

Three hundred and twenty years ago a thin band of figures made footprints in the crisp, white New England snow... wending their way to a small and simple place of worship where they might offer a prayer of Thanksgiving for the first harvest in the new world to which they'd come as pioneers. Too often we think of them as adventuresome men and women... crossing chopping seas in a too-small craft... landing at Plymouth... cutting down forestry and building a community where there'd been nothing but wasteland and roaming bands of the only Americans who preceded them — the Indians.

All that is true. Yet these were more than adventurers, or seekers of commercial routes, or gold. These were men to whom a life bereft of freedom was more to be dreaded than the loss of life itself. Their women too found strength to courageously face privation and suffering — so that the children they bore might enjoy a heritage of liberty in thought and action... a most precious heritage even though there must be times when shoes would be worn thin; tears would be shed over the gnawing hurt of hunger; and lives would be lost through hardship, disease, and combat. These were the Pilgrim pioneers, who three hundred and twenty years ago knelt in Prayer and so observed the first AMERICAN THANKSGIVING, in the Year of Our Lord, 1624.

Mrs. M. L. Webber Died Suddenly Last Saturday at Home

Mrs. Oscar Webber, 619 Lake Shore road, Grosse Pointe Shores, died at her residence last Saturday night. Cause of her death was pneumonia. She had been ill only a week. She was the wife of Oscar Webber, vice-president and general manager of the J. L. Hudson company.

Mrs. Webber was the former Marjorie Lamber. Born in Ypsilanti, Michigan, 49 years ago, she was the daughter of John E. Lambert, a founder of Clayton & Lambert Manufacturing company.

She is survived by her husband; daughter, Miss Marjorie Lambert Webber; and her father, John E. Lambert.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 p.m., today from the residence with burial in Woodlawn cemetery.

Girls Sponsor Party November 26th For Goodfellow Fund

The girls of the Union Guardian Trust company will sponsor their tenth annual bridge party for the benefit of the Old Newsboys' Goodfellow Fund.

The party will take place on Wednesday evening, Nov. 26, at 8 o'clock in the Book-Cadillac hotel. There will be entertainment, table prizes and approximately two hundred door prizes. A small admission will be charged.

The purpose of the party is to see to it that every child has a gift for Christmas. Each table of bridge provides for one child. The receipts of this event will be turned over to the Goodfellow Fund in its entirety. Those wishing tickets may secure same by calling CHerry 9300.

Mary Breivogel, assisted by May Montgomery is chairman of the event.

The committees and the chairman of each follows: Lucile Slayton, tickets; Sally Ohst, entertainment; Annie Cochran, cards and score pads; Edith Blowers, doll; Marion Callan, table prizes; Lillian Kern, refreshments; Frances Hunt, door prizes; Ingrid Eekstrom and Bernice Nelson, reception; and Estelle-Mae Breivogel, publicity.

To Sponsor Dance On Friday Evening

St. Ambrose Altar society will sponsor a silver anniversary dance and social evening in the parish hall, Maryland and Hampton avenues, next Friday evening, Nov. 21.

You are cordially invited to attend and meet Mr. and Mrs. from your neighborhood, who will be there.

The committee has arranged for a very enjoyable evening which include modern and old time dancing as you like it and cards for those who wish to play.

Table and door prizes, as well as refreshments will be there. A small admission will be charged.

Defer PTA Meeting

The Defer PTA will hold their next meeting Tuesday evening, Nov. 25, at 8:00 p.m.

Dr. Marian Fitzsimons, psychologist for the Grosse Pointe board of education, will talk on the subject of "Living With Our Children."

Glen O. Pierce, originator and head of the visual method school, will give a short demonstration of the visual method of teaching the piano.

The school rooms will be open from 7:30 to 8:00 p.m. for the parents to visit, talk to the teachers, and see some of the work the class is doing.

After the meeting refreshments will be served in the lunch room.

Wm. J. Lancaster Taken By Death

Funeral services were held this morning for William J. Lancaster, 1224 Vernier road, Grosse Pointe Woods. A requiem mass was celebrated in St. Joan of Arc church and burial was in St. Paul's cemetery, Grosse Pointe Farms.

Mr. Lancaster was born in Hempstead Heath, Eng., March 27, 1886. He came to the United States at the age of 17 and settled in Grosse Pointe 33 years ago. He was manager of the Grosse Pointe Country Club for many years and when the Lochmoor Club was organized he was the first manager of that organization. He remained there 14 years. He was manager of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club for five years up to 1937, when he resigned because of ill health.

Surviving are his widow, Edith; two daughters, Mrs. William T. Ackerman of Lakewood, O., and Mrs. Albert Nelson of Detroit; two sons, William J., who is an air corps lieutenant stationed at Shreveport, La., and Lionel G., of Grosse Pointe; brother, A. V. Lancaster who resides in Grosse Pointe.

Here are Lucky People Who Won Sunday

Below are the names of the winners in the prize drawing held Sunday, sponsored by the City of Grosse Pointe Police and Firemen's Association.

The first five prizes were baskets containing complete Thanksgiving dinners. The winners: H. Douglas, of 897 Lincoln; Gertrude Campbell, of 1019 Lakepointe; M. Elliott, of 758 Rivard; Nancy Meyers, of 803 Rivard; and Ethel Willmott, of 6924 Crawford Lane.

The following people received a Thanksgiving turkey: C. Kennedy, 784 National Bank Bldg.; R. S. Collins, of 449 Lincoln; Mrs. E. Kimmerr, of 347 Neff; Floyd Champine, Grosse Pointe Farms Fire Department; Robert Martin, of 478 Lincoln; Tony Labadie, of 417 Neff; Mabel Norton, of 16914 Kercheval; A. Chabot, of 17052 Kercheval; N. Banks, of 440 Loveland; Mr. Gamble of 17037 Kercheval; F. Temple, of 485 Lincoln; Mr. Willifert, of 429 Madison, Grosse Pointe Farms; Gerald Hahn, of 522 Rivard; Mr. Waterman of 305 Fisher road; and Bob Morga of 538 Lakeland.

Registration Passes 200 for Defense

At the time of going to press Monday, George Elworthy, chairman of the local civilian defense committee, stated that more than 200 individuals had registered at the four municipal buildings on Nov. 12, 13 and 14.

Registrations will be accepted by Mr. Elworthy at the Neighborhood Club for another week.

Brings Out Dog's Personality in Photos

Starting as a hobby, developed from a love for dogs, LeRoy Simmons of Detroit, has built up a successful business photographing household pets.

Mr. Simmons closely studies the ways and mannerisms of his subject before snapping the picture and his work has the quality of a salon print.

"Dogs," says Mr. Simmons, "have individual personalities that can be transferred to a film if sufficient patience is taken with the posing model. The first thing I do is to gain the animal's confidence and friendship. The rest is a matter of catching the right expression."

Appointments may be made for dog portraits by calling TR. 1-8029 after 5 p.m.

'War Against Waste' Day Observance Last Wednesday

In the interest of keeping living costs down, every consumer has a vital stake in backing to the utmost the conservation program sponsored by the Michigan Council of Defense and supported by the retail merchants association, Mrs. George V. Rowe, president of the Detroit Federation of Women's Clubs points out.

The specific suggestions of Mrs. Rowe regarding waste in shopping habits are particularly timely, inasmuch as "War Against Waste" Day was observed last week.

Every unnecessary trip of a delivery truck, every return of a purchased item, every single non-essential demand upon the services, man power and equipment of retailers adds to the cost of goods, Mrs. Rowe emphasized. And then pity of it is that every consumer has to pay for the thoughtlessness and extravagance of a few.

"Every time a housewife asks the corner grocery to make two deliveries a day when one would do, or if she gets daily delivery when two or three a week would suffice, she is adding to the cost of living," according to Mrs. Rowe. "Every trip costs the grocer a dollar or two for his truck and driver, and he has no way of getting his money back except by spreading the cost among the items remaining on his shelves for sale. Multiply the example of a single housewife by the many thousands of shoppers in Detroit and Michigan, and the economic waste involved mounts up to alarming figures."

"Practically every shopper can contribute something to the conservation program by remembering to request extra services only in an emergency. She can do her bit by not requesting free gift wrapping, unnecessary special delivery, or home delivery of parcels which she can reasonably carry. She can help, especially, by not asking the retailer to take back goods when the retailer is not at fault."

"It is a healthy sign that several downtown stores are refusing to pick up women's hats for return. A survey by the general federation of Women's clubs discloses that the cost of returns amounts to at least $1,000,000 every shopping day."

"This useless and costly burden has to be paid by all consumers and not by the careless few who cause

SEE THE NEW RCA Victor Radios Be Wise! Buy NOW for Christmas! See the sensational new RCA Radio with the "Magic Brain!" New improved record player shuts off automatically. ROBERTS RADIO SHOP Phone TU. 2-4550 For Prompt Service! 16369 EAST WARREN AVENUE Between Audubon and Courville Open Until 8 p.m. Week Nights—Saturday Until 9. Grosse Pointe References. WE CAN FIX IT

Storage Space For Rent SUITABLE FOR CONTRACTOR OR USED CARS 15901 MACK AVENUE AT BUCKINGHAM Dave Almond Service GASOLINE SPECIALISTS 6 Gallons Ethyl.....$1.12 6 Gallons 80 Octane Regular...$1.00 Our Heated Wash and Lubrication Racks Are At Your Service

Buffalo Moths WHY WORRY? About Such Pests As — CARPET BEETLES CLOTHES MOTHS SILVER FISH COCK-ROACHES, Etc. Just Call Service Department — Fitzroy 3116 Edgar A. Murray Co. 2703 Guoin Est. 1895 FI. 3116

Ladies Dresses Beautifully Cleaned and Finished. Send Us Your BEST Garments Satisfaction Guaranteed Redwood TU. 2-0067 16118 E. Warren at Bedford Prompt Pick-Up and Delivery Service!

Announcing... A New Service For Grosse Pointe and Vicinity A NEWLY EQUIPPED FACTORY CURTAIN LAUNDRY And now you can send your curtains to a first class laundry... Our new equipment and expert curtain workers insures you that your curtains will be returned to you — Flawless. Accurate size and beautifully cleaned — Our 20 years in the Dry Cleaning Business guarantees you Only First Class Work. BELDING Cleaners and Dyers 15139 KERCHEVAL AVE. Phone: LEnox 5800

CORRECTION Due to a typographical error, two advertisements appeared in The Review last week for Dulac Dining Room, 15516 East Warren at Nottingham. One advertisement featured a menu at lower prices. This was the correct ad, and the other ad, which listed higher prices, was incorrect. We are glad to rectify this mistake by advising the public that the correct prices at Dulac Dining Room are: For Thanksgiving, a special Roast Turkey Dinner, complete at 85c. Other Thanksgiving Day dinners at 65c and $1.00. Lower weekday dinners are available from now on at 60c, 65c and 85c. Dulac's Thursday Special (except Thanksgiving Day) is a complete Turkey Dinner for 65 cents. Local Boys Receive Army Discharge Camp Livingston, La. — In accordance with an act of congress and a war department ruling, authorizing the discharge of enlisted personnel in certain priority groups, Privates Ralph Hilgendorf, Co. L, 125th Infantry; David B. Butters, Co. C, 107th and Medic; Mathew R. Hale, 107th Ordnance Co.; together with Privates First Class Howard L. Hartzog, Co. L, 125th Infantry; George P. Haney, Co. K, 126th Infantry; and William C. Ducharme, Co. A, 107th Medics; and Sergt. David Smith, Co. C, 107th Medics, have all been discharged from the army. The boys are all residents of Grosse Pointe Park. Fined $100 for Driving While Drunk; Loses License for Year James D. Turnbull, 37, of 406 Kercheval Place, Grosse Pointe Farms, while driving east on Jefferson avenue, ran into a fire hydrant at Jefferson avenue and Westchester road, in the Park, Friday morning, Nov. 14. Turnbull appeared before Justice Victor DeBaeke on the same day and was convicted on a charge of drunk driving. He was fined $100 or 30 days in jail. His driver's license was suspended for one year.

Beautiform Body Molding Thru Effortless Exercise Inches may be erased during first application! Exercise periods are easy and safe. Consultation without charge. Open Tuesday and Friday evenings by appointment. REID'S BEAUTY SALON 16113 Mack Near Bedford TU. 2-7070

CORRECTION THE ORIGINAL LEE F. REDMAN STUDIO creator of Personality portraits and fine photography for 25 years regrets to say that we are receiving many complaints from customers that another studio is soliciting business claiming to represent the ORIGINAL LEE F. REDMAN STUDIO. Our reputation for perfect photographs for 25 years makes it unnecessary to solicit. WE DO NOT SOLICIT by telephone or otherwise. There is no connection whatever with any other REDMAN STUDIO or any one of similar name. Our new and only location 2912 W. Grand Boulevard between 3rd and Hamilton, formerly at West Grand Boulevard near Woodward. Call MA. 1818 for information.

For Snappy Pressing Service Phone TU. 2-3000 Imperial Cleaners AND DYERS TU. 2-3000 Mack at Nottingham

OPM Headache? say ah! — ah! CAR: I don't feel so hot, Doc. This Fall weather is getting under my hood. All my pep is gone. CAR: You don't think it's anything serious, do you, Doc. I mean — I will be OK? ATTEN: You don't look any too good. You've got big bags under your headlights and you're in a general run-down condition. ATTEN: Oh, sure, you'll be all right, that is if your owner doesn't forget to put you in shape for Winter. Why, you're still running on Summer lubrication — better tell him soon. WINTERIZE YOUR CAR TODAY — WITH COMPLETE COLLISION SERVICE Geo. G. Schmidt, Inc. Authorized DeSoto - Plymouth Sales and Service 3162 E. Jefferson Open Nights FI. 6285

Christmas Cards A Beautiful Selection to Choose from, with a Price Range of 5c to 35c Each Order Early While Selection Is Complete. Delivery in December If Desired Grosse Pointe Ptg. Co. 15121 Kercheval Ave.

Weekly Happenings In Gratiot Township

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF NEW ENGLAND WOMEN

The Detroit Colony, National Society of New England Women will hold their regular monthly meeting in the Women's City Club Wednesday, Nov. 26. Luncheon will be served at 12:15 p.m. followed by the business meeting at 1:15 presided over by Mrs. Henry M. Booth, president.

A Mexican program will be given by Miss Betty Roberts, woman's commentator of station WJBK.

A display by the arts and crafts committee of Mexican work is under the direction of Mrs. Ira Goodrich, chairman. Mrs. W. A. Chipman is taking charge of the music.

Lovely Mum Plants for Thanksgiving

Also Baby Mums — All colors, lovely Begonia plants, choice Cut Flowers — Delightful hospital bouquets. We make up beautiful corsages for any occasion at reasonable prices.

Grosse Pointe Florist
174 Kerby Road NI. 2513

We Deliver

Buy Wisely! Insist Upon the Fuels of Established Producers

"THAT GOOD COAL" Since 1924

Authorized Distributors of America's Highest Value Fuels

Lehigh Valley Anthracite "Original" Pocahontas
Ford or Semet Solway Coke Grenadier Stoker
Koppers or Olga Stoker Fireplace Wood-Cannel

BAKER - WHILDIN COAL CO.
PLaza 8500 Credit Where Warranted No Interest or Charges 11000 Hern

RED'S SPARE-RIBS
19377 Harper Ave., Nr. Drive-In Theatre

CLOSED THANKSGIVING DAY
OPEN ALL NIGHT WEDNESDAY

The Pointe Bar
15218 E. Jefferson Grosse Pointe Park MU. 9367

PRESENTS

Floor Shows Twice Nightly
First Show 10:00 O'Clock

EUGENE BECIGNEUL, M.C.

Margie Obenor
Singer With

Mel Steckley's Band

Sunday Matinee — 4:00 to 7:00

FINE FOODS — LIQUORS

Dine Out Thanksgiving
At SID'S!

Turkey Dinner . 50c
Tender — Delicious — Lots of It!

Roast Chicken 50c
Half Fried Chicken 55c
Barbecued Chicken 55c

Cranberry Sauce — Mashed, Sweet or French Fried
Potatoes — Soup 5c — Coffee 5c — Choice of Dessert —
Pies, Ice Cream — 10c

THE CITY-WIDE FAMOUS
SID'S CAFE
AND BREAKFAST BAR
S. McQUEEN, Proprietor
15241 East Warren
At Barham
Phone Niagara 0064

Prompt Courteous Delivery Soft Drinks-Cigarettes-Snacks

PHIL GEIST'S BEER STORE
(Formerly Bill Weigand)

17530 MACK AVE., Near Neff Road NIAGARA 2020
Bottle, Case, Can Ice Cold Dutchmans Domestic, Imported Wines

Repair Any Service
WASHERS - IRONERS - VACUUM CLEANERS
AUTHORIZED SALES AND SERVICE

EASY-MAYTAG
Nutto Elec. Ser. Co. NI. 6872
14934 MACK AVENUE

First We Creep — Then We Walk

"Rome wasn't built in a day!" We all know that familiar expression but how many of us realize how it fits into our daily lives.

Take out here in Gratiot township for example. Most of us moved here because the low taxes made the buying of a home much easier.

After we got moved out here we soon discovered that many of the comforts of life which we were accustomed to were missing.

Now that some of us have been without these conveniences for some time we are beginning to wish that they were here. The main trouble is that a large number of us want them all and want them now!

They can be had, it is true, but if we plunge headlong into debt for these services we must expect to pay for them with higher taxes — which is one thing we want to avoid.

It seems to be that the logical answer to our problem is to have these improvements put in, one at a time, paying for same as we go. If this plan is followed it will be only a matter of a few years before we can enjoy everything that the city dwellers have and at much less cost.

Let us all be saving and help our township officers to be able to provide us with these necessities and in the meantime—Let's not grumble at our lot.

Help Your Country—Buy Defense Bonds

I was very much interested in an article recently which read: "Hitler Is Slipping."

Fellow Americans, Hitler slipped a long time ago — mentally.

Does it strike you as the deeds of a sane person to dispense with religion; to defame womanhood; to plunder; to steal; to burn or dispose of in the typical Hitler manner? No. No one but a madman or moron could do the things that are happening in Europe.

Doesn't it irk you when such a person laughs at the intelligence of Americans, and is prone to call our President names?

There is no doubt in my mind but that the Hitler reign of terror in Europe will soon be abolished.

Now is the time to do something constructive in the way of helping to put a stop to this menace — By buying Defense Bonds and Stamps Now!

Contest Announced For Best Decorated Residence at Xmas

The East Park Manor Civic League announces that they will sponsor a contest for the best decorated home at Christmas time.

It is planned to make this an annual event in the township, so it is suggested that the residents get busy and figure out some original and different decorations, and who knows, maybe your idea and labor will win.

In addition to prizes, the winning residents together with a picture of the prize decoration will appear in The Grosse Pointe Review.

So, come on, and let's have a large number of entries.

ORDER Thanksgiving Poultry NOW!

Roasting Chickens
Turkeys — Ducks — Geese
And Rabbits

NEIGEBAUER Poultry Market
17624 Mack Ave., Near University
Niagara 8644 We Deliver

S.HORLS
for that distinctive flavor

STROH'S BOHEMIAN BEER

IT'S FIRE BREWED

STROH BREWERY CO.
Detroit, Michigan

Thanksgiving Day In 1941 Emphasizes Vast Freedom American Citizens Enjoy

The sun will rise Thanksgiving morning, Thursday, November 20, 1941 on a troubled and war-torn world!

With war in all its horror raging on three continents, great nations are poised, teeth bared at each other's throats! Priceless and century-old monuments, institutions and heritages are slowly crumbling before man-made instruments of annihilation and horror!

With our civilization seemingly on the brink of destruction, this particular Thanksgiving Day has assumed unprecedented importance. We here in America have everything for which to be thankful!

Carved from a vast wilderness by peace loving Pilgrims, America has held aloft its symbol of democracy for over three centuries. A haven for the persecuted and down trodden, America has prospered and grown strong on its hallowed basic principals of Democracy; freedom of speech, of worship, of education and of equal justice under law.

Strong in world affairs, the United States shines as a bright beacon burning staunchly in today's dark

Catholic Information

Is the Catholic Mind Hide-Bound?

In the little store below the street level, the delicatessen dealer figures his profits on the basic principle that two and two make four. He has to, or he'll go wrong in his accounts.

Behind the mahogany desk, the expert engineer plans the mammoth sky-scraper on the basic principle that two and two make four. He has to or his building will never stand.

The humblest Catholic layman and the wisest theologian worship on the same basic principle — that Christ founded one church which, like its founder, is infallible in matters to do with the soul.

If the theologian's mind is hide-bound because he must be guided by the same religious dogma as the layman's, then the engineer's mind is hide-bound because he dare not deviate from the delicatessen dealer's mathematical dogma.

The dogmas of the Catholic church are comparatively few — fewer than those of science and art — fewer than those of a profession or a business.

You can't even play a good game of golf without following the basic principles of the game. Then why indict the Catholic who does the same thing in the vital matter of saving his soul?

Every belief and practice of the church has behind it sound logic. It is only because things Catholic are misunderstood that they are criticized by the sincere non-Catholic. In the spirit of fair play, will you not give us a chance to state the Catholic viewpoint on any Catholic subject which to your mind is objectionable? Write to:

Catholic Information Society of St. Paul's Church, Mary Leasure, 328 Rivard, Grosse Pointe, Mich.

Alvin Zander, U of M To Speak Nov. 24th

"The Awakening Community" will be the subject of an address to be given by Alvin Zander, school of education of the University of Michigan, at a joint meeting of the Mothers' club and Men's club on Monday evening, Nov. 24.

Mr. Finch will direct the Girls' Glee club of the high school in several selections.

A social hour will follow, with refreshments served in the cafeteria.

A brief business meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock, with Mrs. John S. Hill presiding.

A most hearty invitation is extended to all parents and their friends to attend this meeting.

Motorists Beware Of Gratiot Township

If you must speed — get a race track, don't imperil the lives of others with your manical driving.

Be careful, observe our speed laws — and there will be no soft music and the smell of flowers in some sorrowing household in Gratiot township.

Drive careful—Watch While You Walk and there will be no traffic fatalities in our community.

Feather Party, Dinner Wednesday, Nov. 19

At least 400 realtors, appraisers, builders, merchants, their wives and friends will suspend business next Wednesday, Nov. 19, to attend the annual Thanksgiving dinner and feather party of the Eastern Detroit Realty Association, at Detroit Turners, 8731 East Jefferson avenue.

John S. Hammond, of W. H. Realty company, is general chairman of the affair, and promises that it will be the finest party yet given by the association. Admission charge of $1.25 includes a three-course dinner and an afternoon of games. J. Warner Wolfston, past president, will again act as master of ceremonies.

The following members of the association are serving as chairmen of the various committees: Harry Sine, Edwin T. Dicker, August Mieh, Joseph O. Busch, Alex Teppert, Edward L. Mullin, Harold E. Siebert, Steve Kaczmarek, Edward Blum, and Mrs. Mullin, Mrs. Sine and Mrs. Busch.

Services Held For Enos A. Bates

Funeral services for Enos A. Bates, 73, of 743 Pemberton road, Grosse Pointe Park, one of the arly figures in the auto industry and an intimate of Barney Oldfield and other famous race drivers, were held from the Wm. H. Hamilton chapel Sunday.

Burial was made in Braceville, Ill. For many years Mr. Bates was associated with the Rayfield Carburetor company and other automotive concerns. He lived in Chicago until a year ago when he moved to Detroit.

Surviving are his widow, Elizabeth; and a son, Wallace E., manager of the Detroit office of the Chicago Tribune.

EAT A PASTY

SOMETHING NEW IN EATS!

Stop At 11960 Harper Ave.
Just Four Blocks East of Connors

Carry Out or Counter Service IV. 8965

GRATIOT TOWNSHIP DIRECTORY

Police Randolph 8110
Wayne County Sheriff's Office

Fire Department Niagara 0875
Grosse Pointe Woods

Gratiot Township Water Board
TUXedo 1-2877
Harper Avenue at Manchester

GARBAGE DISPOSAL—
Your garbage and rubbish will be picked up each Thursday morning. Have it out in front between the street and sidewalk.

Aviation Show To Open Saturday, Jan. 17

The international aviation show, sponsored by the NAA, Detroit chapter, will be held here Jan. 17-25, it was announced Saturday by J. Lee Barrett, president, of 1006 Kensington road, Grosse Pointe Park.

Quick Anti-Pain Relief For External Aches, Pains, Soreness, and Lameness use Dr. Stover's Golden Oil

As you rub with this athletic oil the massaging and ingredients brings the blood racing to the surface and relief follows quickly. This is the real Athletic Massage Oil.

No Burn — No Blister

Sold in Grosse Pointe At The Notre Dame Pharmacy
Cor. Notre Dame & Kercheval
Delivery If Desired
Phone Niagara 2154

WASUM'S
Good Food You'll Remember
1564 Broadway
At Grand Circus Park

Restaurant and Sea Food House
Beers, Wines and Liquors

Open Every Day 'Till 2 a.m.
Sundays and Holidays Open From 1:00 p.m.

Clifford 0434 Cadillac 2230

Listed in Duncan Hines' "Adventures in Good Eating"

CLAY and BILL Barber Shop

21028 Mack Avenue
Close at 7 p.m. Sharp, Sat. 8 p.m.

Grade A Eggs CEDAR FARMS

Delicious BUTTER (92 score)
E. J. Hoelzer, Prop. Home Delivery
17290 MACK AT ST. CLAIR

Eat Your Thanksgiving Dinner At The DULAC

Dining Room
15516 EAST WARREN
NEAR NOTTINGHAM

in a quiet, homelike atmosphere where no beer or liquor is served at any time. All women chefs.

THANKSGIVING MENU
Roast Turkey85c
with fresh cranberry sauce
Half Roast Chicken1.00
T-Bone Steak1.00
Roast Ribs of Beef65
Baked Virginia Ham65
with candied sweet potatoes
All Are Complete Dinners
Served from 12 Noon to 8 P.M.

A.L. Damman Hardware
9941 Hayes at Wilshire

Storm Sash
28x55
$1.89

Call Us for Free Estimate.
PI. 2131

"Kind Lady" Opens Wednesday, Nov. 26

Wednesday, Nov. 26, is the first night performance of "Kind Lady." This opening night is sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Mothers' Club, the proceeds to go to the scholarship fund.

The committee in charge of the ticket sale, of which Mrs. H. W. Rehm is chairman, is very anxious to have a full house on this night not only to help the scholarship fund, but to show appreciation of the splendid work done by the Pointe Players under the direction of D. H. Horton.

Included in the sponsors of the show are Gar Wood, William B. Stout, Ben E. Young, vice-president of the National Bank of Detroit, and John L. Carey, mayor of Dearborn, all members of the association.

Refrigerator SERVICE
Electric Motor Repair
DUNCAN & MACNICOL
14927 Charlevoix at Wayburn
Nights, Sundays & Holidays
TR. 2-8006
TUXedo 2-1150

POWERS LUMBER SUPPLIES
Storm Sash — Insulation —
Kimsul—Rock Wool—Storm
Doors

19743 Harper Avenue
Between Seven and Eight Mile Rds.
TUXEDO 2-4820

Far BETTER RETURNS

GOOD LIGHTING
for table tennis

Enjoy your table tennis twice as much with good lighting. A dome reflector with a 150-watt lamp, placed over each end of the table, makes for easier seeing and a faster game. This excellent light costs less than a cent an hour and is easy to install. The Detroit Edison Company.

Buy Your Christmas Cards Now — While Selections are Still Complete. Grosse Pointe Printing Co., 15121 Kercheval Avenue, Grosse Pointe.

The EWALD Shops
FINE UPHOLSTERING

- Repairing • Slip Covers
- Refinishing • Draperies

Antiques and Needlepoints
A Specialty

Lenox 3993
13929 Kercheval
at Eastlawn

TURKEYS
8 to 16 lb.
38c

Oysters . . . pt. 37c
BULK OR LINK PORK
Sausage . . . lb. 30c
HALF OR WHOLE SMOKED
HAMS . . . lb. 35c

MULIER'S MEATS
We Deliver
LE. 7782-86
15215 KERCHEVAL

OUR THANKSGIVING MESSAGE

We are thankful to live and work in the country we do. We are thankful to live in a community like Grosse Pointe.

We are thankful to you—Our Customers, for the patronage you have given us.

We are thankful that the American people are beginning to think in terms of SQUARE DEAL instead of NEW DEAL.

We are thankful that we are still able to offer the best motor car in its class — At the Lowest Price.

For all of the above we thank the Lord and that He has helped us to live and work when other people in distant lands have only grief and sorrow to face.

RODGERS SERVICE
GIL GROEHN BOB RODGERS
Studebaker Motor ars — International Motor Trucks
KERCHEVAL AVENUE AT LAKEPOINTE

High Class Laundry Service

We offer the ladies of Grosse Pointe a superlative Laundry Service. We feel certain you will like our work. Just Call —

East End Family Laundry and Cleaners
"The Laundry With the Better Service"
2559 Hillger Avenue LEnox 2241-2242

Calling NI. 5900
— FOR —

- * Fancy Groceries
- * Fresh Vegetables
- * Selected Fruits
- * Choice Meats

Fred's Market
GROSSE POINTE
Jefferson Avenue, Between Cadioux and Notre Dame

THE GROSSE POINTE REVIEW

FOUNDED MARCH 19, 1926

Offices at 15121 Kercheval between Maryland and Lakepointe "The Only Weekly Newspaper Covering All the Homes in Grosse Pointe and Gratiot Townships"

L. B. OLDFHAM, Editor and Publisher ROBERT P. OLDFHAM, Advertising Manager

Subscription Rates: By Mail, $2.00 per year; 5c per copy.

Published Every Thursday by The Grosse Pointe Printing Co. LENOX 1162 - 1163

"WE LEAD, OTHERS FOLLOW"

The Closed Shop

The closed shop, demanded by certain labor groups, never should have been an issue in America.

The requirement that a man pay dues to a union in order to be permitted to work is contrary to the whole "freedom of opportunity" philosophy on which American business has flourished.

And although the closed shop has been a major issue in many recent labor disturbances, it is probable that it may never arise again — or at least that it will never be approved by any department of our government which realizes its responsibilities to the will of the people.

For the people of America today are unalterably opposed to the closed shop. Some of them listened to the arguments for it sympathetically when it was first brought up. They saw it as a possible asset to the "little man" in combating the power of employers.

But recent strikes based on demands for a closed shop have made the people analyze it more carefully and they have come to the almost unanimous conclusion that it is unAmerican — that every worker should have the right to decide for himself whether he wants to belong to a union.

All recent studies of the public's opinion on this subject have arrived at that answer.

A recent national poll made by Dr. George Gallup found only 13 per cent of the people of all classes favoring the closed shop. Even among union members themselves, the right of a man to decide if he would join a union was favored.

America's labor leaders, employers and government mediators should be made aware of the fact that on the subject of a closed shop the American public has voted a resounding "No!"

Two Thanksgivings

To settle all of the confusion about some states celebrating Thanksgiving on one Thursday and others on another Thursday, maybe we should hereafter have two Thanksgivings in all states.

This year, at least, Americans have so many things to be thankful for that it might well require two days to do an adequate job of giving thanks.

Perhaps one Thursday should be devoted to giving thanks for our personal blessings and the other for our country — for its freedom, its riches, its production capacity and the genius of its leaders.

When we compare America with any other country in the world, it seems as though God has showered us with favors which have been denied to all other people. Practically anything you can think of — food, housing, raw materials, comfort, gold, education, freedom, churches — we have in greater abundance than any other nation.

Thanksgiving is the time for us to reflect on these blessings and to pledge ourselves to their preservation.

Throughout the world today millions of people are looking to America with envy and with hope. The unfortunate people of Europe and Asia see our country as the nearest thing to heaven on earth — and they also see us as the one nation which has the strength, the morale and vision needed to make the world of the future a better place to live in.

A world made up of countries like America is the dream of all other peoples. We should thank God that we happen to be part of this great free nation and ask God to help us in the major role which we have assumed in spreading the gospel of freedom to all mankind.

OUR DAILY BREAD

A Daily Devotion to Bring Comfort, Peace Wouldn't this old world be better

If the folks we meet would say, "I know something good about you," And treat us just that way.

Wouldn't life be lots more happy If the good that's in us all

Were the only thing about us That folks bothered to recall?

Wouldn't life be lots more happy If we praised the good we see?

For there's such a lot of goodness In the worst of you and me.

Wouldn't it be nice to practice That fine way of thinking too?

You know something good about me, I know something good about you.

Prayer: Dear Lord, If I can't say something good about others, Let me have the grace to keep quiet.

—Amen

Thanksgiving Theme Song

I'M THANKFUL I CAN STILL DO MY THANKSGIVING MARKETTING WITHOUT A RATION CARD, AND THAT WE DON'T HAVE TO STAND IN LINE FOR HOURS TO GET WHAT WE WANT.

I'M THANKFUL THAT IN THIS MAN'S ARMY, WE GET DURN GOOD SHOW NOT ONLY ON THANKSGIVING DAY, BUT ON EVERY DAY.

I'M THANKFUL THAT I LIVE IN THE FINEST COUNTRY ON EARTH, WHERE MOST OF US FOLKS ARE READY TO FIGHT TO PRESERVE OUR DEMOCRACY, EVEN THOUGH WE DO SPAT LIKE WILD CATS WONGST OURSELVES.

I'M THANKFUL FOR FOLKS WHO LOVE ME ENOUGH TO TOSS ME A THANKSGIVING GIZZARD. BUT I WONDER WHAT HAPPENS TO PET PUPS OVER THERE?

I CAN STILL HAVE A FOOT BALL DATE WITH JIMMY AND A WOFFER, DOOPER, FEED AND SHAG AT JERRY'S JUKE JOINT AFTERWARD.

MY MOM IS GOIN' TO HAVE A TURKEY DINNER WITH ALL TH' FIXIN'S: OYSTER STUFFIN', CRANBERRIES, MASHED POTATOES 'N' GIBLET GRAVY, SQUASH, FROKLEY JELLY, COCONUT CAKE, PUNKIN PIE — Boy O' Boy!

WOMEN in the NEWS

To Avoid War Work

The British ministry of labor is investigating the story that nearly 50 women are arriving daily at the Isle of Man, in the Irish sea, to escape being drafted into war work.

Don't Wear Slacks

Visitors returning from the Soviet Union say that the Russian women frown upon slacks. Photographer Margaret Bourke-White, who customarily wears them while working, was politely reprimanded.

New Freedom

At a meeting of the forum on the American woman and her responsibilities held recently at Stephens college, Thomas H. Beck, president of the Crowell-Collier Publishing company, predicted greater freedom for women after the present war.

Scotland Yard

More and more women are being admitted to the once sacred precincts of London's famed Scotland Yard. The staff now includes 180 women.

Being Evacuated

As a precautionary measure, U. S. women and children are being evacuated from Guam, as well as from Midway and Wake islands, in the Pacific.

Home Nursing

As an additional plan to assist in the national defense program, the Red Cross will undertake to train 500,000 American women in the fundamentals of home nursing.

Today and Tomorrow

Confusion — Buying

Dear Mr. President:

I would like your advice on whether to buy a new refrigerator. The one I have now is nine years old, it has become very noisy, it is slow about freezing ice and it doesn't have any of the new gadgets my wife likes — you know, like a light inside, those easy-working ice trays and a vegetable crisper.

Puzzled Husband.

I'd like the President's advice on this subject because his henchmen have told me so many different things about it that I am completely confused.

Mr. Knudsen, his defense production expert, says the defense program needs all the material it can lay its hands on — and that would appear to mean the materials used in any refrigerator I might buy.

Mr. Nelson, his director of priorities, advises me not to make any wasteful purchases, but he still sees to it that refrigerator builders still get some raw materials.

News — Conflicting

Reading a big daily newspaper, which reports all the news and speeches from Washington, adds to the confusion.

On the front page of the newspaper we read that automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines and radios are scarcer than hens' teeth.

Front page stories tell about the great problem of getting sufficient steel, rubber, copper and tin for defense equipment and when we go into stores we see hundreds of unnecessary gadgets made of those metals.

Not knowing just what to think of it all, most of us go on our merry way buying what is available and preparing ourselves to go without things when they aren't in the stores any more.

Decisions — Voluntary

So far, the whole policy of the government in regard to shortages has been to ask the public for voluntary co-operation. No definite rules for purchasing have been set up — we have just been advised to "think twice" before making a purchase.

Some of us, after we "think twice," decide to go out and buy all of the equipment we can use which may be unavailable later. If we get a new car and our neighbor waits until it is too late, that's his hard luck.

Others of us, who are less selfish in our thinking, may decide that our old car can be patched up to last for several years more and we might as well let those who really need new cars purchase those which are available.

It might seem easier and more business-like if the government would issue rules such as: Only those with no car or cars 10 years old will be permitted to purchase a new one; only families with two children may purchase new washing machines, etc.

Yes, we'd then know where we stood — but we'd also be in the position of having the government dictate how we should live our private lives. Most of us don't want any of that if it can be avoided.

But before I buy a refrigerator there's one thing I really want to know: Is any American tank or airplane maker apt to run short of steel because of the 140 pounds of steel which go into the refrigerator I might buy?

If I were sure the refrigerator was made out of surplus steel — steel that was left over after all defense requirements are taken care of — it wouldn't seem wrong to buy one.

And I can't find a direct "yes" or "no" answer to that question. It may be that the curbs put on civilian production take care of the situation adequately, but I have a suspicion that some civilian production may be carried on at the expense of defense production.

If that's true, a public warning should be issued to the government that no American will say "thank you" for keeping us supplied with goods that add to our comfort if we find later that this creates a shortage of defense materials.

We like being able to buy refrigerators, automobiles and a thousand and one other things made of steel — but if a shortage results we'll heap the blame on those who made it possible for us to have these products when many of us didn't really need them.

This Week In Washington

It looks as though no new taxes will be passed by congress at this session in spite of the proposal by Secretary of Treasury Morgenthau for heavy new taxes to be deducted from 1942 incomes.

The secretary's aim of putting our war effort a little closer to being on a pay-as-we-go basis and at the same time curbing inflation by higher taxes is being carefully sidetracked by congressmen who already are acting with an eye on the congressional elections a year from this month.

The secretary had suggested that a new tax be passed before the end of the year so that it could be collected beginning with the first week in 1942. He proposed a tax of as much as 15 per cent of the taxable income of all wage earners, to be deducted by employers from wages and salaries.

Congress, however, is not expected to act upon new taxes this year. And as the 1942 elections get closer they are less and less apt to pass tax measures unless the President put on great pressure for their passage.

Almost as frightening as taxes to congressmen is the demand for price control legislation which they are now forced to act upon. It is expected that some form of price control will be passed, but unless the congressional attitude toward it changes radically it is unlikely that a measure with enough teeth in it to stem inflation will be enacted.

The railroad situation, with a general railroad strike threatened for Dec. 5, has centered attention on labor problems again. The railroad mediation plan, which includes a 30-day "cooling off" period before a strike goes into effect, has been held up as a model plan which should be followed to prevent strikes in other industries.

As the United States becomes a more active participant in the war, following congressional action ending restrictions on our merchant marine and permitting the arming of our ships, this city is playing host to two important diplomats who may have a lot to do with our next moves in the war.

With a leading Japanese and Russian diplomat in Washington at the same time, it is wondered if any effort will be made to bring them together to aim at working out the delicate relations which now exist between the Soviet and Japan, but it is probable that Mr. Kurusu's mission will be confined entirely to relations between his country and the United States.

Whether the strained relations which exist between this country and Japan can be lessened by the conversations with Mr. Kurusu is doubted, but it is expected that these conversations will clarify the situation in the Pacific and thus aid our government in determining whether our navy must be divided between the two oceans or if we can strengthen our forces in the Atlantic to speed the delivery of munitions to the anti-Axis powers.

The shelving of our neutrality act is considered here as a green light for our navy to go to war. Because of that interpretation, certain congressmen would have preferred a vote on an actual declaration of war on Germany, but it is now thought unlikely that such a vote will be taken this Winter.

Our navy is now in a position to do whatever part is necessary in getting munitions to the anti-Axis powers and for the time being there is no further role which it is considered necessary for us to play. Probably not until there is a demand for an American expeditionary force will any further vote on war be presented to congress.

RUSSELL CURTAIN CLEANERS

We Specialize in Laundering and Cleaning Curtains and Draperies.

14727 Kercheval at Ashland LE. 8275

You Are Cordially Invited to Attend The Thanksgiving Day Service of ST. JAMES LUTHERAN CHURCH Of Grosse Pointe THURSDAY, NOV. 20 — 10 A.M. Punch and Judy Theatre GEORGE E. KURZ, Pastor

We Will Serve Our Usual Delicious Thanksgiving Dinner WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 19TH FROM 11 A.M. TO 8 P.M. Full Course Turkey Dinner — 85c Includes: Fruit or Shrimp Cocktail, Soup or Choice of Juices, Relishes, Salad, Home Made Pastries, Choice of Beverage. KATHERINE'S RESTAURANT 17150 Kercheval, between Neff and St. Clair

Photographs for Christmas

Taken in your own home amidst familiar surroundings are really natural and best express your personality

Send Photographic Christmas Cards This Year

GRAPHIC PHOTO COMPANY

(Fintan L. Henk, Jr.) 15224 E. Jefferson Ave. — Grosse Pointe Park LEnox 4554 TUxedo 2-0703 (Evenings)

MEHLENBACHER FENCE CO. Steel, for permanency Picket, for beauty Wire, for economy Materials or Erection Clothes Line Posts, Steel or Wood, Permanent or Removable 10403 Harper Established 1909 PLaza 2850

You need ADEQUATE FIRE INSURANCE Now more than ever!

Labor and material costs are higher because of defense. Is your insurance protection NOW adequate to cover replacement value in case of fire? Why not let us check your policies with this question in mind?

Consult Us On Your Insurance Problems We Represent Some of the Strongest American Companies Henk Realty Co. 15224 E. Jefferson Ave.—Grosse Pointe Park

Impressive scene aboard a U. S. navy aircraft carrier somewhere on the broad Pacific shows the flight deck thronged with planes, all warming up for a take-off. There are fighter planes, scout planes, bombers and deadly torpedo planes and dive bombers.

Christian Science Lecture by Lucia C. Coulson, C. S. B.

Under the Auspices of Second Church of Christ, Scientist, Detroit, at the Second Church Edifice, East Grand Boulevard, Monday Evening, November 17, 1941

A Lecture on Christian Science
Entitled The Practical Idealism of Christian Science
by Lucia C. Coulson, C. S. B. of London, England

Member of the Board of Lecturership of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

During the last decade physical science has been advancing at a remarkable pace. Its discoveries have been startling, changing the former concepts of matter and this material earth in what might be termed a revolutionary manner and gradually coming nearer to what might perhaps be described as a union of science and religion. That is to say, scientific concepts of the universe now find more accord with the spiritual concept of one infinite creator and His infinite creation.

One notable instance of this was given in a paper read by Dr. E. A. Milne of Oxford University, a brilliant mathematician and astronomical authority, in May, 1939, at Fort Davis, Texas. In it he says that "present-day investigations of atoms, stars, and motions disclose possibilities which are more satisfying religiously." "I am not dabbling in theology," he continues, "I merely invite you to consider the more attractive alternative that all the differing possibilities are but different descriptions which originate from the adoption of different scales of time; that there is one universe, but many possible descriptions of it; that there is actually no diversity of possibility in the universe itself, but only a diversity of description." What Dr. Milne calls "a diversity of description" is, metaphysically stated, a diversity of concept. Then he adds that the classical scale of time forced one "to think in terms of a universe created at some definite era in the past, while the second modern idea of time necessitates the view that the universe is without beginning and without end, both in time and space."

This interesting theory of time gives much food for thought. We know that the first two chapters of Genesis give diametrically opposite descriptions of creation, and in the Christian Science textbook these differing accounts are explained and reconciled. The first is the truth about the "one universe," when Elohim, the great First Cause, speaks and it is done. The second account of the so-called material creation and its consequences. In the first it is the Word which makes all things and makes all good. In the second everything is made out of the ground, from dust and not from Deity. Now, the interesting part is this, that over fifty years ago the "material view of creation" through spiritual intuition and inspiration alone the fact of the one universe, without beginning and without end, and declared that these two accounts in Genesis represented differing views of that universe. In her textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," she states that the second chapter of Genesis sets forth "a material view of creation" (p. 521) and then goes on to explain and elaborate this statement. That book was published in 1875, and now today some natural scientists through their investigations have come to the conclusion that there is but one universe with many differing descriptions or aspects of it. This involves an important point, even the explanation and analysis of the world of the senses, and indicates why Christian Science is so emphatic in requiring that we should deny sense testimony. That we all see things differently is an accepted fact. There is Wordsworth's prophet-boy, of whom he writes that

"A primrose by the river's brim
A yellow primrose was to him,
And it was nothing more."

At the same time there can be only one truth about any given fact. There may be many lies about it, but only one truth. Here we find the office of the Christ in human experience as stated by the Master: "To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth."

Referring again to the two aspects of creation given in the first and second accounts in Genesis, it will be found that the second is the reversal of the first—the lie about the fact. The reason for this is that the false sense, termed by Mrs. Eddy mental mind, is not a creator. It cannot originate anything. It can only produce a distorted view of the true. It is the erroneous mental concept or the suppositional opposite. Instead of man being the image and likeness of God, as stated in the first chapter, he is represented in the second as fallen, sinful, and suffering. To sum up, the one is fact and the other fiction. It is not always recognized that this obtains not only in the world at large, so to speak, but also in each individual experience. Indeed, the distinction between the false and the true may be said to characterize treatment in Christian Science. Whatever the problem or situation that confronts us may seem to be, the remedy is to find the fact and cling to it. And the way to find the fact is always to remember that the error is the suppositional opposite of the fact. Faithfully to pursue this method will result in the gradual replacing for us of the world of the senses with the true concept of the spiritual universe. It has to be recognized that the difference is one of aspect or concept.

Now, here it may be asked, Of what practical help is all this to us in our troubles and perplexities, with the problems of lack and sickness and unrest which today surround us? And the Christ, Truth, the Comforter, makes answer: It will give you a practical solution of all these problems; for that which is scientifically untrue is demonstrated unmanly. If you will take the trouble to test it, you will be able to prove for yourself that Christian Science is practical idealism, in other words, that Christian Science heals. How it heals may be said to be summed up in one short passage from Science and Health, namely (pp. 476, 477): "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick." The "correct view"! That, as I have been endeavoring to show you, is the crux of the matter. Let us take a purely human illustration to prove the effect of a change of view in the matter. Probably all of us have had the experience of feeling at our best with some people and at our worst with others. There are those in whose company you always seem to do the wrong thing, to show your worst side, as it is called; and there are others in whose presence you feel at ease, gracious, loving, and loved. The difference, of course, is the view of concept. You are the same person, but their concept of you is different, and you respond to it in either direction. This shows the power of even human thought and gives a hint of what the power must be when the divine fact is discerned and held as indicated in the sentences quoted above from the textbook.

Many centuries ago, this correct view of man clinging to the divine fact, which involves the denial of sense testimony, was proved to be practical and healing in its result, in the Bible story of the Shunammite woman. We are told that she was a great woman, and her faith and understanding were great indeed. Centuries ahead of her time, she evidently perceived the value of holding to it in the face of false evidence. You all know the story of how her only son, when in the field with his father, had a stroke and was carried to his mother. A few hours later he passed away in her arms. Instantly she proceeded to journey to the man of God, that he might give her back her child. She thought that it was too late never came to her, and when her husband inquired where she was going and why, she replied, "It shall be well." She did not tell the father what had happened. She did not let her household know, lest the sad news be spread abroad and her hope and faith be spurned. Oh, the wisdom of that Shunammite mother! Her love that teaches the highest intelligence. Before she had gone very far, the man of God saw her and sent his servant to ask how it was with her and with her child. And again she replied, "It is well." When at last she reached Elisha, then for a moment the sense of grief surged up, and she fell at his feet, but even then no word of fear or of despair passed her lips. She would not acknowledge the false aspect of the problem. She was faithful to her brave declaration, "It is well." So she brought Elisha to the house, to the upper room where she had laid the child, and left them there together. But in a short time she was called back to receive her child alive, her whole being might cry out in joy and triumph, "It is well." This may be said to be a fairly good description of a Christian Science treatment. We declare the unseen truth and hold to it, despite sense testimony, until for us the unseen becomes the seen and we prove the truth of the Master's statement, "Blessed are they that have not seen, and yet have believed."

Let us give you another instance, a modern illustration. I know a lady, a student of Christian Science, who, when traveling on board ship, was told that one of the passengers had missed articles of value and it was feared there was someone on board who was a thief. My friend did not pay much attention to what was said; but the next day she herself missed something. Then she realized how temis she had been in not applying to the situation the truth as she had been taught in Christian Science. Fully awake now, she began to reason somewhat in this manner: that because God, Spirit, is the only creator, the creation of Spirit must be spiritual; therefore, man is spiritual. Man, made in God's image, is not a thief. God never created a dishonest man, therefore there is none; for the nature of man is honesty and purity — indeed, it is perfection. She spent some time working and praying in this way, and the very next morning those missing articles were all found to have been replaced. Who had returned them, how and when, no one knew, but they were there. Moreover, there was no thief to punish, for the thief had been healed.

May I give you one more example of what the correct view does this time from my own experience. It was at the time a very young student of Christian Science and I was visiting a practitioner. I had risen to go, and he and I were standing talking by the window. As I looked out I saw a man violently beating his horse, and I called out: "Oh, the poor horse! We must stop that brute." "Let us be silent just for a few minutes," said the practitioner, and unwillingly I consented. Suddenly I saw the man lay down his whip and stand quietly beside the horse with a different expression on his face. "What did you do?" I asked the practitioner. "Well," he replied, "I told the man. He was the one that needed love; and I saw too that his true self was the expression of Love." I realized then that the man was saying brute to the horse and I was saying brute to the man, while what was needed was the exact opposite, the reversal of the false concept and the assertion of the true fact—the right idea of man and horse. The right idea is the Christ-idea. There is a Christ-idea for every problem.

Suppose, then, a man should find himself in debt and unable to pay his creditors. What would be the saving idea for that situation? It would be the divine fact of the infinite nature of supply. How did lack originate? The belief in matter is its origin. Mrs. Eddy has written (Retrospection and Introspection, p. 67): "The first iniquitous manifestation of sin was a finity." Directly the belief in finity presented itself the opportunity arose for the fear that there might not be enough to go round, that supply might come to an end, that someone might lack. That is the inevitable result of finity. The right idea of infinity, or God's universe, everything, and therefore supply, takes on the nature of infinity. Now let us apply this to the subject of debt. The Bible says, "Owe no man any thing, but to love one another." Why does it say that? Because debt is unknown to God and so unknown to man as God's image. Why would you be in debt to God to have a debt? Because His supply is inexhaustible. The belief of debt is founded entirely on the belief that supply is material and finite. In the realm of infinity, and when thinking from the standpoint of infinity, debt would be impossible, absurd. If you knew your supply to be inexhaustible, why would you need anyone to pay you back what you had given them? To illustrate: the air is to us a type of that which approximates the inexhaustible. If your neighbor should find your office or your place of business stuffy and should say that he would like some air, you would not reply that you would give him more for a certain sum or that he should give you back what you had needed more. The air is free to all and costs nothing, because it is practically unlimited. Again, in England water is practically unlimited. The beggar or the street urlich can go to the drinking fountain and drink his fill; he does not have to leave pennies beside the cup, or go into debt for the drink of water that he needs. No one asks him to pay it back again. Why? Because there is water enough and to spare. God has enough and to spare for all His children, and every divine idea is as plentiful as air and water. Indeed, it is far more plentiful, for every divine idea is infinite. If, however, in this human experience you must pay back what you must pay for that, and if you cannot afford to at the moment, must borrow from your neighbor and promise to pay him back, because you believe that the supply of money and food in the world is limited, and, being matter, might come to an end.

Christian Science "resolves things into thoughts" (Science and Health, p. 269). Directly we do this, we see how ridiculous and impossible it would be to owe people thoughts and ideas. How absurd it would be to say: "That idea of God as Mind is a very big one. How many thoughts must I give you in return for it? And how soon must I pay you back all these thoughts?" That which is mental is unlimited. Ideas have an inexhaustible source, the divine Mind. They belong to all equally. Now, what is the good of reasoning all this out? Because when we see clearly that debt is inadmissible and illegitimate, since, as infinite ideas dwelling in an infinite universe, all good is inexhaustible, and when we claim our unity with the creative and ever-present Mind, there will come into our human experience a better manifestation. The right ideas which are daily supply will become ours consciously. Does all this, then, solve us from the need of honestly and punctually paying our debts if we have them? Quite the reverse. Thinking and reasoning along these lines gives us such a larger, freer sense of things, that the cramping effect of finite and restricted thinking is lifted. That which seemed impossible becomes more possible, and a way of meeting and honestly discharging the debts we seem burdened with is found. With a change of thought, comes always a change of manifestation.

As we think of the world problem today, of the division, conflict, and distrust manifested among the nations, it is clear that the savior for this is the understanding of divine Principle, which, in turn, will be manifested in the right idea of government humanly. And just here one thought comes with exciting comfort. It is this: Whatever the outward appearance may be, I am convinced that the peoples of the world today fervently desire peace, and Science and Health states (p. 1), "Desire is prayer," and prayer is answered. Humanly, we may not be able to see ahead, but in Romans it is written, "We know not what we should pray for as we ought; but the Spirit itself maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered." May it not be that our spiritual desires and the longing of humanity for peace are making intercession for us today and making possible for us a divine solution?

"There is an end to every deluge. Always
Some shore resists and holds the waters back,
Some hill drawn close enough to heaven's hallways
Raises its head above the flood's attack."

"The mount that wears a crown of stars is stranger
To darkling fears and tempest's swift alarms.
Turn to the hills, my heart, in time of danger
And Ararat will lift you in its arms."

"Turn to the hills!" Was not that what the Master meant when he counseled man at such a time to look up and lift up their heads, for their redemption drew nigh? Not their destruction, remember, but their redemption. Did not the command to look up imply the need to fix our gaze on divine reality, to go to the mountaintops of thought? "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above." During the ages the human concept of God has been gradually changing and rising. We all know that the old heathen concept of Deity was that of a tyrant to be appeased by human sacrifices. Some savage tribes, even in recent years, have worshipped a God whom to placate they flung their helpless babes into the fire or the torrent. The Old Testament God was largely a man of war, Jehovah, who had human qualities, loving and hating; though even then Moses taught a glimpse of the right idea, for he saw the vision of God when he was on the top of the mount as "merciful and gracious, longsuffering, and abundant in goodness and truth." At the same time, until the coming of Jesus the Christ, God remained largely a God of vengeance. Jesus taught God as Father, and John, the disciple whom Jesus loved, proclaimed the divine fact that God is Love. Still, however, the tenderest side of Love was not defined until Mary Baker Eddy gave us the title of Mother by which to know God. Christian Science has been called the Comforter, and perhaps one reason for this is that it has given us the idea of the motherhood of God. The little child that is in trouble runs to its mother to be comforted. As she gathers it in her arms, her very presence quiets and consoles it. So when we children of a larger growth turn, in our own, to the divine motherhood, we find in that idea a tangible comfort, a warm assurance of sheltering Love which takes away our fear. The comfort of that presence is a healing balm.

Since, then, the concept of God has risen in such a degree, the concept of man in His image, man who is manifestation, must of necessity rise also. Just as there is one universe with many different aspects of it, so there is in reality one man, with many differing and distorted concepts of himself. The one man, whole and holy, "having neither beginning of days, nor end of life," he is intelligent, since his origin is Mind; he is loving and lovely, since he is the offspring of Love. That is the right idea of man, the savior of the false concept. Here we see that progress consists of the attaining of diviner concepts, each mounting thought bringing with it a corresponding higher or more humane externalization in human affairs. Though this change may seem very gradual, yet it is seen in the reform and the more merciful character of some of our prison codes, in the abolishing of child labor, and in the giving of more rights and privileges to woman. As the concept of man rises, so the concept of prayer has naturally risen also. The most primitive form of prayer was the imploring of Deity not to send disaster and destruction upon mankind. This ignorant attitude was put to an end by the Master, who told his followers to cease using vain repetitions, because, he said, "Your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him." In Christian Science the prayer of petition becomes the prayer of recognition. We do not implore God to be good, but we recognize the infinitude of His goodness, and the consequent goodness of His man. This change of attitude is simply the recognition of that which is.

Now, as I said before, the right idea of man is the savior of the false concept; and this right idea of man seems always to have been with Jesus. He was always announcing the fact and demonstrating its actuality. "The man is not dead, but sleepeth," he said, and with what scorn and derision that denial of sense testimony was met! "Neither do I condemn thee," he said to the woman taken in adultery. "Thy brother shall rise again," he told both Mary and Martha, and when there was a great multitude of hungry people and only two small fishes and a few loaves of bread available, he said to the disciples, "Give ye them to eat." Now in all these cases and in many others Jesus, paying no attention to the scornful laughter of sense testimony, made good his words. That is what we call demonstration. That was what made him the Christ—his dominion over false evidence, his perception and knowing and proving of the divine fact.

This practical idealism is what he practiced throughout his entire ministry; it is what the world needs today.

The Discoverer of Christian Science may well be defined as a great practical idealist. The vision that came to her she applied to the human need. There have been dreamers and idealists in all ages; but it is not true that their idealism has not been made practical? Because of this, in the course of time the word "idealism" has come to signify the vague, the impossible, the unpractical. The function of the poet is largely that of the seer. All through the centuries the poets have touched in moments of exaltation the divine verities, the supersensible. They have had visions and translated them into words of fire, but they have done no more with them. Then came this woman and translated her visions into terms of human advancement and attainment. Always there have been isolated cases of healing achieved in moments of inspiration, but these healings were not based upon an understanding of the Science of healing, and therefore available to all. Their beneficiaries enjoyed them, and there it stopped. But Mary Baker Eddy, when she received her healing, never rested until through years of patient search she found the Science of that healing. She was intelligent enough and logical enough to realize that for every effect there is a cause, that law governs all phenomena, and that there must be a spiritual law governing the healing that came from moments of spiritual vision and exaltation. With the tremendous energy and the inquiring mentality that characterized her, she never paused until she made her spiritual discovery. Her every discovery and experience were in the realm of the ideal, but in each instance she insisted that the ideal could and must be made practical. In her book "Unity of God" (p. 9) she writes that she has sometimes been accused of monopolizing patients' ideas until they "have been held by a few spiritual thinkers in all ages." She continues: "So they have, but in a far different form. Healing has gone on continually; yet healing, as I teach it, has not been practised since the days of Christ." There is the crux of the whole matter. What have those before her done with metaphysical ideas? They have left them where they found them, as interesting and abstract speculations; but she took them and formed them into a system of practical rules capable of demonstration and the consequent transformation of experience. She taught the power of right thinking, and consequently realized that such thinking should be used not only to improve personal problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so, after much pondering, she conceived the idea of a daily newspaper which was to be free from sensationalism, giving reliable news. In three months finally she established The Christian Science Monitor, an international daily newspaper. Such practical idealism as that is unprecedented. It is no less than to improve personal and international problems, but to help national and international troubles. To help in such a way, men and women must be well informed, abreast of the times; and so

The complicated, delicate movements of the antique clock are understood and painstakingly re-stored here to correct action. Work called for and delivered. Just phone

JESS GALLAGHER
WATCH & CLOCK REPAIRING
3109 CHALMERS BLVD. Near Mack, Tel. LE 2412

FURS RE-MODELED
To Latest Style!
All Work Guaranteed

UPPER MACK CLEANER & TAILOR
17457 Mack at Neff TU. 2-8120
We Call For and Deliver

No Sniff, No Whiff, No Cough
Start to Use
VITAMIN CAPSULES
We Carry a Complete Line of Vitamin Products For Every Ailment

LARGE STOCK OF HOLIDAY CANDIES
LIQUOR
Specially Designated Distributor by Liquor Control Commission.

BOB'S DRUGS
21034 Mack NI. 9620

BAKED CARAMEL CUSTARD
By MARY BLAKE
Home Service Dept. Carnation Co.

1 cup sugar 4 slightly beaten eggs
2 cups Carnation milk diluted with 2 cups water 1/2 teaspoon salt with 1 teaspoon vanilla

Place the sugar in a heavy skillet or pan and heat until the sugar turns to an amber brown syrup. Add caramel syrup to the milk which has been heated in a double boiler and cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until the sugar is dissolved. Add slightly beaten eggs, salt and vanilla, and mix thoroughly. Pour into individual baking cups, set cups in a pan of cold water and bake in a slow oven 30 minutes (325°F) until firm. (A knife inserted in center should come out clean.) Makes 8 individual custards. If custard is to be baked in a larger dish, add an extra egg and increase baking time. For plain custard, omit caramelizing and use only 1/2 cup sugar.

SWIFT SNYDER DRUG COMPANY
We Extend to All Our Friends and Customers Our Very Best Wish for A Happy Thanksgiving
15228 East Jefferson at Beaconsfield We Deliver LE. 0800

BIRD LOVERS! DOG OWNERS!

Start a Bird Feeding Station in Your Yard. We have natural, wild, and mixed birdseeds, that will attract birds to your home sanctuary. An education to your children, a pleasure to everyone and an important contribution to conservation. We also carry a large variety of Special Dog Foods.

QUALITY FEED STORE
Harper at Eight Mile Road TU. 2-0550

Storm Windows—Doors
Wood or Steel
Order Them NOW!
Let Us Give You an Estimate!

Miller Screen and Sash Co.
17801 Mack at Rivard NI. 3640
Open Monday, Wednesday and Friday Evenings Till 9

WARNING!
Call Niagara 9709
Don't Start Furnace Fires Unless Furnace and Flues Are Clean!
TINNING AND ROOFING SERVICE
ELECTRIC SEWER SERVICE

A. J. Kretsch
14739 Mack at Ashland Plumbing and Heating Service

TRAGEDY of X

by Ellery Queen

© STOKES W.N.U. RELEASE

CHAPTER II
Synopsis

Friday afternoon, Sept. 4, Harley Longstreet, member of the firm of DeWitt and Longstreet, brokers, invites some of his friends to a hotel to celebrate his engagement to Cherry Browne, an actress. The party includes DeWitt, his wife, Fern, his daughter, Jeanne, her fiance Christopher Lord, Cherry's friend Pollux of vaudeville fame, Ahearn, friend of DeWitt, Imperiale, middle-aged Latin, and Michael Collins, brawny Irishman. A little before six they all leave the hotel to go to Longstreet's home in West Englewood. A sudden storm breaks and the party boards a 42nd street cross-town car. Between 9th and 10th avenues Longstreet puts his hand in his pocket for his glasses. He pricks his hand. "What in the world could've..." he starts thickly, and collapses to the floor. Drury Lane, retired Shakespearean actor, offers to help District Attorney Bruno and Inspector Thumm solve the murder. The officials are relating the details to him.

DeWitt stood stonily, his small hands clenched. Ahearn and Lord struggled with the heavy body and managed to haul Longstreet into a vacated seat. Longstreet was gasping weakly; light flecks of foam dribbled from his lips.

The growing uproar penetrated forward into the car. Suddenly a policeman with sergeant's stripes elbowed through. He had been riding on the front platform with the motorman.

Longstreet stiffened again, then became quite rigid, scowling. "He's dead. Un-huh!" He had caught sight of the dead man's left hand. More than a dozen tiny trickles of coagulating blood laced the skin of fingers and palm from as many tiny pricks, each swollen a little. "Murdered, looks like. I don't want anybody to try to get off this car." He called to the motorman: "Don't move this car, and see that hose doors and windows are kept shut — understand?" Then he yelled: "Hey conductor! Run down to the corner of 10th avenue and tell the traffic cop there to phone the local precinct and tell it to get Inspector Thumm at headquarters. Got that straight? Wait — I'll let you out myself. I ain't taking any chance on somebody giving me the slip."

The conductor, out in the rain, headed for 10th avenue on the run. The conductor, water streaming down the visor of his cap, was hammering on the rear doors. A policeman stood by his side. The sergeant admitted them and closed the doors at once.

"Morrow reporting. On duty at 10th avenue."

"I'm Duffy, sergeant, 18th precinct. Call headquarters?"

"Yep. Inspector Thumm said for you to take the car to the Green Lines car barn at 42nd and 12th. He'll meet you there. Says not to touch the body."

When the car reached the huge shed a group of men in plainclothes were waiting. Sergeant Duffy pulled the door-lever and Inspector Thumm forged into the car. The sergeant whispered into the inspector's ear. Thumm thudded to his knees and, taking out a flashlight, grasped the material of the dead man's open patch-pocket, pulled the pocket wide, and directed the pencil of light into the interior. Putting down the flashlight, he produced a large penknife and with the utmost caution slit the stitching along one side of Longstreet's pocket. Two objects gleamed in the ray of the flashlight — a silver spectacle case and a small ball of cork, one inch in diameter, riddled with at least 50 needles, the tips of which projected from the cork a quarter-inch all around, making the total diameter of the weapon an inch and a half. The tips of the needles were stained with a reddish-brown sticky substance. With the point of his penknife Thumm prodded the cork and turned it around. The needle tips on the other side were similarly stained.

Thumm straightened up, explored his own pockets, and produced a small pair of pincers and a packet of cigarettes. He dumped the cigarettes into his pocket, lifted the needed cork out of Longstreet's pocket with the pincers and slipped it into the empty cigarette packet. The inspector then wrapped his in a half-dozen thicknesses of newspaper and handed the package to Duffy.

"That's dynamite, sergeant," he said. "Handle it that way. You're responsible for it."

Five minutes later Inspector Thumm had weeded out the members of the Longstreet party. They trooped silently from the rear of the car and were escorted into a private room on the second floor of intended the exodus of the other occupants of the car. They filed into a large general room on the second floor, guarded by a half-dozen detectives.

Inspector Thumm was back in the deserted car with the sprawled dead figure when there was the clang of an ambulance and two young men in white hurried into the barn, herded by a short fat man. Thumm called: "Doctor Schilling! This way!"

The medical examiner of New York county puffed into the car followed by the two internes. He bent over the dead man, then said: "Where can I take this stiff, inspector?"

Thumm's eyes twinkled with grim humor. "Dump him in that private room upstairs with the rest of the party. That ought to be interesting."

As Doctor Schilling superintended the removal of the body, Thumm beckoned a detective. "Have this car gone over with a fine-comb, Peabody. Collect every piece of junk in it. Then go over the routes the Longstreet party and the other occupants took in passing to the rooms. I want to make absolutely sure that nobody dropped anything."

The Longstreet party sat about in varying attitudes of misery and strain, but all were silent.

Inspector Thumm surveyed the party with almost disinterested speculation. "Sergeant, you told me that some gentleman here had identified the dead man as Harley Longstreet. Who was that?"

Duffy pointed to John DeWitt, sitting beside his wife on the continuous bench that flanked the four walls.

"His hand was clear — no blood?"

"No."

"The weapon," volunteered DeWitt, "must have been slipped into my partner's pocket while he was on the car."

The inspector grinned without humor. "Exactly, Miss Browne, why did your fiance take out his glasses in the car?"

"He wanted to see about a certain stock."

Thumm clucked encouragingly. "Do you know the name of the stock?"

"It was International Metals." She stole a swift look at where Michael Collins sat sullenly studying the floor. "And Harley said, when he saw it had dropped a lot, that Mr. Collins might need help."

Thumm regarded Collins with curiosity. "I thought working for the income tax department kept you busy. Where do you come in on this?"

Collins bared his teeth. "I'm not sure it's any of your business, Thumm. But if you must know, Longstreet advised me to buy heavy in International Metals — he'd been watching the stock for me. And the bottom just dropped out of it today."

DeWitt was regarding Collins with frank surprise. Thumm said quickly: "Did you know about this transaction, Mr. DeWitt?"

"Certainly not. I'm astonished to hear that Longstreet advised buying Meats. I foresaw its collapse last week and so advised a number of my personal customers."

"Collins, did you speak to Longstreet today before you saw him at the hotel?" asked Thumm.

"Yes, ominously."

"No words, I suppose?"

"Oh, for God's sake!" shouted Collins. "You're barking up the wrong tree! Are you trying to pin this thing on me?"

Cherry Browne was on her feet now, eyes wild and face white with the sudden sight of Longstreet's livid clay. She brandished her finger at DeWitt, ran forward and clutched his lapels, shrieking into his blanched face: "You killed him! You did it! You hated him!"

Thumm and Duffy pulled the screaming woman away. Throughout DeWitt stood like stone.

Inspector Thumm towered above the quivering woman. "How did you come to say that, Miss Browne? Did you see Mr. DeWitt put that cork into Longstreet's coat?"

"No," she moaned, shaking from side to side. "I only know he hated Harley... Harley told me so dozens of times—"

Thumm snorted, looked significantly at Sergeant Duffy and snapped: "Everybody stay here until I get back," then strode to the general room.

The inspector stamped loudly for attention.

The conductor, questioned first, revealed himself as Charles Wood, No. 2101, in the employ of the company for five years. He was a red-haired man of perhaps 50. He remembered the dead man as having paid fares for 10 people out of a dollar bill.

"Ever see the man on your car before?"

"Yep. He's been getting on pretty often at that time for years."

"Recognize anybody else in his party as a regular passenger?"

"Seems I saw another man, a weak little guy. Gray-haired, sort of. I've seen him come on pretty steady with the guy that was bumped off."

Thumm then questioned the passengers. No one, it seemed, had seen anything slipped into Longstreet's pocket. Detective Peabody came in. "Any luck?" asked Thumm.

"Dry as a bone. Whatever this bunch had on 'em when they left the car is still on 'em."

"Only one thing to do," Thumm said. "Search everybody in this room. Look sharp for corks, needles, anything that's out of place or out of character. Get busy."

But the search produced nothing. Thumm returned to where the Longstreet party sat miserably waiting. Doctor Schilling was standing before the screen putting on his coat. He crooked his finger and the two went behind the screen.

"Death from respiratory paralysis, but that's a detail." The doctor bobbed his head in the direction of the bench; the weapon had been unwrapped and lay, innocently enough, at Longstreet's stiff feet. "There are 53 needle-ends around the ball of cork. Their tips and their eyes, projecting from the cork, were dipped in nicotine — nicotine in I think a concentrated form. The fresh pure product is a colorless and odorless oily liquid. But in water or on standing it soon becomes dark brown and you can smell the characteristic tobacco odor. The needles pricked the palm and fingers in 21 places; the poison made immediate entry into the bloodstream. Thumm, my friend, I don't envy you. Unless this poison was secured through legal channels, it will be untraceable. Pure nicotine is hard to buy, and if I were a poisoner I wouldn't get it from a chemist. It would be possible, of course, to distill it from an enormous quantity of tobacco, which normally has a nicotine content of four per cent. But how are you going to trace a nicotine-cooker? The easiest way is to buy a can of —" Doctor Schilling mentioned a well-known insecticide, "and you have nicotine without much trouble. It has a 35 per cent content to begin with, and by evaporation you would get just such a resinous sticky mess as the needles are smeared with."

"How long would it take for this poison to act, Doc?"

"Not more than a few seconds ordinarily. But if the nicotine was not wholly concentrate, and Longstreet was a very heavy smoker, it would have taken three minutes or so, at it did."

Inspector Thumm went out to the Longstreet party and signed to DeWitt. "As Longstreet's partner you're probably best equipped to tell me about his habits. The conductor has often seen him on his car. How do you account for this?"

To Be Continued.

Chinese Fliers

Vanguard of 200 young Chinese fliers who will receive U. S. training at Thunderbird field near Glendale, Ariz., are pictured in army truck en route there from the Pacific coast. They will be taught to fly for war duty in their native country—with U. S. methods.

Dirty Window Shades
spoil your clean curtains!
Replace Now With

DU PONT TONTINE
WINDTIGHT IMPREGNATED
Washable
WINDOW SHADE CLOTH

Standard Window Shade Company
ESTABLISHED 1907
15915 E. Warren TU. 2-5440
Near Buckingham

We Take Pictures of Your Dog!

Call TR. 1-8729
For Appointments Phone After 5 P.M.
LeROY SIMMONS

Attention! SUPERLATIVE PRESSING
3-Pc. MEN'S SUITS

Form Pressed — and — 55¢
Re-Shaped

Cash and Carry
Fast — One-Day Service!

City-Wide Service
10 Trucks to Serve You!
TU. 2-4000, TU. 2-1600, UN. 2-3300

ALGER CLEANERS
16922 Kercheval, 16319 E. Warren
3843-49 Puritan

No BLACKOUT HERE—

use a 150-watt lamp for the LAUNDRY

Banish gloomy basements—make washing and ironing easier with GOOD LIGHT. An inexpensive ceiling fixture with a 150-watt bulb, located over your laundry tubs or washing machine or iron, will speed up your work noticeably and give you a brighter Monday morning. The Detroit Edison Company.

Thanksgiving DINNER DELICACIES at the Parkside

Menu

Tomato Juice or Fruit Cocktail

CHOICE —
Roast Young Tom Turkey With Walnut Dressing
Broiled Filet Mignon, Fresh Mushrooms
Roast Young Dairy Fed Chicken With Walnut Dressing

Candied Sweet Potatoes
Whipped Snow Potatoes

French Buttered Peas
Harvard Beets

Head Lettuce and Tomatoes With Thousand Island Dressing

Cranberry Sauce
Rolls and Butter

Pumpkin Pie
Beverage

Let's Make It Mother's Day Out $1.25

Yes, You May Bring The Entire Family....

Yes, You Can Enjoy Thanksgiving in Detroit's Most Beautiful Cocktail Lounge... The Bombay Room... The Family Will Gaze With Wonder... They'll see an actual reproduction of "The Perfectly Enlightened Man" Buddha encased in the side of this famous room. Here, indeed is the Very Finest... So, Come, enjoy a refreshing Cocktail, Positively NO COVER OR MINIMUM CHARGE. In Detroit for Beauty—IT'S THE BOMBAY ROOM.

PARKSIDE Detroit's Finest Rendezvous
East Warren At Dickerson L.E. 6700