Lions Club to Hold Baby Clinic Sept. 25

Final arrangements have been completed for the Lions Clubs baby clinic which will open on Monday, September 28. The clinic will be established on the fourteenth floor of the Hotel Statler under the direction of a committee of doctors representing the Wayne County Medical Association.

The first purpose of the clinic is to examine 1,000 babies who have been entered in the Lions Clubs Better Baby contest and select the one most nearly perfect in health. This prize winning youngster will later be crowned as Detroit's "Perfect Baby" at a huge community party to be staged at the Olympia on October 14.

The more significant phase of the clinics work will be the thorough and conscientious examination of every child entered in the contest by competent physicians. A detailed report on the physical condition of every child will be given to each mother. With this information the parents can take the proper steps to have any weaknesses or defects corrected.

J. J. Russell, director of the Lions Club program who has arranged similar clinics in many other cities, states in connection with this work, "The clinical examination of supposedly perfectly healthy babies has proved itself an invaluable service and pays dividends in the health of innumerable children throughout the years to come. It is surprising how many serious defects are thus detected. Fortunately at this early stage in the child's development these can usually be corrected.

It is hoped that this clinic project will not only benefit these babies entered in the contest, but that it will promote general interest in child health and welfare by bringing to the attention of all parents the necessity of regular examinations of their children.

The Wayne County Medical Association has enthusiastically endorsed the project and seventy-five of its members will conduct the work of the clinic. Assisting these doctors and specialists will be a staff of qualified nurses who have also volunteered their services.

The Wayne County Medical Association has enthusiastically endorsed the project and seventy-five of its members will conduct the work of the clinic. Assisting these doctors and specialists will be a staff of qualified nurses who have also volunteered their services.

The clinic project is a part of the Community Service Program now being carried on by the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Lions Clubs. This program will be climaxed on October 14 with a huge Community Party at the Olympia when the "Perfect Baby" will be crowned. At this time a mammoth twenty act entertainment review featuring radio, night club, and theatrical stars will be presented and the Queen of Honor of the Service Program will be acclaimed.

Proceeds from the ticket sale to this event will go to the Lions Fund for underprivileged children and the blind. Forty Detroit business firms are cooperating in the tickets distribution and each of them has delegated its employees to aid in this service.

Three Local Boys Killed in Accident Monday At Port Huron, Mich.

A widowed mother, only 17, wept softly today at her home, 2196 Canton avenue. She is Mrs. Doris Cookson.

Her husband, Harry, or "Bud" as he was called around home, was killed Monday in an auto crash near Port Huron. The same accident claimed the lives of two of his friends, while still another lies near death in a Port Huron hospital.

Mrs. Cookson, small and frightened, tightly clasps her three-month-old baby, Dianne.

She doesn't say much, but tear-stained cheeks testify to her grief.

"We were so happy, Bud and I," she said. "And Dianne was just three months old yesterday—the last day I saw Bud alive."

"Why couldn't this have happened to a couple not so happy as we were?"

At 1042 Lakepointe avenue, Grosse Pointe Park, a gizzled policeman paces the floor of his modest flat. His eyes are red from weeping. He is Thomas F. Vaughan.

His son, Thomas Jr., 22, was the second of the three youths to meet death.

Aloysius Cadioux Wins Cuban Trip

Mr. Aloysius Cadioux of the Kelvinator Corporation, Detroit Branch, located at 2842 West Grand Boulevard, received word today that he had been selected by Kelvinator Corporation as one of its 25 leading salesmen of commercial refrigeration in the entire United States and awarded a trip to Havana, Cuba. Mr. Cadioux sailed from New York on Monday, Sept. 21st, with a group of more than 600 Kelvinator salesmen, executives and invited guests aboard the Cunard-White Star liner Franconia, which has been chartered by Kelvinator for the round trip. The group will include in addition to the 25 leading commercial salesmen of domestic refrigeration and 50 engaged in wholesale sales. The party will reach Havana on Friday, Sept. 25, remaining in the Cuban capital for two days and arriving back in New York on Thursday morning, October 1.

The cruise in part will take the form of a "floating university," said Mr. Cadioux. "With national-known authorities speaking on subjects pertinent to the refrigeration industry. Among these will be Professor Robert F. Elder of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Dr. Vergil Reed of the U. S. Department of Commerce, and Thomas Beck, publisher of Collier's."

In addition to this, company executives, including George W. Mason, president and chairman of the board of Kelvinator Corporation, and H. W. Burritt, Vice President in charge of sales, will make talks on the trip, on the corporation's programs and policies. While the cruise is arranged as a reward for consistent sales effort, it will afford an opportunity for the men out in the field to get better acquainted with the executives of the company behind the firing line in Detroit.

Princeton Once Had Lotteries

Seven lotteries were authorized for the benefit of Princeton university, then the College of New Jersey, between 1748 and 1772, and the proceeds ranged from 600 to 3,000 pounds.

Easy to Find Fault "It's so easy to find fault," said Uncle Eben, "dat a man who is sure enough smart ought to be ashamed to waste his energies dat way."

Religious Drama Oriental drama is basically religious and social, authorities say.

"I've spent my life raising that boy," he said.

"Now he's gone."

As Vaughan speaks, he pauses to comfort his wife, Hannah.

"Hannah wasn't Tommy's real mother," Vaughan tells newspapermen. "His real mother died when he was but four. But she considered him as her own."

"We last saw Tommy Sunday evening. He and Paul (Paul Rife, 21, of 17250 Maumee avenue, City of Grosse Pointe, also killed in the crash) were cooking their evening meal at our house. They were happy, and were talking of the fun they were going to have that night."

The "fun" they youths planned ended in death when their new car left the road on M-21 at more than a mile a minute.

In front of the Rife home stood a cleaner and dyer's truck. Paul Rife drove this truck home from work Saturday night. He was to return it Monday morning.

Paul's mother called his employers yesterday to come after the truck. Paul couldn't drive it any more. He was killed.

While all was sorrow at the Cookson, Vaughan and Rife homes today, a hopeful mother leaned over a hospital cot in the Port Huron hospital. She is Mrs. Cora Ulrich.

Her 21-year-old son, Carl, was the only survivor of the crash. His condition is critical. Carl's oldest sister was to be married next Saturday night at the Ulrich home, 3460 Algonquin avenue. Those plans are at a standstill, pending the outcome of Carl's injuries.

The four youths, all pals from boyhood, went for a ride early Monday morning when "Bud" Cookson got off work. Whether a dense fog, an unbanked curve or excessive speed caused the crash is a matter of conjecture. There were no witnesses.

St. John's Day Music Festival September 28

Michigan music lovers will have a rare opportunity to hear one of Uncle Sam's most famed and accomplished musical aggregations when the United States Navy Band makes its only appearance of the season at the Masonic Temple Auditorium in Detroit, Monday, September 28. The great band, known far and wide for its rendition of glorious music both on the radio and concert stage, will appear under the auspices of the St. John's Day League, an organization of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb County Masons.

Perhaps no band in existence possesses the wide program range for which the United States Navy Band is noted. Whether it plays a stirring march, a lilting popular air or an intricate symphonic arrangement its 40 skilled musicians, all artists in their own right, blend themselves into one of the most perfectly attuned bands of our day.

So that this program will suit every taste for music, Lieut. Charles Benter, U.S.N., director, has selected for presentation in Detroit a wide range of numbers, which includes popular, military, classical and semi-classical airs.

Included in the personnel of this internationally-known band are four of the nation's leading soloists. Oscar Short, cornetist, has appeared in solo with such celebrated conductors as Arthur Pryor, Edward Franko Goldman and John Philip Sousa. Bernard Rosenthal, violinist, has been soloist with both the Baltimore and Washington Symphony orchestras. To radio fans everywhere the names of Clarence Edwards, trombonist and Louis Gouchier, xylophonist, are well known.

As a feature of the Navy band's appearance in Detroit's Masonic Temple auditorium this year, there will be special children's concerts at 2:30 and 3:30, on the afternoon preceding the main program, which is scheduled for 8:30. Children will be admitted to the afternoon performances for the small fee of 25 cents. Prices for the evening performance are 50 cents, $1 and $1.50. In Detroit tickets now are on sale at Grinnell Brothers. Mail orders should be addressed to St. John's Day League, Masonic Temple, Detroit.

Because the entire proceeds from this concert will be given to charity all admission tickets will be tax free.

Elaine Marie Arndt's Note to Mothers

Your children's feet are valuable! They should be strengthened and preserved and with the proper exercise much can be done to improve weak arches and other physical defects. It is a duty of the mothers to prepare their children for life in which health is one of the most important features, and so it is for you to create strong bodies with graceful figures, having poise and feeling and appreciation of the arts, and we know that all this can be accomplished with competent training in the dance. Be cautious in your selection of a teacher as improper training will accomplish no good.

The Elaine Marie Arndt Dance Studio is endorsed by the Chicago Association of Dancing Masters, the Dancing Masters of America and leading dancing schools of the United States. Miss Arndt teaches correct and artistic dancing of all types to children and adults, beginners and advanced, professional dancers and teachers.

Besides the ever-popular tap and ballet classes, Miss Arndt offers courses in ballroom dancing in four groups, children, high school age, adults, and advanced classes. All groups include instruction in social etiquette. Also courses for women in tap and step dancing, reducing and calisthenics if desired.

The Elaine Marie Arndt studio is located at 919 Barrington road, in the first block south of Jefferson. Lenox 7639.

Neighborhood Club Activities

Neighborhood Club girls' classes will start the week of October 5. These classes include gymnasium, cooking, metalcraft, handcraft, junior dramatics, girl guards, tap dancing, and social dancing.

U. D. Varsity Lineup Ready for Western Tilt Friday Night

A veteran University of Detroit team will oppose another eleven well fortified in experienced men when Western State Teachers College comes to the Titan stadium to open the season.

It is probable that Detroit will start 10 lettermen and one player who is on the squad for the third season, though not yet possessed of the varsity "D." Western State has ten lettermen but the majority of them will be on the bench at the opening whistle with a strong sophomore group replacing them.

Western State is coached by Mike Gary, late of Minnesota, who naturally uses the offensive formations that have brought his alma mater so much success. Detroit does not see as much of this style of football as the Notre Dame system, but has been working on it ever since the practice season opened. The Titans are certain to hold their own or better in straight football as they have a very powerful attack and a defense that no enemy has consistently pierced by running plays in the last couple of seasons or more. But the Titans haven't shown anything in the way of a forward passing attack, nor have they developed what could be called an adequate defense against one. Consequently they are a little afraid that the enemy will score by the overhead route.

According to advance information, Western State hasn't been able to develop its passing game to the point it reached last year. The reason for this is that Jerry Neuman, former Detroit high school star, who was expected to be the mainstay of the team this year in punting and passing, isn't available. An automobile accident last summer caused his loss to the team. There are four fair passers left but nobody that compares with Neuman. The same thing applies to punting. However, it isn't likely that the Teachers will be much outclassed in the kicking department for Dorais is still looking for a consistent punter. He has several fair ones, but nobody who can be relied on to get height and distance all the time, in spite of the fact that the strong line can hold long enough to give them every chance.

Dorais will try to use all of his new men at some time in the game if the state of the score warrants it, but will keep the veterans in until he thinks victory is assured. He is particularly anxious to get a look at his sophomore talent under fire before the Villa Nova game, which is scheduled for Sunday, October 2. That promises to be one of the hardest battles of the fall and competitive experience is needed by the men who are on the varsity squad for the first time.

Women's Republican Club to Meet Oct. 6

The chairman, Mrs. Edwin Kriehoff, is very desirous of a record attendance.

INSURANCE TIPS

Wayne University has announced the addition of two insurance courses to its evening school curriculum for the coming term. One course will cover Fire and Marine lines, and will be conducted by Mr. H. Thompson Stock (M. B. A. Harvard and A. B. U. of M.), who is actively engaged in the insurance business as a partner of Arthur J. Stock Insurance Agency, Detroit. Mr. Stock is also well known as a writer on insurance topics and as chairman of the publicity and education committee of the Detroit Association of Insurance Agents and a member of the same committee of the National Association of Insurance Agents.

The other course will cover the field of Casualty, Fidelity and Surety. Mr. Harold Reinhold (L. B. Before coming to the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company Mr. Reinhold was chief clerk at the Detroit office of the Bradstreet company.

As far as it is practicable the Case method of instruction will be used and special emphasis placed on the application of the lines covered to actual business problems. Both courses may be taken during the same term. They are designed to appeal particularly to young executives, credit men, insurance agents and to anyone interested in the various phases of the insurance business.

The class in fire insurance meets Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 and the casualty, surety and fidelity class on Thursday evenings during the same hours. Classes start September 23 and September 24. The term includes 16 weeks.

The courses are sponsored by the Detroit Association of Insurance Agents and already considerable interest has been shown by prospective students, many of whom are actively engaged in the insurance business.

How Blackbird Got Its Color Is Ancient Myth

The blackbird, that shy handsome fellow with his glossy black coat and golden beak, was once upon a time, so the French fable tells us, pure white. One day in the woods he came upon a magpie, busily engaged in hiding his stolen treasure of jewels.

"Where can I get such a store?" asked the white bird. The magpie, being nervous of betrayal, told him to go to the palace of the King of Riches in the bowels of the earth, but warned him to touch nothing until he had received permission from the prince. He set out on his quest and flew through cavern after cavern, until he came to one formed entirely of gold, and gold dust lay thick on the floor. The adventurer could restrain himself no longer, but plunged his greedy bill into the gold dust, whereupon a horrible demon sprang out of the ground, spewing forth soot and smoke. Although the bird escaped with his life, he had now a jet-black plumage and a gold-stained bill. And since then, every time the blackbird hears a sudden noise in the wood, he rushes out of the bushes with cries of alarm, for who knows what terrible demon may pursue him again?

Frankincense Used in Ancient Burial Rites

A toy-size bronze bucket, hung as a necklace ornament, yielded evidence that the inhabitants of Germany in that remote time used frankincense in their funeral rites. The little bucket, complete with handle and miniature stirring rod, was found in a grave at Stargard castle, near Bergensdorf.

Its hardened contents, mixed with debris that had got into the grave during its long burial, were sent to a Berlin microscopist. His examination and analysis showed that the matrix material consisted of partly burned frankincense. Apparently the little bucket, which was less than an inch high, was filled with the incense at some point during the funeral ceremonies, and after this use as a censor was hung around the neck of the departed with a fine-linked chain.

Use of Nature's Gifts

There are no indications that in remote time either oil or gas was put to much practical use as modern people understand that term, but there is little doubt that priests of the fire-worshipping cult which flourished in old Persia made "good things" out of the phenomena. Not far from Baku are the ruins of a temple of the cult which is believed to have been in existence for more than 2,500 years. Tower beacons and altars are provided with channels concealed in the masonry, which demonstrate that gasfitting is not a craft of modern birth. These channels led from fissures in the earth which once furnished natural gas. To this temple came pilgrims from all parts of the East as late as the eighties of the last century. Besides the walls of the temple today stands a modern refinery, furnishing an emphatic contrast in the old and new uses of Nature's gift of oil and gas.

Mother Goose Theory Applied

The old Mother Goose method of handling stray sheep applies to stray mules, also. It would seem from an occurrence in Scranton, Pa. "Leave them alone and they'll come home, dragging their tails behind them," quoted an official of a coal company, when notified by an amateur "Buffalo Bill" that he was organizing a crowd to round up the 12 mules who had wandered from the company's yard. Sure enough, the mules came home after reaching territory unfamiliar to them, dragging their tails behind them—as predicted, and expected.

Rare Luther Bible

A Bible illustrated by pictures painted by Martin Luther, the great German reformer, and bearing many notes in his handwriting, was discovered by a Danish bookseller. He purchased a collection of books from a German family. Among them was the precious Bible. Besides notes in Luther's writing, the Bible bears notes written by other leading figures in the German Reformation movement. These include Melancthon, the reformer who was acknowledged to be the movement's leading scholar.

Mail Deliveries on Stamps

Mexico printed a curious set of stamps in 1895 which gave a series of tableaux depicting the various ways of handling mail. The one cent, for instance, showed a postman delivering mail on foot; the four cent, a postman mounted on a mule; the ten cent revealed a mail coach, while the one-peso had a picture of a mail train.

Sparrows' Eggs, but Why?

In the account rolls of Biester price of the time of Henry VI is a curious item for 12 pounds of sparrows' eggs for 13 pence, says F. H. Crossley in the English Abbey. Just what the eggs were used for or how extensively they were sold is unknown.

Christian Science Church

"Reality" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, September 27.

Among the Bible citations is the following (II Sam. 22: 31, 33): "As for God, his way is perfect; the word of the Lord is tried; he is a buckler to all she that trust in him. God is my strength and power; and he maketh my way perfect."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 353): "Perfection underlies reality. Without perfection, nothing is wholly real. All things will continue to disappear, until perfection appears and reality is reached."

Building Loan to Report Progress

Figures showing that industrial centers of Michigan are experiencing a shortage of housing facilities, and that in cases of well-maintained property, rents are raising, are shown in a preliminary survey of the annual report now being compiled by the Building and Loan Division of the Department of State.

The report being compiled for submission by Orville E. Atwood, Secretary of State, to Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald, will cover the 12 months ending June 30.

Activities of building and loan associations of Michigan, as reflected in records of the Building and Loan Division, show that these associations have had a vital part in supporting the institutions of government during the past year. By the payment of delinquent taxes on property held by them, payment of taxes on their own property, and loans to their borrowers so that levies on their property might be paid, these associations will be shown to have contributed hundreds of thousands of dollars to make economic recovery an actuality.

Michigan has 70 active building and loan associations, 52 state-chartered associations, and 18 federal-chartered. Assets of the Michigan associations amount to $109,673,509. of this amount the state-chartered associations have $97,529,389, and the 18 federal associations, $12,144,120.

musical. Most of the music will be congregational singing. There will be some special music by the senior and junior choirs and the Girls' Fireside Sextette. The pastor will preach a short sermon on "Mulberry Trees Talk to Us." The Sunday School, Mr. H. H. McNeill, superintendent, is observing Christian Education Week from September 27 until October 4. The coming Sunday is Promotion Sunday, when the various classes are promoted from one department to another.

Wednesday evening the pastor will speak on some phase of Christian education. Sunday, October 4 will be sort of a Rally Sunday in the entire church through all its organizations.

night, Sunday to Sunday, beginning October 4, when the Rev. Edgar DeWitt Jones, D. D., will be the preacher.

Springs in Canadian Rockies. The five chief springs in the Canadian Rockies have a total flow of about 1,000,000 gallons a day, and issue from the ground the year round at temperatures ranging from 78 to 122 degrees Fahrenheit. The chief constituents of the waters are calcium sulphate, or gypsum; calcium bicarbonate, and sulphate, and their therapeutic value is high. Winter weather does not in any way affect the temperature of these waters.

February Called Cabbage Month; Later Sun Month

The ancient Saxons called February Sproutkale, or the Sprouting of the Cabbage. Later, this was changed to Summonath, or sunmonth, because it was at this period that daylight increased and the pruning of trees began.

The word February comes from the Latin, "februare," meaning "to expiate," because, during this month the Roman ceremony of purification took place. Originally, it was the last month of the year, and not until 452 B. C. did February assume its present place.

When Julius Caesar reformed the calendar, he gave 31 days to each alternate month from January, and 30 to the others, with the exception of February, which got 80 in leap year and 29 every other year. But when Augustus took power, he was unwilling that the month named after him should be shorter than those on either side, so he took a day from February and added it to August. So that three months of 31 days should not run consecutively, he reversed the other two.

Tailor Ants Use Living Spools in Nest Building

The tailor ants and a few other ants are unique among all the earth's creatures, so far as we know, in that they use their young as tools in nest construction.

Few adult insects spin silk, but the larvae of many have this ability to enclose themselves in silken cocoons, from which they will later emerge as fully formed adults. The tailor ant utilizes this accomplishment of its young in making its nests.

Scientists have often torn one of the leaves that formed its box-shaped nest and then watched the proceedings. At first there is a wild sorting on the part of the ants, all in fighting mood. They cannot sting, but they bite annoyingly.

After they have given up trying to find and destroy the intruder, worker ants seize larvae in their mandibles and bring them to the damaged portions. Other workers seize the edges of the leaves and pull them together, while those with the larvae pass them back and forth, stimulating the grub to exude silk, which sticks and holds the pieces of the leaves together.

After their silk has been used for the common good, the luckless larvae have to sleep naked.

The tailor ant lives throughout the Old World tropics and is one of the few ants that are greenish in color, though some of its varieties are red and one, in West Africa, is brown almost to black.—National Geographical Magazine.

Buses Are Now Running Over Old Desert Trails

For the first time in history, buses are running between Baghdad and Mecca. Southward over the Arabian desert which the old-fashioned caravan took a month to cross, the faithful are now whirled in three days' time with their beards and turbans flying in the wind. For 800 miles the big six-wheeled desert omnibuses follow the ancient track across the high steppes where nothing exists but space, time and the Bedouin.

This is one of the oldest desert tracks in the world. Centuries ago it was used by Chinese, Indian and Persian as well as Baghdad caravans, swelling before they reached Mecca into huge companies numbering many thousands of worn camels and parched veiled men, with a few big camels and pattering little donkeys in the lead and all the miles of winding length behind obscured by the slow clouds of rising dust.

Van Wagoner Getting Prepared for Snow Removal on Roads

The first crisp days of autumn find State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner mapping plans for his department's annual snow-removal program next winter.

With the experience of last winter's greatest snow-removal emergency in modern history behind him, the commissioner said heavier equipment will be necessary to prevent blockades on trunkline highways. Tentative plans call for the purchase of nine ten-ton, four-wheel drive trucks and an additional "Snow-Go." A number of new snow plows will also have to be purchased.

The "Snow-Go," which throws the snow away from the shoulders and ditches is ordinarily used only in the Upper Peninsula but last year it was necessary to bring two of the machines down to the western section of Lower Michigan to open-up blockades.

Ten-ton trucks are expected to handle all but the worst of the blockades. They are heavy enough to break through the compacted snow and are faster than the "Snow-Go." These trucks can also be used the year-round for other types of maintenance work.

In addition to this equipment, maintenance engineers are busy re-conditioning the existing inventory and planning replacements. The snow-removal land, and Mrs. Charles H. Mooney, emergency last winter took a heavy equipment toll.

Assistant district engineers in charge of maintenance have asked for a total of 125 more miles of snow fences for next winter. The department already has more than 700 miles of fence.

The snow removal budget of last winter amounted to $1,150,000.

Clipping of Whiskers on Bust of Thackeray

One of the most curious events that ever occurred in England's famous Westminster Abbey was the clipping of the whiskers on the bust of Thackeray in the Poet's Corner. Thackeray's daughter, Lady Ritchie, had objected for years that the whiskers on each side of the face were too long, and at last asked the dean to let her have them shortened.

The Dean consented reluctantly, and accompanied by a sculptor, Lady Ritchie arrived one morning for the work. The bust was taken to the crypt, where the whiskers were chiseled to their proper length. Then the sculptor flicked off the statue with a cloth, just as a barber would have after shaving someone, and it was returned to its niche.

Joy

Joy is a flame which association alone can keep alive, and which goes out unless communicated.—Lamartine.

Who partakes in another's joys is a more humane character than he who partakes in his griefs.—Lavater.

True joy is a serene and sober motion.—Seneca.

Joy never feasts so high as when the first course is of misery.—Suckling.

Joy is more divine than sorrow; for joy is bread, and sorrow is medicine.—Beecher.

All who joy would win must share it; happiness was born a twin.—Byron.

The Palisades

The Palisades is the name given to a series of massive cliffs on the west bank of the Hudson river. From near Haverstraw, N. Y., these extend south to Weehawken, N. J., a distance of about 30 miles. These precipitous cliffs rise almost directly from the water's edge, varying in height from 200 to 350 feet. They consist of basaltic trap rock or diabase, in marked columnar effects. The Palisades Interstate park, covering more than 48,000 acres in New York and New Jersey, embraces some of the finest portions of the Palisades.

Reason for Weeping

The Brown family had fattened the hog, which they had canned for future use on the table, and they had fattened the yearling they had slaughtered and canned. When the frying-size chickens were plump and fat, they, too, had been killed and canned.

One morning Mr. Brown lifted little Robert onto his lap, remarking: "My, my, but this child is getting fat!"

The little fellow immediately burst into tears. "I don't want to be killed!" he sobbed.

A Man With Friends

Happy is the man with his own clustered around him; a man working freely at his art or craft; a man with fast friends; a man with good fellows; a man with brave tenants; a man with an altar; freedom and self-discipline; freedom and sacrifice; freedom and festival and a foretaste of heaven—these things make for happiness.

Work

If your work is distasteful, love it into shape, and keep in your mind a desire for something better and more congenial and make yourself worthy of such work when it comes your way. No matter how un congenial your task is today, consider it a blessing that you have employment, and push along to better things.

Age for Presidents

The President must be a natural born citizen and at least thirty-five years old, but no maximum age is specified. William Henry Harrison, sixty-eight at the time of his inauguration, was the oldest at time of election, but James Buchanan, nearly seventy when he left office, was the oldest in office.

Invented Archimedes Screw

Archimedes invented a number of mechanical devices for increasing manual power, including the Archimedes screw for raising water from a lower to a higher level. By means of various ingenious military engines of his own devising he succeeded in keeping the Romans out of Syracuse for three years.

King Henry VIII's Armor

A suit of armor made for King Henry VIII consisted of 235 pieces and weighed 93 pounds.

Gypsies in a Reservation

All over the world the gypsy is regarded as an undesirable. Wherever he locates the effort is at once made to move him along. Picturesque and romantic, he is, at the same time a born thief. In some parts of Europe the gypsy tribes are to be encountered in great numbers and in Czechoslovakia, to put a stop to his roving and also his pilfering propensities, measures have been passed by the administrative council to keep the gypsies in control, the Washington Star relates. They are to be registered, confined to limited areas and punished if they leave them. This is preliminary to the establishment of reserves in which the gypsy may exist as a picturesque survival.

Origin of Blotting Paper

No definite date is assigned to the discovery of blotting paper. It is mentioned as early as the year 1495—at that time consisting of a coarse, gray unsized paper, fragments of which have been found among the leaves of Fifteenth century accounts, where it had been left after being used for blotting, says a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. It was probably in ordinary use early in the sixteenth century, for it is referred to in W. Horman's "Vulgaria," 1519, and early in the next century "charta bibula" is mentioned in the "Pinacotheca" of Niclaus Erythraeus.

Meaning of "Points"

The term four point, in referring to a blanket, means weight. A point is a Canadian unit of weight slightly more than a pound, a writer relates in the Indianapolis News. A Hudson's Bay blanket is a very heavy all-woolen blanket, used by trappers and traders—like an army blanket, except that it is even heavier. It may be gray, tan or patterned, but a favorite color is red. Other trapper-point blankets come in white with colored striped borders.

500 Viking Graves Yield Relics

Thirty of the some 500 Viking graves in Wislanteen, near the popular, Baltic sea, resort Cranz, were opened by the authorities of the Prussia museum of Kongsberg and yielded historically valuable finds. Among these are scales and weights, indicating that the Swedish Viking settlement included merchants. The graves date from the Ninth and Tenth centuries.

Giant Water Bug

The giant water bug is rapacious, feeding greedily on other insects and small fish. Like other water bugs, they fly readily from pond to pond, and are frequently attracted to light. This is especially the case where electric lights are used. With many of them the female fastens her eggs on the top of the back of the male with a thin layer of waterproof glue, which she secretes for this purpose.

In Archery

In archery, to make a gold means to hit the bull's-eye, the golden center of the target.

WHAT THE NEW SIGHT-SAVER LAMP MEANS TO School children

At school age, twenty children out of every hundred have defective vision. At college age, the number has increased to forty out of every hundred. This incredible and tragic story of crippled eyes can be blamed in large part on the needless abuse of the eyes—and partly to improper lighting in the home. Straining the eyes to read newspaper or a printed page under poor and inadequate light, writing or studying under a glaring lamp which casts harsh shadows... these are the things which will slowly but surely result in damaged eyesight. During school years, when a child is using his eyes extensively, it is doubly important that you have good lighting in the home. This is what the new Sight-Saver lamp provides—soft, restful light without glare. Have your children's eyes examined every year—and get one of the new Sight-Saver lamps for your home.

Fresh Oysters

Potatoes and Gravy

(Nutrition Department, Detroit Dairy and Food Council)

It's the little things in cooking that often make the difference between a good or a poor cook. Sometimes it is learning to do the small things right that seem the hardest to the beginning cook.

Take mashed potatoes for instance—almost a national food for us here in America. If they are done right—fluffy, white, smooth and delicious—they are a group addition to any table; but if the cook slips up on them, they sadden a table considerably. Even experienced cooks fall often in this part of a meal.

For success with the potatoes, boil them until they are just tender when a fork is run into them. Drain, and incidentally, save the potato water from them. Be sure that all of the water is drained off thoroughly. This is important step number one. Shake them in the pan so they will not stick, and so they will be mealy. Set them over the heat for a moment to be sure they are dry. Mash them with a will, and allow not one single unmashed portion to spoil the finished product. After they are well mashed, hollow out a place and pour in the milk and warm gently over the fire. Beat in the milk, and finish whipping the potatoes to a fluffy whiteness with a fork or table-spoon. Be sure they are well seasoned, and kept hot until served.

Now you are ready for the gravy making, another place where cooks may fall short.

Loosen all particles of browned meat or juices which may be clinging to the skillet or broiler pan. Add flour for thickening, and stir well into the hot fat in the skillet. Allow the flour-fat mixture to brown lightly, while you stir it, but be sure it does not scorch. Add milk or milk mixed with potato water all at one time, then stir vigorously until smooth and the proper consistency.

Lumpy or pale gravy is an abomination which no husband should tolerate. If there is sufficient fat to take up all the flour in a smooth mixture before the liquid is added, you just can't have lumps form. Season the gravy well and serve piping hot.

Constitution Day Tea Well Attended

Among the sixty guests who attended the Constitution Day tea given Thursday afternoon at the Colony Club by Mrs. Lloyd DeWitt Smith, for 1812 Daughters, and a number of other friends, were noted Mrs. Charles Horton Metcalf, Mrs. Louis J. Flint, Mrs. Louis Gascoigne, Mrs. Paul Hale Bruske, Mrs. John Bennett, Mrs. Roy E. DeHart, Mrs. Lewis C. Dunn, Mrs. Robert L. Kerr, Mrs. Basil L. Connelly, Mrs. William F. Catlin, Miss Jessie Noble Hill, Mrs. William R. Walter. In another group, Mrs. Frederick C. Gilbert, Mrs. Charles E. Swales, Miss Gracie B. Krum, Mrs. Ralph E. Wisner, Mrs. Sidney C. Probert, Mrs. Orla B. Taylor and Mrs. Don Simpson were chatting.

Assisting Mrs. Smith in the receiving line were Mrs. Clarence J. Chandler, Mrs. James W. Partlan, Dr. Nelle G. C. Deffenbaugh, Mrs. Marvin L. Hoagland, and Mrs. Charles H. Mooney. Guests they greeted included Mrs. Lynn T. Miller, of Ithaca, Mrs. Frederick J. Hohn, of Saginaw, Miss D. Edith Bullock, of Howell. Others noted were Mrs. Frederick J. McMurtrie, Miss Dorothy Chandler, Mrs. Paul Chipman, Mrs. J. Carl Danziger, Mrs. A. L. Stillson, mother of Carol Stilson Turner, who sang so delightfully two groups of songs with Mrs. Kenneth Landis as accompanist. Orla B. Taylor announced permission to the 1812 Daughters to keep in the Detroit Historical Museum their 1812 treasures until such time as they shall have a suitable housing place of their own. Mrs. Francis C. McMath read charmingly an original poem she had composed in honor of the Constitution and the Flag, for this very occasion. Wirt I. Savery spoke impressively and inspiringly of the unique character of the Constitution. Then all gathered about the tea table, which was centered by a graceful arrangement of rose-colored dahlias and blue delphinium, interspersed and based with cybotium fern. Mrs. Gordon W. Kingsbury and Mrs. Chandler presided at the tea urns at either end of the table. Still others who congratulated Mrs. Smith on the delightful occasion were Mrs. Albert H. Hart, Mrs. Edward J. Savage, Mrs. Malcolm D. MacQueen, Mrs. P. H. Henry of Cincinnati, and her mother, Mrs. Hosea; Mrs. George Elliott, Mrs. L. E. Stebbins, Mrs. J. Harvey Maxwell, Miss Bessie West, Mrs. Forest McKee, Mrs. Norman Miller, Mrs. William F. Carter.

Van Goh Drawings to Be Exhibited at Institute of Arts

Nearly a million Americans will have seen the traveling exhibit of paintings and drawings by Vincent VanGogh when it opens at the Detroit Institute of Arts on October 6, to remain until the 28. In San Francisco, during one month, 227,540 people jammed the exhibition galleries and in Chicago, where the pictures are now in display, the crowds are so great that the Chicago Art Institute is having difficulty giving scheduled gallery talks. Detroit will be the ninth American city to show the famous pictures since they were first exhibited at New York's Museum of Modern Art last year. From Detroit they will go to Toronto for their last exhibition before being returned to their owner, Mme. Kroeller-Mueller, of Holland.

Some critics explain this phenomenal interest in the works of the Dutch artist by pointing to the biographies that have pictured him as the mad painter who cut off his own ear and sent it to a waitress, and who in 1890 shot himself; but others have seen in the enormous popularity of his pictures evidence that van Gogh had something to say to modern people. These critics maintain that he lived and painted 40 years ahead of his time, that except for occasional attacks of "epileptoid psychosis" he was perfectly sane, and that his brilliant portraits and landscapes with their glowing blues, greens, and yellows reveal the character of a sensitive man who might be alive today. They believe that van Gogh's nervous straining after he knew not what simply strikes a responsive chord in modern life, with its almost neurotic intensity, its uncertainty, and its ever increasing tempo.

The usual admission fee of 25 cents to the special exhibition galleries will be charged to help defray the expenses of the exhibit. Admission to the building, however, is free at all times by act of the Detroit City Council. Visiting hours are as formerly: Sunday, 2 to 6; Monday, closed all day; Tuesday, 1 to 5 and 7 to 10; Friday, 1 to 5 and 7 to 10; Saturday, 9 to 5.
