No Primaries in Grosse Pointe Park

There will be no primary election in Grosse Pointe Park this spring as there were only four candidates filing for the three commissionerships. January 23 was the last day for filing.

John P. Verlinden, Archie Damman, Clarence A. Pfeiffer, incumbents, and Ed Snetikamp were the candidates filing for commissioner's offices, three of which are to be elected at the regular election.

Waldo J. Berns, clerk, will be unopposed in the election.

Aid in the relief of flood distress as much as you can. It's a terrible disaster to almost a million cold, hungry and homeless people in the flooded area, reaching into some ten states, one of the worst disasters in the history of our country.

Record Crowd Attends Boxing Contest at the Neighborhood Club

Boxing and sport enthusiasts of Grosse Pointe turned out in substantial numbers Tuesday evening to witness the Golden Gloves elimination contest sponsored by the Detroit Free Press. The auditorium of the Neighborhood Club was filled to capacity.

Through some error we announced that it was to begin at 8:30, but on account of the number of bouts booked it was necessary to begin at 7 o'clock. Some eighty contestants fought grimly, earnestly filled with ambitions to become champions.

There were many thrilling moments and numerous knockouts to keep the crowd excitedly shouting encouragement to this or that one. In all it was a thrilling evening for those who attended.

Economic Beauty Service Featured by Local Shop

Evelyn Skees, who was associated with a local beauty salon for some years, and Helen Donawell, formerly with Ettlingers Beauty Salon downtown, felt the need for an economical beauty service for women of the East-side and so they opened the Ritzie Beauty Salon at 13319 Kercheval avenue.

They are capable operators and their establishment is equipped with modern beauty equipment.

Red Cross Asks Grosse Pointe To Aid In The Relief of Flood Sufferers

The unexpected catastrophe which began in the Ohio Valley just a few days ago, has spread to ten states and left some 800,000 people homeless, without food, adequate clothing or shelter. The facilities of the Red Cross have been recruited to combat sickness and want in the stricken area.

In order to facilitate speedy aid to the sufferers, it has become necessary to ask the people of this vast resourceful country to aid in alleviating a dreadful situation which has rendered so many destitute and homeless.

Flood sufferers of former years say that it requires five or six months before these homes become habitable. It will take plenty of warm sunshine to entirely dry out these inundated homes, and fumigations to destroy disease germs and in many cases a good deal of construction before these people can again enjoy the benefits of their homes. The waters of the flood are slowly receding, but much remains to be done.

Funds, clothing and food are needed, extend a helping hand. Call your nearest Red Cross substation, the Municipal Building, 15115 East Jefferson avenue for Grosse Pointe Park residents, the City of Grosse Pointe Police for the City of Grosse Pointe, and the Grosse Pointe Farms police department, Grosse Pointe Shores and Lochmoor police departments, also the Neighborhood Club, and they will gladly have some one call for contributions in their respective constituents.

Grosse Pointe Post No. 303, American Legion, is also active in soliciting funds, clothing, canned foods, blankets and medicines for the flood victims and its headquarters at 17520 Mack avenue will be open Thursday evening and Sunday afternoon to receive contributions.

St. Paul's Young Ladies to Hold Bridge-Tea in School Hall, January 31

Present Bargaining Methods Approved By Majority GM Employees

A total of 110,262 General Motors employees from 43 plants affected employing 139,312 men and women—more than 79 per cent—have protested against strikes which have forced them into idleness or imperiled their present jobs, General Motors Corporation announced Thursday. Reports of this activity by employees are coming into Detroit hourly as the back-to-work movement sweeps across the country in 36 cities where plants are located, Corporation officials said. Hundreds of additional workers are enrolling daily. Through petitions, mass meetings and other demonstrations, employees have expressed satisfaction with present bargaining methods to secure adjustment of grievances, and more favorable wages, hours and working conditions, and request immediate resumption of operations in letters and telegrams. Some of these have been sent to President Roosevelt. Others have gone to governors of various states. Appeals also have been sent to William S. Knudsen, executive Vice President of General Motors, who announced the total figures, Thursday.

1,000 Directors to Meet in Detroit

Nearly 1,000 directors, owners and counsellors of camps will discuss the problems of the camping movement at the national convention of the American Camping Association to be held at the Hotel Statler in Detroit for three days starting February 4.

The convention will not only be of interest to those actively engaged in camp work, but also to persons at all interested in the movement. The sessions will be open to the public, and doubtless will be attended by many social workers, YMCA secretaries and others directly identified with camps for boys and girls, as well as adults.

A particular phase of the discussion will be Y. M. C. A. camps. There are a number of these camps in Michigan, two of the largest of which are maintained by the Detroit Y. M. C. A. in addition to the camps operated by the state "Y" and Y. M. C. A.s in the larger cities. Boyd I. Walker, Metropolitan boys' work secretary of the Detroit Y. M. C. A., who is in charge of the two Detroit "Y" camps will participate in the discussion on the Y. M. C. A. camps.

The camping movement has been given great impetus by the recent gift of $100,000 by the Chrysler Fund for research work in the field of camping. This money is to be spent over a period of five years to help solve the many urgent needs that have arisen in the camping movement. Plans for the studies in this program will be presented and discussed at the Detroit convention. K. T. Keller, president of the Chrysler Corporation, will address the national convention.

"New Horizons for Camping" is the theme for the 1937 convention. Among the outstanding speakers will be Dr. E. C. Lindeman, of the New York School of Social Work; Julian Saloman, of the national park service; Capt. Fred Mills, of the Boy Scouts of America; Fay Welch, of the New York School of Forestry; Miss Abbie Graham, a noted author on camping, and Miss Portia Mansfield, president; Charles E. Hendry, research coordinator, and H. W. Twining, executive director, of the American Camping Association. Another important speaker will be Dr. Hedley S. Dimock, dean of the George Williams College, Chicago Y. M. C. A. school.

A splendid group of exhibits relating to camping work, will be on display at the convention.

U. S. Daughters of 1812

Mrs. Roy E. DeHart and Mrs. Ralph E. Wisner will be co-hostesses to members of Gen. Alexander Macomb Chapter, United States Daughters of 1812, Wednesday, February 3, at Mrs. DeHart's new home on Harvard road. The president, Mrs. Lloyd DeWitt Smith, will conduct a board meeting at one o'clock, and will call the chapter meeting to order at two o'clock.

Mrs. Gordon W. Kingsbury, past state president, will present a fifth paper in the series on "The War of 1812 in Michigan, entitled "Drummond Island; Why It Was Held Until 1828." Tea will be served at the close of the program.

Reservations should be made with Mrs. DeHart not later than Tuesday.

Pherbia Thomas to Speak on 'Japan' at Art Institute Jan. 31

Wayne Received $7,135,000 in State Highway Revenues

Murray D. Van Wagoner, state highway commissioner, vouchered $1,407,050 to the counties this week as their final payments from 1936 state highway revenues.

With the books closed on 1036 payments, the counties received a record total of $24,237,714 from weight and gasoline taxes last year. This was an increase of nearly $2,600,000 over the total of $21,639,247 returned to the counties in 1935.

Final payments to the counties embraced $1,275,000 as the final half returns from gasoline tax receipts and $132,050 as the last quarter returned from the weight tax.

Twenty years ago the counties received less than a million dollars from state highway revenues, Commissioner Van Wagoner said. The returns have gradually increased until the counties now receive the entire amount of the weight tax and $6,550,000 from gasoline tax receipts. At the same time local property taxes for highway purposes have declined from a height of nearly $24,500,000 in 1929 to less than $1,320,000 in 1934.

Grosse Pointe Lutheran Church

"A Message from the First Century Gospel to the People of Grosse Pointe in the Twentieth Century" will be the subject of the sermon at the Grosse Pointe Lutheran Church, worshipping in the auditorium of the Richard School, Kercheval avenue and McKinley road, Sunday morning, January 31, at 11 o'clock.

The Bible is taught in all classes of the Sunday School at 9:45 o'clock, with grades for all ages. The Ten Commandments, the Apostles' Creed, the Lord's Prayer, the Sacraments of Baptism and the Lord's Supper—together with their meanings and Scripture passages are being taught and memorized by the boys and girls in the school. We have competent and consecrated teachers. If you and your family have not a church home, you are cordially invited to make ours your home church.

Join the Christian people of the world in church going from now until Easter, starting next Sunday. Religious instruction is the seed-corn of future civilization. Begin planting the seed in your boy or girl right now.

St. Paul Cage Team Defeats St. Vincents

Over the week-end, the St. Pauls boys basketball squad increased their winning streak to five games when they defeated St. Vincent 23-13, Friday night and St. Rita 25-11 Sunday afternoon. This puts them two full games ahead of the other teams in the Catholic East Side Third Division of Detroit. Friday night they play St. Clements of Centerline in a non-league tilt on their home floor.

Friday afternoon the St. Paul debaters take part in their last elimination contest when they debate Marine City high school of Marine City, Mich. St. Paul won all of her three previous debates from her respective opponents: Hartland Consolidate of Hartland, Visitation high school, and St. Clair high school.

Neighborhood Club Activities

The senior girls have been busy playing off a badminton tournament. The first week's results were: Doris LaRue, winner; Elizabeth De Wolf, runnerup. Second week: Dorothy Lee, winner; Elizabeth De Wolf, runnerup. The girls are also getting basketball technique.

The Intermediate Class are busy looking for new members, but really specialize in games, such as dodge ball and pin guard.

The juniors specialize in tap dancing.

The boys' gym on Saturday afternoon is divided into two classes; one for older boys, the other for the younger. They are progressing in gym very well, and soon we'll be seeing some fine athletes.

Since the city has so generously made a skating rink across the street we find that it cannot be used. Reason! So many of our thoughtful children go over there and deliberately break the ice, throw sticks and stones on its surface and use sleds to do further damage. Now please remember there are people who enjoy skating. Won't you show your appreciation to the city by helping to make our skating rink the best in Grosse Pointe (even Detroit!)

Joe Delor of the Neighborhood Club took third place in his drawing of Ralph Bellamy in the art exhibition at the Neighborhood Club during January.

The Arizonians, a new gym class for boys, seem to be going along nicely. Russ Conrad is the president and is putting his boys against the mighty Saints.

The Saints, that well known team for winning games, are playing basketball with the Arizonians. Is it going to be a tough game. Well, we'll have to see.

The bright young girls in the blue and white uniforms which you see on Friday nights are the Girl Guards, their management is to keep the children in order and good behavior and any courtesy shown to these girls is very much appreciated.

Leona Bundy is president of the V. V. V. Girls Club. Not only that, Leona is a staunch Neighborhood Club member and has been for a long time. Lots of luck to you—Bundy!

South Paw Charley Smitters, one of the foremost swordsmen of this country, is expected to uphold the Grosse Pointe Sword Club in their coming matches with other fencing organizations of the state. We've missed our coach, Bill Leverence in the last couple of practices, but we are hoping he will be back with us very soon.

Good old basketball season again and the A. O. C.'s are looking for some competition. How about it, you Cadettes? A banquet will be held at Turners on February 4, before which there will be swimming and after which there will be dancing.

Have plans for their Cadette Cake Walk, an informal dance to be held some time in February. Come one, come all!

Lecture on Christian Science by Wm. W. Porter, C. S. B.

Under the auspices of Second Church of Christ, Scientist, of Detroit, William Wallace Porter, C. S. B. of New York City, lectured to a large audience in Second Church Edifice, East Grand Boulevard, near Jefferson, Friday, January 22nd, at 8 p. m. Mr. Porter's subject was Christian Science: Its Inexhaustible Compensations. Mr. Porter spoke substantially as follows:

PREMISES
In order that Christian Science may be of value to humanity it must do something or bring something to humanity in a compensating and appreciable way.

Christian Science demonstrates the proposition that health, peace, harmony, and prosperity are the natural conditions of Life, Mind, or God, which belong to all alike. These desirable and welcome states are not the result of chance nor of a supernatural impulsion. They are the natural fruitage, unfoldment, or scientific translation of the divine Mind; or God, to the human understanding.

Too long has human thought been drifting under the erroneous assumption that existence is controlled by circumstance and chance; and that the only escape from this must be found through the hypnotic channels of matter, medicine, and the belief in supernatural theories of religion.

Human thought seems to have lost sight of the essential fact that creation or existence implies order and harmony; and it has accepted instead the theory of discord and chance. This comes from trying to carry an uncertain material sense of things into the realm of the creative Mind, and then assuming that this creative Mind, or God, is the cause of these discordant mortal concepts. This is as reasonable as to try to make the fundamental law of numbers the author of all mathematical errors. This procedure builds up a false sense of the creative Mind, or God, which involves limitation, materiality, and uncertainty in Deity. Starting from this false sense of the creative Mind, or God, it is impossible to see man and the universe otherwise than as subject to the caprice of chance and to the expectancy of evil.

Here is encountered a wide crevasse before which humanity has paused. Some religionists have tried to bridge this chasm between God and man with dogmatic beliefs. Other travelers, unwilling to trust such beliefs, have become discouraged, and assumed the stupid makeshift of atheism.

A woman, Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, and the author of its textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," declined to follow either the way of supernatural theology, or that of destructive godlessness. Christian Science shows that the creative Mind, or God, cannot be known through any concept having the bias of materiality, but only through the spiritual idea which interprets the true nature of God to the understanding. To consider God in any other manner than as thus made known to the understanding involves a false, material, and uncertain sense of Deity. From this false, misleading, and uncertain sense of Deity is evolved the destructive theory that man, the likeness of this deity, is subject to the vagaries of chance, and that existence is largely a haphazard experience.

As shown by Mrs. Eddy, Christian Science accepts the Scriptural record of creation set forth in the first chapter of the book of Genesis and up to the sixth verse of the second chapter, as presenting a nature in man and the universe which alone satisfies the longing and outreach of human desire. The craving and desire of human thought to gain an adequate view of man is compensated and satisfied only as man is seen to be identical with the spiritual or true idea of infinite Mind, Life, or God.

TRUE IDENTITY AND INDIVIDUALITY

The question arises: Whence comes the true identity and individuality of all things? It is perfectly clear that these are not self-creations. They do, however, point to an intelligent creative cause, origin, or God. The true identity and individuality of persons and things are truly known only as the divine Mind, or God, unfolds in the understanding the idea which brings them into view. From this it is seen that all identity and individuality thus defined, classified, and individualized exist, primarily, not as material objects or physical models, but as ideas, and that as ideas, they exist forever in the realm of understanding. They never become material phenomena; nor do material, mortal phenomena ever appear, as such, in the realm of understanding.

Material phenomena are transient; hence they have not the substance of reality. Spiritual ideas are eternal, like the origin, or Mind, which they reflect; hence they are substantial and real. It must be apparent, then, that where the spiritual or true idea appears, defined in part by Webster as "the immediate object of understanding,"—here is the realm of the real!

Referring to his eternal identity Jesus said, "And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was;" and again, "Verily, Verily, I say unto you, Before Abraham was, I am."

Pointing to this same unchanging identity Paul wrote, "Your life is hid with Christ in God."

Whilst Mrs. Eddy has penned these enlightening words, "... the intelligence, existence, and continuity of all individuality remain in God, who is the divinely creative Principle thereof" (Science and Health, p. 513).

Through the scientific translation of thought Christian Science is teaching men and women to see, and to hold steadfastly in thought, this true identity and individuality of all things; and in this translating process the compensating values of Christian Science are brought to light.

Because the true identity and individuality of all things reflects the perfect Mind, or Life, which is God, it can never depart from this perfection. It can never be sick, nor is it poor; it is not discouraged, nor is it a failure; nor can it ever express any of these limitations. The understanding, and demonstration of this true identity and individuality is the way of salvation for men—the appreciable way of ascending thought.

By holding thought consistently to the rules which express the exact relation of numbers, one learns to solve mathematical problems with unflinching certainty. The recognition is rapidly coming to this age that by holding thought consistently and exactly to the rules laid down in Christian Science, one may expect to experience with equal certainty the solution of those human problems which present themselves in the form of ill health, danger, grief, and lack of supply or poor business.

PRAYER AND AUTHORITY

The question may be asked: If, as Christian Science declares, evil, mortal mind, be not real, why try to work out of it? Why try to work out of something which does not exist?

Obviously a mortal, material sense of existence—a state of consciousness which repeats over and over the instabilities of matter or mortality—is not the ultimate of human desire. It is a sad fact, however, that many persons remain pretty much where they are, and are born without attempting to emerge therefrom, and without even knowing that it is possible for them to emerge with scientific certainty into a happier, healthier, and more harmonious state of existence.

The desire to emerge from the deadening routine of material, mortal heredity and tradition is true prayer, irresistible in its nature and power. Moreover, it must be seen also that this pure desire, or prayer, does not perpetuate, but, on the contrary, dispels those dogmatic beliefs and traditions which hamper the translation of thought. Otherwise prayer and progress would be antagonistic the one to the other; and human existence would show no greater objective than the revolving wheel in a squirrel cage.

In response to insistent pure desire, or prayer, the spiritual or true idea of Life, Mind, or God, unfolds to the understanding the nature of man's true being. In this transfiguration the sick are healed and the erring are restored to useful lives. Here one finds the answer to his question: Why try to work out of mortal mind which does not exist? Through the healing of his sickness, his sin, and his suffering one learns that these are neither real nor higher than the state of consciousness in which he looks with great expectancy and certainty to the experience of health and prosperity.

It is apparent that prayer is effective only as it results in the human good and welfare of the individual; and that this human good and welfare of the individual is attained, not as the result of theological dogma and tradition, but only as the individual, through scientific translation of thought, enters into an improved state of consciousness, in which health, happiness, and prosperity are experienced.

All right translation of thought rests upon pure desire, or prayer, rather than upon the dogma of authority. The whole theory that authority is included in antiquity, in dogma and in mere tradition, involves suppression of thought, progress, and of true authority, whilst right desire or prayer leads to the divine Principle, or God, and imbues thought with the divine nature and with true authority. Hence the scientific translation of mortal mind is a true process, divinely conceived, directed and authorized.

The purpose of religion and prayer is not to force upon thought the acceptance of assumed authority, but to establish the recognition of supreme authority or Principle, which operates in a compensating way with respect to the good or salvation of the individual.

SALVATION OR SCIENTIFIC TRANSLATION

In considering the subject of salvation, men and women seem to look upon this in a somewhat distant light and as a somewhat remote experience.

On pages 115 and 116 of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" will be found two notable divisions of thought, which have been designated by Mrs. Eddy as the "Scientific Translation of Immortal Mind" and the "Scientific Translation of Mortal Mind."

It is the higher mission of Christian Science to translate human thought out of the states and stages of mortal, material belief into the realm of the real, where the true identity and eternal individuality of all things are revealed. In this scientific translation of thought the sick, the erring, and the grief-stricken are uplifted and healed; and for the discouraged and hopeless the doors of peace and prosperity are opened.

In these two translations will be found the exact process of human advancement, or the way of salvation for humanity. To conduct one's thinking in this orderly way gives a keen zest to human existence. One is enabled hereby to ask himself: In just what kind of house am I living—a tumble-down shack, or a glorious mansion? And if he does not like the place, he can move along and on. Here one is finding, continually new, outstanding, and inspiring objectives which invite attainment. The necessity no longer exists to suffer under the misleading and discouraging sense that man is controlled by chance, and that existence is a haphazard experience.

The person who adopts these scientific translations as his chart of life will soon learn that he has started upon a journey which leads through a country of infinite beauty and richness; that the companionships and intercourse along the way are glorious experiences; that he is losing his fear of limitation and incompleteness, and gaining the compensating values of health, happiness, and prosperity, which are continually appearing along the way.

CHRIST JESUS

For a long period prior to the advent of Christian Science—or from about the third until the middle of the nineteenth century—the glory of Jesus' teachings had been hidden under a burden of superstitious worship. These teachings, however, so clearly reflected the glory of true being—so clearly revealed the nature of man's true selfhood—that it was impossible for them to remain thus hidden, or to become lost. Jesus said: "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away." This language clearly shows his understanding of true being, or the eternal reality of things.

We are told in the Bible that Jesus spoke as one having authority. The words of Jesus were not the words of one who merely assumed a role of authority. Nor did he speak as one who had been instructed merely to say certain words. He saw the truth of all things, clearly. And this clear insight he expressed with the conviction of understanding. All of the teachings and works of Jesus express this simplicity of exact Science.

Jesus was led into a higher understanding of the nature of God, just as Moses was led into a higher understanding of the nature of Deity. Jesus then undertook to bring something of the true God into places where ritualism and ecclesiasticism had for so long a time obscured the true idea of Deity. In this he was misunderstood, and for this he was hated, persecuted, and finally crucified. He was crucified, not because he was taking away something, but because he was bringing something true concerning God into the lives of men—even into the lives of men who were trying to obstruct his way, and to slay him. Ignorance, human belief, and superstition do not readily make way for the advancing idea of Truth, or God. But this unfoldment of God—the advance of a higher understanding brought by Jesus—was inevitable, as witness the words of Jesus in John 7:16, 17, 18:

"Jesus answered them, and said, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me."

"If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself."

"He that speaketh of himself seeketh his own glory; but he that seeketh his glory that sent him, the same is true, and no unrighteousness is in him."

The capacity for scientific discernment is set forth here in the most direct and explicit thinking the world has ever known. With what surprising clearness and simplicity the great teacher has shown here the simple way of salvation. In these words of Jesus one may also see the necessity for that scientific translation of thought in which the true identity and individuality of all things appear.

We read in John, chapter 5, that there was in those days at Jerusalem by the sheep market a pool called "Bethesda, having five porches;" and that in these porches lay a great multitude of sick folk, of "blind, halt, withered, waiting for the moving of the water." For, it was said, an angel went down at certain seasons into the pool and troubled the water; and whoever, then, stepped into the pool "was made whole of whatsoever disease he had." At certain springs in various parts of the world the village wisewacs will tell one to catch the bubbles as they come up, because, according to uncertain tradition or superstition, the bubbles are supposed to possess special healing virtue. The troubling or bubbling of these waters is caused naturally by subterranean gases finding vent through the pools or springs.

An incident of import is recorded concerning this pool by the sheep market. "A certain man was there, which had an infirmity thirty and eight years." It is recorded that Jesus seeing him lying there in that case, said, "Wilt thou be made whole?" "Sir," answered the impotent man, "doubtless hoping that this stranger might help him into the pool;—I have no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the pool; but while I am coming, another steppeth down before me." "What a pitiful case! The water ceased to move before he could step in. And then waiting, hoping for another step down and take the coveted place. In the midst of all his discouragement and hopelessness, imagine the startled amazement of the impotent man when the stranger who had addressed him when he lay in a firm voice, "Rise, take up thy bed, and walk." Immediately the man was made whole.

When Jesus spoke these words, he was not speaking of himself; nor was he speaking of his own glory. He was indeed seeking the "glory" of him that sent him; and consequently there was no unrighteousness present in his thought. In this impotent man Jesus saw an imperfect sense of man seeking power from the troubled pool; a sense of man clinging to matter as source and savior. He did not say, "Be of good cheer, my friend, and I will put you into the pool the next time the water is troubled. He did not say, "Lie down, rest yourself, and walk; or, Roll into the pool, and walk." He said, "Rise, and walk." And he uttered these words not as one who had been instructed merely to say the words, but as one who saw clearly the unreality and the reality of that which was before him.

Christian Science penetrates the veil of mystery which has been thrown over this healing act of Jesus at the pool of Bethesda, and it shows that divine, or God's, thoughts, are always moving upon the waters of mortal mind, healing the sick and the erring. Mrs. Eddy writes in Science and Health (p. 254): "If you venture upon the quiet surface of error and are in sympathy with error, what is there to disturb the waters? What is there to strip off error's disguise?" It should be understood that Christian Science impels mortal thought to change its premise; and in this troubling of the waters the sick and the sinning are healed and made whole. No longer is it necessary to await the seasonal troubling of waters. The demonstration of Christian Science healing, and its immediate availability, has removed the pitiful superstition which has limited, in belief, God's healing power to certain seasons or places. "Now," writes Paul, "is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation." "Divinity," writes Mrs. Eddy, "is always ready" (Science and Health, p. 458).

DISCOVERY AND DISCOVERER

From the time of her early intermittent writings, in 1862, on through the year 1866,—which year marks the first steps of Mrs. Eddy's healing, a healing shortly thereafter brought to a full and happy completion—on through successive stages of demonstration, Mrs. Eddy was constantly enlarging her experience, understanding, and spirituality. Let no one think for a moment that Christian Science, as it is known today, was unfolded in a brief hour, or in a quickly passing year. The slow years coming and going found Mrs. Eddy faithfully pursuing a goal which was always kept foremost in her thought—this goal being a "comprehensive understanding of God," and the practical value of this understanding in its application, to the healing of humanity's sins, sufferings, and sorrows. It would require a sturdy chapter of itself to tell of the patient steps, taken one by one, to find the basis of Christian Science, and to perfect this Science, as it is today.

In Science and Health (p. 476) we read: "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick. Thus Jesus taught that the Kingdom of God is at hand, universal, and that man is pure and holy." Has ever interpretation more fittingly, more scientifically, described the healing of the impotent man at the pool of Bethesda than is expressed in these straightforward words of the woman; who, in obedience to Jesus' own injunction, "Search the scriptures; for they are they which testify of me," looked long into the Bible, looked long into the teachings and works of Jesus, until she saw there, clearly, something that philosophy and ritualism had never revealed—a life governed by the simplicity and lucidity of exact, demonstrable Science?

That a thought so sincere and selfless as that of Jesus should be concerned solely or largely with dogmatic human theories was self-contradictory—inconsistent with Jesus' own words and acts. Here was a beginning. Then what was his concern? What his purpose to teach? That human thought might find appreciable value in his teachings, he healed the sick and the sinning. The purpose of Jesus in this healing work then began to unfold to the woman, this purpose being to turn thought toward God—toward the Father; that by relating consciousness to the Father, men might begin to grasp the idea of God-likeness; and that men might stand in definite relationship, or likeness, to the Father; in short, that the nature of man's true being might be understood, demonstrated, and enjoyed. Mrs. Eddy caught the Science of Jesus' teachings and she has presented it to this age in language which will endure the changes of time (Science and Health, p. 468): "There is no life, truth, intelligence, nor substance in matter." "All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation, for God is All-in-all, and His kingdom is within us, and He ceases to seek his own glory—or faulty understanding—and the Science—glory—of Principle, or God, is revealed, and controls consciousness."

MATTER AND PHYSICAL RESEARCH

The processes of Christian Science are purely spiritual, scientific, and obvious. Obvious, because Christian Science, seen as the truth about God and man, dawn on human thought as the amazingly obvious. The dignity and permanency of Christian Science procedure appear in strong contrast with the continually changing methods involved in the history of material systems of healing. The continual change of material systems of healing will go on so long as the educators responsible for such systems base their premises upon so uncertain a thing as matter—matter which has already been abandoned as such by the advanced physicists of the world.

It is of more than passing interest to observe how closely the concepts of reality accepted to-day by leading physicists conform to the definition of reality established many years ago by Mrs. Eddy.

SUPPLY

Not infrequently one hears the question asked: "Why am I not able to make my financial demonstration? I am able to demonstrate over physical troubles with respect to myself and others. Why am I not able to solve my problem of supply? Let us examine this. When a person is suffering from illness and pain, if he has exhausted his reliance upon matter he readily turns away from all material remedies; and he is willing to rely solely upon spiritual or mental means to establish the harmony of health. He may have learned from experience that material remedies involve either a bad-tasting medicine or a painful operation. In any case, he is willing to turn away from the use of material remedies.

But with respect to the problem of supply, position, or poor business, what does he do? While he tells you that he desires to use mental or spiritual means solely in the solution of these problems, he is thinking—because he has not already been taught how better to think—that some personal or material consideration is a prime requisite in the working out of the problem. He is, in short, holding fast to a material sense of supply. A person situated thus might ask himself, Is it not just as inconsistent to hold to and to rely upon a material sense of supply while working out the problem of position or of business, as it would be to hold to and to rely upon a material sense of medicine while working out the problem of sickness?

The use of symbols as an aid—or hindrance—to thought, is as old as the world. Moses perceived a demand of Principle, or God, which was translated by him into these words, "Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image." The "graven images," as a material sense of supply, had always controlled the consciousness of our questioner, and for this reason his thought did not relinquish readily what it had not yet been able to see as a false sense of supply; in short, he had not as yet gone far enough in the scientific translation of thought to comprehend, as real and tangible, things beyond a mortal, material sense of supply.

What has here been said may be summed up thus: When one turns away from his reliance upon personal or material considerations, in seeking supply, position, business, as consistently and steadfastly as he turns away from his reliance upon material medicines to establish health, he will find that supply, position, business, are becoming as harmonious, certain, and safe as his health and happiness have already become through the influence of Christian Science.

Continuing this subject, it is not obvious that a first-degree mortal mind sense of supply involves limitation, helplessness, and lack of confidence, with constant fear of loss? Does this comprehend substance and supply? (What a tragedy of falsity and disappointment!)

The true idea of substance and supply is never failing; is never depleted, never suffers loss or deterioration, is uncontaminated with fear. Its source is inexhaustible, because Mind is inexhaustible. Because the spiritual idea of substance and supply is true it is therefore real, tangible, substantial, and satisfying always. Being endowed by Mind, or God, with the nature or fruitfulness, it never diminishes, but multiplies, and brings into view endless varieties of Love's inexhaustible supply.

HEALING ACTION

The point is sometimes stressed that in Christian Science healing there is no material or accepted process by which the healings can be observed and measured, classified and charted. There exists an old saying that persons who live in glass houses ought not to indulge in the practice of throwing stones. The glass is some houses is fragile. Being purely spiritual, in its nature, Christian Science does not follow the practices used in ordinary material systems of healing; nor does its action rest upon physical or material diagnosis. Both the premise and conclusion of physical diagnosis are based upon the uncertainties of matter, hence such a diagnosis cannot express the true ideas of Mind, which, only, reflect understanding.

A case may be recounted here of a young woman, a student in a well-known college. She was attacked with what the college physician reported to be appendicitis, and was ordered to a hospital to prepare for an operation. The young woman was a Christian Scientist, as were her parents. The mother of the young woman journeyed to the college town. Upon her arrival, the mother removed the daughter from the hospital, although warned by the surgeons that the daughter would pass on within forty-eight hours unless the operation was performed. The Christian Science practitioner who had been treating this case went to the college town and worked with the girl continuously. The following midnight, which was the limit of time allotted by the surgeons for the girl to live, a serious crisis arose. This was happily and successfully met by the Christian Science treatment. Within three days after the removal of the girl from the hospital, she enjoyed a buggy ride through the town, to the amazement and consternation of some fifteen hundred young women students, who were waiting to hear the news of her passing. Three months later she was graduated with honors. Something healed this young woman. What was it? Was it matter or divine Mind?

No material remedies were used. Yet the patient was completely healed. It does not answer the question to say that there may have been a "wrong diagnosis,"—which, by the way, was the explanation of the college physician. Both the college physician and the hospital surgeons diagnosed the case as appendicitis. If these diagnoses were wrong—the girl being already prepared for the operating table,—then a serious question arises as to the value of physical diagnoses.

The thing which operated in Christian Science to heal this young woman was the tangible and substantial Word, or spiritual idea, that without which "was not any thing made that was made." And the reality of the healing must be measured by the results.

LESS EXPENSIVE

It may be that you never have actually stood on the shore of the Red Sea as did Moses in ancient days, with every human hope cut off. But you have stood upon the shores of your own red seas, with all avenues of escape seemingly closed—hopelessness staring you in the face! In the scientific translation of immortal Mind and mortal mind it is not unnatural or supernatural that to you also should come, as came to Moses of old, the voice of God, Life, or Mind, declaring to your children of Israel—to your own uplifted thoughts—that they go forward. When confronted by a situation of mortal hopelessness remember that because all true ideas proceed from the divine Mind, or God, it is impossible for a true idea to appear in the understanding which is not capable of being realized or carried out. Jesus said: "Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? and one of them shall not fall on the ground without your Father." Remember, then,

Thou hast the vision to attain,
Thou hast the Mind to know,
God never gave the tiniest thought
Without the urge to grow!

It may be that you are even now troubled about your business, worried about the evils of limitation and affliction. Remember that the identity of all things—and this includes your business, as well as your health—is maintained not in matter or material sense, but as the true idea of the creative Mind, or God; and that, as such, it reflects the perfection, capacity, and inexhaustible resource of the creative cause forever. Because of this, nothing can ever happen to it. It cannot fail. It cannot do anything, except to manifest the impartations of Mind and Life with which its immortal nature is endowed! The objective is glorious! How shall we approach it? I know of but one way. But I do know this way as it is revealed in Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures,—the way of Christian Science with its upward translations and ever-satisfying compensations.

There is always opportunity, there is always occupation—ideas to be happily fruited, and brought to satisfying fruition.

A seventeen-year-old boy was completing a difficult piece of work about the house. He had been laboring patiently for hours. Presently a happy, triumphant voice boomed up the stairway: "It works!" What a fine sense of things! To finish something, and to be able to say, It works. Here may be seen one of the great joys of existence. Perhaps no other joy can equal this, unless it be the joy which comes when, after completing a work well done, you then reach out—and begin another. Was it not the beloved Robert Louis Stevenson who intimated that it is more pleasant to journey than to arrive? The understanding of Christian Science is continually inspiring and impelling thought into broader realms of accomplishment.

Referring to the nature of true Science and its impartations, Mrs. Eddy has written in Science and Health (p. 128): "The term Science, properly understood, refers only to the laws of God and to His government of the universe, inclusive of man. From this it follows that business men and cultured scholars have found that Christian Science enhances their endurance and mental powers, enlarges their perception of character, gives them acuteness and comprehensiveness and an ability to exceed their ordinary business capacity. . . . It extends the atmosphere of thought, giving mortals access to broader and higher realms. It raises the thinker into his native air of insight and perspicacity."

In the joyous experience of demonstrating Christian Science man's view is ever widening. New fields, more winning objectives, are continually beckoning.

Is it not said in the great day of man's creation: "Behold, I have given you . . . every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed? The fruit of a tree, 'yielding seed'! Eternal instinct and ability to multiply and to grow, interpreted so well in the Glossary of Science and Health as "The structure of Truth and Love; whatever rests upon and proceeds from divine Principle." In this scientific translation of thought—the ever-widening realization of Life's affluence—one may truly say (Hymnal, No. 149):

"Wherever He may guide me,
No want shall turn me back;
My shepherd is beside me,
And nothing can I lack.
His wisdom ever waketh,
His sight is never dim;
He knows the way He taketh,
And I will walk with Him."

signed the petitions. Strikes have been called only in the two Fisher Body plants in Flint, and Buick and Chevrolet operations are practically at a standstill. More than 85 per cent of the General Motors workers in the city are idle.

At Detroit, 22,902 employes in the Chevrolet, Cadillac, Fleetwood and Ternstedt plants have indicated their desire to return to work immediately. They represent plants employing 28,485 workers, or 80 per cent of this force.

At Saginaw, 6970 employes in the Chevrolet plants and the Saginaw Mal-leable plant, out of a total of 7180 who were working at the time of the shutdown, have signed petitions. They represent 97 per cent of the working force. Chevrolet operations in Saginaw are near a standstill due to strikes in other cities. The employes of the Saginaw Steering Gear plant conducted a secret poll in which 745 out of 920 or 81 per cent voted against having the union represent them.

At Pontiac, 7654 workers of 9113 in the Pontiac Motor plant signed the petitions protesting the strike. At the Fisher Body plant, petitions just put in circulation had gathered 2665 names out of 7466 employed. Neither of these plants was involved directly in a strike, but thousands are idle because of strikes elsewhere. The General Motors Truck plant in Pontiac is working its normal force.

At Baltimore, 2291 or 97 per cent of the 2347 in the Chevrolet and Fisher Body assembly plants had signed the petitions. Operations were stopped at the Fisher Body plant today for lack of materials and Chevrolet operations are continuing on a greatly curtailed basis.

At St. Louis, 3139 of the 3985 employes in the Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants had petitioned the management for continuance of operations. The plant is closed due to lack of materials.

At Bay City, 1953 of the workers in the Chevrolet plant employing 2263 men were in favor of resuming operations. This plant was closed for the first time in 16 years when strikes in other cities closed the outlet for its products.

At the Hyatt Bearing plant in Harrison, N. J., the Employes Association, representing the 1750 employes in the plant, expressed their desire to remain on their jobs. The plant is operating on a curtailed basis.

At Atlanta, where a strike has been in progress in the Chevrolet and Fisher Body assembly plants since November 18, 897 employes of the 1681, a clear majority, have protested against the shutdown.

At Lockport, N. Y., the Harrison Radiator plant reported that 2428 employes out of 2590 had protested the strikes which threaten their jobs. The plant has curtailed operations.

At Oakland, Cal., 2212 employes in the Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants have signed petitions. They represent 2374 workers.

At Cleveland, 4721 employes of the 7211 in the Fisher Body plant, where a strike is in progress, have sent in cards to an employes' committee expressing a desire to return to work. The Winton Engine plant in Cleveland has continued operations without interruption.

At Janesville, Wis., closed by sitdown strikers now out of the plant, 966 employes of the 1366 in the Chevrolet plant have signed the petitions. A poll of Fisher Body workers is under way.

At Muncie, Ind., every man of the 1500 employed in the Chevrolet transmission plant signed the petition. The plant has been closed because of strikes elsewhere. The Delco battery plant in the same city is continuing operations without interruption.

At Kokomo, Ind., only one man of the 900 employed in the Delco Radio plant failed to sign the petition. The plant is operating as usual.

At Kansas City, closed by a strike, 815 of the 1150 employes in the Chevrolet assembly plant signed.

At Buffalo, employes of the Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants numbering 1382 out of the 1508 employed have signed the petitions. The plant is running at somewhat reduced capacity.

Sunday school, 9:15 a. m.
Divine service, 10:45 a. m.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to come and hear Rev. Linhart present in lecture form, The Way of Salvation. The purpose of these lectures is to set forth the things which God would have us believe and do as followers of Christ and heirs of eternal life. Your presence will place you under no obligations whatsoever. Those desiring to unite with the church after having heard these lectures, will be given the opportunity on Palm Sunday.

It is gratifying to see that there are so many seeking God's answer to the all-important question, "What Must I Do to Be Saved?" Last Sunday there were 49 enrolled. Next Sunday morning the class will meet at the regular hour, 9:0 o'clock, to discuss the subject, "Jesus Christ and Our Redemption."

The theme for the sermons to be presented on Sundays during Lent is: "Love Streams Down From The Cross." Those to be given on Wednesdays, during the passion season, will be under the general theme, "The Words Which Christ Spoke From The Cross."

Dr. Ralph McAfee, executive secretary of the Detroit Council of Churches will be the speaker at the Father and Son banquet which will be held Monday evening, February 8, at 6:30 o'clock. Tickets may be purchased at the church office.

Reinald Werrenrath Comes to Town Hall at Fisher Theater Feb. 3

Reinald Werrenrath, distinguished American baritone, and one of the most colorful and popular personalities of the concert stage, comes to the Detroit Town Hall in the Fisher Theater Wednesday morning, February 3, at 11 o'clock. He will present a lecture-recital, "American Music of Tomorrow."

Through his long and steadily brilliant career, Werrenrath has triumphed in a variety of fields: as song interpreter, oratorio singer, in opera, in operetta, on the radio and as a choral conductor. In his latest field—that of the lecture-recital—he matches his famous voice with his exceptional gifts as showman and raconteur.

In his Town Hall program he will trace the growth of American song from its earliest sources to the popular song writers of today, and will sing songs typical of the periods he is describing. Mr. Werrenrath is noted as an authority on the history and development of the American song, and is author of the article on this subject in the Encyclopedia Britannica.

His program covers: (1) Introduction, Indian Tribal Melodies, Negro Spirituals and Shout Songs; (2) Cowboy Songs and Kentucky Lonesome Tunes; (3) Songs prior to 1800, Francis Hopkinson, William Billings, James Lyon; (4) Hymnologists of the early 19th Century; (5) Stephen Collins Foster; (6) George F. Root, Harrison Millard, George F. Bristow, J. Remington Fairbank, MacDowell, etc.; (7) Musical comedy writers of the present—Jerome Kern, George Gershwin, Cole Porter, Irving Berlin, Vincent Youmans, etc.

Tickets are available now at Grinnell's, also Monday to Wednesday before the lecture at the Fisher Theater.

tioner this year regardless of the attitude of some individuals toward the situation, according to Charles M. Ziegler of Lansing, who is seeking the Republican nomination for the office.

"I am prepared to show the people where the present state highway program has not been to their best advantage" Ziegler said after a tour of the State. His fifteen years experience in the highway department under Frank F. Rogers and as deputy commissioner under Grover C. Dillman, makes him well qualified to constructively criticize this program.

Ziegler announced his candidacy sometime ago and is the only candidate in the field at the present time.

manufacturers combination domestic hot-water heaters and incinerators. These units provide a ready and convenient method of garbage disposal, and at the same time the dried refuse becomes fuel and is utilized in the heating of hot water.

The units are of cast iron and utilize coal as the principal source of fuel. It is important where the type of hot-water heater is used to install a well-insulated storage tank of ample size and also an automatic draft regulator which will prevent too rapid burning away of the fuel, as slow burning is economy and lengthens the time between firings.

An inspection should be made of the chimney to which the heater is connected in order to be sure that it is unobstructed and that joints are tight so that good draft will be assured.

Five local Detroiters were honored at the annual Scouters' Conference and dinner, conducted by the Detroit Area Council at Temple Auditorium, Saturday evening January 23, by receiving Silver Beaver awards for distinguished service to boyhood through the scouting program.

Those honored were: Dr. Warren E. Bow, assistant superintendent of Detroit public schools, chairman of the northwestern district and vice president of the local scout council; Dr. Wm. C. Lawrence, chairman of the LaSalle district and treasurer of the council; Wm. E. Murray, commissioner of the Chandler Park-southeastern district; Mr. Fred A. Harms, scoutmaster of troop 149, southwestern district; and Mr. Herman A. Hermann, committeeman, troop 10 of Highland Park. The decorations (solid silver replicas of the industrious beaver on a beautiful silk ribbon) were presented by Council President A. Douglas Jamieson. Field Commissioner Wm. G. Hodson read the citations accompanying each award.

During the evening program of fun and inspiration several facts were read from the annual report for 1936. Some of the interesting items were: 716 leaders attended various training courses during the year; 31 new units (such as troops, packs, senior divisions, etc.) were organized during the year; and 1608 scouts were taught to swim by members of Live Saving Corps No. 5, composed of scoutleaders who operated various pools during the year. The advancement figures were very interesting and revealed that 1089 scouts were promoted to second class rank, 394 were made first class rank, 327 reached the rank of star, 146 were advanced to life, and 79 scouts received scouting's high honor of eagle. Attendance at the summer and winter camps were the best since 1931, the report showed. Troop and district figures show a total participation of 4247 scouts and leaders in short term camps.

Church school, 9:30 a. m.
Worship service, 11 a. m.

A major crisis in the form of floods devastating a large portion of our country. Thousands have been made homeless, hungry, and cold for lack of proper clothing. Hundreds will sustain irreparable losses. The least that Christian people can do is to alleviate the suffering and give evidence of a true Christian spirit.

Grace church is calling upon her members and friends to make an offering of money and clothing, which will be sent to pastors of our churches in these areas to help them care for their destitute. Children of the church school are asked to bring whatever they can as they come to the morning session, and worshipers are asked to bring clothing and an offering to the worship service. The officers of our church will make proper distribution. Among those who will receive some of the help will be Rev. A. Haussler, a former pastor of Grace, now in Evansville, Indiana.

The pastor's sermon will be on the theme: "God was not in the Earthquake, Wind, or Fire."

Walk Safely!

WALK SAFELY! Approximately 340,000 times every year pedestrians using the streets and highways of the United States find themselves "walking into trouble." That is the number of injuries annually which result from motor vehicle-pedestrian collisions, of which more than 16,000 are fatal.

Pedestrians crossing the street at intersections in cities are seldom struck by motor vehicles which are TURNING AT THE INTERSECTION. More than 90 per cent of pedestrian accidents occur when the motorist is going straight ahead through the intersection. Of this total 44 per cent are struck on the NEAR crosswalk just as the vehicle enters the intersection. The FAR crosswalk, as the vehicle leaves the intersection, is a less hazardous location as 25 per cent of the accidents occur at that point. "Jay walking" is responsible for 23 per cent of pedestrian accidents.

A very high percentage of total pedestrian accidents occur when foot traffic moves contrary to pedestrian traffic signals. STOP ENDANGERING YOUR LIFE TO SAVE SECONDS WHEN WALKING. ARRIVE SAFELY!

To Lovers of Good Beer

Mr. Alex J. Declercq, owner of the Rathskeller Cafe, 15402 Mack avenue, corner of Nottingham, one who knows this business from the time of the old wet days, has the only installation of its kind to give you a better glass of beer.

He invites you to come and inspect his new and unique cooler with seven taps. He draws the beer direct from the barrel like in the breweries out of beer cellars.

It also has the same constant temperature of 38 degrees Fahrenheit and is preserved and supplied with special carbonic beer gas as in breweries. One glass of it will convince you of its supremacy. No coils, no air pump used in this place. He has on draught at all times seven leading beers: American and also the imported famous Lowenbrau Munich beer.

He has in all 32 different kinds of beer to select from as: local, American, imported lager, ales and stout. A fine selection of American and imported liquors, wines and champagnes, all in the cooler. He serves delicious American and Chinese food at reasonable prices, and also puts up orders to take out.

He has a Rathskeller where you may enjoy your private party, have your own beer tap, all by making reservations.

It is a real treat for the Eastsiders to have an excellent cafe like this in their locality where a grand selection with good service is obtainable. Go and acquaint yourself with his most modern equipment and he will be pleased to serve you.

Cooper Bros., Funeral Directors, Setting New Low Prices

Cooper Bros. funeral directors, located for many years at 10400 Mack avenue, Detroit, are funeral directors and embalmers of the highest type and due to their excellent service have become one of the most favorable known in this particular line of business.

Owning their own establishment, equipment and doing their own work enables Cooper Bros. to maintain a new low standard of prices, with a reduced overhead the quality of work is maintained at a savings to the ones who must bear the expense when the final call comes.

Cooper Bros. have established an enviable reputation of which they are justly proud. Here you will find an elaborate chapel and parlor at the disposal of patrons and a service that cannot be made more complete. Using the Yolks

A snowy meringue crown brings an everyday dish into the realms of the royalty. But the golden yolks, deserted of their whites, sometime becomes a problem.

From the nutritional point of view, the yolk is the important part of the egg. One egg yolk yields 54 calories - a concentrated rich supply of the sunshine vitamin D, the growth promoting vitamin A, and the mineral iron, so needed for the blood. Other vitamins and minerals are also present, to say nothing of efficient proteins, and flavor—that most important, yet unmeasurable of all qualities.

Two deserted egg yolks will find a haven and give pleasure to others in EGG NOG

2 egg yolks 1 cup milk 1 teaspoon sugar 1/2 teaspoon vanilla Beat yolks, sugar and vanilla. Add milk and mix or shake thoroughly. Chill and serve in tall glasses.

GERMAN POTATO SOUP

4 large potatoes 2 large onions 3 bay leaves - quart milk 2 egg yolks, beaten Salt and pepper Minced parsley

Cook the potatoes, onions and bay leaves in boiling water until tender. Remove bay leaves and mash potatoes and onions. Add milk, beaten yolks and salt and pepper. Add butter. When soup is served in bowls, sprinkle minced parsley over each serving. Accompany with toasted bread cubes or crisp wafers. Serves six.

Marshmallow custard is the solution if three egg yolks are left.

MARSHMALLOW CUSTARD

8 marshmallows 3 egg yolks 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon vanilla Salt milk in double boiler. Add marshmallows and salt, stirring until the marshmallows are dissolved. Pour milk mixture over beaten yolks. Return to the double boiler and cook until mixture coats spoon, stirring constantly. Remove from fire. Add vanilla and cool. Serve in dessert glasses as a simple dessert, or over fruits or left-over cake.

If four egg yolks are to be given a home, let me suggest—

CHEESE RING SALAD

1 1/2 tablespoons gelatin 1/2 cup cold water 3 cups milk 4 egg yolks 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon mustard 1/2 teaspoon paprika 2 cups grated cheese 1/2 pimento 3 cups vegetable salad Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat milk. Beat egg yolks, salt, mustard and paprika. Add half cup of hot milk, then add to the remaining hot milk. Cook over hot water until mixture begins to thicken and stops foaming. Remove from fire and stir in cheese and softened gelatin. Pour into ring mould and chill. Unmould and fill with mixed vegetable salad.

If eight egg yolks are despairing of a place in the sun, Maple Parfait is the answer.

MAPLE PARFAIT

8 egg yolks 1 cup maple syrup 2 cups whipped cream Beat egg yolks, slightly. Add syrup and cook over hot water until mixture coats on a spoon (10 to 15 minutes.) Cool and fold in whipped cream. Freeze in refrigerator trays for 3 or 4 hours.

Messiah Lutheran Church

Southeast corner of Lakewood and Kercheval avenues. A. H. A. Loeber, pastor. 1434 Lakewood avenue. Telephone Lenox 2121.

On the past Sunday, Messiah Church began the celebration of its twenty-fifth anniversary. The observance of this anniversary will be brought to a close Sunday, January 31. In the morning service at 11:15 o'clock, Holy Communion will be celebrated. The final service in the series of anniversary services will take place Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. Herman W. Barthels, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, will deliver the sermon.

A new membership class for adults will be organized on Tuesday of next week, February 2, at 8 p. m. Persons interested in the class should be present at that time. The class will meet in the church basement.
