Grosse Pointe to Have New Hospital

Bon Secours to Erect First Wing of New Hospital

Ground was broken last Monday morning on Cadieux road and Maumee avenue, City of Grosse Pointe, for the erection of a new Bon Secours hospital for convalescent patients.

The new building, which will accommodate 35 patients is being erected on a five-acre site. It will be near the home which now has rooms for eight patients and which was opened some years ago. Plans for the new bulding were drawn by Roland Gies, architect. Joseph Krausman is the contractor.

Masonic Concert Series to Open Oct. 15

To the distinguished roster of Negro singers that includes Marian Anderson, Roland Hayes, and Paul Robeson, has now been added Dorothy Maynor, the sensational young soprano who will open the Masonic concert series at Masonic auditorium on Wednesday evening, Oct. 15.

A few years ago, this modest young singer was planning a career as a teacher of public school music Today, after a swift rise to fame audiences all over America are proclaiming her as the musical "find" of the decade. Miss Maynor was discovered when she sang for Serge Koussevitztky, conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra at the Berkshire Festival. Since that time, she has made many appearances with famous American symphony orchestras.

Detroiters are indeed fortunate to have the opportunity of hearing this versatile singer whose unusual voice ranges from the high notes of true soprano brilliance to the deep vocal quality of her race, thus enabling her to sing with equal ease and effectiveness the difficult arias of the classics and the Negro spirituals of which she is so fond. Not only are critics acclaiming Miss Maynor's superb voice, but also her instinctive skill in interpretation. Says Olin Downes, leading critic of season will start Friday, Oct. 3, at the New York Times, "She has virtually everything needed by a great artist: The superb voice, one of the finest the public can hear today, exceptional musicianship and accuracy of intonation; emotional intensity, communicative power. She should be able to reach almost any height as one of the leading concert singers of her generation." Surely Miss Maynor seems to be filling Mr. Downes' prophecy.

Discouragement and desperation sit at the council tables of the nations, crying to them: "Where is your God?" Those who consider themselves wise in this world's wisdom seek to answer this query with some philosophy or ism, forgetting that deeply significant prophecy of Isaiah concerning the coming of Christ Jesus, of whom he said: "The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me: because the Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound; to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God: to comfort all that mourn: to appoint unto them that mourn in Zion, to give unto them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness: that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord, that he might be glorified."

In Luke's Gospel we are told that Jesus read aloud in the synagogue at Nazareth this prophecy, and acknowledged its application to himself and his work in these words: "This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears.

Works of Restoration

Later, in Mark's account, as Jesus is about to be separated from his disciples, he tells them of the works of restoration he is intrusting to them in these words: "And these signs shall follow them that believe: In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; they shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover. . . . And they went forth, and preached every where, the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs fol-

And these were the tests our Master set for those primitive Christians, the works of restoration they must do to prove themselves in truth his faithful followers.

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer the author of its textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," and its forever Leader, states as her purpose in the "Historical Sketch" in the Manual of The Mother Church (p. 17): "To organize a church designed to commemorate the word and works of our Master, which should reinstate primitive Christianity and its lost element of healing."

Amidst all the present-day confusion of thought and action, what glorious peace and freedom are enloyed by the Christian Scientist, who. with singleness of vision, clings to God, knowing that He, the only Cause and creator, is the Saviour of the world from its own false conclusions and fears!

It has been charged that Christianity has failed in these times of our greatest stress. The answer to this charge might very well be that it has not been sufficiently understood and practiced by those who assume to do the world's thinking

Right Sense of Deity

How grateful all should be for the teachings of Christian Science, which have restored to the world a right sense of Deity! Not only a God afar off, but a God at hand—"Closer is He than breathing, and nearer than hands and feet." A God who is everywhere present, everywhere all-powerful, everywhere all-knowing. A God who knows no evil, who sanctions it not; who says to the man of His creating: "You are free, whole, perfect, strong, intelligent, healthy, prosperous, progressive, and forever at peace with thy brethren." This God-the only God-the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob; of Moses, Elijah, and Elisha; the God of Isaiah, Jeremiah, and Malachi: the God taught and exemplified by Jesus and his disciples, is just as available today as He was centuries ago. Now as then, He it is, as the Psalmist sang, "who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy who redeemeth thy life from destruction: who crowneth thee with lovingkindness and tender mercies." Not a God of battles, not a God of disasters, floods, storms, and earthquakes, but that God who speaks today, as of yore, through the "still small voice" of Mind. The God who loves all mankind and who, relied upon, will lead all mankind in the ways of Love, and away from the ways of hatred, malice, revenge, envy, jealousy, and resentment. The God who is always available, always wise, always just, always on the side of that which is right and good. What courage this should inspire that error cannot be added to God's universe, detracting from its true nature; that sickness cannot force itself upon us to take away health; that poverty cannot intrude to deprive us of prosperity; that sin cannot beset us to rob us of purity; that sorrow's pall cannot shroud our toy with gloom: that war cannot bereave us of our peace!

Of this one and only creator and His one and only creation the Bible has this to say: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth."

Dominion? That means control doesn't it? But how runs the modern idea of man and of his status in the scheme of things? Mortal man, not God's man, believes that evil has dominion or control over him. And why? Mainly because of a false belief about man, not based upon the spiritual account of creation as related in the first chapter of Genesis, and as exemplified in the healings of Jesus, but upon the materially counterfeit account of creation given in the second and following chapters, in which man is supposed to have been made of the dust of the ground and to have become involved in all the errors of material sense.

True and False Creation

Christian Science has brought about a restoration of the right sense about man by calling attention to these widely differing descriptions of creation, and showing that they do not complement each other, but are evidently set down side by side in order to show the truth of the first and the consequent falsity of the second.

Mrs. Eddy devotes fifty-seven pages of her textbook to an exegesis or spiritual interpretation of these contrasting accounts of creation, because she realized the importance of starting from the right viewpoint in order to arrive at the correct conclusion in regard to man.

In their efforts to gain a right sense of what is meant by man as the image and likeness of God, Christian Scientists utilize Mrs. Eddy's term "reflection."

On page 515 of the textbook, Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy writes: "Your mirrored reflection is your own image or likeness. If you lift a weight, your reflection does this also. If you speak, the lips of this likeness move in accord with yours. Now compare man before the mirror to his divine Principle, God. Call the mirror divine Science, and call man the reflection. Then note how true, according to Christian Science, is the reflection to its original. As the reflection of yourself appears in the mirror, so you, being spiritual, are the reflection of God. The substance, Life, intelligence, Truth, and Love, which constitute Deity, are reflected by His creation; and when we subordinate the false testimony of the corporeal senses to the facts of Science, we shall see this true likeness and reflection everywhere." Try this some time, just as an experiment. It will help to fix this idea firmly in consciousness. See if it is possible for your reflection to look differently from you, or to act differently. The Prodigal Son

Mortal man believes it to be possible to separate himself from God, and to take up an independent course of action; to think, and speak, and act for himself, without recourse to the divine Mind for inspiration or direction. He believes he can go his own way of materiality and ignominy if he so pleases!

But, can he? In the fifteenth chapter of Luke, Jesus tells about the prodigal son. In the light of what has just been said, let us look at this story, remembering that it is a parable, and not the story of a real person, although incidents similar in every way have been enacted over and over again. Jesus drew a word picture of a well-to-do family, the younger son of which, longing to get away from restrictive discipline in the parental home and to follow his own devices, persuaded his father to let him have his inheritance, and took it with him into a far country where he wasted this accumulation upon false friends and in loose living. And then came a famine in that land-a depression, to use a more modern term.

He found himself in want and had to seek employment. (That has a familiar sound, hasn't it?) He could find work only of the lowest order, according to the thought of that time, tending swine. His false friends had disappeared, no man gave unto him, and he sought to satisfy his hunger with the scanty fare provided for the swine. As with many another, when everything was at its lowest ebb, suddenly his thought began to clear. He saw himself and his foolish course of conduct in their true light. In other words, he began to reflect He realized what he seemingly had given up in leaving his father's house, where all were cared for bountifully. He decided to return home on any terms his father would permit. He started home; but his father saw him a long way off and ran and greeted him lovingly, and gave a feast in his honor, declaring: this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found."

No Lost Substance

Now, remember this was a parable through which Jesus was teaching a lesson to his followers, which is a lesson for us, too. What is this lesson? Well, can substance, which is eternal, be lost? No, because God is substance. What, then, did the prodigal son waste? Nothing-in other words, just a false sense of substance all that he had ever taken into a far country. Is there any place that is far from God, where a famine could arise? No, there is no such place. Is there a place where man, the real man, could be in want? No: where God is, and He is everywhere, there can be no lack.

"And he arose, and came to his father." Who is father? Love is Father. The prodigal rose higher mentally because of this trial through which he seemingly had passed. Did divine Love delay in recognition of this idea which seem-ingly had strayed? No. Love had never lost sight of His idea-never ost sight of him for an instant. Man is forever in divine Mind, forever reflected and held perfect, whole, harmonious, healthy, strong, and prosperous. Had the Father ever failed in loving His idea? No. Love ever loves His reflection. "And Love is reflected in love" (Science and Health, p. 17), our Leader says. The father called for the best robe, a ring for his hand, shoes for his feet, and a feast as for the son and heir. Why? Had not this son taken his share of substance into a far country and wasted it in riotous living? Had he not fallen into degradation of the lowest type? No. In absolute truth, the real son, Love's idea, the reflected image of God, never had left his Father's house, never had strayed, never had sinned, never had squandered one tota of the divine substance which is the heritage of all God's children.

Not Even a Shadow

But what was this poor thing which went down into the depths? Had it substance, intelligence, reality, perfection, immortality, wisdom? No. It had none of these. It was unreal. It was not reflection. It was not even a shadow of a shadow of a shadow of the real son, who never had left the Father-who never can leave Him. John tells us that Jesus, while he was at Jerusalem attending one of the Jewish feasts, said: "Search the scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life: and they are they which testify of me."

Our Master followed his own injunction, patiently searching the writings of Isaiah and the other prophets who had foretold his coming as the promised Messiah, and carrying to fulfillment all these prophecies. Of the years preceding his active ministry and of his labor of preparation there is scanty record following the episode, as recorded by Luke, of his being found in the temple by Joseph and Mary, at the age of twelve, questioning and answering the questions of the doctors of the law. You will remember the statement: "And all that heard him were astonished at his understanding and answers." Mary Baker Eddy was from early childhood a student of the Scriptures, a searcher for something better and higher than was afforded by the religious teachings of her day. Like Abraham, when he went out of Ur of the Chaldees, she "looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God." Linked with this study was her search for health and the means of attaining it. This led her to investigate the various schools of medicine, finding in them scant comfort and little relief. In the year 1866, she suffered a fall upon an icy street while living in Swampscott, Massachusetts, from the results of which she was not expected to recover. Her nearest friends gathered about her, but, looking for her imminent death, retired to a near-by room, leaving her to herself. Taking up her Bible, always near at hand, she opened to the ninth chapter of the Gospel according to Matthew, and read the account of the healing of the palsied man. In her extremity of human need, her study of this incident led to such a flood of light that she was instantly healed, and, a few moments thereafter, appeared, fully restored, among her friends in the adjoining room, much to their astonishment

Tells of Her Healing

Mrs. Eddy says of this experience (Science and Health, p. 108): "When apparently near the confines of mor-tal existence, standing already within the shadow of the deathvalley, I learned these truths in di-vine Science: that all real being is in God, the divine Mind, and that Life, Truth, and Love are all-powerful and ever-present; that the opposite of Truth,—called error, sin, sickness, disease, death,—is the false testimony of false material sense, of mind in matter; that this false sense evolves, in belief, a subjective state of mortal mind which this same socalled mind names matter, thereby shutting out the true sense of

Not content to profit alone through her discovery, our revered Leader unselfishly spent years in searching the Scriptures in her effort to discover the Principle back of her own restoration to health, in order that all the world might share in this great boon.

This spiritual exploration led, in 1875, to the publishing of the first edition of Science and Health, but not before she had thoroughly tested and proved its every text by healing all manner of disease and discord by the rules laid down therein. This textbook has restored countless thousands the Bible as the chart of life, a book of rules whereby to work out the problems of their human existence. So many of these had come to look upon this priceless volume simply as beautiful literature, or as the history of a race of people and a chronicle of their religious progress. Through its study in connection with Mrs. Eddy's writings they have come to see that here are practical teachings which can and will lead them out of many

New Light on Texts

Through this appreciation and study of the Scriptures, thousands have found the healing Truth in texts which had meant nothing at all to them before.

An acquaintance of mine, who had gone through a severe attack of in-fluenza and who had been slow to respond to Christian Science treatment when it was asked for, told her practitioner: "I wish my friends who are not Christian Scientists would quit coming to see me. They sit on the side of my bed and say: You poor dear! You look so bad You must be suffering terribly. Oh, I've had other friends who have been months recovering from such an attack. And some haven't." You all know what she meant. And they call it sympathy! She was told to use the passage from John's Gospel: "No man can come to me, except the Father which hath sent me draw him." It was pointed out that Jesus had had to protect himself mentally in this way against attacks which otherwould have terminated his work before his mission had been accomplished. She went to work along this line, knowing that nobody could come to her save for a good purpose. Her "Job's comforters" quit coming (she said it was as if she "had slammed the door in their faces"); her Christian Science friends came, bringing nothing but good, tales of peace, joy, happiness, and the overcoming of all manner of evil. In less than a week she was up and about and fully recovered, although a physician, called in by a member of her family, had said unless she took medicine in some form she would be a cripple for life.

A friend, who was managing a store in a big organization, was making poor headway in his business because of theft. These stores were ranked by percentage of profit, not by volume of business. The shoplifters had taken away the profit and his store was rated the lowest of the many owned by the corporation. He was given this same text by a practitioner: "No man can come to me, except the Father which hath sent me draw him." He realized he and the company employing him were carrying on a branch of the Father's business. That that business represented service to mankind, an opportunity to bring something of comfort and beauty into lives which otherwise might have little but that which was drab; that that business was entitled to a reasonable financial return; that that business could attract to it no employee or patron who could come to it for other than an honest purpose. He and his wife held to this thought courageously for a year.

Last Becomes First

Where do you suppose his store was ranked by then? Yes, it was in first place. The last had become first through the practical application of a Bible text first enunciated more than nineteen hundred years before, but just as true and effective today as when the master Christian

There are literally hundreds of such Bible texts which study will reveal to be useful at the present time. The study of the Christian Science Lesson-Sermons, made up of correlated passages from the King James Version of the Bible and the Christian Science textbook, has placed helpful tools in the hands of many, many students who are using them to clear up problems of all sorts which come up in their every-day experience. And it has been said of Christian Scientists that they are a Bibleless people!

Value of Prayer The Founder of Christian Science knew well the value of prayer, and devoted a whole chapter of the Christian Science textbook, the opening chapter, to setting forth her views on the subject. Many are the healings directly traceable to the reading of this chapter by seekers after religious enlightenment; healings of so-called incurable diseases, as well as of those things which are considered less serious.

These healings came about because readers of the chapter acquired a radically different esti-mate of prayer and its office, as affecting the attitude of man toward God; a restoration of the understanding of prayer as used by Jesus and his disciples, and by the early prophets. They realized that prayer should be not so much petitionary as affirmative in its form; not asking God to remember to be omnipotent, omnipresent, omniscient, and omniactive, but realizing that He already and at all times is all these. Not asking Him to change His plan in any particular, but seeking to bring all straying thoughts of the one praying into harmony with that

A relative of mine was healed of cancer and heart disease many years ago through the enlightenment that came to her through earnest study of this chapter. Told by of the most eminent physicians of her home city that she must be operated upon within two weeks if it were to do her any good at all, but with no promise of a permanent cure, she decided not to have the operation. She had lived for years in a terribly depressed mental atmosphere, grieving for the loved ones gone on and fearing the same

Healed and Uplifted

Faced by this apparently hopeless situation, as viewed from the medical standpoint, she went to a neighbor, a Christian Scientist, at a time and in a community where there were few such, and obtained a copy of the textbook and other literature. She began reading with rapt interest. She found so much an illuminating nature in Mrs. Eddy's teachings on prayer that it became difficult, to go beyond that chapter. At the end of ten days' study she discovered that for days replaced the former depressed and depressing state of mind. She discovered that the fear of death had given way to a realization of Life as God, that Life among whose attributes are health, strength, peace, joy, and harmony of being. So we learn that prayer in Christian Science is the prayer of un-derstanding, not of blind belief; of absolute conviction, and not of doubtful reliance. It is a prayer of expectancy, receptivity, and respon-

A little girl, with whom I have been acquainted for years, had known from earliest childhood this concept of prayer. One day, at the age of six, she returned from school and sought out her mother to ask for help with a headache. Her mother wisely said to her: "Darling, you are a Christian Scientist. Know the truth for yourself." Having been trained to do her own praying, she replied: "All right, mother," and retired to the next room. Her mother heard her say: "I am God's perfect child. There is no error to touch me. Now God, I mean it." Immediately she called happily, "I'm all right, mother," and ran out to play with her sister.

How truly Jesus has said of the child-thought that the kingdom of heaven is made up of such readiness to accept and to act upon the right ideas so freely given to conscious ness by the divine Mind! Children such as this one learn to talk with God, consciously and confidently, expectant of definite results. How precious the results of such training in later years! A boy or a girl with such a background seldom strays from the paths of right thinking and doing.

Attitude When Praying

What is your attitude of mind when praying? When you turn an electric light switch, you would be surprised indeed if the light failed to come on. When you turn a water faucet, you expect the water to flow at once. Your confidence is not based upon trust in the switch or the faucet, but in the power plant back of one, and the giant pumps and wells back of the other.

Are you this confident when you turn to God who is always present, ready to help? Or do you halt, halfway between confidence and doubt, and still expect something definite in the way of results?

When Jesus stirred the antagonism of the Pharisees by making such statements as "Before Abraham was. I am," he was not referring to his human personality, but to his spiritual selfhood or the Christ; the Christ which always has been and always will be, which is present here and now, operating in your affairs and mine.

Christian Science has restored to mankind today this sense of the ever-availability of the Christ, so necessary to the working out of the problems besetting us all. In all her writings Mrs. Eddy emphasizes the fact that the Christ is that manifestation of God which heals, saves, restores, preserves: which operates in and through consciousness to do whatever seems to be needed to prove God's power and presence.

Early in the book of Genesis there is recorded an incident strangely reminiscent of what is going on in the world today. This story says that in that day all men spoke one language. They conceived a plan to make brick and to build a tower which should reach unto heaven. It is told that this displeased the Lord, and so He confounded their speech that they might not understand one another. The result was that men left off building and were scattered abroad upon all the face of the earth. In the Glossary of the textbook, as part of the defini-tion of "Babel," we find this signifi-cant statement (Science and Health, p. 581): "The higher false knowledge builds on the basis of evidence obtained from the five corporeal senses, the more confusion ensues, and the more certain is the downfall of its structure."

Recognition of the Christ

In the sixteenth chapter of Matthew it is related that, when Jesus and his disciples came to Caesarea Philippi, he questioned them to ascertain if they had gained an understanding of his teaching and of his healing. We can picture them sitting by the side of a country road, perhaps under the shade of a fig tree, eating of its fruit, resting from their long walk from some other town of that district.

He asked them first whom others thought he might be. Their reply was that he variously had been considered to be John the Baptist, Elijah, Jeremiah, or one of the other prophets. Hoping for real understanding, he asked them whom they thought him to be. The impulsive Simon replied for them all: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." This called down upon Simon a blessing from the grateful Jesus, who then named him Peter (from "petros," the Greek word "stone"), and said, "Upon this rock
I will build my church."

On pages 136 to 138 of Science and Health Mrs. Eddy has described this incident and has pointed out that Jesus' plan was to found his society on the God-power, or Christ, which lay back of this recognition by Peter of the Messiah.

Bear with me on another excursion into the Scriptures, which links up with the tower of Babel and this incident as recorded in Matthew. Let us turn to the second chapter of Acts, which opens with this statement: "And when the day of Pentecost was fully come, they were all with one accord in one place."

The story goes on that suddenly it appeared that cloven tongues like as of fire sat upon each of the disciples, and they began to speak with other tongues. There were present men from all parts of the then known world, each speaking his own language, and yet each heard these Galileans speak in his own tongue an Egypt and through many a Red she had been walking on air; a of the wonderful works of God. Here buoyant sense of well-being had we see how the recognition of the see how the recognition of the Christ eventually brought about the healing of the confusion of tongues induced by the gross materialism of the time of Babel.

How grateful we should be today, knowing that the Christ which healed in Palestine of old, which manifested itself on that Pentecostal day, is now at work in the world -available to heal this present-day Babel, this confusion of thought and plan, which has the nations of the earth striving at cross-purposes! Right now, no matter how intense struggles and discords of the world may seem to be. all mankind can be brought together by this power of the Christ to be once again 'with one accord in one place," And be worked out than one based upon the inspiration of the Christ, Truth? Healing through Prayer

what more satisfactory peace could

I have several times in this lecture referred to healings brought about through the application of Christian Science to human problems. I have given some instances of healing through treatment or prayer, illustrating, as Mrs. Eddy puts it on page 251 of the textbook, how "the divine Mind makes perfect, acts upon the so-called human mind through truth, leads the human mind to relinquish all error, to find the divine Mind to be the only Mind, and the healer of sin, disease, and death."

Treatment in Christian Science is not for the purpose of changing any-thing that is real, or of seeking to influence God to alter His laws or verdicts in regard to anybody or anything, but it is a prayer available for all who are in pain, distress, discord, poverty, or sin that they have their mental eyes opened to see that none of these things are true. It is a prayer that we all may see only those things which God sees, those eternal, indestructible things, such as health, strength, peace, joy, prosperity, purity, sinlessness, and eternal life.

. All that is or can be true about you and me is what God knows about us. How grateful we should be that He knows nothing but good about us! When God knows anything, He knows it not just for a time, but for all eternity. His thoughts, therefore, are laws, which never change, but always operate the same. When your seeming problems are examined in the light of these laws, what can they do but vanish into nothingness?

A friend of my family had passed the traditional threescore and ten at least ten years, when Christian Science was brought to his attention. He had been suffering from heart disease for some months and had grown weaker each day. He told the daughter with whom he made his home that it was no use. He could not hold on any longer. He might just as well let go and die.

That day his granddaughter came home with two Christian Science Sentinels she had found in a distribution rack in a beauty shop. She gave them to her grandfather, who found in one of them an article written from the viewpoint of a musician. He had been a teacher of voice and a choir master, so this appealed

When he had completed reading the two periodicals, he called his daughter to him and said: "I've changed my mind. I'm not going to He had understood enough of what he had read to see that God's law is the law of harmony and not of discord, that the belief of age and decrepitude is a false note so far as God's man is concerned. He had realized that a change of mind, or of thinking, was all that needed to take place to relieve him of the inharmonies from which he seemed to be suffering.

No Limit upon Age

He was restored as Christian Science has restored many another sufferer from the delusion that God has set a limit upon man's life. He added more than ten years to his already long span. Just before leaving for the reunion of the Blue and the Gray at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, a few years ago, he came to our office. Somebody asked him if he had not begun the study of Christian Science at the age of eighty-five. He replied: "It must have been before that. I began driving my car at eighty-five." That remark healed a woman in the office at the time. Not yet sixty, she had thought herself too old to learn to drive.

So we see that Christian Science has restored to men the right sense of God as ever-present, all-powerful Principle or Mind: the right sense of the Christ as not a human personality but, as Paul expresses it in Romans, "the power of God unto salvation;" the right sense of man as the perfect reflection or image of perfect God, who never fell and therefore does not have to be restored to his original perfection; the right sense of the Bible as the history of the development of the spiritual idea, chronicling the correct relationship between God, Christ, and man. It has cleared away the old beliefs in the reality of age, disease, poverty, sin, sickness, pain, sorrow, and death. It has wiped out the belief in the destructibility of substance and the consequent loss of supply.

The marvelously restorative and corrective effects of this method have been proved in the experience thousands of active Christian Scientists who daily are utilizing it in healing their own discords and those of others who come to them for help.
Surely it is of such as these that

Isaiah spoke when he prophesied:

"And if thou draw out thy soul to the hungry, and satisfy the afflicted soul: then shall thy light rise in obscurity, and thy darkness be as the noon day: . . And they that shall be of thee shall build the old waste places; thou shalt raise up the foundations of many generations; and thou shalt be called, The repairer of the breach, The restorer of paths to dwell in."

"WE LEAD, OTHERS FOLLOW"

GROSSE POINTE PARK $1,00 YEAR PLAN A FAILURE

Eighteen months ago, voters of Grosse Pointe Park amended the village charter to eliminate the monthly salaries of the president and village commissioners and substituted compensation of $1.00 per year. The movement was started by a minority group of citizens and after a heated campaign, in which several candidates for office were discredited, the charter amendment was carried.

Since that time two village commissioners have thrown up their $1.00 a year jobs, which has resulted in the appointment of successors, selected by the village commission. This is not a condition that makes for good government. Whenever an elected official resigns from office, it opens the way for a small group control, instead of government by men duly elected by the voters.

Since the $1.00 a year salary became effective, attendance at Grosse Pointe Park commission meetings has dropped considerably. On several occasions, it was impossible to hold a meeting because of lack of a quorum. This would indicate disinterest on the part of the $1.00 a year commissioners. Could it be due to the lack of compensation for the time and expense incurred in public service?

Even though a public-spirited citizen be fired with ambition to be of service to his community, is it not too much to expect him to spend many hours at regular and special commission meetings, serve on special committees and utilize time from his own business or profession, without reasonable recompense?

We believe that taxpayers are willing to reimburse public servants for time and expense expended in public service. We did not favor the adoption of the charter amendment cutting down the pay of the Grosse Pointe Park president and village commission to $1.00 a year.

We believe that the bogging down in Grosse Pointe Park public service can be traceable largely to the lack of compensation of the elected village officials.

If Grosse Pointe Park citizens wish to maintain a high type of public service and obtain the fullest co-operation of its elected officials, they should see to it that the men they elect to office are recompensed for their time.

' An amendment to the Village Charter, restoring the pay of the president and commissioners, with a penalty for non-attendance at commission meetings, should go far to solve the Britain's defense effort. As memproblem of resignations and non-attendance at meetings.

Students of Democracy

America's army of education-31,556,000 strong, including children whose parents were born in every country in the world-went back to school last month to learn the ways of

Probably one of the most critical years in education in our history, as the world is battling over philosophies of government, the American educator will do more than ever before to inculcate into these students a deep-seated love and understanding of democracy as opposed to the dictatorship governments of European nations.

Reading, writing and 'rithmetic will still be taught, but even more important will be the teaching of freedom, liberty and democracy. Commenting on the plans for this year, John W. Studebaker, U. S. commissioner of education, said:

"Public and private schools may be expected to adapt Roosevelt expressed the opinion their programs in 1941-42 to stress health and physical education, citizenship training, community, national and international relations, with particular emphasis on hemispheric solidarity. Schools this year will emphasize conservation of national resources more than ever before. They will explain in more detail the difference between dictatorships and democracies. Educational radio programs and forums will help to identify and endeavor to solve through public enlightenment and discussion, major problems affecting our citizens in their defense period. Defense savings programs also will be inaugurated."

Of course, in a democracy, Mr. Studebaker cannot dictate what the schools will teach, but from all over the nation reports indicate that school heads recognize their responsibility to fit education into the defense program.

The school enrollment this year—the number who will be exposed to education for defense and democracy—include 15, Mrs. E. J. Gay presiding. There 20,707,000 in elementary schools, 7,334,000 in secondary schools, was a fine representation from the 1,450,000 in institutions of higher learning, 100,000 in nurse schools and churches in the Grosse training schools, 75,000 day students in business colleges and Pointe area, each one of which is 1.850,000 part-time students.

If all of these students have the lesson of democracy drummed into them, it will do more than can armies and guns to safeguard our way of life.

Let Freedom Ring

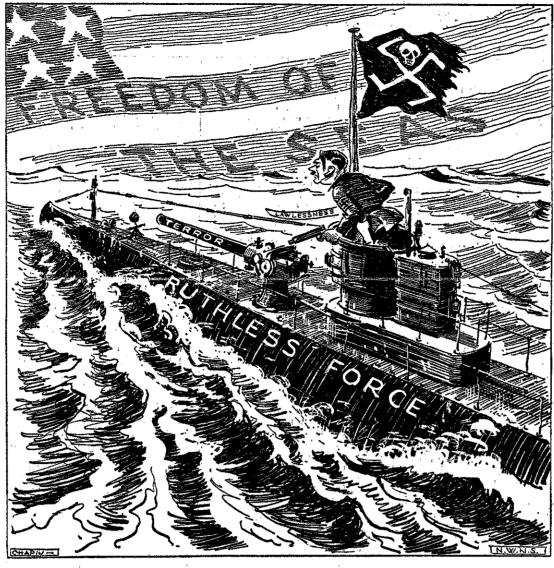

"Freedom of the press," like the words liberty and democracy, have been heard so often by generations of Americans that they have lost a lot of their fire. We in America don't know anything but freedom of the press, liberty and democracy. We've had them for generations.

So when the newspapers of the United States, who are now celebrating National Newspaper week, emblazon these high-sounding words across their pages, many readers are apt to yawn over them and pass on to the funnies.

doms. They appreciate them more each day as they read about ion. the wiping out of freedom in all other parts of the world. But at the same time, it's hard for anyone to become emotionally aroused over something he has never been without.

For comparison, imagine the excitement there would be in Germany if the newspapers came out with headlines announcing, "Freedom of the press." It would cause cheering in be ready, when any move is made, within or without our counthe streets, expressions of fear on the faces of the people would try, to curb the free press, to "shoot first."

One of the great dangers of an attack on advertising is that it constitutes a subtle attack on freedom of the press.

Whether or not Mr. Arnold is ware of the close relationship between freedom of the press and advertising, I don't know, but if he and other government leaders are going to continue their attitude of defining advertising as an economic waste, it is time this relationship was made very clear to every freedom-loving American.

The newspapers of America are free, strong and independent because they long ago devised a meth-Miss Florence Sevens was ap- od of gaining necessary financial pointed chairman of the nominating support without gifts, subsidies or philanthropy. To all people freedom is a precious thing. But it is the people who are suddenly given freedom after years of bondage who feel the full force of its meaning.

If our freedom of the press was suddenly extinguished, democracy and all of the other freedoms it stands for would At Richard School immediately disappear. We would be left in the dark as to what our government was doing, what was happening in foreign countries and what fate was in store for us. vertisers, newspapers could not be published at all unless they were merely the mouthpiece of the government or of powerful financial interests. So it is evident that any major threat to advertising is not only a threat to freedom of the press but to the very existence of the press as we know it today.

Plot - Censorship There are some keen-minded industrialists who believe that attacks on advertising by the government constitute a "fifth column" type plot aimed at undermining freedom of the press and the competitive system of business which has worked so successfully in America.

These men point out that while In England a hitch-hiking aircraft and countless other products would the freedom of the press is being worker was given a ride by Queen cost several times what they do tozealously guarded so far as attempts Mother Mary and the duchess of day if advertising hadn't created to censor news are concerned, a gradual squeezing out of the adver-Arnold had finally learned this basic more effective than censorship in putting newspapers under the absolute control of the government.

Preservation of the American press is a good enough reason for preserving advertising, but for the consumer there are plenty of other good reasons why curbs on advertising would be disastrous. Books can be written on what advertising has done for Americans. But to summarize what advertising position where he could do much does for us, I want to quote a paratoward destroying advertising and graph of a statement made by Dr. L. D. H. Weld, former president of the American Marketing association. Mr. Weld said: "Without advertising there would be little incentive to strive for product differences, which mean product provement is definitely stimulated by the right to influence the public to lower costs; increased investment, ucts, increased earning power, and through to 1943. rising standards of living."

These are just a few basic reasons why advertising is important to all of us.

In these days of fast changing systems of living, we would do well to hold fast to the two slogans which are the basis of America's success formula, namely: "It Pays to Advertise," and "Competition Is he Life of Trade."

peace. These stories came out at the time the President asked for $5,985,000,000 more lease-lend money. It has been known right along here that many members of congress object to giving equipment to Russia, so the smart young men in the government immediately interpreted the 'Russian collapse" story as being mere propaganda to ease the passage of the new lease-lend measure. Doubtless there is a large quanity of propaganda being released from Washington to impress the public with the dangers facing the United States, but probably not nearly as many of the important stories issuing from this city are pure propaganda as the wise-acres would have us believe. There are some who even think the ship-sinkings by the Nazis were invented to arouse a war spirit here and we still hear opinions that the Nazi-Russian war is merely a fake war arranged by Hitler and Stalin as a means of getting England and the United

These examples are brought up merely to indicate how far certain Washington guessers go in treating all statements and stories with the utmost suspicion. Commenting on this situation, a leading business man who visited Wahington recently said: "If the government wants unity among the people of this country it certainly ought to start the groundwork in Washington. With everybody here telling you something different I truly believe that our thousands of federal employes are proving to be one of the greatest enemies of unity."

Of course there is endless discussion here over the President's new lease-lend request and his report on the expenditure of the seven billions appropriated in the first lease-lend law. The discussion centers around the fact that only a little over $300,-000,000 worth of supplies has actually reached the nations fighting the Axis powers, that a large percentage of that amount represents food and that the other $6,700,000,000 appropriated represents goods "on or-

With figures like that to work on it is easy to make it appear that our help to the allies is infinitesimal, many of those debating the subject ignoring completly the fact that we have filled over $4,000,000,-000 worth of orders for equipment which were not placed under the lease-lend law. We have also acceleated our production on many types of equipment by about 300 per cent n the last six months.

MESSIAH LUTHERAN Southeast corner of Kercheval and River Rouge Wallops

By JACK DILLON Next Saturday the Royal Oak Acorns will engage the Grosse Pointe Blue Devils on the local grid iron. This will be the first league test for the Blue and Gold, and they will attempt to repeat last year's victory. The kick-off is set for two o'clock.

The Devils dropped their second non-league contest last Saturday to a powerful River Rouge eleven 47 to 0 at Heuer Field.

After outplaying the Panthers in the first quarter, the Grosse Pointe offense and defense completely collapsed and allowed the fast and Lee hard running Rouge backs to pound over seven touchdowns.

Receiving the opening kick-off, Hedges the Devil backs, led by Will Bennage, put on their only offensive drive of the game, when they marched from their own 25yard line to the Rouge 39, where their attack stalled and they were forced to kick. The remainder of the quarter was a kicking duel between Ray Weaver and Bob Hillar.

It was on the opening play of the second quarter that the Devils deep in their own territory, attempted a pass which was intercepted by Ollie Evans, standout back of the afternoon, who returned it 27 yards for the initial marker. Hillar added the extra point.

The Panthers' second score refrom a fumble on a short ners) kick-off. Taking the ball on the Devil 40, they started a drive that was climaxed when Hillar plunged over from the one foot line. His kick was again good.

After an exchange of kicks the Panthers started another sustaining drive from midfield with Hillar again smashing over center for the score. The place-kick was again good and Rouge led 21-0 at the half. Shortly after the opening of the second half. Steve Salka cut loose with a dazzling open field run of 65 yards, only to be nullified when a Rouge man was detected clipping at the 22, and Rouge was set back to the 37 yard line. In two plays Evans ran 36 yards to run the scoring total to 27. The pass for the extra

After receiving the kick-off the Devils again were forced to kick and the Panthers were on another touchdown march. Evans rang up his third score of the game on a 20yard sprint arong the end. The extra point was good.
