Exclusive Report On Bikini Atom Bomb Test

The sky is clear except for a few scattered clouds on the other side of the target ships. Several camera towers on Bikini are silhouettes against the morning sky.

ROY R. SALTON, Y-3

However, the following letter received by Salton's parents contains full details of "Baker Day," and permission has been granted The Review to publish Salton's eyewitness account of the preparation, set-off and after effects of the detonated atom bomb and the attitude and response of the men present.

Only three weeks have passed since the world turned to the Bikini atoll for a solution to the problem of atomic energy for war or peace, and as world leaders gathered for the second world peace conference since V-J Day, 1945 science is ready to offer information gathered and knowledge gained at the tests as their contribution to the world of tomorrow—a peaceful atomic world.

Dear Folks: Thanks to Lieut. Cmdr. A. E. Aman, security officer for Joint Task Force 1 aboard the Haven, here is my view of the atomic bomb test on "Baker Day."

"We Lead, Others Follow"

A Year in Retrospect . . .

Just a year ago President Harry S. Truman announced to anxious Americans that peace had again come to the world. The Japanese surrendered unconditionally to American forces and the tense world after a few hours of jubilant but humble prayers of thanksgiving and merry making turned to the difficult task of rehabilitation. The planned rehabilitation was more than just a program to replace damaged buildings, and mend broken bones — it was an intense program to heal the wounded spirits of friends and enemies alike with the salve of Christian justice.

Legislative wheels began to turn immediately in the capitols of the world. Lend lease in the forms of money and materials were rushed to the needy. Leaders sent representatives to the first peace conference at San Francisco, and the Allies set up war criminal tribunals in Germany and Japan.

Yes, things really began to move after V-J Day, 1946—and they're still moving. Events that will be recorded in the pages of world history books taxed the efforts of present day historians who were deluged with reports from the four corners of the world.

Emperor Hirohito declared to the world that he was not a "god," just a mere mortal as any other Japanese. Mussolini and several of his companions were executed by rioting Italians who after years of war and mistreatment shook off the shackles of Fascism. Mob psychology held sway in the war ravaged countries. War criminals convicted of their crimes were executed as justice meted out their just dues. Hitler made world headlines several times as rumors concerning his disappearance reached the ears of foreign correspondents. Many persons are still in doubt as to whether Hitler is dead, and if so if his death was self-inflicted or if some anti-Nazi suddenly took advantage of a golden opportunity for revenge against the man who caused Germany's degradation and defeat.

Time marched on and with the world shaping events of momentous importance came other news not quite so impressive but having its effect on the world at large. Paris sought to regain her prewar title of world fashion center. Europeans learned the true meaning of inflation. The lights of Buckingham Palace were lit, and overseas G.I.'s took advantage of overseas leave touring the historic old world spots, taking pictures by the hundreds to send the folks back home. American drivers rejoiced over the old phrase, "Fill'er up!" as gas rationing was discontinued and housewives continued to stand in line for groceries despite the cancellation of food rationing. Shoes worn out by Americans in their long walks in the shortage lines

American draft laws were revised, two atomic bomb tests were completed, the OPA was taken off — then put on again. The marriage license bureaus did a rush business as returning G.I.'s came back to claim the girls they left behind, but so did Reno as hasty wartime marriages went on the rocks. Foreign brides came to the United States to join their American husbands and busily engaged themselves in learning the American way of living. The birth rate soared.

Now we have another year before us with even a brighter future than we had a year ago, August 14. The second world peace conference is in session, and even though civil war still rages in China, and the Palestine question has been causing bitter contention among world leaders the determined spirit of these men to forge a peace for the future posterity of the world should reinforce our hopes and solicit our support to the cause of peace — worldwide and lasting.

Kiwanis To Aid In Army Recruiting

Members of the Kiwanis Club of Grosse Pointe today were asked by the War Department and Kiwanis International to participate in a volunteer army recruiting plan designed primarily to insure America's security and to promote world order.

The War Department sometime ago asked Kiwanis International to jointly sponsor the volunteer army recruiting plan and the service organization's board of trustees voted last month at Atlantic City to urge more than 2,500 Kiwanis clubs in the United States to actively cooperate in the drive for enlistments.

In this connection, President Truman expressed the hope that "every individual and group will give earnest and enthusiastic cooperation" to the War Department's program to rebuild the regular army.

"The success of this campaign is vital to the performance of our tremendous task of securing the peace," the President declared. "We must replace as soon as possible men who have served long and arduously, and who wish to return to civil life. We must also build an army of volunteers adequate to all our requirements—at home and abroad—until the long-range peace terms and military policies are worked out," he added.

In calling for the support of Grosse Pointe Kiwanians, the War Department and Kiwanis International set a goal of one regular army enlistment for each 100 members in each Kiwanis club every month. Under this arrangement, the plan would produce several thousands enlistments a year.

Each Kiwanis club has been asked to appoint a committee to work with the assigned army recruiting personnel in this area. All available prospects eligible for enlistment in the regular army will be contacted.

To spur interest in the campaign, special awards will be offered to clubs achieving the highest percentage of quota each month.

Revive World War I Racket On Graves

Relatives of the nation's war dead are being warned by The American Legion to shun all persons and organizations attempting to sell information and advice about the graves of fighting men buried overseas.

As recently announced by The American Legion, complete plans have been made for the repatriation of this country's 328,000 World War II dead, and the Army and Navy will soon write next-of-kin to obtain instructions for disposition of the bodies.

Park Police Rescue Two Stranded Maids From Housetop

Two colored maids at the residence of Donald Melville, 911 Edgemont Park were rescued by Park police Sunday morning when a passing patrolman heard their distress call for help. The women were awakened by gas escaping from a refrigeration pipe and sought refuge on the house top. The Melvilles were at home but suffered no ill effects, as did the domestics.

0845: The cloud is slowly lifting and disappearing, though a slight mist still remains. The target ships are beginning to appear. From where I am standing, I can see the Saratoga. Her island on the flight deck is mangled and her huge stack has been completely blown off.

Word is now coming over the radio, from an observation plane, that the battleship Arkansas, the transport Fallon, along with three LCT's have been sunk. They say all that is left of the Arkansas is a huge oil slick on the water.

0915: The Mt. McKinley, with Vice-Admiral Blandy aboard, along with the other communication ships Appalachian, Blue Ridge, and Panamint, and two destroyers are heading in toward the lagoon in order to get a better view of the damage done.

The target array is becoming much clearer now, and I can make out the battleship New York. She seems to be lying deeper at the stern. The transport Gasconade has been thrown up against another ship and seems to be badly damaged.

Several navy drone planes are circling the area now, taking pictures. They are passing through the huge clouds of radioactive gases with no danger. They are being controlled by a Martin Mariner, which is hovering near the cloud. It seems impossible for a huge four engine bomber going through intricate maneuvers with no one at the controls. Only a man many miles away toying with a few controls.

0927: When Senator Hatch of New Mexico heard one of the men say that the Japanese battleship Nagato seemed to be listing, he made the following statement, "So many of you have said ships were listing, that whenever I look over there, they all seem to be listing." Senator Hatch is always good for a laugh.

I just asked a navy cameraman, who has been taking pictures of the men up here on the signal bridge, while watching the test, what the photos were to be used for. "All my work is for the navy," he said. That sort of took the wind out of our sails.

0940: We just received orders from the flagship to move in closer to the lagoon, so we can see the results of the test much better. So far, the only large ships sunk are the Arkansas and the Fallon. The Saratoga is settling rapidly and is listing to starboard. Her

We are standing just off the reef, now. I can see a drone boat, painted bright yellow, working its way through the target array. Heading for the lagoon entrance where her mother ship is lying. We are inside the lagoon now, and monitors equipped with Geiger counters, for checking the radio activity in the water and on the target ships, are entering the target array to conduct their tests.

On such a perfect day as this, it is hard to believe that one of the most devastating and yet most beautiful and awe inspiring sights ever witnessed by man, took place only a few minutes ago.

1400: We are actually inside the lagoon now. Due to the radioactivity in the area, no boat, other than those with monitors aboard, are allowed in the water, yet. Because of the radioactivity, all evaporators are secured, and each man is allowed just so much water daily.

1610: Five minutes ago, the Saratoga went down. We were all proud of the way she sank. She didn't roll as most ships would: she just settled to the bottom, stern first, the deck at about a 30 degree angle. It took an atomic bomb to sink the old "Fighting Lady."

So ends Baker Day and the atomic bomb test for 1946. I am grateful to all concerned for giving me this opportunity to view the most deadly invention in history of science.

Well, folks, I think I've said my piece for today. It's okay for publishing in The Review, thanks again to Lieutenant Commander Aman.

All my love to all.
Roy

Breaks Arm

Little Janice Judge, 115 Oak street, is treated at Cottage hospital last Thursday afternoon for a broken arm sustained while at play at the municipal pier. Miss Judge was accompanied by her mother on the way to the hospital.

SCHOOL

At the meeting, Dr. Essert, A. A. Ghesquiere and Rex H. Johnston were appointed as a committee to meet with E. A. Turpin of the CPA to present all the facts bearing on the extreme necessity for a school at this time.

Last Thursday Rep. Louis C. Rabaut, who was in the city, was contacted and agreed to meet with the group to listen to the gathered evidence in favor of the building of a school. Members of the board were immediately contacted and the following group met at eight o'clock to discuss this very vital problem.

Rep. Louis C. Rabaut, Ralph Clark and Bert Wicking of the school board; A. A. Ghesquiere, Woods village president; Albert Beaver, Woods commissioner; Rex H. Johnston, president of the Civic League; and Norman Sielaff, director of the Civic League.

Representative Rabaut was given the history and facts of the entire case and realizing the seriousness of the situation reaffirmed his promise to aid in every way possible, saying, "I will do everything possible to obtain this much needed school. If we don't get it — it will not be my fault."

Representative Rabaut appeared impressed by the 1,847 signatures on the petition and by the fact that an increase in the village had been noted since March 4, 1946.

On Friday, Dr. Paul Essert had arranged a meeting with Mr. Turpin for 10:30 a.m. at the CPA offices, 800 Boulevard Building, Detroit. Among those present at this meeting were Dr. Essert, A. A. Ghesquiere, Representative Rabaut, and Rex Johnston. The petitions were presented and further data was submitted. Mr. Rabaut also talked with Mr. McGillis, head of the local CPA office at this time.

Prowlers in Park

Several Grosse Pointe Park residents were bothered with prowlers over the week-end, but in all cases were scared away by barking dogs or by lights appearing in the residence.

William J. Fisher, 268 Cloverly road, was ticketed for operating a car with defective brakes after he hit a car driven by Martin Congalton, 429 Beacon-field. The accident took place at Beaconsfield and Charlevoix last Saturday afternoon.

American Legion Plans Convention

With both the state and national conventions booked for the near future, thousands of American Legionnaires in Michigan are rapidly becoming convention-minded. The state meeting will be held August 16 - 19 at Grand Rapids, while San Francisco will entertain the national event September 30 to October 4.

On the basis of one delegate for every 50 members the 512 American Legion posts in Michigan will send some 2,500 delegates to Grand Rapids. At the national convention Michigan's official delegation will total 193.

In addition to the elected delegates a large number of unofficial representatives and guests are expected at both sessions. Since the state and national American Legion Auxiliary organizations are holding their conventions in conjunction with the Legion meetings the crowd will be doubly large, and housing accommodations at both cities will be at a premium.

One is the annual Greater Detroit Water Carnival slated for Rouge Park's outdoor pools on Friday, August 16. The carnival was to include novice races in which hundreds of boys and girls would take part and several championship events. An Aquaretta of great beauty combined singing, dancing, water ballet formations and synchronized swimming was on the program for the evening. This affair would have brought out thousands of spectators.

The other event is the annual Belle Isle pageant, a colorful and entertaining musical extravaganza which was to be staged on Sunday, August 18, by a thousand boys and girls gaily costumed and trained on the city's playgrounds. Judging by the attendance at previous pageants, it would have drawn more than ten thousand spectators.

"While we regret very much that the boys and girls will be deprived of their participation and that the public will be disappointed by not seeing the shows, at least the children have had the fun and excitement of preparing for them, and they have served as an objective for the summer playground program," McGowan pointed out. "No matter how much work was put into the preparation and how much disappointment would follow, we could not take the risk of bringing such large groups of children and teenagers together at a time when there is the slightest danger of contracting this dread disease."

Thieves Loot Local Buildings
 The thieves of today are apparently using foresight. This past week several offices and garages were broken into and items valued because of their scarcity on the market were stolen.
 The Korneff Construction company doing construction work at St. Clair and Kercheval is short an electric saw this week. A thief entered the offices of Doctor Stoliker last Friday and took the saw and extension cord.
 A copper pipe, another item equally as difficult to obtain and apparently twice as hard to remove was damaged by a person who entered the office of Mr. Lytell, real estate agent last week-end. The pipe set in the floor could not be removed, but in his attempt the thief damaged it to the extent of $50.
 A garage proved to be of little protection against thieves for Robert Grant Gauthier, of the Savarine hotel. Entering the garage last week-end he found that thieves had stripped his car of the radio and aerial and also took a straight edge ruler. The garage is located at 1468 Maryland.

Another victim of looting this past week is William Rivett, 10631 Stratman, whose new 1946 auto was stripped of his hub caps while parked on Somerset near Jefferson last Monday night.
 None of the stolen property has been recovered.

REMOVING DEBRIS AT A & P FIRE
 City firemen quickly extinguished a blaze which threatened to destroy the stock and building of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 7. A worker making repairs to the refrigeration system received minor burns when the gas leaked to the hot water tank and ignited. The store closed last Thursday for re-stocking. Customers remained calm when the blaze was first discovered and in spite of heavy smoke fled out of the building in order without panic.

FIREMEN TRACING FIRE ORIGIN
 A gas leak in a broken pipe line in the refrigeration system at the A & P store, 17142 Kercheval avenue was the cause of the fire which destroyed considerable merchandise but did not damage the building. City firemen responded to an alarm at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 7, and soon had the blaze under control. Firemen are pictured here working to determine the cause of the fire.

Doctor's Office in Conjunction With Residence, Raises Neighbors' Ire

Dr. W. K. Usher, of Balfour road may be forced to abandon his practice at his home due to a petition bearing the signatures of 85 property owners in the vicinity of Balfour road and Kercheval avenue.
 At present the doctor's residence is being remodeled to the extent of making several consultation rooms out of what was once the garage, constructing a combined recreation-hobby room and storage room above this and building a new three-car garage. Spokesmen for the home owners stated that Doctor Usher as a neighbor was one of the best, but that they felt that a home in their district should be used for a home and not as an office building.
 When the doctor first requested permission about eight years ago, to build an office in conjunction with his home it was granted since it was expected that it would be an office incidental to some downtown office. The extent of his practice is so large that automobiles crowd nearby streets for six to eight hours daily annoying the residents and causing traffic hazards.
 In April, 1939, Judge DeWitt Merriam granted this permission saying that the structure of the residence was beautiful in design and an asset to the community.
 The question is to decide whether the ordinance allows such a building in an "A" district. Village Attorney Hefler of the Park was asked to advise the commission of possible action they could take under this particular case and what can be done to avoid a repetition of cases similar to this one in the future. Action may necessitate going to court.
 Disc receivers for women's hearing aids now are being concealed in attractively styled earrings connected by cords with a hidden microphone. The new single unit hearing aids have been made possible by the development of compact "Mini-Max" batteries which gave important service in various fields during the war.

Signs Contract for Repairs; Discovers Price Estimate Raised to Higher Figure

A resident of the Farms was tricked when she signed a contract involving repair work on his residence. The contract called for repairs to roof at an estimated price of $2, but a perusal of the contract showed that the price had been raised to $1,500.
 The workers, if they should attempt to carry out their part of the contract will be barred from the property.
 Police are on the lookout for the party who may try a second performance on some other unsuspecting resident.
 In appreciation of the attention given the case by the police the resident contributed $20 to the pension fund.

The average New York worker spends 4 1/2 hours a month in the subways.

Restaurant Prices Remain Under OPA Control

Restaurant foods are still under price control, the Michigan District Office of Price Administration made clear today in response to numerous inquiries concerning restaurant pricing under the new price control act. For meals comprised largely of the decontrolled foods, such as meats, milk, butter, cheese, eggs and poultry, the restaurant's current markup over raw food cost, instead of prices listed on the restaurant ceiling price poster, will be the method of con-

rol. The familiar food poster, head "Our Ceiling Prices" and listing ceilings for the most common food items served in each of the nation's eating places is, for the present, not required but should be retained by the restaurants. The specific decontrol of these important commodities means that prices of meals which include these items will vary too much and too often to permit use of the poster. However, OPA added, if meats or other dairy products, or any other of the food items now decontrolled are returned to price control, immediate action will be taken to return restaurant ceilings on those items to a fixed price basis.

GERSHWIN AIRS THEME OF MOVIE AT THE COLONY

The life of George Gershwin, the man who made America sing and gave it the songs to sing is brought to the screen in "Rhapsody in Blue," coming to the Colony next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Robert Alda, a newcomer to the movies, plays the role of Gershwin, and does a fine job of it. Joan Leslie, a Detroit star and Alexis Smith are the romantic interests. The picture is set around the early life of the composer, his struggles to gain recognition and the period he was the toast of the world. The play is lengthy, and unless you are an avid music lover it may at times seem slow moving. However, Gershwin's music with fine orchestrations by Paul Whiteman are a delight to all. There are many family scenes that will not only bring a smile to your lips, but will recall many similar humorous scenes in your own home. It's a picture well worth seeing.

AT WILLOW RUN AUGUST 17, 18

Feature exhibit of an Army Caravan is this display of a radar screen in operation. Here, Corporal Raymond Strow explains its functions to an attractive young visitor. Army Caravans are touring the entire country.

and high school credit courses and also courses without credit. The high school work is used by many small high schools to supplement their own limited course offerings, according to Mrs. Bernice H. Lee, director of the Correspondence Study Department.

"Enchanted Forest," with Edward Lowe and Brenda Joyce is also included on the billing. The plot includes some fast action scenes and scenic views of lovely forests. The stars and supporting cast add to the picture's interest.

Chapter 6 of "Science" will also be shown.

University Courses By Correspondence Breaks Record

Nearly 2,000 Michigan citizens completed University of Michigan courses during the past year without ever visiting the campus, statistics of the Correspondence Study Department show.

A total of 1,842 persons enrolled for 2,296 courses by correspondence, receiving their lessons by mail from regular instructors in the University's Extension Division.

The University offers both college

Military personnel stationed throughout the world are taking advantage of correspondence work given by the University through the United States Armed Forces Institute. The University of Michigan ranks among the top 12 colleges of the country in its enrollment of military students.

Most popular high school and college credit courses last year were mathematics, English and history, while the most frequently requested non-credit courses were photography, insurance and journalism.

Latest Highlights From Hollywood

New short-subject now before the cameras at Warner Bros., "So You're Having a Nervous Breakdown," is very interesting, according to the best psychiatrists, a lot of people do.

The high cost of winter: snowy 4-acre setting for RKO's "It's a Wonderful Life" required 3,000 tons of shaved ice, 300 tons of gypsum, 20 tons of plaster and 6,000 gallons of chemicals!

Local film critics are in rhapsodies about the performance of Jane Wyman and Gregory Peck in MGM's "The Yearlings," and there's much talk of Academy awards for both.

Mary (her heart belongs to daddy) Martin has turned down Paramount's "Alice Sit by the Fire" to star on the London stage in Noel Coward's new operetta, "Scarlet Lady." Her last Hollywood film was "Night and Day."

Rumor of the week has it that Fred (he's now retired from the screen) Astaire is going to open a national chain of schools of dancing, in competition with Arthur (in a hurry) Murray!

For the sake of accuracy: It's 50 pounds sterling, not 50,000, that was inherited in Australia by Joan Winfield, the Warner Bros. player.

It says here that Broa Clifford, the super-handsome preacher just signed as an actor by MGM, will not allow acting to interfere with his career as an evangelist.

Simone Simon, reported enroute from Switzerland to Hollywood to resume her career, has been signed tracked in London and is doing a picture there.

Alexis Smith says her new car will be a dream—if it comes true. Mary Maclaren, a cinema celebrity when movies were silent, has completed a psychological novel titled "Tears on My Pillow."

Paul Henreid has a safety razor which sharpens itself on diamond dust!

Willie Swigart one of the country's leading jockeys, will play the lead in "The Race Rider," a two-reel technicolor short which will show the life of a jockey from the time he begins as an exercise boy until he becomes a handicap winner.

Harry Hoyt will direct the short for Warner Bros. Harry Davenport, now appearing in "Stallion Road," to a key role in "The Trial in Tom Melcher's Store," a short based on O. Henry's famous story of the same name.

"Fibbie" a 14-year-old Scotty which has been a constant companion of Bette Davis since the dog was a puppy, was run over and killed by an automobile recently. The dog, deaf and almost blind, was a familiar figure at Warner Bros. studio where she invariably accompanied her mistress.

Phoney Gas Man Reported in Farms

A man about 28-30 years of age, six feet, 150 pounds, sandy hair, blue eyes and wearing a blue suit with an air force pin on the lapel, gained entrance to a Farms' residence this past week claiming to be a representative of the Michigan Consolidated Gas company. The residents, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Scobie, 463 Allard, had their suspicions aroused after the "gas man" remained in the basement for what seemed to be an extremely long time. The "phoney" said that some mistake had been made in the meter reading, and that he was assigned to recheck the meter. However, a bona fide gas company representative showing proper credentials, called at the home several days later and said no such error had been reported.

A police investigation has been made.

Residents are cautioned to ask for proper identification of callers, and report immediately to the police any suspicious characters. This is the only way authorities can hope to combat the work of these "imposters" who learn the layout of the house and later force an entrance.

FOLLIES OF 1946 IN TECHNICOLOR COMESTO SHORES

One of the most important arrays of screen greats ever assembled will be seen in the 1946 screen version of Ziegfeld Follies* at the Shores theatre Sunday and Monday.

Filed in technicolor, the Follies of 1946 is acclaimed by many critics as the "best of them all." William Powell returns to his previous starring role as "Flo" Ziegfeld, but this time as a heavenly character.

Perhaps one of the greatest assembly of talent ever presented is then paraded in a variety of acts, songs and dances for a typical follies show.

Second feature on the program is "Out of the Depths," starring Jim Bannon and Rose Hunter. The bill is completed with a late newsreel and cartoon.

Development has been reported of a system of formulas by which a total of 1,000 tons, tints, and shades can be produced from six paints.

VETERAN NEWS
From the OFFICE OF VETERANS' AFFAIRS
LANSING
The solution to G.I. Joe's plight, and that of the whole home-hungry American people, according to Mrs. Samuel I. Roseman, Chairman, National Committee of Housing, is more rental housing.

Under present plans, only a small portion of the veterans' emergency housing is being built for rental purposes, and the bulk of it is to be sold to individual purchasers. This proportion should be reversed. True, the veteran will have to pay more rent today than he would for a comparable house built before the war, but he will not incur responsibilities that he may not be able to maintain, or tie himself down permanently to an unsatisfactory house. If he loses his job, he has to move to another city, or requires more space for a growing family, he will not be stuck with a house and mortgage. While renting, he will still retain for 10 years the privilege of buying a home under the G. I. Bill, and, later, when prices have become stabilized, he may do so without being victimized.

Sentimentalists and other people with special axes to grind will gain say this advice. Home-ownership in this country has always been surrounded with an aura of emotion. "Home is where the heart is" has been a motto for generations. A man should own his own little castle for the good of his soul and the sense of security it will give him. Only home-owners, we have been led to believe, can have real civic pride and a love of democracy. Under present-day conditions this is mostly sheer rot. There is no sense of security in being tied to an overgrown mortgage, and when one's little castle starts to crumble about one's ears because the contractor didn't use enough studding, nails, or cement there is nothing in the event to make a man a better citizen. On the contrary he's apt to become disgruntled and develop a peeve at the whole economic system.

Plans To Expand Scout Activities Mapped By Leaders
Plans to expand and further coordinate all Boy Scout activities in East Side Detroit and Grosse Pointe were mapped last Thursday evening when executive committee members and district commissioners met at the permanent Scout camp site near Brighton. C. F. Ogden, chairman of District No. 3, said the goals for the coming year are to make Scouting activities available to more boys, and to further the advancement of the boys in their scouting work. This program is partially supported by funds raised from the annual drive for adult sustaining members, which is usually staged in the winter or spring months. Before the business meeting, Thursday, the 30 Scout officials inspected the camp and visited with more than 300 boys there from all parts of the greater Detroit area.
