G. P. Woods President Explains Village "Taxes"

By A. A. GUESQUIERE
(Grosse Pointe Woods Village President.)

Someone once said that there are only two sure things in this world—death and taxes. Well, since that time the two have been associated in people's minds as things to be avoided as long as possible.

Death is supposed upon us by nature and as all wise divine providence who, if the whole truth were known, probably does it for our own good. On the other hand, taxes are imposed upon us by government, political, state or local which in this land of the free and home of the brave means otherwise. We suppose taxes upon ourselves to furnish support to government for our own good.

Gratiot Township Water Rates Not Increased As Requested

Eugene C. Flawick, clerk and director of Gratiot Township's water supply system, emphatically denied that there had been any increase in water rates or an increase in meter charge on water as reported in a newspaper circulated in the township on July 24.

He did state, however, that the people approved of a plan whereby the meter charge would be increased from 5 cents to 10 cents per month.

Large Monthly Appoints Four Men To Board In Gratiot Township

Upon the recommendations of Ernest A. Provo, supervisor of Gratiot Township, Probate Judge Joseph A. Murphy made his appointments in spite of the fact that the township is in the process of reorganizing its governing body.

City Gov't Produces Further Savings for Taxpayers

City of Grosse Pointe Electors To Vote On Special Proposition

Qualified electors of the City of Grosse Pointe will vote upon a special bond issue proposition to be submitted for their approval at the general primary election Tuesday, September 10, it was announced yesterday.

The bond issue will be in the approximate sum of $200,000 and will be for the purpose of defraying the cost of a rapid sewer system to provide service in the area bounded by Cadillac and Nell Roads, between St. Paul avenue and the present 100-foot sewer along the line of the old Black Marsh Road or Fox Creek, into which interceptor the proposed rapid sewer will drain, thence to be pumped into the large conduit sewer. It is planned that the new sewer will be provided with sufficient depth so as to permit of extension to Lakeside avenue and Jefferson avenue.

The proposed bond issue must have the approving vote of at least three-fifths of the qualified electors voting therein in order to carry, and, only qualified electors who have property assessed for taxes within the city, or the lawful husbands of wives of such persons are entitled to vote on the measure.

Registration of qualified electors not already registered for voting in the city is being had daily at the office of the city clerk at 1150 Maudslayi. New residents are urged to register as soon as they have been previously registered but who may have failed to register within the past two years. Registration for other municipalities does not entitle one to vote in the primary and November elections. Residents who are in doubt as to their registration or qualifications are invited to telephone the city clerk.

Taxpayers everywhere know that practically all governments have recently been obliged to impose new and heavier taxes in order to meet the constantly increasing appropriations and expenses. There seems no other prospect for taxpayers than to face the constantly increasing tax rates and heavier financial loads for many years to come.

In sharp contrast to this trend—and doubly welcome for so being—is the record of the administration of the City of Grosse Pointe in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1940.

Cost of operating this government in 1939 was $200,000. In 1940 this figure dropped to $180,000, a saving of $20,000. Revenues for 1940 were estimated at the start of the year at $233,000 and revenues actually collected amounted to $231,127. This practice of keeping expenditures practically on a par with revenues is, of course, a marked contrast to the practice of some other branches of our government.

Taxes levied on the city decreased more than $20,000 for the year 1940—1939 as against the previous year. This was largely owing to the rate of $26 per thousand, as compared with the rate of $29.60 per thousand for the previous year. Reduced expenditures combined with better tax collections (amounting to 96.65 per cent of the total levy in the past year), and a reduction by the general fund of $20,000, permitted the city to operate on this reduced rate. It is well worth noting that although the city's population has increased substantially in the last decade, the cost of local government has been kept steadily reduced during the same period.

The city's net financial position was national opportunity during the fiscal year of 1939-40, bringing the total collection of the bond issue to more than $200,000.

The bond retirement savings fund reserve was increased during the year by the professional deposit of $12,000 and by net income from investments of $1,700, resulting in a balance of $7,650. This amount was $2,000 in excess of the accumulated savings fund requirements as that date as required by ordinance adopted on a 4-1 vote on January 1, 1939, to provide a reserve fund to retire the principal of the bonds of the city as they mature.

Provision for the next fiscal year indicates continued efforts to keep the municipal government of Grosse Pointe in the forefront of progressive government.

English Folk Dances Featured In Seventh Summer Concert

Here are some preview notes on the guest artists for the seventh concert of the 1940 summer season, to be held on the Grosse Pointe High School campus, August 7.

The group to be featured next week will be the Birmingham Country Dance Society in English folk dances. The director of the group, Mrs. Cora Farrar, studied under Cecil Sharp, founder and first director of the English Folk Dance Society. Mrs. Farrar takes the summer course of the American Country Dance Society at Cape Cod each year, herself conducts courses for leaders in youth organizations, and has recently been teaching at Camp Osoha, Frankfort.

The dancers are eight young people from the classes of the local (Birmingham) branch of the American Country Dance Society. Last year they gave a performance of Elizabethan dances at the Greek Theater, Cranbrook, during the Little Theater's presentation of "Elizabeth the Queen."

Three of the dances, Picking Up Sticks, Dargason and Glorishears, are from England; the fourth, Thady You Gander, is a country dance from the State of Maine. Dargason is a figure dance for eight, from the Cecil Sharp collection. Glorishears is a form of Morris jig, or ritual dance. In the Morris jig, bells are worn on the knees, and the dancers beat sticks together in an attempt to expel all evil spirits. In former times the dancers used to blacken their faces, hence the name morris, (i. e., "Moorish").

The costumes of the dancers are not historical, but rather the uniform used by all English folk dancers; white smock dresses for the women, white trousers and shirts (with the addition of bells in the morris dance) for the men.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Scripps (Barbara Le Gro), who recently returned from the C-M Ranch in Wyoming, are now in their new home on Moran Road.

Miss Mae Balle is back in the Pointe after a stay of several days with the Archibald McKays at their summer home on Crystal Lake.

Local Republican Women Repeat Emphatic Demand For More Voting Booths

The following article was written by Mrs. Edwin Krieger, president of the Women's Republican Club of Grosse Pointe.

The Women's Republican Club of Grosse Pointe was greatly surprised last week when upon opening The Grosse Pointe Review to read the two-inch headline "More Answer Republican Women," with an added notice in heavy print read "Meditate Answer to Republican Women."

The council of the City of Grosse Pointe must be very keen indeed at the simple request of the Women's Republican Club of Grosse Pointe for two more voting booths. The delegation of five women appeared before the council at the invitation of the mayor on Monday, July 15th.

The club's attention had repeatedly been drawn to the condition existing in the City of Grosse Pointe where one voting booth, not centrally located, serves a community of over six thousand persons with a registration of about 1,600.

Due to such work done by the women, such as house to house canvassing, the registration in the city, as Mr. Meder admits, is high, but voting on election day in the city is always disappointing.

What is the answer? The Women's Republican Club of Grosse Pointe studied the situation and came to the conclusion that one voting booth was not sufficient and that distances were too great for many voters to make. Among them mothers with children, families with one or no cars and voters who did not care to borrow neighbors' cars as was suggested by the city council.

November weather is almost always cold and stormy, with short days—an item to take into consideration when demanding better voting facilities for the city.

We are coming to a most important presidential election on November 5th. This election is considered the most important election since the time of Lincoln. The Women's Republican Club of Grosse Pointe feels that American principles of government are at stake, and every vote is needed. We cannot afford to lose a single vote.

Reaching the apathy and indifference of Grosse Pointe voters to all things political, was the real motive for or-

Shorter Waiting Period For Workers' Compensation

A Resolution by Arthur W. Swadlow, Chairman of the First District State Senate.

Under present unemployment conditions, unemployment compensation is a necessity to the large class of lay-offs from work during seasonal shut-downs in production. It is not relief in any form, but is the right of the working man to receive benefits in time of need from a fund he has built up by weekly contributions from his pay envelope. Such benefits should be paid promptly when they are needed and should not be delayed five weeks or longer, as they are today. This unnecessary delay often makes it necessary for workers entitled to benefits to go on relief or welfare to enable them to feed their families, while a few simple changes in the present law, which would actually save the State money, would eliminate all the undesirable features, all the needless waiting for the benefit check, all the worry of how to support a family, when you have the money coming to you.

But let us see how this can be done, and how the unemployment compensation system works today. You are working and then laid off. First, there is a two-week waiting period. Nothing can be done during that time. After two weeks, you register and at the end of the third week, you can apply for compensation, but the check isn't issued until three weeks have been investigated, which takes several weeks. Under these conditions the benefit is not paid for at least five weeks after you were laid off, and most of the time it is five weeks, not weeks, before the check comes through. What can be done to help this? The waiting period can be cut to three weeks by allowing applicants to register for unemployment compensation as soon as they are out of work. Then, with an immediate investigation, the check can be issued at the end of the third week, when the worker is entitled to the compensation.

Unemployment compensation is—and should be—purely a relief to economic and business conditions than any other form of social insurance. The very purpose of unemployment compensation is to build up funds during periods of relatively good employment to be available for the payment of benefits when industry fails to maintain employment. However, it must always be kept in mind that unemployment compensation is a form of social insurance.

Lacking native industries and liquid capital, Dr. McDowell remarked, the Balkan nations found their greatest weakness in their economic and financial dependence on the neighboring great powers of Europe. Despite the fact that they have extensive resources and have taken great forward strides in the days since the last war, he continues, these states have found prosperity only in the purchase of manufactured goods and the sale abroad of their surplus of raw materials.

These factors, Dr. McDowell asserts, have been responsible directly for Germany's economic penetration and indirectly for the intrusion of her ideology on the minds of the Balkan peoples.

Dr. McDowell cites a number of examples of the devious means by which Germany has subverted the economic systems of Balkan and Near Eastern nations to serve her own interest, even against the interest and desires of the small states involved. Among his examples is obtaining what amounted to forced loans from Greece and Bulgaria during the first six months of the present war.

In this period, Dr. McDowell declares, Germany so increased her imports of foodstuffs from these two countries that the Greeks and Bulgarians themselves were actually put on short rations, although payment was made by Germany for only 20 per cent of the exports—and that, of course, in goods rather than cash. The balance of the payments, he adds, was postponed indefinitely.

Greece and Bulgaria, Dr. McDowell points out, were then not only supplying themselves to supply Germany but were making a forced loan to Germany, the aggregate sum of which amounted to a major contribution to German financial strength. Further, he declared, the total was so large that the threat of default by Germany, as well as the refusal to purchase further goods, was sufficient to compel the governments concerned to increase exports on terms still more disadvantageous.

Dr. McDowell concludes with the warning that the Latin American countries, like the nations of the Balkan and the Near East, have resources needed by Europe and must export or die. Their situation, he asserts, is a distinct parallel to that of the Balkan states, and the solution of their export problem must be found as a part of hemisphere defense, else the parallel will continue to the point of German penetration of their economies and, eventually, their political thought.

Homeville Is the Life. "The life of the nation lies in the hand of the housewife" is an old Bavarian proverb.

Americans Warned Of Nazi Methods Used In Balkan Area

Latin America and the United States must take warning from the situation of the Balkan if an effective anti-air defense is to be accomplished, according to Dr. Robert H. McDowell, University of Michigan archeologist and a former officer of the British intelligence service.

Writing in the Michigan Alumni Quarterly Review, Dr. McDowell points out the weaknesses of the Balkan states that permitted Nazi conquest of the area.

Unemployment compensation is—and should be—purely a relief to economic and business conditions than any other form of social insurance.

The purpose of unemployment compensation is to build up funds during periods of relatively good employment to be available for the payment of benefits when industry fails to maintain employment.

Symphony Concert Features Norwegian Folk Dances

Norway provided the theme of the music and dance program presented on the high school campus, July 24. The Michigan WPA Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Valter Poole, played the Peer Gynt Suite No. 2, the incidental music written for the theme play by the Norwegian master, Grieg.

The Norma Folk Dancers presented three Norwegian folk dances in authentic costume. The women wore vests and caps of scarlet, resembling those popularized by Sonja Henie. The folk costumes of the men consisted of linen breeches, silver buttoned jackets and scarlet vests.

Soloist for the evening was Miss Sartori, soprano, who sang an aria from Cavalleria Rusticana, Il Barco, and La Dama. The audience was particularly pleased with the familiar Il Barco, which Miss Sartori sang with effortless grace.

Spiced among the "grown-up" audience were Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Allison, Mrs. Leigh Pascoe and Mrs. Charles A. Behrman. Among the younger audience...

Link Is A Scrappy Business, And One With A New Future

Do you despise junk? Well, don't, advises McDonald White in a recent magazine article. "It is a big business—and, with wars on, a booming one," he says. "In the United States, for example, it is in the billion-dollar class and still growing. Industrial machines like shavers, Aladdin's lamps are squeezing the junk pile out of things in an amazing variety. In fact, almost everything boys nowadays is partly made from waste materials."

"War always brings the junk business. During the 1914-18 affair, scrap iron leaped from $4 to $32 a ton. History seems about to repeat itself, for already the price is climbing. If it continues high steel prices may slow down construction, work and production of both capital and consumer goods for years to come. Or at least until guns, armaments, bayonets and 'duds' can be converted into plowshares. As mines are exhausted, as wars inevitably waste nature's riches, as men by political action cut off his followers from sources of much-needed supply, the junk business will continue to grow. It's a business with a future!"

Must Meet for Lunch. It must have been properly cared and stored, it should store indefinitely in a dry, dark, cool, well-ventilated place. Many farmers keep their hams and cures a year or longer until they develop the mellow flavor characteristic of stored smoked pork.

Advance ticket sales for the August 3 celebration indicate one of the most successful Police Field Days ever held. Superintendent Louis L. Berg told reporters yesterday. A program headed by Red Nichols and his Five Peasies, and loaded with stellar acts by the police mounted and motor divisions; Johnny Becker, diving paratrooper; the police clowns, accordion bands and crack police athletes from Toronto, Cleveland and Dearborn are responsible for the ticket demand. For the first time since the inception of the Police Field Day, 14 years ago, the possibility of a Detroit victory over Toronto in the tag-of-war is seen. In a recent field meet at Toronto, the Motor City behemoths won in two straight pulls. Proceeds of Detroit's only combined track meet and circus are placed in the police insurance fund for the benefit of the police and their families.

Modern Furniture Uses New Test Tube Products

Modern furniture designers are turning to the test tube instead of the forest for inspiration in fashioning the love seats and chair lounges that will decorate the smartly modern American home.

This year's furniture fashions, recent exhibits show, are using synthetic concoctions from the scientist's laboratory; have borrowed tweed fabrics which formerly went into topcoats for use as upholstery materials and even have gone to the jungle for rubber cushions to replace the down so long supplied by our feathered friends.

Glass, which is probably the world's first synthetic material, this year has come to the fore as a suitable substitute for all types of furniture, including chairs, dining room tables, beds, dressers, fire screens and scores of other items. Overcoming earlier criticism that it was too modernistic, bent plate glass has been accepted by many leading designers as an ideal material for furniture which is not only attractive, but also comfortable. In the new mode, polished plate glass appears in curved shapes to form the legs for end tables, the backs of chairs, and sofa cushions.

Some of the most interesting uses of synthetic materials in the new furniture designs. Some are gaily colored; others worn in give reduced effects. This type is particularly adaptable for outdoor furniture. The milky sap of the rubber tree, whipped to a foam-like consistency, and permeated with holes for ventilation, is being used today for upholstered furniture and mattresses.

Glass and plastics, however, are not the only new in the 1940 furniture presentations. Wrought iron and aluminum also have caught the fancy of the furniture designer and authorities predict that if the present trend continues the day may not be far distant when American homes will be furnished completely with glass and metal furniture which will vividly express the modern streamlined era.

Doctor's Butterfly Hobby Pays Sons' Way in College

Dr. Charles J. Wahr of Bellevue, Ohio, paid the college tuition of his two sons with butterflies, which he had collected for more than 30 years.

He supplied Finlay college with a collection of the insects for his biology department to pay the tuition of his oldest son.

"That seemed like a good idea," Dr. Wahr said, "so when my next son was ready for college, I sent a similar, but more complete, collection to Adelbert college of Western Reserve university in Cleveland—my alma mater."

Dr. Wahr began his collection of butterflies when he was more than 10,000—when he was put in charge of a summer camp while still a medical student.

"Among the campers were many high school students who had been instructed by their biology teachers to collect and mount specimens of any insects they could find," Dr. Wahr said. "I became so interested that I decided to start a collection of my own." That was in the summer of 1908—and I'm still at it, and as interested as ever."

Dr. Wahr's collection includes specimens from all over the world. "A butterfly collector must have friends all over the world if his collection is to be complete," he said. "The Philippine section of my collection was helped by my neighbors in the Philippines."

Frederick Springer, an artist friend from Cuba, brought the physician a large Cuban collection when he visited him recently.

"Naturally the most beautiful specimens come from the tropics," Dr. Wahr said. "I went to Florida two years ago and came back with more than 1,000 beautiful moths."

at a penny each. Each stamp bears a picture of an animal, bird or plant.

The conservation club has in the last three years taken charge of sale of these stamps in the Grosse Pointe area and this year its sales mounted to a new high of $150.

Mrs. Wagner recently announced that the rapid popularity growth in the conservation club has necessitated forming two new chapters for next semester. Each group will be limited to a membership of 35 students to enable total membership to be doubled. The junior chapter will be available to tenth graders and the senior chapter will be open to eleventh and twelfth graders who have a knowledge of biology and more than a passive interest in conservation.

Secretary Of State Says Half Million Cars Lack Full-Year Plates

Harry F. Kelly, Michigan's secretary of state, calls attention to the fact that there are still close to a half million motorists in Michigan operating with first half year auto license plates which expire at midnight, August 31.

"Full year plates have been on sale at half price in all our offices since July 10," said Mr. Kelly, "but there has been little demand for them, outside of from purchasers of new cars. The law does not permit me to extend the time for the use of first half tags, so all cars on the road September 1, must have full year 1940 tags. I would like to urge all owners who can possibly do so to get their tags now and avoid the inconvenience of lining up in crowds on the last few days."

Mr. Kelly also reiterated a warning that purchasers of new plates must destroy the first half tags to prevent the possibility of them falling into improper hands and being used illegally on other cars.

Department of state records show that in Wayne County alone there are still 170,000 motor vehicles still using first half tags which expire the last day of this month.

Candidate For Governor Tells Platform

"The real solution to promoting efficiency and money-saving activities in state government," according to Ernest T. Conlon, Republican candidate for governor, "is in support of the constitutional amendment for civil service, a new system of state buying, and a warehouse plan for liquor control in Michigan."

Conlon believes these three plans would eliminate bosses in government by ending the present system by which bosses thrive. "My plan is the taxpayers' plan of reducing government expense by attacking the present costly political system," says Mr. Conlon.

"Candidates shout about bosses but pitifully lack the courage to attack the system which makes bossism possible. I vigorously oppose bossism in any form of government but unless we change the system the candidates now crying out against bossism would be bosses themselves if elected."

"A real civil service would eliminate job patronage; a real buying system with a trained non-political buyer would prevent paying political debts with taxpayers' money. Take patronage and buying out of politics and you have nothing to attract or interest bosses," says Mr. Conlon.

Mr. Conlon would pay all old age pension applicants and provide funds for crippled children with money saved from reduced payrolls from civil service, by efficient tax collection methods, and by eliminating state liquor stores.

Mr. Conlon also contends that the personnel in every department could be reduced at least 20 per cent, thereby increasing efficiency at reduced payrolls.

"Taxpayers in the 83 Michigan coun-date for governor. In dedicating myself in this offer to public service, I shall do for Michigan what Wendell L. Willkie will do for the United States; namely, a vigorous business administration of state affairs. No bosses, no promises, and no politics."

The program to stop needless spending in state government, as presented by Mr. Conlon, is the program of the state taxpayers' committees in each of the 83 counties, developed when he was manager of the Chamber of Commerce of Michigan.

Mr. Conlon will carry his campaign into the Upper Peninsula the first week of August, when with a group of his taxpayers' committees he will accept speaking engagements across the Straits.

Balinese Modesty

Although Balinese maidens are usually uncovered from the waist up, they are shocked by American custom which dictates that women's legs should be shown. The Balinese woman modestly wears a long skirt, fastened at the waist, which must be long enough to fall down over her ankles.

Conservation Club Benefits Community

By DOUGLAS SIMPSON
(High School Journalism Student.)

Several clubs in the Grosse Pointe High School endeavor to carry on activities not only beneficial to students but also directed toward the well-being of the community.

The Conservation Club is an organization in this category. Its work is, in every respect, one of public service.

The idea of an organization to aid in conservation of wild life, trees and natural resources was developed in biology classes. Enthusiastic students began investigating the possibility of a club, and in February, 1937, a club charter was granted by the student association.

Mrs. Myrtle Wagner, biology instructor, highly pleased with the students' reaction, became active sponsor. Club membership was limited to 35 senior high school students. Research work in the form of reports and trips occupied most of the time and occasional social meetings added a friendly atmosphere. Mrs. Wagner wrote in the club log: "My first purpose was to foster interest and further knowledge of conservation by definite conservation activities."

In January, 1938, the club undertook its first community enterprise. The winter had given us an unusually large amount of snow, and birds were dying by the thousands. The state conservation department made an appeal for feed for the feathered creatures and sent the club 100 pounds of grain. Feeding stations were constructed on the school grounds and club members circulated verbal appeals to their friends and neighbors.

The chief single event of the conservation club each year is the sale of Wildlife Conservation stamps. The National Wildlife Federation in Washington, D. C. annually sets a week aside in March for the sale of these stamps

Grosse Pointe Baha'is Hold Open House

At the last "open house" held regularly each Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George True, a small number of Baha'is students and "enquirers" were favored by the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Christian, much-sought-after Baha'i teachers.

All teaching in the Baha'is faith, undertaken either in one's own locale or as a pioneer to the remote corners of the globe, is regarded as a supreme privilege, as well as a responsibility, by the Baha'i teacher, who is more than amply rewarded by the occasional discovery of those souls who are detached enough from the vanities of this over-civilized

Wanted 'Easy' Living
When two men "confessed" to the murder of Jaime Lozano in the Estancia San Roman Department of Rio Negro, police Uruguay were puzzled. One Santos was the first to admit guilt and soon afterward Leon Freydenberg declared in Montevideo that he killed Lozano. Given the third degree, Freydenberg finally admitted that he had "confessed" because he wanted to be placed in prison, where he could sleep and get three meals a day without having to work.

No Income Tax
Fourteen of the nation's 48 states have a prospective resident now living in Iowa. Tax commission officials told of receiving a letter from an Iowan who wanted a list of the states which have no income tax so that she will know where to go when she leaves.

The Philippine islands were discovered in 1521 by the Portuguese navigator, Magellan. In 1592, a Spanish exploring expedition named the group in honor of Prince Philip, later Philip II of Spain.

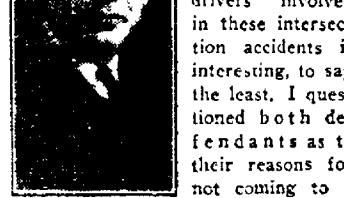

Barber and Customer Die
An unusual accident cost two lives in a barber shop in Bodenburg, near Salzdorf, in Germany. A customer entered the crowded shop and asked the proprietor if, with the permission of the waiting customers, he might be shaved next because he had to catch a train. Everyone was agreeable and the barber began shaving the man. Half way through the shave, the barber had a heart attack and dropped dead. The razor cut the customer's throat as the barber fell, severing the former's carotid artery. The customer died within two minutes.

"BEYOND THE BENCH"

By JUDGE THOMAS F. MAHER
Of Traffic Court

Intersection Accidents

Two motorists stood before me the other day in Traffic Court charged with reckless driving. Both had driven into an intersection without first stopping or slowing down to ascertain if another car was coming. As too often happens in such cases there was—and a collision followed. The attitude of drivers involved in these intersection accidents is interesting, to say the least. I questioned both defendants as to their reasons for not coming to a stop before entering the intersection. One answered that the intersection was not marked with a stop sign and there was no traffic light so he assumed it wasn't necessary. The other said he was driving on the wider street and figured he had the right of way. Hundreds of drivers make these mistakes every year in Detroit or there wouldn't be so many accidents. It is an elemental principal of traffic safety that motorists, before entering any intersection, should first make sure that no other car is coming. Generally slowing down at unmarked intersections is all that is required but, if necessary, the car should be brought to a complete stop. This is particularly important at streets where the view is obstructed by houses, stores, display signs, and the like. It just doesn't make sense to argue about who had the right of way after the accident has occurred and somebody has been hurt. An ounce of safety is worth a bushel of argument in court that the other driver should have stopped.

Judge Thomas F. Maher

In the great majority of these accidents at intersections where there are no traffic signals or stop signs both drivers are at fault. Justice is served by finding both drivers guilty of reckless driving but that doesn't mend broken bones or restore battered automobiles.

Two Woods Boys Enlist As Marines

Tra Cusick and Bill Williams, both of Ridgmont avenue, Grosse Pointe Woods, have enlisted in the United States Marine Corp, it was revealed Monday.

Cusick and Williams will leave for training at Parris Island, South Carolina, next week.

Both boys are former students of Grosse Pointe High School, Cusick having been graduated in June, 1939.

Rotary Club Builds Health Lodge For Detroit Boy Scouts

Detroit's Rotary Club has authorized the construction of a new health lodge at the Charles Howell Boy Scout Reservation, located near Brighton, Mich., and owned by the Detroit Area Council of Boy Scouts of America.

The lodge, costing about $1,350 to build, is now practically completed and will be officially dedicated by Rotary officials at the mid-summer meeting of the Scout Council's executive board on Tuesday, August 13.

"Approximately 1,500 Scouts and leaders will be examined each season by the camp's resident physician, whose quarters are also included in the new building," said Amos R. Shields, district executive.

When completely furnished with the necessary hospital equipment, the health and recreation health lodge will be one of the finest in scouting.

Rotary has spent nearly 25 years in service to the community in the camp's health lodge project. The committee was unanimous in its approval of the health lodge project. Scout leaders felt that the gift is one of the best things done to local scouting in many years.

Worry New Headache? It Has Plagued Mankind Since Time's Dim Dawn

No product of the machine age is this word "worry," nor are men of the 20th century unique with quail-knit brows amid a world boiling with conflict and confused thinking. Since the dawn of time worry has tormented and plagued mankind, declares James Truslow Adams, noted historian, in a current magazine article, suggesting that we needn't worry about worry, because somehow man has made progress despite it.

There is no yardstick to measure worry, Historian Adams admits, but discovers from "what I have read in history, biography, memoirs, and letters" that man today worries more than his ancestors and the ancients. Why? We are softer, he says, suggesting that we no longer accept suffering as the order of nature, and that persons on relief today demand things unattainable to the rich a few generations ago.

Other factors conducive to worry are an upset of balanced nervous systems through misuse of centers controlling physical emotion and exercise of intellectual nerve centers, fearfulness "because we are less self-reliant," imbalance in newspapers and radios playing up the "dreadful news" and the change of emphasis on values and the lack of self-respect, Adams explains.

Christian Science Church

"Love" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science Churches throughout the world on Sunday, August 4.

The Golden Text (Ps. 63:1, 3) is: "O God, thou art my God. . . . Because thy loving kindness is better than life, my lips shall praise thee."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (I John 4:7, 8): "Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include: "The Christian causeth no evil, disease, nor death."
