Lou Gehrig may go to Hollywood to star in Tarzan of the Apes, because of his massive chest expansion.

The prosecutor's staff is being shorn of investigators, the staff having been reduced about 75%, leaving just a handful to carry on the work.

The King of England is getting almost as much publicity in our newspapers as the presidential candidates.

Ann Harding and Harry Bannister seem to be having a difficult time abiding by the courts decision as to the custody of their seven-year daughter.

The Republican Party apparently became interested in the old age pension from a pecuniary angle and advocate a change.

Hollywood has scoured the country for new talent and fortunately unearthed a find in Hamtramck, and so the young lady is on her way for a screen test.

Inebriated citizen was found on Mack avenue rapping on a lamp post, on being approached he said "I know these people are home, see their light is lit, I'll break the door down. A hilarious crowd gathered to watch the proceedings."

Voters Urged To Exercise Franchise Tuesday, November 3

Are you or are you not a good citizen? Or, to put it more bluntly, are you or are you not a traitor to your country?

Every reader of this paper unhesitatingly and immediately will answer the first question in the affirmative and the second in the negative, in fact, you probably resent both inquiries.

But we are not interested in today's answers. They mean little. The real test of the sincerity of your answers will be determined by what you do on Tuesday, November 3rd.

We are not referring to whether you vote for any particular party, nor as to any candidate for any particular office. For the purpose of what we are here saying it makes no difference to us what party or what persons are the recipients of your vote.

The point is—will you go to the polls? Our answer is that between 30 and 40 per cent of you won't. That is three or four out of every ten who are eligible to vote will not visit the polls November 3.

You think we are exaggerating?

Out of 10,431 persons registered in Grosse Pointe Township at the date of the Primary Election, September 15th, only 4,786 persons voted. That means 46 per cent.

Of 3,600 persons registered in the City of Grosse Pointe on that same day only 1,454 or 40 per cent, cast a ballot.

So that in what is commonly known as the Grosse Pointe area there were 14,031 registered, but only 6,240 voted at the Primary. In other words, approximately five out of every 10 who were registered.

We don't know of any way of ascertaining what percentage of those living in the Grosse Pointe area have registered. If carelessness of those who registered and failed to vote is any criterion, then certainly the percentage of our population that could vote but has not even registered must be appalling.

But be that as it may, it is said that on an average only 53 per cent of those qualified to vote in the whole United States voted at the last four presidential elections.

The ordinary person living in our community naturally believes that such a situation could not exist in an educated neighborhood such as ours. But the figures belie that conclusion. As stated above, only 40 per cent in the City of Grosse Pointe and 46 per cent in the Township voted at the Primary.

But, oh, you say, there will be a lot more interest and many more who will vote at the November 3rd election! But will they? Four years ago our record was not so good. Thirty-five per cent of the registered voters did not go to the polls in what was up to that time at least one of the most vigorously contested national campaigns this country has ever experienced.

How we can so readily forget that American colonists fought for the principle of no taxation without representation and gave their lives and property for it while today non-voters toss aside this right is difficult of realization. But you cannot beat the figures.

The remedy is quite simple.

If everyone who voted September 15th would vote himself and see to it that he got to the polls on November 3rd one registered person who did not vote at the Primary the problem would be solved.

Talk to your friends about this. You'll be surprised how easy it will be for you to find amongst them at least one who is registered but failed to vote.

Certainly if you do not express yourself by voting on November 3rd you should not criticize what those elected may or may not do during their terms of office. And I am not certain but that unless you have a good excuse you as one who does vote should be barred from such criticism if you do not make it your special business to see to it that you get to the polls at least one registered person who failed to vote last month.

Won't you in the name of good citizenry vote yourself and get at least one other registered voter who failed to cast a ballot at the Primary to do likewise?

Thanks.

Alger and O'Hara Address G. P. Lions at Turnverein Luncheon

In the spacious and artistically designed club rooms of the Detroit Social Turnverein on Thursday, October 15th, the Grosse Pointe Lions assembled for their regular weekly luncheon. Following the introduction of several guests by the various members the President, Nelson L. Korte introduced the following honored guests: Mr. Frederick M. Alger, Jr., member of the distinguished Alger family of Grosse Pointe, Michigan and candidate for Congress on the Republican ticket from the Fourteenth Congressional district, Chester P. O'Hara, assistant attorney general and Guy W. Jensen, also an assistant to the Attorney General.

Mr. Alger spoke briefly of his acquaintance with several members of the Grosse Pointe Lions Club from boyhood and the many pleasant incidents leading up to the present.

Mr. O'Hara spoke at length of his work on Black Legion investigation and prosecution, and explained the basic reasons for its formation. Mr. O'Hara established an eminent record in this important trial by vigorously prosecuting those actually guilty and acquitting those who were innocently drawn into the Black Legion by influence, without knowing its real objectives.

The club presented Mr. Alfred Garska, past president with an honorary certificate for his untiring efforts in conducting the affairs of the club during his term of office, together with his work as chairman of the Grosse Pointe Goodfellows newspaper sale, a yearly event of the club.

Constructive Platform Outlined by Alger in Congressional Race

Voters of the Fourteenth Congressional District have become interested since the September primary election in the candidacy of Frederick M. Alger Jr., Republican nominee for Congress to an extent remarkable in such a strenuous year as 1936, when presidential, senatorial and state tickets usually dominate the political situation.

Although it is the first time that Fred Alger ever has campaigned for office, his personality and background have brought to his aid more than the usual amount of active support from workers willing to cover the district and call the attention of everyone to his qualifications for service as Congressman.

That the work-being done in his behalf by his campaign committees of both men and women is bearing results (Continued on Page Four)

Grosse Pointe suffered a great loss in the death of Ralph E. Beaupre last Sunday morning at the home of his parents, at 39 Lakeview avenue, Grosse Pointe Farms. He was one of the most popular individuals in the Township and an exceptionally capable and conscientious Township clerk.

His smiling personality will be missed by the many who transact business at the Township offices annually. A brilliant career came to a close at the age of 35. The Grosse Pointe Lions Club, of which he was a member, paid their last respects in a body Tuesday evening. He had been ill since early in the summer.

Mr. Beaupre was serving his fifth term as Township clerk. He was also proprietor of a hardware store at 326 Grosse Pointe boulevard. An ardent golf player, he took part in the annual tournaments between the sons of William F. and Michael C. Beaupre at the Plum Brook Golf course, operated by his father, Michael. The tournament, an event that always attracted more than 100 members of the Beaupre families, was not held this year because of his illness.

He leaves his wife, Pearl; six daughters, Shirley, Betty Jean, Paula, Joan, Judith and Mary Ellen, a son, Ralph Jr. his parents; four brothers, James A., Edwin C., Harold A. and Michael C. Jr., and five sisters, Mrs. Ann O'Connor, Mrs. Evelyn Guoin, Mrs. Margaret Crooks, Mrs. Harold Campbell and Virginia Beaupre.

Funeral services were held at 10 a. m. Wednesday in St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church.

Warning! Beware of Solicitors

If you're approached by a solicitor supposedly representing the Elaine Marie Arndt Dance Studio, or sometimes referred to as the Barrington Road Dance Studio, he is a fraud, as I positively do not have any canvasser out soliciting pupils for my school, and I would greatly appreciate a telephone call notifying me of the incident. He is not authorized to take any money—there is no enrollment fee for this studio. Pupils can pay for each lesson if they wish, as we rely on the value of our training to hold their interest. All lessons are given with piano accompaniment.

Enrollments are made by personal contact with the studio only, as by telephone or interview. The studio is located at 919 Barrington road, Lenox 7639.

State Distributes Tuition Money to School Districts

The States of Michigan will distribute $2,336,041.82 of tuition money to the various school districts this week. Mr. O'Hara states that the checks will be mailed to the County Treasurers on October 17th. The state now pays all high school tuition up to $65.00 per pupil. The amount of tuition due Wayne County is $65,440.00.

Inectine Advised for Graying Hair

Streaked or faded hair is inexcusable today, the beauticians claim. "Silver Threads Among the Gold" may be a grand old song, but the theme has no appeal to the average woman of 1936. Yet at a comparatively early age the average woman's hair begins to lose its lustre and brilliancy. The silver threads begin to gleam much sooner than they did in mother's youth. Tight hats, lack of care, and living in dry hot rooms also rob the hair of its softness and sheen.

There is a new treatment for hair designed to give that added "flap" to nature. The inectine colorblending is ideal for faded, streaked, or graying hair. Colorblending acts as a pick-me-up to tired nature. It brings back the natural lustre and subtle tints of youth. It is brushed on the hair, first at the roots and then worked through to the ends. When the untreated hair has grown out, more inectine is applied to the new growth only. A touch here! A touch there! Inectine makes hair harmoniously beautiful by colorblending. Inquire at your favorite beauty salon.

Grosse Pointe Lutheran Church

"A Great Church with a Great Message" will be the subject of the sermon at the Grosse Pointe Lutheran church, Richard School Auditorium, Kercheval avenue at McKinley Road, Sunday morning, October 25th, at 11 o'clock preached by the Rev. M. Luther Canup, D.D., pastor. This service will be held in celebration of the 419 anniversary of the founding of Protestantism, the nailing of the 95 Theses to the Church door at Wittenberg, Germany, by Martin Luther, October 30, 1517. Luther again made preaching popular in his day and released hymn singing anew. Some of Luther's famous hymns will be sung Sunday morning and Dr. Canup will reply to the statement recently made by a prominent clergyman in New York City, that all churches should declare a moratorium on preaching. The Holy Communion will be administered and there will be reception of adult members. Sunday school will convene at 9:45 a. m., holding a special Reformation service. Classes for beginners, primary, Junior boys and girls intermediate boys and girls, young people and adults. At 6 p. m. the young people of the parish and their friends will meet to organize a young people's society. New scholars are added to the Sunday school every Sunday. If you believe in giving your children a Christian education and you have no church home in Grosse Pointe, bring your family and come to our Sunday School and church services.

Neighborhood Club Activities

Construction Platform Outlined by Alger in Congressional Race

is observable on every hand. In addition he has spent nearly all of his own time in meeting voters in all parts of the district and his popularity has been growing steadily. With less than two weeks left before the November 3rd election, both he and his workers promise redoubled efforts to get out as heavy a vote in the district as is possible.

Alger has a strong personal program of action in the event of his election. In the literature being put out in his behalf he takes an advanced stand in all matters pertaining to social security and promises to look after the interests of all voters in the district, regardless of groups and fractions.

In the matter of old age pensions he takes the stand that the nation must establish an old age pension system to help care for those who have arrived at an age where they cannot do steady work to maintain themselves. This pension system, he declares, should pay the largest amount possible under a sensible and practical method worked out by experts; that it should have the backing of both the federal and state governments and that it should be worked out without further delay.

Another of his platform planks favors unemployment insurance and on this issue he states: "We must establish a workable and dependable system of insuring against unemployment. Workers, thrown out of work through no fault of their own, must be protected. This insurance system should be worked out by insurance actuaries and experts, not by politicians whose chief aim is the create new jobs for themselves. Unemployment insurance must be arranged for without further delay."

Still further advocacy of benefits and protection for workers is contained in his declaration that a way must be found to provide for decent minimum wages and decent working hours for labor; that there must be special protection for women and children; that sweat-shop exploiting of child labor, women's labor or any labor, must be stamped out for good; and that the various state governments should assist in this, amending state constitutions where necessary.

Alger also takes the ground that the restoring of real work for the army of unemployed depends largely on aiding business, large and small, to get on a firm basis. On this point he says:

"We must stop experimenting with theories and have sane, practical legislation that will relieve the nations business from political worries. That is the only way to put the country on a genuine road to complete business recovery. Not dole jobs, but real jobs of a permanent character; are what American workers are entitled to. The government must help business and not hold it back by the constant interference of bureaucrats. When business thrives, work is plentiful."

'March of Time' on Aloma Program Today

teria waged by the milk industry, and the Passamaquoddy Tidal Power Project in Maine.

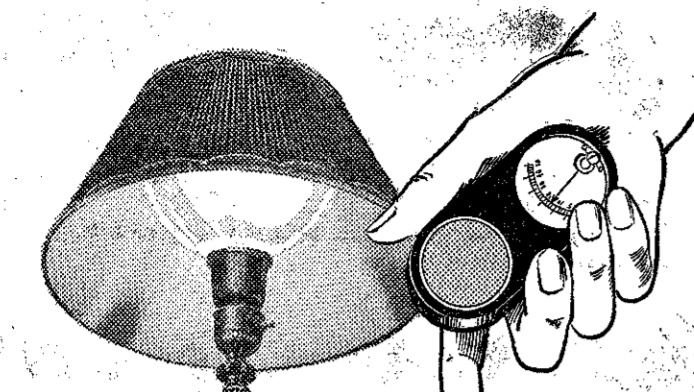

No figure of the present campaign as colorful as Smith, the self-appointed political and spiritual heir of Huey P. Long. March of Time shows his phenomenal rise in the past year from a Share-our-Wealth organizer to a Messiah of the rabid political minorities. Discredited and denounced in Louisiana, he arrived on the national scene, made the nations front pages when he sold Dr. Francis Townsend on walking out of a Congressional committee investigating Old Age Pension revenues. In June he stormed the Cleveland convention of Townsendsites and in August Father Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice. Today, as he swings across the nation predicting chaos and impressing his vaunted leadership on millions of uncertain Americans, March of Time points out that thoughtful observers wonder whether Gerald Smith is a man of destiny, or only a political windbag temporarily disturbing the nation's peace.

In its episode on Milk, March of Time shows the great strides which have been made in the last forty years in the purification of this, the most healthful of human foods, but also the most perishable and potentially dangerous. Today, while in most European countries adults shun milk, the United States war against impure milk goes quietly on—a war to insure the purity this year of 17 billion quarts of milk.

Few projects of recent years have been as much discussed as the Passamaquoddy Tidal Power Project, and few have been as little understood. To give the full history of Quoddy, March of Time goes back more than a decade to the day when Dexter Cooper, long-time summer neighbor of Franklin Roosevelt at Eastport on Passamaquoddy Bay, first announced his plan to harness the tide that sweeps into Passamaquoddy and Cobscook basins and send it through turbines to generate cheap electricity. The episode traces the project through its vicissitudes of the past three years, and ends with scenes in the disillusioned little town of Eastport, where today is scattered many a relic of the greatest boom in the long history of Down East Maine.

will tell you how this 3-light lamp differs from other lamps!

GLASS BOWL THROWS PART OF LIGHT TO CEILING

A diffusing bowl under the shade throws part of the light upward to the ceiling. It is spread over a large area, providing room-wide light.

SIX DEGREES OF LIGHT

A single lamp bulb furnishes three different degrees of light—100, 200, and 300 watts. Together with the three candles (available on many styles of this lamp) this makes six possible levels of light. You can select the exact degree of light you wish.

Have you ever checked the lighting in your home with a Sight Meter? This little instrument will tell you some startling things about your floor and table lamps. And it will show you plainly why the new 3-light lamp is far superior to other lamps. It will show you, for example, that the lamp provides 25 to 30 footcandles of light (your present lamps probably furnish 5 to 10). This is the amount of illumination needed to safeguard eyesight, for reading, writing, sewing, etc. The Sight Meter will show you that this new lamp provides roomwide light. Let us measure your lighting with a Sight Meter: It is part of your service, and there is no charge or obligation.

The new 3-light lamps are available in a wide selection of attractive styles—reasonably priced.

See the New Three-Light Lamp on display at department stores, furniture stores, hardware and electrical dealers. The Detroit Edison Company does not sell these lamps.

Light Luncheons

(By Nutrition Department, Detroit Dairy and Food Council)

Luncheon to a majority of women is their favorite meal. Dainty foods, exquisitely served, definitely please the feminine palate. Men today, however, are fast becoming as enthusiastic about this type of mid-day meal since they have discovered that they are much better able to do good work if they don't overeat of heavy foods at noon. This is particularly true of men who are doing little physical work. Creamed dishes of rice, toast or in patty shells, crisp salads, milk to drink, fresh foods, milk ices or ice cream for dessert, and such nourishing light foods as soups, omelettes, and souffles, constitute perfect luncheon foods.

Both souffles and omelettes—dishes commonly thought hard to prepare—are simple, once their technique is understood. The trick to souffles is that they must be baked long and slowly and served immediately. The following recipe for soufflé makes a perfect company or family luncheon dish.

Spinach Cheese Souffle
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
Salt, pepper
1/2 teaspoon chopped onion
1 1/2 cups grated cheese
1 cup cooked spinach
3 eggs.

Make a sauce with the butter, flour and milk; when thickened and smooth add seasonings and grated cheese; stir until cheese is melted. Remove from fire, add spinach which has been thoroughly drained and pressed through a coarse strainer or colander. Add beaten egg yolks, mix well; fold in beaten egg whites; pour into a buttered loaf pan, set in hot water and bake at 350 degrees for about 50 minutes, or until center is firm.

Omelettes owe their perfection to properly beaten egg yolks and whites and low cooking temperature. The following method makes one egg do the work of two in volume of omelette.

Tomato Omelette
Use about one egg for each person. Separate the whites and yolks; add one tablespoon boiling tomato juice for each egg used to the egg yolks. Beat until very thick and large in volume. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into the seasoned egg yolks. Place a large iron skillet in which one teaspoon of butter has been melted, and cook for three minutes over very low fire. Finish baking in a very slow oven. When done, cut half way through the omelette, sprinkle with grated cheese; fold and serve immediately.
