Recently, however, the Houston brothers decided to change the name of the station, using their own name. They had done this previously when they operated a station on Grand boulevard. When they moved, they didn't take the time out to change it from Central to Houston.

Now they feel that the time has come to replace the huge sign board with a new one. The brothers, working side by side for years, even fought side by side in World War I, they were not only brothers but buddies as well. This comradeship still prevails in the Houston Brothers Service station of Grosse Pointe.

SURGICAL TECHNICIANS NEEDED!

This is the situation:

In this gigantic world-wide war of liberation . . .

CASUALTIES, ARE GREAT—AND WILL BE GREATER
The flow of wounded into America is almost unceasing.
Convoys of gallant men, suffering agonies of body and mind,
are coming home.

We owe our lives, our freedom, to these men . . .

But above all, we owe them a fighting chance to live happily again, as they so richly deserve. Free from pain and horror.

To help give them this chance, the Army needs 22,000 technically trained women

Today, there is a great need for more trained medical technicians in U. S. Army hospitals in this country.

The wards and surgeries and laboratories are in need of qualified women technicians . . . so that the men may be sent out to staff base hospitals and outpost medical units — overseas.

As Wacs, you can replace these technicians. You can help younded boys get well faster.

Thousands of laboratory tests must be made. Blood counts taken and analyzed. Penicillin and blood plasma prepared. The course of disease and infection watched with faithful care.

There must be more help in the surgeries. In the words. Teaching, reconditioning. Helping broken men to regain their strength and hope.

Women of Grosse Pointe

This is your opportunity to serve

Not only to help and comfort men who have risked death and torture for you . . .

Not only to lend your infinite woman's compassion, your soothing voice, and understanding heart...

But to put your own fine training and knowledge to glorious use in the Army of the United States.

Here every rare and common disease is diagnosed and tended.

Here Tomorrow's scientific wonders are making men well again. Here incredible New World equipment is being put to practical use.

You will work with it all. You will gain rich, on-the-job experience that cannot help but broaden your own postwar horizons.

Women of Grosse Pointe this is your glory, too

Only those women who have helped men undertake the work of war can ever really understand what freedom means.

Only they can truly share the fruits of victory — and the honor and the glory — with the men who fought war the hard, dirty, bloody way.
