POINTE PARAGRAPHS

by THE POINTER

Requests zoomed at all the municipal offices for park and beach tickets Monday after residents had a taste of scorching weather over the weekend. Up until Monday applications for the park permits were very light—but a temperature of 90 degrees sent the young and old folks alike scurrying to get their pier permits so they could escape the heat at the beach.

The Atom test came off as scheduled—and newscasters say the sight of relief of the men involved in the actual test was comparable to the sighing winds around Bikini lagoon. We don't doubt it, and we know of several Pointe families who added a sigh of relief to theirs as they have sons on the test.

The majority of residents of this area and the city of Detroit stayed glued to their radios for all the atom reports, but probably the most impressed is a couple living in a section of Detroit where a storm was just beginning. At the precise instant that the atom blast was recorded a bolt of lightning struck a tree in front of their residence. Needless to say the startled couple thought for a second that the power of the atom was even more forceful than were led to believe.

High Costs of Building Result in Board's Postponement of Action on Vernier Bids

With the lowest bid from five contracting firms of $31,357 for the construction of a four-room temporary unit on Vernier road, the board of education at a meeting on June 27 was inclined to believe that all bids should be rejected, but felt that further study should be given to the question and a decision made in a meeting on July 18. The amount bid was $10,000 higher than estimates even after due allowance was made for increased building costs.

The board of education felt that even with the extreme necessity and urgency for this building and with due allowance made for higher costs of building that the expenditure of this amount of money for a quonset hut type of building to be added to the Vernier school would be seriously questioned as a wise expenditure by most of the citizens in the community.

"We Lead, Others Follow"

THE REBIRTH OF INDEPENDENCE

One hundred and seventy years ago our forefathers gave to this then new world the great gift of independence. This week on July Fourth, Americans the world over, whether they are within the boundaries of our nation living in the great metropolises or sheltered hamlets spread across these 48 states or in some foreign country far from either shore they will unite in spirit as they renew their pledge to our country and to one another.

Less than a year ago peace came again to a war ravaged world after years of bitter and fierce fighting. Time has not yet healed all the wounds, but because of these wounds we Americans have been given a second lease on independence. Just as those stalwart founding fathers fought to gain us a release from tyranny and oppression so too the men and women serving in World War II sought to keep us free from the clutches of enemy forces surging about us. To these men and women we owe our humble gratitude. Peace to the world has meant a new lease on life. A chance to turn over a new leaf and attempt to build a world wherein nations, big and small may live in peace and harmony.

To Americans peace has meant this, and more. We have firmly established our faith and trust in the richness of independence in the blood and toil of the war years. We have renewed our faith in one another, and have learned a lesson that makes us even more certain of the way of life we want for ourselves, our posterity and the world.

If you don't think independence is a great thing just ask any war veteran what it's worth — and his answer will be founded on the sacrifice of 307,554 lives offered by American men and women in World War II for the thing we call independence.

Eisenhower's Report to Be Available to the Public Soon

General Eisenhower's forceful report as supreme commander to the allied chiefs of staff will be available to the public in printed form, the GPO announced recently.

The report covers the period from D-Day to V-E-Day and is printed on heavy enameled stock with maps in two colors. This official description of the operations in Europe contains 123 pages and is for sale at $1 per copy. Orders should be addressed to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C.

Three decisive battles were listed by General Eisenhower which coupled with Allied teamwork and German mistakes clinched victory in Europe. The three decisive actions were the battle of Normandy, the battle of the Falaise pocket, and the battles west of the Rhine.

As a specimen of printing, the report is one of the best jobs ever produced in the GPO. The cover stock is heavy antique paper and features the supreme headquarters shield which is printed in five colors.

Compensation for Unemployment Rises

For the second straight week, initial claims for unemployment benefits in Michigan total more than twenty-five thousand, making a total of 36,334 for the two-week period ending June 22. The majority of these people are filing new benefit year claims, having previously exhausted benefits derived from their first benefit year following the V-E Day lay-offs, according to Eugene T. Dornier, executive director of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation commission. Of this number, 28,698 were filed by women.

"Many claimants who exhausted their claims filed during the second quarter of 1945 are entitled to additional unemployment compensation benefits under a new benefit year beginning July 1, if still unemployed," said Dornier.

Other figures released by the MUCC for the week ending June 22 indicated that 10,222 more people received unemployment compensation in Michigan than during the previous week.

The number of World War II veterans receiving readjustment allowances in Michigan decreased 1,363 during the week. Industrial claimants receiving checks increased 11,585.

The commission, according to Dornier, paid out a total of $3,947,712 to unemployed people in Michigan. The money was paid to 76,841 industrial claimants and 45,501 unemployed World War II veterans. Of the industrial claimants, 18,682 were women. The veterans received $1,765,403 in readjustment allowances under the G.I. Bill of Rights.

In the Detroit metropolitan area, a total of 83,390 received $2,613,201 in unemployment benefit checks, of which number, 26,192 were veterans receiving $1,012,019, and 11,034 were women.

The majority of claimants receiving checks during the week represents approximately half of the total number eligible for unemployment benefits, as each claimant is paid on a two-weeks' basis in Michigan.

Dornier pointed out that veterans' readjustment allowances are paid from a separate fund established by the federal government. All industrial claims are paid from the Michigan Unemployment trust fund, maintained through contributions of employers covered by the act. Both funds, however, are administered by the MUCC through its local offices.

Reports Reveal Farm and Home Not Safe Places

Contrary to popular opinion, farming is not the safest occupation, and neither is home the safest place. Fred W. Roth, extension safety specialist at Michigan State college, reveals that more than 16,000 farm people were killed in 1945 and 1,500,000 were injured. Agriculture employs about one-sixth of all the workers, but has one-fourth of the occupational accidents, which gives it a death rate one and one-half times higher than the all-industry rate.

More farm people lose their lives by accidents in the home than any other place on the farm. Last year accidents in and around the farm home took a toll of 6,500 lives. Falls and burns were the chief cause of accidental home deaths every year. Stairs without handrails, broken steps, slippery rugs and floors, and improvised ladders are the most common conditions causing people to fall to their deaths. Burns from gasoline and kerosene explosions, and those resulting from failure to escape a burning house are responsible for a large share of the home fatalities, Roth reports.

Fatal farm work accidents are chiefly due to improper handling of machinery and livestock. Tractors and other machinery are not particularly dangerous when properly operated, but they will maim and kill when carelessly handled. Roth reports a great deal of time and effort has been devoted to the development of safer design, but any machine is only as safe as its operator. Most fatal accidents with farm machinery are not due to mechanical defects, but instead to careless or improper handling of equipment.

Farm animals are seldom vicious, yet many farmers become victims of livestock accidents each year. Runaway horses are one of the most frequent types, usually due to harness and equipment being in poor condition. The "gentle" bull, annually cuts short many farmers' careers.

Michigan Educators on Flying Tour

The "Flying University," a group of 23 Michigan high school principals and superintendents of schools, took off Saturday on the second leg of their tour of industrial plants in the East, on a Capital Airlines-PCA plane from Willow Run to Chicago. Five others will join them at Chicago.

Winding up a week in Detroit during which they visited the General Motors, Chrysler and Ford plants, the J. L. Hudson and A & P Tea companies and UAW-CIO headquarters, the group boarded a four-engine Capitaliner on the first air leg of a month-long tour that will take them to Pittsburgh, Washington, Philadelphia and New York.

"This is something brand new in the educational field," Carl M. Horn, chief of the guidance section, department of public instruction, who is in charge of the party, said. "We are getting the type of education that you can't get in the classroom. What we learn will be passed on to 27,000 teachers in Michigan, and it will be reflected in our methods of teaching and in the subjects we teach."

A committee of school superintendents and principals chose both the personnel to make the air tour and the topic of study, which is "implications from business and industry for public education."

An intensive study is being made by the state educational officials of outstanding businesses in many fields, including manufacturing, banking, insurance, publishing, radio, wire communications. "We decided to fly," Horn said, "to enable us to get plenty of rest by sleeping in hotels and to make the best use of our time. Furthermore, there is little or no difference in cost."

During their six days in Chicago the educators will visit Western Electric, Swift & Co., International Harvester, the Sherman hotel and Sears, Roebuck.

Superintendents of schools include Frank Ayers, Dundee; W. E. Baker, Mesick; Ernest Chapelle, Ypsilanti; Carroll Crawford, Holland; Bernard Davis, Hillsdale; O. J. DeJonge, Ludington; Theodore Eddy, St. Clair; Otto Haisley, Ann Arbor; Benjamin Klager, Bay City; Glenn Loomis, Traverse City; Tom Nurnberger, St. Louis; Charles Park, Mt. Pleasant; N. J. Quickstad, Royal Oak; Walter Scott, Olivet; Gaylord Speaker, River Rouge; Fred Vecolani, Carney; Charles Saur, Godwin Heights, Grand Rapids.

The principals are A. F. Allander, Greenville; Walter Bradley, Van Dyke; Harold Dalman, Eaton Rapids; Stephen Mead, Grand Haven (junior high school); Dalton Osborn, Monroe; Ed Rose, Marshall; Floyd Slentz, Muskegon Heights, (junior high school); Dalton Osas, Kalamazoo; Walter Zabel, Niles, Woodward Smith, assistant director of the extension division of Central Michigan college of education, Mt. Pleasant, is accompanying the group.

Telephone Company Outlines Postwar Expansion Plans

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company's $13,500,000 postwar program to improve and extend service in rural areas has moved out of the planning stage and is well into the day-to-day work of erecting poles, stringing wire, and installing telephones.

Theodore H. Dawson, head of the company's rural development program, in a half-year progress report, said recently that 10,300 new telephones have been installed in rural homes since Jan. 1. Despite this record achievement, however, new applications poured in at a rate which nearly matched the number of installations. As a result, the waiting list of 13,710 rural orders at the first of the year has not been reduced substantially since that time, Dawson reported.

The gain in new telephones for the first half of this year, Dawson said, represents 57 per cent of Michigan Bell's installation goal for the entire year.

Nearly three thousand miles of new rural telephone wire have been strung since Jan. 1. This has enabled the company to reduce the number of subscribers on 1,000 lines to not more than eight parties per line.

Telephone service to 3,500 rural customers in ten communities has been or shortly will be converted from turn-the-crank to lit-the-receiver type of operation since V-J-Day. The towns where this conversion has been completed are Bad Axe, Cadillac, Charlotte, Greenville, Hillsdale, and Wayne. Similar programs are under way at Belding, Benton Harbor, Buchanan, and Northville; and others are scheduled for Harbor Springs, Ionia, and Monroe.

Surveys are also under way to determine the possibility of providing service, when the present waiting list is wiped out, to rural areas which heretofore have had no telephone service of any kind.

Now the Healing Science of Christianity

That Science can reach to the things ordinarily embraced in religion, can disclose the exact nature of God and of oneself and others as His "likeness," and then demonstrate the soundness of its disclosure in better health, greater capability and usefulness, improved relationships, and fuller assurance and happiness for those who use it—this is the practical meaning of Christian Science to ever increasing thousands in many countries.

And they see that this Science is simply accurate knowledge of the verities taught by Christ Jesus, the kind of knowledge which gave him his remarkable healing and liberating power, and which he plainly foretold for others when he spoke of "the Comforter," which would teach them "all things."

The full revelation of Christian Science and its scientifically Christian method of overcoming disease and other evils is presented in the Christian Science textbook.

Openings for 3,200 Enlisted Men to Take Part in Local Brigade of Organized Reserve

General plans for reactivation of the naval reserve in metropolitan Detroit were outlined at a meeting open to all ex-navy men at the naval armory last Monday night. A great many ex-navy men wish to retain some contact with the naval service and continue their association with old shipmates. There are opportunities for 3,200 enlisted men in the Detroit brigade of the Organized Reserve. Capt. L. J. Jacobi explained that "these men will attend a weekly meeting and a two weeks cruise each summer. They will be able to use and study the latest electronic, radar, and radio equipment. Present plans call for a complete installation of machine, carpentry, ordnance, and hobby shops in the Detroit armory." The reserve program also includes monthly social activities and, during the summer, week-end cruises aboard the four ships assigned to Detroit.

July Dates That Have Made History

Every month has its days to add to the pages of historical events—but perhaps July is the leading contributor with these important events to her credit: July 7—Air mail service from New York to California was established in 1920. Japan invaded China in 1937. The United States occupied Iceland by agreement with Danish government for the duration of World War II in 1941. July 9—Elias Howe, inventor of the sewing machine, was born in 1819. July 10—Howard Hughes started the fastest round-the-world flight from New York in 1938. July 11—John Quincy Adams, sixth President, was born in 1767 at Quincy, Mass.; he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1790; in 1802 he was elected to the Massachusetts state senate and in 1817 was appointed secretary of state; Adams was elected President in 1824 which office he held for one term; two years after his Presidency he was elected representative in congress from Massachusetts, which rank he held until his death in 1848. July 12—George Eastman, famed photographic pioneer, was born in 1854.

Vacation Cruise Mr. and Mrs. William A. Tarkey of Buckingham road, are scheduled to sail July 7 on the SS South American. Their trip will include stops at Houghton, Isle Royale, and Duluth, Minn.

Broadway Comedy Success to Open in Detroit at Music Hall July 14 to 20

Opening for one week at the Music Hall July 14-20, is the hilarious Broadway comedy success "Out of the Frying Pan" to be presented by the Dramatic Guild of Detroit. Announcement was made by Charles D. Adams, director and producer for the Guild. The Music Hall engagement will be the first time "Out of the Frying Pan" has been presented in Detroit.

Upbrausingly depicting the efforts of an ambitious group of would-be stage stars, "Out of the Frying Pan" achieves high comedy when this group attempts to win stage roles from a prominent producer who lives in the apartment beneath them. Written by the successful Hollywood and Broadway craftsman Francis Swann, this first of his winning plays served as the basis for a Hollywood film with screen comic Eddie Bracken in the featured role.

Peggy Richards, popular Detroit starlet who made such a fine showing in the earlier Dramatic Guild production of "Personal Appearance," appears in the talented cast which also includes such seasoned actors as Robert Dale, Ann Calvin and Robert Morris.

John McCabe, veteran actor of such stage favorites as the Leventhal production of "The Moon Is Down," "Arsenic and Old Lace," with Walter Hampden and many others, takes the leading role of Norman, who sparks the aspiring band of stage stars toward their ultimate and hilarious success.

Play Is Included in Pre-School Child's Early Education

The pre-school child's play is a part of his education. According to Miss Ruth Highberger, instructor in child development at Michigan State college, this education is of great importance because it is during this period that the child forms many habits and attitudes which he carries throughout life. While all mothers are interested in having their children get along with other children, such is not learned in ten easy lessons, Miss Highberger reminds the homemaker. Mother probably realizes this point from experience, but does not know that keeping her youngster from playing with other children will not solve the problem. "The earlier your child can begin practicing social skills in his play with other children the sooner he will master this art," Miss Highberger explains. Even though a two-year-old child might not pay much attention to others pointing him in play, it is no sign he is not learning to play with others. The mere fact he is able to accept the other child without being afraid of him is an accomplishment. To be content to play with the toys he has, rather than to snatch those belonging to the other child, is really an achievement.

Fabric Exhibition Is July Feature at Art Institute

An exhibition of modern, power loom woven fabrics "Scalamandre Silks" features the July program at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The exhibition will demonstrate that there are now available machine-made textiles of beauty and durability which stand comparison with the best hand-loom woven fabrics, according to Adele Coulin Weibel, curator of textiles at the Art Institute.

Most of the exhibit's 100 fabrics made by this leading New York firm are of pure silk. However, some of those made during the war are backed with hemp or cotton like Brocatelles of 300 years ago. Brazilian silk is used in a few of the fabrics. Some of the fabrics have elaborate patterns woven on the Jacquard loom and others show a wide diversity of stripes.

Also in the exhibit is a group of hand made quilts, fringes and tassels, also made by Scalamandre.

Another exhibition at the Detroit Institute of Arts is "Contemporary Prints and Drawings," which will be open throughout July and August. This is an important group of contemporary European and American prints, including 35 examples lent by the Buchholz Gallery of New York; 11 fine modern prints recently donated to the Art Institute collection; and seven drawings lent by contemporary sculptors.

Also scheduled for July and August is an exhibit of art work by Detroit public school children. It is titled "Our Interests Are Many."

At the Alger House branch, the show "Story Book Quilts" will continue until July 29.

Ponies to Be at Their Posts on July Fourth

Here's good news — there will be 10 Shetland ponies out at Lochmoor on July 4th, waiting to give the children free rides and fun. Each pony will have a boy to handle him so even the youngest child can feel perfectly safe.

Plan to come out early. The ponies will be there from three to five o'clock and every child can have as many rides as time allows.

Ice cream will be served on the terrace for all the children and from five to nine the doors will open for another one of Lochmoor's famous buffet dinners.

Come and spend your holiday at Lochmoor and bring your friends and their children to share in the excitement.

These are only some of the many activities offered which will help boys go pass away happy and profitable hours. There are many other suggestions offered such as, industrial hikes and trips to radio stations and museums; father and son ball games; use of nearby swimming pools; family picnics; boat rides; and vacant lot campfires with cats. Council sponsored canoe journeys in northern Wisconsin and shorter trips on Michigan's scenic rivers are being organized.

The point is, there's lots to do, and many places to visit, and loads of fun, for all Cubs and Scouts who are ambitious enough to take advantage of summer time to get into the out-of-doors.

Band Concert Season Begins July Fourth

The summer band concerts on Belle Isle will start tomorrow with Leonard B. Smith, nationally known musician, directing the Detroit Federation of Musicians Band. The concerts will be played every night except Wednesdays and Saturdays starting at 8:15 p.m.

Smith is no stranger to Detroit and Grosse Pointe music audiences. He was brought here from New York in 1937 to play first trumpet with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, a spot he held until he left in 1942 for the navy.

He has appeared as guest conductor with such well known musical organizations as the Goldman Band in New York, the Public Band in Philadelphia and countless other national and university bands throughout the country.

Smith is a composer as well as a conductor and is working many projects and a score of his compositions will be featured during the concert series. He will also perform some of the solos he played with the official U. S. Navy Band at Washington, D.C.

Concerning his plans for the season, Smith says: "We hope to present the metropolitan Detroit area the best of the area has known. The band will play some of the best music in the world. We are going to have a very special program on July 4th. We are going to have a very special program on July 4th. We are going to have a very special program on July 4th."

"Pops" Concerts at Detroit Music Hall

Two young pianists of note will appear as guests artists during the fifth week of the "Detroit Pops" concerts at Music Hall.

John Raymond, brilliant and virile exponent of piano will play from the second Rachmaninoff Piano Concerto today as well as to appear in solo works.

On Friday, July 5 and Saturday, July 6, Earl Wild, last heard here with Paul Whiteman, will play the Liszt Piano Concerto in E Flat with the orchestra, under the baton of Valter Poole.

Tomorrow night has been designated as G.I. Night at the Detroit Pops and Poole has programmed such favorites as Victor Herbert's American Fantasy, the Tschaikevsky 1812 Overture, selections from Oklahoma and a special salute to the armed forces.

Tonights program has been titled Semi-Classical Favorites; tomorrow G.I. Night; Melody Moments on Friday; and Concert Fantasies on Saturday.

Programs Planned for Stay-at-Home Scouts and Cubs

Realizing that only a certain percentage of the Cubs and Scouts of this area are fortunate enough to be away from home all summer, local Scout leaders are doing all they can to promote interesting and worthwhile activities for those thousands of boys left in town.

District 5 is sponsoring a series of Nootaus. Your reporter was at first mystified with the word, until she found out that Nootau was the Indian way of saying "Campfire." So on Friday night, July 19, in many downtown sections several Indian style, campfire programs will be held.

Scouts in District 3 are turning their thoughts towards food — and what Scout doesn't care for eating. We'd like to know! Baked, fried, stewed, and broiled delicacies of many kinds will be prepared by selected patrols in an outdoor cook-erie, to be held at Chandler Park, Saturday, July 20.

District 4's Cubberie is scheduled at Palmer Park, Sunday, July 21 from 2:00 in the afternoon until 9:00 in the evening.

These are only some of the many activities offered which will help boys go pass away happy and profitable hours. ### DICK HAYMES APPEARING IN GAY MUSICAL

Dick Haymes and lovely June Haver, one of Hollywood's newest romantic teams appear in the colorful musical "Irish Eyes Are Smiling" to be shown at the Colony theatre this coming Sunday and Monday, June 3 as a bewitching songstress, leads Haymes a merry chase. The romantic interludes are interspersed with songs and dances, and minor plots add a laugh or two to an already gay picture. You'll hear some of your favorite songs, done in an unforgetable Haymes' style.

"Dakota" a rugged western film is the companion picture. John Wayne, who never fails to impress the public whether he is playing a debonair man-about-town or a "tough" role is good at the part of a hard riding law-abiding westerner. Vera Ralston adds charm to the old West.

READING & WRITING

By Edwin Seaver and Robin McKinn

The normal span of a man's life, says the Good Book, is three score years and ten. But according to the Russian scientist, Dr. Alexander A. Bogomolets, this is not normal. "Old age," he says in his book, "The Prolongation of Life," "can be treated just as any other illness because what we are accustomed to regard as normal old age is actually an abnormal, premature phenomenon."

Dr. Bogomolets is director of the Kiev Institute of Experimental Biology and Pathology, and discoverer of the famed serum ACS, which has been used successfully for the rejuvenation and prolongation of life.

Dr. Bogomolets cites some amazing examples of men and women who have out-lived the customary quota of years. In Norway, in 1797, a Joseph Gurrington died at the age of 160. His oldest son at that time was 103; his youngest was nine. Another authority tells of John Roven, a Hungarian, and his wife Sarah, who lived in connubial bliss for 147 years. John died at the age of 172; Sarah at 164. Gueniot, a member of the French Academy of Medicine, reported the case of G. Jenkins, born in 1501, died in 1670.

From Gueniot also comes the following story. On July 31, 1554, Cardinal d'Armagnac, passing on the street, saw an eighty-year-old man crying at the door of his own home. When questioned, the old man answered that his father had given him a beating. Surprised, the Cardinal expressed a desire to see the father. An able-bodied man of 113 was presented to him. The old man explained he had beaten his son because he showed lack of respect for the grandfather, whom he had passed without greeting. When the Cardinal entered the house, he saw a third old man—of 143 years of age.

Jan Struther is well known here as the creator of "Mrs. Miniver," the book of sketches about an English housewife in wartime, which was a Book-of-the-Month Club selection a few years back. Miss Struther first started writing about Mrs. Miniver for the London Spectator, and ever since people have been confusing her with her heroine—even her own friends and relatives. Once she made Mrs. Miniver and her son Clem go to Cornwall for Easter. A close friend rang her up the following week and said, "Oh, you're back, are you? Cornwall must have been heavenly; I wish I'd been there." "So do I," retorted the author. Another time she tried to get even by sending Mrs. M. off for a very unpleasant visit to the dentist. She got a letter from a kind-hearted aunt saying, "Darling, I'm so sorry you've been having such a nasty time with your teeth."

NAVAL ROMANCE AND WESTERN AT SHORES THEATRE

Robert Walker as a swashbuckling sailor woos and wins winsome June Allyson in the newest wartime romance, "A Sailor Takes a Wife," to be shown at the Shores theatre this Friday and Saturday. When a sultry woman of mystery wends her way into the romantic lives of Bob and June things began to pop. You'll laugh and cry at their young romance, wedding and honeymoon.

Also on the same billing Eddie Dean and Jennifer Holt take the romantic leads in the western, "Song of Old Wyoming." The western is in technicolor and you'll marvel at the rolling plains and stately mountain scenes.

Parents Institute, a national organization, has presented a citation to Warner Bros. for pioneering talking pictures. The citation, one of many similar honors being conferred on Warners in commemoration of the 20th Anniversary of Sound, was presented at the Institute's New York headquarters.

All boys in the states of Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio who are building model cars and miniature Napoleonic coasters in this year's $25,000 competition will send their entries to Detroit. The deadline for submission of models is July 15, and judging will begin a few days later.

At Detroit, winners for each of the states represented will be chosen. Cash awards will go to first, second and third place winners in each state both in the model car and the Napoleonic coasters phases of the competition.

Other cities at which regional judging will be conducted are: San Francisco, Calif.; Portland, Ore.; New York, N. Y.; Washington, D. C.; Boston, Mass.; Omaha, Neb.; Dallas, Texas; and Atlanta, Ga.

With four top winners to be picked at each of the other regions, a total of 36 boys will attend the Detroit convention.

Soap Saving Hints for Housewives

It's needless to tell the housewife that saving is a real necessity these days. But Miss Laura P. Davis, extension specialist in home management, gives the housemaker a few pointers to make the soap she buys farther and how to make the clothes cleaner.

Too much soap in the washing machine not only is wasteful but does more than to clean. It is wasteful to use soap as a water softener. There are many softeners on the market today and they are less expensive than soap.

Water softeners, however, should be thoroughly discolored before the soap is added. It will, however, reduce the amount of soap required, but you give it a chance to do its job before you add the soap. Give it three to five minutes. Always measure the quantities to be used, after determining by experiment that the right amount necessary for the water you use. A two-inch suds on the washwater is the most desirable. Don't buy too much soap. It takes far less than you think to measure in the future.

A thorough rinsing of the clothes will lengthen the life of the fabric. Not only do you have that "white-cloth" look in your white clothes, if not properly rinsed, but you will weaken the textile fibers. Hot salt water is ideal for rinsing. Soft water dissolves the soap without leaving a scum or sediment. The first rinsing should be at the same temperature as the suds and soiled water, but later rinsing may be higher. Use a good job box or three rinses in which water are needed until the water shows no trace of suds.

A chemical preparation not used as a detergent and used at a high rate has been proved highly effective in lighting gasoline fires, its manufacturer reports.

Pest Control Necessary to Agriculture Aid

From the viewpoint of the farmer, gardener, florist, nurseryman or the livestock man, pest control begins at home. It is nothing new, says Charles Figg, Director of the State Department of Agriculture, but it is a struggle that has been carried on by the farmer and his forebears since the beginning of agriculture.

The individual control operations of the farmer on his own land may be considered the first step in pest control. He is aided in this by public funds and by information made available to him through various agencies as to the best methods to accomplish control most economically and effectively.

With the increasing volume and speed of commercial movement of agricultural plants and nursery stock, it has become apparent that the present work is not adequately protecting the plants from the pests. The recognition of the hazards imposed on agriculture by the introduction through commerce of new pests and diseases has prompted the establishment of quarantine to protect these products from further invasion of new pests.

The third phase of pest control may be considered the suppression or eradication of pests which are newly introduced. Careful planning and extensive research to gain control and eventual eradication.

Inside Story of Our Navy at War Revealed in Exciting New Book

Did you know that the grating battle of Midway stopped a Japanese threat to the coast of California? Did you know that American submarines entered Tokyo Bay early in the war? Did you know that the United States Navy carried the Allied armies across the Rhine into the heart of Nazi Germany?

Now it can be told — and it's told — the almost incredible story of the U. S. Navy in World War II. During the war, the news blackout of naval operations was of necessity very severe. The Navy could safely release news that was at best only fragmentary. But now the whole spectacular story of the war's midship life in action has been told. It is the real inside story of every great naval operation of the war told in each case by the American officer in command.

Not only has the Navy told its story in no less than 100,000 pages of sensational action photographs (many in full color) from its confidential files to illustrate the amazing story. The thrilling revelations are made in "Action Stations — Your Navy in Battle" (Wise & Co., $3.95) book, just published, which offers to Americans, for the first time, the whole unexpurgated record of our fighting Navy — from the Destroyer-Base exchange held 15 months before Pearl Harbor to the defeat of Japan.

The truth about Pearl Harbor is that, in a matter of minutes, five American battleships, three cruisers and six other naval vessels were sunk or set on fire, but in seconds, three of the battleships were repaired and returned to the fleet. The 18-inch shells from the sunken battleships were recovered and went into the hands of the Japanese.

The Japanese admiral commanding 28 naval mines (including the "Mines") But three battleships, the heroic Matsume took it in 20 hours with the supporting fire of naval vessels and bombers. 349,000 shells were fired. The "Mines" took it in 20 hours with the supporting fire of naval vessels and bombers. 349,000 shells were fired. VETERANNEWS From the OFFICE OF VETERANS' AFFAIRS LANSING

The VA is urging all veterans who plan to attend school under the G.I. Bill for the first time next fall to apply at once for their certificates of eligibility so that delays in issuance of the certificates may be avoided. If applications are delayed too long, VA offices will be swamped at the last minute, it is explained. VA calls attention to the fact that its rules do not require veterans to have certificates of eligibility before enrollment, but that many schools do ask for them before they will admit veterans as students. Subsistence allowances are payable from the date the veteran enters training, provided he has already applied for it, VA says. Application forms can be obtained from VA regional or sub-regional offices having jurisdiction over the area in which the applicant lives, and the entire matter can be handled by mail. After the applications are processed, the veterans are sent the certificate of eligibility, which they should take with them when they enroll in schools. More than 500,000 applications a month were processed by VA offices during March and April. Through a program conducted by the Michigan OVA a veteran-student may borrow the equivalent of one month's subsistence if he needs the money to tide him over until his first subsistence check arrives. Applications are available at all schools except those for which loan funds have already been provided.

So That's Where It Comes From!

The old story of how the white and black cow eats green grass and gives white milk is more or less amazing to Jane Sepull and Holly Spitzer, children of Michigan State college GI veteran students. Living with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sepull, Alpena, and Mr. and Mrs. Garth H. Spitzer, Hart, in the MSC campus trailer camp for married veterans, these two youngsters are close to the source of supply, as the college dairy farm is nearby. The Michigan dairy industry last year furnished full or part-time employment to one out of every fifteen persons in the state. The year's income was well over $200,000,000.

Don Herold says:

Now, what? Elbert Hubbard once wrote: "If you set ten girls at work in a room, you will find by the third day that nine of those girls are asking the tenth girl these questions: "Is this all right?" "Where is the thread?" "What shall I do next?" Some people become leaders. Some start things. Some originate things. Some initiate businesses, take risks, guide others, provide work. Any economic system which discourages leaders and which levels all people down to the lowest in flying in the face of Nature and is harming mankind.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

June 28, 1946 Dear Editor: This is to say "thank you" for the fine part your paper played in publishing the Emergency Food Collection in the Grosse Pointe area. My job would have been an impossible one without your help, Mr. Dodge and the members of the executive committee have asked me to express their deep appreciation for your cooperation.

shortage of food for local consumption and the fear on the part of many that Detroit's food situation may get increasingly acute. I hope soon to have the opportunity to thank you in person for the help you have been. Yours very truly, R. D. Parcells, Publicity Director

Laugh With Us!

Man Who Wasn't There Maid (to a young man caller)—I'm sorry but she said to tell you she wasn't home. Young Man—Well, tell her I'm glad I didn't call. Useless Junk The argument on domestic economy was on hot and heavy. Husband (stomping)—You buy entirely too many things we have little use for. You bought an ice cream freezer and we have used it three times in a year. Then you bought a lot of other gadgets that I seldom see you use. Wife (sweetly)—Maybe you're right. But I notice you bought a fire extinguisher last year and we've never used it once. Boring In "I forgot my keys last night and every window and door was locked." "What did you do?" "Oh, I just walked around and around until I was all in."

Leaders Plead for Food Donations

Dr. John W. Studebaker, commissioner of the U. S. office of education, recently called on the nation's school children, college youth, and educational leaders to help provide "first aid" meals to people overseas who are suffering from hunger and starvation. His statement was made public at national headquarters of the Emergency Food Collection. "Many children in famine-stricken lands are too weak from hunger to play," Dr. Studebaker declared. "Others are dying of starvation. Those who manage to survive may never be strong in body, and their hearts will be bitter. "Their embittered spirits could definitely endanger world peace. For our own sake, as well as for theirs, we must do everything possible to assure them food now, because these are the children whom our own boys and girls must work with in the world of tomorrow. "Gifts to the EFC can assure first aid meals to famine victims and will be as important as first aid treatments given to people injured in accidents or suffering from shock." Mr. Wallace announced that contributors to the EFC can deduct the value of their gifts from their income tax payments. A ruling from the Treasury department states that both the cash gifts and the value of the food are deductible in arriving at the taxable net income. Residents of any area may send their gifts to the local committee and that organization may send them gifts by the money order department. Mr. Marshall, executive director, EFC.

NO COMPETITION ? . . . THERE'S PLENTY OF IT More than any other private business, the utility is in direct and continuous competition with the theories and, in some sections of the United States, with the works of those who would turn private business into government business. The Detroit Edison Company competes for your business in your home, because there is nothing which compels the use of electricity exclusively in the operation of many household appliances. Industries are free to build plants for the manufacture of their own electric power, and a few have done so. Because of the existence of real competition, The Detroit Edison Company is required to produce so efficiently that the industrialist cannot afford to generate his own power. Detroit Edison is required to serve the home so well that its occupants will PREFER electricity. Beyond all this is the ever-present fact that our customers—you, the householder, the farmer, the merchant and the manufacturer—expect nothing less than the BEST from The Detroit Edison Company. We are in constant competition with that standard of price, dependability and service which you fix for us—with your idea of what Detroit Edison should be. Upon our ability to meet that competition depends our right to survive and prosper. Direct competition by another electric company is eliminated by law as a matter of public policy. That policy permits exercise of the economies of mass purchases and mass production without wasteful duplications. The safeguards of public regulation are combined with the enterprise and efficiency of private management. The objective and the result—extraordinary service at reasonable cost. THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY
