How the Goodfellow Fund Is Distributed

The Grosse Pointe Lions' Goodfellow Newspaper Sale is conducted annually by the Grosse Pointe Lions Club, for the purpose of immediate relief for unfortunates, pending proper investigation of the circumstances and also to assist in any needy cause requiring medical attention, optical service, hospital care, milk for babies and undernourished children and families in distressed circumstances.

The fund is under the direct supervision of its executive committee. This committee meets monthly and carefully analyzes all expenditures. The welfare work is conducted by experienced social workers of the Neighborhood Club of Grosse Pointe, which acts as a clearing house for the prevention of duplication of aid. The Club is not desirous of providing a Christmas basket program. They consider it more advisable to con tinue a welfare program throughout the year and render immediate relief. As investigation is made the case is turned over to the proper authorities.

During 1936, milk, coal, clothing, galoshes and other necessities were satisfactorily arranged for.

The membership of the Grosse Pointe Lions Club is made up from the business, executive and professional members of the various municipal governments in the Township and because of their pride and interest they take more than common care to see that the fund is carefully and properly handled and the greatest amount of good accomplished with the funds available. The Grosse Pointe Goodfellows Fund, since its inauguration in December, 1929, has collected through the sale of papers and other activities the sum of $18,547,15 of which the Fund has spent for welfare and relief work $17,827.80. No money whatever is expended for expenses involved through organization or operation. The entire amount received from this effort is used entirely for relief work.

The report from December, 1929, to December 15, 1936, follows:

Children's Happiness Grosse Pte. Toy Club Aim

Over thirty years ago artist Tom May, who has since died, drew this little cartoon, which appeared on Christmas day in The Detroit Journal. Probably no picture has ever been copied and republished as often as the cartoon "Forgotten."

Police and Firemen Join As Goodfellows Today

The Grosse Pointe Goodfellows, comprising the members of the Grosse Pointe Lions Club, the officials and the police and firemen of the various Grosse Pointe villages and the City of Grosse Pointe, are selling papers today on the streets of Grosse Pointe in their seventh annual Goodfellow paper sale.

The entire proceeds of this sale is placed in the Goodflellow Fund and used exclusively to alleviate distressed families throughout the entire year.

Buy a Goodfellow paper, extend a helping hand to those who, through misfortune, are in need of succor. Every man and woman should feel it a duty to aid in this most worthy of all causes. Your contribution will be greatly appreciated whether it be large or small.

It should be a source of happiness to each and everyone of us to know that through this generosity some unfortunate child might have food, clothing, milk, medical attention or other necessities which might otherwise have been lacking.

There are no executive expenses connected with the disbursing of this fund. It is disbursed through the Neighborhood Club.

If you will study carefully the report of the disbursing of the fund during 1936 you will note that many times this fund came to the aid of some indigent family during the year. Children of poor parents were provided with glasses in several instances, others with shoes, clothing, food and medical attention and other essentials.

During the year 1937 many requests will be pouring into the Grosse Pointe Lions Goodfellow Fund headquarters, and it is only through your generosity that these deserving requests may be

The Goodfellows thank you for your co-operation and support in assisting them in putting this drive over the top to provide for emergencies during the coming year.

By your contribution you have minimized the possibility of any worthy individual being left destitute in this fair community of ours, for you have heard the call and responded nobly.

Fortress of Chillon Is

Popular in Switzerland The Swiss town of Villeneuve at the eastern end of Lake Leman always welcomes visitors, for in spite of its name, "New City," it is a very ancient town, known in the time of the Romans as Penniloci. But as in years past, it yielded to the attractions of the Castle of Chillon, the best known castle in all Switzerland, with whose story, first celebrated by Lord Byron in 1816, few castles in all Europe can com-

The fortress of Chillon stands a mile from Villenouve, on an isolated rock about twenty yards from the bank of the lake. It is connected with the shore by a bridge, which in medicval days was a drawbridge. How old the castle may be none can tell, but Bronze Age tombs, nearly 4,000 years old, discovered at its entrance, give one some key to its antiquity. The earliest mention of Chillon Castle in any document is 1005 A. D., when it belonged to the bishops of Sion, but from the Twelfth to the Sixteenth century it was held by the Dukes of Savoy, during whose reign most of the tor-

Although in the Sixteenth century Francois Bonivard, the subject of Byron's poem, was imprisoned there when he with other Swiss patriots rebelled against the Duke of Savoy, his two years fettered in the dungeon which bears his name was but slight suffering compared to the tortures of most who were thrown into the dark, damp chambers there. The post, erected in 1256, near where the torture by fire was perpetrated shows the scorings and burns made by the executioners in their testings of the heated irons.

Freezing Gasoline Gasoline, according to the United States bureau of standards, has ne definite freezing point. It slowly stiffens up like wax at temperatures much lower than those commonly encountered in the Arctic, and as the temperature is lowered it gradually becomes more and more viscous until it is a solid mass. The temperature at which ordinary gasoline solidifies ranges from 180 degrees to 240 degrees Fahrenheit below zero. Gasoline containing benzol will solidify at higher temperatures in proportion to the per-centage of benzol. Indianapolis News

The political, social, economic and religious world is in a chaotic state and like John the Baptist, the forerunner of Christ, the church must point to the way out. The Christian religion has the solution to all the world's problems. Come and hear this sermon. You may worshiping in the auditorium of the agree or you may disagree, however,

> "The Supreme Gift of Love" will be the subject taught in Sunday School where we have classes for all grades and ages, taught by competent teachers. If your children are not attending a Sunday School, we shall be happy to enroll them in ours. We teach and preach Jesus Christ and Him crucified.

> New scholars are added to our Sunday School almost every Sunday. The Sunday School will hold its Christmas service, with a Christmas tree, in which all classes will take part, Sunday morning, December 27.

On the last Sunday of Advent, December 20, the word of Jesus regarding the purpose of His First Advent will be treated: "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." The service will take place at 11:15 a.m. The Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 o'clock. The Sunday School's Christmas program will be given on Christmas Eve, beginning at 7 o'clock. On Christmas Day, December 25, the service will be a Sunrise service; it will start at 7 a. m.

A cordial invitation is extended to all people in the neighborhood without of these services.

INSURANCE TIPS

Get a group of men together for a hobby night and you will be surprised at the variety of their hobbies. Some will be collectors only, some creators and some both creators and collectors. like the stamp collector who also prints his own explanation of his stamps on his mountings by means of his own explanation of his stamps on his mountings by means of his own printing press.

The value of some of the collections will be nominal but the value of others may be considerable. Tools and equipment of some may be very valuable The loss of tools, equipment or collection by fire, theft or other hazard would be a severe blow if not insured. Yet many do not realize that their policies may not cover their tools, equipment or collections and that there are other perils besides fire and theft. Special Mention Advisable Fire insurance policies on "household and personal effects of every desoccupancy of the permises by the insured." Courts have held that this phraseology does not apply to "animate objects" subject as plants, birds, tropical fish and dogs. Nor does it apply to "inanimate" stamp and coin collections as they are not "usual or incidental". However, art collections are covered if the premises are occupied as a dwelling and the collection is not for sale or on display.

To be absolutely sure that your printing press, power lathe or collection is insured against fire, your fire insurance policy should state specifically that it is included with the furniture and clothing.

Stamp and coin collections are not insured for more than $100 unless insured as a separate item. All Risk Insurance

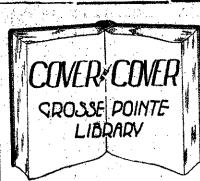

But by far the most satisfactory way o insure inanimate collections is by means of "all risk" insurance. All risk insurance covers all hazardsfire, theft, transportation, mysterious disappearance and others-with but few exceptions not only at the assured's residence but elswhere as well. Stamp collectors can insure their tamps and other philatelic property at rate usually less than $1.00 per $1,000 per year. Stamps can be insured individually for a specified amount and, in event of loss, that amount is paid. Or collection can be insured for a lump sum. In event of loss, 50 per cent of the value of the stamp up to $100 is

Dr. Elliott's Plans Would Be Benefit to Rural Schools

The cause of public school education, particularly in the state's rural areas, would be greatly aided if the 1937 legislature adopts the major portion of the program of improvement publicity advocated this week by Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, Superintendent of Public In-

While the whole program constitutes a comprehensive plan for betterment of the entire public school system much emphasis was laid by the state's school head on educational problems peculiar to the areas outside metropolitan dis-

Underlying the whole proposal, which was in the form of the biennial report of the Department of Public Instruction to Governor Fitzgerald, as required by law, was the basic contention that the public school system must receive substantially more state aid in order to meet existing social and economic conditions. Public schools, now receive $38,000,000 annually from the state, including the primary school

Following are the phases of the Elliott plan which would particularly benefit the rural areas.

Payment by the state of all tuition costs now charged non-resident pupils for 7th and 8th grade instruction in city and village high schools, which pupils must pay at present.

Increase of the state's payment of tuition for non-resident high school students. The state now pays $65 per pupil per year, but the report points out that in many cases actual costs are considerably higher, the difference being met by local taxpayers.

Relief from the present overcrowded condition in many schools, particularly of the consolidated type, by direct assistance from the state to school districts for the construction of new schools.

Higher pay for country school commissioners "commensurate with their educational qualifications and respon-

Revision of the whole body of school transportation legislation which at present lacks uniformity in different districts, as to legal and financial arrangements.

Reorganization of school districts where economy and increased efficency would be brought about, with consent of local residents a primary con-would be beneficial throughout the entire state.

Summarized, the more significant recommendations are: removing the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction from partisan politics by making the office appointive by an enlarged State Board of Education; higher salaries for all teachers, modification or repeal of the "teachers oath of allegiance" law to avoid certain abuses, a tenure act to protect "efficient" teachers from being dismissed capriciously if such a measure can be agreed on, prevention of use of state aid funds for purposes supposed to be met by local taxation.

Of course, all of the work done by the National Jamboree Committee, setting up tents, laying miles of water maine and sewer lines, communication facilities, etc., will prove a valuable experience in planning the 1937 Jamboree which will be bigger and better than ever.

It is estimated that 50,000 or more will attend from the whole nation and the several foreign countries, which are also sending delegates.

Candidates to the International Jamboree, also to be held this summer in Holand, must, as a requirement, attend the National Jamboree at Washington, Lecture on Christian Science by Gavin W. Allan, C. S. B.

Under the auspices of Sixth Church of Christ, Scientist, of Detroit, Gavin W. Allan, C. S. B. of Toronto, Canada, lectured to a large audience in Masonic Temple Auditorium, Sunday afternoon, Allan's subject was Christian Science, Church introduced the lecturer, who spoke substantially as follows:-

Government is a subject in which everyone is interested. Many of us are thing which is connected more or less ing and controlling the actions of the people, presumably for the good of all.

ment, like charity, begins at home. There is, for example, such a thing as self-government, proper self-government. Such a statement may arouse as these are being asked every day. Let ter. us turn to Christian Science to see if they can be answered satisfactorily.

that we did not know enough to govern ourselves rightly, and yet right gov-ernment is always possible. Did not our Master prove during his ministry that He whom the Bible calls God, and Love; and our Father, is available to man at all times to the solution of his telligence." If we could be governed by that "all-knowing, all-seeing, allacting, all-wise" Mind we should surely be governed rightly.

Humanity's discords can largely and quite properly be attributed to ignorance-irgnorance of God, ignorance of what is really true about ourselves as God's representatives. The more we understand of God and His good government of His creation, the more harmonious will we be in every department of our lives. Mrs. Eddy has stated this with characteristic clarity in one sentence in our textbook (Science and Health, p. 390), "It is our ignorance of God, the divine Principle, which produces apparent discord, and the right understanding of Him restores har-

If our lives have been discordant, if in our search for the cause of such discord we find that we have been harboring thoughts of fear, selfishness, or hatred, have we instinctively felt that our need was a better understanding of God and our relationship to Him? Yet therein lies the only remedy. These mental qualities we have just mentioned are phases of what Paul called "the carnal mind," which is the opposite of God, the divine Mind, and have never produced anything but discord. They could not do anything else.

with God and our true relationship to Him? During our Master's life on earth he revealed God to men as no one else has ever done. If we but read carefully the record of his life as given in the Gospels, we cannot fail to grasp some of the spiritual facts of being: God's love for us, His presence with us, His care for us, and our sonship with Him. Then if we turn to the Christian Science textbook we shall find this relationship explained and illustrated in many ways, and as we put this growing knowledge into practice we shall find that we are developing an understanding of God and man which cannot be shaken, because it is founded upon Principle. Not only so, but this understanding will be apparent in our lives. in better health and morals; in many sacrifices of self, and in a willingness and an ability to serve our fellow men.

The services to mankind we have thus far mentioned, and they would have been more than ample for any individual, are but a tithe of Mrs Eddy's accomplishments. To continue, she wrote and published, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," the textbook of Christian Science, many prose works, a book of poems, and the Manual of The Mother Church, of which I shall speak later.

She organized the Christian Science hurch; conceived and established it form of government; provided for it many activities, such as the Board of Lectureship, the Committees on Publi cation, the Reading Rooms where any-one may read the literature, and all the other etceteras of a vast and growing organization.

The purpose of every one of these activities is to heal mankind. They have no other primary purpose. Who can measure humanity's debt to Mrs

But to return to the subject of government. Many of us have in our immediate environment others who are very close to us—our families. Our social unit is not the individual, but the family: and the harmonious government of a family may requently involve the facing of problems which might come but seldom to the solitary individual: problems of instruction, obedience, and continuous self-immolation, There is probably no other art that requires so much education, so much wisdom, and so much practice as the art of living justly and charitably with greater the number of mentalities through which self may endeavor to assert itself, and self has quite a family Here are some of them: fear, jealousy, hatred, self-importance, self-righteous-nes, self-justification, self-will-trouble makers every one.

If these qulaities were always recognized as impersonal errors they would deceive no one, and would have but little opportunity to cause trouble, but of Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer dencies, to admit that one member of be startled by the best wift the family is governed by the f, on the other hand, we allow ouranother by that, and then because of achievement. What is the remedy? Jesus once ment was aid, "Whatsoever ye would that men Here think of you, think ye even so of them. If others would think of us as God's children, God's ideas, governed by Him us, helpful because true.

If we would that men should think truly about us we should be careful ber of the family? Yes, of every one, we be blind to the faults of others? Should we allow the young to grow up untrained? Should they be permitted to do as they like? Should we not teach them obedience? Certainly children should be taught to be obedient. No one should do as he likes unless he like to do right. We should remember, however, that the one who is best able to help another to overcome errng tendencies is he who possesses a better, higher, truer concept of that person than that person has of himself.

Frequently we may find it helpful to consider what it was that enabled Jesus to help others so effectually. Whether the belief to be overcome was sickness, sin, or death, our Master proved that the clearest thinkers of the thirteenth century, had defined theology as the only absolute science known.

It could be done immediately. What equipped him to do this? Was it not that he entertained a "correct view" of only absolute science known. I that he entertained a "correct view" of In 1866 Mrs. Eddy was the only what man really is? Our textbook ansinning mortal man appears to mor-tals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick" (Science and Health, p. 476). If "this correct view of man" enabled Jesus to help others, how important that we should endeavor through Christian

Science to acquire "this correct view."

But to look at the other side of the question. Insubordination can find no hiding-place in Christian Science. Hear this statement from our textbook (p. 236): "Children should obey their parents: insubordination is an evil, blighting the buddings of self-government. Parents should teach their children at

"Jesus loved little children because of their freedom from wrong and their receptiveness of right. man is and what governs him.
What, then, are the facts? That God is our Father and all we are brethren; that in our real selfshood each one of us reflects all the qualities of God; that we are absolutely dependent upon God for all we are and all we have; that all the life, intelligence, wisdom, health, and energy we possess are being given to us moment by moment; that n our relationship to each other our duty is to continuously reflect those God-qualities; that our work is reflection, never domination; in short, to quote from the Manual of The Mother Church (p. 40), "In Science, divine Love alone governs man; and a Christian Scientist reflects the sweet amenities of Love, in rebuking sin, in true brotheliness, charitableness, and forgiveness."

Church

There is another institution which is should be vitally interested, namely, the church. In our textbook (p. 583) Mrs. Eddy defines "Church" in part as follows: "The Church is that institution, which affords proof of its utility and is found elevating the race, rousing the dormant understanding from material beliefs to the apprehension of spiritual ideas and the demonstration of divine Science, thereby casting out devils, or error, and healing the sick." If each branch church is to live up to this definition it must be governed rightly. This can be done only through the members' recognition and demonstration of what "Church" really is, namely (to quote from the same page of our textbook), "The structure of Truth and Love; whatever rests upon and pro-ceeds from divine Principle."

The government of all Christian Science churches is outlined in the Manual of The Mother Church. The Rules and By-Laws therein were just as much a revelation to Mrs. Eddy on the subject of church government as were the contents of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" on Christian Science. They were written at different times and as occasion demanded, and

Here is a paragraph which is of basic importance, and which operates as safegaurd to the movement s a whole, It will be found on page 74. This is it: 'In Christian Science each branch its government, and no individual, and and by Him alone, they would be thinking truly about us. Not only so, but every such thought would be helpful to no other church shall intenfere with its the willingness to be personally controlled. Both of these tendencies are phases of self which must be held in check before righteous government can be established:

Christian Scientists are striving who would follow him Jesus left a never-to-be-forgotten command, "let the fact that spiritual individualism is him deny himself." This does not mean the essence of Christian teaching, that that one should deny his existence, but man's reliance must first of all be upon that he should deny all those tendencies that are so intimately related to a false sense of self, together with ma-terial selfhood itself: such tendencies, for example, as self-will, self-righteous-nes, and self-justification. Nation The interest of the individual should extend to an even wider circle—the nation. There government is all too frequently influenced by politicians in their partisan activities. A partisan is defined as "a strongly devoted adherent to a party, often an unreasoning, blind or fanatical one." A partisan might be inclined to consider party before the state, the advantage of a part before the good of the whole; whereas good government implies "the greatest good to the greatest number."

The function of the news columns of a paper is to record and explain the news its readers may have the necessary information to form their own opinions and decisions. In addition to publishing the news most papers have an editorial column or page in which to express the views and policies of the publishers, in matters of news and for all mankind. politics.

> Under the heading "Politics" the Boston Post of November, 1908, published the following: "Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy has always believed that those who are entitled to vote should do so, and she has also believed that in such matters no one should seek to dictate he action of others.

"In reply to a number of requests for an expression of her political views, she has given out this statement (Misellahy, p. 276): "I am asked, What are your politics? I have none, in reality, other than to help support a righteous government; to love God supremely, and my neighbor as myself."

After quoting this last sentence, the Monitor (August 12, 1936) says edi-torially (I shall quote it only in part): This statement governs the Monitor's ditorial policy in matters of politics The Christian Science Monitor is

Through Christian Science the student will soon learn that his health, his value to his family, to his church, and to his country, depends upon the quality of his mental processes. There can be nothing so important to a nation as the character of the citizenship which comprises it, for its government s dependent upon the degree of right thought actuating the individuals who make up the whole. Countries can awake to the true sense of nationhood only as the thoughts of the individuals ield obedience to the demands of one of the old chants of the church "Is the Universe, Including Man the "Nunc dimittis." It is hoped all Evolved by Atomic Force!" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, December 20.

Among the Bible citations is the following (Psalms 25:5) "Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 505): "Spirit imparts the understanding which uplifts consciousness and leads into all truth * * Spiritual sense is the discernment of spiritual good. Understanding is the line of demarcation between the real and the unreal."

Members and friends of the Hannan Y. M. C. A. are cordially invited to be present on New Year's Day for the open house program which promises to be one of the highlights of the year.

The day's program calls for physical department activities in the afternoon under the direction of J. Brooke Marstiller and Warren E. Johnson and a family dinner at 6 p. m. which will be held in the second floor club rooms.

The afternoon program will be comprised of the following events: men's and boys' basketball games, men's volleyball game, boys' swimming meet, wrestling exhibition and pool and ping pong tournament. The entertainment program at the family dinner will be under the direction of Larry Cadwell, activities secretary. A special program is being arranged for children.

The Hannan Y. M. C. A. hobby shop s a busy Santa Claus work shop at this time. Crowded with boys who are busy making their own Christmas presents, it is one of the most interesting spots in our neighborhood "Y." Under the skilled direction of Lloyd Disney and Frank Updegraff assisted by David Ash, over 75 boys have made one or more gift articles during each of the Saturday periods.

Purses, key cases, belts, curtain pulls knife, key and whistle cards, tie racks, bread boards plaster of paris plaques nickel silver bracelets, Scotty pins, ash trays, and spun brass fruit dishes are being made by the Hannan boy craftsmeneral designation of the second second

Detroit Evening Schools Complete Term Tonight

Detroit public evening schools complete their fall term of 12 weeks on December 17 with a total individual membership of 22,000 constituting a class membership of approximately 24,000, about evenly divided between. men and women. Of the class membership approximately 5,000 were elementary students and 19,000 in high school, technical, and other courses. The term load on the basis of average attendance was on the whole about eight per cent heavier than in 1935. A slightly improved enrollment for elementary work and a marked increase in secondary enrollment characterized the

The chief innovation of the fall term was the continued development of a omprehensive homemaking program in all schools at a fee of 50 cents. Over 1,700 women registered, which was 300 more than last year. Classes were formed not only in sewing and cooking out in first aid, care of the sick, child care, gardening, art needlework, knitting and crocheting, and many other

Another development was the organ ization of traffic safety classes at Cass Technical evening high school. These classes give a course consisting of two lectures on traffic laws and practice which, during the term, was taken by upwards of 3,000 drivers.

All evening schools will remain closed until January 4 at 7 p. m., when enrollments for a new term of 12 weeks will be received.

Many Interesting Talks on Art Institute Series

From Greenland to Dutch Guiana nd from Northern Alaska to Borneo will be the scope of the winter series of Sunday afternoon illustrated lectures at the Detroit Institute of Arts which begins Jan. 10 with Father Hubbard's rapid-fire motion picture story of his "New Explorations in Alaska." For an illustrated folder describing the complete course call at the Institute of Arts or write the World Adventure Series in care of the Detroit Institute

Headliners of the Winter illustrated series are the Martin Johnsons, who are just back from an expedition into the jungles of Borneo; Richard Halliburton with his new "Adventures of a Globe-Trotter;" the famous artist Rockwell Kent with motion pictures of his expedition among Greenland Eskimos; Alan Villies, with his film story of a voyage complete only last month -"Across the South Seas in a Wandering Windjammer."

Pherbia Thomas, sister of Lowell Chomas, brings a new type of travelog hat synchronizes the living voice of the peaker with sound motion pictures of her subject, "Japan." Other celebrities who will lecture are Howard Brenton McDonald, Carl R. Raswan, Wendell Chapman, Nicol Smith.

U. of D. Basketball Season Underway

University of Detroit's basketball team opened its seventh season under the direction of Coach Lloyd Brazil Saturday night when it met Adrian College, and annual U. of D. rival, at the Naval Armory. Adrian was the first of 13 schools that will meet the Titans in 17 games: Ypsilanti Normal, St. Mary's of Orchard Lake, John Carroll University of Cleveland and De-Paul of Chicago are listed for home and home encounters.

Notre Dame along with an Hawaiian All-Star team and DePaul heads one of the toughest schedules in recent U. of D. court history. Western State Teachers and Xavier University are newcomers to the schedule who should make the going tough for Brazil's men. The others scheduled have all played against the Titans in past seasons.

The schedule follows: December 19-University of Dayton, Naval Armory, Detroit.

January 6-Detroit Institute of Techology, Naval Armory, Detroit. January 9-Ypsilanti Normal, Holy

Redeemer Detroit. January 15-St. Mary's of Orchard ake, Naval Armory, Detroit. January 23-Hawaiian All-Stars of impersonator. Your fingerprints on file in Washington should be considered as nothing more or less than a signature which cannot be forged. There has not been found two fingerprints alike in the millions on file throughout the world. Fingerprints must be looked upon by the average citizen as his proof of identity and of good standing in a community. The honest citizen who is found dead and who is not protected by his fingerprint identification goes to a grave in ignorance to his fate.

Fingerprint identification will be ooked upon not only as the foe to criminal but the friend of the good citizen, the protector, the assistant, the character reference and the repository of information which will give the honest man greater freedom and greater peace of mind.

There is no recommendation of identity as good as that of being able to say that a citizen has thought enough of his future and that of his family to place his mark of identification on file in this manner. It is a badge of honor. It should give one a good standing in a community. It should be a letter of recommendation to any bank or insurance or business institution and it should be the duty of good citizens everywhere to assume leadership in this movement by preaching its usefulness to employers and friends.

The Police Department and other law-enforcing agencies will be only too glad to assist you in this movement to protect yourself, free of charge.

The City contracts with the Edison Co. for street lighting service on a flat basis of cost per light unit per year of approximately 4,000 light-hours. The terms of the contract require a daily test of all lights during the daytime, hours in order that all units be in good operating condition each night. This test may possibly occur two or three times daily while the Edison company has the circuit under scrutiny. No extra expense is incurred by such tests in view of the flat unit rate basis mentioned above.

It is hoped that the two-month period of extra lighting will show a marked reduction of accidents throughout the district.

Fortress of Chillon Is

Popular in Switzerland The Swiss town of Villeneuve at the eastern end of Lake Leman always welcomes visitors, for in spite of its name, "New City," it is a very ancient town, known in the time of the Romans as Penniloci. But as in years past, it yielded to the attractions of the Castle of Chillon, the best known castle in all Switzerland, with whose story, first celebrated by Lord Byron in 1816, few castles in all Europe can com-

The fortress of Chillon stands a mile from Villenouve, on an isolated rock about twenty yards from the bank of the lake. It is connected with the shore by a bridge, which in medieval days was a drawbridge. How old the castle may be none can tell, but Bronze Age tombs, nearly 4,000 years old, discovered at its entrance, give one some key to its antiquity. The earliest mention of Chillon Castle in any document is 1005 A. D., when it belonged to the bishops of Sion, but from the Twelfth to the Sixteenth century it was held by the Dukes of Savoy, during whose reign most of the tortures in it took place.

Although in the Sixteenth century François Bonivard, the subject of Byron's poem, was imprisoned there when he with other Swiss patriots rebelled against the Duke of Savoy, his two years fettered in the dungeon which bears his name was but slight suffering compared to the fortures of most who were thrown into the dark, damp chambers there. The post, erected in 1256, near where the torture by fire was perpetrated shows the scorings and burns made by the executioners in their testings of the heated irons.

Raise, Rise, Increase The form, "a raise in salary," is well established, and since 1728 has been accepted as good English. It is found in good literature on both sides of the Atlantic. "An increase." as of pay for services rendered, is as common in England as it is in the United States. Rise with the meaning, "an advance in wages," is colloquial English and dates from 1836. -Literary Digest.

"Bruin" Means "Brown"

The name "bruin" comes from the Danish language, and means "brown." It was first used in Europe, because of the big brown bears found there, according to an authority. The brown bears of Europe are of very good size, the full-grown males being about six feet long.

INSURANCE TIPS

Get a group of men together for a hobby night and you will be surprised at the variety of their hobbies. Some will be collectors only, some creators and some both creators and collectors, like the stamp collector who also prints his own explanation of his stamps on his mountings by means of his own explanation of his stamps on his mountings by means of his own printing

The value of some of the collections will be nominal but the value of others may be considerable. Tools and equipment of some may be very valuable. The loss of tools, equipment or collec-tion by fire, their or other hazard would be a severe blow if not insured. Yet many do not realize that their equipment or collections and that there are other perils besides fire and theft.

Special Mention Advisable

Fire insurance policies on "houseoccupancy of the permises by the inphraseology does not apply to "animate objects" subject as plants, birds, tropical fish and dogs. Nor does it apply to "inanimate" stamp and coin collections as they are not "usual or incidental". However, art collections are covered if the premises are occupied as a dwelling and the collection is not for sale or on display. To be absolutely sure that your print ing press, power lathe or collection is insured against fire, your fire insurance policy should state specifically that it is included with the furniture and clothing. Stamp and coin collections are not insured for more than $100 unless insured as a separate item. All Risk Insurance

But by far the most satisfactory way to insure inanimate collections is by means of "all risk" insurance. All risk insurance covers all hazardsfire, theft, transportation, mysterious disappearance and others-with but few exceptions not only at the assured's residence but elswhere as well.

Stamp collectors can insure their a rate usually less than $1.00 per $1,000 which favors and noise-makers are to per year. Stamps can be insured individually for a specified amount and, in event of loss, that amount is paid. Or a collection can be insured for a lump sum. Doubtless we have all felt at times that we did not know enough to govern ourselves rightly, and yet right government is always possible Did not our Master prove during his ministry that He whom the Bible calls God, and Love, and our Father, is available to man at all times to the solution of his telligence. If we could be governed by that "all-knowing, all-seeing, all-If we could be governed acting, all-wise" Mind we should surely be governed rightly.

Humanity's discords can largely and quite properly be attributed to ignorance-irgnorance of God, ignorance of what is really true about ourselves as God's representatives. The more we understand of God and His good government of His creation, the more harmonious will we be in every department of our lives. Mrs. Eddy has stated this with characteristic clarity incone sen-tence in our textbook (Science and Health, p. 390), "It is our ignorance of God, the divine Principle, which produces apparent discord, and the right understanding of Him restores har-

But how can we acquaint ourselves with God and our true relationship to Him? During our Master's life on earth ne revealed God to men as no one else has ever done. If we but read carefully the record of his life as given in the Gospels, we cannot fail to grasp some of the spiritual facts of being God's love for us, His presence with us His care for us, and our sonship with Him. Then if we turn to the Christian Science textbook we shall find this relationship explained and illustrated in many ways, and as we put this growing knowledge into practice we shall find that we are developing an understandshaken, because it is founded upon Principle. Should we allow the young to grow up dren should be taught to be obedient. No one should do as he likes unless he ! like to do right. We should rememper, however, that the one who is best able to help another to overcome erring tendencies is he who possesses a better, higher, truer concept of that person than that person has of himself. Frequently we may find it helpful to consider what it was that enabled Tesus to help others so effectually. Whether the belief to be overcome was sickness, sin, or death, our Master proved that that he entertained a "correct view" of this statement from our textbook (p. 236): "Children should obey their par ents; insubordination is an evil, blighting the buddings of self-government Parents should teach their children at the earliest possible period the truths of health and holiness. must be recognized for what it is and what it claims, and must be intelligently dealt with in order to overcome it. Such manifestations of self are really false opinions, false beliefs, and can be overcome onlythrough an understanding of what is really true about man. The false belief needs to be instructed out of itself into an understanding of what man is and what governs him.

What, then, are the facts? That God is our Father and all we are brethren; that in our real selfhood each one of us reflects all the qualities of God; that we are absolutely dependent upon God for all we are and all we have; that all the life, intelligence, wisdom health, and energy we possess are being given to us moment by moment; that n our relationship to each other our duty is to continuously reflect those God-qualities; that our work is reflection, never domination; in short, to quote from the Manual of The Mother Church (p. 40), "In Science, divine Love alone governs man; and a Christian Scientist reflects the sweet amenities of Love, in rebuking sin, in true protheliness, charitableness, and for giveness."

Church

There is another institution which is close to many of us, and in which we should be vitally interested, namely, the church. In our textbook (p. 583) Mrs. Eddy defines "Church" in part as follows: "The Church is that institution, which affords proof of its utility and is found elevating the race, rousing the lormant understanding from material beliefs to the apprehension of spiritual ideas and the demonstration of divine Science, thereby casting out devils, or error, and healing the sick." If each branch church is to live up to this definition it must be governed rightly. This can be done only through the members' recognition and demonstration of what "Church" really is, namely (to quote from the same page of our textbook), "The structure of Truth and Love; whatever rests upon and proceeds from divine Principle."

The government of all Christian Science churches is outlined in the Manual of The Mother Church. The Rules and By-Laws therein were just as much a revelation to Mrs. Eddy on the subject of church government as were the contents of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" on Christian Science. They were written at different uation that has arisen within the movement.

Here is a paragraph which is of basic importance, and which operates as a safegaurd to the movement s a whole. It will be found on page 74. This is it: In Christian Science each branch church shall be distinctly democratic in its government, and no individual, and standing weaknesses of the human every such thought would be helpful to standing weaknesses of the human mind: the desire to control others, and the milliments to control others, and the willingness to be personally con-If we would that men should think trolled. Such quali-ties, if given sway, would bring discord into any organization, and prevent for the time right government.

Probably one of the greatest trouble makers is self-will. It manifests itself in wanting what is called "my way." Its victim usually believes that his way is the best way, and he therefore urges with all the suavity and force at his command that his way be adopted. He lings to his way and refuses to change. However unimportant the question to be decided, self-will if permitted to rule will cause dissension.

When the issue to be decided is not of great importance, it would be well his utmost to preserve a spirit of har-mony and brotherly kindness. These of vastly more importance than Sometimes, of course, there may arise questions upon which a Christian Scientist can take only one side; questions involving right and wrong, questions involving Principle. In such cases one must take the side of right and refuse to change. But most of the decisions to be made by an organization are not of this kind. They are more largely choices: choices of persons, locations, material, colors, times and places, disposition of funds, et cetera. Such choices are not usually between right and wrong, but are preferences of feasbility and fitness. Such decisions, however, demand of us all the intelligence and wisdom we possess, and in the neasure that each member lays down his own will, and seeks selflessly and earnestly the guidance and government of Mind will such questions be decided

Nation

The interest of the individual should requently influenced by politicians in heir partisan activities. A partisan i defined as "a strongly devoted adherent to a party, often an unreasoning, blind, or fanatical one." A partisan might be inclined to consider party before the state, the advantage of a part before the good of the whole; whereas good government implies "the greatest good o the greatest number.'

Christian Science movement publishes, as I have said before, a newspaper, an international daily newspaper. Whether the word "news" is a combination of the initial letters of the points of the compass, north, east, west, and south, these at least indicate the coverage of the modern newspaper. The function of the news columns of a is it occurs. It does this in order that ts readers may have the necessary inormation to form their own opinions and decisions. In addition to publishing the news most papers have an ediorial column or page in which to express the views and policies of the publishers, in matters of news and politics.

Under the heading "Politics" the Boston Post of November, 1908, published the following: "Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy has always believed that those who are entitled to vote should do so. and she has also believed that in such matters no one should seek to dictate the action of others. "In reply to a number of requests for an expression of her political views, she has given out this statement (Miscellany, p. 276):

"I am asked, 'What are your polities?' I have none, in reality, other than to help support a righteous government; to love God supremely, and my neighbor as myself." After quoting this last sentence, the Monitor (August 12, 1936) says editorially (I shall quote it only in part):

This statement governs the Monitor's editorial policy in matters of politics The Christian Science Monitor is ndependent and nonpartisan. It expresses neither animosity nor attachnent to party or personality . . . The Monitor believes in democratic selfgovernment. It believes that the individual citizen cannot and should not abdicate the responsibility of thinking for himself by delegating that function to another. . . . The need for individual thinking and individual thinkers was never greater. . . Good government must be achieved first in individual spiritually." Politics as defined by the dictionary is, "The science and art of govern of being, ment." It is therefore something in ment." It is therefore something in which each of us should be so vitally interested that he would do his utmost to elect as his representatives those who have the highest concept of government. The art of government should be peculiarly the field of action of the Christian Scientist, for is he not learning that God alone governs, and that the Science which deals with God's government of man and the universe s the only science of government: When the inhabitants of a country are completely subject to God's government, their politics will be scientific.

But what is politics as it is frequently practiced? Is it not an inordinate for each member to hold his views not struggle for place and power? Is it too tenaciously, to exercise at times the not an endeavor to place someone in a privilege of giving up, to co-operate position where patronage can be diswillingly with the majority, and to do tributed? Does it not frequently dehis utmost to preserve a spirit of har-scend to an effort to live on the community, or as Milton so aptly put it "to mold the subjection of the people to whether the building is to be painted the length of the foot that is to tread on their necks"? With such a conception of politics the Christian Scientist has no part. There are, however, other errors which frequently enter into the control of nations beside the desire for place and power. There are certain tendencies which are negative, such as mental laziness, indifference, and apathy, which although negative in character may be quite as potent for evil as the more positive qualities. Let me illustrate. A well-known man of affairs, in an address to the Congress of American Industry, said: "One of my young associates attended on the contract of the congress of the cong and power. There are certain tenden-Industry, said: "One of my young associates attended a party with his wife he night following our recent state election. Forty young people were present. The seventeenth chapter of John is paper is to record and explain the news directly applicable to the working out of national problems and the dissemination of the truths of Christian Science to the world. In the first part of the chapter is the record of Jesus' prayer for himself and his work: in the second part, his prayer for his disciples and their work; and in the next, his prayer for all mankind. Through Christian Science the student will soon learn that his health, his value to his family, to his church, and to his country, depends upon the quality of his mental processes. There can be nothing so important to a nation as the character of the citizenship which comprises it, for its government is dependent upon the degree of right thought actuating the individuals who make up the whole. Countries can awake to the true sense of nationhood only as the thoughts of the individuals vield obedience to the demands of Principle. To this end the Christian Scientist prays daily (I shall quote from the Manual of The Mother Church, p. 41) "Thy kingdom come; let the reign of divine Truth, Life, and Love be established in me, and rule out of me all sin; and may Thy Word enrich the affections of all mankind, and govern them!" The mission of Christian Science is not only individual, but collective. Its purpose is to bring salvation not only to individuals, but to the world; to establish improved social and political conditions, no less than improved and eventually ideal individuals Everyone, to the extent of his knowledge, can employ the rules of Christian Science, but in no science is success more contingent upon the fulfillment of the specified conditions. To all who would solve their problems in this way this requisite of our Master must neve oe lost sight of, singdom of God, and his righteousness. Our Master has been earth's greatest vitness to the supremacy of good. He dealt with evil as an impostor, a liar With his knowledge of God he annulled sickness, poverty, and enslavements of various kinds, all of which were manifestations of the misgovernment of the carnal mind. The works he did are possible for us today in exact proportion to our understanding of the truth

All is infinite Mind and its would be to hire a good tyrant and infinite manifestation, for God is Alls mortal error. Spirit is the real and eternal: matter is the unreal and temporal. Spirit is God, and man is His image and likeness. Therefore man is not material; he is spiritual."

From the moral soundess implanted by the Commandments, and the graces of Spirit instilled by the Beatitudes, we must go on to the exact thinking inculcated by this "scientific statement tian Science has a governmental as well

This has been defined by our Leader in the Christian Science textbook, as Speaking one day on the subject of follows (p. 340): "One infinite God, democratic government, Theodore good, unifies men and nations; consti-Roosevelt said, "The majority of the tutes the brotherhood of man; ends plain people will, day in and day out, wars; fulfills the Scripture. This is akin to Talley-rand's remark, "There is one person sexes; annuls the curse on man, and leaves nothing that can sin, suffer, he punished or destroyed."

> "A Christian Scientist," Mrs. Eddy has told us (p. 367), "occupies the place at this period of which Jesus spoke to his disciples, when he said: 'Ye are the salt of the earth.' 'Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid.' Let us watch, work, and pray that this sait lose not its saltness, and that this light be not hid, but radiate and glow into noontide

Christian Science Churches Brown's Method

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force!" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, December 20.

Among the Bible citations is the following (Psalms 25:5) "Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 505): "Spirit imparts the understanding which uplifts consciousness and leads into all truth * * * Spiritual sense is the discernment of spiritual good. Understanding is the line of demarcation between the real and the unreal."

Hannan Y. M. C. A. Activities

Members and friends of the Hannan Y. M. C. A. are cordially invited to be present on New Year's Day for the open house program which promises to be one of the highlights of the year.

The day's program calls for physical department activities in the afternoon under the direction of J. Brooke Marstiller and Warren E. Johnson and a family dinner at 6 p. m. which will be held in the second floor club rooms.

The afternoon program will be comprised of the following events: men's and boys' basketball games, men's volleyball game, boys' swimming meet, wrestling exhibition and pool and ping pong tournament. The entertainment program at the family dinner will be under the direction of Larry Cadwell, activities secretary. A special program is being arranged for children.

The Hannan Y. M. C. A. hobby shop is a busy Santa Claus work shop at this time. Crowded with boys who are busy making their own Christmas presents, it is one of the most interesting spots in our neighborhood "Y." Under the skilled direction of Lloyd Disney and Frank Updegraff assisted by David Ash, over 75 boys have made one or more gift articles during each of the Saturday periods.

Purses, key cases, belts, curtain pulls, knife, key and whistle cards, tie racks, bread boards plaster of paris plaques, nickel silver bracelets, Scotty pins, ash trays, and spun brass fruit dishes are being made by the Hannan boy crafts-

The play, written by Dr. Fred Eastman, deals with the several problems faced by the members of the Whitney family as they seek to observe Christmas in a modern setting. "The Tinker" finally manages to repair the family clock while he also restores the family family as they seek to observe Christto happy working order.

Parent's Ideal Gift to Children

One of the finest gifts you can offer your children is the opportunity to learn to play the piano, to know and appreciate good music. It will be something they will enjoy all their lives. Music is entertaining, brings happiness and culture, yet the cost is not excessive.

You are cordially invited to visit my Studio to see the pleasant conditions which lend to interest and progress.

lected should be those readily digested and assimilated. Liquid foods are best, especially in that they stimulate digestion and make for drowsiness and sleep. Oyster stew is an old favorite, and a delightful one for midnight suppers. Oyster Stew

- 1 quart oysters 34 cup cold water
- 4 cups scalded milk
- 1/2 cup butter
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper

Carefully pick over oysters, removing bits of shell. Add water, cook slowly until oysters are plump and edges begin to curl. Remove oysters with skimmer and add hot milk. Add strained oyster iquor, butter, salt and pepper. Serve very hot with oyster crackers.

Are your young people in the habit of bringing home a crowd without a moment's notice, and then expecting something to eat? Be ready for them by keeping some cocoa syrup in the ce box constantly. Then, you can proudly produce steaming hot chocolate susprisingly short order. 🐭 📜

Cocoa Syrup 34 cup sugar

1 cup cocoa 1/2 teaspoon salt

2 cups water

134 teaspoons vanilla

Mix cocoa, sugar and salt. Add hot water and bring gradually to boil, stirring constantly. Boil very slowly ten to fifteen minutes. Thorough cooking of syrup is the secret of good cocoa. This quantity of syrup will make 25 cups of cocoa. Syrup when cool may be put nto jar and will keep indefinitely in 阿爾爾爾 ice box. To make up entire amount three to four quarts of milk will be needed.

If you are planning a party for your young people during the holidays a splendid thing to build your menu tround would be Tropical Gingerbread with cream cheese filling.

Tropical Gingerbread with Cream Cheese Filling

1/2 cup butter 1/2 cup sugar

1/2 cup molasses 1 teaspoon soda

134 cup flour 1/2 cup milk 1 teaspoon ginger

1 teaspoon sait 1 teaspoon cinnamon

Cream butter and sugar, add unbeaten eggs and blend. Into the molasses beat the soda until smooth. Sift the flour and spices together. Add alternately to the creamed mixture the iquids and flour. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F) for 25 minutes. The cake may be split in two with a sharp knife and served with the following cream dressing between layers: 1 cup whipped cream

3 tablespoons orange marmalade
