

POINTE BATHING ASSURED

Public Schools To Eliminate Mid-Year Promotions

According to Paul L. Essert, superintendent of schools, the board of education passed unanimously the following resolutions at its regular meeting on May 8.

Resolved that the Grosse Pointe public school system adopt a policy of annual promotion of pupils to be in operation in September, 1947, as it applies to entering kindergarten pupils, and carried through grade higher each September thereafter.

"Resolved further that all children who will be five years old by Jan. 1, 1947, and each Jan. 1, thereafter, be eligible to enter kindergarten in September of the current school year, and that all children whose fifth birthday occurs after Jan. 1, 1947 and each January thereafter, will not be eligible to enter kindergarten until the following September."

Mr. Essert stated that this change in policy from the existing semi-annual promotion plan has been under careful study in the Grosse Pointe school system for a number of years, and that recently a committee composed of the directors of instruction and pupil personnel, and of the elementary principals recommended that this change be made.

As stated in the resolution adopted by the board of education, the change from semi-annual to annual promotions will be made gradually, the kindergarten only being affected the first year. In other words under present plans, it will take seven years before semi-annual promotions are eliminated from the elementary grades. Through this means of accomplishing this change in organization, no children who are now enrolled in the "mid-year" groups will in any way be affected. These children will continue on through their elementary grades according to the present "half-grade" plan. As this program works through the

POINTE PARAGRAPHS

There are some fortunate men in Grosse Pointe driving new cars—and they are the police officers of the communities. We don't mean their privately owned cars but the patrol cars which they are driving.

Here's something which has raised the eyebrows of the City and Park police this past week.

C. M. Higbie Jr., of 17525 E. Jefferson told the City police that his 1946 model car had been stolen from in front of his home Saturday morning. He had left the keys in the car, he said.

Monday morning, the City police were told that their reported stolen car was parked in front of the Park station. Sgt. E. Trombly in-

In addition to this, the car tank was filled to the top, Higbie's wallet with car registration, and other papers in it was still in the glove compartment and the car in excellent condition.

Everybody is wondering who took the car for a 1,000 mile jaunt to Indiana?

Dr. Towar on Lincoln road is having trouble with the squirrels for last Saturday and again last Monday he asked for assistance in getting the little animals out of his fireplace.

The City of Grosse Pointe police station had its annual house-cleaning this week for the firemen were busily washing walls perched high up on their ladders.

We heard of a good one the other day and you might call it a "romantic" story. With the brownout declared in Chicago, night club operators didn't want to close down entirely, so they compromised and kept their establishments open for the public. However, the only lighting found in them came from candles and old-fashioned oil lamps.

BULLETIN

Tony's back . . . temporarily, at least!

Grosse Pointe's beloved "Popcorn Man," Ernest "Tony" Koinis, has lofted one over the heads of the Park Commission in obtaining a Circuit Court order restraining the Village from enforcing its ordinance ruling itinerant vendors off the street.

REMEMBER?

One Year Ago

Although tests of Lake St. Clair have indicated that the summer would have been beyond the Grosse Pointe for 1945, a communication received by Dr. Thomas S. Davies, health commissioner for Grosse Pointe township from the Michigan department of health, gave assurance that any polluted condition along the shoreline would have been corrected early in the season.

Definitely, however, in the last days of the season, a group of citizens in Grosse Pointe, who organized the "Friends of the Library" group, were busy in their efforts to raise money for the library.

Pointe Organizes Friends Of Library

A dream came true when a group of civic minded people met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd G. Hosker of University Place, Grosse Pointe, on Monday night, May 13, and organized a "Friends of the Grosse Pointe Public Library."

A "Friends of the Library" group is what its name implies. A group of citizens who become acquainted with the services of the library and who to promote the library's program to the community. The Grosse Pointe "Friends of the Library" is a group of citizens who have organized to raise money for the library, and thus to enrich the

Farms Men Await Wage Decision

When the men of the pier and highway departments of Grosse Pointe Farms agreed to return to their jobs on April 29, on a four-week truce, it was on the stipulation that another study be made of the wage scales of the members of their departments.

The members of the wage scale committee were to be two councilmen, two residents from the village and a member of the pier and highway departments. This special committee was scheduled to report in thirty days, from April 30, to the council and the employees.

According to Edward Goosen, president of the Farms union, there was no decision reached that the men would be agreeable to the committee's final findings—whether the men should receive an additional wage increase or whether the increase granted at the beginning of the fiscal year in March is sufficient.

Tests Prove Little Pollution Entering Lake From Macomb

According to all reports issued by Murray Smith, village engineer and water superintendent of Grosse Pointe Farms, it looks as though Pointe residents will swim at the start of the season (if it isn't too cold).

In his monthly releases to the Michigan health department, Mr. Smith said that during the month of April, the water has been the cleanest for many years.

Pearl Adams In Circuit Court Again

Pearl Adams is again in the toils of the law for failure to pay court costs of $200 growing out of a case in the city.

Mrs. Adams, formerly of 314 University place, was found guilty of violating the City of Grosse Pointe zoning ordinance in 1943 when she maintained a rooming house at the University place address.

Appealing to the circuit court, she was again found guilty and was placed on probation for two years and ordered to pay $200 court costs. The court also required that she file a bail bond of $5,000, and it is on this count that she is again in the Metropolitan Club Receives Donations From Four Villages

The Grosse Pointe Metropolitan club was given additional money recently by Pointe village governments to carry on their recreational program through the summer months.

A month ago, Grosse Pointe Woods appropriated $100 to the club, and within the past weeks, the Park and Farms have donated a similar sum. Grosse Pointe Shores gave $50 with the understanding that an additional check may be issued later in the season.

It is expected that the City of Grosse Pointe, which meets next Monday night, will take similar action.

Township Rent Raise to be Enforced Here

Despite the plea entered by the township supervisor, Carl Schweikart, several weeks ago, the rent of the township offices in the Grosse Pointe Park municipal building will go up June 1.

Mr. Schweikart appeared before the Park commission and asked that the increase from $100 to $200 be reconsidered. He said that such an increase had not been foreseen when the township budget was drawn up and adopted, and that the extra $1,200 was not provided.

After asking William Stronach, village clerk of Grosse Pointe Park, not to watch the subdivision restrictions on Yorkville road, Charles W. Morris, of 1043 Yorkville was told that it was not the duty of the village to play "watchdog" in such instances.

Mr. Morris appeared at the village meeting Monday night, accompanied by several of his neighbors, in what appeared to be a very angry mood.

STILL DEBATABLE

Every American who wants to get full value for his dollar should put up his own OPA policy as his personal part in staving off a serious inflation.

Certainly no American who is interested in the future economic welfare of the nation should patronize the black markets regardless of his need for an article if he is unable to get it otherwise.

Unless the public cooperates fully the best of official efforts will fail. The public has indicated since recent action in the house of representatives which threatened to weaken the basic structure of OPA, that it wants some effective form of price control.

Some lobbyists, both before and after the recent house action on OPA, have been over-anxious for a chance at letting prices go where they may. They seem to be getting out of hand with such regulations as are now in effect and it seems reasonable to expect prices on scarce articles and foods to go the limit as soon as manufacturers and merchants were given a free hand.

Whether OPA or any other price-control efforts are to stave off inflation, is still debatable. It is important, at least, that the nation make an intelligent effort to save itself economically if it can, and when the move is made, whatever it be, it is up to the public to go the limit in doing its part.

Scientists Discover Drugs Which Are Proving Beneficial As Malaria Cure

Discovery of new compounds in the field of chemotherapy that promise to prove beneficial in the prevention and cure of malaria was announced in a paper by Dr. Louis F. Fieser, Harvard University, read at ceremonies formally dedicating to scientists the Kreske-Hooker Scientific Library at Wayne University.

Based upon Dr. Samuel Cox Hooker's researches in "lapachol" a new organic chemical, Fieser's recent experiments have revealed that "hydro-lapachol" possesses the power to destroy malaria parasites in the blood stream. Dr. Fieser stated that this is a new departure in the field of chemotherapy, for hydro-lapachol belongs to a chemical type different from, and simpler than, all previously known chemotherapeutic agents.

These known agents—quinine, atabrine, plasmoquin, the sulfa drugs, araphenamine, and even penicillin and streptomycin—all contain the element nitrogen and most of them are of complex molecular structure. Hydro-lapachol is a simple, nitrogen-free substance, says Dr. Fieser, derived from certain woods. Drugs of the quinine-atabrine type effectively clear the blood of the malaria parasites that invade red blood cells and give rise to the characteristic symptoms and chills and fevers, but do not destroy "hidden" or "tissue" forms of parasites postulated as being responsible for recurrent relapses following periods of apparent freedom from the disease. Thus a prime objective of the extensive researches undertaken during the war was the discovery of compounds endowed with a curative action. What seemed to be needed, according to Dr. Fieser, was a chemotherapeutic agent of a type entirely different from the vivax-suppressive drugs, quinine and atabrine.

In the winter of 1942-43 the Abbott Laboratories, in support of the malaria program of the committee for medical research, made a canvass of a selected list of universities and collected samples of several hundred miscellaneous compounds of various types and submitted them for screening assays in ducks, said Dr. Fieser. (Birds are used in these experiments because they are susceptible to malaria while most animals are not.) Only two substances in the entire list displayed any anti-malarial activity in the duck, and those were related naphthoquinones which derived from the antibiotic compound, chlor-komastol, a name suggested to him by Dr. Hooker, revealed the Harvard scientist. The more active of the two was hydro-lapachol, and the other was one of the products of Hooker's aldehyde synthesis.

During further intensive research several compounds, identified by the symbols M-2293, M-380, M-285, M-1916 and M-2309, were used in treating infection in birds to attempt to determine whether they could be preventative and curative. It was discovered that these naphthoquinones did possess the rare quality of exerting a prophylactic action, at least in test animals, said Dr. Fieser. Chickens that are given drug and then infected with malaria parasites are completely protected from the disease and remain entirely healthy.

As pointed out previously, quinine and atabrine destroy the red cell

AFTER THE TUXIS DANCE the much frequented Cudlip's cabin was in session again. A few of the couples this week-end were: Bob Cudlip 'n Joanie Gehler, Ed Baker 'n Betty Auch, Ann Stringer 'n Bob Smith, Elaine Kramer 'n Harry Downer, Pinkie Pinkston 'n Roe Schroeder, Bob Fisher 'n Shirley Jerome.

THE DETROIT BOAT CLUB was a popular place last Saturday when lots of Grosse Pointe kids went down to watch the crew race against the University of Wisconsin. That night there was the usual Saturday night dance and I saw lots of the oarsmen from both teams there.

DID YOU SAY SCAVENGER hunt? Yep that's what I said, and that's what it was at Do Do Guimond's house last Saturday night. There was just gobs to eat and dancing and talking over all the latest doings after. The invites were extended to Cobby Bartlett, who was Do Do's date and Joan Stivason 'n Bill Beaver, Barb Bundy 'n Stan Ainsley, Jenny Van Peeclaeere 'n Sandy Malcomson, Joan Schmidt 'n Bob Beaupre, Joy Heidrich 'n Al Forrest, Peggy Terry 'n Bill McBride, Janie Roger 'n Jerry Theide, Mary Ella Antrem 'n Jack Cordon, and Andy Londis 'n Jack Flattery.

IT WAS PRACTICALLY AN outdoor party at Alice Neville's house the other night as the Perce crowd got together. As it got later ping-pong and dancing became the favorite entertainment and I hear everyone had lots of fun.

BOB FISHER WAS ANOTHER one that showed last Saturday night. He was the man that had the prize for the best work done in the yard. He was the man that had the prize for the best work done in the yard.

Pointe Students Elected to State Campus Societies

Two Grosse Pointe students at Michigan State college have recently been selected as officers of campus organizations and as members of honorary societies on campus. Marion Parker, Grosse Pointe junior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Parker, 1019 Audubon, Grosse Pointe, has been elected to the office of secretary of the Speech Majors club.

Gloria Marie Buzelle, daughter of Mrs. E. M. Bird, 432 Fisher road, Grosse Pointe Farms, and a junior at Michigan State, has been named to membership in Tau Sigma, science and arts honorary. Miss Buzelle is also a member of Le Tricolore, French language honorary; and Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish language honor society.

ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON, Marian Anderson served tea and cakes to a few special guests. The loving few included Mary Thorn, Mary Jane Schapper, Marilyn Lamb, Joanie Williams, Jean Wilcox, Thelma File, Martha Armstrong, Joan Weritz, Betsy Bachman, Dale Ramsey, and Joan Rheinstein.

OH, YES, AND LEST WE FORGET, Grosse Pointe high's last S.A. dance of the season is this coming Saturday. It's really going to be something to remember, so I hear. The committee has picked a good old sentimental name (especially for the seniors) of Memories. The brains of this outfit belong to Andy Creamer, chairman; and Judy Zick, co-chairman. Those working madly trying to get the decorations ready in time are Paul Friesse, chairman of the committee; Bob Cudlip, Joan Williams, Joan Cronin, Kathy McPherson, Marge Bull, Tom Rice, Joan Crowley, Ann Davis, and Marilyn Smith.

To get your favorite tunes you'll have to speak to Jeff Weisler, Marion Anderson and Ray Shumann, who make up the music committee. Ched Swenson, Marilyn Lamb, Fred Auch, Franny Kretschmar, and Pat Sibbert will tell you what's for refreshment at this gala affair. Caroline Orr, Letty Kretschmar, Betsy Bachman, Mary Lou Ewing and Barb Malynaux will be plenty busy next week mailing invitations to chaperones and seeing that corsages are sent.

So kids, come one, come all, and we'll see you there next week-end.

Seek Ex-War Plant for Assembly Space

A special committee was asked to study an application for the establishment of an assembly plant for the building at Wayburn and Charlevoix by President Howard Parshall Monday night.

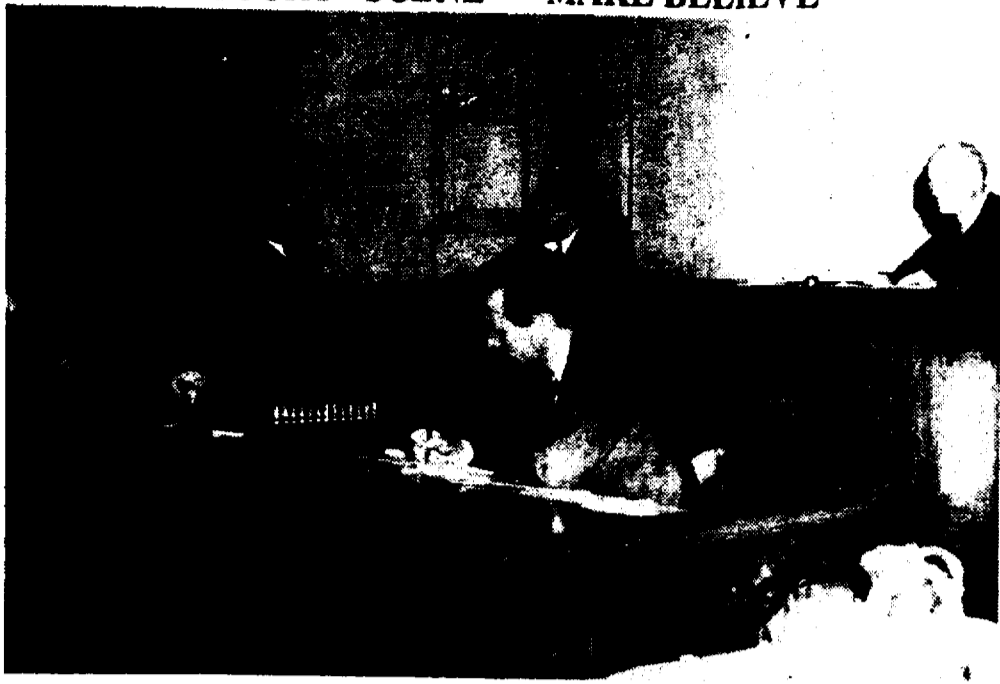

It was brought out in explanation that the assembling of light fixtures, for indoor and outdoor use, would be carried on in the building. They said there would be no noise, fumes or smoke.

Declaring that the zoning ordinance is not entirely explicit on this point, Mr. Parshall said that a study should be made of their offer before any definite answer is given.

USES Lists Jobs Seeking Employees

Arthur Sherman, Candidate for Congress, Advocates Economic Overhauling

Arthur G. Sherman, candidate on the Republican ticket for congressman in the 14th district, delivered the following address:

I greatly appreciate this opportunity to speak before the Young Men's Republican club. Never before in history was there a time so full of promise for vigorous, aggressive leadership. The world so recently aflame with war is now smoldering in the throes of insurrection and revolution. Who would have thought a few short years ago when we started out to save the world from Nazi Socialism that victory for us would push half of Europe into the hands of Communistic Russia. Who would have thought that England, that great bulwark of capitalism, would turn to socialism. That the Bank of England would be nationalized and the freedom of enterprise in England would be absorbed in the British fog.

Here we stand, the United States of America, the last great capitalistic country. May God grant that the verdict of time will not declare the United States of America was the last capitalistic country in the world. The decision, gentlemen, will be in your hands. The leadership you give will frame the answer.

Here we stand with industrial chaos around us, even the lights of our city are failing. Let us hope they do not go out entirely. There are pressure groups in this country who, given the power which rests in the hands of John L. Lewis, would use this power to take possession of our country and shape it in a pattern of their own devising. I do not think that such violent action is in the picture right now even though a step in this direction is suggested in the recommendations that the mines and railroads of this United States be socialized.

The time is still early, we have only seen a small part of the postwar picture. We are still in the early boom stages of our postwar period. The troubles of a boom period are small compared to the troubles of a bust period. Most people confidently expect a bust. They think it is only a matter of time, maybe one, two or three years. Do any of you gentlemen think that we can have a repetition of our 1932-33 collapse and come out of it without some drastic change? Do you think Labor or Capital would take that licking again without violent protest? I don't think so.

I was in Pershing Square in Los Angeles recently. I listened to the opinion of Labor as to what would happen if we had a repetition of the mass unemployment of the early thirties. It was openly stated for all to hear that if the Capitalists created another panic or tried to establish a Fascist state, we would have violent revolution. I heard a similar thought expressed in Detroit yesterday that another panic would produce bloodshed and violence right here in Detroit.

Gentlemen, the handwriting is on the wall for all to see. Unless action is taken we are in grave danger of being the last capitalistic country in the world. It is said that history repeats itself. Nero fiddled while Rome burned. Truman enjoys his yacht while the country starves for coal. No attempt at a basic solution of our economic problems is even under discussion in Washington. Now is the time to act, before our house falls about our ears.

Instead of talking about the mistakes that the Democratic Party has made and what a mess the country is in, let us propose a major overhaul of the national economy and a tune up that will make permanent prosperity not only possible but unavoidable. Let us propose a plan that will remove the basic cause of industrial strife.

Even as Lincoln freed the slaves from bondage, it is in our power to free this nation from the slavery of human want.

Panics and depressions are man-made, the result of greed and ignorance and not an act of God to be borne in silence.

I wish here to give you a graphic picture of our national debt and its influence on national prosperity.

I will try to make clear to you how the national debt and present fiscal policy of this government, if continued for any period of time will precipitate a panic.

I will also show you how we can revise our tax structure so that we can create permanent prosperity in this nation without continued deficit financing or the strait jacket of a government planned economy.

Automobiles Ransacked in Park Sunday Night

Automobiles were tampered with last Sunday night according to Park police.

J. W. Harkle, of 1059 Whittier reported that guests' cars were scratched and several minor items were taken. William Bismuth, of 1079 Disconshire, told the police that after entry had been made into his locked car, the only thing taken was a package of cigarettes.

School Report

If semi-annual promotions were continued. This improvement will result from the elimination of most of the "combined sections," i.e., two or even three half-grades included in one teaching group. At the present time, in spite of all that can be done to eliminate such combined grade-groups, roughly twenty-five per cent of all elementary children are enrolled in such groups. The change to annual promotions will almost entirely do away with these combined groups, as the plan moves up thru the elementary grades. Another improvement will result in the elimination of many oversized groups which have resulted from the organizational problems growing out of semi-annual promotions.

2. Elimination of the present unnatural and wasteful gap which occurs for mid-year pupils during a 10 or 11 week summer vacation midway in the work of a school grade. For example, a pupil in grade 1B, whose readiness for reading has been fairly well established by the close of school in June is now forced to wait ten or eleven weeks during the summer vacation before continuing his reading instruction. This occasions much re-teaching and a consequent loss of time the following semester.

3. Elimination of changes of teachers and groups at the mid-year. Semi-annual promotions often result in shifts in teacher assignments and reorganization of teaching groups in the mid-year which create adjustment problems for both teachers and pupils. The annual promotion plan will virtually eliminate such unnatural breaks in class groups in the middle of the year.

In commenting on this change in organization, Dr. Essert stated that he felt this was an important step towards the improvement of educational services in Grosse Pointe. He stated that this change in organization is in line with trends throughout the country, and that most forward-looking school systems comparable to Grosse Pointe have either already changed to the annual promotion plan or are in the process of making the change at the present time.

Park Pension Plan to Be Enforced by Park Officials

The pension plan adopted by Grosse Pointe Park went into effect May 1 at an approximate cost of $26,000.

This sum is to be paid into the treasury for the Park employees as the village's share in the state sponsored program. The commissioners agreed that the money will be paid into the fund annually, providing a sounder plan for the employees.

House Plants Need Spring Care Now Floriculturist Says

Use caution in the placing of your house plants out of doors before June, recommends Charles H. Sherwood, Michigan State college floriculturist. The sunshine and balmy weather are excellent tonics for most of your plants, but for many, the night temperatures will still be too cold outside.

Repotting should be done now, Sherwood suggests, unless the plants are to be set directly into porch boxes or the garden. Use a soil mixture consisting of one part garden dirt, one part coarse sand, and one part organic matter such as peat or leafmould. To each quart of this soil, add 1/2 teaspoonful of 4-12-4 fertilizer. Use a pot only one size larger, and place a piece of pottery and a little sand over the drainage hole. If the roots are abundant, loosen them with the fingers of a clothed hand. Set the old plant at its previous depth and firm the soil about it. After potting, set the plant in water for five to ten minutes, then drain.

Dirty, unsightly foliage may be cleaned by gentle rubbing with a moist, damp cloth. One-half ounce of soap per gallon of lukewarm water makes a safe cleansing solution.

Recovery from the anemic appearing winter growth will often be hastened by twice-a-month watering with a well mixed solution made by adding one teaspoonful of 4-12-4 fertilizer per quart of water.

New plants may be started from cuttings now. You may start them in water, or moist sand, or even in soil. Sherwood invites those with difficult cases regarding flowers to write the floriculture department at Michigan State college for specific information.

Lighted Cigarettes Cause Many Fires in Business Houses

More ink has been spilled on the item of smoking as a cause of fire than on any other, but the total result has been negligible.

A recent investigation of fires in chain groceries indicated they were starting near the cash register. The answer — the manager or cashier would take a quick smoke, but both hands were needed to make change or to pack the goods, and the cigarette was placed on a shelf or the edge of the counter, or thrown on the floor — and forgotten until the fire department arrived soon after closing.

Smoking, in those who have the habit, is a process somewhat akin to breathing. You just do it, not thinking as to the why, where or when. It is an unthinkable act, and discarding the match or cigarette butt is also done without mental action of any kind.

For these habit formed acts there is no cure, except that which lies within the willpower of the individual. And what individual who enjoys a smoke wishes to exert that degree of willpower on a matter the seriousness of which is more a fantasy than a fact so far as he is concerned?

The fact must be recognized that a large proportion of the population does and will continue to smoke, and that smoking is not just an after dinner affair. It is a continuous process with some, and with practically all it involves not only the home but the place of business.

The problem is how to permit smoking and not involve undue hazards. The promiscuous placing of cigarettes and the thoughtless discarding of these and other forms of partially consumed tobacco must be prevented.

The means of ash trays and other receptacles in every room, hallway, porch, and even the kitchen, in every home, even though the residents do not smoke. They must be conveniently located, handy and self evident as to their use, but must not be the type that readily cause a fire. That handy contraption of a small ash tray on a leather strap, held in position on the arm of an overstuffed chair by two weights, has caused many midnight runs by the fire department.

One of the greatest dangers of smoking is the practice of smoking in bed, because a person may fall asleep, be overcome by smoke and while in this unconscious condition receive serious and possible fatal burns.

It is probable that the catastrophe of the Triangle Shirtwaist fire in New York, in which 145 girls lost their lives was caused by someone taking a few stolen "whiffs" in some out of the way place, with the consequent quick discarding of the cigarette when someone approaches.

Guests of honor who made awards to the Scouts included Craig Kelch, president of the Defer school P.T.A., sponsors of the troop; James Christenson, chief executive of the eastern district BS of A., president of the Lions and Kiwanis clubs; and Bert Larimer, Scoutmaster of the famous Giles Boulevard church Scout troop.

Upon the recommendation of Pierre Hefler, Grosse Pointe village attorney, the amendment offered recently to the zoning ordinance, having to do with the limiting and restricting of the amount of horsepower and number of men employed in industrial plants in the village, was set aside Monday night.

Buddy Poppy Sale Helps Maintain VFW National Home in Eaton Rapids, Mich.

Thursday, May 31, has been set aside by the membership of Alger Post and its Ladies' Auxiliary as Buddy Poppy Day. It is the one day of the year when the Veterans of Foreign Wars ask the general public to contribute to a worthy cause.

On this day, Grosse Pointers will be stopped by members of this organization bearing a friendly smile, a coin box and a basket of blood red flowers — the symbol of death and an eternal faith that met on battle fields.

The slogan of "Honoring the Dead by Remembering the Living" is explained by George Tilton, chairman of the poppy sale. "Here is the explanation — We have enjoyed the continuous blessing of freedom and for those whose sacrifices have made it possible we look forward to Memorial Day. We pause and remember. We think, perhaps, only in terms of the departed, those who are legion about us and whose names reach back through the pages of history and stand out for having given their all to the nation's cause. "But what of these living who are legion, too? Those sightless, haggard

Moves Office to 8720 Mack Avenue

The social security board office serving residents of Detroit's East and the Grosse Pointe area is located at 8720 Mack avenue, Detroit 14, Mich. Although the office has been at this new location for two months, Francis L. Pendergast, manager, states that numerous people are still going to the old location at 8037 Harper avenue only to find that the office has been moved.

The Mack avenue office, officially known as the Detroit-East office, serves the residents of Wayne county living east of East Grand boulevard and the Grand Trunk Railroad. Mr. Pendergast mentioned the fact that persons filing claims for benefits under the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance title of the social security act must file them with the office designated to serve the area in which they live. If you are not sure with which office you should deal, you may call his office — PL 8714 — or any of the four offices listed in the telephone directory.

COLONY SCREEN FEATURES "SONG OF BERNADETTE"

"The Song of Bernadette" has been scheduled to be shown at the Colony theatre tomorrow and Saturday, together with extra cartoons and comedies for the children.

The movie of Bernadette has been adapted from a novel written by the late Franz Werfel. It was a best-seller and then filmed. The story of the simple peasant girl in France is timely told on the screen and is one movie which should not be missed. "Frontier Gal" and "Brewster's Millions" is the double feature attraction for Sunday and Monday. "Frontier Gal" stars luscious Yvonne DeCarlo and Beverly Simmons, the dimpled six-year-old who steals the acting honors in the picture with her spirited portrayal of Miss DeCarlo's daughter. "Brewster's Millions" is the story of Dennis O'Keefe who inherits eight million dollars, on the stipulation that he spend the first million within 30 days. His trials and troubles in doing this causes much amusement for the patrons.

"Mildred Pierce," the screen adaptation of James Cain's sizzling saga of a hard-boiled, soft-hearted lady, starring Joan Crawford in the most exciting role of her career, will be shown Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Shores theatre.

"Mildred Pierce" is the story of a love-scarred heroine who separates from her husband after many drab years of marriage and dedicates herself to her daughter, Veda (Ann Blyth). Blind to Veda's greed and vanity, Mildred scrimps and sacrifices, and with the aid of a part-time suitor, the irrepressible Wally Fay (played by Jack Carson) and a corrupt, once-rich playboy, Monty Baragon (played by Zachary Scott) fights her way to the top, eventually controlling a chain of California restaurants. Veda, Monty and Wally become increasingly demanding and the story builds to a relentless surprise climax. Patrons are asked not to tell anyone what Mildred Pierce did during the last seven minutes of the film. "Mildred Pierce" features Eve Arden and Bruce Bennett in supporting roles.

to know if it still was good for admission. "It might be," the gate-man told them. "If you go into the men's wash room and clean up a bit." When they came back you could see their eyes and the points of their noses. Water had been applied to hair that was packed down in the absence of a comb. The rest was about the same as it had been before. Still—if you happened to have been to that game . . . if you saw those two little duffers, who looked like fugitives from a coal mine, occupying a box behind the Tiger dugout, just like any tycoon from Griswold street . . . we might remind you that gateman was none other than Jack Thayer . . . who Emcee's those Saturday night gatherings at East Warren Recreation. "What the h—!" Jack argues. "Me and a couple of other guys on that team right now use to hang around and get the same breaks. And maybe the moral still is . . . give a kid the right kind of a break . . . and you may avoid giving him a sentence later on—to jail!"

No one is safe from Cancer

...IT RESPECTS NEITHER AGE NOR SEX

IF this child were yours . . . you would do anything to save him from cancer.

Cancer now ranks second as a cause of death in the United States: unless something is done about it, 17,000,000 American men, women and children now living will die of cancer.

That means that an average of one in every eight of us faces eventual death from this most dreaded of all diseases!

Cancer is no respecter of age or sex: more than 175,000 men, women and children will be its victims during 1946 in this country alone. While medical science has been winning victories over many diseases, deaths from cancer have been steadily increasing. Today more children between the ages of 5 and 20 die of cancer than die of the following four diseases combined: Diphtheria, Infantile Paralysis, Scarlet Fever and Whooping Cough.

The great tragedy of this is that 30% to 50% of cancer deaths are needless. They could have been saved by early recognition of the symptoms of cancer and by early and proper treatment.

It is up to every one of us to help in the fight against cancer on three fronts:

1. To spread the knowledge that cancer is frequently curable if diagnosed in its earliest stages. 2. To provide the most modern facilities for the care and treatment of present cancer patients, and, 3. To launch a really comprehensive, nationwide cancer research program to find the basic cause and cure of cancer.

No one is safe from cancer. And no sacrifice is too great to protect a loved one from it.

Detroit's Colorful History Portrayed in Automotive Golden Jubilee Pageant

Detroiters will see the most colorful and dramatic civic pageant ever to be produced in the automotive capital when "Song of Our City — A Saga of Detroit" is presented at Olympia on Friday afternoon, May 31, and Sunday night, June 2. "Song of Our City" will provide a stirring salute to the community during the Automotive Golden Jubilee celebration which will run from May 29 through June 9.

The story of the pageant was written by Karl Hoffenberg, now of Hollywood, a graduate of Wayne university and well-known radio writer who was discharged a few months ago after serving in Europe with the Armed Forces Radio Service. With the exception of the women members, the entire production staff of "Song of Our City" is made up entirely of World War II veterans.

Nancy Schumacher Given Role In "Seven Sisters"

"Seven Sisters," the final production of the Catholic Theatre's current season, which will receive three performances at the Institute of Arts main auditorium, tomorrow night starting at 8:15.

As the name implies the cast is predominantly feminine and production staff also draws heavily on the distaff side.

Making up the family that is constituted in "Seven Sisters" are eight of the most seasoned actresses in the local theatre group's personnel. Viola Black of 12095 Rosemary avenue, who plays the widowed mother, Mrs. Gyurkovics, is herself a mother (albeit of only one—a boy!) and has an admirable background of theatre experience.

The family of daughters over which Mrs. Black will ride herd and for whom she, in the play, will look for husbands, is made up of Mary Catherine Lovely of 4060 Montgomery avenue, who has acted and directed at Dakota Wesleyan, Notre Dame Academy and South Dakota State; Donald MacEachern of 4003 St. Clair avenue, who has appeared in two Children's Stage productions and also the adult theatre's "Career Angel"; Nancy Schumacher of 1126 Bishop road, Grosse Pointe, who has portrayed roles in "Peck's Bad Boy" and "Penny Pirates" in addition to having radio experience; and Peggy Richards of 2417 Carson avenue, who had extensive experience in Catholic Theatre productions, USO shows and at the University of Michigan.

Christian Science Churches
"Morals and Immortals" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, May 19.
The Golden Text (11 Cor. 5:16) is: "Henceforth know we no man after the flesh; yea, though we have known Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth know we him no more."
Among the Bible citations is this passage (Psalms 100:3): "Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves, we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture."

MANKILLER
Cancer is not a "woman's disease." Of the types common to both, cancer kills more men than women!
83,000 American men are doomed to die of cancer in 1946. UNLESS WE DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT. That is an appalling figure, yet even more terrible is the fact that all too frequently cancer claims the breadwinner. Thus, a happy family not only suffers personal tragedy, but economic hardship as well.
Without a doubt, the mystery of cancer will be solved eventually. Meantime remember: One person in every three who dies of cancer dies needlessly. Don't let that ONE be you. Support the work of the American Cancer Society.
WHAT YOU CAN DO ABOUT IT
First, learn cancer's danger signals and watch for them in yourself and your loved ones. Even on the basis of today's knowledge, science tells us that one out of three cancer deaths is needless. Early recognition and proper treatment will save lives. Be on the alert!
Next, support the work of the American Cancer Society which this year will make grants of several millions of dollars to The National Research Council. This money, raised through voluntary contributions, will finance a program of research as complete as that which developed the atomic bomb.
PROTECT YOURSELF!
CANCER'S DANGER SIGNALS
1. Any sore that does not heal, particularly about the tongue, mouth or lip.
2. A painless lump or thickening, especially in the breast, hip or groin.
3. Progressive change in the color or size of a wart, mole or birthmark.
4. Persistent indigestion.
5. Persistent hoarseness unexplained except by difficulty in swallowing.
6. Bloody discharge from the nose or from any of the natural body openings.
7. Any redness, change in normal bowel habits.

Parties Entertain Parents, Children At Mason School

The first grade children in Miss Pauline Pangburn's 1A group gave a short program for their parents, brothers, sisters, and even a few grandmothers recently.

The children sang a group of spring melodies, the girls were to represent flowers and the boys were bumblebees.

After the program the children carried candy cups to their mothers and visited informally until school dismissal time.

Miss Dorothy Sweet's kindergarten at Mason school has had two lovely birthday parties with cake and candles burning brightly. Keith Adell and Mary Gerken shared their six-year celebration with the boys and girls in their room. After games and songs they all sat down to enjoy these unexpected treats while their friends sang "Happy Birthday to You."

The following is an original story written by Miss Roberta Brody's 2A group: "We had a big turtle named Happy. He was such a nice turtle.
 We all liked him very much. We tried to take good care of him, but he died on April 17, 1946. We are so sad. Now we miss him very much."

Kim Sigler Entered Governor's Race At Citizens' Demand For Clean Government

Kim Sigler, Republican candidate for the nomination for governor, piled up an incomparable record in exposing and convicting grafters in Michigan's government as special prosecutor for the state grand jury because of a long-standing obsession for good government.

As a private attorney and public speaker, Sigler urged business men and leaders in various fields to offer themselves as candidates for public office and serve their government, arguing that Michigan was first in so many things that it should be equally first in good government.

Sigler was haunted by rumors of corruption in state governmental units long before he was asked to take the special jury prosecutorship in December, 1943.

His obsession became definite in 1942 when he had two cases in Lansing and discovered that the legislature "reeked with graft." He was powerless to do anything about it as a private individual.

Justice Leland W. Carr, of the state supreme court, head of the grand jury as an Ingham circuit judge, gave Sigler his opportunity a year later.

Sigler lost no time in setting up the machinery to ferret out crooks in the state capital. He reorganized the jury's staff of investigators and became the jury's chief investigator and prosecutor.

During the following 26 months,
 the Carr-Sigler team brought down 10 major indictments involving legislative corruption. Solely responsible for the prosecutions that followed, Sigler obtained 41 convictions in trials; obtained 12 guilty pleas; and procured the confessions of 12 additional persons who became state witnesses.

The convictions included nine graft-taking former state senators and 10 former state representatives, all of whom were sentenced to prison terms.

Sigler entered the race for governor when a public demand that he carry on the fight for clean government followed his ouster as special prosecutor by Circuit Judge Louis E.
 Coash, successor grand juror, March 12, as the result of a senate-inspired controversy over grand jury expenditures.

After agreeing with Sigler that no jury expense records pertaining to pending jury cases would be released to a senate committee inquiring into jury expenditures, Judge Coash left the state capital on the 15th.

The committee, headed by Sen.
 Ivan A. Johnston, of Mt. Clemens, with Roy T. Conley, Lansing attorney prominent for his anti-grand jury attitude, as committee counsel, promptly released expense records for publication which "smeared" Sigler's chief witness in a pending indictment involving the 1941 anti-chain banking legislation.

Sigler, who was in Florida at the time, returned to let loose a blast at the committee, charging the group with attempting to destroy the jury's pending cases. Judge Coash took the next action. He suspended the grand jury to make his own inquiry of jury expenditures.

The special prosecutor publicly charged Judge Coash with "playing into the hands of persons who want the grand jury wrecked," and with "complete surrender" to the senate committee.

Judge Coash's retaliation resulted in Sigler's discharge. The grand juror named a new jury legal staff unfamiliar with the jury's past or pending cases.

Judge Coash, an appointee of Gov.
 Harry F. Kelly, had not signed a single indictment and himself was unfamiliar with the major part of the jury's record.

Sigler left a lucrative law practice at Battle Creek to become the jury's prosecutor. Previously he had practiced law in Hastings, Mich., and Detroit, and was selected by Justice Carr because he was "the best man in Michigan" for the job.

He was prosecutor of Barry county for three terms between 1922 and 1929, and special prosecutor at various times for Barry and other counties.

Always a courtroom "fighter," Sigler has amazing energy and driving power. An excellent orator and strategist, Sigler won seven straight victories in grand jury trials.

There is nothing of either the reformer or crusader in Sigler. Because of his interest in colorful hearing apparel he has the combined appearance of a Grover Whalen and prosperous western cattle man.

His hats with wide brims and high owns stamp him as a man once on the west. Stockily built, his grey bushy hair with a white streak running through the center is combed severely back. A ruddy complexion, his face has the appearance of a man always outdoors.

A killer who frequently shows in low 70s, Sigler's main hobby is reading biographies of Civil War heroes.

An extensive traveler in Europe,
 Sigler was a delegate to the World Conference of the League of Nations in 1927. He was the district winner of the 1916 Rotary International. He became an active Ro-

C. G. MacDonald Endorses Love in Congressional Race

Claude G. MacDonald, Republican nominee for Congress in this district the last two elections, has submitted the following statement explaining why he does not seek the nomination this year and emphatically endorsing the candidacy of Harold O. Love as an independent candidate, not hooked up with a slate or minority clique:

"Many people have asked me why I am not a candidate for Congress in the 14th Congressional District this primary election, and in view of the fact that I am not in the race, what candidate do I intend to give my support to.

"It should be noted that as Republican nominee for Congress in this district the last two elections, I polled more votes in the last election against the Democratic incumbent, by nearly double those received by any other Republican candidate since the incumbents first taking office.

"I thought it might be best for me to answer both of these questions publicly for the benefit of my friends and former constituents. While I feel that the chances for a Republican victory in the 14th this year are very bright, it was impossible, because of business and other conditions for me to enter the primaries. I appreciate the wonderful support that was given me in the last two elections, and would like to be of as much help in winning a Republican victory this year as I can.

"It would be a sad thing for us to nominate a candidate who could not carry through to victory at the polls this fall. It would also be an empty victory if our nominee proved to be controlled by any minority group or clique because the interest of the majority is bound to suffer in such a case if such candidate should be elected. It has come to my attention that such a clique has taken upon itself to attempt to dictate the selection of candidates in the forthcoming elections. In my opinion only a man who has no allegiance to any one for support or financial aid can undertake public office, with an open mind and clear conscience.

"Harold O. Love is that man. Mr. Love is highly qualified for the office he seeks, not only because of his intelligence and leadership, but also because he is an independent candidate. He is a fearless exponent of the right and privilege of any qualified American to contribute his share to the Republican form of government. I therefore heartily endorse the candidacy of Harold O. Love."

(Signed) Claude G. MacDonald

Grosse Pointe Veterans, Auxiliaries Plan for Poppy Day Sale Next Thursday

Plans are rapidly taking shape for the annual Poppy Day sale, which is sponsored by the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary. The sale will take place in Grosse Pointe township next Thursday, May 23.

Elmer F. Ulrich has been appointed to head the committee of arrangements and he will be assisted by Commander Frank Snay, Tex Hoyt, James Maddern, Al Schumacher, Martin Nielsen, and Ted Endres. Mrs. Elva Nielsen heads the Women's Auxiliary.

Mr. Ulrich expressed hopes that the sale this year would surpass all previous years as the Poppy has lost none of its meaning with the passing of the years and the change in world conditions.

Through the manufacture of the memorial Poppy we are privileged to contribute to the rehabilitation of thousands of hospitalized veterans. The value of the Poppy sale to the men and boys scarred with war is unlimited, not only from the money that results from selling Poppies, but also in having something tangible to do instead of having to rest, read, or talk.

These men in government hospitals are delighted to be kept busy with the intricacies of fashioning the Poppies. Needy wives and children also reap the benefits from the sale of the flowers.

Vernon J. Brown Launches Campaign for Governorship

With headquarters already functioning in both Detroit and Lansing, Lieut.-Gov. Vernon J. Brown has launched his campaign for governor on a state-wide basis by bringing to the fore what he asserts, through his long and intimate knowledge of administering to the needs of the people, "is clearly one of the most vital problems of the state of Michigan today, namely, state aid for the schools."

In a recent non-political speech to the Michigan Rural Teachers' Association convention, Brown declared, "the future of a million school children is at stake. It is unconscionable for the state to continue as a combination of Old Scrooge and Mr. Pinchpenny. Schools must have more money if they are to serve."
Author of hundreds of bills which have saved the state millions of dollars, Brown has, nevertheless, always advocated and supported state subsidies for social aids and welfare including old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the crippled and afflicted children and assistance to the counties in maintaining tuberculosis sanitariums.
Determined in his fight to add to his already long record of accomplishments along these lines, Brown summarizes his stand on the vital subject of state aid to schools in these words:
"Whenever the revenues of the state of Michigan reach a point where there is a schoolroom for every child which the laws say must attend school, and a good teacher is provided for such school; where there is a classroom and laboratory facilities for every Michigan youth and or young woman who desires college or university training; when there is a bed and decent care for every mental case in the state; when we of Michigan meet our full responsibility to the veterans—then and only then will I concede the state has a surplus. Then and only then will I consider the plight of the cities and more state aid for local units of government. If I must choose between the schools of this state and the city halls, you will find me with the kiddies and the teachers."

There were 30 senators in the first united States congress.

B-29 Engineer's Panel—This control panel of intricate instruments will be but one item of the elaborate AAF mobile caravan arriving in Detroit, May 20 through 23, Lieut. Col. Nicholas W. Dragneff, officer in charge of the local recruiting station at 21 Cadillac Square, announced today.
 This colorful eight vehicle recruiting caravan from Scott Field, Ill., is the most modern and up-to-date mobile display of AAF equipment on the road today and presents to the people a material picture of the tremendous technical training possibilities behind a future in the armed forces. Five of the large vehicles are converted semi-trailer tractor units and house a complete display including a B-29 Super-Fortress engine (cut-away view) electrically controlled and in operation, multiple gun turrets taken from the largest bombers in the world, a varied amount of captured Japanese and German equipment, a complete and operating photographic laboratory including the column and instrument panel of an army P-38 reconnaissance fighter set up with aerial photographic cameras, and many other items too numerous to mention. The technical equipment displayed will be of a special interest to those students taking science and engineering courses. High schools are urged to allow their students to visit this display. A highly qualified and competent group of officers and enlisted men under the command of Lieut. Col. C. A. Houkly, will accompany this caravan into town and will be available at all times to answer any questions relative to technical equipment on display and enlistment in the armed forces. The recruiting office located at 21 Cadillac Square will be open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Veteran Shores Police Officer Promoted Recently
 Congratulations are being extended to F. L. Baldwin of the Grosse Pointe Shores police department as a result of his recent appointment to sergeant. Following the recommendations of Chief O. C. Ingalsbe, the board of trustees approved the appointment, effective as of May 1. Sergeant Baldwin, better known to his friends as Lou Baldwin, was appointed to the department in June, 1928. April, 1942, he was given a leave of absence to enlist in the navy and returned to duty in January, 1945, after his honorable discharge, with the rank of petty officer, first class.
 He has been active many years in the American Legion, having enlisted in 1917 and served two years with the U. S. 13th Cavalry in World War I. He is a charter member of Grosse Pointe American Legion Post No. 303 and served one year as senior vice-commander and two years as post-commander.
 He is also a charter member of the Grosse Pointe Metropolitan club No. 20, and upon his return to civilian status he was again called upon by the organization to serve as recording secretary.

VETERANNEWS
 From the OFFICE OF VETERANS' AFFAIRS
 LANSING

Like the average American GI this buck sergeant was no sentimentalist. In fact, the array of ribbons and battle stars on his blouse showed that he was pretty much a realist when it came to the unpleasant job of fighting and winning a war.
 When he called at the Office of Veterans' Affairs he was referred by the receptionist to a staff counselor. His problem, it developed, was not a personal one. He had read in the newspapers and heard over the radio something about food conservation, and that his government was planning to send food overseas.
 Mentally reviewing the hardship he had undergone in four major combat actions, and the minimum amount and type of food he had to sustain him, he had little sympathy for the folks back home and their imaginary suffering because of food rationing.
 He came to the OVA to register his plea, as coming from one who had seen at first hand the starving, hollow-cheeked, spindly-legged children of Europe, for statewide cooperation in the campaign of food conservation which would make it possible to send food to these pathetic children.
 A sentimentalist? No, he was just a typical American youth who had always been accustomed to seeing happy, well-fed children. His senses were shocked at the plight of the unfortunate youngsters of Europe. His heart went out to them. Nationality meant nothing to him. He instinctively knew that children were innocent irrespective of place of birth—that loving care and kindness were necessary to their young lives—that food was essential—and lacking.
 This veteran's plea for conservation of food at home in order to send food thus saved to the helpless children of Europe is probably representative of the thinking of many veterans who served overseas.

D&C Detroit To Buffalo Service Opens On Lakes

Detroit and Cleveland Navigation company will inaugurate its 1946 Detroit-Buffalo service on Wednesday afternoon, May 22, when the "Greater Detroit," commanded by Capt. Lee DeNike, departs from Detroit, to arrive in Buffalo at 9 a.m. the next morning. The first Detroit-bound ship will sail from Buffalo at 5:30 EST on Thursday afternoon, May 23.

This will be the 78th year of D&C service on the Great Lakes. As a definite benefit to both business and vacationing travelers, expanded facilities for handling passengers' cars have been perfected.

Vacationists bound for New York state and other eastern vacation areas may board ship at Detroit, put their cars aboard ship, and roll off next morning well on their way and with substantial conservation in car and tires. The same applies to eastern vacationists bound for Michigan and more western play-places, for they board ship at Buffalo in the late afternoon, and debark next morning in Detroit, well on their way to Hiawathaland recreational activities.
