

Grosse Exaggerations?

By A. PRYOR

A lay-reporter's eye view of the Kentucky Derby, pronounced 'darby' as in 'm'lord, not 'derby' as in hat.

Not only the race track but all Louisville was packed to overflowing. On the night before the race, downtown streets looked like New Orleans during Mardi Gras week. Automobiles lined both sides of the streets, leaving very little room for the endless string of crawling traffic going both ways. A sea of townspeople and visitors jammed the walks, coming and going—no place. A happy drunk sent in a fire alarm with such vigor that engines and ladder trucks came from all directions, tying up the City for hours. The firemen took the hoax with good grace, even when the pedestrians climbed all over the trucks and pulled the sirens. After all, there's only one Kentucky Daaaarby a year. The following day at the track, the scene was much as usual. We have given it much thought and find we can't improve upon a remark made by a tipsy gent from the middle West. Reverently he looked the situation over and said, "Boy, there's sure a lot of people here!" The infielders arrived early with their lunch boxes, bottles of beer, camp stools, and portable radios. The Club House group arrived in time to swank it a bit with mint juleps (suhi!) before lunch, and the stands and boxes were a solid mass of humanity from noon on. High pressure hawkers, track attendants, officials, policemen, the Salvation Army, photographers and news reporters made up the largest part of the crowd. For us, the biggest thrill of the day came, when as one person, everyone stood on his feet... (or yours), as the band played the Star Spangled Banner. After that came My Old Kentucky Home and then they were "off" to what turned out to be a one horse race. After the race, amusement seems to center around the hotels, which are about ten minutes driving distance from the track and with luck, you can make it in four hours. One of the hotels, built around a court yard, is fast becoming famous for its sightseeing sport. The old-time guests are not above sitting in darkened rooms with their field glasses trained on the windows opposite, where any number of unsuspecting visitors are apt to give a bang-up performance without realizing it.

May 17 Date of First Golf Tournament for Pointe Employees

By THE DUBBER
The employees of the various villages throughout the Township of Grosse Pointe will hold their first golf tournament at the Beverly Hills Golf Course, located at the Thirteen-Mile and Van Dyke roads, May 17. The course will be open from 9 a. m. until all have had a chance to play. If you employees work until 4:30 or after do not fail to come, as you can play until it gets dark.

Tell your employee friends about this first one and then we will tell them more about our plans for the coming season at the first party. Things to remember until—

- Place—Beverly Hills Golf Course
- Location—Thirteen-Mile and Van Dyke Roads.
- Time—All day.
- Date—May 17.
- Greens fees—$1.00.
- P. S. Any one playing (including guest) three times or more through the season will be eligible to draw for the season's grand prize.

Peace Plea

By MRS. C. MARTIN

Twenty years ago the Armistice was signed,
Then all the world was gladness,
But there were many who pined;
The gold star Mothers I am thinking of,
Who sent away the sons they loved,
And for them Peace came too late;
Thousands and thousands knew that fate.
And now after twenty years to date,
Must we again know (war) and hate,
To satisfy some greedy few?
Must Mothers be crucified anew,
And give their loved boys to (war) or worse,
To fill some money-mad one's purse?
War does not bring Peace,
Or God's good-will;
Never did and will not still.
I love my country and its fellow men,
But right now, I tell you I see no sin
In not being what's called Patriotic,
But what I call most idiotic.
I would not want my son to go,
And I most sure would tell him so,
For I did not bring him in this world,
"War to know."
So Uncle Sammy I am telling you so.

Bridge Players Aspirin
By P. G. MUNRO
(THE AUTOBIDDER)
Inez, who learned about The Autobidder at Helen's bridge party, has been trying to convince her husband, Bill, that his game could be improved if he would humble himself to "that darned little thing" as he calls The Autobidder.
"That's a good thing for you women but I don't need it. I play a pretty good game of Contract, and you know it," Bill replied to his wife's pleading.
"Of course, dear, you play a good game; a much superior game than that of any of our friends. But isn't it possible that your superior playing may be attributable to their inferior playing? During the past few weeks our friends have been studying correct bidding with the aid of the Autobidder and their playing has improved remarkably. Take Helen and Jim for example. They were considered the poorest players in our circle of friends. Today, however, they are regarded as excellent players and their sudden rise is due to their study of correct bidding with the Autobidder. You haven't had a game with them recently. Let's invite them over."

"Very well; ask them to come over this evening."
At the bridge table that evening, Helen and Bill were partners against Inez and Jim. Bill dealt and opened with one-spade; Inez passed; Helen responded with two - hearts; Jim passed; Bill now rebid three-diamonds; and Helen, having been forced to bid by the three-diamond rebid, was compelled to bid three-spades; all passed. Bill played the hand and went down.
"I'm glad I didn't follow my hunch and bid game," Bill remarked.
"Bid game!" Helen exclaimed. "The hand should have been played at only two-spades but, since your rebid of three-diamonds forced me to bid, there was nothing I could do but put you back into your first-bid suit without raising the bidding level. Your forcing-for-one-round rebid of three-diamonds was absolutely incorrect with less than 4 honor-tricks in your hand."
"With 3 1/2 honor-tricks and a singleton, I had a legitimate rebid of three-diamonds."
"But you went down one trick. Isn't that sufficient proof that you should not have forced me to bid at the level of three?"
"Just a bad break in trumps, that's all."
"Bad break, you say. The outstanding five trumps broke in your favor, three in one opponent's hand and two in the other; they might have been divided 4-1. No, Bill! You should have rebid two-spades and allowed me to pass."
"Let's see what The Autobidder says," ejaculated Inez, chuckling while she produced her Autobidder from her pocket-book. "Here it is. The response was a Suit-Takeout of Two Lower in Rank. The Rebid number is 7. See how simple it is, Bill. Just pull this slide so that the number 7 appears in this opening and, presto, there is the rebid. That is what it says: "With uneven distribution and 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 honor-tricks, show another biddable suit."
"That's exactly what I did."
"Just a minute—show another biddable suit not above two; Raise partner's suit with trump support; or rebid the original suit. With 4 honor-tricks, bid a different suit not above three, etc. Helen is right, Bill. You should have rebid two-spades and not three-diamonds, since your hand did not contain 4 honor-tricks."
"Do you mean to tell me that that little bit of a thing contains the correct rebid to each response which partner may make to the opening bid?"
"It contains more than that," Helen replied. "And it is so instant; no digging into a book for knowledge. Presto, that's all, and there is your information."
After Bill had checked several responses and rebids, he said to his wife: "You get another Autobidder; I am taking this one with me on my trip to New York, and when I return you shall behold an expert."
"Oh, Bill! I am so happy over your enthusiasm, but don't you think you

Peace—With What?
PEACE is defined as "a state of quiet or tranquillity; freedom from disturbance or agitation; calm; repose."
Generally speaking, humanity knows not where to find true tranquillity, nor with what to make compact in order to be free from disturbance. It perplexedly views the spectacle of men and nations that have little or no peace even after making great sacrifices to obtain it. Many gaze uncomprehendingly upon the settled peace of the reformer who has perhaps provoked storms of hate and opposition, but who nevertheless is himself serene, because he is in agreement with Truth and good. With what then shall we seek to be in agreement? Here is indeed the vital question, for our choice will result either in gaining spiritual peace or in experiencing the lack of it. In seeking a basis for peace, should we not turn to the Bible, the acknowledged storehouse of true wisdom? If we accept its inspired teachings, which reveal God, good, as the basis for all action, agreement, and being, shall we not find our peace in reflecting Him? . . .
Attempts to make peace with human personalities as such, or with shifting material conditions and temporal pressures, bring only confusion. Since Truth, Life, and Love alone are enduring, there can be intelligent expectancy of peace only through conscious agreement with divine Principle. The would-be peace which springs from human temporizing, is as temporary and unsatisfying as its illusive foundation. Enduring peace is built upon an enduring basis.
The decisions of world politics cannot prevent the individual from experiencing peace through his adherence to Truth. Nothing can stop one from loving and being loved, from being grateful to God for His goodness, and from helping others to be happy by his expression of God's goodness. Mary Baker Eddy says in Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, (p. 264) "Spiritual living and blessedness are the only evidences, by which we can recognize true existence and feel the unspeakable peace which comes from an all-absorbing spiritual love."
Neither in matter, nor in false material sense, nor in human love, is peace to be found. That which denies the power and presence of God can never contribute to one's conscious at-one-ment with spiritual good. The material and temporal, which are opposed to spiritual harmony, do not constitute reality. Spiritual sense is the love of God, the nothingness of matter, and the powerlessness of physical sense to interfere with divine facts. When one is at peace with God, whatever seems to oppose one's manifestation of good is neutralized by the fact that good is true, and that its opposite is untrue.
Christ Jesus expressed more God-likeness than any other who has ever walked the earth, and he therefore was more conscious of peace than any other. He knew that spiritual peace was one of the greatest blessings he could leave to men, for he said, before parting from his beloved disciples (John 14:27): "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid." He spoke more than once of peace as being the result of following in his footsteps. Hate and misunderstanding might beset the path of his faithful followers, but their peace, founded upon the rock, Christ, would remain undisturbed. Such peace is bigger than circumstances, and circumstances do not change it.
All who acknowledge Christ Jesus as Master and Way-shower can find their peace where he found his, namely, in the daily demonstration of Truth and Love. As Paul declared (I Corinthians 3:11), "For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ."—The Christian Science Monitor.

Peace—With What?
PEACE is defined as "a state of quiet or tranquillity; freedom from disturbance or agitation; calm; repose."
Generally speaking, humanity knows not where to find true tranquillity, nor with what to make compact in order to be free from disturbance. It perplexedly views the spectacle of men and nations that have little or no peace even after making great sacrifices to obtain it. Many gaze uncomprehendingly upon the settled peace of the reformer who has perhaps provoked storms of hate and opposition, but who nevertheless is himself serene, because he is in agreement with Truth and good. With what then shall we seek to be in agreement? Here is indeed the vital question, for our choice will result either in gaining spiritual peace or in experiencing the lack of it. In seeking a basis for peace, should we not turn to the Bible, the acknowledged storehouse of true wisdom? If we accept its inspired teachings, which reveal God, good, as the basis for all action, agreement, and being, shall we not find our peace in reflecting Him? . . .

Northeast Exchange May Frolic Is Success
The Barlum Hotel furnished the locale on May 3 for one of the best parties ever staged in that hostelry.
The May Frolic, attended by the largest group of Northeast Exchangeites ever to attend such a party, proved to be the outstanding social event ever put on by the club. With an excellent dinner, group singing led by Russell Klotzel of the Wyandotte Exchange Club, dancing to a splendid orchestra—a carnival minded group of Exchangeites and wives and sweethearts, everyone entered into the full spirit of the affair.
Carl S. Gennick, general chairman, Dr. Ed. Sager, John Neighorn, Charles Pfeiffer and all of the other members who contributed to its success are to be commended.
John M. Heaphy, president of the club, was master of ceremonies and Vic Sylvestre was in charge of publicity.

High School Notes
Among seven Michigan high school students, three Grosse Pointers won honors in the journalism division of the National Scholastic Awards contest, according to announcement in the Quill and Scroll magazine received last week.
This contest is conducted annually by Scholastic Magazine, with the journalism division under the auspices of Quill and Scroll.
None of Grosse Pointe's representatives won national awards, but they captured half of the state honors. Nancy Worrell, 12A, wrote the state's best news story; Glen Siewert, 12A, its best sports story in his account of the Fordson basketball game; and Bob Lubbeck's Views and Reviews column won the state award in column competition.
These people will receive certificates of award and are now eligible to compete for a Quill and Scroll scholarship which will provide two years tuition in a school of journalism. Saginaw High School also took three places in the list of winners, being credited with one national and two state awards. Detroit Central earned one state award. Grosse Pointe, Saginaw, and Detroit Central are the only three schools in the state to place students in the list of approximately 250 winning honors in the journalistic division of the National Awards contest.
Barbara Cowe, 12A, was awarded honorable mention in a recent national group contest in editorial writing conducted by Quill and Scroll, the new magazine also announced.

Following the plan adopted last year, soloists from Ann Arbor will be presented in Mendelssohn's Oratorio, "Elijah," to be given at the high school on May 26 and 27, under the direction of Mr. William J. Watkins, with accompaniment played by the University of Michigan's Symphony Orchestra.
This concert will be in two parts. The first part will present the orchestra alone in a program of symphonic music under the direction of Mr. Thor Johnson, the orchestra's regular conductor.
The second half of the program will feature the quartet of vocal soloists and the high school choir of 124 voices. The leading role, that of Elijah, will be sung by Mr. Hardin Van Deursen, member of the school of Music Faculty and an excellent baritone. The soprano will be Bennie Ruth McInnes, also of Ann Arbor. The tenor, Mr. Warren Foster, will be remembered as the tenor soloist of last year's "St. Cecilia Mass." The contralto will be Hope Bauer Eddy of Ann Arbor, one of the better known contraltos of this area.
Mrs. Eddy and Mr. Van Deursen were soloists in "Elijah" when it was produced at Hill auditorium in Ann Arbor last December by the University Choral Union, under the direction of Dr. Earl V. Moore.
"This concert is more imposing than anything we have yet attempted. The worth of the music to be performed is unquestioned; and those of us who are working for musical excellence fully realize that our efforts will be reviewed by the critical judgment of our contemporaries in school music from a large surrounding area," comments Mr. Watkins.
The Saturday night performance will be broadcast in part over station WWJ. It is therefore imperative that the audience be seated in order that the concert may start promptly at 8 o'clock.
"The Ghost Kings," a poem written by ay Beaumont, 12A, appears in the April 29 issue of Scholastic, American high school weekly, on the Round Table page.
Concerning it, Charlotte Van de Water, Round Table editor, comments, "Though 'The Ghost Kings' resorts to the old devices of poetry more than do the other poems on this page, it does so most successfully, with economy and frequent originality of phrasing. The theme is certainly modern. And who does not thrill to such music and pictures?"
Jay's poem and "Northern Charms," written by Marion Hickey, 12A, have been submitted by the English department to the Metropolitan High School poet laureate contest sponsored by Detroit each spring. From among the poems submitted, the winner will be Detroit's high school poet laureate.

Poems by Helen Odell, '38 and Harry Keller '38 were entered in the contest last year, and both were invited to read their compositions over the air.
Both Marion's and Jay's poems will appear in the coming issue of Proem.
E. E. Allen of the Board of Education staff in Grosse Pointe is the author of an article in the May number of "The Nation's Schools." Mr. Allen discusses suggestions for the summer maintenance work in the schools.

NYA Resort Course Launched at Dowagiac

Michigan's second largest industry—the tourist business—will be aided again this summer by a four-weeks training course for employees. To increase their chances of securing placement as waitresses, 40 unemployed girls are receiving instructions here in an earn-learn resident project recently inaugurated by the National Youth Administration. Last summer 30 girls obtained private employment in summer cottages and hotels through experience gained from a similar project, according to Carl Horn, school superintendent of Dowagiac. The students for this unique educational set-up are drawn from Cass, Berrien, St. Joseph and VanBuren counties and are quartered in cottages at Dewey Lake here. Their course will last until June 7 when those qualified will be placed in summer jobs by the Western Michigan Tourist Association. Other resort courses will also be set up, according to NYA officials, at Benton Harbor, Grand Haven, Traverse City, Charlevoix and Petoskey.

During their training period here, the girls will receive $25 from the NYA, which will be used to defray board, lodging and personal expenses. They will work afternoons for the Dowagiac board of education, co-sponsor of the project. Towels, curtains and other articles of similar nature will be made, Superintendent Horn said.

The administrative staff at the project will include a teacher, a recreation director, a cook and a project supervisor. In addition, Horn said, experienced resort executives will be brought in weekly to amplify specific phases of the industry of this city's fire hall, the National Youth Administration of Michigan has opened a woodcraft shop designed to give part-time employment and work experience to 70 unemployed Houghton County youth. This is the 47th work center set up by the NYA in Michigan.

Partitions have been erected and a concrete floor laid and today circular saws, electric lathes, joiners and drills are installed where Calumet's, NYA workers have already completed work benches for use in the shop.

Use of the building was made possible by the Calumet municipal council, co-sponsor of the project. In return for the location and for the use of lumber, Calumet will receive $1,700 in payroll money every month, Joseph L. Brand, NYA supervisor for Houghton County, pointed out.

The first orders that the shop will execute, Brand announced, are to be the construction of doors and windows for a Boy Scout Camp near here and benches for Daniels Park in nearby Laurium.

NYA Funds Run Out at Balding; Boys Chip In For Tractor

Conclusive proof of the will to succeed of the would-be farmers on the NYA rolls here was shown last week when 62 boys who make $25 monthly clubbed together to purchase a tractor. The purchase came voluntarily when the enrollees at the Balding Resident Work Project found that a new tractor would be badly needed for the spring plowing and that no more federal funds were forthcoming from the National Youth Administration.

By vote of the project's personnel, the student council was commissioned to acquire a tractor and to levy assessments for its purchase on the installment plan. A down payment has been made on an $875 machine and monthly installments of $62 will be made.

The boys working here on the 88 acre experimental farm, which is one of the seven Residential Work Projects maintained by the NYA in Michigan, receive $25 monthly, but their pro rata share of food, heating and textbook bills leaves an individual only $6 for personal expenses and amusements during a month.

Plans call for the presentation of the tractor to the NYA when the present personnel of the project leaves Balding.

Mother's Day's Suggestion

The observance of National Restaurant Week which ends on Mother's Day, May 14th, prompts the suggestion that next Sunday is a fitting day to turn the tables and take mother out to dine.

All through the year, Mother plans meals, labors over a hot stove and oven, and washes pots and pans and dishes. How nice it would be on Mother's Day if Mothers—your mother and mine—could anticipate a day of freedom from all the work in serving the usual big Sunday dinner. How she would enjoy the happy anticipation of dining out with its attendant pleasure, enjoyment and relaxation.

To give Mother a real thrill, one that the dearest of all persons will long remember, dine out with the entire family next Sunday—Mother's Day, the sweetest day for the sweetest person in all the world.

Drive-In Theatre Again Attracts Film Lovers

The Drive-In Theatre, Detroit's first automobile theatre, with the advent of warm summer-like evenings, has once again established itself as the ideal form of out-of-doors entertainment.

Film fans seem to like the idea of satisfying "the urge to get out-of-doors" and at the same time taking in a movie. The Drive-In Theatre admirably combines both. In the privacy of one's car, any type of dress is permitted; one can smoke, talk, take refreshments without disturbing others. The comfort of your car enables you to relax and enjoy the show!

Detroiters are quick to point out other advantages of the Drive-In Theatre. There is no parking problem. A group may drive into this unique theatre and be assured they will not have to separate during the performance. Your car holds your "theatre party" intact!

The invalids and shut-ins find in the Drive-In Theatre comfort and convenience lacking in the indoor theatre for here they are driven onto the theatre grounds and remain seated in the car throughout the performance. No embarrassment or discomfort is experienced by them.

Today through Saturday (May 11-13) the Drive-In Theatre brings to its massive screen the technicolor production "Drums" starring Sabu. On Sunday, May 14, the Marx Brothers begin a four-day engagement of their latest comedy, "Room Service."

Goodwill Industries to Open New Home on Friday, May 19

On March 10th, 1938, as fire sirens shrieked, and great billows of smoke with red flames raced toward the sky, work passed through Detroit: "McGregor Institute is on fire; Goodwill Industries is burning." The question immediately followed; "Anybody killed—did they get everybody out? The physically handicapped workers were in everyone's mind and on every tongue.

Fortunately no lives were lost in this great disaster, but the fire did more than destroy a building and its mechanical contents—it started another "fire" in the minds and hearts of thousands of friends of this great humanitarian work. Immediately they set to work.

On the evening of May 19th at eight o'clock, the tangible results of this second "fire"; the new home and equipment of Goodwill Industries of Detroit, at 356 E. Congress Street, will be dedicated. From the ashes of McGregor Institute have materialized, in another location, a six-story steel-and-concrete building, said to be one of the finest in all the 108 units of the Goodwill Industries in America.

In 1938 a weekly average of 208 employees—old people and those physically handicapped—worked in reconditioning discarded clothing, shoes, furniture etc., but the new building offers room for double that number.

Dr. M. S. Rice of the Metropolitan Methodist Church will deliver the address of dedication, and Mayor Richard W. Reading will bring the City's official greeting. Distinguished guests from as far away as Boston will be present.

Through the courtesy of the Grinnell Music Company a Hammond organ will be used at this and the services which follow throughout the coming week.

On Saturday afternoon May 20, the young people of the Detroit Council of Churches will act as hosts at an "open house" function designated as "Business People's Day".

On Sunday, May 21st, at 4:15 p. m., a concert and organ recital will be given under the auspices of the Detroit Guild of Church Musicians, with Mr. Charles L. Wuerth, of St. John's Episcopal choir, and chorus members will be given by Bethel Evangelical choir, Miss Grace Greenwood, director. This program is arranged by Mrs. Nellie Beatrice Huger.

On Monday afternoon, May 22nd, the Woman's Association of Goodwill Industries will be hostesses at the "open house."

Tuesday afternoon and evening have been named "Goodwill Family Day" when the families of the workers in Goodwill Industries will be entertained. The program for this evening will be given by Miss Muriel Taylor, soprano.

On Wednesday the Woman's Cosmopolitan Club will be hostesses. This club is composed of women representing 37 nations. Mr. Emil Vasu is president of this organization.

Sponsors for the remaining days will be announced later. The public is invited to attend any of these functions and inspect the building and its equipment.

Christian Science

"Mortals and Immortals" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, May 14.

The Golden Text (II Corinthians 5:4) is: "We that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened; not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (Psalms 37:37): "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 258): "The human capacities are enlarged and perfected in proportion as humanity gains the true conception of man and God."

Walled Lake Park Opened April 29th

Walled Lake Amusement Park opened Saturday, April 29th, to one of the largest crowds in the Park's history. The park has been completely renovated and rededicated. It will be in full operation daily through the summer months.

In the amusement section all of the old favorites have been revamped with many new features added. One of the high-lights of the park will be the Roller Skating Pavilion, under the personal supervision of Jess Bell, who was formerly with the Detroit Arena Gardens. Mr. Bell has scheduled a number of special features for the summer season. Including among these will be a fancy skating carnival, district and state amateur and professional race events and exhibitions by the better known performers throughout the United States and Canada.

At the Casino Ball Room the best in name bands have again been engaged to bring you fire music and entertainment with a change of orchestras every two weeks.

Facilities for taking care of picnic groups are unsurpassed. Walled Lake Park has long been the favorite place for school, fraternal, and industrial outings. The management reports a greatly increased list of picnics already booked for the coming season.

Well shaded picnic groves, an enclosed picnic spread, all regulation equipped with tables and barbecue hearths for the joyous out-of-doors spread. A regulation baseball diamond and athletic field, plenty of parking space for automobiles plus the great array of recreational features, all these things make Walled Lake Park the "Family Playground that's Clean and Wholesome."

Y. W. C. A. Notes

Dr. A. J. Brace, noted author, lecturer, educator, soldier and "Y" secretary will address members of Hannan Y. M. C. A. at a dinner meeting Thursday, May 11 at 6:15 p. m.

Dr. Brace will speak on the topic, "What is Happening to China?" He is a well-qualified speaker on this subject. Having spent 25 years in Changtu, China, he has a first hand and deep understanding of Chinese affairs. Dr. Brace has had intimate and personal contacts with General Chiang-Kai-Shek and many other noted officials of China.

Dr. Brace is a native Canadian. His career as soldier, lecturer, explorer and Y. M. C. A. secretary has been very colorful and interesting. In June, 1936, he completed 25 years of Y. M. C. A. work in Changtu, China. In that period he has served as a boys' work secretary, a professor of Modern History in Sze-Chwan University, a researcher into the life and history of Tibet and as a translator of some of China's wealth of literature. For his researches he received a doctorate from British Columbia University in 1936 and a fellowship from the Royal Geographic Society in London.

Dr. Brace has a fascinating story, fresh from the hot spots of the Far East and he has a most interesting style for presenting this message.

Under the direction of Mr. James M. Hansen, vice president of Kendrick Manufacturing Company and chairman of the Y. M. C. A. World Service Committee, that branch enters its annual World Service Campaign this week. As part of the $20,000 contribution of the Detroit Y. M. C. A., the Hannan Branch will attempt to raise $800 for the purpose of supplying American leadership in training of local Y. M. C. A. secretaries in 32 countries around the world.

The Panther Patrol held its patrol meeting Monday at Scout Gibb's home, where each boy had a full share of food and fun. The food was represented by a Weiner roast, soft drinks, etc., and the fun by games and a songfest. Pretty Jean McNally has tossed her hankie into the ring to vie for honors as "hay fever queen" in the novel contest conducted at Galveston, Texas, among the hay fever colony. Galveston's medical authorities say that this is one of the most virulent seasons in years for sufferers of the allergic affliction. Miss McNally was given odds to win by a nose.

Defer School Notes

Thursday, April 20, the 4A group of Kerby school had a museum, souvenir, and hobby show for the other grades in the building and for their parents. We had things from many countries that we had picked up ourselves or by parents or friends. Some of the children dressed in original costumes of different countries. One very interesting one was from Albania, as the parents had spent a year there. Another, where the parents and child spent six months in Mexico. Each boy or girl told of his or her hobby or souvenirs, after which the parents were invited to inspect the souvenir tables.

Mrs. McLeod showed some very fine science films to the 4th, 5th, and 6th grades at Kerby School. One was "A Day at the River" and the other was "Underwater Life."

Mason School Notes

The Mason School advanced kindergarten invited their parents to a three-feature movie on Thursday afternoon.

A ticket office was made of wood and painted. The cashier sold tickets. Two boys took the tickets, and two girls ushered the guests to the chairs. The theater was made of Patty Hill Blocks, decorated with Christmas tree lights. The movies were made of drawings or paintings which were pasted on wrapping paper and fastened to two broom stick reels. Four children were the operators, and three children told the stories.

A meeting was held in the kindergarten room before the Parent-Teacher meeting. The kindergarten teacher took this opportunity to explain the development of the activity, and the values derived from it.

Mr. Harold Gregory of the Grosse Pointe Woods Fire Department invited the kindergarten to see the fire engine on Thursday, April 27. He showed the equipment and explained its use. He let each child have a turn sitting in the driver's seat of the fire engine. He let some children try on the helmets and gas mask. The children sent Mr. Gregory a thank-you letter with pictures of the equipment they liked best.

Major Burns Henry Post News

A goodly crowd gathered at the Ot-siketa Club last meeting night and from all appearances had a whale of a time. Among the gathering was Comrade "Moon" Mullins of Bushway Post, Hamtramck. He cordially invited all present to attend a Bushway meeting some time in the near future. A good time is guaranteed to those who attend. Why not make up a party of your closest friends in the Post and take a trip to Hamtramck. We know you will be more than satisfied. Comrade Swanson was present and is a prospective member. We'll be looking for you, Swannie. Our long absent mortician, Eddie Watko, showed up last meeting and was seen soliciting a little business. Among his prospects that evening was your scribe who was packing a full size cold. We are laughing at you Eddie, as said cold has disappeared.

FLASH! Comrade Clarence Schwartz took a car load of safety patrol boys to Briggs Stadium and while at the game his car was stolen from a parking lot and shortly afterwards was used in a holdup of a beer store. Clarence's car was sporting plates numbered 303-VV-97. At this writing the car is still missing. We hope the thugs do no damage to his car.

On Sunday, May 28, at 10 a. m., Memorial Services will be held at St. Ambrose Church, Grosse Pointe Park. All post members and the Auxiliary are urged to meet on Jefferson and Lakepointe at 9:30 a. m. The Drum and Bugle Corps of the Alger Post, V. F. W., Sons of Veterans will lead the parade to the church. Please try and be there.

Poppy day plans are just about completed. A few more salesmen and salesladies are needed. If you are free after 6 p. m. the 24th of May or can sell the morning of the 25th, please contact Chairman Mart Nielsen at M.U. 5407. Incidentally, our popular pop corn man, Tony Koinis, of Grosse Pointe Park, donated a sum sufficient to cover costs of dinner on the 25th. Turn out and eat on Tony. And it ain't pop corn, either.

The Ladies' Auxiliary are holding a meeting Thursday night, May 11, at 8 p. m. The address is 1157 Maryland, Grosse Pointe Park. That's all for tonight, and we'll be seeing you.
