CHRISTMAS, 1945

Christmas, 1944, was anything but peaceful. Germany's bloody fist had striking power left, and in the Pacific even the ing list. Also guys and gals from colmost optimistic military forecasters saw the war with Japan leges all over the country will arrive as dragging on for several years. Violence remained; the twothroated rumble of weapons and industry drowned out the meaning of the season; and, throughout the world, mankind

But that was 1944, and now the emphasis is on the home front again. Some of us had overlooked the nearness of the other things, but now as we readjust ourselves we find the value of the contrast. For, while we still have ruffled currents here, as well, we have the reality of peace.

We also have Christmas ahead of us-in the full meaning of the word and season, which symbolizes peace. We remember the other things, too, but not as shadows on this Christmas; we remember them as reasons for full enjoyment and appreciation of the peace.

For the peace is the Christmas gift of 1945. It is a gift from mankind, and ourselves. We fought for it; we won it; and now finally it is ours. And finally, too, we can be merry with traditional Yuletide spirit, while remembering that the only reason for perspective is to keep that peace.

Woods Civic Lead Opposes Proposed Zoning Revision

At a meeting last Thursday night the Grosse Pointe Woods Co League decided, after serious con sideration, to oppose the proposed change of the Woods zoning ordinance. This change involves rezest ing from business to residential state us a considerable amount of Mack avenue frontage extending from the village park to Bournemouth and from Huntington to the village limof the students and the outstanding fiftene and twenty per cent of all It was brought out that between management given by H. L. Sel- available business frontage would be meier, who sponsored all of these eliminated should the areas concerndrives, and members of the teaching ed be voted residential. The loss in taxes would be substantial and the business area remaining would be insufficient to provide the convenicareful planning, special stunts, as ent and necessary facilities for the fiftee to twenty thousand population the Woc' expects to attain within the next few years.

Many residents believe that the proponents of the move are not interested in the general welfare of the village, but are concerned only with maintaining the isolated position which is now held.

The Grosse Pointe Woods Civic League favors several changes to the present zoning ordinance, and feels the coming referendum to be discriminatory against other sections of the village and confiscatory to the present property owners, in the latter connection the League fears that much litigation and several damage suits may cause a large financial loss to Grosse Pointe Woods.

The next meeting of the League will be held Jan. 3. The membership will be advised by mail when a suitable meeting place has been selected.

The former was rushed to Bon Secours hospital by police where his condition was reported as temporarily serious. Statements of the accident were taken at the prosecutor's office.

Dry Cleaning Plant Opposed in Woods

Although the Grosse Pointe Woods village commission was asked for an opinion on whether a proposed dry cleaning plant to be erected on Mack avenue near Country Club Drive would violate the zoning ordinance, a decision was not given out because of the inaccuracy of the building plans submitted, last Tuesday night.

Residents objected to the plant o the grounds that dry cleaning plant comes under the heading of a "laundry, or similar or like industries" which are prohibited in the village. Discussion was held between opposing citizens, the counsel for the dry cleaner and the commissioners, but in the end the question was tabled until correct plans are presented to the village inspector.

Juvenile Officials Reach Decision on Boys' 'Riot' Case

A decision was finally reached in juvenile court last week when five Grosse Pointe youths were brought they caused several weeks ago when they jumped on automobiles and threatened the passengers while in front of the high school.

The boys, rounded up by Sgt. E. Labadie of the Farms police, were not formally held and on December their appearance in Grosse Pointe 7 appeared before Fred C. Baxter Park; these new ones which cannot referee in the juvenile division of

The boys' records will be kept open and their behavior in the future months in Grosse Pointe will be recorded with Mr. Baxter, who told them in court:

"I am not going to humiliate you by finding yer within the provisions of the juvenile court act or placing you in temporary custody of the court and on prob: ion; not going to do it unless you boys make it necessary, but I do feel obligated to recommend that this case be kept open for a percist. We are going to check with Mr. Peterson to see how you get along in school and check with Sgt. Labadie to see how you get along in the community. The disposition made in the end will depend on the report we receive of your behavior from now on. Will we have your cooperation in that?" The youths were released soon

Fire Commissioner Cautions Against Holiday Fires

Fire Commissioner Elmer F Ulrich of Grosse Pointe Park, has issued the following statement, urging safety for the Christmas holi-

"According to the National Fire Protection Association your Christmas tree and the decorations on it are fire hazards which you will want to watch most carefully this Christmas. Remember when you bring a tree into your house it is going to Decorations Added to Much Be-Medaled dry up. A fresh cut tree will not take fire any more easily during the first day or two than would the evergreen shrubs growing outside, but it becomes a more serious fire hazard every hour. At the end of the week, it will be highly flammable. It is best bring in a fresh tree as short a time before Christmas as possible, and to remove it as soon afterwards as you can. If you do this, ordinary cautions should prevent it from taking fire. Families, clubs, churches, and business men who want to keep their trees from a week or more before Christmas until after New Year's day need observe special safe guards to keep it reasonably safe.

"The tree can be kept fresh it you set it'up in a pan of water and keep adding water during the entire period that the tree is in the house. The place you select for your tree should be well away from stoves, radiators, and other sources of heat. When you smoke, keep away from the tree.

"It is important that your Christmas lights be in good condition. A short circuit in worn wiring might be sufficient to start the tree burn-

"If you decorate your house elaborately you'll have a very serious hazard unless you use in-combustile material. Elaborate decorations are an important feature of most parties held in clubs, and other public places but terrible tragedies have occured when small fires flashed across halls filled with combustible hangings.

"Chistmas wrappings burn like tinder and should be removed as soon as possible.
