

FIVE TURKEYS GIVEN AWAY NOV. 21

Grosse Exaggerations?

By A. PRYOR

How would you like to win your turkey this year instead of buying it? If you would, read the following carefully. Write a letter telling why you think the new "Dazey Ice Crusher" is helpful in the kitchen. We have five turkeys to give to the writers of the five best letters. Your letter must be postmarked not later than midnight Monday, November 21st, and address it to A. Pryor, in care of this paper. Your letter will be judged by this paper, and our decision will be final. You need not own a Dazey Ice Crusher in order to write about it. Simply go to your nearest hardware store and ask to see one—then write what you think about it. Be sure to put your name, address, and telephone number, in your letter and if you are a winner, you will receive your turkey not later than Tuesday, November 22nd. Remember, there are five turkeys awarded for the five best letters—so go to it and good luck!

We barged in on the keno party at the Grosse Pointe Club Tuesday night and found it very gay. Mr. Fredrick Stearns, who called the numbers, introduced the Club's president, Mr. Dwight Douglas, with the remark, "He'd rather be Dwight than president." They took turns at calling until they were hoarse, then Mrs. Charles Dean stepped in and was quite a hit. She has a delightful sense of humor, and added much to the gaiety of the evening.

The Buhl family were out in full force and seemed to take home most of the bacon. Mrs. C. Henry Buhl looked very chic in a black dinner gown with scarlet top and short jacket in black, trimmed with gold. She was the only person present with an up-hair do and we must admit it becomes her. We saw Mrs. Cortland Larned, Mrs. Harold Wadsworth and Mrs. Allen Sheldon putting handkerchiefs on their heads to change their luck, but it didn't seem to work. At another lucky table sat the A. H. Buhls, Ledyard Mitchells, Henry Joys, Richard Joys, and the John Lods. They keno-ed and keno-ed, much to everybody's good-natured dismay. As for us, we got into our sleigh empty handed when the evening festivities were over, but we did have fun.

Mrs. Edward B. Smith of Chicago, who is prettier than most movie stars, has arrived to spend a week with her sister, Mrs. Frederick M. Alger.

Brenda Frazer, the outstanding Deb of the year, (according to the fourth estate), looks like quite an eye-fall on the cover of Life. However that whispering bird who tells all, sat next to her at a New York night club, and tells us that her glamour is more glamorous on paper than in the flesh.

To one who signs herself "A Grosse Pointe K.M. but American," we wish to say that we regret her pessimistic view of our badinage, but we are happy to know that at least we have one reader.

We hear that the Robert Benchley "short" at the United Artists Theatre, has 'em rolling in the aisles. He makes (Continued on Page Three)

Pointe Players To Present "Stage Door" November 18 and 19

STAGE DOOR, current success of stage and screen, will be presented by the Pointe Players, dramatics club of Grosse Pointe High School, as its fall production Friday and Saturday night, November 18 and 19, at 8:15 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

This is the first time in the history of the Pointe Players that so recent a play has been attempted. The play was chosen not only because of its literary value, but also because of its genuine appeal to all. STAGE DOOR has been a popular play with both audiences and critics.

The huge cast of some 32 characters, the largest ever to act in any play presented by the club, gives a large number of pupils a chance to show their talents.

The tickets are now on sale at the Student Council Booth at the high school. Tickets may also be purchased from members of the cast. Admission is 35c and 50c.

Kerby Children Learn How Soap Is Made

The 3A's and 4B's at Kerby School were reading "A Soap Story" in their Magic Hours reader.

"Why can't we try to make soap?" someone asked.

So the class looked up "Soap" in the encyclopedia. The encyclopedia said that soap could be made from lye and ordinary kitchen fryings. Many children volunteered to bring cups of kitchen fryings from home, and one boy brought a can of lye.

The recipe on the can of lye said that only iron or enamel pans and wooden spoons could be used in making soap. To understand the reason for that requirement, the class talked about chemical reactions.

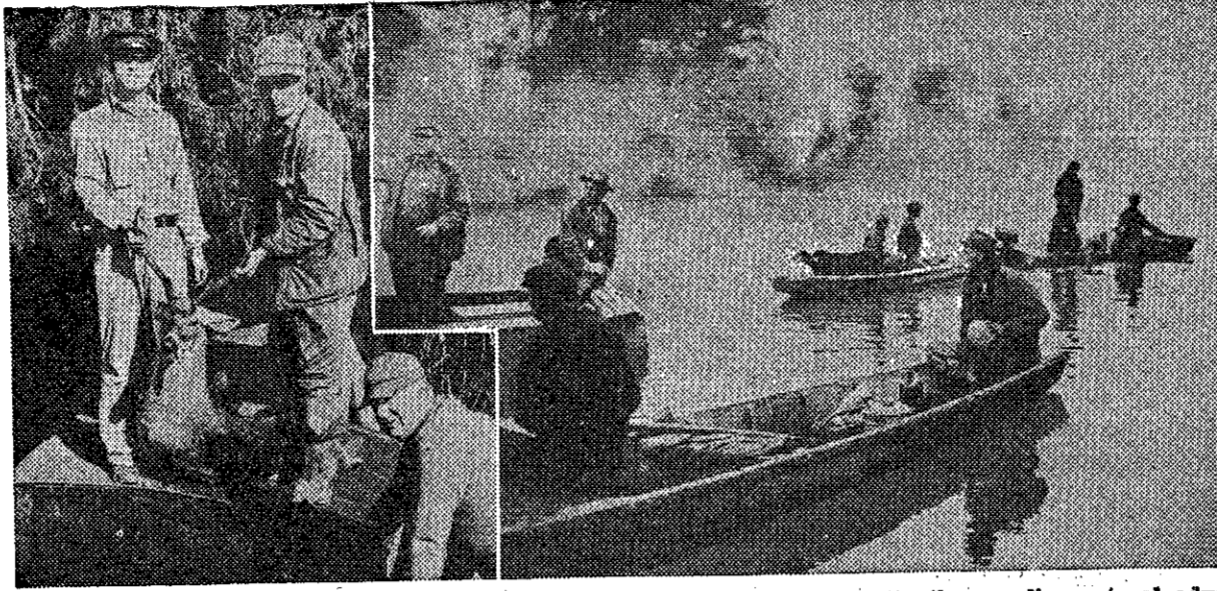

Recently the pupils combined the lye and cold water. They boiled the fat in twice its volume of water to get rid of the salt. The next day they skimmed off the pure fat. Slowly they added the lye water to the fat, each child stirring the mixture for a few minutes. Then the liquid was poured into a cardboard box. After two days of hardening, the soap was cut into blocks, wrapped in wrappings made from paper towels, and taken home for use in the family laundry.

Maritime Hunters Bag Albemarle Deer

Hunters in tidewater North Carolina are forced to turn sailors to cope with the peculiar natural advantages protecting the Albemarle deer. Since the hunters cannot penetrate the swamps on the sound shores near Plymouth, they carry their dogs in boats and set them ashore on large islands inhabited by the deer. Hunters wait for the deer to start for the mainland, chased by the dogs. Then, under Albemarle hunting custom, the hunter-boatman nearest a swimming deer is entitled to first shot. Gun poised, the hunter must wait until the deer makes land, and is then permitted his shot. The buck on the left would have escaped if the boat had rocked in a swell, or if he had been slightly faster.

Thomas Groehn Spoke On Reporting At High School

The highlights of the life of a news reporter were discussed by Thomas Groehn, June '32, former managing editor of the Tower, in an informal speech to the high school journalism I class last week.

Mr. Groehn told of his experiences in news reporting for the Tower, Michigan Daily, Detroit Times, and Detroit News, where he is employed at present as a reporter.

His advice to aspiring reporters was not to take further courses in journalism or composition in college, but to major in political science or history for a general background. Mr. Groehn claims the A. B. C.'s of journalism are taught at the high school. He also says the most necessary quality for successful news reporting is a sense of responsibility, and this can be developed in high school journalism, too. "You're getting your foundation right here," said Mr. Groehn to the class. And he went on to stress the value of experience on a college paper.

"When you're a reporter, you're a high pressure salesman in the highest form," Mr. Groehn explained. He believes that a reporter must have self assurance, the ability to meet people, to speak up confidently, to be concise, and above all to be accurate.

The speaker pointed out that news reporting is an honorable, honest business and has to be because it is perhaps the biggest factor in the forming of public opinion.

"At times it can be very boring work," he said. He explained how one may put in hours of work on a story and receive no public recognition. He added that the hours were irregular and salary low, "but," he said, "once in it, you can't get out of the newspaper business."

It is Mr. Groehn's opinion that there is little room for women news reporters, but there is opportunity in other sections such as society, fashions, or the women's page editing.

Mr. Groehn believes that it takes a break to get on any metropolitan news staff at present.

Maire School Pupils Prepare Toy Display

A display of toys has been prepared for the first-floor show case of Maire School by the 1A grade.

Some of the toys have been made by the 1A's themselves. Boxes, cans, and clothespins have all been converted into real playthings, and some of the children made rag dolls.

Other members of the class brought interesting and unusual toys from home for the exhibit. One pupil loaned an English doll over three feet high to the project. Two German dolls, some Indian dolls, a Japanese doll, and a black Mammy doll were also brought to school to be put in the show case.

Last week the 1A's wrote stories about their toys, and before long they plan to hold a tea for their mothers so that they may see the display. Then some of the toys will be offered for sale in a special 1A toy sale.

Major Burns Henry Post News

Our Armistice Night Dance was a huge success, over five hundred people jamming the Hunt Club from basement to the rafters. A real old fashioned 303 crowd made plenty whoopee until the small hours of the morning. Your scribe saw a flock of old old timers, among them being—Floss Krapp, Judge Rudolph Schmidt, Judge DeBaeke, Frank Kane, Jack Sutton and a host of others. Why don't you birds turn out for a meeting once in a while? Next one is Dec. 7th. Try and get there. A large delegation from many Metropolitan Posts was present and by their looks were having a good time. Comrades Weil and Whately along with their committee deserve a lot of credit for a wonderful evening. The boys worked plenty hard.

Don't forget our party at Bill Baumann's Manor Cafe, 18450 Mack, Friday night, Nov. 18th, 1938. Plenty of action. Comrade Mart Nielson gave a transfusion Saturday at Jennings Hospital. We are in need of volunteers as there has been a heavy demand the past few weeks. Call Weil at NI 5555 or Hoyt at TU 2-1913 and get the dope from them. This is a chance to show your community spirit. Come on gang, let's sign up again. There is no pain or after effects, so why not. Will see you Friday night at the Manor Cafe. T.E.X.

Symphony Society To Present Concert Thanksgiving Night

Offering a well-balanced program of old and new music, the Detroit Symphony Orchestra will play the third subscription concert of its current silver jubilee season Thursday night (Thanksgiving), Nov. 24, in Orchestra Hall.
 Franco Ghione, the orchestra's dynamic conductor, has selected the following program: Schumann, Overture to "Manfred," Op. 155; Beethoven, Seventh Symphony, in A Major, Op. 92; Barbara Giuranna, Toccata (first performance in America); Moussorgsky, Pictures at an Exposition, pianoforte pieces arranged for orchestra by Maurice Ravel. Although the orchestra has played Leo Funtek's orchestration of this work, Ravel's handling of it, lengthier and naturally more direct, will be heard for the first time at these concerts.

 Miss Giuranna, Italy's foremost woman composer, is a faculty member of the Rome Conservatory. She has written numerous compositions, among them several prize winners, and has gained for herself a high position among Europe's musicians. Last year the orchestra, under Ghione, performed her Symphonic Poem, "X. Legio," here with outstanding success.
 The Toccata was written in 1937 and given its world premiere last April under Ghione's baton at the Augusteo in Rome. It is a seven-minute work employing modern instrumentation; possesses a sharp sense of dynamics, excellent thematic relief and a fine development. The composition is brought to its close with noble effect, the entire orchestra building up to a smashing climax. The performance here will be its second anywhere.

Pictures at an Exposition, written in 1874, and inspired by a posthumous exhibition of drawings and water colors by Moussorgsky's intimate friend, Victor Hartmann, is made up of 10 sections as well as an Introduction, each a direct effort on the part of the composer to depict a work in the showing. As program music, Pictures at an Exposition ranks with the best of recent orchestral literature and is included in the repertoire of nearly all the greatest orchestras. Ravel orchestrated the piano pieces some 15 years ago at the request of Serge Koussevitzky in Paris.

Beethoven's Seventh Symphony has been called the "Ideal Symphony." Without any title, it is purely musical expression of the composer's dominant mood. It is exactly what one sees and hears in it; the interpreter reflects his own spiritual capacity. This great work has sometimes been called "Romantic Symphony." It also has been characterized as a "Pastoral" and as another "Eroica."
 "Manfred" is based on Byron's work of the same name and was composed in 1848, at a time when Schumann was extremely moved by the poem.

Wolverine Health Bulletin Outlines Christmas Seal Sale

Distributed this week to Michigan rural school children were more than ten thousand copies of the November "Wolverine Health Bulletin," a Christmas seal financed publication of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, according to an announcement just received by the Association. Now in its fifteenth year of printing, the "Bulletin" is mailed each month of the school year to Michigan rural schools as an important part of the extensive health education campaign made possible through the annual sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals.

The November issue of the "Wolverine Health Bulletin" is the first number for each school year," the Association explained. "For the first time the 1938 special Thanksgiving issue contains in supplement form a Thanks-For-Health-Day program for the children. The supplement consists of four dramatic presentations of incidents in the lives of Dr. Rene Laennec, inventor of the stethoscope; Dr. Robert Koch, discoverer of the tuberculosis germ; Dr. Edward Livingston Trudeau, pioneer in the fight against tuberculosis; and Einar Holboll, originator of the sale of penny Christmas seals to help fight the White Plague."

Emphasis was placed on the fact that these dramatizations will help school children to grasp the significance of the four corner seals on every sheet of the 1938 tuberculosis Christmas seals. The corner seals on each sheet of one hundred picture Laennec, Koch, Trudeau, and Holboll, men who stand out in the long fight against the White Plague, the Association explained.

"The 'Wolverine Health Bulletin' is only one of the publications made possible through Christmas seal funds. In addition, there are posters, pamphlets, and booklets published for health teaching in the schools. As with all of the Association's activities in the campaign to control tuberculosis, health education is financed entirely through tuberculosis Christmas seal pennies."
 Preparations are now underway for the 1938 sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals, the Association said. The sale will open officially on Thanksgiving Day and continue through to Christmas.

Tulsa to Oppose U. of D. Saturday For Final Home Game

Homecoming day and the final home game of the season are scheduled for the University of Detroit Titans next Saturday. The competition will be furnished by Tulsa University and it promises to be plenty strong. Although the Golden Hurricane, like Detroit, has sustained a number of defeats, they have been at the hands of some of the best teams in the Southwest and in no case was Tulsa disgraced. Tulsa was the 1937 Missouri Valley Conference Champion.
 Tulsa returns to the Detroit scheduled its first encounter with the Titans during the Dorais regime came in 1928 when it was the second team on the schedule. That was the year the Titans went through undefeated and Tulsa, booked as a "breather," came closer to upsetting them than anybody else. Playing in terrific heat at Tulsa, Coach Dorais' men had the hardest kind of time winning 19 to 14. Incidentally, the Golden Hurricane was one of the two teams that scored on the Titans that year, Georgetown being the other. The following season Detroit won 21 to 6.

 Coach Vic Hurt will bring a very powerful aggregation to the Titan stadium and one that is rich in experience. There are 15 lettermen on the squad of whom five have won two awards. In a recent game, eight of the starters wore the "T." Like most of the southwestern teams, the Tulsans are big, rangy fellows, with 14 six-footers on the squad. The backfield is a very heavy one with one halfback weighing 200 pounds, a fullback weighing 190 and a quarterback who is listed at 187.

The backfield star is said to be Morris White, a senior, who is rated among the leading backs of the Southwest. Tommy Thompson is so good a passer that they are comparing him to Sammy Baugh. On the line, Co-Captains Calvin Thomas and Forrest Gregory, tackle and guard respectively, are among the outstanding players. Thomas weighs 205 pounds in playing condition and carries it on a six-foot frame. The Golden Hurricane has played a tremendous schedule, meeting Oklahoma, Texas Christian and Drake in succession just before the Detroit engagement. It still will have Arkansas to battle after the Titan game.

As Tulsa's reserve strength is said to be below par, the Titans for once will get an even break in that department. In almost all of their games this year, Coach Dorais' men have been overpowered by superior replacements. Their first team has been able to hold their own with all opponents, but when the time has come to put in substitutes wholesale they have been up against it.

Assuming that the Titans suffer no casualties in their game with North Carolina State today, they will be at their best against Tulsa in the matter of physical condition. By that time Jim McMillan, the star Negro end, should be ready to resume his place in the line-up and he will make a big difference, if he has regained the form shown in the Villanova game. In this battle, eastern sports writers hailed him as the equal of Brud Holland, Cornell's all-America Negro flanker.
 In honor of homecoming day, the University of Detroit will put on special entertainment for the fathers of the football players. Last year the "dads" sat on the bench wearing the same numerals as their sons on the squad and this made such a hit that it probably will be repeated.

U. of D. Basketball Squad Turns Out For Practice

A squad of better than twenty men greeted Coach Lloyd Brazil this week when the University of Detroit held its first basketball practice of the season at the U. of D. high school gym. At least four more men are expected to join the squad as soon as the Titans end their football season. Of this number, two, Jack McDermott and Nick Pegan, won letters last season as members of the basketball team. However, McDermott plays regular fullback on seeing plenty of action at the right the varsity eleven while Pegan has been halfback position, so that neither will be able to report for basketball practice until the close of the present gridiron season.
 Added to these two men, Coach Brazil will have five other cagers whose services on the basketball floor last year were good enough to merit major letters. This group includes Co-captains Bob Callhan and Charley Buchholz, Jack Palenscar, Frank O'Donnell and Jack Piana. All of Detroit's seven returning lettermen are juniors owing to the fact that the 1937-38 squad was composed entirely of sophomores and seniors. Three men were lost from last year's team by graduation, and one dropped out of school this fall.
 Eligible for the varsity squad this year Brazil will have fourteen members of last season's University of Detroit freshmen team. However, only seven of this group were able to win freshmen numerals for themselves during the 1937-38 season.
 The first week or so of practice will be devoted to fundamentals with particular stress being placed on shooting. Coach Brazil told his squad yesterday that despite the fact that seven members of U. of D.'s greatest basketball team were eligible for service again this season, every position on the team would be open for new faces. "If one of the newcomers proves himself first team material," said Brazil, "then he will play first team regardless of his previous record or experience."

Large Crowd Attended U. of D. Party

Well over a thousand people are expected to attend the second annual University of Detroit "D" Club Party next Tuesday evening, Nov. 15, in the Grand Ballroom of the General Motors Building, it was announced this week by Ray Navin, general chairman of the affair. Last year the party was held in the Knights of Columbus Hall, but due to the large crowd which attended the party, those accommodations were not suitable, so that it was necessary this year to obtain a location that will seat at least 1,200 persons.

 The party will begin at 8:00 p. m. Assisting Mr. Navin are Bud Wheeler, chairman of the ticket committee; Healey Sharkey, chairman of the door prize committee; Lloyd Brazil, chairman of the committee on arrangements; and Edmund Barbour, chairman of the publicity committee.

New School to Be Named John D. Pierce Junior High School

The John D. Pierce Junior High school of Grosse Pointe, will be the name of Grosse Pointe's newest school building, according to an announcement made by the Grosse Pointe Board of Education. Honoring the first state superintendent of public instruction in the United States and the first to hold that office in Michigan, the name of the new school will continue Grosse Pointe's series of historical names for school buildings. Stevens T. Mason, first governor of the State of Michigan, known as the "Boy Governor," has been honored through one of the elementary school buildings and Father Gabriel Richard, the famous French priest and educator, is remembered by another elementary school. Names noted in Grosse Pointe history, such as those of Robert Trombly, Kerby, Defer, Cadieux and Vernier appear on other buildings in the system. The most recently constructed building, the Lewis E. Maire elementary school, was named for the late physician, who for many years was a member of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education. John D. Pierce, for whom the new junior high school has been named, was a pioneer in 19th century American education and was a contemporary of such famous American school men as Horace Mann, Henry Barnard and Calvin Stowe. These four, with a few others, led the so-called "Common School Revival" in America during the first half of the 19th century. Pierce's contribution to the establishment of a state-wide system of free public schools was outstanding and has been recognized throughout the world. It is the hope of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education that future generations of school children will be stimulated by the name of the building to investigate not merely Pierce's personal history, but the long story of the struggles which led to the establishment of the educational advantages which students of today enjoy.

Rules of the FWA prohibit the naming of the building, or of any other PWA projects, for living individuals, school board members explained.

John D. Pierce was a descendant of one of New England's oldest families which had settled at Watertown, Mass., in 1637. He was graduated from Brown in 1813, taught, and was principal of an academy. He then became a Congregational minister. In 1831, he went westward and settled at Marshall, Michigan. From 1834 to 1841, he was Superintendent of Public Instruction for the State of Michigan and was the first person in the United States to hold this rank in any of the states, although New York State had had a State Superintendent of Common Schools more than twenty years previous.

When the Michigan State Constitutional Convention met in 1835, Pierce and his associates insisted on a constitutional provision to insure a state system of schools, rather than a series of local systems. In time, the Michigan title of State Superintendent of Public Instruction came to be the commonly used title. Actually, the title was of Prussian origin, but few realized this. Other states followed the lead of Michigan, and in some states, such as Connecticut, Ohio, Iowa and Missouri, the office was created, abolished and re-created one or more times before it became permanently established, according to E. P. Cubberley's "Public Education in the United States." Pierce and his friend, General Crary, had been much influenced by the report of the Frenchman, Cousin, on the organization of schools in Prussia. They agreed that, in Michigan, education should, if possible, be made, through the constitution, a distinct branch of the government, and that the constitution ought to provide for an officer to have full charge of the work. General Crary was chairman of the committee on education in the constitutional convention. Largely, as a result of their efforts, Cubberley says, Michigan was the first state to take the section school lands, given by the national government for schools, from the control of the townships and place them under the control of the state.

Pierce wrote: "Let free schools be established and maintained in perpetuity and there can be no such thing as aristocracy in our land." According to Dr. Arthur Raymond Mead, Pierce even went further and urged compulsory education for three months for all children between five and 17 years of age. Pierce also favored a state tax for schools.

Guild Announces Chamber Music Season

Detroit Music Guild announces a series of four unusual chamber music concerts for its third annual season. The guild is the only local group devoted to the public presentation of small ensemble works. Now for the third successive year it continues in its efforts to give Detroit the finest in chamber music.

The program committee, headed by Bernhard Heiden, has selected both standard and modern compositions emphasizing those pieces which have been seldom heard here. Included in the series to be played at the Detroit Institute of Arts or the Golden Sonata of Purcell, the Beethoven Quartet, Opus 135 and the Septe, the Jongen Quintet, Brahms Horn Trio, the Sextet by the American composer, Roy Harris, and a sextet version of Schoenberg's Ver Klaerte Nacht to be conducted by Ilya Scholnick.

Among the musicians who will participate in the concerts are the following well known artists: Bendetson Netzorg and Mischa Kottler, pianists; Samuel Epstein, Morris Hochberg, James Barret, and Henry Sieg, violinists; Valbert Coffey and Valter Poole, violas; Mitchell Galzeyd and Thaddeus Markiewicz, cellos; Albert Sand, clarinet; and the Dirk Woodwind Quintet. The first concert takes place on November 25, to be followed by performances on January 6, February 17, and March 24, 1939. Tickets for the series are available at the Grinnell Bros. ticket office at $1.75. Single admission tickets will be on sale at the door in the Art Institute.

Grosse Pointe Lutheran Church

Grosse Pointe Lutheran Church will hold their Harvest Festival Services November 20th. Members of the Sunday School and congregation will please bring a special offering of food, clothing or money for the needy. These will be placed before the altar, blessed and given to "Lutheran Charities." This organization is in touch daily with worthy needy families and will supervise the distribution wisely. The Sunday School will hold a special session at 9:45 o'clock on that day at which time these gifts will be brought. Members of the congregation will please bring theirs at the 11 o'clock service. The food should be such as can be used in packing Thanksgiving baskets. Discarded or outgrown clothing will be thankfully received. Some may prefer to give money. May both the giver and receiver be blessed. Our services on the 20th will take the place of our Thanksgiving Day services, our church not being open on that day.

One new Troop was registered during October and 510 new boys joined Scouting. As compared with one year ago, the membership growth of the Council shows a 31% increase in the number of registered members.

Grosse Exaggerations

(Continued from Page One) us laugh just to think of him. He always looks as forlorn as a cat in a grocery store window on Sunday morning, but his keen sense of humor belies his facade. Sat through three damp hours of Marie Antoinette and suffered reel for reel with Norma Shearer. We waited in vain for the famous line "Let them eat cake" and were disappointed in not hearing it. Little did Marie Antoinette dream that years hence, a place called Hollywood, would be putting words into her mouth and taking them out!

The other day we put some pemikens into our duffle bag and started on a tour of the five and ten cent stores. We do this once a year, so as to keep in touch with the little things in life. It was most enlightening as usual, but the funniest incident of the day, was a conversation between a salesgirl and a woman who wanted to buy two lamps. There were two identical lamps shown on the counter  after examining them carefully, the woman told the salesgirl she would take the pair. The salesgirl said she was sorry but they didn't come in pairs. They argued about this for some minutes, the s. g. insisting that THEY DID NOT COME IN PAIRS. Finally the exasperated customer, pointing to the two lamps said, "Well then, sell me these two."

"Okay," replied the s. g., "THAT I can do."

No doubt you have heard of the Neighborhood Thrift Shop's drive for white elephants—so why not let them have that pair of glass candlesticks that Aunt Matilda gave you ten years ago? Or you might have a treasure hunt in your attic and pass onto them, what you don't need. It would help a lot and you'd be doing a gracious bit for charity. Several of the G.P. debs are collecting donations and one was overheard saying, "Where on earth can we get a lot of white elephants? And what do they want with so many elephants anyway?"  Ah youth!

Boy Scout Activities

With a grand total of 17,943 boys and men, membership figures of the Detroit Area Council again hit a new high according to figures just released by Scout Executive, Amos R. Shields. As of October 31, there were 13,653 Scouts, 1,098 Cubs and 3,192 Leaders registered in the Council's 455 Scout and Cub units.

One new Troop was registered during October and 510 new boys joined Scouting. As compared with one year ago, the membership growth of the Council shows a 31% increase in the number of registered members.

The local Council finds it very difficult to keep pace with the ever increasing requests from community institutions for new Scout Troops and Cub Packs. Cubbing (Scouting's home-centered program for boys 9, 10 and 11 years of age) is in great demand by P.T.A.'s and other organizations interested in the younger boys of the community.

Solving Problems

THE world today is faced with many problems—social, economic, financial, political, physical, and mental. Harassed humanity looks this way, then that, for some remedy for its individual and collective difficulties. Too seldom does it find a satisfactory solution. Yet it is a divinely scientific fact that for every problem there is a right solution.

The first chapter of the Holy Scripture states (Genesis 1:1, 31): "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. . . . And God saw every thing that he had made, and behold, it was very good." And in the New Testament, John declares of God (1:3), "All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made." Do we believe these Biblical statements? Do we motivate our daily activity by this standard? John's clear vision enabled him to see "a new heaven and a new earth" (Revelation 21:1). May not each individual, in a degree, attain this pure perception? And as men attain this understanding, is it not certain that world conditions will improve?

"Theoretically, that is true," admits the earnest inquirer; "but how shall we proceed to bring about an effectual change in human thought?" Mary Baker Eddy, in the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," gives a succinct reply (p. 318): "The material senses originate and support all that is material, untrue, selfish, or debased. They would put soul into soil, life into limbo, and doom all things to decay. We must silence this life of material sense with the truth of spiritual sense; and, also (p. 288), "Spiritual sense, contradicting the material senses, involves intuition, hope, faith, understanding, fruition, reality."

Certainly, since the Bible statements in relation to creation are true, and Christendom generally admits that they are, then whatever is not good is not authorized by God, and is therefore not true. To realize this fact is to prove it true in one's own experience. In proportion as it is understood, one may utilize it to the exclusion of any discordant argument or circumstance, just as one rejects a statement that two and two is five when he knows that it is four.

Nehemiah, while living in comfort and security himself as cup-bearer to the king of Persia, heard that his people were in sore straits. Having asked divine guidance, he obtained permission from the Persian king to return and rebuild the walls of Jerusalem. After the work was begun, many were the suggestions of material sense as to lack of numbers, authority, strength, and ability, but Nehemiah steadfastly refused to come down from his God-given work to plead with false arguments, and the wall was completed. For, says the record (Nehemiah 4:8), "The people had a mind to work." So will the defenses of the world today be strengthened in proportion as those with spiritual vision work without ceasing in the cause of righteousness and peace.

The primary problem of the world today is to gain an understanding of God. When men can be induced to give attention to this endeavor, they will find world problems being solved as naturally as are problems in mathematics when the right rules are applied.

God is Love. With love as the leading motive in the world, what would become of war? Does anyone wish to kill a beloved friend or to deprive him of anything? And as men know God, the loving, all-powerful Father-Mother, giving liberally of good to all, what becomes of unemployment? The problem is solved as one expresses whatever of good lies within his present opportunity. As his right activity increases, he will find not only that he himself is of more and more help to others, but also that others are more and more gratefully helpful to him. Thus will the world's varied difficulties be diminished and finally overcome.

Christ Jesus, the Way-shower, has given us the perfect example in loving service, in his overcoming of the world. . . . Though there may be frequent overturnings, "God is working His purpose out," as the words from a hymn declare, and those not mesmerized by the world's mistakes made in the effort to solve its problems, are joyously advancing and aiding in the true solution. . . .—The Christian Science Monitor.

A Little Beauty Chat With Donna Williams

Blackheads Indicate A Sluggish Skin

Most women are getting over the idea that blackheads are the sign of uncleanness. Indeed it is the problem of all classes of people—a problem to be faced and solved like all other abnormal acts of nature.

While it is true that the "black" that you see is dirt of one form or another it is still a fact that it is lodged there because the fatty substance clogging the pore has prevented the natural skin secretion from keeping the pore clean. "Why does it clog," is a common question.

"No one has satisfactorily explained" is all I can answer.

But we do know that good grooming demands something be done and it is the duty of every beauty culturist to understand how to remove blackheads without permanently leaving enlarged pores. Indiscriminate squeezing is very dangerous and should never be permitted. It is a problem that needs expert attention in order to preserve the fine texture of the skin and yet get rid of unsightly blackheads.

Science has not yet produced a cream that magically eliminates blackheads. Like other problems this one needs to be met by understanding and not mysterious magic.

Now—Wake Up and Live!

Can be said about the change that comes when a sluggish skin has been "pepped up" with a good facial. Our facials are CORRECTIVE, scientifically prescribed for YOUR beauty problem. May we help you?

By A. PRYOR

Highlights on the fashion show at All Green's Club Pointe Royale (whoops!), on Thursday night: A goodly crowd was there and we spotted many familiar faces. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Willis at a table for two, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Kidner, being awfully nice to all the models, the C. N. MacDonalds, the George Johnstons, A. H. Buhls, Lyman Cranes, Henry Joys, Bernard Hoppers, and Harold DuCharme. At a long table in the bar were, Mr. and Mrs. John French Jr., the William Ford Torreyes, and the Brewster Louds. Mister, is our idea of a good-looking he-man. A little like the Richard Barthelmess of ten years ago. Saw the debonair Lewis Breen, who is still the perfect "Ravena" in our Grosse Pointe Showboat.

Thought the models handled themselves like veterans. We were especially impressed with the poise of Eugenie Wright, for one so young. Isabel DuCharme looked her usual beautiful self, and the brunette honors went to Mrs. Nugent Munroe, the former Peggy Williams.

We thought some of the most outstanding clothes were; a rose-colored crepe dinner dress with short sleeves, the bodice beautifully draped, and the skirt, the kind no woman can resist. Mrs. Cortland Larned wore a snappy looking daytime costume, the skirt, black crepe and the coat a cerise velvet affair with broad "A" shoulders, and pinched in waist. Mrs. Theodore Buhl wore a lovely black lace evening gown with small puffed sleeves. It was girdled at the waistline with a red velvet sash, and had a full 'dancer' skirt—just the thing for that BIG moment. The Robert coats that we'd like to see hanging in our own bare cupboard, were, a three-quarter length sable one with shoulders THAT wide. It was belted with a sable colored satin sash. Veddly new and veddly chic.

Dear Santa Claus, the other was a waist length boxy looking black fox, that would make a young man's fancy lightly turn to spring—and the wearer. We noticed that some of the purses were very good looking—and found that they came from Christies.

Unfortunately, modesty does not prevent us from printing the contents of our most recent fan letter:

There is an A. Pryor
Whom I fondly admire
Cause she only writes by day.
Since she did assert,
That she never throws dirt,
She'd be great on the W. P. A.
For the benefit of Mr. S. L. of Hamilton, we blushing admit that we ARE a woman!

We found two books worth going into. If you wish to laugh off your Thanksgiving dinner, Cornelia Otis Skinner's "Dithers and Jitters," will do the trick. For the serious minded, who like a dash of suspense and true characterization, try the "General's Lady."

Women's Professional Club

The Grosse Pointe Professional Women's Club will hold its regular meeting, due to a confliction of dates, at the lounge of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church on Thursday, November 17. Dinner will be served at 6:30. Dr. Frank Sladen, physician-in-chief, at the Ford Hospital will be the speaker.

American Diva Returns From Vienna

Jean Tennyson, soprano, termed "America's streamlined diva," shown with the famous tenor, John Charles Thomas, as she arrived in Chicago for an appearance in the Chicago City Opera company's presentation of "Tosca." Mr. Thomas is holding Miss Tennyson's Irish terrier.

Grosse Pointe Farms Receives 4th Federal Grant from Govt.

On November 19th the Village Officials were notified that the Federal Government had made an allotment of $5,175 to help defray the costs of replacing water mains in the Country Club Park Subdivision, and the installation of a water main to the Municipal Pier at the foot of 7 Mile Road; the total estimated cost of which is $11,500. Previous grants to the Farms were for the Fisher Road Relief Sewer, Grosse Pointe Blvd and Newberry Outfall Sewer and Kercheval Avenue Cross Village water main.

Grosse Pointe Teachers

Grosse Pointe teachers were represented last Friday when the fourth annual conference of the International Border Region of the Progressive Education Association met at Windsor. The general conference theme was "Education for the Needs of the Individual." The topic "Relations of Content and Methods to Individual Needs in the Arts (Music, Literature and Art)," was discussed at the Kennedy Collegiate Institute gymnasium by a group under the chairmanship of Dr. E. R. Van Kleeck, Superintendent of Grosse Pointe Schools. The principal speaker was Dr. Randolph Lindquist, Director of the Cranbrook Schools, and supervisors of music, literature and art in schools in Ann Arbor, Toledo, Windsor, Royal Oak and Detroit participated in the discussion.

Miss Janet Adams, teacher of art in the Grosse Pointe High School, was one of a group who discussed "Resources for Educational Progress in the Junior High School," and Donald R. Campbell, of the Grosse Pointe High School faculty, was also a member of a discussion group which dealt with the subject "Resources for Educational Progress in the Senior High School."

Lochmoor Community Club Moves Ahead

A great number of people enjoyed a nice evening at the party of Nov. 11, 1938, the club gave, and were entertained well. Also the club has attained more members, an achievement to be proud of. At the last meeting two members were elected to office for one year. Mrs. Chesquire was placed for Master of Ceremonies with Mr. Loos as assistant. Also Mr. Loos will take the position of Chairman of Publicity. The club with the permission of the council will hold its next meeting in the council room in the Village Building, Wednesday, Dec. 7, 1938, at 8 p. m. And all the residents of Lochmoor are invited to attend. The work on constructing the rink at Mack and Ridgemnt has been started and is expected to be of large enough size to provide for a space for regulation hockey. Truly a worthwhile undertaking and your support may well be needed. The electric system will be installed in a few days when all will be in readiness for freezing weather. The club was entertained by the Neighborhood Club, Tuesday, Nov. 15, in the afternoon a special entertainment being arranged and a god time was had by all. Still the talk of Lochmoor.

Great Britain Hastens Rearmament Program

Obtained by special permission of the war office, this remarkable photograph shows activities in a British shell inspection shop in an armaments factory. Britain is now embarked on a vast program of rearmament in the navy, army and royal air force. Sir Kingsley Wood, air minister, outlining the government's air defense program, told the house of commons that next year's air estimates will be increased to about $1,000,000,000, compared to about $600,000,000 in the present year.

Book Week At Grosse Pointe Library

A gay display of recent books for children may be seen at the Grosse Pointe City Library, 700 Cadieux road, November 14-19.

Come in and browse about. Perhaps you can find some suggestions for your Christmas book list.

A special book week feature is a movie of our first out-a-door story hour, taken last summer, to be shown Saturday morning, November 19th, at ten o'clock. All boys and girls are invited.

Major Burns Henry Post News

We missed a lot of faces at our turkey party at the Manor Cafe, some of the regulars being absent. While not a howling success, we did fairly well financially. We need the help of you fellows as we have a rather ambitious program for the coming year and without your continued support, some parts may have to be dropped. So grab a shovel and let's go to town. Our slogan is "Keep Burns Henry Post and Grosse Pointe in front." We can do it if we try.

The Auxiliary came up for a vote last meeting and after considerable discussion both pro and con, it was turned down. A large portion of the membership felt that when we have our own quarters, the Auxiliary could be sponsored. So youse guys that are for it will have to get going and help to buy our own place.

A committee has been formed to devise ways and means to provide the necessary wherewithal and any suggestions will sure be appreciated. Call Adj. Cramer at NI 5151 or Hoyt at TU 2-1813. We hope to have more news for you in the near future.

May we at this time, on behalf of the Post, offer our deepest sympathy to Finance Officer Comrade Clare Craig, whose father passed away Friday at the family home in Grand Rapids. We sincerely wish it were possible to be with you t this time, Clare.

We saw Comrade Barney Besso one-stepping around with a cane. Wondering if he had gone Fifth Ave., we asked how come. Well, it seems old age caught up with him while he was doing a little fancy jump roping or sumpin and he pulled a charley horse. Hmm he hummed. Attended the Alger Post party Saturday night bringing home one chicken. Had an enjoyable time. Saw a lot of oldtimers last meeting—ack Flancher, Art Dorie, Edge, Ell and several others. Keep it up gang we need your help and advice. Welcomed two new Comrades, Denys and Picard. If we missed any others correct us at the next meeting.

And now for my weekly sermon on dues and Transfusion Corp. We need the dues to try to get our Post over the top by Jan. 1. We need volunteers for the Transfusion Corp. Can you help us? Call Leo Weil at NI 5555. Hope you birds all have a bird for Thanksgiving and all the trimmings. So long.

Local Job Crusade Produces Results

The Detroit Crusade for Jobs is riding in high gear under power of the Automobile Show. The management staged a mass meeting of 1,000 salesmen to hear Crusade speakers before the opening of the Show, and carried out the Crusade idea in the decorations of the show itself, to provide a new high mark in the campaign to sell Detroit back to work.

Throughout the industry, co-operation with the Crusade for Jobs is in evidence. Manufacturers and dealers have planned their exhibits in accordance with the aims of the Crusade, and emblazoned the campaign slogan in their promotion material.

When the Show closes, another feature will be added to the Crusade program, something entirely unique in Detroit business history. This is "The Boss Sells the Goods Day" to be held Monday, November 21, when presidents and sales managers of important business houses will go out on the fring line of selling and set an example for their sales staffs.

One of those in the group will be George W. Mason, president of the Nash-Kelvinator Corporation of Detroit, who is credited with being founder of the Crusade idea. In Lincoln, Nebraska, the first city to try the experiment earlier in the year, Mr. Mason spent one day in personal house-to-house canvassing and developed business from 14 calls.

This incident grew out of his attempt to prove that if salesmen went crusading for better times for everybody, the buying public would co-operate and business would improve. Since then the Crusade idea has spread to 1,000 cities of the United States.

The Detroit Crusade for Jobs this week received additional support when the cleaning and dyeing industry placed a reduction in prices in effect to increase their volume and thereby create more jobs. The new price scale means a reduction from 20 to 25 per cent, and is done without a reduction in the wage scale.

The support of the Auto Show and the action of the cleaning industry came on the heels of a new high record in the business volume of Detroit. Individual companies, as well as statistical organizations, have reported figures that show a substantial improvement in October over September, and a decided jump from the summer's inactivity.

Further encouragement for steadily increasing business was given by the results of the potential buying survey conducted by the Detroit Crusade for Jobs. Four divisions have already been completed, and the intended purchases covered by the one-in-five sampling of 350,000 families of established buying power, runs into many millions of dollars.

The survey shows Detroiters plan to buy 7,535 homes valued at $47,142,000; 121,491 items of home modernization valued at $132,304,445; 87,351 units of home appliances aggregating $6,536,128; and 64,279 automobiles, in the period from November 1 to January 15.

Willies H. Hall, manager of the industrial department of the Detroit Board of Commerce, and a member of the Crusade committee, in his weekly survey of business trends reported that the increase in local business and industrial activity since last July probably exceeds that of any previous three months' period in Detroit history.

Dun & Bradstreet, in its survey of Detroit business conditions, credited the aggressive advertising and sales campaign as a factor in the revival. The enlarged programs of the merchants was planned by them as part of the Detroit Crusade for Jobs.

Mexican Counsel To Give Address

Honorable Carlos Palacios Roji, Consul of Mexico at Detroit, will address the next meeting of the Detroit Philanthropic Society to be held at the Hotel Statler next Tuesday evening, November 22nd, at 8:15. His subject will be "Current Mexican Ideology."

Consul Palacios Roji will be introduced by Mr. Wallace Visscher, the executive Vice-President of the Society.

As this is to be a timely and interesting address, the general public is invited.

Pointe Show Featured Mums of Rare and Exquisite Beauty

By MARY JANE STOETZEL

Mums the word, and mum was the word at the Grosse Pointe and Eastern Michigan Horticultural Society's annual Chrysanthemum Show given at the Neighborhood Club last Saturday and Sunday. There were large mums and small mums; pink mums, white mums, yellow mums and bronze mums, in fact every different kind of a mum that you can think of were on display. The autumn tones of the gym blended in perfectly with the fall tones of the chrysanthemums.

Everybody remarked upon the excellence of the blooms and the quality of the flowers, which were up to the average. In fact the show was very good fas as everyone was concerned.

Did you know that the honor for having the largest bloom in the show went to Theodore Kalkhoff, gardener for Mrs. Lawrence D. Buhl. Mrs. J. B. Schlotman's exhibit, "Emily Clibran," belonging to the Balgonia family received certificate of culture and merit; while Mrs. Truman H. Newberry received the Silver Cup of the Grosse Pointe and Eastern Michigan Horticultural Society for having the most meritorious exhibit in the show. Ray Berry is Mrs. Newberry's gardener.

Horn Tooters Cheered—In Bronx Style

David Wilson, Santa Monica, Calif., true friend of the indignant motorist, recently patented a device which will express his contempt of the motorist who persists in blowing his horn at every available opportunity. Sunday School at 9:45 a. m. The subject taught in the upper grades will be: "Honesty In All Things," of the 7th Commandment, "Thou Shalt Not Steal." Much of the world's upset today is caused by dishonesty among individuals and groups. We must first teach the baby, the child and the young person to be honest. Bring your family and attend our Sunday School at 9:45 a. m. and remain for church service with sermon at 11 o'clock.

Lochmoor Protestant Church

This program makes it possible for families to arrive as units and leave in the same manner. Children old enough to participate in the Worship Service are asked to sit with their parents or teachers.

Trombly School Notes

The 4A's show themselves true blooded Grosse Pointers by their quite evident enthusiasm for anything that floats! Every kind of crafts, from a log raft to the luxurious Normandie, is coming in for its share of concentrated study in the story of the history of boats and navigation. Early Indian, Egyptian, Greek and Spanish barques revealed much of interest about the boatmen of long ago. Pirate ships, Viking boats, fast clippers, fishing schooners, Fulton's "Clermont," all are represented in the colorful reproductions adorning the classroom. Small models of wood, soap, cork, cloth and clay were fun to make. Stories, poems, spelling lessons, and arithmetic problems show the nautical influence. The Naval Armory and the gray battleship "Dubucque" made fine points of interest for a class excursion. The results of this study of boats will be shared with the other classes at an auditorium program soon. If you're boat conscious or would like to be you might come!

Richard School PTA Meeting

The Richard School Parent Teacher Association will hold the second meeting of the year on Tuesday, November 22, at 8:15 o'clock in the auditorium of the Richard School.

Paul Rehmus, principal of Grosse Pointe High School, will speak. His subject is "Character Education for Youth." William Watkins, director of music, will present the a cappella choir in several numbers.

Parents are being invited to visit in the classrooms between 7:30 and 8:15 o'clock instead of after the meeting. Teachers will be present then and will be pleased to see parents and discuss the work of their children.

Refreshments will be served in the lunchroom after the meeting. Parents of Richard School pupils and their friends are invited to be present.

Visits Greenfield Village

The 2A's and 3B's of Kerby School had an interesting trip to the Transportation exhibit in the museum at Greenfield Village November 3.

All types of locomotion, including reproductions of chariots, primitive ox sledges, ox carts and wagons and carriages of every kind were seen. Power locomotion was shown through gasoline, steam, and electric automobiles, airplanes, motorcycles, boats, bicycles and locomotives.

Among the airplane types was a 1909 Bleriot, a Stinson, the "Pride of Detroit," which flew around the world, an Autogyro, a Junkers, the "Bremen" which made the first east to west transatlantic crossing, and Admiral Byrd's North and South Pole planes.

On track spurs in the museum floor, the development of the locomotive was shown beginning with a replica of the English "Rocket" and continuing down through a reconstruction of the original "DeWitt Clinton," and wood-burner types of the Civil War period, including an old-style train restored to resemble one on which the youthful Edison worked as a news butcher. Transportation was provided by parents of the following girls and boys: Elizabeth Adams, Elton Bamford, Boone Gross, Sally Ann Hubbard and Herman Klingelhofner.

William Phelps To Address Town Hall

William Lyon Phelps, nationally popular book critic, educator, philosopher, who packed them in last year and the year before, will again address the Detroit Town Hall audience in the Fisher Theatre Wednesday morning, November 23, at 11 o'clock, speaking on "Contemporary Books."

Professor emeritus of Yale University, who for 32 years was Lamson professor of English literature, Dr. Phelps has thousands of followers in Michigan. He has spent his summers in Michigan's Thumb for more than 10 years, preaching at Huron City. His Sunday afternoon sermons, drawing people from all over the state, proved so popular that it was necessary to enlarge the church twice to its present seating capacity of 1,000.

A dynamic speaker, Dr. Phelps was for many years Yale's public orator and ambassador to the world at large. To day he writes a syndicated literary column reaching 10,000,000 readers. He is heard frequently over national radio networks. He is the author of numerous books, essays and magazine articles. Of his many books, his favorites are "Robert Browning," "Essays on Russian Novelists" and "Human Nature in the Bible."

Tickets for Dr. Phelps' lecture are on sale now at Grinnell's Music Store, $1.10 and $1.65 including tax.

Public Letter B-O-X

The following is a letter which we feel is self explanatory. We hope the spirit of the letter will urge you to be on the look-out for Tiger—so that she and her family can be safely returned to their unhappy mistress.

Dear Editor: Would you please find my cat and her kittens. Her name is Tiger and she is gray. She went away last Monday, Nov. 7, and has not come home with her babies yet and it is so cold they might freeze. Please print this in your paper so if anyone finds them they will bring Tiger and her kittens back to me. Joan Weidman, 837 Fisher Rd. Age 9.

High School Notes

In observance of Armistice Day, High School and the annexes held every homeroom in Grosse Pointe commemorative programs. At 11 o'clock on that day very student also stood quietly for one minute while taps were played.

A member of Miss Lorraine Magaw's homeroom 207, Jack Gilbert brought World War helmets, shells, rifles, air bombs, and a machine gun to show his class. Though every one of his exhibits was interesting, the machine gun attracted the greatest attention.

In room 206, William Berns read "Should the Unknown Soldier Awake Today," a play, "The Peace Club," was given in room 216.

Seven poems were read by different pupils in room 225, including "Abraham Lincoln Walks at Midnight" and "In Flanders Field."

The father of one of the boys in room 100 at Defer annex showed the class a movie on "The Zeppelin's Raid on London." In other Defer homerooms, students brought souvenirs belonging to their parents concerning the war, including a copy of the Armistice, French and American war maps, and copies of 1917-1918 newspapers.

In other homerooms, songs were sung, speeches were made, poems were read, and the significance of Armistice Day was realized by every student in the school.

The 5B children in Mrs. Nellie Merritt's room at Defer School recently completed the study of New England.

After reading about all the states, each child selected the state which he wished to study especially. Then those studying the same state formed a group. In this way the class divided itself into six groups. A leader was chosen by each group. After the study, which involved much research work, map making, and construction of miniature scenes, a program was given in class with the leaders acting as chairmen.

Art work was correlated with this study, a frieze being made which extended across the back of the room. The frieze depicted a lumbering scene, fishing scene, a city, and a scene portraying the gathering of maple sap. Reading, English and spelling were also correlated with this study.

Three dozen dolls are being dressed by the teachers, pupils, and a few mothers of the Defer School. Mrs. Dale, President of the Parent Teachers' Association, distributed the dolls, which were obtained from the Goodfellows, Detroit. These dolls will be on display starting December 5, at the Defer School.

A handicraft class will start Thursday, November 17, at 9:30, room 313, Defer School. This class comes under the 'head of Adult Education Classes. All women in the community are invited to come and make toys which will be given to the Toy Shop.

To show the correct technique in typewriting and shorthand, Miss Eleanor Deuster of the high school office and Miss Mary McElroy of the Board of Education office appeared in a movie recently by shorthand and typewriting artists of the Detroit Commercial College.

Students who had won medals for 100, 175, and 200 words a minute in shorthand and cup holders in typewriting appeared in the picture.

Miss McElroy was awarded a cup for typing 1000 words in 10 minutes without error. She is also holder of a medal for 175 words a minute in shorthand. Speed was the point demonstrated by Miss McElroy.

Miss Deuster won a cup two years ago for typing 85 words a minute and a certificate for artistic shorthand. Before an audience of over 1000 people, Miss Deuster recently demonstrated speed and technique in shorthand at a showing of the typewriting and shorthand movie at the Book-Cadillac given by the Detroit Commercial College.

Grosse Exaggerations?

We have searched and searched for something new in the way of Thanksgiving Day menus, but no could find. Here's the latest idea:

- Small Cups of Oyster Stew
- Roast Turkey
- garnished with tiny sausages
- Grape Jelly
- Brussels Sprouts
- Creamed Onions
- Mashed Sweet Potatoes

Pumpkin Tarts with Whipped Cream
Fresh Fruit, Assorted Cheese, and Coffee

Of course if you want to be a rugged individualist, you can always serve corned beef and cabbage or hot dogs and sauerkraut.

A friend of ours told us of a recent experience, which taught him the real meaning of enterprise. He happened to stop in an out of the way Lunch Room early one morning for breakfast. The place was deserted, but for the sleepy-eyed waiter who took his order with a flourish. He then pushed open the door leading to the kitchen, and called in the best Greek style, "Hem en Aiggs tust, oaz cups cuffy-queek." After this, he grinned at our friend and disappeared into the kitchen. After waiting a considerable length of time, said friend decided to see what was up. He worked to the kitchen door and peered through the little glass window. The kitchen proved to be empty, save for the genial waiter, who in his shirt sleeves, was busy cooking the Hem and Aiggs. In a few moments, he came bustling in, and setting the breakfast before his customer, he strolled toward the window and looked out upon the empty street, whistling, "Where Are You"—off key.

Well, we hope to lift up the flap of our wigwam and find a brace of snowflakes any day now. We hope so, because the one horse wooden sleigh is waiting to take us to Grandma's house for 'you know what.'

And so, we wish you all a Happy Thanksgiving.

GIRL SCOUTS

Troop 84 went on a hike last Friday. They went to Pine Woods, and followed many trails. For supper they had hot dogs, potatoe chips, buns, apples and milk. Mrs. Smith, the scout leader, could not be at the meeting, so Mrs. Graves and Mrs. C. H. Moore came with the girls who wish to thank Mrs. Moore for coming with them.

The Brownies are going to have to fly up this Monday, and they want to have some girls from troop 84 to represent the troop. The ones chosen were Millicent Duane and Marilyn Bursick.

TROOP 180

The patrols of Troop 180 planned menus for the Thanksgiving dinner they are giving for some poor family.

The meeting at which these plans were made was on Monday, Nov. 7 at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

At the same meeting the girls decided what handiwork they are going to do. The scouts are taking up barn-dancing and at present are learning the Virginia Reel.

TROOP 140

Since the senior girls in Troop 140 helped serve the Young Married Peoples' Class for dinner, their meeting ended about eight o'clock on November 7.

TROOP 131

The Girl Scouts of Troop 131 met at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church on November 8, 1938 where they decided to sell candy to earn money for the Community Fund. The scouts also agreed to dress dolls for the poor.

Miss Meisenberg told the girls about the origin of girl scouting.

Last October 25th, the scouts had a meeting out of doors and passed their fire building requirement for the second class. The girls took their supper and cooked the food over the fire that the scouts had built.

TROOP 129

On Wednesday, November 8, Troop 129 made final preparations for the "fly-up" to be held the following Monday at Christ Church.

All the Brownies assembled last Monday and Joanne Johnston, Mary Jane Schaeffer, Catherine Crowe, Joan Wertz and Roxane Wheldon "flew" up to Scoutdom. They will be in Troop 129. The Brownie mothers were there to witness the ceremony and refreshments were served afterwards.

TROOP 138

To the tune of O Come All Ye Faithful Troop 138 began practicing for their Christmas caroling for December 21, 1938. Barbara Fitch is the very capable leader of this undertaking.

Being a senior troop this year, the girls have chosen handicrafts and homemaking for their program. As part of the homemaking program they will attempt to make their own senior uniforms. The belts, which will be made of leather, will be one of their handicraft projects. A committee of Marion Ramm, Jean Hansen and Barbara Fitch was appointed to obtain samples of materials for this project and report their findings at the next scout meeting.

TROOP 124

A good time was enjoyed by all when Troop 124 spent an exciting weekend at Camp Metamora. Sixteen girls went. The two from Grosse Ile were Patsy and Helen Sayles. The troop was accompanied by Mrs. E. P. Ross, captain; Mrs. G. H. Nichols, troop committee member and Miss Edith Foster, as a registered first aid scout. The girls were divided up into four patrols. They choose their names themselves. The patrols took turns washing dishes, getting the meals, setting the tables and other household tasks. The meals were planned with an international program. The four meals they prepared represented Germany, Italy, China and a dinner for the American Indians. The girls are looking for suggestions, so they may improve their trip next time.

TROOP 180

The Girl Scouts of Troop 180 decided at the meeting of Monday, Nov. 14, that each Scout should bring an assigned article for the Thanksgiving baskets. The meeting took place at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. Each patrol will decorate its own basket and fill it with clothing and food. Handicraft will begin next week.

BROWNIE PACK, NO. 13

A very impressive ceremony took place last Monday afternoon at Christ Church Chapel when five little girls became members of Brownie Pack No. 13, and four Brownies flew up into Girl Scout Troops.

Mrs. E. R. Romine, Brown Owl of the Brownie Pack, conducted the first ceremony, and at its completion, the four girls who were leading the Pack pinned the Brownie insignia on the new members, who were Mary Florence Waterfall, Bonnie Wheldon, Janet Johnstone, Virginia Stoddard and Jennie Buel Quirk.

Members of Scout Troop No. 129 and Sarah Tiedeman representing Troop No. 84 then encircled the younger girls, and at the appointed time in the ceremony, which was conducted by Mrs. William Innes, the Troop leader, the four Brownies who had become ten years old, were taken into the outer circle. Roxanne Wheldon, Mary Jan Sheaffer and Joanne Johnston are joining Troop No. 129, and Betsy Bachman will be a member of Troop No. 84.

Mary Jane Sheaffer was given an award, a Girl Scout Diary, for perfect attendance at meetings during her entire membership in the Pack. This was given by Mrs. Romaine.

Mrs. J. Crawford Frost planned the refreshments which followed the ceremony, and among the mothers who attended were Mrs. Marion Schaeffer, Mrs. F. Rankin Weisgerber, Mrs. Courtney Johnson, Mrs. Richard Bachman, Mrs. Ford Wheldon, Mrs. W. T. Crowe, Mrs. Thornton Waterfall, Mrs. Howard Stoddard, Mrs. Paul Grubbs, Mrs. R. T. Johnstone, Mrs. Ray Will and Mrs. Henry H. Hubbard.

Miss Gladys Pedersen, Field Secretary, attended the affair and also Miss Maisie Kerr, Assistant Leader of Troop No. 129.

MARY ELLEN NICHOLS TROOP NO. 124

For Nov. 17, 1938, a stick-cookery dinner was planned by Troop No. 124. The girls had a variety for their dinner to choose from. Among them were ham and pineapple, cube steak with onions, bread, rolls and jam, besides a walking salad. For dessert they all had somores, which are toasted marshmallows and chocolate between graham crackers. Several girls passed their fire-building for second class, while others passed in cooking. The Troop enjoyed the dinner very much and are hoping for another one.

TROOP NO 131

The Girl Scouts of Troop 131 were told on Nov. 15 that Miss L. C. Meyersonberg, their troop leader, is going to leave the band Mrs. True is going to take her place. The Scouts are sorry Miss Meyersonberg is leaving, but they are glad Mrs. True has consented to be their leader.

Mrs. C. H. Moore visited the troop at their last meeting. She is personal trainer of Girl Scouts.

Patricia McKean, Sally Thompson and Dorothy Duncan were invested Nov. 15.

337 Pupils Enrolled In Grosse Pointe Schools During Month

Grosse Pointe's Public Schools keep right on growing. When school opened September of this year, 3860 youngsters flocked into the elementary and high schools. A month later, 4197 pupils were enrolled, an increase of 337, according to the Department of Child Accounting and Adjustment of the Board of Education. Now there are 4230.

"This increase will undoubtedly pile up month by month," states Dr. E. R. Van Kleeck, superintendent of public schools. "That has been the story of the past few years, and all indications are that these trends will persist. We may expect a steadily mounting enrollment all through the year."

Most marked increase in enrollment among the elementary schools has taken place in the Richard School, on McKinley Road, to which 583 children go daily. Richard is now the largest elementary school in Grosse Pointe, having registered 37 additional children since the opening of school, enough for a full grade.

The George Defer School on Kercheval ranks second largest with 443 pupils in the elementary grades.

The Lewis E. Maire School on Cadieux Road has also increased 37 pupils since opening day and is now the third largest elementary school in the district, with a total of 369 children. The Robert E. Trombly School on Beaconsfield is fourth with 317 pupils, having increased 29 in the first month of school.

Except for the overcrowding at Richard, probably the most difficult increase to provide for lies in the eastern end of the district, according to Dr. Van Kleeck. Kerby School on Kerby Road, a school of 8 rooms, now has 232 youngsters, while the Stevens T. Mason School on Vernier Road, now houses 231 children. The old Vernier School on the same street, opened this year because of overcrowded conditions in the Mason School, has 45 children. Altogether 508 pupils are being schooled in the east end, whereas the enrollment there a year ago was only 457.

In the junior high school grades, scattered among the Cadieux, Defer, Trombly, and High School buildings, enrollment has increased from 996 on September 7 to 1,064.

Senior high school figures have leaped ahead even more markedly. At the opening of school 810 were registered in the sophomore, junior and senior classes. A total of 103 entered in the first month, making the school registration in these three grades 913. The high school building is housing the largest number of junior and senior high school pupils in its history.

In the entire system an increase of 4.4 per cent has taken place since September, 1937.

The total enrollment in the combined junior and senior high school grades is now 1,977. This figure represents an increase of 175 pupils over last year.

A BEAUTY CHAT WITH DONNA WILLIAMS

CONCENTRA, is as the name implies, a highly concentrated, dehydrated vegetable root and fruit compound. This is in capsule form and contains rhubarb, soya bean meal, Irish sea moss, gravel root, and dehydrated cranberries.

There are sixteen major elements in the body which must be furnished to the body through foods. If there is an over-supply or a deficiency of these elements in the body, then that body is abnormal.

The rhubarb aids the elimination of poisons from the body. The rhubarb used in CONCENTRA is the very highest grade of the Chinese variety.

The soya bean meal is the food substance containing a powerful ferment oil which is an excellent diabetic food. The Irish sea moss furnishes iron and iodine. Most vegetables do not contain a sufficient amount of iron and iodine.

The gravel root is a cleaner for our kidneys, thereby eliminating poisons accumulated in the kidneys, just as the rhubarb does for the alimentary tract. The Dehydrated Cranberries is a table item whose value is familiar in every household. As long as we have to eat why not eat the correct way? Whether the food is raw, cooked or concentrated, shouldn't make any difference, if we satisfy our body's need.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Ford, of Windmill Pointe drive, left yesterday for the opening of the Toronto Fair, in Toronto, Ont., in the company of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Caulkins, of Lewistown road.

Why Age Before Your Time?

Premature ageing is often caused by improper dieting. Some foods create an oversupply of body elements while others a deficiency. Consult us regarding CONCENTRA the new aid to beauty.
