PRIMARY ELECTIONS TUESDAY, FEB. 14

Dear Mr. Oldham,

Your grossely exaggerated Hollywood correspondent, has been doing lots of gadding in spite of sneezes and sniffles due to this warm, sunny clime?

Covered the race-track Saturday which is the day when most of the movie groundhogs cast their shadows. Felinely speaking, (but don't quote me to the kiddies), many of the he-men and glamour women are not as advertised. "Movie gals ratings-are Grosse Exaggeratings." The steady-goers are Pat O'Brien, Bing Crosby, George Raft, (without a gun), Walter Connelly, Charles Butterworth, who always looks as if he were listening to an Orson Welles program, Guy Kibbee, Edmund Lowe and the Stuart Erwins. Sat next to Warner Baxter, during lunch, and "Ripley me" if he didn't haul a huge comb out of his pocket and straighten his coiffure, right in the middle of the soup course. Whoops! Saw Marie Wilson, the dumbell blonde, wearing a black pirate hat with a lace patch over one eye, Mary Carlisle, in a pair of black glasses that covered all of her face except her mouth. Sally Blane, (Loretta Young's sister), in bililardtable green from head to toe. Glimpsed Louella Parsons, the see-all-tell all gal, cashing two dollar tickets after every Someone has named Santa Anita, the suckers' paradise and rightly so. We've never seen so many race-mad people, studying forms, whispering tips and betting at the big-shot windows. There must be at least twenty dining rooms at the Turf Club and an equal number of places to wet your winning or losing whistle. The whole place is tremendous, but walking around is easy on your feet due to the soft carpet of torn fifty dollar tickets. At the end of our first day's visit, our feet hurt way up to our waist but now we're an old-timer.

As far as we can gather, the Charles Howards, (Sea-Biscuit's mama and poppa), are the most popular people at the track. Everyone follows them about as if they were healers. Usually your popularity is measured by your stable. Mrs. Howard's niece, who is married to Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt, is heirbound at the present time, but when she puts in an appearance-even the deadliest race fan glances up from his

THEATRE PARTY

The theatre party held every second and fourth Friday of the month, will again take place this Friday, February 10, at 7:30 p. m. Everybody is invited. The Playmates will again be on hand to sell ice cream.

GIRLS' PING PONG

A ping pong table has been installed in the games room at the club. Here's your chance, girls to catch up with that elusive little jigger and get in trim for these future ping pong tournaments we've been hearing about.

A. O. C.'s The A. O. C.'s are giving a dance at the Vanity Ballroom on Saturday, February 18-don't miss it! Oh! and did you know that the A. O. C.'s are boasting about something no other club in the history of the Neighborhood Club has ever been able to accomplish, and that is to have included in their membership one Eskimo and three Cubans. The Eskimo turned out to be Dorothy Fowler who went some 300 miles up into Canada and had some thrills and spills winter sporting. The three Cubans whose theme song is "We Went to Havana-On One of those Cruises" are Ethel Hoschke. Theresa Lewis, and Evelyn Bartels. They're leaving by bus for Florida this Friday and then intend to spend one whole week in Havana-uh-are we envious-are we-don't ask-just exnect to find a few dozen stowaways on that bus when it leaves next Friday night, when all the A. O. C.'s will be on hand to fling their bon voyages, au revoirs, and farewells.

The decorating committee is made up of Rachel DeClercq, Theodora Elmquist, Adele Bekeart and Helen Chavin, and Ellen Roddy, Catherine Van den Heuvel, Dorothy LeLe and Betty Van Beceleare make up the entertainment committee. This really should be a gala affair under the direction of Beatrice Gieche, the president.

WOOLWORTH DANCE

We saw last week at the Neighborhood Club Woolworth Dance, Ruby McElroy, quite a stranger in these parts, Bud Pentecoste doing a bit of apache rhumba and suave swing with Shirley Whitson. A few brother and including Jimmy and Ellen Roddy, Edward, Patsy and Bill Fitzgerald. And, of course, there was Edith Baker and Fran Habits-always on hand to do their share of work. Doris LaRue was demonstrating the latest jitter-bug steps with her partner Red Conrad and then did you see Georgette Mebus and Babe Hunt with some really fast footwork. Bud Moffet and Joe Delor were wishing the dance lasted longer -but, of course, boys, the remedy for that is to be on time. Anyway-we're hoping to se the rest of you out again Friday, February 17 - for another

Grosse Exaggerations?

(Continued from Page One) on a movie theatre that advertised, 'Sex-mad Girls-Exposed." Being a timid soul, we didn't chance either of these but continued our slumming at a colored night spot called "Paradise." A depressing place, dimly lighted by old hand-painted laundry bags. Several sailors from His Majesty's navy, were there trying to have a good time. Have you ever seen a British Jitter Bug? It's "poetic license on the hoof" variety. All in all, Los Angeles is a great disappointment. It has tourist value, but even a tourist hates being reminded that he is one.

For an uplifting chaser, we went to the Bailet Russe at the Pasadena Auditorium, and think everyone should see these marvelous dancers. In their "night-club" ballet, the chorus do a "can-can" that is more "Avenue" than 'Auditorium"-but they do it with an

Spent last week end in Beverly Hills, and was greatly impressed with its air of cleanliness and modernity. In the residential section, the wide avenues are lined with a queer species of palm tree-long and rangy looking. The houses are beautiful, mostly Spanish and West Indian architecture, with a few Colonial jobs here and there. The shopping district is extremely modern. Every store-front is glass and chrome angles, and even the meanest hot-dog stands are fraught with chromium plated futuristic designs. Radio station K. M. P. C., whose neon sign boasts "The Home of Stars," is as new as next week's newspaper.

Orange trees pop out at you in the most unexpected places and all the markets (outdoor) are open all day on Sundays.

When you leave the city and drive towards Brentwood, at every other corner is a stand where you can buy maps of the movie stars' homes or procure a personal guide to take you to them. The "gay white way" of Hollywood is called the "Strip"-which as far as we're concerned, is just a tease! Along this street you find Marcel Lamaye, the current favorite dining place of the movie crowd. The Brown Derby, where the stars lunch and Victor Hugo's, where Skinny Ennis and his orchestra are making history. You can also have an hors-deourve orgy at "Little Sweden" and hear Maxine Sullivan swing "Onward Christian Soldiers" at Cafe Lamaye. You can stop at a "car service" emporium and eat "What The Stars Eat"-as one sign reads.

Feminine trivia: You can wear your bathing suit at two P. M. and your fur coat at five. And speaking of fur coats, the trend here is mink. Plain mink, super-mink and half-breed mink -but mink! Not an up-hair-do in a carload and few if any blood-red nails. Which reminds us, don't let us forget to pack Margaret when we go on our

Lecture on Christian Science by Robert Stanley Ross, C.S.B.

Under the Auspices of Sixth Church of Christ, Scientist, in the Grosse Pointe High School Auditorium, Fisher Rd. and Grosse Pointe Blvd., Tuesday, February 7, 1939

A Lecture

Christian Science

Christian Science: Its Unlimited Possibilities

Robert Stanley Ross, C. S. B.

of New York City Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ,

Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetta

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:

My friends, would you like to know how to be well and happy? Would you like to know how to be free from fear and worry? Would you like to know how to be sure that all is well with your family, your friends, and your neighbors? More important still, would you like to know how to be kindly disposed toward all man-kind and have them kindly disposed toward you? Of course you would, even while an unspiritual point of view may be arguing that all this would be an impossible attainment outside of heaven; impossible, that is to say, prior to the change called

Divine Law Always Available

Ah! but it is not an impossible attainment. There is a way, and it is the purpose of these lectures on Christian Science to make it plain. Does mathematical law, for example, place any obstructions, either here or hereafter, in the path of those who would scale the heights of numerical achievement? Does mathematics teach that there will be anything possible in the hereafter that is not possible now? Certainly not! One need only to bring enough alertness, obedience, and application to bear in order to this to be true. The same rule holds good with reference to the demonstration of divine law, which is the law of unlimited possibilities to all who progressively respond to its sacred, its imperative demands.

In other words, Christian Science has come to show mankind that divine law is the law of health, joy, and blessedness to present human experience. It has come to show that, in view of the divine ever-presence, there is as much good available to us today as there was yester-day and as there will be tomorrow. Yea, it has come to show that, if it will be possible for us to de God's will in the future, it is possible for us to do it now. Accordingly, it can no longer be truthfully said by anyone, who is willing prayerfully to turn to divine law for help, that he is as one "having no hope, and without God in the world.' Contrary to common belief, there is no mystery about Christian Science healing. Anyone can under-stand it. The clearer one senses its unlabored simplicity, the easier it is for him to utilize its divine Principle. Through this Principle, the healing nower of God becomes available to all as certainly as it was to those Biblical characters whose lives we contemplate with admiration and reverence. Surely, "God is no respecter of persons"! He loves you and me as impartially as He loved them. The great difference between them and us is due, not to divine favoritism, but to the fact that they both recognized that God loved them and prayerfully rejoiced in it: whereas we do not. We are inclined rather to look to the future in which to utilize the law of ever-present Love; whereas they knew, in words of Paul, that "now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation.'

Spiritual Discovery

You and I are living in times of thrilling adventure and amazing discovery. We are living in what is commonly referred to as a scientific, inventive age. Knowledge of physical science, for example, is rapidly enlarging. Recognizing that whatever is valuable must first be useful, our tendency, as practicallyminded people, is to reduce everything to a workable basis. In addition to the older systems such as mathematics, astronomy, architecture, navigation, and chemistry, we now have the science of electricity, engineering, economics, physics, geology, acoustics, mineralogy, aeronautics, and so on, to mention only a few.

In view of this world-wide tendency to reduce human modes to a systematic, workable basis, should we not be prepared to welcome the very Science of Life, the Science of being, or Christian Science? Not long hence, the world at large, still judging (reasoning) according to the appearance, will wake to the fact that Mary Baker Eddy has not only founded and led a great religious movement, but that she has accomplished, in the realm of spiritual discovery, that which entitles her to pre-eminence amongst the scientifically great of all ages. She has made it possible for all who to judge righteous judgment. That is to say, she has made it pos-sible for all who will to reason in terms of reality and to heal by the spiritual power which it imparts. Columbus believed there were undiscovered lands beyond the sea Galileo believed there was a basic law governing the stellar system. Newton believed there was an invariable law which caused the apple to fall. Watt believed there was a law by which steam could be converted into motive power. Franklin believed there was a law of relationship between lightning and elec-tricity. Marconi believed there was a law by which messages could be transmitted without the use of wires And Mary Baker Eddy believed there was a divine law governing in peruniverse including individual, im-personal, spiritual man. She believed that, if invoked in meekness and love, this divine law would bring about health, happiness, peace, and a more abundant life in present human experience. All these discoverers searched and found, after which they no longer believed;

they knew,

· Unlike all others, however, Mrs. Eddy's discovery transcended the realm of sight and sound. It lifted her consciousness above the dream of time into eternity, and beyond the sense of space into infinity. She learned that the divine Principle, starting point, or working basis of Christian healing was the absolute truth about God, man, and the universe, namely, infinite good or present spiritual perfection. She saw that what the Bible refers to as creation having taken place in seven days, was simply the author's highly figurative, typically Oriental way of saying that self-existent Truth or divine reality dawns upon individual human consciousness-sometimes slow, sometimes fast-in seven periods of spiritual unfoldment, the seventh day symbolizing ascension, or consciousness rising entirely above matter or material belief, into the allness and everywhereness of Writing on page 520 of the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," Mrs. Eddy says, "The numerals of infinity, called seven days, can never be reckoned according to the cal-endar of time. These days will appear as mortality disappears, and hey will reveal eternity, newness of Life, in which all sense of error forever disappears and thought accepts the divine infinite calculus."

Revelation, Not Creation

Creation, then, is really revelation. It is the progressive dawning of the light of ever-present good upon your consciousness and mine until the mental darkness disappears entirely, even as material darkness recedes and finally disappears before the light of day. The veil, be it understood, is no on God; it seems to be on us. It is a symbol of human ignorance, "which vail is done away in Christ," Truth. In other words, when self-existent Truth, infinite Spirit, or divine Mind, fully dawns upon so-called human consciousness, all ignorance, material belief, or error is dispelled or "done away." Then one becomes aware of a universe in which fear, selfishness, and competition, envy, hatred, and jealousy, war, bloodshed, and death are unknown; a universe created and governed in perfect harmony and impartiality by divine Principle,

To illustrate: Some time ago, a mother was startled by the terrified cries of her little daughter. She hurried downstairs and learned that the child had opened a door leading to the darkened living room, had looked in, and believed she had seen things that frightened her. The mother calmly entered the room, drew back the curtains, and rolled up the shades, flooding the room with the early morning light. Looking about, she saw that she was alone; that all the furniture was in its place; and that the room in every other respect presented its usual harmonious aspects. She then called the little girl. The child tiptoed to the door, cautiously looked in, and recognized that her fears were groundless. Soon she was un-disturbed and happily at play.

Now, is not the attitude of all mankind similar to that of the little girl? Are they not believing fearfully that they are living in a discordant material world and are the more or less helpless victims of fear and worry, sickness and temptation, discouragement and failure, disaster and death? But, thanks to the enlightenment which Christian Science imparts, we are learning that it is all a mistake. We are learning that our suffering has been due wholly to a finite sense of the infinite. The Scripture puts it in the following words: "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge. Instead of admitting that we are afraid of this, that, and the other thing, we can now truthfully say: "Thank God, I am not afraid. I know that all that is real is spiritual, harmless, and good. I know that all is well."

No doubt everyone in this audience will admit that only the pos-sible has ever been accomplished, and that whatever has been accomplished once can be accomplished again. The sole condition is the knowing how. Christian Science declares that, because the teaching and practice of Jesus were in full accord with divine law, there must a Science of Christianity or Christian Science; there must be a way, by following which, others can what Jesus did. Referring to the universal, eternal nature of his teaching, Jesus said, "My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me. If any man will do his will he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of

"But," someone may be asking, "how can we be sure that Christians Science is in accord with the teaching and practice of Jesus?" To this question Christian Science replies that the truth taught by Jesus is demonstrable. It is as capable of healing today as it was then. Jesus. be it understood, did not use drugs, surgery, diet, nor other material means, nor did he recommend them to others. Nevertheless, he healed by a process that was evidently unfailing. All sorts of diseases yielded quickly to his method of treatment. Even those who were born blind, deaf, dumb, and physically deformed, found themselves restored to a normal state as the result of his loving influence. Moreover, he declared that this evidence of healing power was the sign by true followers would always be known. Although Christian Scientists are not so presumptuous as to believe that they have reached the exalted spiritual status of Jesus, they are compelled, nevertheless, according to the Master's own words, to admit that it is possible through meek-ness, obedience, and love. If it were not possible, why did Jesus declare that we must do the works that he did and, in time to come, "greater works"? Was the most loving of men so unloving as to issue a commandment that could not be obeyed? Here, then, is the yardstick-spiritual healing—with mine whether Christian Science corresponds with the Christianity of Jesus. Then the question naturally "How did Jesus heal the sick?" Some may answer that it would not explain how his immediate followers and the early Christians for at least two and a half centuries successfully invoked this healing power. Were they also di-vine? Our great teacher never claimed that the son of Mary was the ideal man. None other than the incorporeal, inorganic, spiritual idea is the "only begotten Son of God," the only type of man whom Spirit creates. It was the Master's mission to reveal God's image and likeness. In order to make plain his position, Jesus referred to himself as "a man that bath told you the truth, which I have heard of God." Therefore, in order to be accounted true, Christian teaching must be demonstrable. If unable to endure this test, one's religious beliefs are obviously in conflict with Truth. To say that there is no Science of Christianity is the same as saying that Christianity is a false teaching. But Christian Science declares that, because Jesus' healings were clearly in accord with divine law, similar results will follow whenever others are willing, like the Master, to conform their lives to the requirements of that law. It is highly important, therefore, that mankind should acquaint themselves with this law of infinite Spirit, learn how to apply it, and prove its efficacy in their own and others'

Perfect God, Perfect Man

Obviously, that which is the effect of Spirit or divine Mind must be spiritual and not material. It must more undimensional, imponderable, and unconfined than light, sound, and radio waves. It cannot be seen, measured, nor weighed. It recognizes no barriers. It is unlimited. For these reasons, spiritual existence is immune to sin, disease, and death. It is beyond the reach of accidents. Nothing has ever happened to it, and nothing ever will, On the other hand, that which is unlike Spirit, namely, mortality, is untrue. Its experiences are sense illusions. It must therefore be relegated to the realm of unreality. Is not this pure monotheism? Is not this in keeping with the infinity of Spirit? Is not the aliness and oneness of divine Mind, God, the very basis of Christianity? Jesus said, "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing."

What, then, is matter, evil, or error? It is collective material-mindedness externalizing itself in a suppositional material world. Hence, the dissolution of material-mindedness, the suppositional world will disappear, even as the belief in a flat earth was dispelled by the truth that the earth is round. Did the flat earth become round? No: for the earth had always been round. Where did the flat earth go? No-where; for it never existed. The only change that took place was a change in the human point of view. Where, then, will matter, evil, or error go? Nowhere; for it does not exist. The only thing we need to understand about it is its unreality, its nothingness, its nowhereness. When Jesus recognized this fully. he disappeared as an earthly personality. He did not die out of flesh, blood, and bones, however. By consciously abiding in Spirit, he overcame entirely the belief of an existence apart from God.

During those Middle Ages, when the earth was believed to be flat, God, Truth, was supposed to be aware of the error that the earth is flat. Similarly, because mankind, as a whole, believes the universe to be material, infinite Spirit, or God, is supposed to be aware of the error that the universe and man are material. Christian Science, however, differentiates between what God knows and what mortals believe. It declares that what God knows is spiritual and real, and that what mortals believe is material and unreal. When Paul wrote that "the things which are seen are temporal. but that "the things which are not seen are eternal," he reached the inevitable conclusion; for if God is infinite Spirit, the real universe must be spiritual, and not material. Even natural scientists, such as Jeans and Eddington, Millikan and Compton, are helping to dispel the error that presupposes a material universe and a material, mortal, personal man.

Worshiping God as infinite Spirit or Mind, and tenderly looking upon the true selfhood of all as spiritual instead of material, immaterializes the human mind and empowers one to heal by spiritual means. This was the basis of the Master's uniformly successful practice. Referring to this method on pages 476 and 477 of Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy writes: "Jesus beheld in Science the where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick. Thus Jesus taught that the kingdom of God is intact, universal, and that man is pure and holv."

Christian Science Unique

All of which should help to make clear what I mean when I say that Christian Science is the only religious and medical system known to men that does not presume to do something with, to, or for matter. Instead of trying to make bad matter good, sick matter well, old matter young, unemployed matter employed and dead matter alive. Christian Science declares, in view of Mind's aliness and everywhereness, that man, the idea, image and likeness, or reflection of divine Mind, God, has nothing whatever to do with matter either one way or the other. It declares that man is, like God, incorporeal, inorganic, spiritual; hence, always above and beyond the reach of discord and disease, always

Now, all of us need to understand clearly that fear and worry, wrongdoing and sickness, unemmovment and want, discouragement and failure, disaster and death-all evil-are associated, not with your real self, but with a material corporeal, bodily sense of existence claiming to be you, which sense must be unreal if, as the Bible tells us, God is true and material sense s liar. Accordingly, our funda-mental need is never the getting of material health, happiness, home, friends, employment, money, and so on, but the giving up of the belief that man is either good or bad, sick or well, poor or prosperous, alive or dead, in matter or a material

In other words, the human body expresses a material or mortal be-lief; hence, the only way to deprive monly referred to as material law-of a subject, object, or victim, is to immaterialize, spiritualize, or purify so-called human consciousness. It must have been this process that preserved unharmed the Hebrew boys in the flames of the Babylonian furnace, protected Daniel in the den of lions, took Jesus unseen through the midst of the mob, and liberated Paul and Silas from prison. The moment one recognizes that man, as God's image and likeness, is not a mortal with either good or bad bodily parts, but the invisible, impersonal, impalpable idea of divine Mind, God, he will find his prayers answered and his human needs supplied, whatever they may seem to be. Truthfully, it can be said that the less we try to be well in matter, the less we shall be liable to sickness in matter. In this way, we shall begin to realize our fondest hopes. The Scripture reads, good thing will he [God] withhold from them that walk uprightly;" that is, from them that think and live above a selfish, personal, bodily sense of existence.

Allness of Spirit This practice of trying to change discordant matter into harmonious matter, when the truth is that there is no matter, hinders instead of helps those who are in need of healing. God, Spirit, Mind, made you spiritual and perfect; hence spiritual and perfect you will always be, sense testimony and human experience to the contrary notwithstanding. This unity of cause and effect, God and man, divine Principle and idea, must always be the basis of one's prayers or treatments in order to demonstrate in human experience true Christian Science healing.

Can there be infinity of Spirit and something else? Can there be alliess of good and something besides? If we accept the allness and every-whereness of Spirit, we must—in order to be logical and consistentadmit that neither the first electron of energy, nor the first atom of matter, nor the first mortal or Adamman has ever really appeared. Why, then, should there be any further mystery about human discord? Is it not due simply to the supposed denial of Truth—to the supposed denial of the allness of God? And why should there be any further mystery about heaven or harmony? Is it not simply the appearing to human consciousness of everhuman consciousness of ever-present good or present spiritual perfection?

Several months ago, for example, a young man who had been out of employment for quite a while called upon a Christian Science practitioner for help. The practitioner said: "You say that God is Spirit and that God is infinite, and yet you say that here is a young man out of employment and otherwise in distress. Isn't that the same as saying there is something else than. or in addition to, allness of Spirit? Do we not live and move and have our being in infinite Spirit, not as mortals, but as divine ideas?" He admitted that we do. "Isn't a material, bodily personality, either employed or unemployed, a belief in something besides the everywhereness of Spirit?" He admitted that

Then the practitioner asked the young man how one would have to proceed, according to the foregoing, in order to find employment. The answer, in effect, was that he would have to look upon himself as an impersonal, all-sufficient, spiritual idea, instead of an isolated material personality believing himself to be out of employment. Well, that young man left the practitioner's office and, in less than an hour, called on the telephone to say that, just as though a hand were leading him, he had gone straight to a particular place, applied for a job, and had been assigned to the type of work for which he was best fitted. He has been steadily employed ever since.

As soon as that young man was prepared to lift his thought above a supposed mortal struggling for a livelihood and to recognize his true self as an impersonal, divine idea or individual spiritual awareness. maintained and sustained in perpetual unity with divine Mind. God. his problem was solved. Unresistcasting his burdened sense upon the ocean of infinite Love, he was willing that it should carry him where it would: he was willing to leave results entirely to God's unfailing law of adjustment. The human effect was the same as if infinite Love had been aware of his finite need and had quickly sup-

Mortal Mind Unreal

Now, everyone will admit that he is never really where the nightdream says he is, and that he is not doing the things it says he is doing. Similarly, Christian Science reveals that man is never where the day-dream of material sense says he is, and that he is not doing the things it says he is doing. Dwelling forever an idea in divine Mind, man (your true self) is experiencing only infi-nite good at all times. In infinite Mind. there are no mortals, either asleep or awake, nor any mortal experiences. Therefore, what so-called mortals seem to need is not to be healed or saved from realities calling themselves sin, sickness, and death, but in the light of God's allness, to demonstrate the unreality of material sense. This is all that God requires of mankind. As a reward for our obedience, we shall find ourselves experiencing humanly an unfolding sense of health, happiness, and freedom.

According to all this, it should be clear to us that the practice of Christian Science healing is wholly spiritual. It is the effect of Truth or divine Principle upon so-called human consciousness, and not the action of one human mind upon another human mind. Christian Science has no relation to will power, mental suggestion, or hypnotism. It is infinite Mind appearing, and material, finite, personal belief disappearing. For this reason, only those who are reconciled to the living of honest, upright, unselfish lives can hope to demonstrate for themselves and others the healing and saving power of Christian Science. Since the human body is the effect of the so-called human mind, whatever spiritualizes human consciousness inevitably improves the body.

Some time ago, for example, a woman who was suffering from a malignant growth called upon a Christian Science practitioner for help. Recognizing, through spiritual insight and observation, that the sufferer was willfully inclined and the slave of a degrading habit, the practitioner enlisted the woman's enthusiastic co-operation in overcoming these errors, teaching her how effectually to say "No" to self-will and self-indulgence. Within a comparatively short time, the willful disposition gave way to kindness and the harmful habit to moral courage and strength. Soon, the malignant growth dried up and disappeared without trace. Referring to the modus operandi of spiritual healing, Paul wrote: "Be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God."

In other words, Christian Science, is a reasonable, logical, understandable explanation of Scriptural healing. Through it, the teaching of the Master becomes a demonstrable Science, and Jesus is accorded his rightful place as the most loving, the most scientific, and the most triumphant man that ever walked the earth. So consistently did Jesus think and live in obedience to the law of Truth an. Love that his practice was uniformly successful. The power to heal was always transmitted through him because his life was always in harmony with the divine source of power, which is God. According to available records he did not lose a case. Through the Bible, studied in the light which Science and Health throws upon its sacred pages, Mrs. Eddy is showing how others may follow the Master's healing example.

No Ideal Location

Now let us suppose—by way of illustration-that tomorrow morning the newspapers and radios should announce that a place had been discovered where everyone could, for and plenty. What would happen? Before nightfall, it would probably set in motion the greatest migration of mortals that the world had ever witnessed. All conceivable means of transportation would be pressed into service. It is safe to assume that highways and railroads, steamship and air lines, would be taxed to their utmost. Millions of pilgrims, here and abroad, would probably be joyfully on their way to the land of unlimited promise.

Notwithstanding all this, however, let us suppose also that in your community you were to encounter from day to day persons who should com-plain about their lack of health, lack of happiness, and lack of supply What would be your reaction? No were not either on their way to the place where their needs would be met, or at least preparing to go. No doubt there would be, in your opinion, no valid excuse for compossible for them to go. Not even the most cherished beliefs or customs-whether racial, religious, or medical-would warrant depriving themselves of the immeasurable benefits awaiting them. On this point, most of us are probably in agreement.

Obviously, however, no such wholly satisfying location will ever be found on this or any other planet. And why? Because a mere location, in itself, is incapable of making everyone happy. If it were, its effect would be uniform. All would react to it identically. Complete satisfaction, however, is heaven, and heaven is inward instead of outward, spiritual instead of material. It is a life to be lived instead of a place to be located. It is found only when and where there is practicable awareness God's ever-present, impartial goodness and love.

The Scriptures tell us that when Moses looked for God in a particular locality, God told him that the place where he stood was holy ground; and, when Jesus was asked in what manner the kingdom of God should come, he said in effect (1) that it could not be seen; (2) that it was neither here nor there in matter; and (3) that it was within instead of without. By this Jesus must have meant that heaven or harmony depends upon one's ability to look upon his present surroundings from a spiritual and unselfish, instead of from a material and selfish, point of

Convincing Demonstration

To illustrate: A Christian Scientist was one day endeavoring to accomplish an important work in the midst of a medley of disturbing sounds emanating from the open windows of a business enterprise located on the floors below. Quite overlooking these evidences of industry and employment, the student was on his way to complain to the superintendent of the building when he stopped abruptly and asked himself whether, in case of bodily discord, he would resort to material treatment for relief. Of course he would not; he would work out the problem in accordance with the standard of Christian Science practice, which is present spiritual perfection.

Returning forthwith to his office. he opened the Bible to one of his favorite passages (Isalah 32:17, 18) and read: "And the work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness quietness and assurance for ever. And my people shall dwell in a peaceable habitation, and in sure dwellings, and in quiet resting places." Aided by a concordance, he then turned to the following correlated passage in Science and Health (p. 306) and read, "Undisturbed amid the jarring testimony of the material senses, Science, still enthroned, is unfolding to mortals the immutable, harmonious, divine Principle,-is unfolding Life and the universe, ever present and

Prompted by these inspiring assurances, the Scientist prayerfully gave thanks for the truth that man is now and always in the peaceable habitation, the sure dwelling, and the quiet resting place of Love's ever-presence and that in this presence there is no discord. The work was effectual; for from that moment the sounds ceased to have any disturbing effect upon him. With a heart overflowing with gratitude, he thanked God for enabling him to prove that it was possible through Christian Science for one to be undisturbed and happy ## in the very midst of what seemed to be discord and confusion.

Beliefs Versus Needs Evidences of healing by spiritual means have become so widespread that most observing persons will now admit that Christian Science, rightly understood, destroys fear, bestown happiness and contentment, and promotes compassion and helpful-ness. They will admit also that Ohristian Science is capable of making healthy and strong those who are hopelessly ill; that it can set free those who are addicted to narcotics, alcohol, nicotine, and other enslaving drugs; and that it can make discordant homes harmonious, comfort the sorrowing, and inspire the discouraged with new hope and fresh initiative.

This is the same as saying that Christian Science is capable of solving every human problem, including the problem that may seem to be yours, whether it be physical, moral, or financial. On this account, Christian Science should appeal favorably to everyone. That many are responding to its compassionate appeal is evident in the world-wide and rapid growth of the Christian Science movement. "But," someone may be saying, "why does not everyone respond to it? If what you say is true, why does not the whole world eagerly embrace its teaching?" To those unacquainted with the carnal mind's antagonism to spiritual truth, these are hard questions. Only Christian Science can answer them satisfactorily.

No doubt, all professing Christians believe that, if they had lived in the days of Jesus, they would have un-hesitatingly embraced his teaching and become his followers. To have seen him heal leprosy, blindness, insanity, deafness, epilepsy, and raise the dead would-we now confidently say-have convinced everyone. But did it convince everyone in those days? It should have done so; but, instead of joyfully accepting the healings as unquestionable proofs of divine power, come of those who were witnesses became enraged, declared the healings were the work of the devil, and hastened to report Jesus to the authorities at Jerusalem. The latter, in turn, sought to put him to death, lest all the people should follow him. To defend their theological beliefs, even to the extent of shedding innocent blood, seemed to be more important than to learn the practicable truth about God and man.

Love Blesses All

This reminds me of an incident that occurred a year or two ago. One of my neighbors, upon finding a nest full of motherless birdlings, sought to feed them; but whenever his loving hand would draw near enough to the nest, the open mouths would instinctively close. When he tried leaving food on the edge of t nest, they would not touch it. Had not my neighbor been thoughtful enough to put the birdlings into an already well-filled nest where they were fed by the mother of another brood, those birdlings would have died of starvation.

I have related this incident in the hope that it will help to illustrate why everyone did not accept Jesus as the true representative of God. They dearly longed, even prayed, for the promised Messiah, who, they believed, would come in a particular, predetermined humanivoutlined way. But because he came quite differently; because he came meekly illustrating the power of impartial, divine Love to free the people from mental bondage to sin, disease, and death, instead of a warlike monarch who would free the nation from political bondage to Rome, they misunderstood his loving mission and rejected the bless-

It is this same mental attitude which today prevents some persons, even when in great need, from accenting the helping hand of Christian Science, notwithstanding the proofs of healing which it presents. Their preconceived notions about the manner of Christ's reappearing would seem still to be more important than the supplying of their human needs. Though spiritually famished, they would starve rather than accept, from the hand of a stranger, the absolute truth that comforts and heals and saves.

Now, my friends, who among you wants to shut out helpfulness? Who wants to permit his fears, his doubts, and his suspicions to rob him of the unlimited possibilities which Christian Science reveals? Thanks to Mary Baker Eddy, never again need anyone starve spiritually; for she has shown us that the bread of Life is always at hand for the asking. She has shown that the truth explained and proved by the Master is omnipresent. Through her teaching, this truth is now available to all who are willing to receive it.

Referring to this all-healing, allprotecting, all-providing Truth, this idea of present spiritual perfection, which is forever knocking for admittance to your consciousness and mine, the Revelator writes, Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me." Now, then, are you willing to listen? Are you ready to open the door of your consciousness to this divine idea? Are you prepared to entertain Christian Science and become acquainted with its unlimited possibilities? These are momentous questions, my friends, and the only one who can answer them

Winslow Dance Group to Appear with Detroit Symphony Orchestra

Followers of the dance will be offered the season's biggest treat when the Winslow Dance Group appears with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at the fifth popular-priced concert in Orchestra Hall Saturday night, February 11. The famous American troupe also will be presented at the fourth Young People's program at 10:45 a. m. Saturday, February 11.

For both programs the orchestra will occupy the pit and will be directed by Victor Kolar, who last year pronounced the dancers as being the most talented group he has worked with in recent years. The Winslow Dancers appeared with the symphony in two performances last winter and proved to be one of the real delights of the year. They are exponents of both the old and the new in dancing.

This year Miss Winslow, Boston unior leaguer and member of one of that city's best-known families, has joined forces with Foster Fitz-Simons. brilliant young artist who more recently was a member of Ted Shawn's company of Men Dancers. This partnership is said to be one of the most colorful in the field of dance today and in other large cities where they already have appeared this team has been hailed as sensational.

Members of Miss Winslow's loyal group, each of whom is a talented performer in her own right, are Barbara Benzaquin, June MacLaren, Christine Maynard and Mary Morse.

.The Saturday "pop" program will be made up of 17 dfferent dances, most of which will be offered here for the first time. Miss Winslow will be seen in four solo numbers, Fitz-Simons in three; together they will present four

Christian Science

"Soul" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, February 12.

The Golden Text (Isaiah 25:9) is: "Lo, this is our God; we have waited for him, and he will save us: this is the Lord."

Among the Bible cirations is this passage (Leviticus 26:2, 11, 12): "Ye shall keep my sabbaths, and reverence my sanctuary: I am the Lord. And I will set my tabernacle among you: and my soul shall not abhor you. And I will walk among you, and will be your God, and ye shall be my people."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 335): "Soul and Spirit being one, God and Soul are one, and this one never included in a limited mind or a limited body."
