

BABY GIRL

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McGonagel, of Roslyn road, announce the birth of a daughter, Barbara Elizabeth, on Aug. 24. The young miss weighs seven pounds, four ounces.

THE PARTYLINE

Grosse Pointe will lose the E. V. Frankels on Nov. 1 when they move from their home on Hendrie Lane to New York.

Birmingham, Pa. Mr. Reading attended Grosse Pointe high.

The Robert B. Rains, of Vernier road, returned Sunday from Green Bush Inn where they vacationed for 10 days.

Virginia Dupuis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Dupuis, of Moran road, became the bride of Leland K. Swart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland K. Swart, of Lake Arrowhead, at a ceremony Sunday evening in the Methodist church in Denzville, N. J. Following the nuptial service a reception was held in the home of the bridegroom's parents, after which the couple left for Washington, D. C., where Mr. Swart will be stationed. The wedding was to have been held in Grosse Pointe, but the war situation caused a shift in plans. Doris Swart, sister of the bridegroom, was her only attendant, and Jacques Swart was best man for his brother. Mr. and Mrs. Dupuis went east for the wedding.

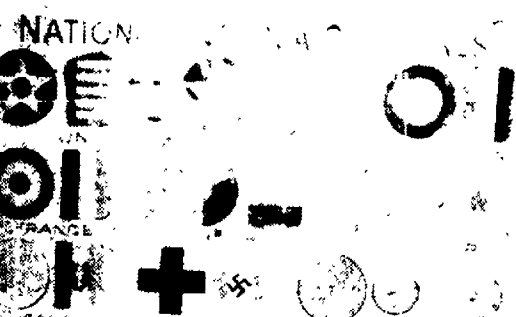

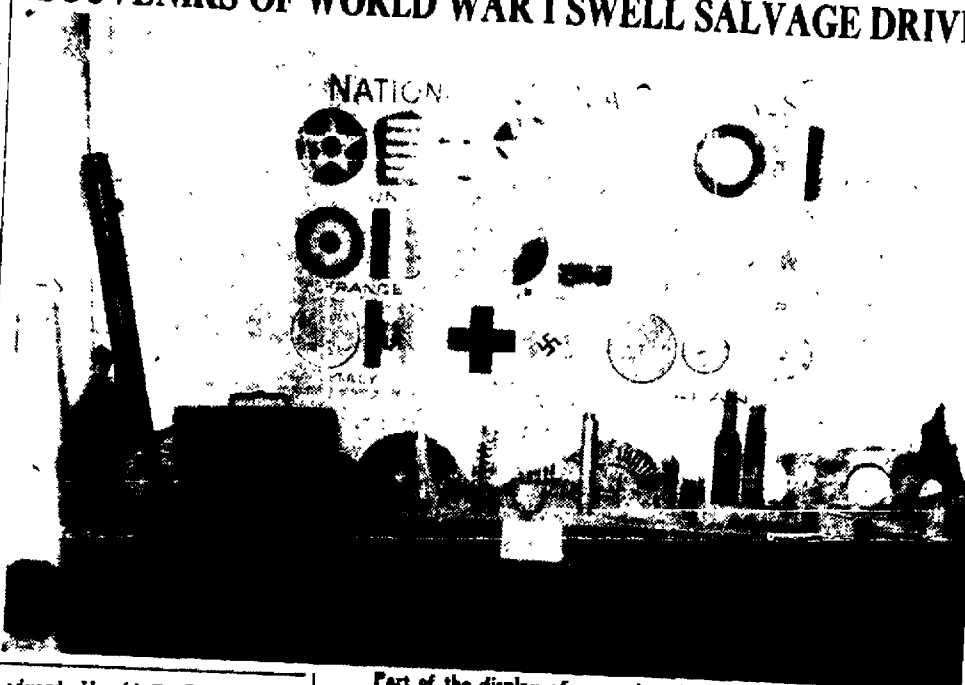

Wives of barristers were hostesses Tuesday at a luncheon at the Grosse Pointe Yacht club for the members of the American Bar Association during their convention in Detroit. Mrs. Renville Wheat, Mrs. Raymond H. Berry and Mrs. Joel Prescott were in charge and assisting hostesses were Mesdames Selden Dickinson, Glenn Coulter, Augustus C.

Ledyard, Harold R. Smith, Lester S. Moll and Ferris D. Stone.

Members of the bar were also treated Wednesday when after a trip through Cranbrook they were entertained at a luncheon at Devon Gables. Mrs. Wilson W. Mills, Mrs. Carl Essery and Mrs. Leo M. Butzel were in charge of arrangements. Hostesses were the Mesdames Arthur J. Abbott, W. Coit Allee, Henry E. Bodman, George Brand, John H. Engel, DeHull N. Travis, Leroy G. Vandever, Richard F. Weber and others.

Out on McKinley road the only thing that Tommy Smith wishes is that birthday's eep coming — especially if they all are as nice as his recent 12th birthday on Aug. 13 when a dozen friends surprised him with a party. Among his pals at the party were Jack Lemieux, John Cannon, Lloyd Murray, Danny Davis, Teddy Nielsen, Blount and Bobby Slade, Chuck Ghesquiere, Kenneth Campbell and Giles Lalonde. The only Indian missing was Buddy Reuther whose vacation kept him away from the fun and the barbecues and Italian spaghetti, made personally by Mrs. Norman MacLeod Allen (who besides being Tommy's adopted "best aunt" is also McKinley road's best cook).

SOUVENIRS OF WORLD WAR I SWELL SALVAGE DRIVE

Part of the display of souvenirs of World War I contributed to the salvage campaign by Miss Frances W. Sibley and now on display Tuesday in 1919 by Miss Sibley's brother, Mark M. Sibley, a lieutenant in the U. S. navy. Included in the display are a German helmet, bayonet, canteen, shells, parts of exploded hand grenades and officers' insignia.

German Equipment of First World War to Return As American Shells

Many and varied have been Grosse Pointe's contributions to the salvage campaign. But most inspiring and most poignant of any is the collection of souvenirs turned in this week by Miss Frances W. Sibley, 368 Washington road. Now placed on temporary exhibition in the AWVS offices on Maumee boulevard, the collection includes a wide variety of German military equipment from World War I brought back to this country in 1919 by the late Mark Miller Sibley, who served as a lieutenant in the United States navy, and which were presented by him to his sister.

Among other pieces are a German helmet, bayonet, water bottle, canteen, gas mask, numerous shells, parts of unexploded hand grenades and shells, officers' insignia and part of a zeppelin, shot down over England in the first World War.

Even to the curious, viewing these souvenirs in the AWVS office, the pieces bring a realization of the savagery of the first World War. "I have used on that bayonet, have quenched their thirst on the battlefield from that canteen, have had their bodies blown to bits by those shells or saved themselves from gasping torture in their lungs by that gas mask are a stark reminder of the things our boys are now going through to protect our homes from invasion."

"I want those things to go right back where they came from," Miss Sibley said grimly. "I want those very pieces which helped to take the lives of our men 25 years ago to go back and do the same job on the Germans."

"That's one reason I broke the pieces up. I don't want them placed on exhibition very long. I want them melted down into shells — shells that will go right back to the Germans, shot from American guns. So I broke them up into small pieces so that they would be worthless except for salvage."

There was a second reason, too, behind her contribution, Miss Sibley told The Review. In giving up the souvenirs which her brother brought her, she wants also to inspire others, who may have similar souvenirs of the first World War, to give their collections to the salvage campaign.

"There must be many men now living in the Pointe who served as officers in World War I and who brought back souvenirs," she said. "I hope that my contribution will remind them of these pieces, now probably stored away in attics or basements and forgotten, and will give them the idea of turning the pieces in to the salvage campaign."

Seated in the living room of the Sibley home, where she had graciously granted permission to be interviewed, she seemed almost an incongruous subject. A glimpse of a fragrant green garden could be seen out the window and made surrounded by luxury and artistic beauty sat a dignified, aristocratic, white-haired woman talking grimly and realistically about the dust, blood and sweat of war.

But her earlier days and real life of the first World War were not as the first World War, she said. Miss Sibley lived through a year of anxiety over her brother in the last war, but that in her veins runs the blood of American warriors.

In the last war, Miss Sibley explained, her brother was sent to Scotland where he was employed in the dangerous task of planting mines to punish the country's traitors. Moreover, since it was a secret service work, he was not allowed to see his family. Miss Sibley said she was doing her best to keep her mind off the war, but she could not help but think of her brother and the danger he was in.

BURNS HENRY AUXILIARY

The following officers were elected at our meeting of August 17: Marie Casey, president; Betty Hoyt, first vice-president; Lillian Knoff, second vice-president; Esther Thorpe, secretary; Mary Del Barba, treasurer; Gladys Craig, historian; Viola Dunn, Chaplain, and Sylvia Sharpe, sergeant-at-arms. The executive committee consists of Elva Nielsen, Alice Marrs, and Maude Reardon. Delegates to district and department convention are Marie Casey, and Esther Thorpe. Alternates are Hazel Allor and Betty Hoyt. Our 1942-43 dues are now due, so let's try and make it a 100 per cent paid up membership for our new president, and send dues in to Betty Hoyt, 199 Oak Street, Grosse Pointe Farms, Mich. Also we would like all returns on our tickets before next meeting, so we may get our books in order for the new year. Installation will be held Sept. 27 at the Veterans building. MARY DEL BARBA.

Only properly processed tin cans are of value in the salvage drive. Cans not properly processed will not be picked up.

Alger Post, VFW N-E-W-S

By NORVIN L. WYATT

It isn't the Moon of Leaves — yet. But a lot of guys we know are leaving or coming back — on one "Duck" Resume for instance. That was a swell sendoff the boys at the station gave him when he left. Maybe they figured it was final, too. And maybe it would have been, if it wasn't for this fellow "Goofy" who plays golf with the brass hats. Anyway Duck is back for a while looking more fit than ever. The one thing that didn't do him any good was the loss of a darned good dog which died of a broken heart. And "Dutch" Smith had his session with the examining doctors the other day. Came back with an arm all blue and bruised. Could it be the doc missed the putt with the needle, or was Dutch still swaying with the wind. The Cootie picnic was a success — in ways. And now that the season for them is over we are all set to settle down to business again. We have been asked to report it was Goldie's arm that was broken — not his leg. But George is still hopeful. Only thing is he should send in his fire alarms at the right time — not on Goldie's "Kelly" days. Comrade Bob Hazlett is up and around again — the operation didn't do much for his hair. And George Underwood reports burns — the arc welding kind. George Tilton says his son is going into the coast guard soon. His granddaughter is going too — if these vets don't give up trying to bring her up in their way, the baby can't eat beefsteaks and his favorite drink is milk. We wonder where and with whom Walter Fresh is doing his fishing now. And we wonder if Paul Lobby will get that cook-third class rating in the navy. Thinks he rates it for serving the boys their wheaties each morning. Sister Waldeck has taken her place on the assembly line. And old Bill's doors still stick — like the painter's house that is going with the winds. And — To whom it may concern — We still have that black-out paper, will send it to the proper party — soon. It was delivered once, passed on, to be placed in more appreciative hands. Ed Wynne tells us the Third District Bowling league will start Sept. 16 at Royal Recreation. He wants bowlers to turn out. And don't treat the steak roast he is planning like you did that moonlight, or like the rubber men did our ball team last Friday. And thanks — Mr. Meyer. We had hoped somebody read this column. And a four-some between you and Murphy, Del Barbara and us might have its possibilities. We doubt if the Texas restaurant has anything on Del for a spicy feed. That boy knows his cooking, too. And — wide Bud is or is not going back to the Marines — we expect to be heading north — come Sunday. Bud's excitement was to the draft board why he got married.

Later Commodore Whipple retired to Marietta, O., but even here he was called out of obscurity to resume his naval craft. Early settlers of Marietta, because of its vast supply of timber, determined that it should become a center of the ship building industry. Accordingly a ship was built, the intention being to sail it down the Ohio river and through the Mississippi. But the Ohio river had never been navigated, and the ship builders could find no sailor willing to risk the trip. Finally they turned to Commodore Whipple, then an old man, and asked him to undertake the perilous expedition. He accepted and the log of that trip, the first trip down the Ohio river, is now in the possession of his family.

Miss Sibley has a number of his possessions, his spy glass, pewter plates, books and other items, which she plans to turn over to a public museum either in Providence or in Marietta. But the souvenirs her brother brought, the souvenirs of victory over the Germans 25 years ago, she is turning over to the salvage drive to provide ammunition against the same hordes once more. Miss Sibley doesn't end her patriotism there. "Just today I found some more junk in a corner of the basement," she told me. "Some pieces of furnace grate and other sections of iron and steel. I'm going to call the AAVS office today and ask them to pick them up."

VALUABLE TIPS on the care of your vacuum cleaner
FOLLOWING THESE SIMPLE RULES will help to maintain your vacuum cleaner in good condition and may avert possible trouble:
(1) Empty the dust bag frequently. (It's a good idea to do this every time you use the cleaner.) Once a month, turn the bag inside out and brush it thoroughly. Do not wash the bag.
(2) Keep brushes free from hair and threads.
(3) Before cleaning your rugs, pick up by hand all hairpins, nails, tacks and other metal objects that might damage the cleaner. These can cause bag-punctures, belt-ruts, or even get tangled up in the fan.
(4) See that the nozzle and brush are properly adjusted. (Improper adjustment may break the rubber belt, and new rubber belts are becoming increasingly hard to get.)
(5) Repair or replace brushes if tufts become worn. The Detroit Edison Company.

Catholic Information

When You and I Are Dead

When you are dead, dear non-Catholic neighbor, your soul will go directly either to Heaven or to Hell, according to Protestant teaching — a rather worrisome thought when one considers how little we should be, not only from sin, but from the scars of sin, to be worthy to reside in perfect harmony with the all-wise God in Heaven.

When I am dead, I shall not go to Hell unless I die with the blackest unforgiven sins on my soul. I shall not go straightaway to Heaven because I have sinned many times; and although my trespasses may have been wiped out by Confession and Penance, still I must endure a period of punishment to atone for those forgiven sins, and of cleansing to wash away any remaining venial sins or imperfections.

When you are dead and I am dead, I believe we shall meet in Purgatory, suffering but confident of our final salvation. Then, if the 1900-year-old Catholic teaching is correct, you will know that my loved ones on earth are beseeching Heaven with their prayers that all-merciful God may take me sooner to Him. You will also be most gratefully aware that prayers are being said in your behalf by the Catholic friends you have left behind — by all Catholics, for it is our practice to pray for all departed souls — and last, and perhaps best, by those cloistered monks and nuns, so inexplicable to you while on earth, but now so much appreciated, because they devote their lives to praying especially for those departed souls who have no one else to pray for them.

If, dear neighbor, you think that there is just a possibility of the existence of Purgatory, why not remember now in your prayers the souls of your departed loved ones? And why not ask your Catholic friends to remember you after you have gone? If there is a Purgatory — and 360,000,000 Catholics are convinced that there is — such prayers will be invaluable; and if there isn't — well, no sincere prayer is wasted, so good will come of it anyway. Prayers which you may recite privately for the souls of dear departed ones, will be sent you free, if you write to:

VILLAGE MAY OPERATE OWN PARK CONCESSION NEXT SUMMER

The possibility that the concession stand in Waterfront Park will be run next season by the Village was introduced into Grosse Pointe Park's commission meeting Monday evening when Homer Fritsch, commissioner of parks, announced that the present operator of the concession has offered to sell her equipment to the village for $875.

If the village should purchase the equipment, Commissioner Fritsch said, the concession could either be operated by the Park itself or given out on a percentage basis.

The rationing of sugar has cut down the amount of soft drinks and candies that can be sold, he said, and independent concessioners are able to make little profit.

Village President Karl B. Goddard pointed out that with the war keeping people at home, it is the duty of the village to make the public park as enjoyable and complete as possible.

Decision on the purchase of the equipment was referred to Commissioner Fritsch and to F. L. Streed, village manager, who were authorized to act as they saw fit.

The measure passed after a half-hour's debate by a three to two vote. Commissioners Arthur Johnson and Kenneth Cunningham voting against the motion. Commissioner Howard P. Marshall was absent.

Prepared tin cans will be collected on Saturday, Aug. 29. Have your container at the curb by 8 a.m.

Letters to the Editor

U. S. Coast Guard Hotel Embassy, Broadway at 20th St., New York N. Y., Aug. 19, 1942. Gentlemen: Receiving The Grosse Pointe Review has been a real pleasure in the past and one that has been greatly appreciated by yours truly. Once again I must ask you to record a change of my address in the future please address the issue to the address above.

With The Men in Service

John N. Bockstanz, son of Sidney L. Bockstanz, of 1320 Grayton road, Grosse Pointe Park, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. army air forces after having successfully completed his three months course at the air forces officer candidate school at Miami Beach, Fla. His duties will be to direct vital administrative and supply operations of the rapidly expanding ground forces, thus relieving trained pilots for full time flying duty.

Second Insertion

Pfc. J. F. Riegler was recently transferred from Pomona, Calif., to the 321st M. P. Escort and Guard Company at Eden, Idaho. Edward Jones, graduate of Grosse Pointe high school, '42, and Warren Smale, graduate, '41, left Monday, Aug. 18, for the naval training station at Great Lakes, Ill.

Sergt. Thomas C. Pouttu, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Pouttu, 281 Chalifont, Grosse Pointe Farms, who has been stationed at Memphis, Tenn., as a technician in the Second Army, left for Camp Robinson, Benning, Ga., to enter the officers' candidate school. Sergeant Pouttu enlisted in February and had his basic training at Camp Robinson, Ark.

Harold B. Lee, son of Mrs. Anna M. Lee, of 17141 Kercheval, is now undergoing intensive training to become a navy specialist, being enrolled in a 16-week course in the school for machinist's mates here at the service schools of the U. S. naval training station. Upon graduation he will be given a qualifying examination which, if passed, will make him eligible for advancement to a petty officer rating. After graduation men are sent either to the fleet or to an advanced service school for additional instruction. Selection of students for the schools is made on the basis of a series of aptitude tests given to every bluejacket during his period of recruit training.

Legal Notice AUCTION

Foster Hitchcock Barrows, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Barrows, 1076 Bedford road, was graduated from the hospital corps school at the U. S. hospital at Great Lakes, Ill. Barrows, one of a class of more than four hundred fifty men, is now rated as a hospital apprentice, second class. Graduation terminates a six-week course of preliminary training at the hospital. The graduates will continue their training at naval hospitals before being sent to duty at sea or to other shore stations.

Corp. Robert P. Oldham, looking slim and spry, arrived Saturday to spend a week's furlough with his friends and family in the Pointe and to make the acquaintance of his recently arrived nephew and namesake, Master Bobby Blackburn.

D. Walter Allard, recently promoted to technical sergeant, stopped for a day the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Allard, 354 Hillcrest, on his way to report for officer's training at Fort Knox, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Knox of 1034 Nottingham returned last week from New York City where they visited for several days with their son, Ensign Carl Knox, of the U. S. naval reserve, who has since embarked aboard ship for "destination unknown" at sea. Ensign Knox was previously stationed at Portsmouth, R. I.
