RELINE VIEW OF THE NEWLY PROPOSED WATERFRONT PARK FOR GROSSE POINTE WOODS RESIDENTS

This shore line view of the newly proposed waterfront park for the residents of Grosse Pointe Woods shows the lovely wooded area included in the property. There is a 628 foot beach and the water area off the site has a sand bottom. The proposed plot is located on the northwest corner opposite the former Edsel Ford estate and is approximately forty-seven acres in size. Councilmen are considering the purchase of this property as a residential park. The Woods now owns the lot located on Mack avenue where plans were being made to construct picnic grounds amid the natural setting of shade trees. The plot is entirely enclosed with cyclone fencing and the old Jefferson avenue and a cement bridge over Milk river in excellent condition are also within the property boundaries. The necessary task of clearing the beach and cutting down the high grass could be done in a matter of days if the property were purchased thereby insuring residents the use of the beach this season.

Board Appeals Application for School Building

The board of education has forwarded an appeal to the CPA to reconsider their denial of a permit to construct one section of 18 classrooms which would be the beginning of the Vernier-Mack combination elementary and junior high school.

One Year Ago
Grosse Pointe school children were vying for honors in the biggest waste paper campaign since this type of drive had been inaugurated several years previous. Each child contributing 150 pounds of paper was entitled to a free ticket to any Detroit Tigers home baseball game.

The breakfast club solicited for current pocket editions of magazines to include in the boxes given to draitees for their sendoff to the armed services.

The Review published an artist's conception of the new junior high school proposed for Grosse Pointe Woods. The school when constructed will partially relieve the congestion now existing at Mason school.

Rules were published for the annual flower show sponsored jointly by the Grosse Pointe and Eastern Michigan Horticultural societies planned for early September.

Neighborhood club day campers staged a wild west show as one of their summertime activities.

Boy Injured Running Into Side of Auto

Chamberlain dashed into the road from in front of a parked Good Humor truck and ran into the side of a car driven by William L. Hoover, 24, of 1374 Hollywood.

Harriet Gaddy, P. Biglin and D. Johncke all of Hollywood, eye witnesses to the accident agree that the young boy ran into the moving car. The injured boy was treated at Cottage hospital. Hoover was given a ticket.

Police Busy Issuing Tickets to Accident Drivers

John Boll, 22784 Gordon Switch Drive, St. Clair Shores, was ticketed for reckless driving when his auto ran a stop street and crashed into a car driven by Patricia Alandt.

Cars driven by James W. Higgins, 1375 Grayton road and Elmer Neisch, 3930 Three Mile drive, collided on Vernor highway Friday afternoon. Both drivers were given court tickets.

Juvenile Held in Detention Home Confesses to Serious Robberies

The youths were first taken to the Farms police station by Officers Yacks and Roberts upon a complaint by Mrs. Josephine Echlin, 445 Moran. Mrs. Echlin reported that the youths threatened her son, Louis, with a knife. The accused lads denied the charge but upon inspection of their pockets they finally admitted the threat. They threw the knife away before being picked up. However, they still had possession of a wallet which had been reported as stolen from the municipal pier a few days previous and a cigarette lighter which was identified as that of a Farms resident.

The trio were taken to the juvenile detention home where every three days George has been questioned.

To date he has confessed to stealing property from the residences of John F. Boydell, 226 Kenwood; J. E. Lotstrom, 265 Williams; W. George Jeckel, 238 Fisher road; and Francis C. Moran, 315 Grosse Pointe boulevard.

Dr. Davies Assures Residents That Water Is Safe

Residents in this area were greatly disturbed recently when a city daily paper published an article concerning the sanitary conditions of swimming waters off the St. Clair shore line and along the Detroit shore line. The article condemned the waters along both shore lines and pronounced them unfit for swimming purposes. This statement has caused a great deal of discussion—and rightly so as parents are concerned with their children's welfare and would refuse permission to them to bathe at the residential parks if the condition were true.

Dr. Davies personally makes a daily check of the waters along our shore line. The waterworks in this area also makes a daily check and by the records at the pumping stations it is possible to know the exact amount of sewage disposal occurring at the various discharge points.

We have the further assurance of Murray Smith Farms engineer that the beaches are and have been suitable for swimming this season. Should any pollution occur residents can rest at ease that they will be notified immediately by proper authorities.

Detroit River Drive Plan Described

The projected drive extends from Hastings street to the city limits at Alter road, a little over six miles.

Devised to present numerous scenic effects, the drive avoids hugging the water-line. It runs partly on the flat bottom land, climbs to the top of the bank, then drops back to the river edge.

All park areas along the riverfront are connected, affording safe and easy access to the recreational facilities.

The drive will be built at grade level and will have six 12-foot lanes, three for east bound traffic and three for west bound. A planting strip is provided in the middle.

Industrial buildings, which must remain on their present waterfront sites for some years will be looped and bypassed.

Some degree of relief would be gained for heavily traveled Jefferson avenue, one of the city's heaviest thoroughfares.

Farms Trustees Okeh Monies for Veterans' Council

Farms trustees with unanimous vote have approved the Grosse Pointe Council on Veterans' Affairs their share of the costs for operating the council. A check for $122.25, equal to the total appropriation of the farms to the council, was forwarded to the council.

Collectors' Club Meets Tomorrow Night

Members of the Grosse Pointe Collectors' Club will meet tomorrow night at the Grosse Pointe Woods Community Center.

Council Members Inspect Lake Front Park

The Woods Civic League made the headlines last week by their proposal of a lake-front park for Grosse Pointe Woods, located on the northwest corner opposite the former Edsel Ford estate. Sunday morning found members of the league who proposed the idea, the village commission members and a member of the press looking over the grounds, estimating its true value as a residential park.

The proposed site covers approximately forty-seven acres, with 628 feet of lake frontage. Chester Clark, spokesman for the group voiced the opinion that the Mack avenue park site now owned by the village can be sold for $85,000, double the price paid for it. The estimated cost of the new site is set at sixty thousand dollars.

The new site, according to Sunday's observers, has excellent bathing facilities off a sand beach and adequate picnic grounds. Should the property be purchased within the next several weeks the necessary work of clearing the beach of stones, and having a mower cut down the high grass could be completed within a short time, making the park available this year.

The property has many "selling" features. Among the most outstanding is the cyclone fence which surrounds it. A recent appraisal set the cost of the fence at $25,000. A cement bridge, part of the old Jefferson avenue pavement and the Avenue B-ell still in excellent condition run through the property.

Credit for locating the choice spot goes to the energetic members of the Grosse Pointe Woods Civic League, who through the efforts of Lincoln Maize, found the plot, presented the plan to the one now

The village president, Alois A. Guesquiere, assured The Review that he was in full support of the idea to purchase the land, when he was interviewed this week. Said Mr. Guesquiere, "I feel that this new site is more ideal than the Mack avenue property in all respects and if we can be assured that we will not be bothered by pollution we should take action to make the purchase."

Dr. T. S. Davies, township health commissioner, feels that there need be no fear of pollution as the water runs down-stream and no pollution has as yet been reported in the other village beaches. Doctor Davies and the Farms' water board make a daily check of the water, and any sign of pollution would immediately be reported and the necessary action taken. Both Doctor Davies and the state board of health at Lansing have been requested to submit reports to the council concerning the advisability of having a bathing beach at this location.

Other council members when questioned agreed that the property is desirable in several respects but several questioned the possibility of pollution.

The councilmen contemplated the fact that members of the league in making a purchase offer and their plan in presenting a true picture of the location.

TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS ZOOM!

These past few weeks have brought an ever increasing traffic toll in injury to persons as a result of automobile accidents, with accompanying damage to the cars and property in our community.

Carelessness is obviously the cause of most of these accidents. Those guilty of carelessness should be made to realize the seriousness of their actions.

The police cannot be everywhere at once. They must depend on each and every driver and pedestrian to do his part by obeying traffic laws.

The police are to be congratulated on their fine work of patrolling our streets, but their work will be vain if the residents fail to offer cooperation.

Michigan Congressman Thanked for OPA Bill Support

Washington. — For his part in support of price control, Rep. Louis C. Rabaut, D of Mich., received the personal thanks of Chester Bowles, former economic stabilization director.

In his letter, Bowles expressed his gratitude for the part Rabaut had played in the stabilization program and thanked him for the help he had given.

The text of Bowles' letter follows:

July 10, 1946

Hon. Louis C. Rabaut House of Representatives Washington, D. C. Dear Mr. Rabaut:

I cannot leave Washington without telling you how deeply grateful I am to you for being such a faithful friend of the stabilization program.

I know there have been times during the long tough struggle to make price control effective when we do not see eye to eye on some issue or other. Obviously, there is no need to make price control completely painless. Perhaps, if there had been a way, we wouldn't have had quite so much trouble the last two or three weeks.

However, I still feel that with a good law and adequate funds to administer it, there is still a chance of keeping prices and rents reasonably stable, and to achieve the labor-management cooperation we need if we are going to get over the production hump this fall.

I am very sorry to be leaving the program myself, even though it has been a long, grueling assignment. However, I felt that my resignation would help to clear the air and force a decision on the merits of the issue itself. The President showed tremendous courage in vetoing the bill as it was, and I certainly hope that his action will help to bring about the kind of firm legislation that is needed if we are to accomplish the tasks ahead.

No matter how it all comes out, I certainly trust that there will be no bitterness between the various groups in the economy who worked so well together during the war. Any recriminations now would simply make it harder to work out the answers for the problems we face today.

times you have helped me out. Sincerely, Chester Bowles.

Roda Cut Prices: Soap Only $2.80

By official decree of the totalitarian government, prices recently were cut 40 per cent in Moscow. So what? Soap there now is only $2.80 a cake, while cotton stockings have dropped to a mere $2.40 and $3.60 a pair.

And the above-average income in Russia is about 10,000 to 15,000 rubles a year ($2,000 to $3,000).

Field of Law Beckons Veterans

Veterans planning to become lawyers need not worry, at least for the present, about finding a place in the legal profession, Dean E. Blythe Stason, of the University of Michigan law school, believes.

During the war, graduating classes in law schools were down to only 10 or 15 per cent of the normal totals, he points out, and even three years of graduating classes twice the pre-war size would barely fill the pent-up demand.

In addition, the dean points to the increasing complexity of current business and governmental legal affairs. The grand total of legal problems is greater than ever and growing every year, he declared, and this has materially increased placement opportunities and assured that the larger graduating classes will readily be absorbed in active practice. The law school dean issued the statement in answer to reports that there is a danger of too many veterans entering the legal profession.

The House That Jack Built

This is the house that Jack built.

This is the wife that keeps house in the house that Jack built.

This is the washer that does the wash that helps the wife keep house in the house that Jack built.

This is the iron that irons the wash the washer washed, that helps the wife keep house in the house that Jack built.

This is the wire that carries the power that heats the iron, and turns the washer that does the wash, that helps the wife keep house in the house that Jack built.

THIS is the story of better living—of electric living—in Jack's house. The tale could go on endlessly. For electricity is a servant of many talents, of which washing and ironing are but two.

The electric power that helps Jack's wife is always ready, dependable, available in any quantity at any time. And Jack doesn't need much jack to pay the bill.

This is the company that strings the wires and makes the power that gives the Jacks—and countless families like them—all the comforts and convenience of electric living.

SOME FISH STORY

Jack Arens wouldn't bother arguing whether it was fisherman's luck or a masterful technique which landed this 51 1/2 pound tarpon for him off the coast of Florida recently, but one thing certain, he caught it and landed it by himself. Jack who formerly operated the Club Mayfair here will spend many an hour telling the crowd "back home" about the details when he again returns to these parts, but until then we're here to pass the story along as we heard it. Jack who had never before caught a fish decided to indulge in the favorite pastime of the Florida citizens and do a little fishing himself after he has been there for some time. He didn't expect much just a few nibbles, but before he knew it he felt a tug to his line, and what a tug! The tarpon kicked seven times and took all of thirty minutes to land. By that time both Arens and the fish were done. They paused long enough, however, to have their picture taken. Then while Jack sought a cool spot and a refreshing drink where he could relax and tell other fishermen how to do "it," the fish was undoubtedly sent to some taxidermist where it will be made up as substantial proof of a lucky fisherman's first day out. Jack is now with the Palm Beach Recreation in Sarasota, Florida.

Board Rejects Vernier School Addition Bids

At a special meeting of the board of education on June 18, all bids for the proposed four-room Quonset Hut addition to the Vernier school were rejected. At the same time, the superintendent of schools was instructed to prepare sketches and secure permits to build a simple one-room, cinder-block addition in the rear of the present Vernier school and joined to it by a runway which would provide school room for the immediate urgent need at this school. In doing this, the board felt that if such a project could be completed now, future needs could be met possibly later, when there was more stability in the construction field.

It is not contemplated by the board, however, that even if these plans do work out, the addition would be ready for occupancy when school opens in September. The result will be that children of the sixth grade of Vernier school will have to continue transportation arrangements to Deier school. Letters are being sent by the superintendent to the parents whose children are involved, advising them of this. The lowest bid from five contracting firms for the four-room Quonset Hut addition to the Vernier school was $31,357. The amount of this bid was from ten to fifteen thousand dollars higher than even the highest advance estimates, allowing for a considerable increase in building costs. The Quonset Hut itself could have been purchased at a figure from $1,200 to $1,800, depending on size, but the high cost of labor and construction, materials for erecting such a building and making adequately equipped, lighted and heated classrooms account for the major portion of the cost.

It has taken a good many months for the board of education to clear many details of legal obstacles, both local, state and national, in the way of permits to even secure bids for the construction of the Quonset Hut. Arrangements were finally made to clear obstacles of the zoning ordinance in Grosse Pointe Shores by trading a small piece of property on Vernier road, formerly occupied by the old Vernier school; for additional property surrounding the present Vernier school. The obstacles of the permit from the Civilian Production Administration were finally surmounted on May 22, with the ap-

Radar Training Recruits Sought By Naval Officers

Young men continued to take advantage of the navy's 17-year-old enlistment policy last week, announced Cmdr. G. M. Winne, officer in charge of navy recruiting in lower Michigan. Many of the enlistees sought to qualify for Radar training by taking the Eddy test, a practical test devised to ascertain a man's adaptability for this technical training.

The commander said that men with a good mathematical background are most apt to pass the Eddy test that qualifies them and that no practical experience in industrial field is necessary. Men selected for this training will be given a ten months course in Radar, a war discovery that is expected to be the very heart of most modern life in the peace time era.

The postwar development in electronics will be based greatly on the principles taught by the navy, and those having this training are assured a place in the scientific world to come. Men who qualify for the training are getting in on "the ground floor" in one of the wide-open fields of postwar engineering, said the recruiting officer.

For reasons of security, details of the type of advanced training, etc., are withheld from public announcement. The recruiting officer did say, however, that the training received by Radar trainees is training that would be impossible to receive thru any civilian agency. He called attention to the unprecedented opportunity that qualifying men are offered for a postwar future in Radar, television, and in the world of electronics.

The program calls for an unlimited number of men in age brackets from 17 to 30 for service in one of the most highly technical and secretive branches of the navy.

Trainees, after completing the course, are assigned to duty ashore and afloat where there is an unequalled chance for advancement for the reason of the highly specialized nature of the Radar training.

Full details may be obtained at the Navy Recruiting Station, third floor, New Federal building, Detroit and recruiting stations in Flint, Jackson, Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Lansing and Kalamazoo.

THEY AGREE THE WATER IS FINE

Members of the Woods' council who met Sunday morning to inspect the newly proposed park site are pictured enjoying a refreshing "dunk" in the water off the sand beach of the property. The men spent the morning inspecting the condition of the water bottom and the depth. They found the water to be of a refreshing degree in temperature, the sand bottom in fine condition and that it was possible to walk out almost three-quarters of a mile before the water became of any great depth. Fashions in Flavors

From the Homemaker Page in the Restaurateur Conducted by Mina Edwards Smith, President, Seely Mfg. Company, Detroit, Mich.

NOTE: Following is a copyright article, reprinted by special permission of the author, from the magazine Restaurateur, which most adequately describes the atmosphere and character of the Dorothy Mary Dining Room on Fisher road, near Maumee, in Grosse Pointe.

"In Petoskey, Mich., 17 miles from Charlevoix on the main highway, Route No. 31, are a number of restaurants, but only one tea room, called the Dorothy Mary, run by Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Reed. Their story is also a success story, but different in this respect, Mrs. Reed had been a catering manager in a hotel out West and therefore had had some experience in this type of work, but both understood how to please the public.

"This tea room was started four years ago on Park avenue in a small store with an atmosphere of daintiness and refinement. Last year, because of war conditions, they decided not to open it at all, but this year they moved to 403 Lake street in larger quarters. As you enter you will see dainty ruffled curtains at the windows and a bunch of gorgeous flowers on the window-seat of each window, waitresses in colonial costumes, flowers on each table and attractive china with a tiny rosebud pattern and you will be met at the door and seated by Mr. Reed, a courteous host.

"The Dorothy Mary tea room opens at noon, closes from three to five and then is open to dinner guests. I ate there a number of times and tried different combinations, but at lunch I voted their chicken salad plate as "tops." It is arranged in a most appetizing way. The chicken salad, a generous portion, is heaped in the center of a frill of lettuce reaching the outer rim of a dinner plate. A large ring of green pepper tops the salad and at the side are olives, radishes, tiny pickles, slices of tomato and potato chips. With it is served a beverage and slices of nut bread or dainty muffins.

"The fruit plate is also most attractive. A dinner-sized plate is used for this, too, with a mound of cottage cheese in the center and the fruit arranged like spokes of a wheel.

"Besides running the tea room, Mr.

Music Memory Contest Set for a Future Concert

A music memory contest to intrigue the listeners who come to hear the performances of the Desert band will be a feature of this summer's program, according to Leonard B. Smith, conductor of the band.

LEONARD R. SMITH
Detroit Federation of Musicians Con-

The date has been set for Friday, Aug. 23, at 8:15 p.m. As a part of that evening's concert, the band will play excerpts from 25 of the numbers presented during the current season and the audience will try to identify each selection and its composer. Printed blanks will be provided for the audience to fill in as they listen to the numbers.

Winners will be judged according to accuracy and neatness. Three medals will be awarded to the winners whose names will be announced at a later concert. Conductor Smith will make the presentation of the medals.

"With the wave of 'quiz' programs now sweeping the country, I think our audiences will enjoy matching wits in a music memory contest," Smith said. He promised not to make it too difficult and he assured the listeners that those who attend most of the concerts will have a good idea of the numbers being played.

The department of parks and recreation, sponsors of the concerts, invites all music lovers to hear the concerts and take part in the contest on Aug. 23.

PET SHOW WINNERS

Lou Wernet's pigeon flew away to escape our photographer, but nevertheless Wernet holds the title of having the most beautiful pet at the Neighborhood club pet show last Friday. Little Carol Ann Baker's chicken won the prize for being the most unusual pet and Michael O'Neil's pet dog, "Ming" was voted the cleverest dog entered in the contest. The children all received awards for their prize winning entries, and are pictured with their pets. This affair was one of the special activities planned for the Neighborhood club day campers.

'Pet Show' Winners and Owners Take a Bow at Neighborhood Club

The Neighborhood club animal show last Friday on the club grounds was as gay as any "animal fair." About fifty youngsters proudly lined up with their pets preparatory to the judging of the pets.

Most anything classified "animal" and not of the jungle category could be found in the animal lineup. Worms, fishes, rabbits, guinea pigs, cats and dogs were all there to be shown off by their little owners.

After a careful survey of the entries judges announced the winners. Michael O'Neil was named owner of the cleverest dog. His dog "Ming" brought home the bacon. Carol Ann Baker presented the most unusual pet, a chicken. A carrier pigeon owned by Leo Wernet was voted the most beautiful pet.

Directors of the field also provided a contest for the young artists attending the day camp. A drawing of a bird won first prize for Norman Carstens, and Jane Hawley's clay model of a bird won first prize in this division.

Doreen Poupard's miniature collection of animal pins was awarded first prize in the miniature collection entries.

Miss Pauline Masak, director of the camp was responsible for the inquisitive murmurs of the youngsters who milled around a curtain enclosed cage, which was placed on a stand and guarded by Chuck Wrona carrying a "baton" and Detective J. J. Onstwedder of the city police department. The cage supposedly housed the ground's most ferocious animal. When the curtain was finally drawn and the spectators took a "look see" they had the surprise of their young lives. A mirror graced the back wall of the cage and they saw their own reflection.

Chief of Police Thomas Trombley was also on hand to watch the festivities.

Lacerated Leg

Little Ellis Abele, age seven, of 1700 Anita suffered a large cut on her left leg when she fell on a broken crook in a field near her home. She was treated at Saratoga hospital, here it was necessary to take five stitches to close the wound.

Judging Begins On Model Coach Entries

Judging of the hundreds of Napoleonic coaches and model cars submitted by boys from Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan in the 1946 Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild competition started at Detroit last Monday.

Judges of the models in this region are: Gordon Drummond, assistant technical supervisor of the Guild and who in 1932 was a grand national award winner; Walter R. Leuschner, Detroit, designer and builder of the master Napoleonic coach for the Craftsman's Guild, and Arthur J. Lusty, a Detroit Boy Scout executive.

The preliminary work will be done at the A. A. Leonard Storage Co., in Detroit, to which all entrants in this section of the country have been instructed to send their models.

After the preliminary work, the car and coach models will be moved to the General Motors building where they will be judged individually and comparatively as officials check and re-check the scores of different items that must be evaluated in arriving at the total points which will determine the winners.

The exhibit at the General Motors building will be open to the public during the judging and it is expected that quite a few of the boy model builders themselves will visit the exhibit to see first-hand how their models compare with those submitted by other youths in this region.

A total of 12 cash awards are offered to the best model builders in each state. When the state judging is completed, four top regional winners will be picked — best car and best coach in the junior and senior divisions. These four boys will come to Detroit for the Craftsman's Guild convention to compete for national honors, which carry awards of eight university scholarships.

Suggested Relief for Unfortunate Hay Fever Victims

That period of discomfort for hay fever victims, when sneezes rend the air and the world is seen through watered eyes, is drawing near.

Dr. John M. Sheldon, head of the University of Michigan hospital allergy clinic, has this word of caution for the "sneezers" — don't expect miracles from a new group of drugs.

But the picture for relief from hay fever isn't all pessimistic, Doctor Sheldon hastens to add. He makes the following suggestions: Most hay fever sufferers can be helped by being hypo-sensitized.

The ideal method is to go to a region in which the pollen to which the victim is susceptible is not found in sufficient quantities to cause discomfort.

Early morning exercise, provided golf and swimming are excluded, will provide partial relief for some unfortunate. Golf causes exposure to an increased amount of pollen.

Filters which clear the air of pollen can be placed in rooms and will bring considerable relief. Using this method, many sufferers could spend a few hours outside without too much discomfort.

In halting the vapor of penicillin may have some curative effect on some bacterial allergic cases but on the other hand the mold may cause symptoms in persons sensitive to penicillin.

Michigan Is First in Proclaiming V-J Day A Legal Holiday

More than five hundred American Legion posts from every corner of the state are asking civic, fraternal and community groups to join with them in observing Wednesday, Aug. 14, as Welcome Home Day for World War II veterans.

In March, 1946, the Legion's Americanism commission, headed by Dr. Frank A. Gorman of Saginaw, conceived the idea of this special observance of August 14, which will mark the first anniversary of V-J Day when Japan surrendered to end the greatest war in history.

The idea of setting aside this day to officially welcome home the men and women who wore the uniform "caught on," and the Legion asked the governor to declare a public holiday. In turn he requested the state legislature to go one step farther and make the date a legal holiday.

Meantime, in anticipation of such a proclamation, Legion Posts in many localities went ahead with their plans, and with the aid of other groups made preliminary arrangements for suitable programs.

Michigan is the first state in the Union to commemorate by legislative every indication points to a celebratory indication points to a celebration that will recall the exuberance with which the end of the war was hailed one year ago.

Navy Personnel Receive Pay Boost

Pay raises for all service personnel and the activation of the navy's new air reserve program were announced almost simultaneously by Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, and authorities at the Grosse Ile Naval Air Station emphasized that the pay boost would be applied to navy veterans who are serving on voluntary active duty as stationkeepers at the island base.

The increase, which came as the result of congressional legislation, raises the base pay of a seaman second class from $54 a month to $80; a seaman first class from $66 to $90; a petty officer second class from $79 to $115; and an acting chief petty officer from $126 to $150, with corresponding increases for other ratings.

Many jobs, Grosse Ile spokesmen said, are still available to navy veterans who desire full-time, continuous active duty in the Detroit area, with officers and men of the supply corps and the medical corps in particular demand.

ANDREWS STARS IN WAR FILM AT COLONY 28th, 29th

Dana Andrews, one of Hollywood's best bets for stardom walks away with honors in the war thriller, "A Walk in the Sun," to be shown at the Colony theatre this Sunday and Monday. Unlike many war films packed with emotional scenes tying up the war and home fronts this picture attempts to depict the life of the men in the battle zone.

The incomparable Ann Sothern, as "Maisie" does it again! She'll win your hearts in her latest "Up Goes Maisie," with George Murphy. Has anyone the problems that Maisie has? We wonder! The solutions Maisie works out in this picture are more drastic and world evolving than before. For a laugh, or more take the family to see Maisie and her friends.

A cartoon and news will also be shown.

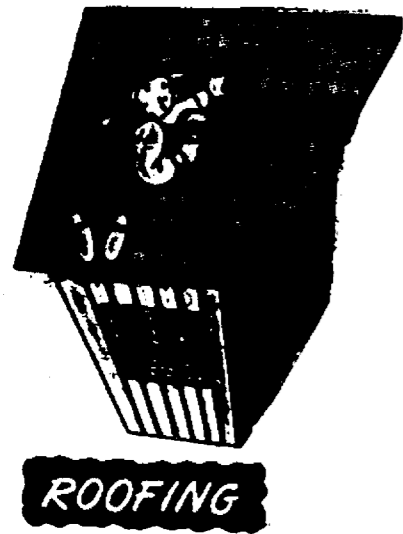

Hose for the Ladies! If Mrs. Frederick Sturmer of Detroit obtains a village permit she will be able to continue her rounds of the homes in this area selling hose to the residents. Mrs. Sturmer was brought into the Park police station last weekend when a resident reported that she was making house to house calls, as a representative of a hosiery mill.

MUCC Answers Vital Questions
Q. To determine liability under the MUC act, what individuals are counted when determining whether or not an "employer" has hired or more individuals for some part of 20 different weeks in any calendar year?
A. All employees who perform services for the "employer" within Michigan are included in the employee count. This includes all persons performing services for the "employer" even though such persons were hired and paid by an agent of the "employer." It does not, however, include for the purpose of liability persons performing services who are covered by the MUC act but who are performing services in the capacity of an independent contractor.
Q. Would an "employer" still which never employed any individual at one time, but which employed eight different persons during a week be considered an "employer" under the Michigan Unemployment Compensation act?
A. Yes, if this employer employed 20 or more weeks during the calendar year, whether or not the weeks were consecutive. The number of employees does not determine the status of an employer under the act.
American taxpayers pay $4 million dollars annually to finance government domestic "trust" agencies.
