooperative construction program between the WP A and the state highway department for surfacing gravel highways with dust-proof, oil aggregate. Jurisdiction of the highway department is limited to the recommendation of projects, 15 to 20 per cent of the cost as the state sponsor, and the engineering and con struction supervision. All other details are handled by the WPA.

Under the new contracts 102.4 miles of gravel roads will be surfaced. State Highway Commissioner Murray 1). Van Wagoner said the new work will raise the total mileage to 184.05 miles under contract, construction, or completed on the cooperative program of his department with the WPA.

Our share of state funds is so limited state funds, the commissioner said. The only way we can approximate the needs on trunklines off the Federal Aid system is through this cooperative program with the WPA. This program is also an effective solution to the dust problem on gravel roads

Seven of the projects totaling more than $225,000 are in the Upper Peninsula. More than 22 miles will be surfaced on M-28, an important east-west that we have been unable to launch a tourist highway in that section of the construction program exclusively with state, while 11.7 miles are on M-95.

Modern Mothers Stay Young

(From the Nutrition Department of Detroit Dairy and Food Council) Of all the heritages a parent may bequeath to his child, the memory of gay, understanding and lovely parents

it the greatest. A high percentage of modern children will be fortunate owners of these happid memories because parents of to day are learning the waysome which they may retain their youth and vitality long years beyond the expectancy of a generation ago.

The day when a mother thought only of the well-being of the child is long past, for the modern mother has discovered that looking out for her own health and well-being is one of the finest ways of being able to better guide the destiny of her family.

Proper health habits, a good diet alert interests, exercise, visits to her favorite beauty parlor are all part of the schedule of the modern mother, and they combine to keep her young lovely and interesting.

Her diet includes the same necessary foods that are prescribed for the children of the family-milk, fruits, vegeevery day. Her regime includes weight phone Lenox 2121. control, and she is neither overweight

Today a woman is fully acquainted with the facts concerning all foods. Milk, she knows, will help her keep her teeth sound and strong, will keep the calcium of her body and bones from being depleted when she bears a child. She knows it helps keep her muscles elastic and supple, her hair shiny, her complexion lovely and her eyes bright will, in short, keep her young.

Part of her youthfulness is demonstrated by her wish to surprise her family with new and healthful foods, and to make of daily meals, events to be remembered. Some different recipes for the up-to-date cook follow:
