Patriotic Musical Revue Given Local Showing

Cast of 90 to Stage Patriotic Panorama At Pierce Tuesday

The patriotic musical revue, "You Can Defend America," presented last week in the Masonic Temple, Detroit, before an audience of over four thousand, will be given its local presentation Tuesday night, June 16, in the auditorium of Pierce junior high school, it was announced this week by George Elworthy, co-ordinator of civilian defense for the Grosse Pointe area. The program will begin at 8:30 p.m.

The revue, sponsored by Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner, is being brought here at the invitation of the Grosse Pointe area defense council. Arrangements are in the hands of a local committee headed by Charles A. Parcels, president of the board of education.

The revue has been given 150 presentations in more than 20 states at the invitations of governors, state legislatures, defense councils, labor unions and national organizations. It came to Detroit last week at the invitation of Mayor Edward Jeffries for a stay in which presentations are planned for many parts of the city as well as appearances before industrial plants and labor organizations.

The cast includes some 90 citizens, including business and professional men and women, housewives, workers and debutantes, who come from all parts of the country to give their services without pay in the spirit of national service. Two members of the cast have professional stage experience. Mrs. Marian Clayton Anderson, of Hollywood, will be remembered for her performances in "Mutiny on the Bounty" and "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." Cecil Broadhurst, son of a pioneer from Nevada, is another volunteer member of the cast.

The show is based on the popular Victory Handbook, "You Can Defend America," for which Gen. John J. Pershing wrote a special preface in which he said:

"None can fail fully to endorse its ultimate objectives—the preservation of our precious heritage. It invokes the principles of good citizenship and the spirit of '76 and of '17 in this new emergency confronting our great democracy. How each of us can do his part in the home, in industry, in every walk of life, is indicated clearly and forcefully. I recommend its message to every American."

"You Can Defend America" is a morale-builder in 11 fast moving scenes with a wealth of new songs and drama written by the cast themselves. It takes the audience on a tour of Anytown, U. S. A., from the family breakfast table to the mayor's office and the battle of production, hammering home the three-point program of sound homes, teamwork in industry and national unity.

"You Can Defend America" aims to enlist every citizen in the fight against the fifth column of apathy and the sabotage of selfishness and division.

Tickets may be obtained at Schlettler's drug store on Jefferson and Rivard and at the Neighborhood club.

Dr. Paul Essert, superintendent of schools, is serving as head of the invitation committee.

There is no charge for admission.

Councils of the Village of Grosse Pointe Farms and the City of Grosse Pointe will hold their regular meetings this Monday evening.

1st Woman Member Of Board

Grosse Pointe schools will have their first woman trustee this year as the result of Monday's school election in which Mrs. Alice Moody Sheaffer, mother of two public school girls here, was a successful candidate for a two-year term. Leading the ticket to fill the vacancy for the other position open on the board was veteran board member Charles Poupard.

J. Leo Barrett, Poupard's running mate and a member of the board continuously for the past 10 years, was defeated by over 100 votes.

Out of a total of 653 votes cast, Poupard received 391 to head the returns. Mrs. Sheaffer followed closely with 386 only five behind the leading candidate. Barrett received 281 votes. One vote was cast in the third precinct for N. Deroscher. "John Doe" received a vote in the second precinct. There were 50 spoiled ballots.

Cunningham Slated To Succeed Pfeffer on Park Commission

Kenneth Cunningham, 45-year-old district manager for the Sun Oil Company, is the probable choice to succeed "Cap" Pfeffer as a member of the Grosse Pointe Park village commission, Village President Karl B. Goddard reported yesterday.

The appointment is expected to be confirmed at a special meeting of the village commission Monday night.

Cunningham will probably be appointed commissioner of public affairs, President Goddard said. Howard P. Parshall, present commissioner of public affairs, will be renamed commissioner of finance, the position he held last year. Pfeffer had been commissioner of finance this year.

"The selection of Mr. Cunningham to fill the vacancy on the commission is based entirely on his ability," President Goddard said. "We feel confident that his appointment will add quite a bit of stature to the commission. He has exhibited a keen interest in municipal affairs and the problems of local government."

Cunningham has formed no policy nor opinion, he told The Review, upon which to base his decisions and actions as commissioner. He has never held a public office before.

Cunningham has been a resident of Grosse Pointe Park since 1934, making his home at 936 Berkshire road. He is the father of three children, two of whom are students in Pierce junior high school and one attending Trombly school.

Dr. Essert Reviews First Year as Head of Public Schools

Dr. Paul Essert reviewed his first year as superintendent of Grosse Pointe public schools Monday night when the voters of the school district met for the annual school meeting.

In his talk, Dr. Essert stressed two features: The value of the schools and the cost of their maintenance and operation. Most particular emphasis was placed on the value of the schools, especially as they have contributed to the intellectual and physical welfare of the children.

"In speaking of the 'value' of the schools this year, I am not so much concerned with the number of teachers employed, the number of students attending nor the physical additions to the school system as far as new buildings are concerned," Doctor Essert declared. "My concern lies with what the children have received, how much they have benefited and how much they have learned."

One of the first considerations which Doctor Essert pointed out is the health of the school youngsters, due, in great part, he said, to the work of the Grosse Pointe township board of health. "Compared nationally or locally, the health of the Grosse Pointe public school children shows an outstanding record," Doctor Essert declared. "It is a record to be proud of."

Coupled with the actual work of physical examinations and preventative medicine, as carried out by the board of health, is the provision of sanitary, hygienic school surroundings for the children, Doctor Essert said. Both the new Industrial Arts building and the addition to the Mason school were constructed according to the latest and most modern developments in sanitary and healthful school construction, he said.

Second feature of the schools pointed out by Doctor Essert is the growth of the knowledge, skills and understanding of the children. That Grosse Pointe students rate high is reflected in the results of standard tests conducted in competition with schools throughout the United States which showed that almost all of the Grosse Pointe pupils run from six months to a year in advance of their grade as compared to the national average.

Another proof of their academic ability is found in the records of the Grosse Pointe high school graduates. Typical is the record of last year's June graduating class of 298 students. Of these 240 or 5/6's made satisfactory adjustments either in college or in their work. One hundred ninety went on for advanced study in college, a higher percentage than that of any previous class. College and university scholarships have already been granted to 13 members of this June's graduating class.

The character of the children also discloses an estimable standard, Doctor Essert said. Their achievements in self-discipline and their ability to fight their own battles and carry their problems through to the end are evident in a number of instances, he maintained. Some of these are: Roy Batters and J. P. Damman, of the work of the safety patrol who must tumble out of bed each

Neighborhood Club Plans Parties For Service Men

Grosse Pointe will begin this week a program of entertainment for the boys in uniform with the parties continuing for the duration.

The service men for the Grosse Pointe parties will be assigned from the USO headquarters in downtown Detroit, but it is the hope of the committee that all service men who are visiting their homes in Grosse Pointe will attend any party that may be in progress. Otherwise, this will be a closed party.

The Grosse Pointe hostess corps will be selected from a group of girls from this community over 18 years of age and who are out of high school who are willing to help entertain the service men any time they are called.

Registration of these hostesses is being held this week every evening between 7 and 9 o'clock at the Neighborhood club.

Purpose of the parties is to give an outlet to the spirit of the community in its desire to do something for the men in service and to equal if possible the splendid work that is being carried on in the city proper through the USO agencies.

Arthur Hogarth is furnishing his 14-piece orchestra for the first party this Saturday night and is practicing up on the musical numbers he thinks the service men will especially enjoy. Elaine Arndt will start the party off with some social mixers and will direct the dancing. Plans call for a cabaret style party with entertainers from Miss Arndt's studio. The Rotary club is providing transportation for the service men.

Mrs. Robert Barie is chairman of the snack bar and has subscribed sandwiches and cookies sufficient for the occasion. The Lions club will provide the soft drinks.

Wedding of Betty Ann Bowser Took Place Last Saturday

The Kappa Kappa Gamma house in East Lansing, Mich., provided the setting for the marriage of Betty Ann Bowser and Lieut. Robert V. Smith on Saturday, June 6, at four o'clock in the afternoon. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. O. E. Ames, of the Community Church of Christ, in the presence of their immediate families and the sorority sisters of the bride.

At one end of the living room was an improvised altar of white peonies and gladiolus, palms and cibotium ferns with candelabra holding white tapers. The fireplace was banked with white peonies and daisies and arrangements of pink and white peonies were used throughout the house.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white marquisette and Princess lace made with transparent yoke and bishop sleeves. The body of the dress was of lace with a long full skirt of the marquisette. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was shirred into a Juliet cap of net with narrow satin bands. Her bouquet was of white orchids with roses and stephanotis.

Mary Margaret DesJardins, of Lapeer, Mich., her only attendant, wore a long torso dress of pale blue with a full skirt of flowered marquisette. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and blue bachelor's buttons.

Mrs. Bowser chose a green chiffon ensemble with white accessories for her daughter's wedding and the groom's mother and grandmother wore blue. All three had corsages of white gardenias.

Herbert Smith, of Kalamazoo, served his brother as best man and Robert Bowser, brother of the bride, performed the duties of usher.

Marjorie Almdale, of Grosse Pointe, played the wedding march and Genevieve Nauman sang "Oh Promise Me" and "Because." Both girls are sorority sisters of the bride.

At the reception which followed, a buffet luncheon was served from a table in the library covered with a lace cloth and decorated with flowers and candelabra. A military touch was added when the bride cut the wedding cake with the groom's saber.

The couple left later for Fort Sill, Okla., where Lieutenant Smith is stationed with a field artillery unit of the army.

For traveling Mrs. Smith chose a suit of pale green sheer with white accessories and her corsage was an orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Bowser, of Grosse Pointe Park. She was graduated from Grosse Pointe high school and attended Mary Washington college for women in Fredericksburg, Va. VICTORY GARDENS

Michigan Council of Defense

By V. R. DePETRIS
Getting the Most Out of the Victory Garden

To make the garden plot produce to its full capacity during the growing season, should be the aim of every Victory Gardener. And why not? If we can make two blades grow instead of one, we are increasing the yield of every square foot of garden space.

The method of successive cropping will make it possible to do this. First of all the gardener must become acquainted with his crops, so that he may understand the methods. Successive sowing and planting will insure a continuous yield of fresh vegetables throughout the summer.

In these columns on May 21, a list of the most popular and at the same time more easily grown, vegetables was given. Following each variety the average time to maturity was also given. If the Victory Gardener will refer to this list, he should be able to formulate a plan for successive cropping in the garden.

There are two ways in which careful planning of the garden plot may be made to yield more plentifully and continuously. The first method mentioned is that of successive cropping. The other method may be called companion cropping since it consists of growing more than one crop on the same area at the same time.

In successive cropping, successive plantings of the same crop may be made at intervals of 10 days. Allowance should be made for the last sowing or planting for each particular crop in order that it may mature before heavy frosts. Such vegetables as radishes, beets, beans, carrots, early cabbage, kohlrabi, lettuce, etc., are adaptable to successive sowings or plantings since they have a comparatively short growing season or are resistant to early frosts and cool weather.

The other type of successive cropping consists of following one crop with an entirely different one which would be matured before the growing season ends.

For example, early planted crops such as peas, beets, lettuce, carrots, radishes, etc., may be followed by beans, cabbage, endive, kohlrabi, kale, etc. It is obvious that some sort of successive cropping be followed in order that none of the Victory Garden remain idle during the growing season.

Were this not done, the empty space would either continue to be cultivated even though it remained unplanted or became infested with obnoxious weeds. Weeds should never be permitted to remain in any garden.

The second method of utilizing the garden plot to the utmost, consists of growing two or more crops on the same area at the same time. This is referred to as companion cropping, and is indispensable where the highest yield is desired from small areas without harming in any way the main vegetable crop.

For example, in planting tomatoes, pepper, eggplant and other vegetables which are comparatively slow growing, and which occupy the land through all the growing season, other quick crops may be combined in between rows. The early crops will have had time to mature before the permanent crops will be large enough to require the entire space.

These quick growing crops included radish, lettuce, carrots, etc. They can be grown between rows without disturbing the larger vegetables provided of course that the latter are properly spaced.

The systems of successive and companion cropping are extensively followed by skilled truck gardeners who obtain all their crops out of their land. It should likewise be followed by the amateur gardener.

Without loss of space, edgings of colorful flowers may be planted or sown in small gardens. Among the flowers which might be used in bordering the main walks, the following are suggested:

Sweet alyssum, Arctotis hybrids, calendula dimorphaea (African endula dimorphaea (African daisy) escholtzia (California poppy) nigella dwarf nasturtium annual and dwarf zinnias.

These flowers can all be had by direct sowing as late as June. After they have formed several pairs of leaves, they may be thinned out according to the variety and effect desired.

By sowing these thinly along the edges of the main walks or around the outer boundaries of the garden, there will be very little space taken from the vegetable planting. The final effect will be both attractive and colorful.

Catholic Information

Must We Believe Our Priests?

"I can subscribe to most Catholic beliefs," a Protestant gentleman recently remarked, "but I'll be darned if I'll believe them because some Catholic priest tells me I must."

Must! What slurs that word makes of us! But are we not willing slaves when it is truth we must believe?

The school child must believe that there is such a place as India — that there was such a person as George Washington — that there will be an eclipse of the moon on a stated date. So also must you and I, not because we have discovered these things for ourselves, but entirely on somebody else's say-so.

But religion! Haven't we soul freedom? Can we not believe as we like? Well, hardly. If we are thinking men we must believe in an intelligent, creative God. If we are Christians, we must believe in humanly inexplicable mysteries — a Trinity of a single Divinity — a Virgin Birth — a man who was God — a resurrection from the dead — an ascension into heaven. We could not discover such for ourselves. We must believe on the say-so of some person or some book.

And so with the Catholic and his priests. The priest does not, and cannot, create religious truths; but he teaches them with the same God-given authority with which the Apostles taught and converted the world 1900 years ago.

"Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations . . . teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you, and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Amen." (Matthew 28: 19-20, King James' Bible).

And that is just what the Catholic priest has been doing for nearly twenty centuries — teaching all nations all things whatsoever Christ commanded; and so he will continue to do, with the promise of Christ being with him, even to the end of the world.

Must we believe our priests? We must! For it would be unintelligent to do otherwise.

Private correspondence on any Catholic subject is invited. Address: Catholic Information Society of St. Paul's Church, Mary Leonard, 322 Howard, Grosse Pointe, Mich.

Neighborhood Club N-E-W-S

A home protection class of two Tuesday morning sessions which will begin Tuesday, June 16, at 10:30 a.m. will be conducted at the Neighborhood club, 17145 Waterloo. Any women interested please call Niagara 4600 to enroll.

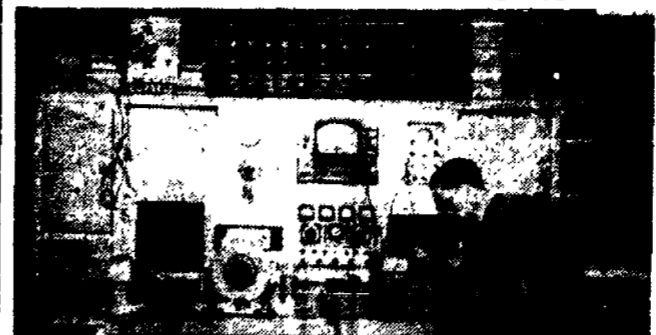

Play Day

A very successful play day was held at the Neighborhood club, Saturday, June 6 from 10 to 3 p.m. Four color teams were organized which competed in jump rope contests, snatch pin, newcomb and dodge ball with the green team, captained by Mae Doris Clark taking top honors and winning the prize. For the afternoon program the amateur contest proved to be very entertaining — with Lois Banta of the Tiny Tots ballet class under the direction of Mrs. Jose was given first prize for her very fine singing ability. Edna Ingram of the Playmates club was presented second prize for singing and Sally Walker received third prize for singing.

Camp Fire Girls

The three Camp Fire groups of the Neighborhood club under the guardianship of Mrs. Donald Corey, Mrs. Henry Gardner and Miss Masak are working on needlework for Detroit welfare. The girls are still collecting china for eastern work so if you have any old china please call the Neighborhood club, Niagara 4600 and the Camp Fire girls will come to your home to pick it up.

SCIENTIFIC EQUIPMENT MEANS BETTER RADIO REPAIR WORK

Tracometer . . . Oscillator . . . Oscillograph . . . they're terms that mean little to the average person but to busy Jack Roberts of Roberts Radio Shop, 16369 East Warren, they represent ways of tracing all sorts of trouble in your radio set.

These trouble-shooting instruments (pictured above) are just part of the equipment which makes Roberts radio laboratory one of the finest in the city. The Tracometer is the latest piece of apparatus in the radio repair field. Using this instrument in combination with the Oscillator takes radio repair work out of the "guess it" class and puts it in the "know it" class, according to Jack.

Final Standing of Camera Club

The third annual salon of the Grosse Pointe Camera club will soon close its activities for the summer. The salon will be opened to the public from Wednesday, June 17 thru Sunday, June 20 from 3 to 10 p.m. daily, at the Grosse Pointe high school, room 104.

RECEIVES DIPLOMA

Thelma Maxine Elworthy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Elworthy, will receive her degree from Michigan State College at commencement exercises Saturday. Miss Elworthy is a graduate of Grosse Pointe high school. She will teach physical education at Charlotte, Mich., next year.

Trombly School N-E-W-S

Notice to residents on Westchester and Nottingham:
The money solicited by a few misguided Trombly school pupils last week has been turned over to the Red Cross. Please co-operate by not giving money to any solicitor for the Red Cross, unless he presents satisfactory credentials.

A large American flag which has been constructed of paper may be seen as one enters the main entrance of Trombly school. This flag signifies both co-operation and patriotism to those who understand its meaning. First only a large piece of newspaper paper with the plain blue field was placed on the bulletin board in 1B classroom.

The flag was formed by white stars and red squares obtained thru the purchase of defense stamps.

PIERCE SCHOOL N-E-W-S

One of the homerooms in Pierce school has contributed two afghans to the Red Cross. One was made by all the members of the home room, and directed by Miss Mildred Simmons. Those who worked on it are: Joan Terry, Alan Chambers, Robert Slater, William Chapman, Jack Marshall, Willard Kerr, Julius Huebner, Norah Steenhoven, Jean Gardner, Lorna Meecham, Bruce Teakle, Virginia Arnold, Joan Clark, Jean Gherman, Ken Cunningham, John Butterfield, Eric Freiwald, Paul Kriewall, John Zauner, Joan Harrison, Earl Gosselin, Jeanette Sellers, Phyllis Collins, John MacMahon, and Joya Teetzal.

The other afghan was made by Mrs. R. Steenhoven, mother of one of the members of the home room. It consisted of blue and gray knitted work, with a large red cross in the exact center.

Each child in the 1B group who purchased one or more stamps on "Stamp Day" was given a star with his name on it. The star was placed in the blue field. After the 48 stars were earned, the stripes were made. Red squares were given to the children instead of stars. The squares were placed side by side until the stripes were the desired length. As the purchases continue names will be placed on the white stripes. The flag now represents $48.15 worth of defense stamps.

Richard School N-E-W-S

On May 20, the last Parent-Teacher meeting was held in the Richard school for the year 1941-42.

Each Spring an exhibition, such as an art, hobby or social studies exhibition has been given by the school. This year a reading exhibit was presented in each room, showing some of the work done in each grade from reading readiness on the kindergarten level through the reading program in the sixth grade. During the meeting Lois Jeanne Whitehead, Ruth Kempes, Anita Howarth and Clara Blank explained the objectives, techniques, experiences and materials used in the various grades. Marion Norris and William Ferry presented two films on reading activities. Sylvia Pollock had a meeting for her parents before the main program at which she presented a film of an activity program carried on in her room.

The parents visited the rooms after the program and many of them commented very favorably on the value of this type of program to them.

During the meeting the PTA officers were elected as follows: Leon Lindahl, president; Mrs. Morgan, vice-president; Mrs. Merrill, secretary; and Frank O'Neill, treasurer.

This sad looking fish has already learned his lesson. Have you learned yet that our national defense effort relies greatly on the co-operation of our citizens in watching what they say and whom they say it before? The Grosse Pointe Review reprints this illustration, published first in the April 25 issue of Editor and Publisher, with the permission of its author, Arthur Hirschon, in an effort to remind our readers to "Watch While You Talk."

Noted Organist Stationed Here

One of Michigan's most illustrious organists Professor Arthur Rivette, known far for the sweet organ recitals he gave for a period of years from the stage of the Fox theatre, was appointed permanent organist of the new Charles Verheyden funeral home early this week.

The professor will continue his affiliation with the Dearborn Inn where he has for many years been giving evening and Sunday afternoon organ recitals.

Originally Rivette studied at St. Joseph's Academy, Bay City and the Detroit Conservatory of Music, where he studied under Professors York and Renwick. Later he finished under Bendetson Netzorg. He played at the famous Temple and Majestic theatres and was organist for the late Jessie Bonstelle's Garrick theatre stock company for several years. Also he was organist for 11 years with the Kunsky theatres here.

Among the students the Professor taught here are Isabel Stewart and Ray Grotan.

Professor Rivette will personally play the great Hammond organ at the Verheyden establishment for all funerals.

BURNS HENRY AUXILIARY

A social meeting was held June 2 at the home of Evelyn Cullen, 848 Coplin.

Cards were played and a lovely lunch was served. June being flag month, the table center was decorated with a group of American flags and place favors were small boats with a pin flag in center.

A meeting will be held the evening of June 15 at 8 o'clock at the Veterans building. Grace Brown wants the officers and chairman not to forget pictures for our history book. Let's help Grace send our history into department convention again this year.

We have Phyllis Wiggert and Elva Nielsen on our sick list. A card or visit will be appreciated.

Charlotte Dobson has passed her final examination on motor corps. Good work Charlotte. We might need a good mechanic in the future.

President Hazel Allor and Sylvia Sharp have finished their air raid warden classes. They are taking first aid now. Esther Thorpe has two more classes on first aid.

President Hazel Allor was on the committee with Dorothy Pearl to distribute the MacArthur "I'll Do My Best" posters.

Four of our members won door prizes at Dorothy Pearl's "On to Victory" card party Saturday, June 6th.

I'll be seeing you June 15.

ESSERT REPORT

morning at six o'clock and stand on the street corners through all types of weather and unpleasant conditions to watch and safeguard their fellow students.

The work of the boys in the airplane club was also singled out for special mention. The boys recently were commissioned to build model planes for the United States navy department. Not only is the work monotonous, Doctor Essert said, but it is very exacting, the planes being built according to government specifications and being required to pass government inspection. Despite these unpleasant features, the boys now have 200 planes ready for the inspectors.

Another example of the character of the children is shown in their response to the war activity, Doctor Essert said. To date the youngsters have purchased $30,000 in war stamps and bonds out of their savings and have contributed over 1,000 items to the Red Cross, including articles which they themselves have made as well as salvage materials which they have collected. They have also responded wholeheartedly to the air raid protection program and have volunteered in large numbers as helpers in the Victory Garden work.

As far as the cost of the schools is concerned, Doctor Essert reported that they had been operated within the budget set up. In addition the board has reduced its gross debt by $102,000 and increased its sinking fund for serial bonds by $95,000. The actual cost per pupil has been reduced $2.36.

Although the budget for the next year is expected to exceed the budget of a year ago by $40,000, the increase is due to increased enrollment and the loss of state aid, Doctor Essert explained. In confirming this he pointed out that the gross budget is being increased at the same time that the cost per pupil has been reduced.

Saving 1,000 DRIVING-MILES PER DAY-

...how Detroit Edison customers are aiding the War Effort

A short time ago, we asked your patience in the matter of Detroit Edison delivery and service calls, explaining that it might take a little longer for an Edison serviceman to arrive, and that deliveries might not be quite so prompt. We did this in an effort to save cars, tires, man-hours, gasoline . . . yet still provide reasonably good service for our customers.

You have cooperated generously in this program, and thanks to your patience, we can report worthwhile results. By ROUTING customer calls—that is, by grouping all the calls in a certain area so that a man can handle more in a single trip—we are saving 1,000 miles of driving per day. Our customers have not been inconvenienced too greatly: The latest figures show that 84 PER CENT of all customer calls are answered within an hour.

Meanwhile, material shortages grow more critical. We are making further studies on how to achieve even greater savings in rubber, gasoline, and man-hours, and still maintain good service. We know that if we are obliged to adopt a new plan along this line, you will cooperate with us as wholeheartedly as you have done in the past. Patience can be patriotic, too.

Can the Japs BOMB GROSSE POINTE?

WHEN YOU FLY A BOMBER, you take the shortest distance between two points. As this polar azimuthal map shows, the shortest distance between Japan and the United States passes through Alaska. Unfortunately, that brings your home a lot closer to the war than you would ever guess from looking at more comfortable, but less truthful, flat maps.

REMEMBER
WE'RE AT WAR!

This authentic map shows it can happen here . . . just as easily, just as soon as on the Pacific Coast!

Do you realize that California and Michigan are almost exactly the same distance from Tokyo? As a bomber flies . . . shortcutting over the top of the world . . . it's only about 5,000 miles from either point. And if the Japs should ever get a foothold on the Aleutian Islands or Alaska, their bombers would be within five hours of vital military objectives in Detroit . . . within minutes of your home and family. Fantastic? Here's what one of our statesmen said in Washington the other day:

"Routine attacks on the north central section of the United States by air should be expected. These attacks will not be mere suicide attempts but sound military operations." Yes, some peaceful Sunday morning a Rising Son of a Gun may look down through his bombsight . . . and see your home!
