Burns Henry, Alger Posts Sponsor Poppy Sale Here

This year the Burns Henry and Alger Post and auxiliaries are facing their first war-time Poppy Sale on Tuesday, May 26. This year, more than ever, Poppy sales have a new meaning, for we are bound by memory to provide for the dependents of those men who are now defending our shores from an enemy. There is a war and the Poppy of remembrance can help win it. Our poppies not only honor those who defended America 25 years ago, but also those who are defending America today. New names are inscribed on America's roll of honor this year. Ever since the first World War the poppy has been worn in tribute to the men who gave their lives in the defense of America; it is now the badge of remembrance for the heroes of this war. Today the American Legion will conduct the sale of the streets of Grosse Pointe the sale of poppies made by their buddies now patients at the Veterans' Facility at Battle Creek. The poppy is more than a badge of patriotism this year when young Americans are again offering their lives to keep our country secure. Each poppy symbolizes beautifully the supreme sacrifice which has again become necessary to maintain America's freedom and democracy. Picturing one side of the sale is a letter received by the Review from the Burns Henry Post of Grosse Pointe: "President Roosevelt said not long ago: 'Americans from all walks of life, rich and poor, country-bred and city-raised, farmer, student, manual laborer and white collar worker, will learn to live side by side, to depend

A charge of embezzlement of village funds against Clare Mudge, suspended Grosse Pointe Park police officer, will not be lodged, according to the recommendation of the Wayne county prosecutor's office received this week by Ward S. Your police officers have informed us that many of these witnesses cannot now be located. In view of this and other difficulties we do not think a warrant should be issued.

15-Minute Blackout to be Enforced Here

Grosse Pointe will undergo its first total blackout Sunday, May 24, when it joins with the three million residents of the Detroit metropolitan area in a full test of local air raid precautions. From 10 to 10:15 p.m. Sunday all lights, including street lights, home lights, building lights, and automobile, truck and bus lights will be extinguished. Unlike Detroit, where street lights will go out five minutes after the blackout is scheduled to begin, street lights in Grosse Pointe will be extinguished for the full 15 minutes, going off promptly at 10 p.m., George Elworthy, defense coordinator for this area, declared.

15-Minute Blackout to be Enforced Here

The complete blackout will extend throughout Grosse Pointe and Gratiot township for the full 15 minutes, Elworthy decided, to give an ample demonstration of the efficiency of the Pointe's civilian defense organization. As during the last test, the air raid warning sirens will start sounding at 9:57 p.m. This Sunday the Village of Grosse Pointe Farms will use officially for the first time the two seven and a half horsepower air raid sirens ordered last week and installed late this week in the village. The sirens have been placed at Ridgemoor and Lothrop and by and Beaupre.

15-Minute Blackout to be Enforced Here

In the other villages and the City of Grosse Pointe the sirens, the fire and police cars will be on as warning signals. Blackout ordinances, presently local police to enter homes and also be in force for Sunday night blackout in the City of Grosse Pointe adopted its ordinance Monday night, May 11. Grosse Pointe Woods approved its ordinance Tuesday night of this week and it went into immediate effect as an emergency ordinance. In the Village of Grosse Pointe Farms, Village President Paul H. Stevadora Show Sets Fast Comedy Pace

Following the fast pace set by last week's anniversary show, Club Stevadora again comes up with another excellent show - Billy Joy with his satires on the weaker sex, again takes the honors for comedy followed closely by Coralie and Kay, the two society debutants, with their comedy knockabout, an unusual type of act for two girls to be doing. For novelty, Patine and Rosa do their fast tumbling and acrobatic, finishing off with their miniature slide for life. Bob Hopkins does his impressions of Hollywood stars and surprises the patrons with his ability to mimic almost any star upon request. Up to this time the only request that has stumped him is Mickey Mouse. Joe Banket plays his trumpet in solo numbers, but good, and does a great job in his musical support of the entire show. Ethel Shepherd sings the Hit Parade. Esther DeRoy continues her excellent chorus work and the routines are as colorful and different as usual.

LOVETT REPLIES TO THE REVIEW'S ARTICLE ON HOME RULE PLAN

Speaking generally for the committee of civic and business leaders in Detroit who drafted the proposed constitutional amendment providing a new form of government for Wayne county, W. P. Lovett, secretary of the Detroit Citizens League, and a member of the Citizens committee, takes exception to statements made in The Grosse Pointe Review of May 7 with reference to the proposal for which petitions are being circulated. In a statement written for The Review, Mr. Lovett said:

"Although the vote on this question cannot be taken until Nov. 3, next, we are not surprised that township supervisors and other county officials, outside of Detroit, find plenty of things to criticize in the new plan of Wayne county government. When a county board of 161 members for many years has revealed its futility in transaction of county business and any proposal is offered for a new plan with a smaller board, it is evident that any plan of so-called reform will rouse criticism from people who are in public office and do not wish to be disturbed or who insist that their own community shall have direct representation in any new plan that is adopted.

Prohibits Salaries "One reason for opposing the amendment, no doubt, lies in the provision which prohibits county, city, village or township officials receiving salaries from serving on the proposed charter commission of 19 members. Of course this means that no official of Detroit is qualified to serve on the charter commission. Like many other constitutional requirements, it is provided that the job must be done not by public officials but by citizens and their representatives, because it is the taxpayers citizens who must bear the real burden of any form of government.

"This may be a good time to distinguish between criticisms made by public officials, sometimes called politicians, who have their own interests to serve, and the view of independent citizens, no matter where they reside. These latter are the folks who pay the bills in all units of government and who, as voters, have responsibility for making final decisions at the polls.

Invited Out-County Opinion "Objection is made because the amendment was drafted without submitting its language to out-county representatives. This statement simply is not true. We have a list of 20 persons, living in Detroit suburbs and rural areas, who were urged repeatedly to confer and consult on the whole project as long ago as last January. Few of them responded when the work of drafting the measure was going on. But we know numbers of citizens and officials in Wayne county, outside of Detroit, who not only were consulted but who, after inspecting the proposal in its final form, pronounced it sound, safe and fair to all concerned. Some of these were officials in local units of government.

"In this discussion, which calls for light rather than heat, we hope that time will not be wasted over such trivialities as have been mentioned by some of the rural opponents of the amendment. I refer to the fact that the board of supervisors for some time past has chosen its chairman from among officials in Detroit. Perhaps that was a mistake in some cases. But no informed citizen or official need be told that the chairmanship of the board is mostly an honorary position. As a rule, the chairman makes appointments and transacts other olic viewpoint on any other subject? If so, address: Catholic Information Society of St. Paul's Church, Mary Leasure, 328 Rivard, Grosse Pointe, Mich.

U. of M. Club to Hold Annual Spring Frolic Saturday, June 6th The Grosse Pointe chapter of the University of Michigan club will hold its annual Spring frolic, Saturday evening, June 6, at the University club on East Jefferson avenue. The supper dance in February was so popular with those who attended, that the club was asked to repeat that kind of a party.

For this party the music will be furnished by the Rotunda orchestra under the direction of Mr. Perry. Supper will be served at 11:30 and will include as before, chicken pie, shoestring potatoes, Spring salad, dessert and coffee. This is all cared for in the price of the ticket. Due to the size of the supper rooms and dance floor, tickets cannot be sold to more than 100 couples. Table reservations for group parties may be made with Miss Bernice Moore, who may be reached at Niagara 2000 from 9 to 5 and at Drexel 3474 after 6 p.m. Tickets will be secured from any of the officers or governors of the club as well as from Miss Moore.

One of the interesting features provided by this orchestra will be old-fashioned square dancing with an instructor and caller.

"It will not be possible to accept or cancel reservations after Thursday night, June 4, so it would be advisable to make all party arrangements well in advance and as definite as possible," Miss Moore said. "This will be the club's last activity this year, and it is sincerely hoped by those in charge of this party that all of those who have enjoyed the previous parties can arrange to get out for this one and have one more good old "Michigan" time together. Mrs. Marie Steiner, of Grosse Pointe Park, announces the marriage of her daughter, Carol, to Clarence Stanbury, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stanbury, of East Grand Boulevard.

GOOD FOOD and a good day's work A man needs three good meals a day. Not just two and a snack. His lunch box should carry a nourishing, healthful, strength-building meal every day. So pack it carefully. Plan the lunches your Victory worker carries with as much thought as you give to a dinner. Make it a balanced meal, including something hot, a fresh vegetable or fruit and one of the foods that Grandfather called "the kind that sticks to your ribs". For lunch box menus and appetizing, healthful food suggestions, call Home Service Department, Cherry 3500.

Save for VICTORY these three ways 1. BUY CAREFULLY - Get all the good out of the foods you buy. Take advantage of bargains and special values. Remember that canned foods are delicious, healthful, and economical. Less expensive cuts of meat have the same nutritional elements as costly cuts. 2. PLAN MORE NUTRITIOUS MEALS - Serve your family vegetables, meat, milk, eggs, bread and cereals in sufficient quantities every day. Don't waste precious food vitamins, and minerals. Use the Gas Range's waterless cooking method for vegetables; Gas Range's low temperature method for roasting, broiling and braising meats. 3. CONSERVE FUEL - Place cooking utensils on burner before lighting; turn gas off when cooking is complete. When boiling starts, turn burner down to lowest possible flame to keep boiling lively. Take advantage of all your Gas Range's time and fuel-saving economies.

Belanger Clarifies Draft Board's Views On Dependencies. By Judge C. Joseph Belanger, Vice-Chairman, Board No. 57 Selective Service System.

There has been a great deal of discussion of late as to the dependency classification made under the selective service system. It might be well to give some further information in relation to this matter.

(1) Wife's earnings or income from invested capital (either her own or belonging to registrant) makes her self-supporting. There is no basis for Class III classification.

(2) Working wife was providing adequately for her own support and voluntarily ceased work after Dec. 8, 1941, or when selection was imminent, in circumstances convincing of intent to establish a dependency deferment. There is no basis for Class III classification.

(3) Wife has never worked, or ceased work before registrant's selection was imminent, or wife has work of uncertain tenure or poorly paid, or wife is not fully self-supporting because of prior obligations, contributions to aged parents, etc. There may be no present justification for Class I-A classification.

(4) If family includes children and there is no adequate and assured income from sources other than registrant's earnings, there is no present justification for Class I-A classification. If there is an adequate and assured income from independent sources, there is no basis for Class III classification.

(5) An unborn child is a dependent, but pregnancy resulting from marriage consummated after December 8, 1941, or for the primary purpose of providing a dependency deferment, shall not be considered to be cause for Class III classification.

(6) Marriages entered into while registrants were in Class I-B, IV-F, and in some cases II-A and II-B, creates no basis for Class III classification.
