Officials Cite Show As "Best"

The 32nd Annual Flower Fruit and Vegetable Show will be held at the Neighborhood Club, 17145 Waterloo, on Saturday and Sunday, September 11 and 12.

Grosse Pointe and Eastern Michigan Horticultural Society, show sponsors, disclosed that they expected this year's show to be the best since it was first held 32 years ago.

General Chairman S. Davies announced that early reports indicate a record entry in the various competitions.

Special interest this year will be centered on the "Bronze Medal" offered through the Review to the best collection of vegetables grown in a home garden by an amateur.

Miss Marie Anderson, who has won the award in 1946 and again last year, disclosed that she will not enter the competition this year.

The two-day program will get underway formally Saturday at 8:00 p.m. with officials taking part in colorful opening day ceremonies.

Expected to draw many entries again this year are the six flower arrangement classes. Included in this group is the one open only to those exhibitors who have never won a ribbon in a flower show.

Officials said that the exhibition as in previous years will be divided into the following groups: Flower arrangements; home canning fruits; vegetables; and Junior Victory Gardeners.

All entries must be in place for judging 12 noon Saturday, and must remain in place until the end of the show.

Special exhibits will be arranged by local Camp Fire Girls. Awards will include Certificates of Culture and Merit issued by the show sponsors.

A selected group of judges will be named by show officials. Admission is free and everyone is cordially invited. The hours are from Saturday 4 p.m. to 10 p.m. and on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

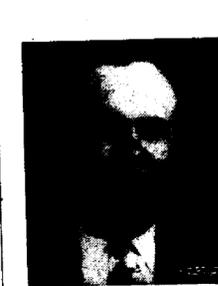

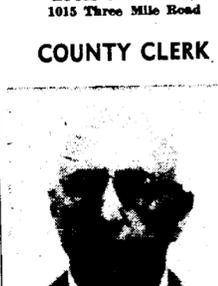

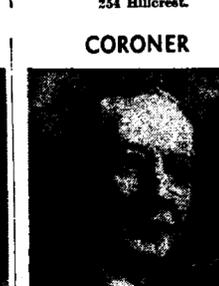

Locals Enjoy Safe Holiday

No fatalities or injuries as a result of heavy holiday traffic and a puddle of water on Jefferson near Rivard Blvd. His car struck and knocked down a street light pole and damaged a fire alarm box. He was issued a ticket for reckless driving.

He was issued a ticket and ordered to appear for a court trial. Recently Grosse Pointe Judge Leslie P. Young severely lectured a local youth, after revoking his license for one year and fining him $100 for a similar offense.

Again this season, the Grosse Pointe Review as a public service to the community will publish complete church announcements. Church secretaries are urged to get all copy to the Review office not later than Monday of each week.

Grosse Pointe's voting population, 24,500 strong, is prepared to go to the polls Tuesday, September 14 to cast their primary ballots in one of the most stirring presidential elections in history. The polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Eleven Grosse Pointe men (Six Republicans, five Democrats and one non-partisan.) will be among the large number of public figures seeking nomination to Governor, United States Senator, Congress, State, County and other official positions.

Those who are successful will continue their campaigns until the November 2 election along with presidential candidates Truman, Dewey and Wallace.

The local contingent is headed by G. Mennen Williams, of 254 Hillcrest who is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor.

Described as a liberal interested in public administration by friends, Williams resigned as a member of the State Liquor Commission to enter the race.

His opponents for the party support are Burnett, J. Abbot, of Albion; and Victor E. Bucknell, of Kalamazoo, who term the young attorney as a "Grosse Pointe Playboy."

Republican Kim Sigler, incumbent, is unopposed in the primary.

Two local men are among the 13 seeking this area's congressional position, which is part of the 14th District, one of the largest in the country.

Claude McDonald, of 407 Lincoln road, veteran businessman, hopes to gain the GOP nomination from Harold F. Youngblood, incumbent.

The second local man in quest of the 14th district seat is Democrat Louis C. Rabaut, of 1015 Three Mile road, realtor. He served in that capacity during a major part of the Roosevelt administration.

Drawing much interest in political row is Carl Schweikart, Grosse Pointe Township supervisor who is bidding for County Clerk on the Republican ticket.

Schweikart, who resides at 1033 Nottingham, and who is also Chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, will get potential opposition from veteran political figures, Albert E. Fry, and Archibald Leadbetter, both of Detroit, for the party vote.

F. A. Lingeman, of 529 Neff road, who is presently a member of the County Clerk's staff will seek to gain the democratic nod from County Clerk Edgar C. Branigan of Detroit.

Other locals seeking nomination are: Democrats: Dr. Albert A. Hughes, 1322 Nottingham, candidate for corner; Edmund Tropp, 850 Lakeshore, to State Representative, first district.

Republicans, William B. Drysdale, 829 Westchester, to State Senator, first district;

Henry T. Gage, 697 St. Clair, to return as State Representative, first district.

Veteran attorney George Bashara, of 711 Balfour, hopes to be elevated to Circuit Court judge to fill vacancy. He is non-partisan.

CITE TWO POINTERS
Carl Schweikart, Grosse Pointe Township Supervisor, candidate for Wayne County Clerk, and Henry T. Gage, seeking re-election as State Representative, first district were cited as preferred candidates by the Citizens League. Both are Republicans.

"Old Boy" Pulls Fast One On Kind Neighbors

Mrs. William Wisner, of 258 Hillcrest will think now before she befriends a stranger. Here's the story:

An elderly man knocked at her door and said that his car had broken down and that he had planned to visit the people next door who were not at home.

He said he needed five dollars to repair his car. The Wisners drove the visitor to the Beaupre-Pannon gas station on Mack where the stranger's car was supposedly parked.

The stranger entered the front door of station and disappeared. Farms police said apparently he skipped out a back door.

Mrs. Wisner described the visitor as 60 years of age, rather tall, wearing glasses, loafers and a Panama hat.

2nd Youthful Speeder Clipped

After a summer respite churches Pointe Farms and City. Police officers Motaf and Keller of City Police apprehended Lawrence J. Frear, 17, of 826 Lincoln road for reckless driving.

He was issued a ticket and ordered to appear for a court trial. Recently Grosse Pointe Judge Leslie P. Young severely lectured a local youth, after revoking his license for one year and fining him $100 for a similar offense.

6,300 Mark Opening Of Schools, College Set Prepares To Leave

Approximately 6,300 boys and girls were expected to return to public and parochial schools in Grosse Pointe this week. St. Paul and St. Ambrose spokesman, stated that more than 1,000 students began the fall term at their schools Wednesday morning.

The balance of the local school contingent were scheduled to resume studies this Thursday, morning, when all public school doors were to open.

Those enrolled at the Sacred Heart Convent will resume studies Wednesday, September 15. Detroit University School and Grosse Pointe Country Day, private academies, announced September 22 as "fall term opening day."

University of Michigan, Michigan State, University of Detroit, Wayne and other higher institutions of learning that will draw a large number from Grosse Pointe have announced September 20 as the initial day in the fall semester.

Meanwhile the local members of the college set are busy completing their wardrobes and packing for their return to their respective alma maters.

Some will travel east to attend Harvard, Yale and Colgate, Smith Wellesley while others will trek west to Wisconsin, Notre Dame, Purdue, and a few as far as Colorado and Arizona Universities.

Denison, Granville, Ohio, long a popular favorite will again draw a favorable number among the local freshmen.

When the affiliated Detroit University School and Grosse Pointe Country Day School open on September 22, they will have an enrollment of 583 students, 40 above last year's total, an increase made possible by a new wing completed this summer. Approximately 1980 square feet of schoolroom space have been added to the Country Day School Main Building in Grosse Pointe.

The increase in students is accompanied by a proportionate increase in teachers so that the advantages of present small classes will be preserved. Mr. E. P. Wright, President of the Board, explained that the addition will help partly to solve the problem of a steadily growing waiting list in the lower grades. Despite this engagement, however, there are indications that a new waiting list is developing.

"Give A Kid A Brake" Police Urge Motorists

School bells are ringing again! The Grosse Pointe Police Departments therefore urge that everybody—children and adults—review the rules of traffic safety.

"With vacation over, and children going back to school, drivers must be extra careful. But all of us must see that the children are as safe as possible on our streets. The Police of Grosse Pointe said today. "And when we say all of us, that's just what we mean. The safety of our children is a job for the whole community parents, the police, school officials, teachers and every club or organization that numbers motorists, parents or young people among its members."

The child safety campaign this month is part of a continuing traffic safety program coordinated in this city by the School and Police Departments, and sponsored nationally by the National Safety Council.

Back-to-school safety pointers by the Police listed are:

1. Motorists, give the kids a "brake" by using special caution in residential areas, school zones, and wherever you see them.
2. Parents, see that your children know the safest route to school—and that they know how to behave safely in traffic. And set them a good example.
3. Older boys and girls, watch out for the smaller children. They follow your example, you know—so give them a good one to follow.
4. Younger children, obey your traffic officers and school safety patrols. Keep out of the street except when you cross with the traffic signal, and always cross at the intersection, never in the middle of the block.

Realtor Denies Property Is Health Menace

"We have only the best interests of the Village at heart and will abide completely and specifically any ruling of the Council," assured W. Gordon Johnstone, of the Johnstone & Johnstone real estate business, who appeared before the Grosse Pointe Woods Council on September 14 because of a piece of property they own near Lake Shore Road and leased to Detroit for a dumping spot.

A complaint registered at a recent Council meeting by F. K. Reinstein, of 97 Lake Shore road, stated that it had become a health hazard and started action to have it stopped.

Mr. Johnstone, however, pointed out that the property was at least a 1/2 mile from any houses, five to six feet lower than either adjoining sides, and had been more or less of a stagnant marsh from the Milk River before he had it cleared out and drained for dumping site.

"It is a good thing for the village," said Mr. Johnstone, explaining that he had obtained a permit from the Council for this purpose so as to later reclaim it and use it for residential purposes when the refuse fills it up to the same level as the adjacent property.

"Its completely unusable land as it is now," he added, having stopped all proceedings recently as (Continued on Page 3)

WARNING TO PARENTS

Those same parents who bar their children from the beaches, theatres and public gathering places during "dog days" or polio season, are often guilty of violating another safeguard to their children's health.

We refer to the simple matter of failing to wash fruit before giving it to the youngster to eat.

And, we would like to point out some rather logical and pertinent facts concerning that fruit, as suggested by a constant reader of this newspaper.

In growing, all fruit is subject to the elements, such as dirt and dust, and is often sprayed with chemicals. Then, it is handled by the packer, the packer and then the shipper. Upon arrival at a produce terminal, it may be re-packed. Delivered to a store, it is handled by the clerk who displays it and the clerk who packages it for you to take home. Potentially, it may pass through some six sets of hands, in addition to exposure to dirt or dust and possible chemical sprays. No wonder it should be washed.

While it may be coincidence, the so-called "polio season" makes its debut each year along about the time that shipment of fruits starts coming into the city. But, by the same coincidence, the season for polio passes with the end of such shipment. There is no accredited medical foundation for this observation, but doctors cannot deny its logic or the sanitary feature.

Washing fresh fruits for children is a good precaution, which costs nothing and may protect your child's health.

MORE PROTECTION NEEDED

Since early this year, the Grosse Pointe Review has been straining the need of more fire protection in Grosse Pointe Woods.

We have been urging officials to drop the present combined police and fire system which relies a great deal on volunteers to fight village fires.

We urge the adoption of separate police and fire units with full time and thoroughly trained men to staff them.

Recently the Woods council took action to purchase a fire truck and other fire-fighting equipment. This is a step in the right direction but it is only a small one compared to the growing demands of the village.

Action should also be taken now to establish separate police and fire departments. The adequate protection these units would give, should not be ignored because of financial reasons.

Woods Leader Urges Approval of Bond Issue

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles based on interviews with Alois A. Ghesquiere, president of Grosse Pointe Woods, on the proposed Bond Issue of $81,000, for Grosse Pointe Woods, for the purchase of a new fire truck, improvement of the Municipal Building, Milk River drainage development, and permission to sell the Gratiot Township section of the Mack Site Park. This article will be devoted to the new fire truck purchase and the improvement of the Municipal Building.

"A new fire truck for Grosse Pointe Woods is badly needed," stated Woods President Alois A. Ghesquiere, who approves the reasons for the proposed Bond Issue of $81,000 in the October 4 special election, which will provide $20,000 for a new fire truck.

"Some of these days something will be just a little too big for us to cope with," said Ghesquiere. "Fire fighting is a strange thing, sometimes, and while some may say we haven't had much trouble for years that our one truck cannot handle properly, you never can tell when something terrible might happen. And we'd look rather silly if we didn't have enough equipment to do a decent job."

While all fire departments of the Grosse Pointe villages do cooperate by joining forces to fight a really large fire, President Ghesquiere does believe it is much better to be individually prepared, as well.

The new fire truck, if purchased, would be a combination pump and ladder truck similar to the truck already in use, only larger and possessing more capacity. And whether or not this would demand a regular fire chief and staff would depend on the decision of the Village Commission.

Pres. Ghesquiere, however, is in favor of retaining the practice now in use of having a combined police-fire department wherein the police chief and staff automatically become firemen whenever the alarm sounds, because a separate department would be too much of a financial burden. Should the new fire equipment be purchased, he is of the opinion that two men added to the force would be adequate.

The now inadequately protected community would have its new fire truck within six months following the adoption of the bond issue, Ghesquiere believes, with the enlargement of the fire house being completed while awaiting delivery of the truck.

The improvement of the Municipal building is, primarily, to furnish housing for both the new and old fire trucks, by building an addition to the present building, explained Ghesquiere.

"It will also, probably, have some additional police facilities that will relieve to some degree the congestion of the Municipal business office.

"These plans would serve to relieve some of the congestion of the one-room Clerk's office," he added, "where four girls are now working to help the increasing business caused by the steadily growing community of 5,000 villagers."

A similar proposal for $40,000 to finance a larger village building was voted down last March, but did not include the purchase of a new fire truck. The rejected proposal was involved in the proposed sale of the Mack Park site to erect a new Municipal Building, which met with strong opposition because of the fear of curbing the village's wide recreation program.

The sale of the Gratiot Township section of the Mack Park site will be discussed in the next article.

 a suggestion of the Council, "and the same thing has been done before to all the surrounding area."
 Mr. Johnstone, who considers the whole situation a matter of "someone making a mountain out of a mole hill," had been rather surprised at all the recent publicity given to the subject without anyone so much as having consulted him about it other than the Review.
 The Council plans to investigate the property with health officials before taking final action. Hillcrest will think now before she who were not at home.
 "After all, it will only take three or four months to refill the hole and it will look quite nice when its completed, ready for development into a residential district," he said. "It will be just as good as any other land in Grosse Pointe, and that was all filled in the same way."

The bride's white taffeta gown was fashioned with ruffles at the shoulder and hipline. She carried a white orchid and stephanotis on her white prayer book.

Mrs. Robert McCreery, cousin of the bride and formerly of Tucson, Arizona, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Barbara Clarke and Jeanne Pastoret, of Fargo, North Dakota. The flower girl, Diana Knowles, wore a yellow taffeta dress and carried a blue and white colonial bouquet. The other attendants were gowned in ice blue taffeta, fashioned after the same pattern as that of the bride, and wore matching halo hats of mohair. Yellow pompons and blue delphinium formed their shower bouquets.

WHITEBEE NARCESSUS

Narcessus like to grow among the roots of other plants. For this reason they flourish excellently tucked in among perennials in the garden, or at the base of the shrubby border.

The first labor publication was The Mass, published in Ithica, N. Y. about 1822, by George Henry Adams. The paper advocated free homesteads, equal rights for women, and abolition of imprisonment for debt.

Localite Repeats Vows At Double-Ring Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Norman James Cummings Jr. (nee Zoe Margaret Woods) are on a honeymoon trip in Canada, following their candle-light double ring wedding service August 21 in St. Albans Church in Highland Park.

The Rev. Canon Chas. H. Hughes, assisted by the Rev. M. S. Kaugas of Ohio, read the service before an altar banked with white gladiol and candelabra. Mrs. Telfor White sang the wedding hymn "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Zoe Margaret is the only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Woods of Fraser, Mich., formerly of Highland Park. Norman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Cummings of Lakeshore Ave., Grosse Pointe.

The bride, escorted by her father, added an old fashioned motif by wearing her mother's hooped wedding dress of ivory satin trimmed with heirloom lace and long net sleeves pointed over her hands. The cap of her illusion veil was made of the same lace and for something old, she carried her grandmother's tiny silver flower holder in which was a colonial bouquet of tallman roses.

All four bride attendants were gowned alike in pale green dotted swiss, made with long full skirts and wide ribbon sashes. Their floral bouquets matched their colonial bouquets of pastel baby mums.

Mrs. Donald H. Paulson, of East Lansing was the Matron of honor and Mrs. Don Shankwiler Jr. of Alma, Mich., was the bridesmaid. Nine year old Sandra Lee Cummings, sister of the groom, was a junior bridesmaid and four year old Margaret Ann Kress of Lansing was flower girl carrying a white net parasol filled with yellow petals which she scattered before the bride.

FEED YOUR PLANTS

Modern plant foods are quick acting, and are available to plants before the weather warms up. In the best time to feed perennials is in the early spring, annuals when they are sown. Well fed in the beginning, plants will soon become sturdy enough to forage more effectively for themselves.

Stand Up and Take It Easy

...easier you take the job of watering the better it is for your plants. A lazy gardener will wait until the weeds grow enough to see; it is so much easier to kill them in the sprout stage by stirring the soil before they come to the surface.

For the asparagus bed, roots should be obtained and placed in a location which need not be disturbed during the life of the garden, since a good asparagus bed will last several decades. Deep, rich soil is required and the plants should be given ample room, with three feet each way between hills. Dig a hole a foot deep, spread the roots out and set the crown of the plant six inches below the surface.

Rhubarb is another long-lived plant. Six plants will suffice for the average family and they should be placed where they will not be disturbed, perhaps near the asparagus in a garden screen or border.

The hardest winter onion is the red perennial, sometimes called the Egyptian. This is one of the onions which instead of bearing seeds, produces at the top of the seed stalk a bunch of onion sets. These sets should be obtained and planted this fall, a foot apart in the row, in rows two feet apart; though few families will need more than one row.

This onion never produces a round bulb, but in the spring as soon as the ground thaws, it begins to grow stalks like green onions. Part of each clump may be pulled up and used, and with this annual thinning, and ordinary cultivation, the plants will live indefinitely. The flavor of the stalks is mild in the early spring, but becomes stronger later.

Where winters are mild, some of the potato or multiplier onions may be planted in the fall, and they will produce clumps of green stalks in the early spring. These must be set out each year as the entire plant is harvested. In the colder states these onions will not survive without a heavy mulch, and in some winters even this will not protect them.

WHAT'S A DIBBER?
A dibber is a good tool for bulb planting provided you learn the knack of giving it a swing twist to make the bottom of the hole round so the bulbs will not be "hung" with air space under them. You will get it with a little practice.

Fine for Developing correct Posture
Disturb the roots which lie close to the surface, for these are the oldest roots and continue to do an important part in nourishing the plant, even when it grows large. And cultivate just deep enough — an inch or so — to break the soil crust and uproot the tiny white sprouts of weeds, which are just beginning to grow.

In normal times you might choose your cultivators from a great variety; some gardeners prefer to use some cultivators from a golfers clubs. Nowadays, however, what you can get, and it is good to know that the old-fashioned glo-neck hoe is a most satisfactory tool for all cultivator tasks.

Annual poppies should be sown where they are to grow, and their seed may be broadcast whenever the soil can be loosened an inch or so deep with a rake. They stand freezing weather without injury.

Spraying to protect your garden should begin before insect or fungus damage is apparent. After the damage is done, it is too late. You can count on the same enemies that attacked the garden last year.

Perennial flower seed should be included in the spring seed order and sown when the weather is cool and the soil moist. Germination is then much better and the seedling plants have a long season of favorable conditions for growth before being transplanted to the border in the fall.

Only the tips of stems on New Zealand spinach should be cut for use. New tips will grow, so that a few plants will supply the average family with greens all summer long.

Flowers of the Inca — It is claimed by some authorities that Tithonia (T. speciosa) the tall flowering annual so popular in our gardens today, was the "Golden Flower of the Incas." Fall Planting Best for Your Perennial Crop

Perennial vegetables such as asparagus, rhubarb and hardy onions are better planted this fall than next spring. Asparagus and rhubarb will be ready to harvest a full year sooner while the onions will produce a harvest next spring.

For the asparagus bed, roots should be obtained and placed in a location which need not be disturbed during the life of the garden, since a good asparagus bed will last several decades. Deep, rich soil is required and the plants should be given ample room, with three feet each way between hills. FADS — FACTS — FANCIES

NOTE:—Reprinted once again by popular request from Special Garden Section of Grosse Pointe Review in September, last year.

By TOM PEARSON
John Bartram, Botanist, was born on a farm at Derby, Pa., in 1699, of Quaker parentage; interested in plants at an early age he became a self taught botanist. In 1728 he founded the first Botanical Gardens in America which still exist, and is now one of the city parks in Philadelphia. His collecting expeditions ranged from Lake Erie in the north to Florida in the south. Bartram will perhaps be remembered best for his introduction of the shrub Franklinia Alatamaha (named for his friend Benjamin Franklin) which he found in Georgia. But, strange to say, that never before, or since, has this shrub been found growing native.

Sweet Scented Geraniums. There is a strong fad just now in collecting these plants the original forms of which came from the Cape Good Hope, South Africa, in 1795 to England. Since that time hybridists have worked upon them crossing the various types and producing many new scents; and so today we have several varieties of rose also lime, lemon, orange, apricot, nutmeg, apple, gooseberry mint, pine camphor, and a host of others.

Skyscraper Terrace Gardens. The famous Hanging Gardens of Babylon had nothing on the ninth floor RCA Building, Rockefeller Center in New York City. A year ago, an interesting ceremony took place in these gardens when two English Holly trees were planted to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the New York Botanical Gardens and in memory of its predecessor—the old Elgin Gardens (Established 1807) which were located where the Rockefeller Center now stands. On the eleventh floor of this building are the "Gardens of the Nations."

Flower of the Inca — It is claimed by some authorities that Tithonia (T. speciosa) the tall flowering annual so popular in our gardens today, was the "Golden Flower of the Incas." Others claim the single flowered sunflower, but whichever it was, a similar classic flower is depicted in their temple carvings. The Incas were great lovers of flowers and made extensive use of them in their ceremonial gatherings.

Potatoes and Tomatoes — Origin of these two important garden vegetables is somewhat vague but both are native to Central and tropical parts of America. White potatoes are mentioned in "Cronica de Peru," published in 1533, and that they were first found under cultivation near Quinto. About 1655, Sir Francis Drake introduced tubers to Cork, Ireland; hence the name "Irish Potatoes."

BOOKS ON GARDENING

The following books are recommended to the novice and professional gardener and others interested in the soil and in growing things.

"Grow Your Own Vegetables" by Paul Dempsey.
Tells what vegetables are best. Books on Gardening — Bodoni Box and why. How to get the most out of your soil by using the proper fertilizers. Suggestions on combining flowers with vegetables, and a wealth of other material.

"1,001 Garden Questions Answered" by Alfreda C. Hottes.
An outstanding source of general garden information, by a popular author, written in a simple, pleasing style. Touches on all phases of gardening and gives the answer to every question.

Herbs: How to Grow Them and Use Them" by Helen Noyes Webster.
Many excellent books have been written on this subject, but none more practical or useful than this inexpensive volume. In it periods and design are ably discussed and the many uses of herbs. Fine lists of material is given under families and genera.

"Flowerman's Folly" by Edward H. Faulkner.
Written for the farmer, but of interest to all who are close to the soil. First published in 1943, it has been widely read, arousing much discussion due to revolutionary ideas expressed on plowing and general methods of cultivation.

"Gardening in the Shade" by H. K. Morse.
A most timely book dealing with the problem of growing things in the shade. The author tells what subjects are best, and gives a list of more than 500 varieties of shrubs, perennial and annual plants suitable to such conditions.

Tomatoes. discovered by Spaniards on their expeditions. were introduced to Europe in 1544. About 1596 they found their way to England and were named "Love Apple." At first thought to be poisonous, they were grown only for ornaments and curiosity, and it was not until 1724 their food value was appreciated.

John Chapman Orchardist. This name perhaps means little or nothing to the average reader, but Chapman, born 1775, did a great deal to create interest in orchards and early American apple varieties, for he was none other than the famous "Johnny Appleseed." He established a large orchard at Penns Landing in Pennsylvania, and often gave away young trees to pioneer families moving further west. In 40 years of wandering, principally through the Ohio river valley into Indiana and Illinois, he distributed large quantities of apple seeds and helped start new orchards.

Three Bitter Herbs. The bitterest of all herbs is Wormwood (Artemisia Absinthium) mentioned in the Bible and in the plays of Shakespeare. This is a tall growing gray foliaged perennial. The leaves of which are used in Absinthe and Cordial. Coming next in bitterness is Rue (Ruta graveolens) also mentioned in the Scriptures; an attractive plant with blue-green foliage, and one of many virtues. Running close to these is Tansy, variety Crispum (Tanacetum vulgare). Tansy leaves were used in a pudding eaten at Eastertide; and in addition, the curly fern-like foliage of v. Crispum is splendid in bouquets.

They Too, Rolled Their. Never was the world so tobacco conscious than as at the present time (A.D. 1948) the days when we have got back to "Rolling Our Own." The earliest recorded use of tobacco (Nicotiana Tabacum) takes us back a long way, to 1492 when Columbus saw men in Cuba smoking rolled leaves of the plant; and to still earlier times when Indians cultivated and smoked it in long tubes at their tribal gatherings. Introduction of the cigarette as we know it is much nearer our time.

Gardens Under Glass. At Longwood near Kennel Square, Pa., on the famous estate of Pierre S. Du Pont, the conservatory known as Horticultural Hall and Greenhouses, covers an area nearly four and one-half acres. In the main section are two lawns, each 100x

Here's Why They Wither

So You'd Like To Have Nice Plants in Your Home—Here's How

Editor's Note: The following article on house plants is a paper on the subject by Grosse Pointe's own eminent horticulturalist, Vincent E. Depetris.

By V. E. DEPETRIS
Our interest in cultivated plants and the plant kingdom in general may be traced back to the very dawn of civilization.

To a very great extent this must be due to the utter dependency of all human life as well as all forms of animal on the soil on the existence of plants.

Perhaps few of us realize how dependent mankind is and has been upon plant life.

The food we eat, the clothes we wear are either directly or indirectly obtained or derived from growing plants. Likewise our furniture, the books we read as well as many medicines are obtained from growing plants. If we were to go back further into history we would discover that even the coal which to-day turns the wheels of industry was formed by plants many millions of years ago.

We can hardly consider our love for ornamental garden and house plants a new born fad. In reality its tradition and origin is interwoven with the history of the human race.

There is no substitute for a thriving plant beautifying some desired spot in the home.

The pity of it all is that although many of us love house plants we are more or less ignorant as to their selection and care.

When asked why house plants had declined in popularity in the last thirty years an eastern horticulturist replied jokingly that women who buy nearly all these plants have changed style of their clothing to such as irreducible minimum that the homes must be kept too hot and dry for even tropical plants to thrive.

Whether women's dress are indirectly responsible it is nevertheless true that many people do keep their homes too warm and too dry for their own good as well as for the good of the plants.

It is possible to enumerate many reasons why our present day house plant does not thrive as well as in grand-mother's day.

One of these reasons is of course hot and dry temperatures. Another is cooking gas. But one very great difference is the lack of daily interest and care of milady of 1948 as compared to 1890. The olden days women attended to their house plants as a daily routine. They loved to fuss with them and to watch them grow. Life moved at a slower tempo in those days and undoubtedly women had much more time to spend at home than the women of to-day. Nevertheless if a woman of to-day love house plants she will gladly spend a few minutes of her time with them every day and derive a great deal of enjoyment from it.

It must be borne in mind that plants confined to pots indoors are like a bird in a cage. They depend entirely upon you for food, water and care. Moreover one cannot give house plants an over-dosage of water one day and expect this to suffice for the entire week. Many people do this and then wonder why they have "Tuck" as they put it with plants. Common sense prescribes daily care for successful culture.

Let us first consider the selection of plants suitable for indoor use. Plants which may be expected to thrive for a reasonable length of time.

The plant most adapted for purpose is one which in its native habitat thrives in conditions and environment closely approaching the home dwelling.

The choice naturally narrows itself down to plants of tropical and semi-tropical origin.

Northern plants accustomed to a period of winter dormancy will not change their habits overnight and continue to grow during the winter even though they may be moved indoors.

Tropical and semi-tropical plants accustomed to almost constant activity through many years of evolution will tolerate the home environment provided certain conditions aside from the daily care are provided. These are namely

- (1) Light
- (2) Water
- (3) Humidity and Temperature
- (4) Air.

Light. Good light is absolutely essential to plant growth. If you will recall your biology or your botany studies you will remember the little green cells in the plant leaf called Chlorophyll. This substance transforms light into essential chemical compounds which combine with the water and plant food to promote growth of new plant tissues. If sufficient light is not available these Chloroplasts remain inactive resulting in a weakened plant which may soon die.

In providing light for your plants it is not necessary to have the direct rays of the sun beat down upon them.

Plenty of light without the direct rays of the sun will answer the requirements you should turn the plant every few days however so that all of the leaves will obtain this light regularly.

Water. Watering the plant properly is perhaps the most difficult task for the amateur.

Plants vary in their requirements for water according to the variety as well as the season. For this reason it is extremely hazardous to lay down a hard and fast rule for watering.

An excess of water is just as injurious as a deficiency. Over-watering will wash away much plant food and what is more harmful will shut off oxygen from the soil destroying beneficial bacteria and inducing the growth of harmful bacteria.

It hinders the natural process of plant growth by excluding air from the root system.

Lack of water causes most harm to the capillary roots located at the edge of the soil. It is through these capillary roots that plant foods are assimilated.

COSTS A LITTLE

While the nitrogen inoculation is not necessary for the production of good crops if the soil is fertile and well worked, it is a guaranteed good crop. If peas and beans have been grown in the soil in years past it is already inoculated with the bacteria, and the inoculation is less needed. In soil in which these crops have not been previously grown, it is an excellent idea to try it. A can of the culture costs only a few cents and the operation is simple, requiring no technical knowledge.

These Plant Food Don'ts Keep You Out of Trouble

Modern plant food which, properly used, is an invaluable and inexpensive aid to the amateur gardener, is sometimes misused through failure to observe simple precautions.

In contrast to the organic materials formerly relied upon, chemical plant foods are immediately available to plants whether the ground is cold or warm, which is a great advantage when vigorous early growth is sought.

This quick acting quality makes it important to avoid spreading plant food on green leaves which are wet or likely to become so while the plant food is still in contact.

It is also well not allow seeds, bulbs or the roots of plants to come into direct contact with plant food which has not been thoroughly mixed with soil in correct proportions.

Manufacturers ordinarily supply with each package complete instructions as to how it should be used. The first essential is to make an even distribution, otherwise, just as in the case of sowing seed, you will have an uneven and spotted growth. Next keep in mind that the excessive use of plant food should be avoided. It is wasteful and may result in at least temporary injury from overfeeding. Many have found their best results come from frequent feeding of small quantities. Here are a few points to keep in mind:

Never apply plant food when grass is wet.

Do not put the product on the leaves or stalks of flowers or vegetables, or in direct contact with seeds or the roots of plants.

Where water is available sprinkle the grass thoroughly after application is made.

If water is not available run the back of a rake, doormat, or something similar over the lawn to knock the plant food off the grass. This may also be done by sweeping with a broom.

This and That

Of the herbs which have survived in cooking, parsley is the most popular. Dill is next, Tarragon, which is the favorite flavoring for veal, is a tender perennial, but here is an annual form which gives much the same flavoring.

Ashes of wood, soft coal and lime are all valuable to keep heat clay soil, but it is best to let soft ash weather in a season to get rid of toxic substances.

Quick-grow, young vegetables are the best and only the home garden when they may be harvested as needed, can provide them.

All cucumbers will climb if they are permitted to do so. In a small vegetable plot, cucumbers, tomatoes, peas, beans and melons can be grown in the fence.

DDT kills all insects that injure potatoes, including the potato beetle, leaf miner, flea beetle and potato weevil.

Hardy Annual Vegetables Take Fall Planting

Most gardeners have had the experience of seeing vegetable plants come up in the spring in the old garden rows, before the soil has been spaded.

Seed which had failed to germinate the previous year and lay dormant over winter produced the plants. Varieties which commonly appear as volunteers, to use a farmer's term, are lettuce, spinach and, strange to say, New Zealand spinach; but any of the hardy vegetables which have seed with a hard crust may do it.

Seed of such vegetables may be sown in the fall in order to get a crop earlier than would be possible from spring sown seed. The hazards of this practice are greater, and precautions must be taken to guard against them. Seed is sown just before the ground freezes, since the idea is to have it lie dormant over winter and germinate in the spring.

A place should be chosen which is level and well drained, so that the seed shall not be washed out of the ground in heavy rains. The ideal place is an elevated bed, protected by a wooden curb. The seed should be sown as usual, covered with soil and when the ground has frozen a mulch should be placed over it to keep the frost in.

Spinach, which is a cold weather crop and has a short harvest season from spring-sown seed, will produce much earlier in the spring when sown in the fall.

Rites Held At Woods Church

Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church was the scene of a wedding ceremony Saturday which united Barbara Jane Brown, daughter of the A. L. Browns, of 74 Moran road, and William C. Meechan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Meechan, of 1552 Brya Drive.

The early September bride was attended by the groom's sister, Lorna Meechan who served as maid of honor, and six bridesmaids, Marguerite Krehbiel, of Cincinnati, Ohio; Catherine Olshaker, of Birmingham, Mich.; Mrs. Robert Yost, Jr., of Decatur, Ind.; and Patricia Chenoweth, of Detroit.

For her wedding, Barbara chose a gown of white faille with four-fifths skirt and a low neckline trimmed with a ruffle of rose point-lace. Her veil was also trimmed in a matching lace. She carried a cascade effect of tube roses and blushing bride roses.

The bride's attendants wore white mottie dresses with low necklines and bouffant skirts. They each carried a cascade of Corise Glad blossoms. Miss Meechan held a cascade of turquoise glads and ivy leaves.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride. After which the couple left for a short motor trip to Canada.

WHEN TO SOAK

Most vegetables will drop in the hot sun, even soon after a rain; and if they are upright and crisp the next morning they may not need water. But when they are wilted in the morning, soak the soil.

How to Start Seeds That Take Months to Germinate

Ability to grow slow germinating subjects set a gardener off as one of an advanced few; yet it is no more difficult than with quick germinating varieties.

It opens the way to acquire at a minimum cost plants of a large number of perennials not commonly grown, and of participating in the fascinating sport of growing seedling irises and peonies. Horticultural varieties of irises, peonies, and perennial phlox are not reproduced from seed, but by dividing the roots of named varieties. When these plants are grown from seed they do not reproduce the parents but are, in effect, new varieties, with the chance that one may be better than any other known of its color; and thus bring fame and profit to its grower. With both peonies and irises it takes three years to grow a flowering plant from seed; but thousands of amateurs find it a fascinating pastime.

Many lilies may also be grown from seed, under treatment similar to that advised for slow germinating subjects. They may be sown at any time, and the period of germination will vary greatly. Gladiolus seeds also may be given the same treatment, but it is usually sufficient to sow them in the spring. Instead of a flat or pan a seed bed may be used for them, provided it can be watered. Some perennials prefer to be frozen before they germinate. A method by which time may be saved is as follows: Take an ice tray from an electric refrigerator and fill it half full of water. Flat the seeds on the water and freeze it in the refrigerator. When frozen fill up the rest of the tray and freeze. The seeds will then be encased in ice and may be kept there several days, and planted when thawed out. Good results with this method have been reported on seeds of all bearded iris, trollius dictamnus, perennial phlox, all subjects which otherwise prefer to be sown in the fall and left outdoors over winter before they will grow.

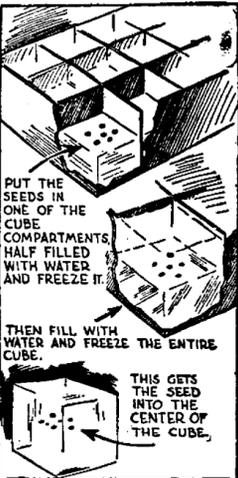

With other slow germinating subjects taking 30 days to a year to start, use the following method: Fill a flat or the shallow pot which florists call a pan, with potting soil, firm the soil and broadcast the seed covering them four or five times their diameter. Place the receptacle in a shaded location where there is free circulation of air. During spring, summer & fall water often enough to prevent drying out. A mulch of peat moss will help retain moisture. In winter place in a protect place outdoors and cover with leaves. A place under the eaves of the house on the side away from the prevailing wind is good; or a cold frame may be used. Eventually the seeds will sprout and the seedlings will appear. They should be transplanted when they make true leaves to large flower pots, nursery rows or permanent location.

Experienced gardeners seldom discard a pan or flat in which slow germinating subjects have been sown until at least a year has been given for the seedlings to appear.

When moss appears on the surface of the soil in pots and pans, sprinkle fresh earth over it.

EAT 'EM RAW

One expert says garden crops which are eaten raw should not be harvested more than ten minutes before using; others not more than half an hour. Try to come as near to this as possible.

PUT THE SEEDS IN ONE OF THE CUBE COMPARTMENTS HALF FILLED WITH WATER AND FREEZE IT.

THEN FILL WITH WATER AND FREEZE THE ENTIRE CUBE.

THIS GETS THE SEED INTO THE CENTER OF THE CUBE.

Newlyweds To Reside In St. Louis

Beautiful blush pink satin was worn by Joan Elaine Bauman, of Merrivether Rd., when she became the bride last Saturday of Ernest W. Baker, Jr., of Higgensville, Mo., in Christ Lutheran Church.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Bauman was wed to the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Baker in an evening ceremony.

The bride's gown was trimmed with bugle beading gathered up into a small rolled bertha, fashioned with a polonaise drape and cathedral train. A gathered illusion and satin beaded crown held in place her matching pink fingertip veil of illusion. She carried her prayer-book topped with white orchid.

A cherry begaline off-the-shoulder gown was worn by the maid of honor, Barbara Jean Bauman, with matching headpiece, which was also worn by the bridesmaids, Elizabeth Strobel, Charlotte Morton, Annette Davis, and Louanne Weinberg, to match their identical gowns of coral. All girls carried nosegays.

FIRST TO BLOOM

The quickest annual flower to bloom is leptosyne stilmanni, which will bear flowers in five weeks from seed. The plant grows eighteen inches tall and the flowers are yellow daisies, borne for a long season.

Christmas Flowers Can Be Sown in Window Garden

Christmas flowers for the modern home is not easy, but can be done if Paper White bulbs are started Nov. 1, in carefully regulated temperatures. Without such care, they are likely to be in the stems weak, because bulbs have not matured to the degree most favorable for flowering.

The florist's word is that a plant flower out of the formula for sowing this is much the same. Bulbs develop, even where they are ready to be planted then, they first produce roots, since top without good roots is seldom flowers.

White narcissus, planted in a bowl with gravel or peat, should be kept in a temperature below 60 degrees for four weeks, preferably in dim light. Root growth is sufficient, growth will begin, and then should have all the light possible. Best flowers will result if the temperature never exceeds 60 degrees; keep them away from radiators and steam pipes, but of overheated living.

Late Sown Flowers Bloom Fast

Marigolds Grown at the End of a Vegetable Row

If flowers have not been sown in your garden, it is not too late. Quick action can be obtained from an attractive list of annuals, which will germinate (in warm weather) in five days and flower in 30 to 40 more. Here are some you might try.

Zinnias, ageratum, alyssum, candytuft, centaurea, clarkia, cynglossum, annual sunflowers, morning glories, annual pinks, linnaria, marigolds, poppies.

Such a list might be very much enlarged by including varieties which will germinate in a week or ten days. But it would be interesting to see what sort of garden could be made of just a few flower families, seeking interest by using different colors and types.

Take zinnias for example—they could hardly be omitted from a garden of annuals. There are the small-flowered singles, the small lilliput doubles, the intermediate or "pumila" type and the giant flowered varieties. They give an abundance of pink, red, orange and yellow varieties with a few lavenders. A whole border might be planted mostly to zinnias, provided one used enough ageratum and cynglossum to introduce the needed blue tones.

Late planted zinnias are best sown where they are to remain to avoid the check of transplanting. Plant three or four seeds to a hill, hills 2½ feet apart for the large flowering types and 18 inches for the dwarf sorts, then thin to a single plant. They will make rapid growth, especially if encouraged with a complete plant food.

Apply a teaspoonful of plant food around each plant after buds appear. Stir it into the soil, taking care not to allow it to touch stems or foliage. If it should get on the foliage, brush or wash off. Modern marigolds have been greatly improved by plant breeders and while they do not offer the range of color found in zinnias, they have a remarkable variety of sizes and forms. Among the giant flowered types are some which resemble carnations, others chrysanthemums, and still others have blossoms formed like dahlias.

When top growth begins, these bulbs must have all the light you can give them. They should be kept near windows, in a sunparlor or room where ventilation can be given and temperatures kept down.

By arranging shelves in front of a window on which the plants can stand, an attractive display is made.

Lily of the Valley pips, which can be flowered in bowls of moss and water, are again available in extremely limited quantities.

PLANT IN FALL

Perennial vegetables such as asparagus, rhubarb and hardy onions are better planted this fall than next spring. Asparagus and rhubarb will be ready to harvest a full year sooner.

Save Tools By Checking Winter Rust

Garden tools are precious in this inflation era. Wise gardeners will take care of those they have, knowing that to replace them will cost far more than in prewar days.

Since the greatest deterioration comes when tools are idle, careful cleaning this fall and dry storage over winter are necessary precautions.

The greatest enemy of tools is rust. This attacks the metal parts during the winter when the tools are in storage and does more damage than in the summer, when they are in constant use.

To check the rust, first clean all outside metal parts by washing thoroughly. Caked mud should be softened and removed. Then dry, and cover the metal with a thin film of lubricating grease, or oil. All bearings of wheel tools should be oiled. It is possible to obtain new handles where the old ones have broken, and these should be set in place this fall.

Spraying and dusting equipment should be cleaned thoroughly of all old spray materials. Take the nozzles of sprayers apart and clean. Oil the pumps of sprayers, and set them away without screwing down the tank caps, so that the rubber gaskets are not compressed. Dusters should be cleaned and the outside metal parts oiled, but instead of oil, powdered graphite should be used on the inside.

Make a resolution when your tools have been cleaned, to keep them clean in the future. This will prolong their lives, and make a substantial saving.

Baha's Return From School

Baha's from Grosse Pointe returned from a special Labor Day weekend at the Baha' School near Davison, Michigan. Baha's and friends from many states who had attended this school in the past, arrived to participate in the special weekend activities planned to close the Baha' school for the summer. Wire recording of talks and lectures, and teaching conferences for fall work formed the main body of the program, with a play written by a former Canadian Baha' who now lives in Haifa, Palestine. In line with the many recent requests for information on the Baha' Plan for World Security, this gathering planned ways and means of reaching those who are sincerely seeking for the key to world and individual security.

In other Baha' schools at Green Acre, Maine, Geyersville, California and Toronto, Canada, similar conferences were held to summarize the summer's work and to outline teaching work for the fall and winter.

O'Brien Seeks Re-Election

Gerald K. O'Brien, who served as Wayne County Prosecuting Attorney in 1945-46, is a candidate, on the Democratic ticket, for reelection to that office.

O'Brien, an attorney for 25 years, during which time he served as Deputy Attorney General of Michigan for two years, as an assistant prosecutor for six years, and then Prosecuting Attorney, is eminently well qualified for reelection as Prosecuting Attorney.

Gerald, son of the illustrious Judge Patrick H. O'Brien, dean of Michigan Democrats, has a rich heritage in the Democratic party and an outstanding record in the offices he has filled, of a liberal and humane attitude and an unblemished record of fair play and justice towards all people.

O'Brien served in the United States Navy in the First World War, and later completed his law studies at the University of Michigan. He is married and the father of three children.

In 1945 and 1946, when O'Brien was Prosecuting Attorney, he estimated a notable Crime Commission to study the causes of crime. This action was highly commended. Trained and qualified assistant prosecutors, when O'Brien was Prosecutor, were assigned to handle the problems of juveniles and juvenile delinquency. The results obtained won universal praise. Unfortunately, this work was not continued after O'Brien's term of office. O'Brien established a Civil Liberties Division in the Prosecutor's Office, and the work of that division won national recognition.

For the foregoing accomplishments, and many more, countless numbers of people are rallying to the support of Gerald K. O'Brien for Prosecuting Attorney of Wayne County, on the Democratic ticket, at the Primary election on September 14th.

GREENS TIPS

Spinach and leaf lettuce for the first spring crop may be planted in the fall to advantage. Prepare the bed and scatter the seed in the rows as late as possible before the soil freezes, so it will sprout during the first spring thaws.

FOR ASPARAGUS

Asparagus beds started from seed will begin producing well almost as soon as a bed started from roots. A bed in rich, deep soil will last a lifetime.

40 feet with flower borders surrounding them. Other sections are devoted to Peaches, Nectarines, Grapes and tropical fruits and a house of 3,000 rose plants. Gardens outdoors include Maze, Water, Perennial and Boxwood, and in the latter are many fine specimens, one measuring 28 feet across. John Marx is superintendent of the estate.

King Tut's Peas—Some years ago back in 1936, when excavations were being made at the tomb of King Tutankhamen, among the precious jewels and many other things that were unearthed were peas which had been stored away for nearly three thousand years. It is on record that later some of the peas were sown and actually germinated.

Editor's Note: According to taste, above can be digested with the proverbial "grain of salt."

Leaves for Sentiment—The Puritans often used pressed leaves for markers in their Bibles and Psalm Books. The leaf most commonly used for that purpose was the herb Costmary (Chrysanthemum Balsamita) now frequently called Bible Leaf. Even today many persons like to pick a leaf on some flower from a favorite garden spot, for memory's sake. But the one plant throughout the ages associated with the custom is Rosemary (Rosmarinus officinalis) the "That's for Remembrance" of Shakespeare.

"Mums," Ancient and Royal—The first Chrysanthemum (Chusan Daisy) is native to China. Later grown in Japan where it is recorded as far back as 1186, being adopted the royal flower, it appears on carvings, woven into tapestry, and forms the crest and seal of the Mikado. Robert Fortune (R. H. S.—London) went to China in 1843 and to Japan some years later, bringing back original species and many varieties, later worked by hybridists the world over.

In Michigan, the late Elmer D. Smith, Adrian, and Vincent R. De Petris of Grosse Pointe have done much in the hybridizing field, presenting us with many outstanding varieties.

End Piece—In many ways those old days were the golden days in the history of gardening.

The time of great plant discoveries, when botanist and plant hunter conquering almost unsurmountable difficulties, brought back from across the seven seas their "novelties" in seeds and plants which really are the backbone of our gardens.

It is to these pioneers, and the untold numbers more, who followed in the years between, to the hybridists, garden writer, landscape architect, nurseryman and trained gardener we owe a debt of gratitude for the beauty and charm of our garden today.

HOW TO HOE

Cultivate after every rain, when the soil has dried out enough to crumble. Begin cultivating as soon as your crops appear above the surface, and there is no reason why a weed should ever grow in your garden which requires to be pulled by hand. Except of course in the vegetable row itself. Here, a few hours' work on your knees, pulling up the weeds, usually when you are thinning out the crop, will usually clean up the rows for the entire season.

DIG ON PAPER

Digging up trees and shrubs on paper costs nothing and cuts down losses when the real planting starts.

Lawn and Garden Hints

Sharpen up the tools. Digging time is upon us. A clean sharp hoe works twice as easily as a dull rusty one.

Give the big fruiting peppers plenty of room. Expert growers allow them two and a half feet in the row. Give them plenty of water. They are hot and thirsty.

Keep out of the bean patch when it is wet if you don't want rust.

Don't cut the asparagus too late if you expect an equally good crop next year. Give it a dress of plant food when you stop cutting.

Start seeds of all perennials as early as possible.

Park Attorney Is Candidate

George Bashara, who lives at 711 Balfour Road, with his wife and five children, is the outstanding candidate for Circuit Judge at the September 14th Primary Election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Judge James E. Chenot.

George Bashara is 47 years of age, a graduate of the University of Michigan Law School and has practiced law in Detroit for the past 25 years. He was born in Indiana, but has lived the major part of his life, since infancy, in Michigan.

George Bashara has been attorney for the Detroit Retail Grocers' Association for the past 18 years. He has been very active in fraternal, church and civic affairs.

Bashara has been twice nominated by the vote of the people for Circuit Judge. No other candidate can make that statement! Bashara further pointed out that the other candidates are the usual "name" candidates, seeking to ride into office on the name of other Judges now serving on the Bench. None of these other candidates for Circuit Judge ever have been elected to that office. GEORGE BASHARA'S NUMBER ON THE Non-Partisan Judiciary Ballot is 501!

GROUP SUPPORTS WOODS

Republican S. A. Wood, candidate for congress, 14th district, has been endorsed by the Southeastern Detroit Improvement Association. This group also supports Fred C. Castator, for the common council; and Miles N. Culchan for Circuit court judge. Both are non-partisans.

Madar Warns Of Depression

Warning that Detroit will receive the worst blow in the event of a depression, Arthur J. Madar, Republican candidate for Congress in the Fourteenth District, continued his attack on the "do nothing" policy of several city Congressmen today.

He charged that the inactivity on anti-inflation measures by several Detroit Congressmen was contributing to the "ever-mounting spiral of high costs, which is leading us to a terrific bust—one unequalled in the history of this country."

Madar said that Detroit, a major industrial area, will get the full brunt of a depression unless "Detroiters elect men to Congress who are determined to avert this crash; a crash that will equally affect workers, business and professional men."

"Now is the time for action," Madar said. "Congress men, and must, initiate firm measures to curb inflation—and they must do it now, before it is too late."

Madar, who is vice-president of the East Side Republican Club and the Michigan Republican War Veterans, declared that Congress should remove subsidies on basic food items, such as meat, eggs and bread, and abolish the practice of pegging prices on grains.

"Our tax dollars are being used to keep prices at their present high level," Madar said, "and the district's present Congressmen has not raised his little finger to introduce legislation which will remove these dangerous practices."

"We all remember the last depression," Madar said. "And when you go to the polls September 14th, I hope you will place in office the kind of men who will earnestly strive to return prices to a sensible level, and who will do everything in their power to stop a depression."

Madar is a World War II veteran, and holds appointments to the Detroit Area Rent Control Board and the President's Committee on Food Conservation. He has long been active in civic and community affairs, and has been a leader in state veterans' circles.

Tringali Bros. Open Modern Super Market

Practicing what housewives have believed in for generations that, "There is no substitute for quality," has certainly proved effective for the five Tringali brothers who are announcing the opening of another independent super market located at 23240 Mack near 9 Mile road in St. Clair Shores.

Their new, modernly equipped store features, standard brand items, and offers a full line of high grade meats, fish, poultry, and dairy products. It will also have farm fresh fruits, vegetables, and a special Winkler Bakery department where there will be fresh baked goods delivered daily.

Rounding out the departments of this mammoth market will be a complete line of beverages, cosmetics, and a fine selection of confectionary and tobacco goods.

Joe, the leader of the five Tringali brothers, is truly a dynamic personality, a pioneer of way back in super markets operations. He started, twenty years ago, as a truck driver for an eastern market company, and rapidly rose to the position of buyer for Jack Cinnamon's Giant Super Markets.

In this capacity he gained a wide knowledge of the business, and later, his four brother also became fellow-employees for the same market concern.

After years of this type of grooming, the brothers decided they were well qualified to start their own business. Today, each brother owns and personally directs a huge market of his own.

The new Shores Super Market is the largest of all five markets independently owned by the brothers. The other markets are located as follows:

Parkside Super Market, 12503 E. Warren, Springwells, Market, 3345 Greenfield Road, Black & White, 7434 Kercheval, and the Harper-Drexel Market, corner Harper at Drexel.

Youngblood Tracks Progress

Harold F. Youngblood, chairman of Michigan's 14th District, is spotlighting a staunch support of veterans' legislation by the 80th Congress. He has introduced 188 bills directly benefiting ex-G.I.s and their families. He has introduced legislation to make into law during the congressional session—many of which have been passed over protests of the Administration and all of them after Mr. Truman asserted in his message to Congress on January 12, "except for minor adjustments, I believe our program for veterans is now complete."

His continued reports to the major veterans legislative committee of the Veterans Administration who project that the proposed legislation is not in accord with the program, Youngblood is in favor of increased subsidies for student G.I.s; increased pay for on-the-job training; cashing of terminal benefits for enlisted personnel; pension for Spanish War veterans; and increased compensation for dependents of war dead.

Youngblood himself has served 7 years with the Division in an infantry unit and voted for veteran home loans and government home special automobiles for unemployed veterans. He has extended insurance for a second five-year period; allowed presumption of death for chronic and diseases applications for disability benefits; authorized a $1,000 allowance for each day spent in prison camps.

A list of other veterans legislation supported by Youngblood and enacted by the 80th Congress includes:

• Extension of the Women's Army Corps (WAC's) in the regular and appointment of women to the regular Navy and Marine Corps Reserves.

• Extension until February 3, 1949, of the time limit for applying for master pay from military services.

• Extension of medical care for military personnel who are injured or become disabled while engaged in military training.

• Extension of medical care for military personnel who are injured or become disabled as a result of military service.

• Extension of medical care for military personnel serving in the armed forces of the Philippines while on duty in the armed forces of the United States.

• Extension of $1,500,000 from the revolving fund for World War II veterans for vocational training.

• GOOD-WILL GESTURE
• Senator Kim Sigler has extended invitations to government officials of Canada to attend the Ninth Michigan State Fair Exposition on Canada Day, Sept. 12.

Support Pledged For Re-Election Of James McNally

The campaign for the re-election of James N. McNally as Wayne County's Prosecuting Attorney, reached full intensity in this final week before the Primary of September 14th, as many leading civic, church, and fraternal organizations renewed their support of his candidacy.

Mr. McNally, as candidate for a second term as Prosecuting Attorney, pledged a continuation of the efficient administration of the Prosecutor's Office.

"The 'open door' policy of courtesy and service to all who have dealings with the Prosecutor's Office will continue so long as I am in office," McNally stated.

The efficiency of Mr. McNally's work as Prosecutor has been shown not only by the high record of convictions in criminal cases but also in the greatly increased regard and respect for the Prosecutor's office by the public.

Among the outstanding achievements during the past two years of McNally's administration, as prosecutor, is the enviable record pertaining to so-called "labor" cases. The Prosecutor's policy of working closely and fairly with both labor and management has resulted in fewer cases involving labor difficulties than at any time since organized labor became a factor in Michigan industry.

McNally was called from his work as Justice of the Peace, in Grosse Pointe, by the Navy in 1941 and served overseas in the Pacific Theatre from June, 1944, to January, 1946, with distinction. Mr. McNally served as Justice of the Peace, in Grosse Pointe, for twelve years.

McNally is married and the father of six children, ranging in age from five to seventeen years of age, and resides in his own home on Nottingham.

Seeks Pensions At Lower Age

John Martin James, democratic candidate for congress, 14 district, stresses the need of old age pensions at a lower age. He stated:

"What the people want and should have is adequate old age pensions at a lower age. Under the normal conditions there will only be enough work for about half of the people, what is the other jobless half going to do, steal, beg or starve, or suicide. By retiring the oldsters, the younger generation would have a better opportunity to secure gainful employment."

Men's Club Aids Boys in Europe

Despite summer vacations the sponsorship of the Spengelhoff Annex for Boys at Freiman, a suburb of Munich, Germany has continued by the Men's Club of the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church.

The Annex has facilities for 85 boys ranging from 6-14 years of age. These are not problem boys. They are parentless, homeless, children, wandering, hungry and unclothed. The boys are taken in, revived spiritually, mentally, and physically under the guidance of the German Lutheran Evangelical Church, and then placed in supervised homes. The average stay in the orphanage is about six weeks. The Men's Club sponsorship consists of providing material for their physical welfare during the boys' stay at the Annex.

During the summer, over one and one-half tons of clothing was sorted, crated and shipped by the men. Some of the larger items included were: 943 pairs of socks, 120 men's overalls, 379 shirts, 88 boys' pants, 127 shorts, 68 pairs of shoes and endless of other articles. The men purchased the lumber and built the crates for shipping.

This work will continue indefinitely and, needless to say, helps greatly the children's attitude well being. This is like wise and added incentive to the hard working people to supervise and direct this work. The contributions from the club go directly to the Annex which is under the guidance of another Protestant Church organization.

Traffic Death Toll Climbs To Peak For Year

The traffic death toll of 133 persons in July established a new high for the year, but was one less than the 134 killed during the same month in 1947, according to the monthly statistical report of the Michigan State Police. The previous high was in June, when 119 died.

There were 10,719 accidents and 3,913 persons injured. Accidents increased eight per cent over July of a year ago and injuries were up 14 per cent.

McDonald Fights Cost Of Living

Claude G. McDonald, Republican candidate for 14th District Congressman, and nominee in 1942 and 1944, made the following statement regarding his views on the current inflation.

"We hear all sorts of plans to check inflation—price ceilings, rationing and government subsidy being just a few. These methods only aggravate the situation because they discourage production, thereby reducing the supply of consumer goods. Many people think high prices and inflation are the same thing. This is not so. High prices are the effect of inflation. The law of cause and effect is just as basic as the law of gravitation. Let's look at inflation as the cause and high prices as the effect. We all want lower prices.

I think we could take, for example of cause and effect, a broken leg. The effect of a broken leg is being unable to walk. The cause is a broken bone. To correct this condition the doctor would not prescribe a pair of crutches and tell us to walk. He would eliminate the cause by setting the bone and telling us to be careful not to break it again.

Now, the causes of high prices can be many, such as shortages of materials, finished products or, in the case of wages, a shortage of man power. On the other hand, we have an oversupply of currency in circulation. For instance, a normal supply of currency before the "New Deal" came into power was five billion dollars. Today, we have about thirty billion dollars in circulation. There you have the cause of high prices—an over supply of money and an under supply of consumer goods."

McDonald will speak on Station WXYZ on Friday, September 10 at 7:05 p.m.

Dr. Harold A. Horkins Qualified For Coroner

Dr. Harold A. Horkins, one of the best liked, qualified, and respected medical men in Wayne County is a candidate for coroner on the Republican ticket.

Dr. Horkins is 46 years of age, a graduate of the renowned Toronto University Medical School, and has practiced on Detroit's East Side for 19 years. He has long been associated with Dr. James G. Christopher, Chief Pathologist of Holy Cross Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, and St. Francis' Hospital; a work that particularly qualifies him for the duties of Coroner.

Urges Reforms For Clerk's Office

"I believe the employees of the County Clerk's office should be given a special course in courtesy for the benefit of attorneys and others who file legal papers, and the public in general who have business with this office," declared Carl Schweikart, Chairman of the Board of County Supervisors and candidate for County Clerk on the Republican ticket at the Primary, September 14th.

Carl Schweikart was born in Detroit 46 years ago, and was educated in Detroit schools. He has been a lawyer 22 years, Assistant Prosecutor of Wayne County for 5 years, Legal Advisor to the Liquor Control Commission, and is former Clerk of Grosse Pointe Township. He was unanimously elected Chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, a post he now holds, and is also Grosse Pointe Township Supervisor. He was recently appointed Chairman of Regional Draft Board No. 87 (East Side).

SOIL NEEDS AIR
The need for air in soil has been emphasized by experiments with so-called nutrient solutions, in which plants are grown without soil. Except in California, some device by which air can be supplied to the roots has been found necessary for healthy growth. A loose soil, composed of coarse particles, allows air to penetrate.

Award Adds Incentive To Local 11's

The Grosse Pointe Review in cooperation with coaches of Grosse Pointe eleven will name a "Pointe Gridder of the Week" each week throughout the local football season.

Gridders playing on Grosse Pointe High School, St. Paul, St. Ambrose, Detroit University School and local entries in the CYO league will be eligible for the award.

Each player named will receive a pair of tickets for a stellar professional or college football game. In addition he will receive a picture of himself in action autographed by a member of the Detroit Lions.

Plans will also be completed at the end of the season to have all the "Pointe Stars" and their coaches attend a grid contest as guests of the Review.

Performance, sportsmanship and leadership will be the determining factors in the selection of the "Star."

This announcement is expected to be an added incentive to the hundreds of local boys who answered first practice call at the three local high schools Monday.

Detroit University School will begin practice next week.

HORSE SHOE TOURNAMENT

Lions To Permit Fans To Keep Game Footballs

Those 16 dozen new footballs possessed by the Detroit Lions for the 1948 National Football League season have come into new meaning for spectators attending home games here in Briggs Stadium.

Tearing a leaf from baseball, the Lions will permit retrieving fans to keep any GAME football kicked into the stands.

Furthermore, Lion players will autograph any possessed football upon presentation to the team's front office in the Hotel Tuller building.

In making this announcement, the Lion front office again notes that the bargain stems only from GAME footballs and not those flying into the stands during PRE-GAME extra-point or field goal practices.

The Lions adopted this measure fully mindful that NFL games commonly are high-scoring affairs which result in several balls kicked over the goal-posts and into the stands. New footballs retail at about $18.00 each.

"Duel in the Sun" Comes To Shores Sunday

The torrid stag-packed technicolor romance "Duel in the Sun" comes to the Shores Theatre, Mack at Nine-Mile Road, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday on a fine double-feature bill.

Co-Starring Gregory Peck, Jennifer Jones and Joseph Cotton, with a fine supporting cast, "Duel in the Sun" is one of the most talked about pictures of the year. On the same program are Jackie Cooper and Jackie Coogan in "French Leave." A Disney Cartoon and late newsreel complete the program.

Coming attractions at the Shores are "River Lady," "Berlin Express" and Red Skelton's new hit, "The Fuller Brush Man."

Shown for the last time tonight (Thursday, Sept. 9) is the screen version of the smash stage hit, "I Remember Mama," starring Irene Dunn.

Al Mann Captures
Speedy Al Mann captured the Neighborhood Club Paddle Tennis championship last week when he defeated Bob Stritzinger, 1917 titlist.
However, Bob came back to wrest top honors in the doubles with Paddy Haas, they setback Mann and his partner Bill Winkler.

Wins Title On Forfeit

The Neighborhood Softball League title playoffs had dismal conclusion last week when DeFours was awarded the championship on a forfeit over Surface Grinding.

With each club holding one win in a best of three games title series, Surface failed to appear for the deciding contest.

Bill DuRocher, Neighborhood Club coach, could give no reason for Surface's action.

Both of the playoff games were closely contested. Surface won the first 2 to 1, and dropped the second 5 to 2.

KNOW YOUR OWN
The hardest winter onion red perennial, sometimes the Egyptian. This produces the top of the onion stalk of onion sets. These are planted this fall a foot or two in the row, in rows two feet apart. As the ground thaws in spring grows stalks like green. Part of each clump may be used and used, and with thinning, and ordinary cutting the plants will live indefinitely.
