CHILDREN: KEEP OUT OF GARDENS

During the past week, many complaints have been registered with the local police departments concerning young children who are destroying Victory gardens. It seems that these young children have been touring certain sections of Grosse Pointe, picking tomatoes, squash, and cucumbers and ruining many plants. They should be old enough to know better, but perhaps their parents think they are still too young to reprimand.

The case as it stands against three specific youngsters is that they went into one large garden, picked over 50 large, almost ripe tomatoes, and destroyed them and some of the plants. From this garden they proceeded into another. Here they repeated with the tomatoes what they had done previously, and added to the damage, ruined squash plants and cucumber

It was at the latter garden where these children were apprehended. One little girl and two young boys, all about eight years of age, admitted doing the above damage. Later, when their parents were notified, they were ordered to pay for the damage amounting to $20. As one person said, "That's a great deal of vegetables to have destroyed for that amount."

Appeals have gone out to parents to warn their children to leave victory gardens alone. Everybody is trying their hardest to raise a few vegetables, and we think it is up to the parents to see that their children, no matter how old they are, cooperate and stay out of gardens.

Have you counted your War Bonds lately? Are you adding to your collection as rapidly as you would like to-or as rapidly as you should?

Set a quota of the amount you would like to have by the time the war is over. Then figure out whether you will HAVE that much at the rate you are now buying bonds. Chances are that the amount of your recent purchases will fall far short of the goal you would like to reach. And NOW is the time to do something about it!

Probably never again will you have a better opportunity to save money faster than is afforded by conditions today. Many things you would normally buy cannot be purchased.
