

G.O.P. WOMEN'S PLAY COMING JUNE 1

News Digest

With business on a vacation strikes are quite numerous in some sections of Detroit, and U. A. W. officials seem to be having some difficulty over certain executive offices.

It seems that one of our Grosse Pointe residents was threatened in a note early this week by what is believed may be a crank.

By all appearances Detroit is full of saloons which have not even gone to the trouble of securing a license to operate.

In the future Flint will have a vigilante to aid the police department in times of trouble, with the full sanction of the city commissioners.

Hula hula girls should not smoke cigarettes, as Billie Malden of Los Angeles has found out much to her regret.

Numerous $100,000 law suits have sprung up in recent weeks with Hollywood taking the lead.

In the examination for firemen for the Detroit fire department it seems that about 50 per cent were found to have varicose veins, at least that is the grounds on which they were rejected.

Japan, who felt that it was easy to walk in and take possession of China, is finding the going rather rough and would more than likely wish to withdraw if it could be accomplished gracefully.

It seems that Italy is one of the best prepared countries in the event of war, having a formidable fleet of airplanes and a fleet of submarines any nation would be proud to own.

Foreign nations hope to make us the fall guys again by buying war supplies from us, hoping that we will again forget to collect the unpaid balance.

Omission

In expressing our gratitude to our many friends, through the medium of this paper, we, the family of the late Bernard J. Fox, regret very much that the names of some of Mr. Fox's closest affiliations were omitted. So now in this issue we wish to extend our sincerest gratitude to the President, Al Garska, the Village Commission, the Fire and Police departments of Grosse Pointe Park, and to Mr. N. Denk and Mr. Charles Nightingale of Grosse Pointe Township, and to Mr. Oldham of the Grosse Pointe Review.

James D. Ritchie, of Grosse Pointe, has been elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary society, at the University of Michigan.

Correction

With that possibility that many might have been interested in getting in touch with Paul De Carlos regarding his special training courses on piano or accordion we are publishing the correct number this week which is Murray 5733. We regret the error.

Aftermath of Nazi "Anschluss"

Happy days are here again for the map-makers, as geographical artists in a Chicago plant redraw the map of Europe making Austria a part of Germany. The closeup shows the artist's hands working on the new map, the pencil hovering ominously close to Czechoslovakia.

Grosse Pointe Dog Show Is Postponed Until Next Fall

Last year about this time dog fanciers of Grosse Pointe were enjoying a special Grosse Pointe dog show. A similar event was to have been held this spring but has now definitely been postponed until next fall.

The sponsors of last year's show felt that due to considerable illness among the canine population at this time of the year that it would not be feasible to hold such an event at this time. Plans are being made, however, for a big event this fall.

Special registration blanks will be available and a substantial number of applications will provide a very interesting show at that time. Prepare to enter your dog if you have one, regardless of breed. You may have a champion.

See you at the dog show early next fall.

Grosse Pointe Lions Sponsor Safety Drive

As far as can be determined history never has recorded the act of cities of two nations joining hands in a combined effort to promote safety in traffic. This high point in Good Neighbor relations will soon be an actual fact. The Lions Clubs of Grosse Pointe, Windsor (Canada), Detroit, Birmingham, Royal Oak, and Highland Park are sponsoring a campaign for pedestrian safety. The various police departments have endorsed the campaign and will assist in directing the drive.

In a recent map prepared by A. Robert Forster, field representative of the safety division of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, and Patrolman Hobart Harris, of the Accident Prevention Bureau, statistical department of the Detroit police, a definite trend toward pedestrian accidents is shown. Therefore the first application of the educational program will be for pedestrians, especially children.

It seems incredible, but Harris' figures show that in the first three months of 1938 pedestrians were involved in 993 accidents and in 930 of these accidents the pedestrian was either partially or completely to blame.

The cause of all these accidents was carefully checked and it was found that where the pedestrian was to blame the cause was direct disobedience to one or more of the following nine rules for pedestrian safety.

1. Never cross two streets diagonally at the same time.
2. Never cross a street in the middle of the block.
3. Never step into the street from between parked cars.
4. Don't play in the street.
5. Always walk on the left hand side of an open highway.
6. Never get out of a car on the left hand side.
7. Stop for the red lights and walk with the green.
8. Look out for drivers making a right-hand turn.
9. Time yourself, don't get caught between lights.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Barnard, of University Place, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Scott, Jr., of East Jefferson avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Mullen, of Strathcona drive, entertained at a dinner party at the D. A. C., preceding the invitational frolic at the Players, held last Thursday.

Joseph M. Fee Eulogized By Dr. Frank Fitt

Joseph M. Fee was a loyal and public spirited citizen who served his community well. At his funeral rites on Sunday, April 17th, the Rev. Frank Fitt, D. D., eulogized him as follows:

On this day of glorious hope and triumphant faith, Easter Day, we meet in memory of one who was a good man, a good friend, a good citizen and a Christian.

He was a good man for he steadily reflected in his life those qualities that make for true riches. The most precious place on earth for him was his home and the company in which he found his greatest delight was the company of his wife, his son and his daughter. He was direct and open-hearted and forgiving in his manner. It was plain to see that he was a man who stood for the standards of conduct and character which minister to life's best. He had been born and brought up in the middle west, in a State where the old fashioned American tradition can still be found, and he reflected this heritage. He was a good man.

He was a good friend, too, as all of us have occasion to know. He reached out to people all about him and made it easy for them to know him. The whole background of his career in college and in his business life ever since reflected his easy power of contact with people. His smile was an open sesame. There was nothing superficial in his relationships with his friends. He was deep and true and steadfast in all that bound him to the many who found friendship in him. He was always ready for service on behalf of other people. He was a good friend.

He was a good citizen, too. Only last fall he had been elected mayor of the community in which he lived, a tribute of the recognition of his fellow citizens to his worth as a leader in all that had to do with the public welfare. For years before assuming office he had been a most active participant in all that ministered to the good of the community. His service, too, had been given to the local schools where his children had been taught. He was a servant of the common good, helping always where he saw that his efforts would count. He was a good citizen.

And he was a good Christian. I was his minister for more than seven years and I can testify to his helpfulness.

Since 1930 he and his wife had been members of The Grosse Pointe Memorial Church and in the years since then both his children had united with that church. During that entire time he was actively associated with the work. From 1932 until 1935 he served a term as an elder of the church and for the last several years had acted as superintendent of the Intermediate Department of the Sunday school. He loved the church and all of us who gathered at the church loved him. He (Continued on Page Two)

Ray Rawlings Is Male Lead in "Arms and the Man," at Defer School

Ray Rawlings, who plays the male lead in the Detroit Federal Theatre's production of "Arms and the Man," to be presented at the George Defer school, Wednesday evening, May 25, brings to his role the finesse gained from years of experience behind the footlights. Mr. Rawlings decided upon a stage career shortly after his graduation from the Virginia Military Academy and with his natural gift for dramatics, he was soon playing leading roles in stock in Brockton, Mass., Richmond, Va., Atlanta, Ga., Houston, Texas, and in Toronto and Ottawa, Canada.

In New York, later, this gifted young actor appeared in the musical comedy, "My China Doll." He then toured with Guy Veyer in vaudeville in "So This Is Marriage," and after his return to New York, had a leading role in "Babes in the Wood," and also in Rachel Crothers' play, "Mary the Third."

Three seasons with National Tours, playing "Private Lives" and "Springtime for Henry" through South America and Australia, was followed by the organization of Mr. Rawlings' own (Continued on Page Two)

Detroiters May Now View The Thrilling "Monastery" Film

Much Mystic Beauty Shines in Intimate Record From Within Walls of Famed Retreats of the St. Bernard and Trappist Monks

The justly famed film "Monastery" will be shown in St. Ambrose auditorium, Maryland and Hampton avenues, on Wednesday evening, May 25, under the auspices of the St. Ambrose Altar Society. Some idea of the remarkable reception given this fascinating picture in the East may be obtained from the following paragraphs quoted from the New York Daily News:

"According to the legend on the program, the veil of mystery which shrouded the monasteries of the world for nineteen hundred years has been lifted for the first time by the motion picture camera in order to dispel the cloud of intolerance that hangs over the world today. "Whether or not this motion picture record of the daily routines and the purposes of the monastic life of the St. Bernard and Trappist orders of monks will accomplish its end, remains to be seen. However, it gives to any one who may be curious or interested about the life that goes on behind the grill of the cloister a fascinating glimpse into a part of the world that is, to all intents and purposes, outside the world. "Portrays Life of Sacrifice "Monastery," directed by Robert Alexandre, hasn't the pictorial beauty that distinguished the filming of 'Cloistered,' a picture made along the same lines in the interior of a convent of nuns in France. But the same mystic beauty that emanated from the earlier film is present in the current one. Each portrays the life of sacrifice and asceticism to which these men and women have dedicated their lives because of great devotion to a spiritual ideal. "The Reverend Michael J. Ahern, of the Society of Jesus, who is the seismologist of Weston College in Massachusetts, contributes the introduction and the running narrative. "Thrills in Alpine Scenes "The work of the monks of the Great St. Bernard monastery in Switzerland in succoring travelers in the Alps and rescuing those who are caught in the treacherous avalanches is shown in thrilling detail. The contemplative life of the Trappists, the severest order of monks in the world, is less thrilling, but none the less interesting, as we see the men who have dedicated their lives to toil, prayer and fasting in a desire to follow as nearly as possible the example of Christ on earth, going about their arduous and humble tasks and attending the religious ceremonies of the institution."

Ray Rawlings Is Male Lead in "Arms and the Man," at Defer School

(Continued from Page One) company, the High Season Drama Guild. Returning to the New York stage, he supported Helen Kane, in "Dangerous Nan McGrew," and toured with Jack Norworth in "Honey-moon House." Movie and radio work further developed Mr. Rawlings' technique and he is remembered vividly as the lead in the radio dramatic series known as "Green Mountain Justice." Mr. Rawlings, after his affiliation with the New York Federal Theatre, from which unit he is a loan, had important roles in many productions. He played the title role in "The Barker," a part made famous by Walter Huston, and in another New York Federal Theatre success, "Riddle Me This," he was cast as the chief of detectives, Thomas Mitchell's outstanding role. His first appearance with the Detroit Federal Theatre was as Faustus, the exacting title role in Christopher Marlowe's great sixteenth century drama, the "Tragic History of Doctor Faustus," in a series of productions in the high schools of Detroit and the suburbs, through the month of January. He later played leading roles in the local company's productions of "Anna Christie," the Eugene O'Neill drama, and "Pursuit of Happiness," the Broadway laugh riot by Lawrence Langner and Armina Marshall Langner.

The presentation of "Arms and the Man" at the George Defer school is being sponsored by the Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church and is under the direction of Verner Haldene. Tickets may be had at Leach's Drug Store, corner of Charlevoix and Lake-pointe avenues, at 40 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Joseph M. Fee Eulogized by Dr. Frank Fitt

(Continued from Page One) was wise in counsel on the Session and he was also wise in his dealings with the young people whom he lead in prayer and praise on Sunday mornings. He was a good Christian. God has taken home into His World of Light and Love this man who meant so much to us. He has gone forward before us in the full strength of his years and before he had completed what seems to us his earthly mission. Our faith is that he is still carrying on in the strength and truth that we knew in him and we believe that now he serves in even richer terms than we knew. So, on this day of triumph over death, we commit him to the eternal charge of our God, giving thanks for his life and asking that we may be true to his trust in us and his friendship for us. May God give of His strength and comfort to those who have the greatest occasion to mourn his passing.

Hi Ho Says:
"A physician," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "must be able to lecture on human anatomy and learn to be silent about family skeletons."

History of Applause
Among civilized nations applause has always been subject to certain conventions. The Romans had a set ritual for public performances, expressing degrees of approval by snapping the finger and thumb, clapping, waving the flaps of the toga or a handkerchief. At the end of the play the chief actor called out, "Valere et plaudite" and the audience chanted their applause. This was often organized and paid for. When Christianity became fashionable, Paul of Samosata encouraged the congregation to applaud his preaching by waving linen cloths. Applause of the rhetoric of preachers became an established custom destined to disappear in a more reverent age.

High School Ball Team Lose to Monroe

The Blue Devil baseball squad was defeated in its second Border Cities League encounter by Monroe last Friday afternoon by the score of 6-3. The game was played on the local field. Bodycombe was sent to the mound for the locals. Opposing him was Kukko, pitching ace of the Monroe squad. The Trojans scored the first run of the ball game in the opening inning when, after one man was out, Duffy reached first base on an error, stole two bases, and crossed the plate on a ground out. Grosse Pointe passed up a good scoring chance in the first inning when the first two batters reached base safely. The next three batters flied out, leaving them stranded there.

The visitors went on a scoring spree in the third and pushed across four runs on three hits, giving the Trojans a five-run lead. In the same inning the locals had two men on base but they were unable to score.

Grosse Pointe scored two runs in the fifth inning on two hits and a base on balls and in the seventh frame the locals managed to push across one more run to close the scoring of the contest. Monroe scored its final run in the sixth frame on two base hits and a walk. Their total was six.

Safety Patrol Boys Received at Nation's Capital Saturday

A new crop of United States Senators and Congressmen is in the making if the questions asked by the sixty-five Safety Patrol boys brought here by the Automobile Club of Michigan is any indication. Arriving a day in advance of the A. A. Safety Patrol Parade, patrol captains representing Michigan schools received special awards for their safety work both in and out of the classroom, devoted Friday to seeing the points of interest in and around the Nation's Capital.

Following the luncheon at the Willard Hotel Friday, the boys boarded buses for Mount Vernon, Arlington, and a tour of the principal buildings in the city. Attendants and drivers of the specially chartered coaches were kept busy from the moment the boys arrived and keen-eyed youngsters discovered there were no overhead trolley wires. Their enthusiasm was contagious, however, and before long it would have been difficult to determine who was enjoying the tour more, the patrol captains or those for whom sightseeing trips through Washington are normally all in a day's work. The weather was ideal for the gala entertainment held Friday evening in an open-air amphitheater in the shadow of the Washington Monument, following which sixty-five very tired but happy Michigan boys were tucked in bed to a sleep which many adults would envy.

Saturday morning a new kind of army marched down Constitution Avenue,—an army of 11,000 devoted to saving lives rather than taking them. Led by the United States Navy Band, after assembling at 4th and Constitution, the Parade took over two hours to pass the reviewing stand opposite the Washington Monument. Those in the stand included Thomas P. Henry, president of the American Automobile Association, and Russel E. Singer, general manager, as well as a number of senators, congressmen, and local officials. Following the parade, both Henry and Singer commended the Michigan group for their excellent safety record and splendid performance. The praise was well earned for Michigan is leading the country in the almost nationwide reduction of traffic fatalities and injuries. The boys presented a striking appearance in their blue service caps, blue rayon shirts, and San Brown belts. Despite the fact that none of them had seen any of the others before the trip, they were in well-formed lines near the head of the parade. Crowds lined the avenue to watch the seven thousand outstate and four thousand local Washington patrols, while traffic was detoured and planes soared overhead, dipping in a salute to the guardians of our school children. The long long hours of vigil at their corners in sleet, rain, and snow were forgotten by these patrol boys as they thrilled to the strains of martial music. Workers in the government buildings along the line of march paused in their duties to pay homage to the boys who represent a vast army of safety patrols throughout the country.

While 11,000 marched in the Parade, they were only a handful compared to the number who actually take part in the work. According to H. O. Rounds, director of the Safety and Traffic division of the Automobile Club of Michigan, and who accompanied the group, more than 40,000 patrol boys and 11,000 girls in Michigan alone report through their schools to his department. This means that more than half a million school children in Michigan are guarded by patrols under the supervision of the Club. In addition, lectures are given in hundreds of classrooms and assembly halls by a group of the Club's safety experts.

After more sightseeing and buying of souvenirs, the boys left Washington this afternoon. Although the sights and experiences of these boys will live in their memories for years to come, they did not forget that Sunday is Mother's Day, and most of the purchases they made were for the parents who will be in Detroit Sunday morning to welcome them back home.

Michigan State Star to Coach Lawrence Tech Grid Team

Don Ridler, former Michigan State star tackle and coach of the Annunciation High School football team for the past four years, has resigned to become new head football coach at Lawrence Tech. This was announced Saturday by C. R. MacGillivray, Lawrence Tech athletic director.

MacGillivray coached the Blue Devils last year when they tied with Ferris Institute of Big Rapids, Michigan, for the Michigan Ontario Collegiate title. Ridler started his football career playing with Western High School in Detroit. He was TII-City tackle in 1926. He completed three years of playing for Michigan State in 1931 when the Spartans ran up one of the best records in the country. They played a scoreless tie with the University of Michigan team which was hailed the national championship at the close of the season and beat Colgate, 14 to 7, keeping that team from the Rose Bowl.

Training Course for Girl Scouts Planned

The Girl Scouts, both old and young, of the Detroit area, have busy plans for the coming week-end. In May, there will be held in Chicago, a conference for all adult workers in the Great Lakes region, and coming to Detroit on Thursday of this week, is Miss Janet Webb, a member of the regional staff, to give a training course to all adult workers who may want to avail themselves of this opportunity.

On Thursday, they will be for leaders and troop committee members; on Friday, for council and district committee members, and on Saturday, for those especially interested in the younger scouts, the Brownies. All the instruction will deal with the new Girl Scout program which is being launched throughout the world after a long and intensive study of the best ways to work with girls.

The scouts, themselves, have very exciting plans for the week-end, for on Saturday, April 23, a camp reunion will be held from 11 to 4 at the Grosse Pointe Park Waterfront Park. The entire affair is being planned and sponsored by the Junior Camp Council, made up of girls, elected from their respective groups during the 1932 camping season at the Detroit scout camp which is at Metamora.

At least 500 people are expected on Saturday morning at this second Metamora Camp reunion, among whom will be girls who have attended camp. Many of last year's councilors, almost 100 per cent representation of the Windjammer or Waterfront Unit from camp, members of the Senior Camp committee, members of Detroit Council of Girl Scouts, and the local directors. There will be bus service from the scout headquarters in the Community Fund building, and at eleven o'clock sharp, a day in camp will begin, with "cook-out" lunches at noon, and the 1937 camp movies shown in the afternoon in the Park Lodge.

Miss Mary Pattison is chairman of the Junior Camp council, and assisting her in the arrangements are Elaine Jacobs, Charlotte Williams, Marilyn Braun, Josephine Horning, Jean Walters, and Patricia Tobin. Miss Gladys Pederson is the director for the council. If the day is one of sunshine, the Park will be a colorful spot, for the girls will wear their camp uniforms, the flags will be flying, and the camp fires burning. This will stimulate interest in the 1938 camping season, for registration for the coming summer opens on April 22nd, and may be made at the Girl Scout headquarters. After May 15th, the registrations will be open to girls outside the Detroit Area.

Camp Fire Girls

Camp Fire Girls these days are impatiently looking forward to summer and camping time. This year a four-day group camping session will be held from June 25-28. This is open only to Camp Fire Girls who have never spent a night in camp before. The fee for the four-day period will be $1.50; and the group will bring food for 2 meals. Other meals will be served by the camp. For further information and registration call the Camp Fire Office, Co. 1600. A guardian or other adult must accompany each group.

Camp will open for the summer season on June 30. Fees are $9.00 per week for Camp Fire Girls and $12.00 for non Camp Fire Girls. A varied program of activities will be offered including: Swimming, Archery, Folk lore, Hand-craft, Hiking, Canoeing, Nature Lore, Camp Craft, Bathing, Dancing, Riding, Dramatics. Camp folders will be out within a Warren K. Layton, director of the parents of every registered Camp Fire Girl.

A Detroit World's Fair Contemplated

The question of a World's Fair to be held in Detroit comes to attention periodically and still has received but little general or serious consideration.

All three of our nation's cities larger than Detroit have held a World's Fair. Several cities smaller than Detroit also have held a World's Fair. Reports appear to indicate that all have experienced real and substantial benefits more than commensurate with the costs involved.

Detroit stands in need of just such benefits as a World's Fair could provide. Successful possibilities appear more promising in Detroit than in other cities where they have been held in this country. Detroit is close to the United States population center. Detroit affords unsurpassed transportation accessibility by highway, railway, waterway and airway mediums. Detroit is outstanding in its number and variety of world-wide manufacturing and industrial products. These alone would offer great potential opportunities.

Detroit can offer attractions no other city has been able to present. Mass production of automobiles, for instance, is of great human interest the world over. Many other large manufacturing and industrial products of general interest are also found in metropolitan Detroit. The Detroit River is unsurpassed in its beauty and charm. A greater tonnage volume and a greater variety of water transportation activities pass Detroit than any other city in the world. Detroit's parks, boulevards, and recreational features are second to none. There is but one Belle Isle and in time there may be but one River Rouge Park. These are but a few of Detroit's attractions.

Maybe the future will surprise us with a temporary world's peace condition, when first attention will not be given to war, armament, death-dealing and destruction. Then perhaps Detroit might grasp the opportunity of a World's Fair here, to display its commendable and attractive features and to reap such benefits as will result therefrom.

Why Not A Detroit World's Fair?

920 Employed Through Wayne University's Placement Bureau

Three hundred thirteen full-time and 607 part-time positions were found for Wayne University students and alumni through the University Guidance and Placement office in the nine month period from July 1, 1932 to April 1, 1933, according to a report from Dr. Warren K. Layton, director of the Division of Student Personnel. The peak month in number of placements was last November.

Of the 416 men placed, the greatest number were employed by the Recreation Department as summer athletic directors and locker attendants. Others found jobs as camp counselors, factory workers, office workers, packing clerks, delivery men, and retail salesmen.

The 604 women took positions as office and store workers, tutors, models, hand addressers, research interviewers, demonstrators, governesses, camp counselors, stenographers, librarians, dietitians, window trimmers, and cashiers.

County Reflections

by George W. Crellin Tax Sales no longer offer the inducement to tax sharks and professional tax buyers that they did in years prior to 1932.

County Treasurer Jacob P. Sumeracki points out that before 1932 tax sharks were able to make more than 100% profit on the purchase of property at a tax sale, but now most they can make is 10%.

The coming Tax Sale, started May 3rd, and which will continue for at least 25 days, will be the first since 1932. Previous to 1932, there was an annual Tax Sale, but in 1932 the depression called a halt to these sales.

The possibility of property owners falling into the hands of tax sharks has been greatly diminished, due to the reduced chances for profit in the purchase of property at a Tax Sale.

Some properties have found their way into the Tax Sale list due to the length of time it took to prepare between 3 and 4 hundred thousand property descriptions, but these are being withdrawn as rapidly as these payments can be posted in the books.

Sumeracki says that another important point is this: that the property owner will have at least two years to pay these taxes and regain title to his property.

Calls from coin collectors have been disrupting the even tenor of the work of the County Clerk, Caspar J. Lingeman's Office, reports Tony Nader, Marriage License Clerk. Ever since the story appeared in the evening papers about the woman who paid for her marriage license with 100 Indian Head pennies, the County Clerk's office has received almost 50 calls a day.

Lingeman accepted the coins in payment of the license fee on the condition that if the coins were worth more than the face value he would refund the balance to her and merely deduct the cost of the license.

Death sure takes an awful toll of relatives around the County Building on the days the Tigers are in town. It must be tough to be the grandparent, aunt or uncle of these fellows when you consider the number of times you must die in the course of the base ball season.

Some of the fellows might find themselves of no more political value to their boss when they check the list of relatives and friends and find that they have all passed away during the baseball season, for, without friends, one can do but little in the game of politics.

One of the busiest men in the County Building is Jack McEwen. Where Jack finds the time to spend on the multitude of activities is one of the deeper mysteries. But no matter how busy he happens to be, Jack always has time to stop and help some one else when they need it. Jack isn't a very big fellow,—most people could look down and see that rapidly increasing bald space on the top of his head—but he has a bigger heart than anybody three times his size.

Jack works in the Photostat room in the basement of the County Building. Among other things Jack is president of the Alumni group of Western High School, Troop Committeeman of Boy Scout Troop 60 in Detroit, and Vice President in charge of Civic Affairs of the Detroit Jr. Board of Commerce.

He is a great lover of the out-of-doors. Whenever possible, he likes to go off on a fishing trip into the wilds of Northern Michigan or Canada. Judge James Jeffries knows more people than any other person in the County Building.

Judge Guy Miller a golfer and an ardent baseball fan. When at the University of Michigan he made a place for himself in the school's athletic hall of fame as a star baseball pitcher.

Ed. is the best golfer in the ranks of the gentlemen of the press in Detroit. He is at present the dean of the County Building Press Room.

Register of Deeds Harold E. Stoll states that the volume of telephone calls regarding Chattel Mortgage information is increasing. He attributes this to the Publicity the Better Business Bureau has given a pamphlet recently issued by his office in which he warned the public against the many frauds perpetrated in the sale of automobiles and other merchandise.

He also offered the service of the office in helping to ascertain the ownership and status of personal property in Wayne County.

To give prompt and efficient service in checking Chattel Mortgages on cars, the inquirer should know the full name of the car owner, when he bought it, the make, the year and the Motor No. If the person desiring information knows these things, he can be taken care of quite speedily, says Stoll.

OVERNIGHT HIKING

The still sleepy twittering of rising birds woke us early, and we yawned as we pulled ourselves reluctantly from under the bed covers.

After breakfast, we hustled to finish our chores, and then rushed to the tents to begin preparing our blanket rolls for the overnight hike to which we were looking forward with great glee.

Directly after lunch, we ran out to the truck, which was now ready to transport our unit to the Flint Girl Scout Camp, where we intended to camp for the night.

TROOP 180

Monday afternoon, the girls of Girl Scout Troop 180 divided into two groups. One group was to study cooking for their second class badges.

TROOP 84

Troop 84 met at Christ Church Chapel on Friday, April 6. Mrs. Smith, scout leader, and Mrs. Graves, assistant scout leader, were late, so some of us played tag while others sat and talked.

The girls that are going to the Girl Scout camp drew maps to show the way to get there.

TROOP 156

Troop 156 will be glad for a rest after the excitement of giving the play "Mr. Everyman Takes a Wife."

THE FIRST HIKE OF TROOP 85

The day was set for the first hike of the Girl Scouts of Troop 85. In the morning the girls were wondering whether it would rain, but it cleared up.

Arriving at Mrs. Street's house they waited for Patty, Ruth, and Pat. Beginning to wonder about the late comers, Mrs. Watson said that the other girls could look around and try to find them.

Some of the girls played baseball and some of them took a walk to the lake. After a while they returned home.

JOURNALISM BADGE AWARDS

Because of the splendid work, which the scribes have done during the past year in their newspaper writing, Mrs. Ford Whelden, on Monday, gave a certificate for the journalism badge to the following girls: Barbara Fitch, Shirley Sickles, Sarah Tiedeman, Jacqueline Ewing, Marian Lancaster, Mary Jane Atherton, Eleanor Ross, and Rosalie Packard.

The ceremony took place at the home of Mrs. Henry Hubbard on Muskoka road, when she and Mrs. John Veech entertained the scribes for their final meeting of the year.

The column next week will be the last until next fall, except for occasional articles which the scribes may send in this summer.

EXHIBIT

Did you see the window last week in Fred's Market? It was a great success. Last week, we thanked a few outsiders who contributed to make this project a success.

STAR TROOP 124

The Belle Isle picnic, May 7, was enjoyed by 30 scouts and several mothers. They followed the news trail and discovered many of mother nature's interesting secrets.

Tuesday, May 10, was the highlight of the scout year for Troop 124, its fourth birthday.

At the party the master of the dues and two assistants were chosen. The troop formed a line and marched around a table on which a large birthday cake was placed.

A Little Beauty Chat

Although a great many of us will not be taking "regular" vacations nevertheless vacation time brings us many of summer-time's pleasures of swimming, tennis, riding and golf.

All strenuous warm-weather work or play ruins the hairdress and few can be bothered with the very frequent visits to the beauty shop.

Thus there is but one answer and that is to have a good permanent now so that you may enjoy its many advantages all during the summer.

worries and that is by starting the summer season with a good permanent wave by Madam Ida, of the Grosse Pointers, Inc.

Neighborhood Club Activities

There will be a meeting of managers of teams desiring to enter the Neighborhood Club playground ball league on Wednesday evening, May 18, at 7:30 p. m., at the Neighborhood Club.

International Bridge Nears Completion

Sarnia, Ontario and Port Huron, Michigan, two cities whose friendly spirits and close association are shining examples of what International Goodwill can mean as compared to armed borders existing between many Nations.

In a month the main span of the great cantilever span, which tops the river by 150 feet, will be joined over the center of the river.

Both cities are uniting in plans for the greatest celebration in their history of more than 100 years with several hundred thousands to view the dedication exercises and Blue Water Carnival to be staged for four days.

President Roosevelt has stated he expects to take part in the dedication along with Michigan members of Congress, Governor Murphy and other State Officials, members of the celebration committee report.

Canada will be asked to send a number of its high officials to represent the Dominion in the dedicatory program.

The linking of the two halves of the main span over Saint Clair River about May 30 will be broadcast in a half hour program from the bridge scenes by land, air and water over a number of stations.

The bridge is being built by Michigan, Ontario, Dominion and United States Governments, The State Bridge Commission of Michigan was created by the Michigan Legislature in 1935 to build, maintain and operate the structure.

The Commission now operates ferry service between Port Huron and Sarnia and will continue this service after the bridge is opened for commuters not traveling in automobiles. All cars will be sent over the bridge.

Hannan "Y" News

Harry H. Lichtwardt will be guest of honor at a luncheon meeting of the boys member of the Hannan Memorial Branch Y.M.C.A., Saturday, May 14th.

gifts to help carry on the World Friendship work to Mr. Lichtwardt. Each year the boys contribute to help Associations in foreign lands to organize and extend their own Y.M.C.A.'s.

Hannan Memorial Y. M. C. A. was dedicated in May, 1928, and will celebrate its tenth anniversary during the week of May 16 to 23.

George A. Fitch, American secretary to the Nanking Y. M. C. A., who has just returned to the United States after 29 years in China, will be the guest speaker at the tenth anniversary celebration banquet to be held at Hannan "Y" on Friday, May 20.

Since 1909 Mr. Fitch has been on the staff of the International Committee in China and since 1936 has been related to the association in Nanking, until recently capital of the National government.

During the siege of Nanking 80 per cent of the city's more than one million citizens left for parts unknown. The remaining 250,000 sought the safety zone conducted by a group of Americans and Europeans.

Between 1928 and 1936 he served as general secretary of the Foreign "Y" in Shanghai. This half million dollar building, erected through the generosity of the Hon. Charles R. Crane, Captain Robert Dollar, Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr. and many other donors, is a worthy token of the achievements of Mr. Fitch and his associates.

In addition to Y. M. C. A. relationships Mr. Fitch has held numerous other posts of responsibility: as vice chairman of the board of governors and chairman of the finance committee of the Chinese-Foreign Famine Relief committee, which has distributed 25 million dollars; as chairman of the committee of management of the Institution for the Chinese Blind; as a member prominently identified with the International Anti-Opium associations, the "American University Club of Shanghai, the Rotary Club, the Pan-Pacific association, and the American Chamber of Commerce of Shanghai.

Mr. Fitch is a thirty-second degree Mason. Among his personal friends Mr. Fitch counts Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-Shek. While his major responsibilities were related to Nanking, Mr. Fitch has been called upon to travel widely throughout the areas affected by the present conflict, and thus is intimately acquainted with conditions as they have developed during recent months.

Christian Science Church

"Mortals and Immortals" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, May 15. The Goden Text, (1 Cor. 15:48): "As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy: and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Phil. 3:13, 14): "Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: But this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 248): "We must form perfect models in thought and look at them continually, or we shall never carve them out in grand and noble lives."

Grosse Pointe Farms Split Double-Header

Grosse Pointe Farms took the first game of a double-header from East Detroit Sunday by the score of 14 to 6. There was good pitching by DeRoche and Nort. Nort finished the game, giving four hits and walking three, permitting two to tally. The Farms boys got busy with their bats and collected 13 hits off Bylan. The second game was more of a pitcher's battle, with Geister on the mound for East Detroit and Roberts for Grosse Pointe.

Tickets for Lecture of Dr. Phelps Will Be Available Tonight

Tickets for the lecture of Dr. William Lyon Phelps, to be given this evening at 8:15 at the high school auditorium, may be obtained at the door, announces Vincent Peterson, in charge of the sales.

"The Art of Living" will be Dr. Phelps' topic.

The lecture this evening has been arranged under the auspices of the High School Teachers' club in observance of the tenth anniversary of the dedication of the high school building. Dr. Phelps gave the dedicatory address ten years ago.

For many years a professor of English literature at Yale University, Dr. Phelps is one of the best known and most popular of American lecturers. Since his retirement to the rank of professor emeritus in 1933 he has spoken frequently over the radio, usually on topics connected with literature. For years he conducted a column of literary comment in Scribner's Magazine called "As I Like It."

Dr. Phelps has spoken many times in Grosse Pointe, where he visits frequently en route to his summer home near Port Huron.

The final score Saturday was: Grosse Pointe 53 1/2, Monroe 42 1/2, and Wyandotte 32.

Next week's meet will be held at Royal Oak and on the following Saturday the league meet will be held on the Grosse Pointe track.

Early Indiana Capital

Corydon was once the territorial capital of Indiana. A city was laid out, much building construction done, and the first session of the general assembly met there in December, 1813. In addition to the Capitol building, the governor's house and other public places were constructed. Here the Constitutional convention, authorized in April, 1816, assembled on June 10, 1816. A treaty with the Indians in 1818 made it essential to locate the capital elsewhere.
