

PIERCE IS COMMUNITY ACHIEVEMENT

Grosse Exaggerations? By A. PRYOR

Palm Beach has been taken over by the youth of the Nation. Looks as if Easter vacation has emptied all the schools into Florida.

The Bath and Tennis Club arranged a tennis tournament for the latter group. Among the mixed doubles, spotted the youngest daughters of the Wesson Seyburs.

Brenda Frazier has descended upon these shores from Nassau, so the gents, all sizes and all ages, have started using their moustach wax.

One day last week (Friday, if you care for exactitude), the Mauretania passed by our placid shores, looking veddy stately and h—bent for parts unknown.

It's too bad that this place becomes so deserted just when the climate is at its best.

Mrs. Callahan, the pseudo quintuplet expecter, certainly pushed all the usual news off the front pages.

Identification Dept. Diner, who had ordered tea: "What's this, tea or coffee?"

Waitress: "What does it taste like?" Diner: "It tastes like wood alcohol."

Woman: A person who can hurry through an aisle eighteen inches wide, without knocking down piled-up tin ware, then drive home and knock the doors off a twelve foot garage.

Man: A guy who can see an ankle three blocks away while driving down a busy street, but won't notice (in wide open country) a locomotive the size of a school house.

Grosse Pointe Boys Join Michigan Fraternities

Three University of Michigan students living in Grosse Pointe have recently been initiated into school fraternities.

Robert M. Behr, 57 Colonial Road, Joined Delta Kappa Epsilon, while George Edwin Bosch, 176 McKinley, entered Lambda Chi Alpha.

Grosse Pointe girls have also been active in school sorority affairs lately. Jane Baits, 1009 Bishop, was elected treasurer of Delta Gamma.

Misses, honorary dramatic society at the University of Michigan, also claimed two Grosse Pointe students: Arthur A. Trent, 1244 Three Mile Drive, and Donald C. Stevenson, 1215 Berkshire.

Grosse Pointe Township Election Monday, April 1st, Is Very Important

Rabaut Announces Senate Candidacy

Michigan's "singing congressman," also called the workhorse of the powerful appropriation committee, the Honorable Louis C. Rabaut (Dem.) of the 14th Congressional District, this week became an official—and distinguished—member of one of the longest titled organizations in the United States.

Officials of the organization presented the Michigan representative with a signed certificate of membership attesting that Congressman Rabaut is an "active member in good standing and is entitled to harmonize at any time, day or night, to his heart's content, subject to the by-laws, rules and regulations of the order, and conforming always to the applicable state laws relating to the preservation of the public peace."

Admittance to this society for preserving an ancient American tradition, however, was only one of the many honors which have been bestowed upon Representative Rabaut for his vocal prowess. He had already been distinguished for his singing at the White House at a Presidential function, and he is the only congressman ever to have sung on the floor of the House of Representatives as part of that body's official ceremony.

Unnoticed, the trio had entered Stephenson's car and driven it away. When the owner returned and failed to find his automobile he notified the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Department. The Woods officials put a description of the stolen car on the telephone at 10:30 p. m.

Major Burns Henry Post No. 303

At the last regular meeting of March 18, President Elva Nielsen appointed Ethel Clark junior chairman. If you have any young ladies under 18, we would be glad to have them join our group and we know Ethel will plan a nice program for them.

The proceeds from the candy party given by Betty Hoyt, Hazel Albor and Sylvia Sharpe were turned into a gavel bell and initiation light. This completes our occasions for the unit, not bad for one year old.

Comrade Bill Smith is home from veterans' faculty but we have another comrade, Walter Steadman, at Dearborn Veterans Faculty hospital. A card of a visit will be appreciated. Al Zach is still at Marine Hospital.

Don't forget April 8, 9, 11, 12, at President Elva's home, 1157 Maryland, our quilting party. This is everyone's job.

Officials Unopposed; Still Voters Should Go To Polls

With the reorganization of the voting precincts in Grosse Pointe Township, voters are urged to go to the polls next Monday and cast their ballots in the Township election and familiarize themselves with their new voting booths.

Originally divided into 13 precincts, the Township electorate has been further sub-divided because of Grosse Pointe's rapid expansion. Clerk Carl Schweikart stated, "Under the law, we must divide the precincts according to the number of residents. With the county, state and national elections coming in the near future, voters should find their correct voting place."

Schweikart continued, "This is the first election since the new division, and the voters are shown their correct booth on the back of their new registration card. Since it was not necessary to hold a primary election, the cost of the 11 new voting booths has been saved in this manner."

Norbert F. Denk, supervisor, and Adolph L. Damman, treasurer, also stated their hopes that all qualified voters would visit the polls on Monday. Both men are candidates for re-election. There is no opposition.

Automobile Stolen By Three 13-Year-Olds

An automobile owned by John Stephenson of 1899 Lochmor Boulevard, was stolen by three 13-year-old boys while parked near a restaurant on Mack Street in Grosse Pointe Woods, Michigan, Thursday evening.

Unnoticed, the trio had entered Stephenson's car and driven it away. When the owner returned and failed to find his automobile he notified the Grosse Pointe Woods Police Department. The Woods officials put a description of the stolen car on the telephone at 10:30 p. m.

At 5 a. m. the following morning a Genesee County sheriff picked up the car and the three lads near Flint, Mich. Police Chief Hanson and Patrolman Goulette of the Woods force drove to Flint later that day and brought back the car and the prisoners.

The boys had stolen two bicycles in Detroit and ridden into Grosse Pointe. After relating their experience, the lads were turned over to Detroit juvenile authorities.

Friday's snow storm had left the roads covered with ice, but the thieves alternated in driving the stolen car at a high rate of speed. None of the trio were old enough to hold a driver's license and all three could barely see over the hood.

The car and bicycles were returned to their owners in good condition.

Kerby Students Visit Creamery

In their study of the workers of a community the children of grade 2A, Kerby School, have been especially interested in the milkman and his work. Recently a trip to the Detroit Creamery was arranged. Here the children saw the processes about which they had been studying and were delighted with the treat of chocolate milk and ice cream provided by the creamery.

Julian Bryan Talks On 'Siege of Warsaw' And Finnish Invasion

Julian Bryan's sensational "Siege of Warsaw" lecture, with his own eyewitness account and the only motion pictures of the destruction of Poland's capital in existence anywhere, will end this season's week-end World Adventure Series public lectures at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Bryan was the only foreign correspondent and photographer in Warsaw from September 7 to 21, when the worst of the bombardment took place. He was given a car and military escort and for two weeks made motion pictures of the air raids, artillery hammering and devastation in the stricken city. It required three months to get the motion pictures—only one of their kind in existence—smuggled past the German lines. Bryan's Finland lecture takes the audience all over the valiant republic, by means of motion pictures filmed by himself. He has added 1,000 feet of late newsreel shots to show how magnificently the Finns resisted the Soviet invaders.

Park Roof Fire Quickly Put Out

Roland L. Collins of 1385 Somerset and his family were interrupted during their Easter dinner last Sunday when Grosse Pointe Park firemen climbed the stairs to their flat and burst into the living room.

Sparks from a neighboring chimney had set the Collins' roof afire in two places. Someone in the vicinity, noticing the fire, had called the Park Fire Department.

Unaware of the blaze, the surprised residents showed the firemen the stairs to the attic. The fire was quickly extinguished by chemicals, with but slight damage to some unused luggage.

Detroit Garden Center

On Monday, April 1, at 8 p. m. the Detroit Garden Center will give the first of a series of garden lectures or clinics at the John D. Pierce Junior High School, 15430 Kercheval avenue, Grosse Pointe.

Al G. Brown of Birmingham will talk on the timely subject of "Protection for Our Trees and Shrubs" and will be glad to answer any questions on this subject. This will be followed by a colored moving picture film "How Does Your Garden Grow," narrated by Lowell Thomas, which is a very helpful story showing new gardeners as well as more experienced ones, each step to take in preparing and planting a new garden and remaking an old lawn and has very beautiful pictures of gardens of many kinds.

Mrs. George I. Bouton, director of the garden center, will preside at this meeting, which is free and open to the public.

Police Chief Fluitt's Annual Report

Grosse Pointe Farms' Chief of Police Albert O. Fluitt has recently completed his annual report covering the last fiscal year and has consented to release the following excerpts for publication: The report shows that the Farms police investigated 1,657 complaints and answered 1,572 calls. One hundred and twenty-one automobile accidents were recorded and the ambulance was sent out 55 times.

Eight attempts to break into houses were frustrated and 39 prowlers were examined. Roving dogs bite 45 persons and 63 doors were discovered unlocked or left open.

Four hundred and one traffic violations were recorded and $1,411.50 was collected in fines. Seventy cases were tried in court with $556 taken as fines. The four Farms scout cars traveled a total of 147,817 miles, or nearly six times around the world, while patrolling the village streets and 12,079 gallons of gas was used. Each car averaged 36,650 miles, or 123 miles to a gallon of fuel.

Fourth Edition Of High School's Picture Magazine Underway

"View Point," Grosse Pointe High School's sensational picture magazine, has assembled its photography and editorial staff for the fourth edition to be published sometime in June.

This student production, whose design was copied from "Life," received high praise from education heads throughout the country when it was first released in January of 1939.

The magazine contains the products of the horde of school amateur photography "fends." A prospectus is drawn by the editorial staff and faculty advisors, and various phases of school life receive a designated space. The camera clickers are then assigned assorted tasks, and the best photos are accepted for publication.

Miss Doris K. Trott, publication's head, has announced that the picture snappers have been placed under the guidance of Miss Eleanor Brown, Mr. W. A. Mann, and Mr. D. H. Horton. The semester's editorial staff will remain under Miss Trott's watchful eye. Shirley Skinner, Marcia Netting, Lucille Barnes, and Dorothy Castricum, staff members of "The Tower," school weekly, are doubling as caption writers for "View Point."

1,447 copies of the January, 1940 issue were distributed, 1,150 issues were received by Student Association members, and the remaining 297 were sold through the school book-store. 150 of the latter, were purchased by the Board of Education to satisfy the constant requests received from the community, state, and nation at large.

Pointe Police Arrest Wanted Man

The City of Grosse Pointe police picked up Arthur Robinson, Negro, upon suspicion last Tuesday and an investigation revealed the prisoner was wanted by the West Palm Beach, Florida police.

The warrant for Robinson's arrest charged him with assault with intent to kill. The criminal is being held in the Grosse Pointe City jail, pending orders from Palm Beach.

Dedication Sunday Ends Years Of Effort For A Junior High School

A community enterprise 10 years in the making will culminate Sunday afternoon when Grosse Pointe dedicates its first junior high school. With exercises expected to attract a large throng of residents, the John D. Pierce School will be officially accepted by the Board of Education. The board comprises Charles A. Parcells, president; Ralph M. Clark, secretary; Charles A. Ponnard, treasurer, and J. Lee Barrett and Albert F. Meder, trustees.

"First come, first served" will be the rule on seats in the Pierce auditorium—with the single exception that only adults will be admitted there. Young people and children will be asked to take seats in the two gymnasiums, where any adult overflow will also be accommodated. The program will be broadcast to these rooms from the auditorium. The dedication address will be given by Dr. William Lyon Phelps Lamson, professor emeritus of English literature at Yale University, and America's best known and loved authority on letters. The program will begin at 3:30 o'clock and will be as announced in last week's Review.

William Lyon Phelps Honored at Convention

Professor William Lyon Phelps of Yale University, who will give the dedicatory address at the Pierce Junior High School on March 31, received the noted American Education Award at the recent national convention in St. Louis of the American Association of School Administrators. The presentation was made by Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of schools of Pittsburgh, Pa., and president of the school administrators group. The following remarks are quoted from Dr. Graham's address on this occasion:

"... As 'Billy Phelps of Yale' he has taught 17,000 students. For them, as teacher and human being, he has done much to change the university atmosphere from the traditional fear-gripped one to a friendly one of human beings interested in learning.

"... As his genius is essentially social, his appeal is incredibly wide. Through his teaching, his lectures, and his writings he has done more, probably, than any other living author to inculcate the American mind with appreciation for the written and spoken word. Whether he lectures or writes, he influences people to see good drama, to read good books, to know why they are good. His following is recruited not only from the undergraduate, alumni, and commencement groups, but from every walk of life, every class, type and profession. The rich, the poor, women, busy mothers, school teachers, business men—all read, listen to, and love William Lyon Phelps.

"A person of ideals, imbued with visions of human betterment and social welfare, keenly aware of education's worthiest goals, he is truly a great teacher, a great American. ... We do well to honor him."

Grosse Pointe Woman Struck By Car

Mrs. Jacobina Bugbee, of 1002 Kensington was struck by an automobile while crossing Jefferson avenue at Kensington last Thursday evening. Apparently shielding herself from the cold wind, Mrs. Bugbee walked into the side of a car traveling west on Jefferson and driven by a 16-year-old Southeastern High School student.

The 67-year-old woman's arm caught in the door handle of the passing car and was severely lacerated. Taken to Cottage Hospital, Mrs. Bugbee underwent treatment for a compound fracture.

The driver, upon request of Mr. Bugbee, was not held.

Alger Auxiliary

Alger Auxiliary will present a flag to John D. Pierce Junior High School at its formal dedication on Sunday, March 31.

April 7 is the date to keep open for another one of these famous Sunday teas given by the auxiliary.

April 9, at the Grosse Pointe High School the auxiliary will award prizes to the winners of the essay contest. The public is invited to attend.

First envisioned 18 years ago, when education experts recommended the junior high school plan for Grosse Pointe, the new building has been an active community goal for nearly a decade. It brings to nine the number of schoolhouses in active use by the Board of Education, a 50 per cent increase in less than four years. The system's six buildings became seven in October, 1936, when the Lewis E. Maire, most recently built of the elementary buildings, was completed. An eighth building became necessary in September, 1939, when the small Vernier elementary school in Vernier Road was reopened. On September 8, 1939, just nine months to the day from the date of groundbreaking, the Pierce School was completed and 10 days later, when the schools had a delayed opening due to the infantile paralysis situation, it was occupied by pupils.

The speed of construction was said to have established a national record for a large school building constructed with Federal PWA assistance. The emergency situation caused by overcrowding in the Grosse Pointe High School spurred both planning and construction of Pierce. Hundreds of junior high school children housed in three "annexes" to the high school were moved to the Pierce school last fall, and some were transferred from the high school building itself.

Because economic conditions during the decade had prevented construction of new schools, with the exception of the Maire school, completed in 1936, enrollment had pushed far ahead of housing accommodations. Board of Education members and Dr. S. M. Brown, former superintendent of schools from 1927 to 1939, had long recognized that "The Pierce School was not merely catch up with the overcrowding temporarily." How true this prediction was became demonstrated on last September 18 when the new building opened. Upwards of 750 pupils enrolled the first day, filling the building to about five-sixths of its 900-pupil capacity. No other new Grosse Pointe public school had ever opened filled to anything approaching this percentage of working capacity. The Grosse Pointe High School, occupied 12 years ago last month, and dedicated later in the spring of 1928, also with an address by Professor Phelps, opened slightly more than half filled, as did the Maire School, dedicated in January, 1937.

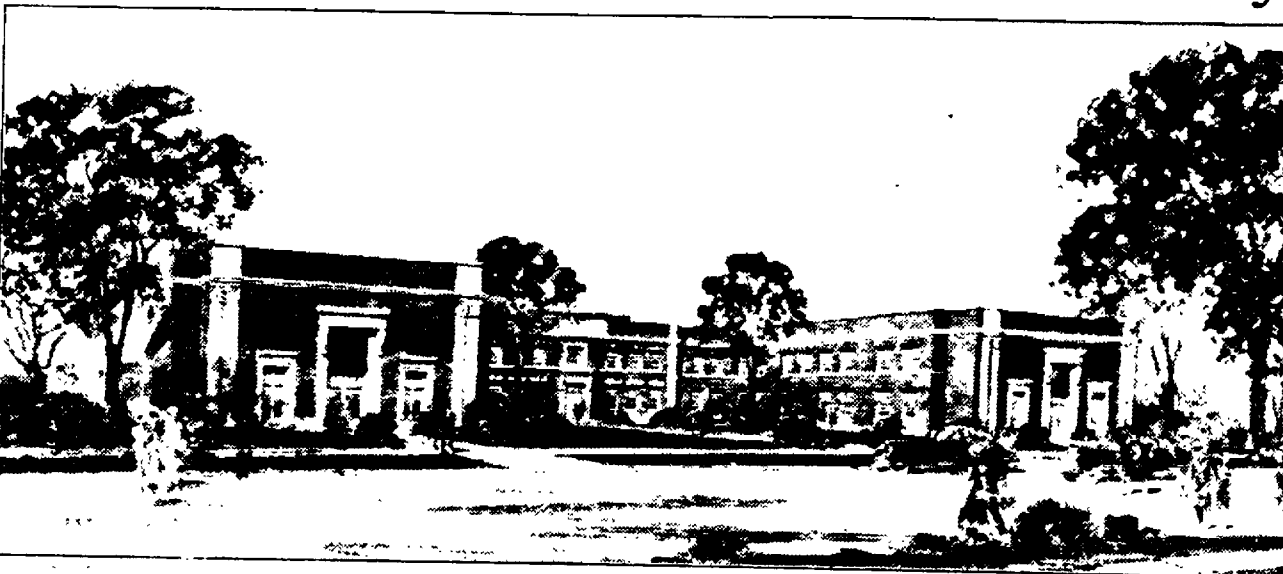

Huge increases in population and school enrollment in "America's fastest growing metropolitan suburb" left the high school filled last fall almost to stated capacity, even with the relief afforded by the opening of Pierce. High school normal working capacity is estimated at 1,425, and about 99 per cent of this number of pupils has been attending there this year.

The three buildings housing the "annexes" did, however, get relief. The Cadieux School, in St. Clair avenue, which up to 1928 housed the high school and which had more recently been used for elementary pupils, was converted to the use of seventh grade pupils as soon as the opening of the Maire School relieved crowded elementary conditions in the central portion of the seven-mile-long school district. Soon eighth grade pupils in the central and eastern portions of the district also were required to spend half of each day at the Cadieux School. The other half of each day was spent at the high school, where special facilities made possible the teaching of physical education, industrial arts, music, fine and household arts. None of these studies could be accommodated in the Cadieux building, but there pupils studied the so-called "academic subjects"—English, mathematics, social studies and the like. At noon, half the pupils left Cadieux, lunched at the high school and spent the afternoon there. At the same time, the other half of the seventh and eighth grade pupils completed morning classes at the high school, lunched there and reported at Cadieux for the afternoon.

Even this relief for the junior-senior high school enrollment proved insufficient. All over the country, high school enrollment was increased at a rate never before dreamed of, but the speed of growth in Grosse Pointe was even faster. Between 1924 and 1939, enrollment in the senior high school (grades 10, 11 and 12) in the Grosse Pointe Public School System increased more than twelve hundred per cent! As a result, a similar "annex" arrangement became necessary in the western portion of the district.

 who were angling to get permission to build an Alley on THIS side of the bridge (tracks to you all in the Noth), have lost the decision. Apparently the powers-that-be think bowling too bawdy a pastime to be indulged in by the Social Set, therefore the elegant-sia are forced to trek to West Palm Beach and mingle with the lowly clawees—that is if they want to bowl.
 Recently we read an article on the REAL Emily Post. The author paints her as a woman of great charm, naturalness and frankness. She tells of an incident that proves the latter.
 One time when Mrs. Post was judging the table decorations at a flower show, she said of one table, "This one is lousy." Maybe we've been misjudging Emily. Maybe we ought to read her book on etiquette. Maybe we'd like it.
 Went to the Sunrise Service on Easter Sunday, which is held every year on the golf links of the Breakers Hotel. It's a beautiful sight with the sun coming up over the ocean, and the green sward and lovely palm trees forming a perfect background for the colorful Easter throng. The thought of our little brown desk in the North depressed us, so we collected the eggs left by our bunny and spent the rest of the day cruising around Lake Worth in a Launch. If anybody asks if we left a sign on our door, "Out to launch,"—but of course nobody would dare!
 And so, another flock of tomorrows have become yesterdays.

Kaigoo, the latest Eastern dance craze as inspired by the jungle dances, seen in the current picture "Road to Singapore," is here demonstrated by Charles Eaton and Mary Anderson, teachers in the Arthur Murray Studios. Arm waving and hip swaying in the Oriental manner is the basic idea of the dance, and it promises to be a relaxing way to spend the evening on a dance floor.

Grosse Pointe's 'Mountain' Recalled In Humorous Tale
 As a puffing steam-shovel tore into the field at 402 Neff Road last week, a few of Grosse Pointe's pioneer residents chuckled merrily when they remembered an experience which happened on this spot many, many years ago.
 Back before the turn of the century, this site was a famous land-mark. This spot of ground, classified as a geological freak, was the product of the vast glacier which swept over this part of North America millions of centuries past. A 15-foot hill was left sticking up, strangely out-of-place in the flat surrounding land. Local farmers discovered that by burrowing into the miniature mountain, excellent sand and gravel used in cement making could be found. In a few years, the hill was pock-marked with deep holes, and one week, a farmer converted his crop of vine-grown grapes into a batch of wine. He threw the squeezed skins and pits into a nearby field. A herd of pigs, owned by Mr. John Neff, proprietor of the East Side Hotel on East Jefferson near St. Clair Avenue, proceeded to gorge themselves on the discarded skins. In a short time, all seven were stretched prone on the ground, apparently dead. The disgusted owner called several of his neighbors, and the deceased "porkeys" were chucked into one of the "Hill's" pits and covered over. Mr. Neff then forgot about his lost investment.
 Two days later, five of the buried pigs returned to the hotel's yard. The poor hogs had merely suffered an overdose of intoxication, and dug their way out after regaining consciousness. The remaining two had drowned in the water at the bottom of the would-be grave.
 The hill was gradually removed and no trace is now visible.

'Know Michigan Tourist Week' Started
 Activity of the committee chairman for Know Michigan Tourist Week, April 14 to 21, was stepped into high gear Saturday at the Hotel Harrington, Port Huron, when H. A. Hopkins, general co-chairman, called upon owners of businesses in all the counties of Southeastern Michigan to co-operate with the high school students in the questionnaire campaign in an effort to appraise the value of Michigan's tourist industry.
 "This effort is not a promotion campaign put on by tourist men," said Mr. Hopkins. "Without the help of business owners we are helpless in this work. High school students who are competing in the essay contest will call on business people in every town around the state to question them on their business owner and industrial leader is asked to estimate as closely as possible to what extent the tourist industry increases their volume of business during the season; how many additional employees they must hire to take care of the influx and other pertinent information that will be of benefit in the future to Michigan industry and business."
 Mr. Hopkins points out that it will not be necessary for business men to put their names to the questionnaire. "This is not a campaign to raise money," he says. "It is simply a sincere effort to make a survey of Michigan's second industry. You will be accomplishing two things in co-operating with this work—first, you will be aiding some high school student in Southeastern Michigan to win an all-expense vacation cruise of seven days to Georgian Bay; secondly, you will be actively participating in the first thorough survey of the tourist industry ever attempted in America."
 Supplementing this activity the Know Michigan Tourist Week committee is inaugurating a series of speaking programs before the service clubs of the districts and also an eight-minute movie will be shown in the theaters showing Michigan as a tourist state.
 The men in charge of these activities in the Thumb district are as follows: St. Clair County, Frank O'Hara, Port Huron, and Eugene Kerwin, Algonac; Sanilac County, A. R. Turrell, Crosswell, and Bert Teeple, Minden City, aided by Harry C. Smith, superintendent of schools, Sandusky, and Mr. Gorton, superintendent of schools, Croswell; Huron County, Carl Mizener, Harbor Beach. These men will work under the direction of H. A. Hopkins, Port Huron, and James A. Guinan, Dearborn, general co-chairmen for the entire Southeastern Michigan district.

Pointe Camera Club
 The Grosse Pointe Camera Club, at its meeting Tuesday, April 2, at 8:15 p. m. in the high school, will hear a lecture on "The Exposure Meter and Its Uses" by G. C. Anderson of the General Electric Company of Schenectady. Following this will be a print criticism on "Children" and other interesting subjects.

New Tax Law Explained
 We have flagrant discrimination against home owners! It should be corrected.
 The intangible tax law must be repealed!
 Under this new law:
 The tax on a $4,000 home is $129.71.
 The tax on $4,000 worth of Ford motor stock is 6 cents.
 The tax on $4,000 worth of General Motors stock is $1.24.
 The tax on $4,000 worth of Chrysler Motor stock is 9 cents.
 The tax on $4,000 worth of S. S. Kresge stock is $4.24.
 The tax on $1,000,000 worth of Chrysler stock is $22.50.

Stroh Brewery Company
 Detroit, Michigan.

The tax on $1,000,000 worth of Ford Motor stock is $15.00.
 The tax on $1,000,000 worth of real estate is $32.710.
 The tax on your home may be higher this year. If you want to cut this tax in half! Let's that this law be repealed. This is Act No. 301, Public Acts of 1939, known as the Intangible Tax Act or the Stockman Act.
 Home owners, get busy now, and ask the governor to call a special session of the legislature to repeal this law.
 Eight thousand taxpayers went to Albany, N. Y. They accomplished what they went after.
 What's wrong with Michigan home owners and Michigan real estate men? Note: If all tangible personal property were put on the tax rolls the tax rate would be cut more than half and the $4,000 home owner would save more than $648.5 a year. The saving on a $1,000,000 worth of real estate would be more than $16,355.

Milk Profit Estimates Wrong
 Few people realize how costs, profits or losses on milk are figured in fractions of a cent a quart, says the Milk Industry Foundation.
 Prof. Edward Lee Thorndike of Columbia University, noted educator, said to have "contributed most to our knowledge of how we learn," in reviewing the need for increasing knowledge of economics and business declared:
 "In a group of 76 persons much above the average in both education and intelligence, 3 out of 4 thought that the great milk companies make a profit of over 15 per cent on their sales of milk."
 A survey by the Milk Industry Foundation at Chautauque disclosed that 51 per cent of the people interviewed thought all milk companies make a profit of more than 3 cents per quart, and 23 per cent thought profits were from 2 to 3 cents per quart. Only 6 per cent knew that in the processing and distributing of fluid milk, government audits show profits of only 1-3 of a cent a quart or less. A profit of 15 per cent on the selling price of milk would mean more than 2 cents a quart if milk were selling at 14 cents a quart.
 In answer to a Foundation question, "What takes the largest part of the retail price of milk?" only 23 per cent of the people realized that payments to farmers for milk are a milk company's largest item of expense. Also inaccurate were the answers on the relative importance of wages—actually the second largest expense item.
 Milk and wages account for about three quarters of a milk company's cost. The rest of the cost of the milk is the cost of the milk itself. The people queried believed either item first in importance. Many thought officers' salaries and advertising were large items in the cost of distribution but official audits have shown these to be generally less than one half of one per cent.

Grosse Pointe Lutheran Church
 GROSSE POINTE LUTHERAN CH
 "Doubt and How to Overcome It," will be the subject of the sermon at the Grosse Pointe Lutheran Church, worshiping in the Richard School auditorium, Kercheval and McKinley, Sunday morning, March 31, at 11 o'clock, preached by the Rev. M. Luther Canup, D.D., pastor.
 "The Continuing Task," will be the topic taught in the upper grades in Sunday School at 9:45 a. m., where we have classes for all ages and grades. The world today needs to make a fresh study of the Bible. No individual, no home, no community, no business nor nation can rise higher than the principles of Jesus.

Messiah Lutheran Church
 Southeast corner of Kercheval and Lakewood avenue, A. H. A. Loeber, pastor, 1434 Lakewood avenue. Telephone Lenox 2121.
 An unnamed person has donated to Messiah Church an illuminated cross which has been placed above the reredos of the altar. This has given to the pastor the suggestion to deliver a series of sermons on the general theme of "The Cross." The following are the themes for the five sermons in this series: The preaching of the cross; bearing of the cross; the shame of the cross; glorying in the cross; the cross and the crown. The first of these sermons will be made next Sunday, March 31, in the service at 11:15 a. m., when "The Preaching of the Cross" will be the subject.
 The Sunday School will meet from 10 to 11 o'clock next Sunday.

Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church
 Sunday, March 31, 9:30 a. m.—Dr. Arabella S. Gault of Cheelo University, Tsinan, China, will be the guest speaker. Dr. Gault uses as her sermon topic, "The Saints Salute You." The church school and the junior choir will join the congregation in the first part of the worship service. Seats will be reserved for the children and their teachers. Dr. Gault will also deliver the children's sermon. Her topic for it is "Our Daily Rice."

Church school for all groups as usual.
 The annual congregational meeting of the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church will be held on Monday, April 1, at 8 p. m. in the women's parlor of The Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. Business of major importance to be considered at this meeting is the extending of a formal call to a minister and the election of a trustee. Annual reports of all the organizations in the church will also be made at this time. The congregational meeting will be followed by a social hour and light refreshments. All members and supporters of the church are urged to be present.
 On Sunday, April 7, the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated and new members will be received into the church. The members of the communicants' classes will unite with the church at that time.
 Services are held regularly in the attractively arranged auditorium of Mason School on Vernier Road. Individuals not worshipping regularly elsewhere are cordially invited to make the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church their church home.

Beardless Monks
 Monks at St. Bernard's monastery, Charnwood Forest, Leicestershire, England, were proud of their beards. That was before the crisis. Now they are clean-shaven. They found that beards and gas masks didn't go well together.

tion of the five-community school district. At first, available space on the ground or basement floor of the George Defer Elementary School was utilized for seventh, and later, eighth grade students. The Defer School had been built in 1924 and had been enlarged only four years later. Home economics and manual arts rooms were fitted up in that school and the combined gymnasium-auditorium in the building was shared with the elementary pupils. Many pupils from the eastern part of Grosse Pointe Park and the western part of the City of Grosse Pointe had been attending elementary classes at the Robert Trombly School in Windmill Pointe. This school had been constructed in 1927, but, like the Defer School, also in Grosse Pointe Park, it had almost immediately proved too small and in 1930 a large addition to it was constructed. In fact, of the present nine public schools in use in Grosse Pointe, all but the Kerby and Vernier schools were built in the last 15 years and two of them—Trombly and Defer—had to have additions.

When the Maire School was opened to pupils on October 20, 1936, both Trombly and Defer felt the relief, and a two-school arrangement for seventh and eighth graders, with the pupils shuttling back and forth at noon was instituted by Superintendent Brownell and his associates. This permitted some four hundred junior high pupils to supplement the academic classes at Trombly with the other subjects of study at Defer.

Meanwhile, and in fact for more than a decade, the junior high school problem had not been neglected. As early as 1922, soon after the consolidation of the five villages into one large school district, the first of a series of surveys by outside experts of the community's future school house needs was made. The Board of Education—one of whose five members was Charles A. Poupard, still a member of the board and treasurer of the district, engaged the services of Dr. Homer W. Anderson, then of the staff of the Detroit Public Schools and now superintendent of schools of Omaha, Neb., to study the probable needs of the area. In subsequent years, other studies were made, both by Dr. Brownell and by such educational notables as former Deputy Superintendent Charles L. Spain of Detroit; Doctors Strayer and Engelhardt, the famed educational consultants of Teachers' College, Columbia University, and Dr. A. B. Moehlman of the University of Michigan. The most recent "outside" survey was made three years ago by Dr. Malcolm Price, expert of the Detroit Public Schools on school building problems; Dr. Moehlman and Dr. W. W. Theisen of Milwaukee, Wis., both nationally known authorities on educational administration. All the surveys recommended several junior high schools, and the more recent have suggested that four such schools would be needed eventually if population growth continued.

In 1930, just after the opening of the Pere Gabriel Richard Elementary School, the Board of Education recommended that land including a parcel at Whittier, St. Paul and Andover be obtained for junior high school building. At a special district meeting, residents voted against placing the proposal before the electorate.

The depression followed and the plans drawn in 1930 for the Maire School were laid aside for nearly six years. Between 1930 and 1937, new residential construction in the Pointe proceeded at a slower rate. The public school enrollment continued to increase every year, however. The Maire School was obtained with the help of a 45 per cent PWA grant in 1936, and the make-shift arrangement of the annexes was utilized as described above. In 1936-37 community realization of the dire need of additional facilities reached a peak. In the spring of 1937 the Board of Education, with the advice and assistance of many other public spirited citizens, advanced a plan for a junior high school in the western section of Grosse Pointe Farms, adjoining the present high school. This time the proposal was placed before the electorate but it failed to obtain an approving vote.

A year later, in the spring of 1938, with all three annexes in use but filled to capacity, the question was reopened. In July, 1938, the board determined to seek a PWA grant and, if that were obtained, to lay the junior high school proposal before the voters again. At the end of August, word was received that the PWA would award $95,100 as an outright grant, without interest and with no portion to be repaid to the Federal Government—provided the district would furnish the remainder of the estimated $278,000 total cost for the land, building, equipment and other expenses. From unusually favorable collections of delinquent taxes during the business upsurge of 1936-1937 and from smaller sums saved from operating costs, the district had on hand approximately $132,000. This, with a $350,000 bond issue, would serve to make up the local 55 per cent of the cost. The PWA notified the board that action on accepting the government's offer must be taken not later than October 1, 1938. A special district election was accordingly set for September 27, and in the few weeks intervening a tremendous effort was put forth to acquaint the public with the need for the building and the possibility of getting it while bonding for only about two-fifths of the total cost. Parent-teacher organizations, the Grosse Pointe Realtors Association, The Council of P.-T. A.'s, the Grosse Pointe Review and many other agencies and individuals joined with the Board of Education and the school staff in bringing the proposition before the public. The results astounded even the most optimistic. Hundreds of residents who had never voted at a school election registered and on September 27 the largest outpouring of voters ever to engage in a Grosse Pointe school election appeared at the polls.

When the votes were counted that night in the high school cafeteria and President Parcells arose to announce the results, a still greater surprise was revealed. Not only had the vote been favorable, as had been expected, but a three-to-one plurality had been chalked up on the bond issue. To comply with technicalities of the Michigan tax limitation law, a vote had also been taken to increase the millage limit for a period of five years. This also had carried seven to one. No other such outcome had ever been attained in a contested Grosse Pointe school election. First move of Dr. E. R. Van Kleeck, new superintendent of schools, who had succeeded Dr. Brownell the previous summer, was to telegraph the glad news to his predecessor, who had assumed the chair of educational administration in the Graduate School at Yale University. The 11-year campaign led by Professor Brownell had finally borne fruit.

By the second of December, through night and day work by the architects, Derrick and Gamber, Inc., and the school staff, the plans for the building had been completed, reviewed by PWA regional headquarters at Chicago, advertised and put out for bid. On December 2 the bids were opened by the Board of Education and it was found that intense competition had resulted in unusually favorable prices. This permitted the board to equip and furnish the building for its eventual pupil enrollment rather than for the smaller initial enrollment expected. Just six days later, through the active co-operation of the PWA, low bids had been approved by the PWA, contracts awarded by the board, and ground was broken for the new school. This remarkably rapid "take-off" proved an accurate prophecy of speed during the actual construction. Unusually good weather prevailed while the excavations were being made and the footing put in. Later some delays were experienced due to trouble in getting materials such as marble and to some jurisdictional disputes and strikes, but even this lost time was made up through intensive efforts of the contractors, led by the F. H. Martin Construction Co., the firm doing the principal or architectural trades.

Altar Society Will Hold Bridge Party

The auditorium of St. Paul's School will be the scene of the annual spring party to be given by the Altar Society of St. Paul's Church on Saturday, April 6, at 1 p. m. It will be a bridge party, preceded by a chicken luncheon and as an added attraction there will be a baked goods sale of cakes and pastries from the receipts of some of Grosse Pointe's best cooks.

The general chairman is Mrs. H. G. Hammond, who will be assisted by Mrs. James Van Asscie and Mrs. Arthur Kaiser. The sale of baked goods is in charge of Mrs. Van Asscie.

Maire School P.-T. A. Meeting

The March meeting of the Maire Parent-Teacher Association has been postponed until Tuesday, April 2, at 8:15 o'clock. The speaker for the evening will be Douglas Dow, head of the research department of the Detroit Edison Company, who will talk on "Research and Advances in Electricity." Classrooms will be open from 7:30 to 8 p. m. and it is hoped all parents will use this opportunity to visit their children's rooms and to become better acquainted with their teachers.

Parents of Maire School children, relatives and friends are cordially invited to the meeting.

RCA Fidelity System At Pierce

Music, drama, instructional material, news out of the air, checked in its flight, enunciated distinctly in every room of the school—this the new RCA high fidelity sound system assures Pierce pupils through forty unit speakers.

Sleekly efficient, the master control console installed in the administrative offices contain two complete radio reception units, automatic phonograph, and multi-microphone facilities. Here are tri-functional switches governing each speaker unit and volume level apparatus checking the energizing impulses.

Dual radio units permit two different programs of either the standard broadcast or short wave band to be relayed simultaneously to two different sets of room speakers. Each speaker is individually engaged by the tri-functional switches—all or any lesser number may be in service. Thus two different departments of instruction may choose at the same time from the vast amount of educational material available through broadcast channels.

National and regional networks and major and minor local radio stations offer planned broadcasts specifically designed for the classroom. National and international crises caught at the peak can be heard by every student. Operatic and symphonic broadcasts can promote musical appreciation in the classroom. Great plays can vitalize literature study. All the magic that is radio is available whenever educationally it is most functional.

Recorded music for study or recreational purposes is possible through the automatic phonograph unit. Every noon these facilities supply the rhythms for dancing in the boys' gym. And auditorium programs are often supplemented by such transcribed melody.

Special auxiliary equipment transforms the sound system into a recording device. Acetate recordings of radio broadcasts, school musical units and dramatic groups are easily and simply made with remarkable fidelity. Corrective speech work is also facilitated by pupil recordings.

A message from the principal, a broadcast from the auditorium stage, an announcement to homeroom groups, a concert by Pierce band and chorus from the music rooms, or a student prepared news digest—daily these remote control features are presented through the sound system microphones. Actual experience in radio techniques is offered to many Pierce students in these regular school broadcasts.

In the auditorium the sound system supplies public address facilities through oversized speaker units. The speakers also function as tone amplifiers for the newly installed electric organ.

In the Pierce school the sound system is the versatile, efficient, omnipresent servant of democratic education.

Daughters of American Colonists Met

An attractive arrangement of daffodils and blue iris, filled the low Italian pottery bowl which centered the luncheon table at the annual State Assembly of the Michigan Chapter of the Daughters of American Colonists at the Ingleside Club on Tuesday. Small silk American flags flanked the low centerpiece. Mrs. Ralph E. Wisner, Mrs. Charles A. Bigelow, Mrs. Edward H. Eichelzer and Mrs. Robert M. Meisel were the hostesses.

At the meeting the complete history of her year's work was given by the head of each of the standing committees.

Mrs. Edward H. Eichelzer and Mrs. Jacob J. Lamb were chosen as delegate and alternate, respectively, to the National Assembly to be held in Washington, D. C., April 19th.

New officers were named, with the result that Mrs. Edward F. Dickieson, Jr. is the new regent of the group. In the corps of officers assisting the new leader will be Mrs. Robert C. Gammon, first vice-regent; Mrs. Lynn T. Miller of Ithaca, second vice-regent; Mrs. Mayne F. Glock, chaplain; Mrs. William D. Leut-Koop of Ann Arbor, recording secretary; Mrs. John F. Klein, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Harold A. Breck, treasurer; Mrs. Harold R. Smith, historian and Mrs. Leroy G. Vandever, registrar.

TREND OF EVENTS
By PAUL M. DEAC

Hitler may have tried once more to convince Mussolini of the advantage for Italy to enter the war on Germany's side, but it is improbable that nice words will ever do to steer the bull-headed Duce. And, what else has the fuhrer to offer than imaginary advantages. Besides, Hitler tried this stunt last September, when the Allies started out to chastise him. Convincing the Duce wasn't a hard job at all and Goebbels even announced Italy was mobilizing to attack both France and Great Britain. The only trouble was that, as the story goes, when Mussolini presented the mobilization decree to game little Emmanuel III to be signed, the king of Italy angrily brushed it aside and told the Duce that so long as he, Emmanuel III, head of the Royal House of Savoia and by the Grace of God, King of Italy, sat on the throne there would be no war between Italy and her former allies. About 70 percent of the pro-Balbo members of the Fascist party applauded the courageous king for his decision.

Since the present king is very popular in Italy his removal by force is out of the question. Nor is his resignation any more desirable for the Duce, because Emmanuel III would be automatically replaced by Crown Prince Humberto, who is a sworn enemy of Benito, and a staunch friend of Marshal Italo Balbo, a likely successor to the Duce. It is ever since sickening incident that the Italian dictator was reported to have become "a sick man." He has been slipping ever since the fasces of his ambitious and ruinous campaign in Spain. His failure to secure the necessary capital to exploit the natural resources of Ethiopia only added to his woes. And, a man in trouble is never popular.

It is improbable that Mussolini's word has any weight with the Allies. This is a preventive war forced on Nazi Germany by Britain and France and nothing can stop them from crushing Nazism. Nazism is marked for a violent death in the views of the western democracies and not even the fuhrer's new astrologer (his former ones are now gazing at the stars from a concentration camp) can change that.

The best Hitler can obtain from Mussolini is benevolent Italian neutrality. Of course, even that is subject as to whether the Allies will stand for any such meddling. They know Italy, how vulnerable she would be to take over part or all of the former Germany colonies presently held by England and France in exchange for services rendered against Nazis. Right now, Italian factories are working for the Allies and their Balkan associates. It is a profitable enterprise for the Italians. It is very unlikely they will consent to give it up just for the good looks of beau Adolf. They will more like enter the war on the Allied side. There advantages are not only concrete and greater, but that would also shield Italy from destruction. The Allies can help the Italians to hold out against the Germans, but the Germans would never dream of protecting the Italian peninsula against a combined Allied land and naval attack. This very consideration of safety had more to do with Italy's swerving in line with England and France at the very last moment in the last war, than any promise of spoils.

The Italian peninsula was shaped like a boot in 1914 and has not changed since; nor have the basic principles of Italian foreign policy changed any, in spite of certain appearances. Italy simply cannot afford to go to war against the Allies so long as they control the Mediterranean.

Hitler may have to talk to somebody in order to reassure himself, he may raise his eyes toward the heavens and silently pray for a miracle, but he will not escape his predicament, for the predicament is in him: "He who liveth by the sword will perish by the sword." He who challenged and antagonized everybody is now stupefied to discover he has no friends to turn to.

Who says there is no such thing as immanent justice?

Grosse Pointe High Cagers Complete Successful Season
By DICK BODYCOMBE

Even though Royal Oak neatly trimmed Grosse Pointe's court squad 21-15 in the first round of the State regional tournament held at Ferndale, Blue Devil basketball fans have decided that the past season has been very successful.

Grosse Pointe won eight out of ten Border Cities League contests, and finished in a tie for first place with the Fordson Tractors. The highlight of the winter's schedule occurred on the evening of February 2, when before one of the largest crowds in the history of the school, the Blue Devils trounced Fordson 23-21, ending a long Tractor winning streak.

In addition to capturing the league championship, Grosse Pointe recorded victories over three other non-league high schools. East Detroit, Port Huron, and the strong Lansing Eastern quintet fell before Coach Forrest Geary's sharpshooters.

The Blue Devils lost their opening game on December 1 to a surprising Hazel Park team in a thrilling 23-22 battle. After this unexpected victory, the Parkers found it difficult to win another game during the remainder of the season.

Grosse Pointe stumbled again three games later, when they lost the first Fordson game on the Tractor's court. Quickly regaining winning form, the Devils breezed through the next seven games. Royal Oak tripped the locals on February 16, but the Pointers won the last two scheduled contests by close margins.

Royal Oak's second victory brought Grosse Pointe's final total to 11 wins and four setbacks. The Pointers' aggressive defense failed to pay dividends in this final game, when keened referees called every infraction of the rules. Royal Oak was given 18 foul shots, and 11 of these were sunk, accounting for over half of the Acorn's total. The Blue Devils, not as accurate from the foul line, got only 3 out of 9. Neither squad showed any superior offensive strength as only 11 field goals were made during the game's 32 minutes. Adolf Neeme led Grosse Pointe with two field goals and a free throw, while McNeal and Carpenter placed Royal Oak's scoring with 6 points apiece.

Gordon Tanner, Charles Marzoff, and Bruce Beckstans were outstanding for the Blue Devils during the past season. Beckstans was graduated in February, but captained the team for the first semester. Bruce led the scorer for the first nine games. His 15 points against Port Huron proved the record for individual scoring in one game. Marzoff stepped into the role of captain for the last six games and proved a capable leader. Charlie, a tower of strength on defense, was also a dangerous shot with either one or two hands. Tanner, Grosse Pointe's main scoring attraction, accounted for over 100 points. His absence from the regional game due to an injury proved a serious handicap and one which the Devils failed to overcome.

Coach Geary will hold a dinner for all varsity letter winners tonight at his home.

Advertise Detroit Campaign Started

Acceptance of the chairmanship of the Advertise Detroit Campaign by William B. Stout and enrollment of a volunteer campaign organization this week launched united activities of Detroit civic and business leaders to bring to this city more than $180,000,000 in tourist and convention business during the current year. Wilber M. Brucker, former Governor, is vice-chairman.

The campaign is sponsored by the Detroit Convention and Tourist Bureau and the Adcraft Club. Leaders of the two organizations are determined that Detroit will maintain its position of national leadership, despite the organized and well-financed activities of other cities to divert conventions and tourists from the city.

Detroit's Convention and Tourist Bureau, which was the first to be organized in the United States, has engaged in a constructive development program for more than 40 years. Evidence of the effectiveness of this work is the fact that 1940 will be the outstanding convention year in the city's history. Key-members of the Adcraft Club, including the nation's top-flight advertising specialists, will cooperate in developing an Advertise Detroit program second to none.

Charles A. H. Thom, Vice-President of Gregory, Mayer, & Thom, is president of the Convention Bureau, and Howard O. Ward of the Export Division of the Chrysler Corporation, occupies like position with the Adcraft Club. J. Lee Barrett is executive vice-president of the Bureau, and Harold M. Hastings is the secretary-manager of the advertising group.

Coast Guard Station Again Delayed

An ordinance in the Detroit City Charter, discovered by Corporation Counsel Paul E. Krause this week, has proven another stumbling block in the path of the construction of the much-needed Coast Guard station for Lake St. Clair and the Detroit River.

The City of Detroit had originally planned to give the national government 1.66 acres of land at the head of Belle Isle for the building, but the state law prevents such a move without a 3/5 vote of the people.

It has now been suggested that the Federal Government condemn the property and pay the City of Detroit a nominal sum for the land. Such a procedure would require a court case, but the action could be quickly accomplished. City Engineer Martin R. Fisher has conferred with government authorities to determine whether such a method would be agreeable.

Helped Ban Court Wig Thomas Jefferson dissuaded justices from wearing the English wig on the Supreme court bench.

Grosse Pointe Artists Will Hold Exhibition

The Grosse Pointe Artists Association will hold their annual exhibition at the Alger House starting tomorrow and continuing through Sunday.

Tea will be served on Friday from 3 till 6. A cordial invitation to attend has been extended by the association to all interested art lovers.

Jefferson Avenue Baptist Church

The Rev. Wayland Zwyer will preach at both morning and evening worship, his subject being at 11 a. m., "Life's Broken Pieces," and at 7:30 p. m., "Religion or Ruin."

The church school meets at 9:45 a. m. The kindergarten and primary departments conduct a second session during the hour of morning worship, 11 a. m., when there is also a nursery for the convenience of parents of little ones. The youth organization meets at 6:30 p. m.

Neighborhood Club

Table with 4 columns: Team, Won, Lost, Pct. Rows include Eastminister, Comets, Saints, Fifteen Club, Indians, Rangers, Essex, Arrows.

Needing one more victory to assure them of a playoff position, the Fifteen Club fell short by two points when they met the fast stepping Comets 47-45. The lead changed hands no less than four times and it was a last minute basket by Harvey Pierce, Comet forward, that decided the issue.

The Saints are definitely "in" as far as the playoffs are concerned as the result of their 47-36 win over the lowly placed Essex aggregation. Not conceded much of a chance to win this contest with three of their regulars missing, the "holy" boys, led by Gordy LaRue, overtook a 21-18 disadvantage at half time and went on to take a decisive 11-point victory.

The Rangers played one of their best games of the season in swapping the last place Arrow crew 64-47. With "Buff" Vanderweil and Bob Hook leading the way, the Ranger boys took a 30-18 lead at the intermission and then coasted into victory in the second half.

The Indians, in the same spot as the "15" Club as far as playoffs are concerned, went down to defeat at the expense of the league leading Eastminister basketballers to the tune of 64-43. Ray Cindard dented the Indians' defense for 27 points, which is a lot of points in any ball game.

There will be a Woolworth dance at the Neighborhood Club on Friday, March 29. Everybody is welcome to attend and an added attraction is to be a floor show.

The Intermediate Girls' gym class enjoyed a grand Easter party in the gym Tuesday, March 26. The committee in charge of the party was Grace Grayburg, chairman, assisted by Joyce Trango and Shirley Hall; Anne Kerbrat, prizes, and Mary Lou DeDeyn, refreshments.

An inter club ping pong tournament will be run off at the club this week, including the following clubs in competition: The Cadettes, V. V. V.'s and Gamma Gammas. Immediately after the ping pong tournament the inter club volley tournament will begin.

The Gamma Gammas enjoyed an early morning visit to station CKLW on Monday, March 25, at which time they saw Joe Gentile and his gang do their stuff.

Women's Republican Club

Council of Wayne County Republican Women's Clubs are holding their annual birthday luncheon at the Hotel Tuller on Friday, March 29, at 12:30. Tickets may be secured from club members. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the Ford Motor Car Company. Gerald L. K. Smith is to be the speaker and Mrs. Lotta Martz, the first president of the club, will cut the birthday cake.

Members of the judiciary will be introduced during the luncheon by the president, Mrs. Hazel Moran.

Mother's Club Meeting

Mrs. Millard Toncray is chairman of the dessert bridge and fashion show that will be presented by the Mothers Club April 3 at 1 o'clock in the girls' gymnasium.

Assisting Mrs. Toncray are Mrs. Irwin Amberg, Mrs. F. W. Armstrong, Mrs. E. W. Beltz, Mrs. Earl Bridge, Mrs. E. C. Bowen, Mrs. M. Castriem, Mrs. John S. Hill, Mrs. Walter Lotz, Mrs. James A. Morgan, Mrs. A. C. McFellin, Mrs. R. G. Sickels, Mrs. C. Q. Swenson and Mrs. D. James Watson.

This party is for the benefit of the scholarship fund. All members are urged to bring their friends.

Pierce Service Club Boasts 262 Members

The second largest student organization at the John D. Pierce Junior High School is the service club. This group is comprised of 262 members and its objective is serving the school in whatever capacity student help is beneficial in school management.

The activities of the service club extend into almost every phase of school life. Thirty squads, each under a captain, are on duty at definite posts in the halls during the 30 class hours of the week. These students check permits of students passing through the halls during regular class periods, distribute attendance sheets to teachers, collect absence records for the office, are available to teachers or the office staff for use as messengers or for assistance on miscellaneous errands.

Forty students working on 15 and 20 minute shifts assume various responsibilities during the noon recess. Three squads have duties in the cafeteria, where they supervise the lunch lines, the neatness and order of the room, and check on any unnecessary disturbance. Service club members also help teachers supervise the boys' gym during the noon dancing. Three girls are responsible for the counter in the main office, and three others divide the noon hour among themselves to keep someone always on duty in the clinic, in case someone becomes ill or is injured.

Twenty service club members operate a lost and found department in the student council booth for the convenience of their fellow students. All lost articles turned in to this department are ticketed and carefully checked and kept until called for. Students are on duty for this service from 8:20 until 4 daily.

Other branches of service club activity include: Assisting in the print shop during study periods, helping to collect or distribute materials in the art rooms and materials for bulletin boards or display cases, acting as cadets in gym classes, assisting in the library before, during and after school hours, taking desk duty in the clinic during the entire day, working as office helpers who are trained to handle minor clerical routine matters, answer inside and outside phones, and handle miscellaneous requests that come to the counter in the main office, operating the phonograph records and radio for the noon dancing, acting as helpers with the noon movies, both in the projection booth and with the ushering and helping to maintain order in the auditorium.

In addition to these regular responsibilities, service club members are often called upon for special duty, in connection with evening or week-end school events. At such times these students are ready to usher, operate a check-room, conduct an information bureau, guide visitors throughout the building, assist with outside traffic and parking, or help teachers maintain order when large groups of students are assembled for participation in some program.

Any student is eligible for membership in the service club who has study periods during the day or is willing to give up some of his free time before school, during the noon period, or after school, to these activities which mean participation in school management. Service club members through such participation, are experiencing the democratic way of living, sharing the duties of group life, as well as the privileges of personal freedom.

Grosse Pointe Library

New books added to the library collection:

SCANDINAVIA, by Olson. The author, as a special correspondent for the New York Times, has lived in the five Scandinavian countries for most of the last decade. She gives a short historical background as well as a cultural and economic interpretation of each of these countries and clearly compares them.

THIS WAY SOUTHWARD, by Tschiffely. A journey through Patagonia and Tierra del Fuego in a Ford. There are many humorous and exciting incidents and very interesting descriptions of Indians, gauchos and European settlers living in this extreme southern part of South America.

CUB LIBRE, by Kantor. An exciting story of a Cuban dreamer and patriot who dies heroically for his country, and the love story of two Americans is woven in as background. IT WAS LIKE THIS, by Allen.

Two short stories about the last World War giving all the actual details of two battles on the border of France. In the introduction the author writes against war, and says he wrote this book to answer the question "What is war really like?"

ALASKA CHALLENGE, by Albee. A fascinating narrative by two young boys' trip through British Columbia and Alaska, how they lost their way in the wilderness and how they finally settled in Nome. An excellent picture of present-day Alaska.

THE TREES, by Richter. Story of a pioneer family that settles in the Ohio country about the end of the 18th century.

Lutheran Mission. This mission is conducting its services every Sunday morning in the library of the Grosse Pointe High School, Fisher and Maumee. The time of the service is 11 o'clock.

Rev. Wilbert Burmeister, who at present has charge of this mission, will on the coming Sunday, March 31, preach on the after Easter theme: "Following the Risen Christ."

The Sunday School will be in session from 9:45 to 10:45 o'clock. If you have no church home in Grosse Pointe, attend the services here and enroll your children in the Sunday School.

Origins of Bridal Veil. The wedding or bridal veil is the relic of superstition dating back to the time of the Greeks and Romans, if not much earlier. It was first worn to conceal and protect the bride from evil spirits which it was thought would harm her if she were not veiled.

For Job Printing of the better kind Call Grosse Pointe Review, Lenox 1162.

Belief About Insects. Many keen students of insects maintain that if insects did not destroy each other in their constant struggle for existence, the human race would exist only a few years.

Eclipses of Sun and Moon. Eclipses of the sun always begin on the west side of the sun; eclipses of the moon begin on the east side of the moon.
