POINTE PARAGRAPHS

By THE POINTER
We are wondering what the boys who lived through the hell of the fox-hole fighting on Bataan would think of the men in a Detroit factory who walked out because they "couldn't even smoke in the rest rooms." There was no smoking on Bataan... no smoke, either, unless it was from the whistling shells and incendiary bombs dropped by those little yellow men.

Hardly a day goes by without a Grosse Pointe "man in uniform" dropping into this office to thank us for sending him a copy of this paper free each week. It does us good to think that he has taken time from that precious furlough. Many others have written from remote parts to express their appreciation. As we have said before, we think that sending the paper free is very little, considering the sacrifice which those men are making.

Adjacent Lenawee county's American Red Cross chapter has pledged 1,200 comfort kits to be given to soldiers and sailors at point of embarkation for overseas duty.

The Minneapolis Morning Tribune recently presented a new variation of "The Inquiring Reporter" column found so often in newspapers across the country. A "This Man Says" feature daily invites one person each day to "sound-off" his views on a hand-picked topic.

The lure of pheasant finds three City of Grosse Pointe officials A. W. O. L. (???) supported by the sons of two of them. Hunting are Chief Trombly and son; Chief Chauvin, and Assessor Neil Blondell with his two sons, one of which is being loaned to the head of the fire department. We wonder which ones will get the bird and what bird.

14 Tons Processed Tin Collected

Tonnage Doubled in Second Tin Pick-Up Saturday in Area

The area's second tin can pick-up last Saturday produced a total of 14 tons of processed tin to double the previous collection on Aug. 29, according to figures released this week by Neil Blondell, Grosse Pointe and Gratiot township scrap chairman and member of the Wayne county salvage committee.

Sixty-four yards of the processed cans were picked up by trucks from the various municipalities during the day. But, the amount collected still indicated only about fifty per cent co-operation in processing and placing cans out for collection.

While somewhat pleased with the improvement over the previous collection, Mr. Blondell stated that the results proved that too many were unprepared for the collection. And, to overcome that event for the future, he appealed to every resident of the district to start today... not tomorrow or the next day... to save tin for the next collection, which will likely take place in a month or six weeks.

With industry demanding greater reserves of salvaged material daily, and the tin and steel found in tin cans one of the most essential sources, it is to be expected that there will be tin can drives from now until the duration of the war. And, if the public does not take to these collections seriously, the government may be forced to see fit to taking the tin away from them.

Again The Review repeats the simple directions, necessary to follow in properly processing tin for salvage purposes:

1. Wash cans, removing labels.
2. Open both ends, tucking in.
3. Step on cans to flatten.
4. Place in separate container ready for pickup.

City Police Chief Warns Franksters

The police will not tolerate any acts of mischief by the Hallowe'en pranks by youngsters, especially where there is deliberate property damage, such as the breaking of windows, and the marking or scratching of automobiles, and the throwing of stones or other objects at passing automobiles. Chief Trombly of the City of Grosse Pointe, stated very emphatically at this time that any youngsters caught doing anything destructive or obnoxious will be taken into custody and prosecuted.

Capt. Kenneth W. Smith, formerly organist and music director at the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian church, left last week with the Wayne university contingent to form base hospital No. 32 with the U. S. army medical corps. He will be stationed at Springfield, Mo., for a period of six weeks training.

Need More War Chest Workers

Response to the appeal for volunteer solicitors for the Grosse Pointe War Chest drive, fell short of expectations this week and a further urgent plea is being made for immediate response of Pointe residents.

The success of the drive depends upon the enlistment of a minimum of five hundred workers in the Pointe, it is explained by Co-Chairmen Mrs. Edward C. Parker and Gaylord W. Getz, Jr. Due to its important gas rationing and tire conservation, the entire canvass will be made by workers residing in the immediate neighborhood of assigned territories. And, with a sizeable squad of volunteers, any possible burden of work will be so divided as to prove too light for mention.

This year's War Chest drive supersedes the customary community fund drive, with the patriotic objective of supporting local, charity, the armed forces of the United States and the needy in foreign lands. More than 50 per cent of the $200,000 goal will go directly for war relief and service to the men in our armed forces.

The time is short with the drive officially scheduled to start on Nov. 2 through Nov. 12. Residents are urged to respond immediately, in order to allow time for organization and assignment work. The special solicitation, handled by a separate greater Detroit committee, under way a week in advance of Nov. 2.

24 Honored at Sendoff Party This Morning

At a meeting of the commission of the village of Grosse Pointe Park in the Municipal building Monday night, the commissioners voted a fifty dollar contribution from the village to the annual community Hallowe'en party and a number of miscellaneous matters were placed before the commission for action and reference to committees.

The ornamental iron fence on E. Jefferson received the attention of the commission, as Village President Goddard explained having placed his signature to a requisition from the W.P.B. asking the owners of the four lots on which the fence is located, and the subdivision company to join the village of Grosse Pointe Park in (Continued on Page 2.)

Set-Up Program in Cooperation with Nation-Wide Effort

L. M. Bartlett, director of pupil personnel for the Grosse Pointe public schools announced today that the school children of this area are co-operating in the nation-wide drive for the collection of scrap. For the present the drive locally is confined to the elementary schools. Plans are under way, however, for a follow-up campaign to be conducted in the secondary schools.

Under the plans of this drive, each elementary school in Grosse Pointe has been designated as an "Official Salvage Depot." This drive has for its purpose the collection of all small items of scrap which were overlooked or missed in the Sept. 24 drive. Residents are urged to make a thorough search of their homes from cellar to attic for all types of small articles of the following nature. Metal articles may include such things as keys, bolts, screws, nails, metal ash trays, old tools, brass and bronze fittings and trinkets, old scissors and shears, etc.

Suggested articles made of rubber include gloves, toys, shower caps, hot water bottles, old tennis shoes, rubber soles and heels, etc. Articles made of fabric may include old vegetable sacks, cotton underwear, old children to take to their school.

Items which are too large to be given to the children to take to their schools, should be checked and placed in convenient places so that they may be readily available at the time of the next pickup of the local salvage committee.

This school drive will end on Friday, Oct. 23. Residents of this area are urged to give all of their small items to the school children at this time so that they can be put into use immediately in the production of war materials.

Hemp articles particularly needed include old rope, old clothesline, old curtain cords, old burlap bags, etc. The school children will be provided with a checklist furnished by the conservation division of the War Production Board which they will take to their homes and to the homes of their neighbors and friends. The residents of each home receiving one of the checklists are asked to go through it noting the items which they have available and which can be given to the school.

Local Rationing Board Awaiting Official Orders

The last word on gasoline rationing for the Grosse Pointe and Gratiot township area, is today that no official instructions have as yet been received by the local rationing board, according to Joe Halter, executive secretary.

The board is awaiting official orders regarding registration, the use of volunteer registrars and the system to be used. As soon as instructions are received, full details will be published in this newspaper.

Offices of the rationing board were moved last night from the Punch and Judy building on Kercheval to Fisher road, opposite the high school, to obtain larger quarters.

BOARD EXPANDED—
In order to provide sufficient manpower to handle various rationing board functions, the original board, consisting of Alois A. Ghesquiere, chairman; C. Henry Bull and C. Thorn Murphy, was increased to a board of 12 men Tuesday night when Geiger Smith of the state rationing authority swore nine more men into service.

"HOME RULE" A MIS-NOMER

One of the most important propositions before the voters on the November ballot, as Proposal No. 2, is the so-called Home Rule Amendment.

The so-called Home Rule measure provides for a form of county government which is undemocratic and over which the out-county public will have little or no control.

Under the guise of non-partisanship the will of the people will be defeated and a minority party will perpetuate itself in power.

At a time when millions of young men are in the army and unable to vote, the vested interests are seeing their chances of getting control of the county government.

This is no time for any radical changes in government. Such changes should be made after deep study.

Local governmental changes can wait until after the duration.

A Worthy Example in Patriotism

Whatever we do, we usually think that we are contributing a lot to the war effort.

Emma Stauss, 84, and sister Rose, who will be 81 Saturday, have not missed a single session in surgical dressings for the American Red Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Dornbrook of 1211 Harvard road were hosts to a group of some sixty guests.

The bride was lovely, attired in a fuchsia wool suit, distinguished by shimmering around the hips and waist.

The groom's home immediately following the ceremony and the couple left for a honeymoon trip to northern Michigan.

WHY KINDERGARTEN?—
As the name implies, kindergarten is the garden where children are growing. Coming into the kindergarten at Defer school, one sees a bright, spacious room planned especially for furthering the all-round development of each child.

A five-year-old child has certain characteristics: He is active, questioning, growing rapidly, emotionally immature, still largely individual, developing powers of reasoning, has a comparatively short span of interest, and he needs protection against fatigue and over-stimulation.

Adults sometimes believe that kindergarten is a place where children are amused. Instead, it is a workshop where all school subjects have their beginnings, including language and literature, arithmetic, social sciences, natural sciences, arts and crafts, and physical education. These interests become more complex as the child matures.

To the teacher of kindergarten there is no joy quite like that of watching these small personalities unfold and of welding them into a social group co-operating democratically.—MYRA L. HEDGES, Kindergarten Director.

Disposition of the $738.28 realized from the sale of scrap obtained in the recent salvage drive awaits further word from the office of the local co-ordinator of civilian defense, George Elworthy.

The tree ordinance committee agreed to consult with the village attorney regarding the proposed amendment to the ordinance.

Fire Commissioner Johnson reported the rehiring of two former firemen, Vanutte and Vanette, formerly released two years ago when the commission decided the department was overstaffed.

The matter of reimbursing Fire Chief Ed Rector for insurance on and the use of his personal car in performance of official duties was referred to Village Manager Streed for study and recommendation.

How to make your ELECTRIC SERVANTS work for you more economically

Measured in terms of convenience and comfort, in hours of time and labor saved, your household electric service is one of the cheapest things you buy. Many of your electric servants can be operated even more economically by following a few simple rules:

YOUR ELECTRIC RANGE. Conserve electricity by finishing surface cooking on "low" or stored heat. Plan economical oven meals (cook the entire meal at once). Use very little water in cooking (foods come up to "steaming" point more rapidly). Use the thrift cooker on your range for low-cost casserole dishes. Avoid wasting heat by choosing flat-bottomed utensils just big enough to cover the heating unit. Always keep lid on utensils.

YOUR REFRIGERATOR. A blanket of ice around the coils of your refrigerator actually makes your refrigerator work overtime—increases operating cost. Defrost it regularly for economy's sake. For the same reason, don't put hot foods in the refrigerator to cool. And don't open the door often or longer than necessary, because this lets the heat in. Locate your refrigerator away from heat sources—and out from the wall an inch or two to allow air circulation. Avoid overcrowding the refrigerator for efficient operation. And cover all foods so that moisture won't collect on the freezing unit.

YOUR SMALL APPLIANCES. Don't leave appliances turned on when temporarily not in use (your electric iron or toaster, for example). Pull the plug, and connect the appliance again later when you are ready to use it.

Football Interpretations

—By J. DUNTON BARLOW—
("Officials" — Continued from Last Week)

The Umpire stands behind the team without the ball and watches the line to see that no illegal use of hands takes place. He has a horn that he blows at once upon discovering an illegal act. Incidentally the Umpire has more to do with a game being "clean" than any of the other officials because of his position right near the line of scrimmage. Holding leads to slugging and if the holding is called at once there is less likelihood of slugging later developing. He is also in an excellent position to see whether ineligible linemen cross the line of scrimmage on a forward pass play and to also look for interference on all pass plays. On punts, in the absence of a Field Judge, he drifts down the field to better observe if the ball is touched by either team before being caught and if caught to follow the runner in place of the Referee who is down the field far away from the ball. On plays near the goal line frequently, if the Referee so desires, stands on the side opposite the head linesman rather than in back of the defensive team (the team without the ball) so that he may better observe the forward progress of the ball toward or across the goal line.

The Umpire also is the timekeeper, in the absence of a Field Judge. He stops the watch automatically after the ball goes out of bounds, as soon as a forward pass is incomplete, as soon as a play ends during which a foul has occurred, after a score has been made and when the Referee asks him to. He starts the watch after time is out when the ball is snapped. He also carries a pencil and paper to make note of who wins the toss at the beginning of the game, the number of time outs a team has. (Each team is allowed three time outs without penalty during each half). The Umpire is the sole judge of player equipment. It is his duty to inspect the players before the game to see that all uniforms, bandages, etc. are in keeping with the rules.

The Headlinesman stands to the side of the two teams. He usually changes from one side of the field to the other between halves. He has three assistants, two of which are provided by the home team and the other by the visitors. One of the two home team men holds the box upon which the numbers of the down is kept. The other two hold each end of the chain, which is ten yards long, on the side line. The headlinesman has a horn to signal fouls with. The Headlinesman is in the best position to see that the teams are not offside and to assist the Referee in determining illegal formations. He also can watch for illegal line play on the side of the line toward him. As soon as he sees that a Forward Pass or Punt is developing he can drift down the field to watch for the same things that the Umpire does. Experiences of officials work together on plays. For instance, Grosse Pointe punts down the field and toward the side of the Headlinesman, who watches the ball and the runner, the Umpire at the same time is watching for clipping and other rule infractions. The runner goes toward the Umpire who then picks up the runner and the Headlinesman watches for the infractions. The referee, not having to follow the runner, can also watch for infractions. After each down the Headlinesman tells the Referee the number of the down coming next and the distance to gain to make it first down. The duties of the Field Judge will not be discussed for when he is working he in reality assists the Umpire and Headlinesman on plays down the field. When one is used it permits the Umpire to stay in close on all plays for he no longer has to drift down the field on punts thereby enabling him to maintain a constant view for illegal line play.

You all have seen games in which only two officials work. One as Referee and other as Headlinesman. This discussion has shown how impossible it is for the Referee to watch for illegal line play after the ball has been put in play. You can also see how impossible it is for the Headlinesman from his position on the side of the teams to watch the other side of the line for illegal acts. If ever you see a game with two officials don't be too critical of them for not calling fouls that you have seen from the officials. These men should always be officiating any football game.

Pointe U. of M. Club Selects Governors at Annual Meeting

The Grosse Pointe Chapter of the University of Michigan club held its annual business meeting in the library of the Pierce school, Friday evening, Oct. 2. Brief reports were submitted reviewing the club's last year's activities. An amendment was made to the club's charter, increasing the size of the board of governors by two members each year for the next three years. The board will ultimately number 18 members.

The most important business of the evening was the election of four new governors to replace the four retiring this year, and this year's increase of two more governors. It was also voted to authorize the board to appoint another governor to fill out the unexpired term of Lieut. Col. Henry Warren Jones, now on active duty with the armed forces. This made a total of six new governors to be elected, and one additional one to be appointed by the board of governors.

The four governors whose terms expired this year were: Dr. Marion Sheaffer, Capt. Karl Kuhn, Howard D. House and Miss Bernice D. Moore.

The six new governors elected to serve for the next three years are: John M. Chase, Mrs. Joseph A. Murphy, Mrs. Pierre Heffler, Miss Madelyn Coe, Walter Cleminson and Dr. John C. Porter.

Following the elections which concluded the business meeting, the new board of governors held their first governor's meeting. At this time the board appointed Miss Frances Huff to fill the unexpired term of Lieut. Col. Henry Warren Jones. Then the new board of governors elected their officers to carry the responsibilities of this year's activities. Leslie P. Poug was elected president; Mrs. Pierre Heffler, vice-president; Mrs. William O'Neill Kronner, secretary and Miss Madelyn Coe, treasurer.

Blue Devils Lose Second League Game 19 to 0

Inability to produce a scoring punch, plus suffering three pieces of bad luck in a blocked punt, fumble and intercepted pass, sent Grosse Pointe's Blue Devils home from Monroe on the short end of a 19 to 0 score, on the latter's field last Friday night.

Blue Devils Lose Second League Game 19 to 0

The two teams battled on even terms in a cleanly played game during the first half, but a series of reverses for the Devils in the second stanza set up Monroe's scoring plays.

To the Editor of
The Grosse Pointe Review:

In reference to your article of Oct. 8th regarding the village affairs of Grosse Pointe Park . . . you deserve praise in bringing out facts of previous misleading statements. Apparently the commissioners are not in touch with actual conditions. Otherwise, they would refrain from making statements that cannot be supported.

Who is this party you refer to that the former controller "Took the Rap For," as you stated in the editorial in that issue? Why not publish the entire facts.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The complete facts will be published as soon as the investigation being made by The Review is finished.

McDonald States Nation's Needs

"National Needs Above Politics" is not only the campaign slogan of Claude G. McDonald candidate for congress from the fourteenth district, but also represents the ideals and general makeup of the man running for this important office.

A keen study behind the headlines presents many problems that will affect our national life not only now, but also when this greatest of all wars is won and we the people are settling down again to the every day American way of life.

Claude G. McDonald's own experience in life has taught him a great lesson and enables him to qualify under any and all circumstances. Born and raised in the fourteenth district he grew up as the average American boy does. Not having been born with a silver spoon it was necessary at an early age to do odd jobs while going to school to take care of his books, etc. This work consisted of servicing a newspaper route for one of the old Detroit papers and during vacation, he worked at carpentry, plumbing, painting and any odd jobs which presented themselves. He also had the experience of working in Detroit factories.

He enlisted in the first World War serving overseas for nearly two years, and had the experience of the average American soldier on being mustered out, and finding himself in the position of having to rehabilitate himself to civilian life. He again worked at various jobs in the building line until 1923, when he established his own building business in which he continued until 1929, constructing more than a million dollars worth of homes and buildings. Success however, did not stay put and with the arrival of the business crash and depression, Claude again found himself back to the starting point after paying up all his obligations.

This, however, did not kill his spirit and self-confidence and Claude G. McDonald is again today a well established successful business man. He had the experience of financing several industries in the Detroit area and is a director in several companies. He feels that every American should do his part and with his own background of experience aside from the constant contact with the needs of the people in his district and the country at large, he feels that he can be of great service in Washington where he can present and endorse such measures that will bring about a speedy, successful conclusion of the war and an early rehabilitation of business and the American way of life and especially the men and women as they will be mustered out of service.

S. army air corp as a fighter group of the 80th fighter squadron, "some-where in the Pacific" in the New Guinea area. In a recent letter to the Pointe, Corporal Schmitt stated that the American airmen are doing a magnificent job, against terrific odds, and were maintaining the upper hand in that combat area. American morale is the highest and quite a little hope is felt by the fighting men in that area that the Japanese will be overcome within a year and then our full fury will be turned on Hitler's legions for a quick knock-out blow.

Lieut. William J. Iverson, former teacher at Pierce junior high school and the first teacher to leave from the Pointe school system, visited friends in Grosse Pointe during the past 10 days. Lieutenant Iverson was married to Miss Adelaide Schmitt, also a teacher at Pierce, on Tuesday, Sept. 29.

While here, this courageous young man will become a real military flyer. He will undertake a more extensive course of study in the ground school; master the arts of formation flying; take part in many cross-country flights; and thus prepare himself completely for the battle to Victory.

Billy O. Brink, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Brink, of 742 Berkshire road, has been found qualified by Aviation Cadet Examining Board No. 4 in the Federal building in Detroit and is awaiting call to active duty.

Nelson Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Carr, 263 Kenwood court, was reported "missing in action" after the battle of Midway. He was a member of a torpedo squadron and was stationed on an aircraft carrier near Pearl Harbor. Nelson attended Grosse Pointe high school from 1932 to 1934, leaving to join the Navy.

Eddie Adcock, formerly employed in Grosse Pointe Park as chef at Janet's Lunch, has been promoted to mess sergeant with the U. S. Army at Jefferson Barracks, Mo. He recently spent part of a five-day furlough visiting in the Park.

On behalf of The Review, deepest sympathy is extended to the family of Lieutenant Joseph O'Brien, who lost his life when his plane crashed near Plant City, Fla., on Oct. 5. He was graduated from the Army Air Corps flying school at Fort Rucker, Texas, three weeks ago and was graduated from Grosse Pointe high school in June, 1938. He is the brother of Eugene O'Brien of the class of June, 1940.

Famous Woman Speaker Coming to Town Hall Friday

America's foremost woman war correspondent, Helen Kirkpatrick, is the speaker for The Detroit Town Hall, at The Cass Theatre, Friday morning, Oct. 23 at 11 o'clock. She is author of "This Terrible Peace" and "Under the British Umbrella" based on her experiences in covering Europe since 1930 (immediately following her graduation with honors from Smith college), from Prague during the crisis, Spain, the Balkans, Poland, Italy and Germany.

Before joining the staff of the Chicago Daily News foreign service as its only woman foreign correspondent, Helen Kirkpatrick founded and published the famed Whitehall News Letter, a weekly news digest read in chancelleries around the world. She first went to Europe as a staff member of the Foreign Policy Association's Geneva office, remaining to direct the Geneva Research Center until her journalistic career began as a writer of special dispatches for The New York Herald Tribune, in 1935.

Recently, in turbulent Ireland, she covered the arrival in Ulster of the American Expeditionary Force, observing the American soldiers and their activities ever since. Miss Kirkpatrick has been aboard fighting craft in the North Sea — seen the American destroyers in action, been out over the channel in bombers, seen all the units of the British army, naval and air forces working and fighting alongside their American allies. The subject of the Friday lecture is "The Second AEF — What It Means to Europe."

Dictatorship in Gratiot Township

By EUGENE PIORNACK
 Some time ago an article was run in this column stating that Gratiot township operated under the dictatorial form of government. One or two very good citizens of Gratiot township have taken exception to the article.

A Mr. Livermore, who is undoubtedly a very good citizen, suggests that the people disbelieve the articles run in this column and even suggests that the people go to the township office and check the records for themselves. Mr. Livermore, this is a very good suggestion on your part and may we suggest that in all due respect to your loyalty as a citizen of Gratiot township, you yourself go to the township office and take any amount of friends with you and check the following records: Check first the minutes of Dec. 1, 1941, paragraph No. 20, which is as follows: "It was moved by Albert Jones, supported by Kraft, that the plumbing permit fees be transferred from the Water fund to the Zoning fund, carried Ayes — Al Jones, Frank Jones, Kraft, Piornack; Nays — None; Absent — None."

Now, in connection with this motion let us go to the minutes of the Water Board meeting Dec. 20, 1941, or exactly 19 days later, paragraph No. 3: "It was moved by Albert Jones and supported by Edward Kraft that the funds collected prior to Dec. 1, 1941, of the plumbing account be retained by the Water Board and that the plumbing inspection be transferred to the Zoning fund in accordance with the action of the township board as of Dec. 1, 1941: Ayes — Houtekier, Kraft, Jones; Nays — None; Absent — None."

Now, Mr. Livermore, you will note that this meeting of Dec. 20, 1941 was a water board meeting and a motion by this board was contrary to the meeting of Dec. 1 or this motion overruled that made by the township board. Now the township board is your governing body of Gratiot township or any township. The people pay through taxes to have five men handle their affairs and they are entitled to the protection of this five-man board, but here was a water board meeting, that is usually not held with the public present, that overrides motions made by the township board in the presence of the taxpayers and held on regular dates each month. Now, Mr. Livermore, would you say that this is representative government?

Furthermore, $1,800.00 was taken from the township fund where it belonged and placed in the water fund where it did not belong. But remember, this money was taken from the township fund without taxpayers being present. If this $1,800 remained in the township fund as the people were told it would in an open meeting, then the water board at their secret meeting would not have had to take $1,225.00 out of the water fund and purchase a truck for the township and then rent it to the township for $30.00 per day. This, of course, is very expensive, only because moneys have been manipulated from one fund to the other from time to time and nobody seems to know which money belongs in what fund.

Now, it is assumed by the writer, that you, Mr. Livermore, intend to live in Gratiot township for quite some future time and we hope you do and all that we can say to you, as a good citizen, is to check these records closely and determine for yourself if this is proper business procedure.

Mr. Livermore, look at your records of the water board of May 23, June 11, and 16, July 25, Aug. 8 and 22. You will find that all of these meetings contain no record of the money expended by the Gratiot Township Water Commission. Why are these records kept from the people? The records do not even show the $125.00 per week or $2.85 per hour that is paid to the rubbish and garbage collector. And do you know, Mr. Livermore, that the Detroit hourly rate for such work is 87 cents per hour the first year for a garbage man and 97 cents per hour thereafter? Why does Gratiot township pay $2.85 per hour? Do you realize, Mr. Livermore, that you have many high class toolmakers who have spent 20 to 25 years at their trade living in Gratiot township and they cannot earn $2.85 per hour? Now rubbish and garbage collection is considered labor. You will also note by statistics, that the average earnings of doctors and lawyers throughout the United States, do not reach $2.85 per hour. In other words, our garbage collector becomes an individual set aside by himself and paid money set up by Supervisor Houtekier that far surpasses the average business or professional man throughout the country. Do you call this good government?

The people do not approve of such action by our supervisor. The people did not even know that this was being done. In fact, many of your board members did not even know this was being done. You will also note, while looking at these records, that the records do not contain the make of the truck, the year it was manufactured, neither the name nor address of the party from whom the truck was purchased nor to whom the check was made payable. The people are still wondering where this truck came from. The records do not show it.

You will also note, if you go back into the records, Mr. Livermore, three years, that the people voted to remove the power from the township board in permitting any such debt that would be a lien on the property of the taxpayers of Gratiot township. The people voted 90 per cent in favor of this resolution.

Now, let us understand this, Mr. Livermore, this resolution was for the sole purpose of removing from the township board the right to put the township in debt and the people voted nine to one in favor of it. This resolution was drawn up by the former clerk, Cayan and former supervisor, Ernest A. Provo, and presented to the people. Both the clerk at that time and the supervisor were attempting to protect the taxpayers of the future. Now what has happened. Just a short time ago a special assessment bond was written and sold placing the township of Gratiot in debt and done so by the township board in direct violation of the people's voice of three years ago. Is this representative form of government, Mr. Livermore? How can it be when Supervisor Houtekier does all of these things contrary to the public voice and desire?

It is quite evident, Mr. Livermore, that you have been reading The Gratiot Democrat. You must understand that Supervisor Houtekier is vice-president of Gratiot township's Democratic club who likewise prints The Gratiot Democrat. You need never expect to see anything appear in this paper detrimental to Supervisor Houtekier. Supervisor Houtekier will undoubtedly continue to hold secret meetings with The Gratiot Democrat upholding his actions but the people have had their awakening. The transforming of Gratiot township's only park into a public dump and the purchasing of a truck at a secret meeting and the hiring of the garbage collector at $2.85 per hour is something that people do not intend to swallow in the future. The people will express their opinions, Mr. Livermore, along about the third week in February.

HOME RULE

(Continued from Page One.) county outside of Detroit is 392,171 and one-seventh is 56,024. If Grosse Pointe was located contiguous to some municipality in Wayne county other than Detroit, the two municipalities, under the proposed amendment, might get together and perhaps be large enough to rate a supervisor, but that is not possible. Emphasizing the correctness of their position, the opponents point out that Dearborn has a population of 63,584, Highland Park, 50,810 and Hamtramck, 49,839. They argue that certainly each of these municipalities will have one supervisor apiece and that that will leave out of the seven, four from all of the rest of the county. The rest of the county readily divides itself into districts having sufficient population and geographically located so far from the Pointe that it stands to reason the Pointe will not be represented on the board. Further, although not as important, the opponents argue that Grosse Pointe because of the wording of the amendment cannot possibly have a representative on the charter commission which will draw the laws of the county if the amendment passes. The amendment provides for 19 charter commissioners, 11 to be elected from Detroit, one each from Dearborn, Hamtramck and Highland Park, leaving only five for the rest of the county. Again the population of the Grosse Pointe area is too small to rate a commissioner and there is no adjoining municipality with which the Pointe can join. That the membership of the present board of supervisors is too large, the Grosse Pointe opponents admit. But they insist that at least as far as the Pointe is concerned, now represented by four supervisors, it would be disastrous to have the amendment adopted. They further insist that any future plan should give Grosse Pointe at least one supervisor. The fact that Detroit has borrowed practically up to its bonding limit while the county still has a long way to go, also leads the Grosse Pointers opposing the plan to insist that the change is apt to materially increase county taxes in the Pointe. With an overwhelming majority from Detroit on the board of supervisors, which is not now true, it would be an easy matter, they argue, for the Detroiters to vote the supervisors into spending county money for Detroit needs. That would mean that the Pointe with its heavy tax valuation would aid materially in footing the bill.

Argentine Capital Makes Americans "Feel at Home," Says Representative Rabaut; Many Americans Are There

Left to right: Norman Armour, United States ambassador to Argentina; the late President Ortiz of Argentina; Congressman Louis C. Rabaut of Michigan; and Edward P. MaFit of the United States Embassy.

NOTE: This is the third in a series of articles on Latin America, based on the official trip made last year by our own representative, Louis C. Rabaut, as chairman of an appropriations subcommittee investigating federal expenditures.

WASHINGTON — Americans feel more at home in Argentina than in many other countries in South America. Both its capital city, Buenos Aires, and its farm lands are reminiscent of parts of the United States. Its climate is temperate rather than tropical.

Perhaps that is one reason why Buenos Aires contains so large a colony of American citizens. Most of them are connected with American business firms: The automobile companies of Detroit, oil companies, banks, and others. When a delegation of United States congressmen recently visited Buenos Aires, they found so many American citizens there wanting to discuss matters relating to congress and developments back home, that Rep. Louis C. Rabaut, Democrat of Michigan, chairman of the group, opened a special office there for the convenience of these American men and women.

Buenos Aires is a large and flourishing city, lying at the mouth of the broad and muddy River Platte. In its superficial appearance, beautified by parks and gracious avenues, Buenos Aires is reminiscent of Europe, but in its vigor, its sprawling size, its enterprises, and progress, it has the character of an American city.

Commenting on the parallels between the United States and Argentina, Congressman Rabaut, at a dinner in honor of his committee in Buenos Aires, said: "We have been looking forward to our visit to the Argentine nation, where we find the same desire that we have for progress and the betterment of national life. . . . Argentina has its San Martin, and we have our George Washington; the constitutions and systems of government of the two countries are strikingly similar, and the steps in the development of these two great nations have followed closely the same course."

Like the United States, much of Argentina's wealth comes from her soil. Possessing some of the richest farming areas in the world, the Argentines produce mainly corn, wheat and livestock, with some sugar, cotton and fruit. Her pride, however, lies in her cattle which are raised on large farms, or "estancias" of many thousands of acres, and brought to Buenos Aires and nearby towns for slaughter and shipment to foreign markets. The great sporting event each year is the bull show of Buenos Aires, attended by the most prominent families of the nation who watch their carefully groomed bulls compete for blue ribbons and prizes.

In recent years Argentina, like Brazil, has turned its attention to improving local industry. Among the most important are the packing plants, some of which bear such familiar names as Armour and Swift. Textile mills, leather processing plants, and other light industries, as well as petroleum refineries are among other significant industrial developments. They are for the most part located in or near Buenos Aires, a city of some 2,300,000 people.

Although the Argentine government has not broken off relations with the Axis powers, the people of the country are genuinely friendly to the United States. They admire this country's progress, and like our automobiles from Detroit, our refrigerators, our airplanes, and other products which they buy to the full extent of their ability.

In turn Argentina is providing us with hides, tungsten, and other valuable products useful in war industries. Recently Argentina and the United States signed a trade agreement which is expected to improve commerce between the two great nations to the benefit of both.

Grosse Pointe Hostess Corps Sponsors Very Special Dance for Service Men

A very special dance for service men has been announced by Mrs. Ethelbert Spurrier in behalf of the Grosse Pointe Hostess club.

Styled as a "Western Party," the girls of the Hostess Corps have been asked to attend in informal wear, suitable for the occasion. Music will be furnished by the Ford Rangers, who will be attired in Ranger outfits.

Games, fortune telling and contest have been planned with the cooperation of Miss Fay Portner, of downtown USO, Pauline Masak, of the Neighborhood club and Sally Coburn, senior hostess of the evening.

The committee expects the affair to be the merriest party which the service men have ever attended and one which will be long remembered.

Miss Anderson of the high school camera club will be on hand to take pictures for the boys attending.

The hospitality committee, headed by Mrs. Ferris Fitch, hopes to have help in placing soldiers in homes for the weekend. Downtown USO expects a shortage of available quarters. The committee explained that it cannot be too strongly emphasized the importance of keeping service men in contact with the fine and wholesome atmosphere that Grosse Pointe homes can so easily provide. "Remember, your son may be away from home, too."

MacRae Qualified For Public Office

Richard A. MacRae, the first district's candidate for state senator, is a successful combination of integrity and intellect. He has always made matters of public interest his chief concern.

Climbing up the ladder of achievement he, like most of us, started with the lowest rung. He worked at the bench as a workman, later became a business man in building and real estate, and continued his formal education by study in the D. H. T., and the Detroit College of Law, and was admitted to the bar as a lawyer.

During his earlier years Mr. MacRae had been a school teacher, thus education and PFA groups have had his constant interest. He aided in urging the erection of the new John R. Williams school in 1928. He assisted in the organization of the northeast Kiwanis club in 1927. The Eastern Detroit Realty Association has seen the active participation of Mr. MacRae, and he has been legal counsel for several years. In 1928 he was elected to the Michigan legislature and was re-elected in 1930, serving until the end of 1932. While there, he showed that he was an able and esteemed legislator and never forsook the cause of the people who elected him. Surely, it Richard A. MacRae has proved his worth as a loyal public servant: once he can duplicate his meritorious office as state senator.

St. Ambrose Altar Society Benefit

Child Models Will Pose at Camera Club Meeting Tuesday

Mrs. Vivian Mann has been placed in charge of the program of the Grosse Pointe Camera club for next Tuesday evening. She has chosen children models between the ages of six months and 16 years to pose for the club members to photograph.

Because of Mrs. Mann's past experience in furnishing outstanding children models, it is expected that the meeting will be one of the most outstanding of the Winter season.

The club's president, Doctor Marinus, announces that the competitive photographic print criticism will be on the subject of "Feet." It will allow the imagination of the members to display their ingenuity in the individual interpretation of the subject title.

The president also stated that there are still a few memberships available to those who may be interested in joining the club in its educational activities.

Officer of WAACS Will Speak Here; AWVS Sponsors

Under the sponsorship of the Grosse Pointe Unit of the AWVS, one of the few officers stationed in Detroit of the Army's new military branch for women, the WAACS, will be brought to the Pierce junior high school for a lecture on Nov. 4, at 8 p.m.

Lieutenant Morrison will speak on the various functions of the organization, eligibility and requirements. The AWVS is now recruiting women for service with the WAACS and has arranged for Lieutenant Morrison to appear here to help stimulate enlistments.

The meeting will be open to the public.

Coast Guard Tests Local River, Lake Defenses Sunday

Detroit's river defenses were tested Sunday morning at 10:30 a. m., with the roar of 325 power boats that will be serving patrol duty in the Detroit district and represented shore points from Port Huron to Lake Erie.

The demonstration drew thousands of spectators who viewed the flotillas manned by more than 1,500 members of four Coast Guard Auxiliary divisions and temporary reserves of the Coast Guard as they paraded from Windmill Pointe to the Belle Isle Bridge and back. The entire procession took more than three hours to pass the reviewing boat anchored off the Detroit Yacht Club.

Overhead seven planes of Squadron 632-2, of the Civil Air Patrol headed by Commander William H. Housh, followed the course. Gar Wood's amphibian was among these piloted by Wood himself.

Officers reviewing the fleet were Lieut. Commander F. O. Rookin, in charge of the District Coast Guard Reserve; Lieut. Commander H. A. Meyer, commanding officer of the Coast Guard Base at Detroit and captain of the Post, Lieut. R. V. Harris, Philip J. Phillips, and Earl H. Teezell, all of the Reserve, and George Elmer, co-ordinator of Grosse Pointe Civilian Defense.

During his earlier years Mr. MacRae had been a school teacher, thus education and PFA groups have had his constant interest. He aided in urging the erection of the new John R. Williams school in 1928. He assisted in the organization of the northeast Kiwanis club in 1927. The Eastern Detroit Realty Association has seen the active participation of Mr. MacRae, and he has been legal counsel for several years. In 1928 he was elected to the Michigan legislature and was re-elected in 1930, serving until the end of 1932. While there, he showed that he was an able and esteemed legislator and never forsook the cause of the people who elected him. Surely, it Richard A. MacRae has proved his worth as a loyal public servant: once he can duplicate his meritorious office as state senator.
