Police and Firemen Join Lions Club Members As Goodfellows Today

By MARY JANE STOETZEL

"Thank you Mister," "Thank you Madam," and "Thank you Everyone." Why, you wonder, are you being thanked today of all days. Why today, you have helped to obliterate a little of the suffering in the Pointe. Maybe you gave only a nickel for this paper, maybe you gave a dollar, nobody knows or cares, but whatever sum you have given you have helped to make the next year livable for someone less fortunate now living in the Pointe. You have answered the cry for help and now you are deserving of thanks.

You will never know how much your small donation has helped relieve the distressed locally. You will never know who received the benefit of your generosity, but you may rest assured that someone will remember you in their prayers for the help that you have given them today. Freely, willingly, and generously you have given, we hope, of a little of your money, and because of this the world has been made a little less bitter for others. Now you are able to enjoy your own wealth and security to its fullest extent for you know the joy of giving. You may not know the feeling of distress, for you may never have been in financial stress, but you do know now what it feels like to have helped another, who is a total stranger to you.

You who have given to the best of your ability to this Goodfellow fund, have done your duty to your neighbors. It is indeed your duty to help others, who are in need, just as it is your duty to care for your families. There will always be slackers in this world, and in the Pointe, just as there will always be poor persons. A slacker will always be a slacker and will go through life thinking only of himself. But the number of slackers are few in comparison to the number of those who consider the welfare of others. It should be your hope, just as it is the hope of all less privileged persons, that this inequality will always remain. When the number of slackers is greater than the number of non-slackers the world will be in chaos for nobody or nothing can exist if selfishness rules.

And so today the Grosse Pointe Goodfellows thank you for your support in making their annual Christmas drive a success. The poor people, who will derive the benefits from your generosity, also thank you and those men, who sold papers for six hours to help them in their hour of need. Everyone with an ounce of reason thanks you for your co-operation in helping relieve the distress in the Pointe.

Do you know what happens to the money collected from the Grosse Pointe Lions' Goodfellow Newspaper Sale? This drive, which is conducted annually by the Grosse Pointe Lions Club, is for the purpose of immediate relief for the less fortunate. Food, clothing, optical service, hospital care, doctor bills, milk for babies and under-nourished children, are only a few of the many items paid for from the money collected during this sale.

Disasters Strike 41 States During Year

Red Cross Aids 420,000 Persons Following Catastrophes

That the past year has not been an easy one for the American Red Cross is shown in a recent report listing disasters necessitating Red Cross relief throughout the United States during the past twelve months.

The report reveals that 129 domestic disasters called for Red Cross aid in 247 counties of 41 states, and that assistance was given to 420,000 persons who were disaster victims.

"That this has been a very active year is obvious when one compares this year's operations with the average of 82 disasters requiring Red Cross aid annually for the past 15 years," Chairman Norman H. Davis said in commenting on the Red Cross Disaster Relief Services report.

These catastrophes included cloud-bursts, cyclones, epidemics, fires, floods, forest fires, hailstorms, mine explosions, a school bus accident, a shipwreck, tornadoes, typhoons, and wind storms.

"Disaster relief was the first humanitarian work of the American Red Cross after its organization in 1881," Mr. Davis said. "In the ensuing 57 years the flag of the Red Cross has flown upon every scene of major disaster in the United States. The Red Cross has carried relief—food, clothing, shelter, medical aid, rehabilitation of homes and families—to more than 2,200 scenes of disaster at home and abroad, and has expended over $140,000,000 contributed by the American public in this work of mercy."

The Red Cross policies of relief, the national chairman pointed out, have been established over a period of years through actual experience of its workers in the field. Relief is given on the basis of need of sufferers—not of losses. Loans, he pointed out, are never made, but relief is a gift from the Red Cross in the name of its members and contributors to its work.

"It would not be possible for the Red Cross to carry out such widespread relief activities without the help of thousands of volunteer workers," Mr. Davis said. "Volunteers are the mainstay of the organization, and in the past year's work assistance from many cooperating agencies has made it possible for us to answer the many calls for help."

While relief was being given to victims of natural catastrophes, the Red Cross was not unmindful of the necessity for preparedness plans to meet emergencies that may arise in any American community. Red Cross chapters in hundreds of counties have organized disaster preparedness committees charged with responsibility to map relief plans in advance of need, and to organize resources of communities to prevent duplication of effort and waste of materials when calls for help are received.

These plans are proving especially advantageous in localities subject to frequent floods, tornadoes, or hurricanes, and actual tests of such planning have demonstrated the necessity for such measures.

"The administration of such relief for disaster victims is made possible by annual memberships of millions of Americans in all walks of life," Mr. Davis pointed out. "The extent of Red Cross aid to such sufferers is entirely dependent upon unselfish sharing on the part of all of us."

White House Shares Yule Spirit

WASHINGTON.—The holiday atmosphere that grips America each December also finds its way to the White House, home of our chief executives for nearly 140 years and scene of many a colorful Yuletide party in bygone years.

White House history is rich with anecdotes of such gatherings since the building was occupied by the country's second chief executive, John Adams. For his granddaughter, four-year-old Suzannah, President Adams gave the first Christmas party ever held in the White House. Those were the days before the mansion was finished, when Mrs. Adams is said to have hung out her wash in the great East room.

Suzannah's party was a success but one of her guests broke a doll dish belonging to the little hostess. Suzannah retaliated by biting off the nose of the young guest's new wax doll. President Adams had to resort to diplomacy.

Jefferson Played Violin.
Christmas has always aided chief executives in discarding their dignity for a brief return to the simplicity of their childhood days. It was the widower President Jefferson who played the violin for his young guests, and the aged Andrew Jackson threw wide the White House doors to hundreds of orphans who listened to the President himself tell their wild tales of Indian wars.

Dolly Madison, most famous White House hostess in history, was in charge of President Jefferson's party in 1805 when nearly 100 guests were present. Mrs. Madison also served as hostess at 13 other Christmas dinners in the White House during the two terms each of Jefferson and her own husband, James Madison. Once the Madisons had to flee from the mansion when the British invaded Washington in 1812. Jackson's party for the orphans was inspired by his own sad boyhood. At his party Santa Claus came to the White House as usual, leaving many gifts for the homeless youngsters. Jackson himself found a cornucopia and warm carpet slippers in his bulging stocking.

Jackson in Snow Fight.
"Old Hickory" is said to have participated in a snowball fight at the party, aided by Vice President Martin Van Buren. As his little guests scattered over the moonlit White House lawn he turned to a friend and said:

"They remind me of the one who came to the knees of Jesus, and of whom He said, 'Suffer little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of Heaven.'"

In modern times much more ceremony has been attached to official Washington's celebration of the Yuletide. Each year the chief executive radios holiday greetings to American soldiers, sailors, marines and diplomatic representatives throughout the world. His most important official duty is a Christmas eve address to the nation, a custom that has probably become permanent.

The nation's "official" Christmas tree in Washington is lighted annually by the presidential finger who participates in colorful ceremonies broadcast throughout the country. During the past decade and a half, four Presidents have used the same switch box for this purpose. Last year a new silver plate was attached to the box bearing the names of these men.
Another recent innovation at the ceremony is the use of a four-toned chime to signal the lighting of the tree. The chimes ring out as the President presses the button lighting the tree, broadcast as a signal to millions of listening Americans.

Defer School Children See Several Movies

The boys and girls of Defer school have enjoyed several movies in the past few weeks. "Riders Over Voglesang," was a six-day bridge trip through the Yosemite National Park. "America's High Spots" gas interesting information concerning some of our natural wonders. Mr. LaFollette showed his own movie on Yellowstone National Park. This picture was in technicolor and was taken by Mr. LaFollette while visiting there last summer. He showed

Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Phelps entertained in their home last Tuesday at an informal dinner in celebration of their wedding anniversary. The Phelps live on Lincoln road.

Last week Mr. Herbert L. McElroy, a cowboy from Oregon, entertained with the picture, "Bringing the Northwest to You." This depicted Indian life and ranch life in the west.

Red Cross Seeks Cut in Accident Toll

1,725,406 First Aiders Trained Since 1910

Cognizant of tremendous losses in human lives and of permanent injuries resulting from accidents in homes, on farms and highways, and around industrial plants as well as in the basement workshop, officials of the American Red Cross have been directing a systematic fight against what they term "this economic waste."

As part of this nation-wide effort to reduce deaths and permanent injuries from accidents, a recent statement from Red Cross headquarters in Washington reports that during the past 12 months certificates have been granted to 236,028 persons completing courses in the administration of Red Cross first aid.

Holders of these certificates have followed detailed courses of study and have been taught how to splint fractured limbs, stop flow of blood, treat poison sufferers, care for victims of heat, electric shock, and handle other common emergency situations. The courses emphasize methods of caring for patients until professional medical aid can be summoned to scenes of accidents.

Since 1910, the report reveals, 1,725,406 persons have received this training from qualified Red Cross instructors, and at the present time 20,429 persons are qualified to give such instruction. Bringing help nearer scenes of possible accident, 2,454 emergency first aid stations have been established in strategic locations on principal highways throughout the nation, operators of the stations receiving the prescribed Red Cross instructions and maintaining full first aid equipment on the spot, conveniently placed, they also maintain up-to-date lists of available doctors and ambulance services pledged in advance to cooperate with Red Cross first aiders in preventing deaths and permanent injuries that so frequently result from automobile accidents.

Mobile first aid units also have been established in cooperation with state highway and police departments, operators of public utility vehicles and others frequenting highways, operators of such units also receiving the prescribed Red Cross courses in first aid. To cut the number of persons losing their lives through drowning while swimming, the Red Cross has redoubled efforts to train as many persons as possible in life saving methods. During the past year 88,150 persons received certificates upon completion of courses. Since 1914, 884,649 persons have been trained in Red Cross life saving methods, including thousands of persons in CCC camps, beach patrolmen, camp instructors, and school boys and girls.

Carrying the fight onto farms and into homes, a campaign to eliminate accidents caused by careless habits and faulty equipment last year resulted in self-checks being made in 10,000,000 American homes through cooperation of children in school, women's clubs, farm organizations, and other groups. The 3,700 Red Cross chapters and their branches in every county are cooperating in this national effort to end needless pain and suffering resulting from such accidents.

These efforts to lessen such appalling tolls of human lives and usefulness are made possible through memberships in the Red Cross. The annual Roll Call will be held between November 11 and Thanksgiving Day, when all Americans are asked to join or renew their affiliation to ensure continuation of accident prevention measures.

Join the Red Cross Chapter in your community during the Roll Call, November 11 to 24.

FAIR VISITOR

Miss Frances Farmer, screen actress, caught by candid camera on visit to the grounds of the New York World's Fair 1939.

Thrills Aplenty for Women At New York Fair, 1939

NEW YORK (Special).—The thrill capital for women next year will be the New York World's Fair. Designers, merchants, manufacturers, artists, governments—all "the authorities"—have seen to that. And yet, uniquely enough, there will be no "woman's building" at the $150,000,000 exposition. Fair officials at the outset decided against such "segregation." Grover A. Whalen, president of the Fair Corporation, said that "a woman's building at a modern-day exposition would not be in tune with the progress of woman-kind."

Now, in this last year of construction, it is already obvious that woman is going to have her due at the New York fair. Those fortunate enough to attend are going to know thrills that will live with them always. The following presents only a pot-shot at all there will be to interest and delight women in the 1216 1/2 acres of fair grounds. It is one observer's idea of what to see where.

House of Jewels—a $5,000,000 display, by gem mining concerns and leading jewelers, showing stones in the rough, precious gems in finest settings, famous gems and perfect examples of goldsmith's and silversmith's art.

Apparel and Accessories—in their own building along Petticoat Lane—a $750,000 exhibit of all dear to woman in her costume and in furs, hats, handbags and similar wearables or gadgets.

Cosmetics Building—showing just about everything ever done since the history of beauty aides and preparations began a few thousand years ago—with accent on the cosmetics and perfumes of today and a look at those of tomorrow. (They put thousands of dollars' worth in the cornerstone alone.)

Hall of Textiles—showing how they (worms to machines) make woven fabrics—hand looms, demonstrations of needle arts, discourses on home furnishing materials—silks and woolsens here, rayons in one wing, cottons in another, 68,099 square feet, to be seen of all good public.

FAIR GUIDE

When you visit the New York World's Fair 1939 you will find fair girl guides in natty costumes ready to furnish information or even escort you around. The fair Fair guide above is a fair sample of the service the Fair will give Fair visitors.

New Model City To Be Shown at New York Fair

NEW YORK (Special).—A magic carpet ride through space two miles above "Democracy," the perfectly integrated garden city of tomorrow, will feature the central theme exhibit of the New York World's Fair which opens April 30, 1939.

The exhibit, created by Henry Dreyfuss, industrial designer, will be dramatic in form. It will reach a stirring climax when, out of the distant skies above the floating audience, will troupe marching legions of workers, symbolizing the interdependence of man in modern civilization. Nearer and nearer they will tramp, until the whole arch of heaven is filled with towering figures, arms up-raised, singing the song of tomorrow. As the final strains of this marching air die away, great streamers of colored light shoot forth from the zenith, drenching the sky from horizon to horizon in all the hues of the rainbow.

A Dramatic Show
This dramatic show will be housed in the eighteen-story Perisphere, companion structure to the 700-foot Trylon, which constitute the architectural focus of the Fair.

An entirely new method of projection, utilizing slides instead of film, will be employed to throw the moving figures on the sky. New methods of fluorescent lighting will be used.

The garden city itself will be a model—one of the largest ever built and the first to portray a full-size metropolis catering to a million people and complete in every last detail. This city of tomorrow will serve 1,000,000 people, but no one will live in it. Homes will be in suburban developments. Factories also will be located in satellite towns, and broad green belt areas will circle both city and towns.

Model City Possible

City planners, engineers, architects, landscape architects, airport specialists and other experts collaborated on the design of "Democracy," and so accurate is the model that, according to Mr. Dreyfuss, it could be given concrete reality today were sufficient funds made available. Blueprint drawings have been made not only of street layouts, harbors, airports, athletic fields and civic centers but of traffic and pedestrian over-passes, theatres, hospitals, shops, bridges, dams and apartments.

The entrance to the theme exhibit will be high up on the side of the Perisphere fifty feet above the ground. Access will be by means of the two longest moving stairways ever built in this country. Visitors will enter on two levels and step on to two magic carpets or revolving platforms placed one above the other and moving in opposite directions.

Mrs. Fred Verwee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Bracy, of Lakepointe avenue, was "Christine" Bracy before her marriage November 26, at the Salem Lutheran church. Mr. Verwee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Verwee, of French road.

Epiphany Episcopal Church

The Christmas festival at Epiphany Episcopal church, Cadillac boulevard and Kercheval avenue, will begin with a children's Christmas carol service and Christmas tree lighting on Christmas eve, at 3:30 p. m., followed at 11:30 p. m. by the Midnight Christmas festival with Holy Communion and special Christmas music. On Sunday, Christmas Day, there will be Holy Communion at 8 o'clock, and at 11 o'clock morning prayer and sermon by the Rector, Rev. Gordon Matthews. Christmas music will be sung at this service. The choir is under the direction of Mr. Benjamin Laughton.

CHRISTMAS MORNING ECSTASY

"Hello, Santa? Sorry I'm so late but Christmas is just around the corner and I'd like to place my order. Bring me a doll, a teddy bear, a tricycle, a toy piano, a bag of candy, a new dress and a... What's that Santa? Have I been a good girl? Of course I have! Er... that is, I hope I have."

"Look at that doll! Santa WAS here last night, wasn't he, mummy? Guess I must have been an awfully good girl to deserve a doll like this! Brown eyes, real hair, a pretty dress... n everything!"

"What's this? Another doll! Kind of hard to get it out. Wonder what else is in this big stocking... maybe it's the candy I ordered from Santa Claus."

"Whee-e! Some tricycle Santa left me. There's so much to play with that I hardly know where to start. Wouldn't it be nice if Christmas came every day? But maybe that would be too much work for Santa Claus, and, after all, maybe I'd get kind of tired, too."

"Here it is bedtime already. I've had a busy day but I'm really not tired. Better go to bed, though, 'cause mummy says I should... and I really ought to be a good girl after this wonderful Christmas. Thanks a lot, Santa Claus!"

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Sharp left Saturday with their children, Tom and Jane, for San Antonio, where Jane will be married to Lieut. Birdsey Learman, of Randolph Field, on Christmas Eve.

Childlikeness

JESUS said (Mark 10:14), "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God." The great Teacher knew the loveliness and purity of the child thought. How the unquestioning innocence of a child must have appealed to him who constantly faced the unbelief and distrust of a world ready to destroy him! He understood children, and they came to him as naturally as flowers turn to the light...

One may think that when he attains a certain age he will no longer express childlikeness; but this is not so, for childlikeness is the purity and innocency of thought which is unattained by the beliefs of the world. According to modern dictionary "childlike suggests those qualities of childhood which are worthy of respect or emulation;" while "childish" indicates "its less pleasing and admirable characteristics."

Paul said (I Corinthians 13:11), "When I was a child, I spoke as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child; but when I became a man, I put away childish things..."

In "Miscellaneous Writings" Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 110): "Beloved children, the world has need of you, and more so children than men and women; it needs your innocence, unselfishness, faithful affection, uncomminuted living..."

It is not probable that Jesus, in dealing with the self-assurance of the doctors of the law, the phariseism of the priests and rabbis, the continual unbelief of the carnal mind, felt relief when there appeared before him the sweet, spring, whole-some purity of the child thought...

County Building

By GEO. W. CRELLIN The Wayne County building stands today as one among the many Temples of Democracy in this country today. Within its portals there work side by side in fellowship and amity, Gentle and Jew, white man and black, Republican and Democrat, all proud and strong in the knowledge that only in this great bulwark of democracy, these United States of America, is it possible for men of differing creeds, colors and political ideas to mingle in happy friendship far from the hell-fanned fires of bigotry and intolerance.

Thus it is in this structure that houses a part of our democratic form of government as it is elsewhere in America, that men of ability and worth regardless of creed, color or politics, work as the public servants, protecting the public welfare.

With the ravaging fire of anti-Semitism scouring the countries of Europe, doubly encouraging is the picture here, the fine example we see of Jew and Gentile working hand in hand to make glorious a Christian holy day.

In the county building those of Jewish faith set fine example for their Gentile brethren in the whole-hearted way in which they lend tireless effort to help make Christmas a happy day for everyone...

Sam Leve, head of the county's bureau of investigation, annually supervises the filling and distributing of several hundred Christmas baskets to the needy... Max Goodman and Max Smith, both of the auditors' office, annually spend a great deal in Christmas cheer for unfortunates referred to them by their friends...

Smith, who enjoys the liking and respect of all who know him.

The dream of all bowlers came true for Bill Jordan the other night... Bill rolled a perfect score... 300 for one game and 233 and 234 for two other games... Bill is one of the best bowlers in the county building...

Federal judges from the District of Columbia have been here in Wayne County for the past few days studying the "pre-trial" Court and the Friend of the Court systems...

Harold E. Stell, register of deeds, was the principal speaker at the Ohio Register of Deeds Convention held recently at Columbus, Ohio. Harold is the president of the Michigan Register of Deeds Association.

Defer School Notes

The entire teaching staff of the Defer school as well as the office clerk aided in dressing three dozen Goodfellow dolls. Girls from the eighth grade also helped with some of the mothers.

In addition to the dolls the Toy Shop which has been conducted every Thursday morning under the direction of Mrs. Harold Chandler turned in some forty toys which will be distributed to the Sigma Gamma Home.

The Sigma Gamma has asked that we supply them toys of every type since they have children from tiny babies through adolescent and are always in need of new toys. Should anyone in the community be interested in this project, the next class will convene on Thursday morning, January 5, at 9:30 in Room 313 of Defer school.

High School Band Development Traced by Board President

(High School Journalism Student) Charles A. Parcels, president of the Board of Education traced the development of the band in Grosse Pointe schools in his short address to the audience of the first annual Christmas concert given by the recently organized Grosse Pointe High School band.

"The co-operation of students, faculty, parents, board of education, in the organization of the band is one of the finest instances of co-operation in the history of the Grosse Pointe school system," Mr. Parcels said.

"I wish to express the appreciation of the board to everyone who has taken part in fostering this band," Mr. Parcels declared. "I wish to thank the parents for providing the instruments for students and for standing the noise that comes with individual practices at home. The Board of Education has provided the necessary larger band instruments and these instruments will be used by the band for semester after semester. The students of the high school have done an excellent job of providing the band with such fine uniforms. This purchase by the students was appreciated by the Board of Education tremendously," he explained.

The band played every type of musical arrangement from marches to religious pieces with very excellent results. It is indeed a band that everyone felt proud of after the concert.

The twirling routine proved to be the highlight of the evening with Hubert Strem, drum major, directing. Marion Bishop and Richard Hunter, twirling baton majors went through a twirling routine. Bob Roberts, the boy who has instructed the twirling majors, thrilled the audience with his twirling exhibition using two batons at the same time.

Some of the more popular pieces acclaimed by the audience with a loud round of applause were: the two famous waltzes, "Merry Men Selection," "Indian Intermezzo," which was played so well that one could almost see Chief Clear Cloud leading his tribe in dance on the stage. The closing number was "Silent Night," with Mary MacBeth joining the band in singing the solo.

executive committee. This committee meets monthly and carefully analyzes all expenditures. The welfare work is conducted by experienced social workers of the Neighborhood Club of Grosse Pointe, which acts as a clearing house for the prevention of duplication of aid. After a thorough investigation the cases are turned over to the proper authorities. Because of the pride and interest of the members of the Club more than common care is used in the expenditure of the money, so that the greatest amount of good is accomplished with the funds available.

Although a few Christmas baskets are given out the Club does not wish to carry on an extensive basket program. They consider it more advisable to continue a welfare program throughout the year and render immediate relief to those families in distressed circumstances. During the summer months approximately 100 children are sent to camp.

The membership of the Lions Club is made up of business, executive and professional members of the various municipalities in the Township. None of the money collected is used for expenses or operation of the Club. The entire amount of the returns is used entirely for relief work.

Nelson Korte, chairman of the Goodfellow drive) says that "All those who wish to give further money for this worthy cause may address their checks to the secretary of the Lions Club."

Elizabeth Parcells arrived from the Connecticut College for Women for the holidays. Her fiance, Charles Arms, will arrive in town tomorrow to spend a few days with Miss Parcells. He is coming from Hibbing, Minn. Though he will spend the holiday itself with his parents in Youngstown, O., he will be back in the Pointe right after Christmas to spend the remainder of the holiday season with Miss Parcells.

Did you know that Mr. and Mrs. Walter O. Briggs and their son, Spike, are now in New York on a vacation? They are registered at the Ambassador Hotel.

Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Baumgarten and their children left their home on Pemberton road Thursday for a three weeks' vacation in Hollywood, Fla.

Mrs. John Dyar will spend the Christmas season in Arizona. She left for the West sometime around the middle part of last week.

Two lovely parties were given last week. One was a dinner party given by Mrs. Augustin Nutter; the other a tea given on Washington road by Miss Frances Sibley.

Tommy Heenan celebrated his seventeenth birthday last week. Fourteen of his classmates at the D. U. S. were on hand to help him celebrate.

Lucille Barker, of Lakepointe, is busy these days selling tickets and such for the tea-dance to be given by her sorority, T. O. P., the day after Christmas at the Book Casino, in the Book-Cadillac. It looks as though everybody who is anybody is going, at

Christmas Wreath 'King' Started as Shoemaker

WINSLOW MILLS, MAINE.—Thrown out of work when a shoe factory closed last year, Mervin Flanders came back to his home town and set himself up as the leader of Maine's Christmas decoration business. Flanders' success story started with a ball of string, some barrel hoops, some spruce boughs and a little ambition. Now he's perfected a gadget that speeds up the wreath-making process by ten times. Shoemaking, he says, can't compare to the wreath business.

CHRISTMAS FIRE HAZARDS Lighted Christmas candles in the window look nice but they may ignite the curtains. Fire experts warn that extreme care must be observed in using candles and other Yuletide illumination.

Passenger Pigeons Numerous

Passenger pigeons roamed all America when white men first came here, says the Washington Post. The Indians killed the birds, but only full-grown ones. So fat were the pigeons the Indians melted them down, used them as lard and butter. The birds flew in huge flocks of as many as a billion. Their roosts in Kentucky and Indiana were often 40 miles wide and 3 miles long. They sometimes made 100 nests in a tree.

Colorado Town Revives Ritual Of Log Burning

PALMER LAKE, COLO.—Residents of this high-perched town on the great Divide celebrate their modern Christmas in an old-fashioned way, by burning the traditional yule log.

Each year the log is secretly cut, notched and tied with hempen cord, hidden among the trees and rocks awaiting the finder to whom goes the honor of dragging it into town.

Last year for the first time Palmer Lake burned its yule log in the town hall, where local firemen built a huge stone fireplace wide enough to accommodate a four-foot log. Previously the celebration was held in a private home where fewer guests could be accommodated.

The hunt for the yule log starts at 1 p. m., when all participants are summoned by a bugle to meet in front of the hall.

The yule log has a colorful history. In Scandinavia, where Thor, the god of thunder, was worshipped, great log fires were built along the rocky shores both at mid-summer and mid-winter in order to propitiate him for his rumbling wrath.

When the early fathers substituted the feast of the Nativity for that of Mithra, the Persian sun god who was worshipped on December 25 in early Rome, a different note crept in. Yuletide became a time for feasts to cease.

In England, before the Reformation, bringing in the yule log was an important part of the Christmas festivities. The community usually gathered in the hall of the lord of the manor, where the log was kindled with due ceremony and all partook in the wassail cup, a sweet cider flavored with fruits and spices.

Rare Paintings During the washing of a ceiling on the grand staircase of an old palace in Bialystock, Poland, two rare frescoes attributed to Maris Sylvester, son of a Scottish Jacobite exile, were discovered. The painter's father, also Maris Sylvester, fled from England with James II and settled in Bialystock, where his tomb, carved with a bunch of thistles, still stands.

"Houses of White Men" The word "carioca" comes from the Brazilian Indian language and originally signified "houses of white men." It was applied by the aborigines to the huts of the French invaders who occupied the harbor of Rio de Janeiro in 1555. Nowadays it means a person born in Rio, or anything typical of that city.

Champion of Economy Named Deputy Auditor

The well known team of Brown and Hartman will step into double harness again on January 2 when Gus T. Hartman assumes the job of deputy auditor general of Michigan alongside Vernon J. Brown, auditor general elect, who Wednesday announced the selection of his former house colleague as chief aid and assistant. The combination of Brown and Hartman is not unknown in state affairs. Both are veteran members of the house of representatives. Their names were associated much during the 1933 session of the legislature when they jointly introduced on the opening day of the session more than a hundred bills, all aimed at reducing state expense, and the cost of administering government, both state and local.

Mr. Hartman, who hails from Houghton, served as deputy auditor general under John J. O'Hara during 1935 and 1936. Previously he had served in the 1925, 1927, 1929, 1931 and 1933 legislatures. He is a Cleary college graduate and previous to his legislative experience, was engaged in the railroad business, resigning as assistant superintendent in 1913 to enter the real estate business. He has served as supervisor and as mayor of his home city.

When Representative Brown began his crusade against waste and extravagance in state affairs back in 1932, Gus T. Hartman was chairman of the house committee on ways and means, he also having won a reputation as an advocate of economy in public matters. Browns crusade culminated in the creation of a special commission of inquiry into state governmental expense. One senator and two house members were appointed by Governor Wilbur M. Brucker; three senators and three house members were selected by the lieutenant governor and the speaker respectively. This commission of nine worked through the summer of 1932 but before its work had been completed the political landslide of that year had swept out of office all of the nine except Brown and Hartman. Then it was that more than 100 economy measures drafted as the result of the work of the commission were presented to the 1933 legislature, then overwhelmingly democratic. They bore the names of Hartman and Brown as joint introducers. How this team can work in harness is best demonstrated when it is recalled that more than 85 of the bills actually became law, enabling the legislature to clip nearly $10,000,000 from the general items of the state budget.

In commenting upon his choice of deputy, the incoming auditor general said, "I have promised drastic reductions in the cost of operating my own department and close auditing of every item which goes through that department for payment. In addition to this I expect to institute a greatly improved system of accounting and expect to give much attention to my duties as a member of the state administrative board and the board of sales tax administration. Obviously I must have a deputy on whom I can depend and one familiar with the details of the department. In my opinion no man in Michigan, available for appointment, fills these requirements so closely as Gus T. Hartman. We have worked together before. We know each other well and hold each other mutually in high regard. The people of Michigan may expect a smooth running department, tuned to efficient operation and prompt service to the public."

Statutes Available for 1938 Extra Session

Few people realize the extent to which the state of Michigan is in the business of publishing books. In the execution of his duties as provided by law, the Secretary of State is the Capitol's chief publisher of books, pamphlets and other public records. The publication of the Michigan Manual and the Public Acts of each session of the legislature, is a matter of routine for the Department of State and has been for years. Because of this the immensity of the project escapes the public notice.

Every two years the Department publishes 15,000 copies of the Michigan Manual, or "Red Book", which has been a familiar symbol of state records for many years. Also after each session of the legislature, bond volumes of the Acts passed and signed by the Governor are published. The number of books published is usually about 13,500. These Public Acts, as well as the Michigan Manual, are distributed to thousands of public officials without cost as provided in the distribution act.

The most recent publication of the Department is that of the extra session of this year or properly called the Public Acts of 1938. This is a small paper bound volume of 30 pages recording the 9 acts passed by the last legislature.

The cost of this most recent publication is forty cents per copy.

Early Mailing Helps Postman Avoid Problem of Yule Rush

Public Always Waits Until Last Minute Despite Tearful Pleas

If Christmas mailers didn't wait until the last minute with their cards and packages, post office officials predict the annual Yule rush would be minimized immensely. But despite tearful pleas each December, the bulk of holiday mail falls into post offices, less than seven days before Christmas. What the public really fears, say officials, is that their gifts will be delivered too soon before Christmas. As a result all too many gifts don't arrive until after Christmas! "Mail today," is the plea of the heavily burdened postmen below.

A REAL CHRISTMAS

By Vera Ashton

"Oh, lookit, lookit, Jimmie. Doesn't it look like a real baby? Just imagine it's for me!" And little Sally's face was radiant with the imagined joy.

"Ah, that's nothin' but a doll! You girls!" and Johnnie's nose turned up with disgust. "If you're lookin', just lookit that!" and he pointed to a scooter that leaned proudly against the wall in the show window. "That's what Santa Claus has picked out for me," and Johnnie's eyes shone.

A well-dressed man standing near them heard the words, and looked curiously at the ragged children. As he saw his wife approaching, the children started on, but not before he heard the boy say to his sister, "It's no use 'magining anything this year. Aunt Meg doesn't even have a chimbley for Santa to crawl down, and he probably doesn't even know that daddy and mother aren't here any more," and his brave little lip quivered.

The man turned to his wife, who had just reached him. "Madge, look at that window."

But her voice was shrill with a hysterical grief, as she exclaimed: "Oh, Phil, I can't look at those toys. You know I can't. When little Elsie is dead, and we have no one to make Christmas for."

"But Madge, that is what I mean. We have someone to make a Christmas for. See those kids there, just going round the corner? They are the Mayne children, whose father and mother were killed in that factory fire last month. They're living with their aunt, who already has four children of her own, and her husband is only working part time since the fire." He said no more but watched his wife anxiously.

Her look of grief turned slowly to one of questioning and then pleasure.

"We'll do it!" she exclaimed in glad tones.

"I heard them tell each other what they wanted," Phil said joyously.

So on Christmas morning Sally and Johnnie were surprised to have an auto drive up in front of their Aunt Meg's house, and have a fine big man ask them to go home with him to dinner. And there, when they had taken off their coats and hats, they found a lovely Christmas tree with a beautiful doll and a perfectly grand scooter, and a new suit for Johnnie and a dress for Sally which made her dress sparkle with joy.

"We don't want you to go home," Mrs. Vigers said when the children began to talk about having to go, after the dinner of turkey and cranberry sauce and all the fixings. "We want you to stay, don't we Phil?"

"Indeed we do, for we need a little boy and girl in our house," Phil Vigers replied, with a happy smile on his face. And he added, under his breath, as he gave his wife a mighty hug, "This is a real Christmas, Madge. I'm glad that there was plenty of room at this inn."

Survey Shows Transfer of 141 Pupils to Pointe

By BARBARA COWE (High School Journalism Student)

As a result of a recent survey, Mr. Charles E. Leavitt, assistant principal of Grosse Pointe High school, discloses the fact that there were 141 pupils transferred to Grosse Pointe from 69 schools spread over 15 American states and Canada.

The new students come from as far east as Massachusetts, and as far west as California. The southern states are represented by newcomers from Georgia and Florida. Seven New York students from the eastern state form the largest delegation of out-of-state pupils. Other eastern state students hail from Pennsylvania and Maryland.

The middle west states are represented by newcomers from Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, South Dakota, Missouri, and Wisconsin. The totals show 41 out-of-state students and 100 students from Michigan schools.

These new students come from various types of institutions, including 57 public schools, nine parochial schools, and nine private schools, a total of 69 different schools and two tutors.

Mr. Leavitt made the survey by half grade enrollment from grades nine through post graduate. It revealed that the first half semester B grades showed a considerably larger number of transfers than the second semester A grades.

Girls' Gym Classes Answer Questions

A questionnaire designed to reveal the characteristics of the average 16-year-old girl was answered by all the girls in the senior high school gym classes recently.

Miss Florence Davies, woman's editor of the Detroit News, has sent these questionnaires to all Detroit schools in an effort to obtain a composite picture of "Sweet Sixteen," which will be printed in the News in February.

The questionnaire included queries about careers, amusements, dates, beaux, grooming, cooking, music, reading, and a variety of other points making a total of 28.

Three Members of Grosse Pointe School Board to Be Married

Three members of the Grosse Pointe High School faculty, Miss Helen Henrickson, Mr. Donald Horton, and Mr. Charles Peterson, will be married during Christmas vacation.

Miss Henrickson will be married to Mr. Horton on December 27. The wedding ceremony will be performed in Christ Church Chapel by Reverend James M. Horton, father of the groom. The bridal party will include Miss Dorothy Hosteler as a maid of honor, Mr. Harvey Christianson, best man, and Mr. Paul Junge as one of the ushers. The reception will be in Redford.

Mr. Peterson and Miss Catherine L. Adams of Syracuse, New York, will be married in Syracuse on December 23. The following day they will sail for Bermuda on their honeymoon. On their return, they will live in Grosse Pointe.

A BEAUTY CHAT WITH DONNA WILLIAMS

CONCENTRA, as the name implies, a highly concentrated, dehydrated vegetable root and fruit compound. This is in capsule form and contains rhubarb, soya bean meal, Irish sea moss, gravel root, and dehydrated cranberries.

There are sixteen major elements in the body which must be furnished to the body through foods. If there is an over-supply or a deficiency of these elements in the body, then that body is abnormal.

The rhubarb aids the elimination of poisons from the body. The rhubarb used in CONCENTRA is the very highest grade of the Chinese variety. The soya bean meal is the food substance containing a powerful ferment oil which is an excellent diabetic food. The Irish sea moss furnishes iron and iodine. Most vegetables do not contain a sufficient amount of iron and iodine. The gravel root is a cleaner for our kidneys, thereby eliminating poisons accumulated in the kidneys, just as the rhubarb does for the alimentary tract. The Dehydrated Cranberries is a table item whose value is familiar in every household.

As long as we have to eat why not eat the correct way? Whether the food is raw, cooked or concentrated, shouldn't make any difference, if we satisfy our body's need.

Mrs. R. L. Shugg, of Berkley road, is now busy entertaining her daughter, Jane, who arrived in the Pointe Saturday from Wellesley. Her son, Dick, will not be home for the holidays until tomorrow from Mrgan Park Military Academy in Chicago.
