News Digest

The reign of terror is on in Detroit. Drivers are recklessly destroying life, while filled with holiday spirits, setting a pace over the Christmas week-end for the rest of the country.

As we approach the end of the year we feel that the year 1936 has been a year of progress, and anticipate that 1937 will be even better. With this thought in mind we extend our best wishes that you will receive your share of the new year's blessings.

Arthur Brisbane's funeral rites were held Monday. It will be a difficult job to fill his shoes. His philosophy has been the guiding star for many individuals, who have found wisdom in his columns.

Tommy Bridges is already in Lakeland training for the coming season. It won't be long before the boys begin their trek south.

The Red Wings will undoubtedly be in the playoff despite their bad breaks and many injuries. The boys are putting up a splendid battle.

Merchants reported very heavy holiday business. Traffic was almost paralyzed for several weeks in some of the shopping districts.

The Jefferson avenue merchants are not very complimentary in expressing themselves regarding enforcement of parking restrictions when there was an opportunity to benefit by the holiday spending.

Old age pensions, social security and others may lose a lot of popularity when collections will be effected beginning next year.

Governor Fitzgerald refused to extend pardons to the officials who in their zeal to hold public office fell by the wayside counting the votes. The new Governor will have to make the decision.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM B. CANFIELD entertained at a family dinner Christmas Day, their guests being Mr. and Mrs. John J. Bradley, Jr., Miss Julie Murphy, Miss Lucretia Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ducharme and Miss Elsie Ducharme.

Pay Township Taxes Now to Save

Taxpayers of Grosse Pointe Township are urged to pay their taxes early and avoid the penalty which will be added after January 10. The Township Treasurer will be at the Lochmoor Village municipal building on January 4th and at the Grosse Pointe Farms municipal hall on January 5.

Taxes can be paid at any time at the Grosse Pointe Township offices in the municipal building, 15115 East Jefferson avenue. You will save 4 per cent collection fee if you pay before January 10.

A New Year Opportunity
by Helen Gaisford Waterman

THE New Year's party at Southwood Country club was in full swing, with Fred Gordon, directing the dance orchestra of college boys, putting out sweet music. He was especially anxious to show off his particular variety of syncopated rhythms this evening, as there would be some men there who could, if they wanted to, "do him some good."

He watched Beatrice, his girl, dance by in the arms of a handsome stranger. With a mustache, too! Darn it, he'd grow one!

He brought the rhythm to a crashing climax, and signaled for an intermission. Then his eyes hunted out Beatrice, and he started toward her.

He was delayed by an older man, who wanted to talk to him.

It was a better offer than Fred had dreamed of. What a New Year's opportunity! Pater would be sore, of course.

He nodded his acceptance, shook hands heartily, and dashed off toward the conservatory. Beatrice and her companion were just coming back to the dance floor.

"Say, Bee—I've just got to see you a minute. Excuse her, won't you?"

"Bee," he asked suddenly, "will you marry me?"

"Why, Fred!" she exclaimed, amazed at his outburst. "I suppose so—some day, maybe."

"I mean now, right away."

"How could we? You know we have to wait until you finish school and get your start."

"I've got my start. I'm going to lead a dance orchestra and be broadcast. We'll have plenty to live on and a good chance for more."

"I'd like to, Fred. I'd rather marry you than anybody. But if I married you now, your father would always feel that I had been the one to get you to quit school."

"I'd tell him—"

She shook her head. "That wouldn't help. Besides, he's right; you should finish."

One of the orchestra boys looked out. "Say, Fred, excuse me, but the crowd's getting restless."

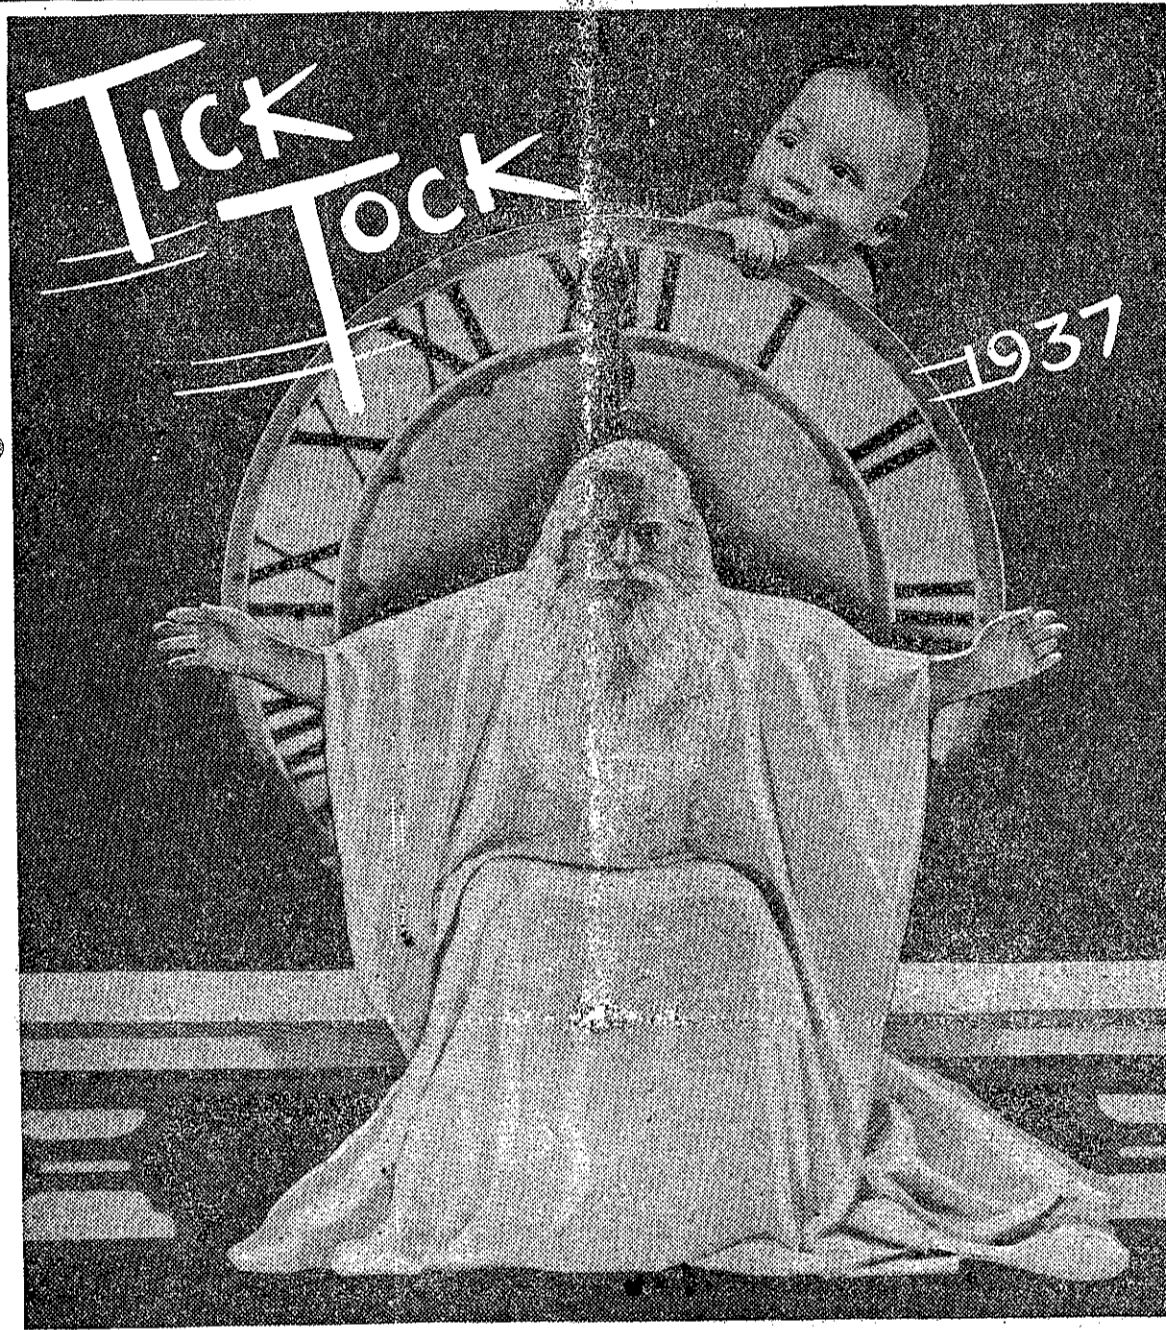

"In a minute. Please, Bee."

"If they really want you, they'll wait. I really want you—and I'll wait."

Fred stuck his hands in his pockets, and traced a pattern on the floor with his toe. "And I thought this was going to be such a sweet New Year," he muttered.

"You won't win all tonight, dear," Beatrice said gently. She kissed him suddenly, softly, and slipped quickly to the doorway. "But Fred," she added, "see the year through."

FATHER TIME

By PHILANDER JOHNSON
In Washington Star

WE ALL know a fellow called Old Father Time.
He has taught us in prose; he has rhymed in rhyme.
One day he will give us a song or a laugh
And the next he is writing a short epitaph.
The way he jogs on is so quietly queer
We seldom remember his presence so near.
But he measures our steps as we falter or climb.
He keeps tab on us all, does this Old Father Time.
But his hand is so gentle, although it is strong,
That he helps us a lot as he leads us along.
And the ruins that rise on the hills of the past
He covers with ivy and roses at last.
He teaches the smiles of the present to glow,
While the sorrows are left to the long, long ago.
And the knell turns to joy in its merriest chime—
He's a pretty good fellow, is Old Father Time.

The New Year's Dance
by Martha B. Thomas

"WINTER," said Dora gayly, "is very becoming to your good looks." The man beside her looked down with pleased amusement. They were skiing, these two, over snowy surfaces, and the man with his bright wide woolen sash and knitted cap to match, made a striking figure on the snow.

"This was a grand idea skiing to the New Year's party," cried Paul. "Otherwise we would not have made it."

"Andy thinks we're crazy. Says we're sure to get stuck, and maybe freeze to death on the way. He's so optimistic," Dora laughed.

"He would! Never saw such a darned cautious guy as Andy. He'll never get anywhere or do anything or have any fun."

"He is pretty solemn at times," admitted Dora a little soberly.

They went on, easily, lightly; curved slopes slid under them; dark leafless trees slipped by. "A New Year's dance does not grow on every bush," remarked Paul. "Better take them in our stride."

The girl's cheeks glowed. Her fair hair tucked under her cap flew out behind in small ringlets. If the distance still seemed a long way, she did not speak of it. She was a little tired, too, but that would pass. Soon they would pause for rest, and for bites of hard chocolate.

Paul Came After Her; He Tried Valiantly to Help Her.

"It takes a little imagination, sometimes," said Paul, "to think out ways of doing things. Andy is good, solid dependable stuff, but slightly," he smiled, "dull."

"I like him, though," said Dora stoutly, "and it usually happens he's right . . . worse luck!"

"Not sorry you came with me?" "Heavens, no!"

"They went on and on and on. Roads were blocked. No cars could get through. A horse team would take one day and part of another. Skiing across country was the only solution of reaching Dorset and the dance."

"You'll have trouble," Andy predicted, "mark my words." And it looked as if his prophecy were about to come true as they attempted the next hill. The wind grew colder. Dora was not as rested as she hoped she might be; not as quick or sure of balance. She struck a snag.

Elaine Marie Arndt Gave Party Monday

The boys' gym at the Grosse Pointe High School on Monday looked like a silver forest with hundreds of Christmas trees and everything aglitter and aglow, for Miss Elaine Marie Arndt was holding her annual Christmas parties.

The afternoon was devoted to the juvenile pupils of her dance studio and in the evening a dance was held for a large and enthusiastic group of student dancers.

Lavishly decorated for the occasion, both the parties were celebrated with the hilarity and gaiety that accompanies the holiday season.

Public Meeting to Be Held in Farms

By direction of the Village Council of the Village of Grosse Pointe Farms, a public meeting will be held in the Village Hall, Kerby Road, January 18, at 8 p. m. to hear objections to the proposed vacation of Chalfonte avenue between Kerby Gardens Subdivision and Kerby Gardens Subdivision No. 1 extending from Kerby road to the southerly line of said subdivisions, as a public highway.

A copy of this resolution will be found on page five.

Henry J. Schulte Died Saturday

Henry J. Schulte, 67 years old, president of the Detroit Rendering Co. and active in civic affairs, died Saturday at his home, 1169 Devonshire road, Grosse Pointe Park.

Funeral services were to be conducted today at 10 a. m. at St. Clare's Church, Grosse Pointe, with burial in Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

Mrs. Augusta Durfee Flintermann, of 1114 Berkshire road, Grosse Pointe, daughter of the late Judge Edgar O. Durfee and widow of Rudolph Flintermann, died Saturday in Cottage Hospital.

Gala New Year's Eve Party at Fair Star Inn

The Fair Star Inn at Mack and Chalmers is now under the management of Fred Shay, who is widely known in the Grosse Pointe area. He has completely renovated the place and has installed a new and modern cocktail bar, affording an ideal place to dine and partake of your favorite beverages.

Arrangements have been made for all-night dancing, special entertainment, noise makers, with the assurance that a grand and glorious night will be in store for participants in their New Year's Eve party Thursday night. It is advisable to make reservations early.

Pay Taxes Now and Avoid Penalty

The 1936-37 county and school taxes are now due and payable. City of Grosse Pointe taxpayers will make their payments at the City offices at 17150 Maumee avenue.

After January 11 a 4 per cent collection fee will be added. In order to avoid this penalty make your remittance before that date. The City Treasurer's office is open daily from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. and 12:00 noon Saturday.

One-Way Traffic at Farmington Enforced

Oscar G. Olander, commissioner of Michigan State Police, said a 24-hour patrol is to be established to keep west-bound traffic off the cut-off. A speed limit of 35 miles an hour has been established on the cut-off for east-bound traffic.

At the same time G. D. Kennedy, business manager of the state highway department, announced the erection of two large illuminated signs at the east end of the cut-off making it unlawful for west-bound traffic to take that route. A raised bituminous strip is to separate the cut-off from the route through Farmington.

The enforcement move is the latest step taken by the state to limit the cut-off to east-bound traffic. Alarmed at the high accident rate on the cut-off, State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagener in September ordered the cut-off closed to vehicles going west.

Under the law, no enforcement can proceed until a special zoning determination has been made. This explains why the enforcement program has been delayed.

Forty people have been killed on the cut-off since its completion in 1932. State police have no record of any fatal accidents since Commissioner Van Wagener issued his order for one-way traffic.

One feature of the enforcement program will be the erection of signs prohibiting left-hand turns at side roads intersecting the cut-off. Although motorists for the most part have complied voluntarily with the temporary one-way signs the last two months, a number of violations have been reported from the side roads.

Commissioner Van Wagener said plans are under way to widen the 2.3 mile stretch on US-16A at the west end of Farmington to 42 feet next year. The pavement is now 18 to 20 feet wide.

After the west-end of the Farmington route has been widened, the commissioner's plans call for reconstruction of the hazardous sections of the 3-mile cut-off.

David's New Year's Inspiration
by Alice B. Palmer

DAVID had escorted Dorothy May to the New Year's grand ball for the last three years and they had danced the old year out and the New Year in, while whispering sweet "nothings" into each other's ears. But this year David was possessed with the New Year's spirit. He felt a strong desire to make someone else happy.

"What on earth is the matter lately, David, you seem to be so exuberantly happy?" spoke mother, in her kindly observant way. "Has Dot promised to marry you, or are you contemplating a proposal from her?"

"Something better than that, mother. I am planning New Year's resolutions," replied David. Several days before the great holiday, David found himself in a large department store, buying a new gown for his mother. He felt rather out of place in a ladies' dress section, but with the aid of an understanding saleslady, he soon found just the thing, a golden brown floral design, his mother's favorite color. Then he thought of slippers to match and a pretty nosegay to pin upon her dress, and he was quite finished. He left the store simply bursting with enthusiasm. Just as he turned the corner toward home, he ran into Dorothy. "Why Dot, I'm so glad to see you."

"Looks like you have been shopping, Davy."
"Yes, but I have something important to ask you, Dot. Would you mind having your brother Joe see you to the New Year's ball? I have something very important to attend to first, but I'll be there later."

"Why David Morely, what do you mean?" said Dot, indignantly. "Are you really breaking the spell of our annual rendezvous?" Then, before he could reply, she continued with pretended indifference. "Very well, I'll go with Jean Raft. I know he'll take me. I suppose you are driving Dolly for a ride. Well, you are welcome to her. Good-by!"

Voices and laughter proclaimed the approach of another happy New Year, as David came charging into the cozy living room where his mother was just finishing the home paper.

"I have your things laid out, Davy, your best shirt and favorite tie."
"You are always so thoughtful, mother, never thinking of yourself."

David, as he chuckled, contemplating the great surprise. Some hours later David appeared, quite ready for the evening. He did really look charming and mother did not hesitate in telling him so. "I'm off," he shouted, and then he was gone.

But it was not long before mother heard the loud peal of the door bell. "Who in the world can that be on New Year's eve?" thought she, hurrying to the door. She stepped back in surprise as she saw David, himself, standing there smiling.

"What is it, my boy, have you forgotten something?"
"No, mother, I am your gallant knight, come to take you to the New Year's ball. The cab, without, awaits your pleasure, Madam!" And David laughed merrily. They both roared with laughter.

THE NEW YEAR
By GEORGE COOPER
in Indianapolis News

A SONG for the Old,
While its knell is tolled,
And its parting moments fly,
But a song and a cheer
For the glad New Year,
While we watch the Old Year die!
Oh, its grief and pain,
Ne'er can come again,
And its care the land deep;
But what joy untold,
Doth the New Year hold,
And what hopes within it sleep!

A song for the Old,
While its knell is tolled,
And the friends it gave so true!
But, with hearts of glee,
Let us merrily
Welcome the bright, bright New!
For the heights we gained,
For the good attained,
We will not the Old despise;
But a joy more sweet,
Making life complete,
In the golden New Year lies.

A song for the Old,
While its knell is tolled!
With a grander, bolder zeal,
And a firmer tread,
Let us greet the New,
Heart and purpose ever leal!
Let the ills we met,
And the sad regret,
With the Old be buried deep;
For what joy untold,
Doth the New Year hold,
And what hopes within it sleep!

tripped and fell. "Not merely in the snow, but down and down into a surprise gully. A sharp pain shot up from one ankle to knee, and a cold and dreadful faintness crept over her. "Andy," she whispered involuntarily, as one speaks of a safe harbor in time of storm.

Paul came after her. Somehow his picturesque good looks did not count for much now, though he tried valiantly to help her. "I've twisted my ankle, I'm afraid," gasped Dora. "What shall we do? Can you put your imagination to work?" she added.

Just then, cold, truly fearful for what lay ahead, they heard a dim halloo in the distance. They waited and a score Andy's bulky and solid figure stood above the gully. He plunged down quickly and gave not a word of rebuke save, "Thought you might have trouble, so I trailed you."

"It was Andy, who took Dora back to her home. He carried her all the way, first over one shoulder, then another. Paul feeling uncomfortable said he guessed he'd go on to the dance. "Happy New Year" was all Andy said.

An anxious, silent and painful experience. Dora could hear the breathing of the man who so bravely bore her over the weary miles. "Why don't you scold me?" she demanded.

She could not see his face, but she felt him smiling.
At last Andrew deposited her on her own couch in her own home and telephoned for the doctor. The last bandage was patting into place on her plaster cast as midnight struck. "You know, Andy," remarked Dora slowly, "I'd honestly rather be here with you and a broken ankle, than at the New Year's dance at Dorset. Quaint of me, isn't it?"

Big, solid, unpicturesque Andy stooped over and kissed her.
"Happy New Year, dear! I'm afraid it will be a long time till you dance again."
"And Paul's colorful ideas aren't so much after all. He looks well on a winter landscape. And you look well in a rescue act. I think I prefer the latter."
"Which," grinned Andy, "is just as it should be."

On and Off the Records

By Lee Montgomery

When the depression came government office holders were besieged by men from all walks of life. They were seeking jobs. Some of them were down and out, jobless, others had received large pay cuts and were seeking higher salaries remained comparatively unchanged, regardless of bad times.

County officials had their choice of experts in all fields. They were able to hire the most efficient doctors, lawyers, and electricians. The depression in a way was actually a boon to government. It brought in a new efficiency which in turn meant real economy.

Today prosperity has returned. Government salaries have still not changed noticeably. Office holders find themselves in a rather tough predicament. These men whom have been hired in the depression can, in many instances return to private employment at higher salaries. Vacancies occurring cannot be filled by the pick of the workers but must be filled by men who rate much lower in their particular capacities. Government payrolls must match those of private business if Government wishes high grade men on its jobs.

Caspar Lingeman, county clerk, elect, will make no radical changes in personnel. Taking office the first of the year, Lingeman expects to re-plate about five positions.

James Friel, replacing Dr. Charles Smith, as Chief Deputy, will collaborate with Mr. Lingeman on a complete study of personnel and procedure and any changes at all will come after careful investigation.

One of the happiest Christmas parties was given by the Bureau of Investigation. Sam Leve, director, plays Santa Claus all the year around, taking care of the sick, indigent and crippled in Wayne County. Nevertheless he makes special effort at Christmas time to bring added happiness to the poor with baskets of food and clothing. His office staff decided that Santa, who has always been host at Christmas revelries, should be guest of honor at least once. So it was that county employees besieged Sam's office, bent on giving to the giver.

A union of County government employees has been started and will be an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor. Frank X. Martel took charge of the first meeting and explained the benefits of a concentrated front in fighting for constructive legislation. He mentioned the civil service was a prime principle of the union.

And still another employee of Harold E. Stoll's Register of Deeds' Office will be transferred to the Secretary of State's office. Gilbert Lubin, head of the photostat department will be Public Relations consul for Secretary of State Case, beginning the first of January.

Gil has been largely responsible for the wider use of the photostat in copying government papers. He will take with him the good will of County employees and many years of government experience.

It might be mentioned that Mr. Lubin, a veteran and a labor man, belongs to 83 organizations in Wayne County and is active in most of them.

Because there are exceptions to every rule, it is a good thing that we have safety valves in our laws, that is, a method by which we can legally get around the exact letter of the law. Take the young man who decided to get married last week. He sent out invitations, hired the church, selected a best man from out state, and had completed all plans except one. He had forgotten to apply for the license in time, and found that he could not get it until a full day after the marriage date. The five day marriage law was to cost him many dollars and many heart aches. A friendly person in Probate Court discovered his predicament and waived the five day clause in his favor. I hope they live happily ever after.

The first of the year approaches. This year Michigan political circles will see a gigantic upheaval in personnel. Never in history has a New Year's Day meant so much in the way of jobs as it will this year. The Democrats are in complete power in County and State. Thousands of new employees will supplant those in all offices in the State Government, while right here in Wayne County we will see new faces in the County Clerk's office, as well as the Sheriff's Office. Thomas Wilcox will probably come into office with the staff that he installed a few years back. Casper Lingeman, County Clerk-elect, is new to County office, however, and will bring men with him also new to county politics. All four Circuit Court Commissioners will be new and already the men in that office are packing their bags. It is a sad time for many, but means three squares a day for a good many others.

Vitamin Knowledge Affects Refining Processes in Foods

It is a strange fact that beer, before the days of sharp filtration methods, was known as "liquid bread" because so high a percentage of the yeast cells were left in suspension and drank with the brew. Now a few brewers are revising those same filtration methods to reintroduce the vitamin content lost by the process.

Refining methods have been the object of scrutiny ever since it was discovered that polished rice was causing beri-beri among Japanese sailors. The refining, or polishing, process had taken away the vitamin content.

Bread also underwent a reversal recently when scientists discovered that bread manufacturers were throwing away the germ of wheat to improve the keeping qualities of flour. The increasing importance giving vitamins accounts for the growing popularity of whole wheat bread, and of many other foods rich in vitamins.

Reducers Cautioned

Take care not to reduce the vitamin content of your food when you reduce the calories, is the warning given by dieticians to women who are reducing.

Unsupervised diets may result in serious health impairment. One of the few cases of beri-beri, a paralytic disease not often found in this country, was caused by a reducing diet deficient in Vitamin B.

Each vitamin has its own peculiar function necessary to your health, reducers are cautioned, and aside from the fact that they are all necessary to health, they have so little in common, that no one of them can take the place of any of the others.

15 GROSSE POINTERS PARTICIPATED IN PRE-HOLIDAY ACTIVITIES

On last Thursday night, the freshman class entertained the resident upperclassmen at a Christmas party, a tradition which annually precedes the Christmas vacation. Another tradition was carried out with the serving of wassail and Christmas cookies to the students who sat around the lighted tree, singing carols and playing games.

Our Present Need

THAT mankind is urgently in need of something, all will admit. But people differ when they come to analyze this need and prescribe the remedy. Some say that the need is for money; others, for better management and government; and still others, for shorter working hours and more leisure. The invalid's need is for health; the sinner's for goodness and peace; those who appear to be passing on for more abundant life. Humanity's diversified wants and desires make us think of the reply Martha received from Jesus (Luke 10:41, 42): "Martha, Martha, thou art careful and troubled about many things: but one thing is needful: and Mary hath chosen that good part, which shall not be taken away from her."

What is the one thing that is needful? Is it not Mary's spiritual adaptability and receptivity? Spiritual understanding is an absolute requisite if we are to escape the woes, injustices, and ills of sense. On page 161 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy has written, "Infinite Mind could not possibly create a remedy outside of itself, but erring, finite, human mind has an absolute need of something beyond itself for its redemption and healing." A childlike willingness to allow omniscient Love to control all our thoughts would do much to eliminate the errors which occur in human calculations. Sometimes we are afraid to let go, lest we suffer from the result; but Soul cares for us with an ability far exceeding our present apprehension. The forces and capacities of immortal life are always operating, and we should experience Love's benevolence more often if we would only exclude greed, envy, rivalry, and fear from our thought. We assume a sense of false and overburdening responsibility only to our own detriment; while self-immolation and a firm trust in God's government operate to establish order, concord, and success. Our first need is not so much for improved conditions as it is for a clear realization that infinite Mind has absolute control over every function, activity, and expression of real being; that this control exists here and now; that the only legitimate and real results of this divine government are harmony and good works, and that, therefore, if aught else claims to exist it is but supposititious. Better human conditions are a result of this knowing, for spiritual understanding scientifically improves our human conditions and unfolds limitless expressions of goodness.

We need to cultivate spiritual sense, which lifts human consciousness above the errors of corporeal sense and discerns the divine and unchangeable facts of being. We need to understand that evil is nothing and nothing is evil; that it has no intelligence or power, no influence, no avenue or medium through which to reach and disturb or injure us. We need to keep in mind that error is not an entity, but is simply an illusion, with no more influence or sway than we give it by our belief in it. Christian Science shows us conclusively that we are not the victims of so-called material laws, from which there is no escape, but rather that we are, in reality, the eternal children of the loving Father, who blesses, sustains, and maintains all that reflects Him. The fact must be learned that the creation of eternal Truth, the only creation there is, is wholly good; that spiritual law controls all real action, attraction, and power, and that every effect of this law is harmonious and necessary; and that man is the essential, spiritual, eternal manifestation of infinite Life.

It may be summed up that our present need is to acknowledge God, eternal Life, more in our human affairs, to obey the injunction, "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding" (Proverbs 3:5). There is no other way to solve the problem of health and happiness, of production, of distribution, of economic equality. Only by acting in accordance with divine Principle can we maintain good works, overcome the false sense of overproduction and underproduction, and provide abundant human necessities for every individual. The recognition of Soul's presence and alliance alone will destroy the human fear of lack, disease, and disaster, by revealing the unlimited, indestructible nature of substance and reality—of health and harmony. God provides His image, man, with all that is necessary for sustenance and harmonious continuity; and our need is spiritually to apprehend this fact and apply it in solving our human problems.—The Christian Science Monitor.

Y. W. C. A. Activities

New Year's Eve will be celebrated by the high school boys and girls of Eastern, Southeastern and Grosse Pointe High with a grand frolic at the Hattinan Y. M. C. A. The lobbies, game rooms and gyms will be given over to an evening of merriment, fun and dancing. Decorated in holiday colors with roaring fires in the great fireplaces, the "Y" will be prepared for a gala celebration to greet the New Year. The Rhythm Aces, a popular six-piece colored band, will play for the dancing which will continue from 9:30 to 2 a. m. Refreshments will be served to all guests at intermission before the fireplaces in the social rooms. Horns, bells and other noise-makers will be given out to add to the merriment of the occasion.

The frolic is sponsored by sixteen high school clubs of Eastern, Southeastern and Grosse Pointe.

Friday, January 1, will be celebrated by an one-house program at the Hattinan Memorial Branch Y. M. C. A., which will begin at 2 p. m. with a basketball game. The afternoon program is as follows:

2:30 p. m., dueling exhibition.
3 p. m., men's basketball game.
3 p. m., men's handball finals.

3:30 p. m., wrestling exhibition.
4 p. m., men's volleyball game.
4:30 p. m., boys' swimming meet.
5 p. m., father and son's free swim.
5 p. m., ping pong exhibition.

At 6 p. m. a turkey family dinner will be held in the upstairs club rooms.

to which all members and friends of the association are cordially invited. A program is being planned for adults around the dinner tables which will include group singing and featured entertainment. ELECTRIC RANGE

Do you like your electric range? Very much.
What feature do you like best about it? Sanitary the stove because it cooks so fast and is so clean. Then too I appreciate being able to put meat in oven, set the clock, leaving it cooking until I am ready to eat.

Do you like your electric range? I certainly do.
What feature do you like best about it? Cleanliness.
Remarks or suggestions: It is also so quiet, you have instant heat and it is so uniform. Everything tastes better.

Do you like your electric range? Yes.
What feature do you like best about it? Cleanliness.
Remarks or suggestions: It is almost impossible to point out one feature. My range is such a source of enjoyment it is hard for me not to eulogize. My husband bought the electric range against my wishes. Now I wouldn't be without it.
