English Navy Captivates Hostess Corps At Service Men's Party Last Saturday Night

"The best party yet," was on the tip of everyone's tongue following last Saturday night's affair for service men at the Neighborhood club, which started the Fall series of similar events sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Hostess Corps.
The party was unusual in that the soldiers were in the majority from overseas. The appearance of 30 petty officers of the English navy, new to this country, was especially enjoyed by the hostesses of the evening. The registry, which was taken by Miss Anne Ausin, revealed that the boys were from every place in the world. One who probably was greeted with the greatest of enthusiasm was in the uniform of the Free French.

Girls' Friendly Society Will Hold Autumn Market on Saturday at Holiday House

The Autumn Market at Holiday House on Pine Lake (Middlebelt road off W. Long Lake road), planned by the board of directors of the Girls' Friendly society, will be held Saturday afternoon of this week, according to the announcement by Mrs. Wilson W. Mills, chairman of publicity.

BET SHE IS READY TO DROP. what with all the teas, showers, dinners and miscellaneous, being given in her honor. Doris Clarke is the name (as if you didn't know.) Yesterday was the day of her marriage to Robert E. Lubeck. The week or three before the ceremony was filled with (just for example) a tea shower on Sunday afternoon given by Betsy Hodges and Gerry Whittstock, as co-hostesses, at Betty's home. There to wish Doris good luck were Rheta Pleger, Carol and Barb Nixon, Dotty Vining, Madeline Ricker, Betty Hutchenreuther and Jeanette Hincley. But wait, don't go away, that's not all. Doris was given time to powder her nose and then to Barb Eckley's for no less than a dinner party.

MERCHANTS ARE NOT TO BLAME

It seems that certain shoppers are wont to regard retail merchants with a certain amount of suspicion over the matter of prices and price ceilings. The question of price is brought up by shoppers who rely upon their memory as contrasted with records of the retailers as to the correct ceiling.

It may be helpful and reassuring to the public to explain that ceiling prices in various stores differ, according to the prices at which an item was being sold on the ceiling date. Likewise, comparable qualities vary, as does also the retail price, the latter having been fixed partly upon the basis of the buying power cost of the store.

Ceiling price adherence has been constantly under the direct scrutiny of the OPA, with a minimum of intentional violations being found. Some have suggested that the OPA should have published a price "range" ceiling, stating that certain items could be sold within certain prices. However, with, for example, a hardware store stocking some 25,000 items, a Herculean task would have been at hand.

Meanwhile, the public will do well to bear in mind that prices do vary as to ceiling on the same and similar items in different stores, all within the rights of the merchant and the regulations of the Office of Price Administration.

ARMY-STYLE "PUMP-PRIMING"

With rapid revisions of draft classifications being made by every selective service board, and previous physically unfit subjects being declared sound, numerous stories are going the rounds. Here is one:

A certain Southern gent without arms was taken into the service and complained about not being able to do anything. His sergeant asked him if he saw the recruit over in a field pumping a well. He was told "That man is blind, and, while you can't pump, you can help him by telling him when the bucket is full."

THE PARTYLINE

Mrs. Ward A. Detwiler of Three Mile drive, arrived from her Summer home at Great Island, Hyannis, Mass. Her three sons, Peter, George and Ward A. Jr., also returned to the Pointe Saturday. George has since left for the University of Virginia and Ward, Jr., to reenter Lehigh university. Peter is attending the Detroit university school.

Catholic Information
A Sin in Philadelphia But Not In New York!

EDITOR'S NOTE—As is the case that all good things must come to an end—the article entitled "Catholic Information" with this issue come to an end. It is the hope of the Publisher that our readers have been helped by reading this informative column. We assure you that it has been a privilege and a pleasure to have this series run in The Review.

"Funny folks, you Catholics," remarked a gentleman recently. "I once had lunch with one of you in New York on a Friday, and he ate meat without a qualm. The same night we dined in Philadelphia and he shunned meat for fear of sinning. His alibi was that it was St. Patrick's Day. Why is the Irish saint so partial to New York?"

"He isn't," we smiled. "The dispensation from the usual Friday abstinence was made by the head of the New York diocese as a special celebration of the Saint's feast day, perhaps because the New York Cathedral is named in honor of St. Patrick. There was no such dispensation in Philadelphia."

"Him! I thought your Catholic laws were supposed to be unchangeable throughout the ages?"

"By no means! You are confusing church-made laws with God's revealed laws. The Ten Commandments were made by God. The church was appointed their guardian and interpreter, but it was given no right to change them, add to them or subtract from them. It never does."

"But the Divine Son of God also gave authority to the church to make other laws for the guidance and government of the faithful, such as Friday abstinence, lenten fast, compulsory attendance at Sunday Mass, Holy Communion at Easter time and others. These laws the Church made in its wisdom. These laws the Church can eliminate, change, or add to in its wisdom. Bishops and priests may dispense individuals or their entire flocks from some of these laws for a just cause or a special occasion. But while a church law stands, to deliberately break it is a grievous sin against Christ, Himself, for did He not say to His very first churchmen: 'He that heareth you, heareth me; and he that despiseth you, despiseth me' (Luke 10:16)."

"You can bet on a horse in Maryland and still be an honorable citizen; but cross the Pennsylvania line and bet the same amount on the same horse and you are an outlaw. In like manner a Catholic is under the New York archdiocesan laws while in that district, and under the Philadelphia archdiocesan laws when in and around the City of Brotherly Love. It's not the horse, nor the betting. It's not the meat, nor the day of the week. It is the breaking of the law that is wrong in both cases."

Won't you give us the opportunity of explaining other Catholic beliefs and practices in a personal letter? Address:

How to AVOID WASTING LIGHT

and make your rooms brighter AT NO EXTRA COST

If you could get 25 per cent more light in your rooms without spending ONE CENT more for electricity, would you be interested? In many homes it is possible to do exactly that. And it is due to the fact that dust steals light . . . robbing you of part of the electricity you pay for.

One-fourth of your light is far too great a tribute to pay—and you can avoid it by cleaning your lamps and fixtures regularly. It's easy to overlook this important task, because dust collects on bulbs that are hidden under lamp shades or in semi-enclosed lighting fixtures. And these lights lose their brightness little by little, day by day, so that you scarcely notice it.

To keep your lighting at top efficiency, wipe all lamp bulbs frequently (also lamp reflector bowls). Dust your lamp shades inside and out. Use the RIGHT SIZE BULBS in your lamps and fixtures—not too large, not too small. Replace dark-colored shades with light shades with white linings, to reflect more light. You'll be amazed at the difference in your rooms—how much brighter and more cheerful they are— if you follow these simple rules. The Detroit Edison Co.

New Features at 'The Pointe Bar' Friday, Sept. 25

Howard Duncanson's Club, The Pointe Bar takes on a brand new style of entertainment this weekend, with the addition of frog-voiced Roger Cote, formerly with Frank Gagen at the Book, and the addition of a roster of brand new novelty numbers.

In keeping with a Fall policy of always providing something new and different in the entertainment line, the management has worked up some really surprising and new Negro spirituals, "skat" singing and comedy acts, in some of which, no less than Duncanson, himself, are featured.

Blues singing, in the "bestest" style is given out by lovely little Sally Romine, the winner of The Pointe's blues singer contest. Mel Steckley, inimitable piano player, yields a fine assortment of hot and sweet dance tempo with the help of a well-balanced band.

All New Show at The Stevadora

This week's show at Eddy Shepherd's Club Stevadora is all new except for the DeRoy Glamour Girls. The top spot is shared by two outstanding performers. First honors go to the international Negro baritone, Walter Richardson, his work is well known to Australians and New Zealanders where he was a feature attraction in many musicals. Billed as the world's champion bag puncher, Milo Vagge proves conclusively that it is true — he shows remarkable co-ordination in his handling of one, two, three and even four bags at one time. Comedy satires on ballroom dancing are offered and well received, by the Bordens, a young couple who have all the appearances of a smart, sophisticated dance team. A charming little Detroit girl, Mary Ann James, surprises every one with a sweet voice that is well suited for the semi-classical and popular songs she sings. The Esther DeRoy Glamour Girls are strictly in the groove for this week's show with all new lively numbers that are well dressed. All in all, it is a grand show.

If one out of every 21 mechanics in a Buffalo, N. Y., airplane plant laid off one day a month, there'd be one less fighting plane that month from that plant.

The two billion pounds of grease and fats wasted annually in the U.S. would make glycerine for about 613,800 tons of dynamite to grease skids for the Axis.

War Bond Program Denied "Failure" By Morgenthau

Grosse Pointe's member of the Wayne county war savings bonds and stamps committee, E. P. Caulkins, 304 University, is in receipt of an official letter from Henry Morgenthau, Jr., secretary of the treasury, emphatically denying that the treasury department, or he, Mr. Morgenthau, had called the voluntary sales program a failure. The letter restates his position with regard to the essential part that the voluntary savings plays in the war program. The text follows:

"The impression seems to have spread that I regard the voluntary war bond program as a 'failure.' This is not only a distortion of anything I have said on the subject but it is also an injustice to the hundreds of thousands of devoted volunteers in all parts of the country who are working day and night to enlist the nation's savings for the war.

"In view of our swiftly rising war expenditures I have said that the voluntary war bond program alone cannot close the gap between the amount of money available for consumer spending and the supply of goods available for civilian use. I have said that it must therefore be supplemented by a more drastic and comprehensive tax program, including a tax on spendings, a part of which would be treated as a debt to the taxpayer and repaid after the war. We shall, however, continue to rely upon voluntary lending for a large part of our financing.

"The mounting requirements of the war demand that our sale of war bonds be continued and intensified. As I said to the senate finance committee last week, it is my belief that the voluntary war bond program has produced and will continue to produce a great contribution to the nation's war effort. Regardless of the other measures that are needed, the voluntary savings program will be essential until the war is won.

"To our hundreds of thousands of war bond volunteers, I should like to say that the nation is counting on them more than ever to carry on the magnificent work in which they are so unselfishly engaged."
HENRY MORGENTHAU, JR., Secretary of the Treasury.
