Foreign Food Feast at International Y. W. C. A. on Blvd.

If you have a yen for international foods come to the International Center, Y. W. C. A., 2431 East Grand Blvd., on Saturday, November 21, from 5:30 to 8 o'clock.
At the annual Feast of Foreign Foods and Old World Market you may have your fill of Italian spaghetti, Roumanian sarma, chicken paprikas, or any one of a dozen old world delicacies which you would buy a passage to Europe to taste.
The foods are being prepared by members of the staff of the Center. They will use authentic recipes and not American adaptations which are so often disappointing.

First of all there is Slavic borsch which is served in so many different countries. Then come all the delectable dishes like Belgian hare, Mexican frijoles, which can be followed with Turkish and Finnish coffee, Hungarian butter cakes, Jugo-Slav krafnie and any number of other good things.
Mrs. Homer Ferguson is general chairman and she is busy taking reservations for tables at the "Feast of Foreign Foods." Among those who have made their reservations are Mr. and Mrs. Ward A. Detwiler, Mr. and Mrs. John J. O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. George K. Hebb, Commissioner and Mrs. Heinrich A. Pickert, Hon. and Mrs. Wilbur M. Brucker, and many other prominent Detroiters.
Unique Christmas gifts and foreign novelties, handwork and the cheese of all nations will be on sale at the Old World Market which opens at 3 o'clock. Later in the afternoon coffee will be served with specially prepared pastries.
A program of international folk dancing and music will be presented from 8 to 9 o'clock with the best talent from each nationality group taking part. This will be followed by general dancing to the strains of a tambourina orchestra from 9 to 12 o'clock. This part of the program is always enjoyed by the younger set.

Immediately preceding the investiture ceremony, the students also participated in the annual Founder's Day program held in the auditorium to celebrate the ninety-first anniversary of the foundation of the Congregation of the Sisters, Servants of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, who conduct the college. The order, founded with only four members in Monroe, Michigan, by the senior class, Miss Janet Loges, and in 1845, now numbers over 1,000 sisters and has schools in Ohio, Michigan, and Illinois.
Dr. George Hermann Derry, president of the college, Miss Catherine Ryan, of Lorain, Ohio, president of the senior class, Miss Janet Loges, and Miss Mary Winifred Kerwin of the senior class, delivered addresses.

Advertising Club Fun Fest Nov. 21st at Y. W. C. A.
There won't be any disappointed guests at the annual Women's Advertising Club's fun fest this year for everyone who draws will get something—a turkey, a chicken, a duck, or a consolation prize. A special surprise package department will provide a whole box of surprises to take home to the kids.
This annual party is to be held in the Statler Hotel on Saturday evening, November 21, from 8 o'clock to midnight, and it seems that the whole town for the member of the club who sells is coming. (There's even a special prize the most tickets.)
May Vander Pyl is busy gathering in gifts offered by merchants and friends of the Women's Advertising Club who are interested in making this the most successful fun fest in the club's history. It is all in a good cause, for the proceeds are used for Christmas charity for unemployed business women, and an annual scholarship award and loan funds for advertising students in Wayne University.
For several years the club has contributed toward a large Christmas party to which are invited women who are struggling to gain a foothold in the business world. The gifts provided by the club include such essential items as silk hosiery—so important if one is to look one's best when interviewing a prospective employer. Only a little thing but a very big item to the woman who has no weekly pay check to replace the last pair which may have developed a run.
Mary Ann Serne is general chairman, assisted by Betty Mewin. Committee chairman include May Vander Pyl, La Rue Smith, Jean Bronkan, Amy Gosnell, Alice Gorham, Marie Ryan, Mrs. C. Leidich Helen Hoppin, Frances Barton Worth and Alberta Stutsman.

"pin-it-up" lamp
permits you to read in bed WITHOUT DAMAGING YOUR EYES!
THE luxury of reading in bed is often frowned on. But here is a way you may enjoy this diversion safely: (1) SIT UP when you read, and (2) Have one of these Pin-It-Up Lamps at the head of your bed, with a 100-watt bulb to assure adequate light.
This lamp is built along the same sound principles as the larger I.E.S. Better-Sight lamps. It has a reflector bowl under the shade (to throw part of the light upward and eliminate glare from the downward light). It provides 15 or more foot-candles of light on the printed page—light that is soft and pleasant, designed for easy, comfortable seeing. You have a wide range of selection as to shades (color, shape, trimming), style of base, etc.

University of Detroit to Play North Dakota University Saturday

 Freshman Coach Eddie Barbour of the University of Detroit, who scouted the game with DePaul two weeks ago, says that he thinks the Sioux are capable of giving the Titans a very hard fight. He points out that the North Dakota team gained a lot of ground against DePaul but couldn't cash on its scoring opportunities. He was particularly impressed by the punting and passing game shown by the Sioux. They probably will have the advantage over the Titans in both of these departments, though John Wiczorek did a great job of kicking against Xavier last Saturday.

The result of this game may hinge largely on whether Palumbo is able to get into action and remain long enough to pass the Titans to some touchdowns. If Ed is ready, the Red and White will fall back on the same dashing passing game that won most of its battles this season. If Palumbo isn't able to play or is again injured early in the fray, the Titans will have to bang out a victory on the ground if they expect to win.

Of course with Andy Farkas and Charlie Payne in the lineup, Detroit is well equipped to play a running game. No team this season has been able to hold Andy in check and none save Auburn has been able to keep him from crossing its goal line. He scored his tenth touchdown of the year against Xavier and has hopes of adding considerably to that string in the two remaining games of the season. If Piper or Palumbo had remained in playing condition all season, Andy probably would have had several more scores to his credit as he has proved himself the Titans' most successful pass receiver.

North Dakota uses a modification of the Notre Dame system, running its plays from an unbalanced line with a backfield shift. It is coached by C. A. West, a product of Coe College.

On and Off the Records

One campaign has ended, another begins. One settled political destinies, the other will save thousands of children from a dreary and joyless Christmas. We are referring now to the Goodfellows' Campaign, the annual drive to provide funds so that no child shall arise on Christmas morning to find an empty stocking. This is a campaign, which is absolutely non-partisan, a campaign in which every Democrat and every Republican unite in the common cause of humanity. It is a campaign which knows no bitterness and whose objective brings happiness in equal shares to those who gave and to those who received. Participating in this drive for Christmas joy for the children of the poor are no highly paid executives or publicity men. Every service is given voluntarily for the benefit of the Old Newsboys' Good-fellow Fund for little children, who would otherwise be forgotten on Christmas day.

Harold E. Stoll, re-elected Register of Deeds, is Chairman this year of the annual County Building Frolic to be held at Convention Hall, every dollar of the proceeds of which go to the Goodfellows' Fund. The frolic is one of the major sources of revenue for the Goodfellows; and Stoll plans for the coming occasion, a bigger and better frolic than ever before. Dancing, entertainment, refreshments, and prizes are part of the programme, which enables those who attend to give according to their ability and still receive more than their money's worth of enjoyment in return.

County Auditor Edward H. Williams maintains a sphinx like silence on the much repeated question of his candidacy for the Membership of Detroit. He doesn't say yes, and he doesn't say no. Nevertheless, many of the political wise acres point out he was the first, back in 1935, to advocate the return of Frank Murphy from the Philippines to run as the Democratic candidate for Governor of Michigan. They also point out he circulated the first Murphy petitions, was active in the campaign and as a consequence would be no mean contender for the Mayor's chair, if backed by Murphy organization.

Several County Building politicians, who campaigned vigorously during the fall election period, will seek relaxation this week in the north woods, where they will be part of the 100,000 hunters on the trail of the deer. Those who lost their bucks election day will try to pick up a buck in the forest, and those who got their bucks election day will spend them to get another buck.

Christian Science Lecture by Miss Margaret Morrison

"[Love] suffereth long, and is kind; [love] envieth not; [love] vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up,

"Doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil;

"Rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth. . . .

"[Love] never faileth."

We read in the Christian Science textbook (Science and Health, p. 19), "Jesus aided in reconciling man to God by giving man a truer sense of Love, the divine Principle of Jesus' teachings, and this truer sense of Love redeems man from the law of matter, sin, and death by the law of Spirit—the law of divine Love." An important question, then, is: What is this "truer sense of Love"? How does it differ from the finite sense of love, which has been so self-sacrificing in its efforts to aid, and yet has proved so futile and unavailing to save? We may find the answer to this by turning to John, the beloved disciple. In the fourth chapter of his first letter he gives us these great statements as to the true nature of divine Love and its reflection: "God is love;" "There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear: because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love." Here, then, is the great difference—"there is no fear in love; . . . perfect love casteth out fear."

The personal sense of love sees man as material, believes him capable of sinning, suffering, dying, and so is filled with fear for the one loved—often harming where it would bless. Divine Love which knows man as spiritual, not material, casts out fear caused by the belief that life is in and dependent on matter. Is a loved one seemingly ill, unhappy, surrounded by lack or distress? Then our refuge is in this "truer sense of Love" which denies these errors, and imperatively forbids giving them identity as person, place, or thing, and demands that they be displaced by the truth that man is the image and likeness of God, possessing and expressing nothing unlike his creator. The nearer and dearer the loved one seems to be, the greater should be the desire and willingness to free him from the and coal-tar were solved as if he did not exist" (New York Times, September 5, 1934). And Sir Philip Gibbs, an falsities that bind and destroy, and through spiritual understanding to see the good that is his because of his inheritance as a child of God.

In order to gain a still clearer view of this "truer sense of Love" one should consider the two great commandments of the Master, on which, he said, "hang all the law and the prophets": "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind;" and, "Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself." What does it mean to love God? This question cannot be answered without some definite, intelligent concept of what God is. We cannot love that of which we are ignorant.

In seeking for a more practical knowledge of God it is helpful for one to think of spiritual qualities. Paul names some of these in his letter to the Galatians: "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance." To these may be added intelligence, purity, honesty, affluence, and health. To love God, then, is to love these expressions or qualities of good. And what can be so precious, so to be desired, so to be sought after, as are these life-giving qualities? Truly, their price is above rubies, "the merchandise of [them] is better than the merchandise of silver, and the gain thereof than fine-gold."

Having learned to perceive these true qualities and love them, one begins to cherish and reflect them, to find them the very substance of his existence. Prayerfully and constantly one learns to protect them from robbers and devastators of personal sense—envy, malice, fear, criticism, sadness, or doubt. So doing, one loves God and his own true selfhood, the reflection of God. Then is one prepared to love his neighbor as himself. This means that one is willing to acknowledge and preserve in his own thinking the unity and oneness of God, by seeing in his neighbor the same reflection of God that he claims for himself. In this way thought becomes not a personal stopping place, but a universal transparency for Truth. Truly to love one's neighbor is to know him as spiritual and not material. Anything less than this is not worthy the name of Love.

Someone may ask, "How can I love that which seems altogether unworthy and unlovable?" That we are not required to do. We are required to see to it that that which seems unworthy and unlovely, and which is, therefore, untrue, does not cloud or interrupt our consciousness and reflection of that which is true and, therefore, worthy and lovable. To love God supremely is to acknowledge His supremacy, and so we are called upon to keep our reflection of Him supreme. Would it not be a distracting world if the sun should stop shining every time its beams were directed on an unpleasant or unsavory object? As the Master said, "He maketh the sun to rise on the evil and on the good." So the sun keeps right on shining no matter what it seems to be shining upon. That it does because it knows only its own nature, its own being. Divine Love, in like manner, knows only its own infinitude, its own loveliness, and its uninterrupted reflection is the consciousness of man. It is this uninterrupted consciousness of divine Love we are called upon to preserve in our daily human living—allowing it to shine upon all whom we meet. This Love does not see a sick, sinful, forlorn mortal, but only His own purity, strength, health, and affluence. Love cannot see or know evil any more than the sun can know darkness. There is no handicap in divine Love, the principle of man's being, and so no hindering handicap has been placed on any of His children. Thus knowing and loving man, one is enabled to see him as possessing all the gifts of God: nobility of character, abundance, ability, activity, beauty, health, and harmony.

This may seem an impossible task, but as progress is made in spiritual understanding it will be seen to be as possible, scientific, and necessary to know the truth about God and man, as it is to know the truth about the multiplication table.

Infinitely tender and gentle is this "truer sense of Love," selfless in its devotion, merciful in its rebuke, universal in its blessings, unflinching in its ministry. It is the Love that "thinketh no evil," and, therefore, "never faileth." It is the Love that heals.

The way of scientific progress is an individual way—a way for you and me—the way of humility and love, the way of the Comforter. If we follow it upright of heart, courageous, willing, and obedient, we shall find the words of the Psalmist true, "Light is sown for the righteous, and gladness for the upright in heart." In spite of seeming obstacles and difficulties it will be a shining way, a way of substantial pleasures, of triumphant growth, of spiritual ascension and power, of joy unspeakable. It will be the way of salvation for the world.

Still we may hear the tender voice of Truth, saying, "I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with lovingkindness have I drawn thee." "This is the way, walk ye in it."

Grosse Pointe High School Notes

Grosse Pointe High School and St. Paul High School of Grosse Pointe have become members of the Michigan High School Forensic Association and will compete in the various state-wide speech contests to be sponsored by the Association this season. Mr. H. Leroy Selmeier of Grosse Pointe High School and Sister M. Carmelia of St. Paul High School will coach the contestants.

Over 300 high schools throughout the State have enrolled to date, and additional enrollments are coming in daily to the Association's office in Ann Arbor. It is hoped that a record enrollment will be reached this year.

The major activities directed by the Michigan High School Forensic Association consist of state-wide inter-scholastic contests in debate, oratory, declamation, and extempore speech. The earlier part of the season is devoted to debate, the other speech contests, opening in the early Spring.

The debates will be conducted in two series again this year, a preliminary series and an elimination series. The preliminary series will open on Nov. 27 for the great majority of schools. Three succeeding preliminary debates will follow on December 11, January 15, and January 29. Each member competing in the Association's regular preliminary schedule will debate twice on the affirmative and twice on the negative of the subject to be discussed. Also each will debate two times at home and two away.

The topic to be argued in all debates sponsored by the Forensic Association will be that of "Government Ownership and Operation of Electrical Utilities." Much interest has been aroused because of the timeliness of the subject.

Those schools attaining the required number of points in the preliminary, tilts will enter the elimination series which opens on February 19, and which terminates in the Twentieth Annual State Championship Debate to be held in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor, on the evening of April 30. In this series, losing schools will drop out of competition and winners will be paired in each succeeding round until there are but two remaining schools. These will be brought to Ann Arbor, expenses paid, to compete for the State Championship.

Various awards are presented through the courtesy of the University of Michigan and Detroit newspapers. To each school taking part in the elimination series, a beautiful Wall Plaque, Trophy of American walnut will be presented. The design is taken from the University of Michigan shield. To each debater will go a lapel button or pin replica of the Plaque.

Each debater participating in the Twentieth Annual State Championship Debate will receive a beautiful engraved gold watch. The two competing schools will be presented with bronze loving cups, as will the semifinal teams. Competition in oratory, declamation, and extempore speech is conducted in three series, school sub-district, and district contests. No State championship contest is held in these activities. Here, also, awards are presented. Each sub-district winner will receive a Webster's Collegiate Dictionary, with his or her name engraved in gold on the cover. Each school winning in the district contests will receive a wall banner.

Three hundred and fifty-five schools participated in these various activities last season. It is estimated that nearly 14,000 Michigan high-school students took part. They were heard by a total audience of over 112,000 persons. Hundreds of awards have been presented through the Association since its inception in 1917. Dr. William P. Halstead, member of the Speech Department of the University, will continue as manager of the Association this year.

Thousands of packages of material have been furnished by the Library Extension Service of the University of Michigan under the direction of Miss Edith Thomas, to aid contestants in their preparation.

Fort Pontchartrain Meeting on Friday

Fort Pontchartrain Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will hold its regular meeting on November 20, Friday, with luncheon at the Hotel Statler at 12:30. Mrs. Basil L. Connelly, Regent, will call the business meeting to order at 1:30.

One of the features of the afternoon will be the presentation of a gavel to the organization by Mr. George W. Armstrong, member of the Sons of the American Revolution, of Adrian, Mich. This gavel is made of woods from the fortification of early Detroit.

The speaker of the afternoon will be Mr. Herold W. Reinecke, who will talk on the Activities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Civilian finger printing will be taken by members of the Detroit Police Department.

Among the hostesses for this meeting are Mrs. Harry B. Hancon, Mrs. Frederick C. Irwin, Mrs. Sherwood Roosevelt, and Miss Jessie Noble Hill.

Now Is The Time to Make Plum Pudding

(By Nutrition Department, Detroit Dairy and Food Council)
Along about this week the first rumble of holiday activities shake the family meal-planner into the realization that the time for making plum pudding and fruit cakes has arrived.

A ripening period of from a month to six weeks improves fruit cake. Plum pudding needs a week or so—or longer. Traditionally, plum pudding is borne to the table with little blue flames licking around it. The flames were achieved by igniting a small amount of brandy poured around the pudding. The same effect may be had by using a few spoonful of lemon extract.

Plum Pudding
Recipe Serves 24
Steaming time: 6 hours, then 3 hours
1 pound seeded raisins
1 pound currants
¼ pound candied orange peel, chopped
¼ pound citron, sliced thin
¼ pound chopped suet
½ pound stale bread crumbs grated
1 cup flour
1 tablespoon nutmeg
1 tablespoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon all spice
1½ teaspoons salt
½ pound brown sugar
8 eggs
1 cup milk

If raisins are large, cut them in half. Wash and dry currants. Mix fruits and candied peels together; add suet and bread crumbs; mix well. Sift flour, spices and salt together. Stir in brown sugar. Beat eggs until very thick and light; add milk. Add to sifted dry ingredients; beat well. Pour over prepared fruits, suet and bread crumbs; stir well. Fill well-greased pudding mould two-thirds full; cover and steam for six hours. Steam an additional three hours before serving.

A less expensive pudding that need not be stored is the following:
Steamed Chocolate Pudding
1½ cups flour
1 cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 square (1 oz.) chocolate, grated
1 cup cooked, pitted prunes
1 egg
2 tablespoons melted shortening
½ cup milk
1½ teaspoons vanilla extract.

Sift dry ingredients together; add remaining ingredients. Mix well. Fill greased pudding mould two-thirds full. Cover top with heavy waxed paper; tie securely with string. Cover and steam about 45 minutes. Serve hot with chocolate sauce. The recipe serves eight.

Fort Pontchartrain Chapter, D. A. R.

An interesting feature of the program at the meeting of Fort Pontchartrain Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, on Friday, November 20, at Hotel Statler, will be the presentation to the chapter of a gavel made of wood from the first fortifications of Detroit, by Mayor George W. Armstrong, of Adrian, who is also San of the American Revolution. Mayor Armstrong will relate how this historic wood came into his possession. The gift was obtained for the chapter by the chapter director, and chairman of historical research, Mrs. Edward J. Savage.

The speaker of the afternoon will be Herold W. Reinecke, who will talk on the activities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Civilian finger printing will be taken of those members wishing it.

Among the hostesses for this meeting are Mrs. Harry Burton Hanson, Mrs. Frederic C. Irwin, Mrs. Sherwood Roosevelt, and Miss Jessie Noble Hill. Mrs. Basil L. Connelly, chapter regent, will preside over the meeting, which will convene at one-thirty o'clock. A luncheon at 12:30 o'clock will precede the meeting.
