Dear Mr. Oldham,

On the way home, we shall travel by any route that circumnavigates Chicago. The place is so befuddled with snow, fog, wind, gasoline odors and police whistles, that it's amazing anyone would choose to live there. We stopped at one of the best hotels and falling at the arches. Our mattress and pillow were stuffed with old dancing pumps and the crockery, on which our breakfast was served, was positively pre-historic.

As for California, We've had two surprises so far-the weather and the hospitality. We've always heard that they belonged exclusively to the South, but they don't. We begin to understand why people "go Hollywood" out here. You feel "different" as soon as you get off the train, which, by the way, is always a few yards late. This place isn't like New York, Detroit, Palm Beach or Siam. At the hotel we have a room with a view and the manager tells us that it overlooks the Pacific. We can't SEE the Pacific, but he assures us that it is somewhere about. We do have a string of mountains however, that look like stage scenery sprinkled with powdered

They certainly know how to make you feel like the Queen of the May at this hotel. A prominent female stable owner arrived the other day and the preparations for her arrival were reminiscent of the Coronation. We got a peek into her suite, which was so bcdecked with flowers and fruit that it looked like a Debutante's reception. We discovered they were all gifts from the management. Two managers and a limousine, or maybe it was two limousines and a manager, met her at the airport and escorted her back to the hotel in 'sirenic' style. A group of flunkies fluttered about outside her rooms, probably waiting for tips of one kind or another. The 'piece-de resistence' came from a local restaurant, that sent a box of sugar-addressed to one of her horses. The enclosed card read, "May this always keep your nose out front and don't forget to tell your mistress that we have the best be parked opposite each other on a food in Pasadena.'

The Pasadena social set is very tweedy and decidedly horsey. We barged in on a cocktail party the other day and found the guests 'neighing' all over the place. Everyone knows someone who gives them swell tips on the horses, from the trainers down to the hot-dog butchers. We heard the words jockey, half-mile, work-out, ten to one shot, flanks, withers, colors, stables, clockers and parleys, until we were so mixed up we couldn't have told a snaffle from a gelding. We finally gave one big whinney and left the place to put on the feed bag.

Our first venture was a trip to Santa Anita, supposedly the most beautiful Traffic Ordinance prohibiting overrace track in the Country. (We still night parking and he requests all resithink Hialeah is tops.) We wore a dents to comply with the law in this hair), which we bought from Lilly penalties. Dache, the mad hatter. A friend of ours told us we had his 'hat-felt' sympathy if we appeared in public under it-but men and their ideas about women's hats never mixed well any-(Continued on Page Two)

Grosse Exaggerations? Residents Warned of Parking Ordinance in Grosse Pointe City

The heavy snow and biting wind which descended upon the Grosse Pointe communities Monday almost succeeded in tieing up traffic and certainly made operation of automobiles found it bagging at the knees and very difficult and, in the case of those unfortunate to become lodged in a drift, temporarily impossible. Prompt action by the street or public works employees prevented a bad situation becoming worse.

In the operation of the motor snowplows which attempted to clear the streets of drifts, serious difficuly was encountered because of the number of automobiles left parked overnight in the streets. In many instances these cars had been left out on public thoroughfares although the owner has access to a garage or at least a driveway in his yard. On narrow streets on some occasions two or more cars were so parked so as to leave but verv little street space between them and even under ordinary conditions passage of traffic would be restricted. Under the hazards imposed by the increasing fall of snow it was almost impossible to get through with a car and in the case of larger units such as fuel trucks, school busses and other vehicles it was impossible to proceed.

It should be evident that the careless and unlawful street parking of automobiles thus creates a very dangerous situation. It would have been utterly impossible for the fire trucks to go through some of the congested places caused by the all-night parking of cars with subsequent drifting of a large bank of snow near it and when careless motorists allowed two such cars to

The Whole World Topsy-Turvy to Him

Frank Balek, 12, Chicago youth, sees everything upside-down. He originated his own method of writing by beginning at the bottom, in the lower right hand corner, and writing from left to right. Not only does he read and write in this manner, but objects are also visually upsidedown. He is in the fifth grade, and averages 85 in his studies, which indicates that his visual defection does not impede his educational progress.

Stuart Chase to Speak Feb. 8, at Town Hall

Stuart Chase, noted American writer and commentator, will speak on "The Tyranny of Words" before the Detroit Town Hall in the Fisher Theatre next Wednesday morning, February 8, at 11 o'clock.

Do any two people, he asks, refer to the same thing when they use such works as democracy, fascism, individualism, idealism, free will? Today's discussions of wars, morals, laws, polities. economics, budget - balancing, leave people bitter and irresolute, struggling to understand the words that fill the air. Often all they hear is just a loud noise. Mr. Chase will describe a new technique called semantics which distinguishes between loud noises and real meaning. He claims it has helped him as lecturer, writer, reader, listener, and that it has helped him think straight.

Mr. Chase has a following of millions through his widely read books and his popularity as a lecturer. Among his books are "Men and Machines," "The Tragedy of Waste," "Mexico: A Study of Two Americas," "The Economy of Abundance," "Rich Land, Poor Land," and "The Tyranny of Words." He collaborated with F. I. Schlink to write the first "consumer" book, "Your Money's Worth," and was the first president of Consumer's Research.

Tickets are on sale at Grinnell's Music Store.

TRIP YOU

Stringing extension cords along the floor, under rugs, or through the air to reach a distant outlet is a makeshift arrangement at best. Such cords are unsightly and in the way, and very easy to trip over. Why not solve the problem by installing one or two additional outlets? Convenience outlets repay their cost many times over. They are such a great help that there's no reason why you should try to get along with fewer than you need. We do not install outlets, but any electrical contractor will be glad to do this work and give you an estimate in advance. The Detroit Edison

WOOLWORTH DANCE

Friday night, February 3, there will be another Woolworth Dance at the Neighborhood Club, 17145 Waterloo. You dance to the latest numbers and the best orchestras in the country by means of the Nickelodian. Come on you don't dance yourself.

GIRL GUARDS

The Girl Guards are having a membership driye, and will be very happy to welcome any girls between the ages of 14 and 16, who are interested in an all-around program, including hiking, camping, first aid, and social activities. The group is, at this time, making aprons in anticipation of the opening of their gift shop. If you are interested in joining, come to the Club on Wednesday night at 7 o'clock or contact the following officers: President, Beatrice Giecke; secretary, Elizabeth DeWolf; treasurer, Dorothy Lee.

CADETTES

Cadettes planned for their social of the month a tobogganing party at the Park after which they will indulge in Rita Fluarys famouh Italian Spaghetti.

ICE FROLIC

A great number of skaters but very few participants resulted in a rather dull skating meeting at the Neighborhood Club last Saturday afternoon. However, the outstanding race was the 10-11 year old class in which Carl Giecke came in well ahead of his two W opponents. Carl really is an outstand- Es ing skater and we think he's going Sai places. Harold Wahbrun placed second. In the 8-9 year old class, Bob White came in first and Billie Simon and Bucky Saylor tied for second place. In the 12-13 year old class Bob Dougherty did some nice skating, followed in by Bob Wing. . The only race entered by the girls was the 12-13 year old class. Rachel DeClercq placed first and Dolores Sillman, second.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Captain Billie Allard, forward, of the Neighborhood Club Girls' Basketbail team score 25 points last Thursday night to lead Neighborhood Club to a 43-11 victory over Tau Beta, from Hamtramck. The feature of the game was the new roving guard play in which the guard after passing the ball to the forwards may then follow the ball into the forward court, thereby becoming a forward with the possibility of shooting baskets. In the second half Neighborhood pulled away from Tau Beta and ran the score up ot 43-11 Carr, Margaret Reno, Henrietta Ker-O'Connor and Norma Feldeman did threat on the floor. splendid work under their opponents'

With the first half of the Club league already history, three teams managed to qualify for the playoff, to be held in the latter part of March. The playoffs will be a two-game knockout affair and any team finishing with a .500 average, either in the first half or the second half automatically qualifies for the playoff series. With the Indians, X-V Blue Devils and Rangers (teams that qualified in first half) out to stop the three cellar position teams, it looks like a very in- 📳 eresting second half is assured the spectators.

The Indians, only undefeated team in the league, remained the undisputed leaders of the league by smothering the highly regarded X-V's by the wide margin of 33-14. Led by the sharpshooting of Bob Allor, colorful forward of the Indians, the ex-St. Paul basketeers took a 10-4 advantage at the quarter and were never headed. The Rangers, defending champs, showed a much improved team since its last encounter, in taking the measure of the smaller Saints aggregation by the score of 43-23. Displaying a lot of team play and a fast break, with Maul and Bill Harms on the shooting end the Rangers took an early lead and then coasted in to victory. Cook, scrappy guard of Rangers A. C., hit the hoop for five field goals to share scoring honors with his team mate, Bill Harms, who also connected for five baskets. Clinton scored five points for the losers.

Wolverines, needing a victory to qualify for the playoffs, failed to do so by the narrow margin of two points.
