Flannigan stated that about 25 boys from this area are on probation now as a result of past misdemeanors. He indicated that an equal number would be placed under surveilance by the time the recent window-breaking case, now in the hands of Judge D.J. Healy of Probate Court, is cleared up.

A short time ago a score of damage in this area appeared with their parents before Judge Healy.

After hearing the testimony of all concerned the judical official named three parents to a committee with Officer Flannagin and Dt. Sgt. Elmer Labadie, of Farms Police, and Thomas R. CITE WOODS VOTERS

Early this year, the Grosse Pointe Review began a former members of the 1917 to series of editorials and articles stressing the need of more 1925 athletic teams, presented Perare protection in rapidly growing Grosse Pointe Woods. At first some labeled us as alarmists for heralding the impending danger the village faced daily with an inadequate fire department.

However, as the officials and residents read and studied High student and cheer leader, in the issue, they became more aware of the situation, that the time had come for action to be taken.

They took this action Monday when they accepted at the polls the proposal to appropriate $20,000 to purchase new fire equipment.

This action definitely proves that once the people are told the facts they will accept the situation and effect the right decision.

Bride Chooses Satin Gown For Wedding

A beautiful autumh honey-moon in Northern Michigan is being enjoyed by the Leonard Francis Klida's following their exchange of nuptial vows last Saturday in St. Margaret Mary Church at 11 a. m.

Present at the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Strele. of Bishop Road, parents of the bride, and the Joseph Klida's of Chalmers Avenue, the groom's parents. Mrs. Strele appeared in formal royal blue crepe, while Mrs. Klida was gowned in formal taupe satin with ice blue accessories.

Eleanor's bridel gown was of dragon satin styled in redingote with accordion pleated skirt and court train. Her rubrum lilies and stephanotis were held in a muff.

As maid of honor, Marlonette Pine was attired in green changeable taffets of ankle length, with matching bonnet, and contrasting harmoniously with the brides-maids gowns of bronze taffeta worn by Euphrasia Hagermoser, Elaine and Gloria Wujek, Louise Caratta, Maria LeGendrie, of Bay City, and Marion Vincent, of Grand Haven. All attendants carried prayerbooks.

Kenneth Klida was his brother's best man, while serving as ushers were Robert Klida, Charles Clevania, Michael MacDiddie, Henry LeGendrie, Frank Zamboni, Robert Vincent, of Grand Haven, and Stanley Stugay, of Jackson.

A reception for the guests was held later in the St. Clair Shores Civic Center.

The matrimonial vows were ex changed in Grosse Points Memorial Church, with the service performed by Dr. Frank Fitt.

A net yoke accentuated the bride's gown of ivory satin, and her headdress was made of rose pointe heirloom lace. Gardenias white roses, and stephanotis composed her bridal bouquet. Aqua satin fashioned the maid of honor's gown of the bride's sister, Suzanne Reekie, and also the matching head-band. Similar gowns were worn by the bridesmaids, Katherine Gee, Virginia Smith, of Newtonville, Mass., Hazel Wood, Shirley Young, Mary Jane Herdegen, and Gloria Rickel. Well, we are now in our new building. Yes, it's a thrill, alright! Better still, our friends and costomers seem as enthusiastic about it as we are - and that's what really counts.

We'll have a formal opening, of course, on Saturday, October 30th. Circle that date on your calendar; but, in the meantime, drop in anytime. We're ready for business - going full swing right now. Come in and see the beautiful all-new Mercury - the Lincoln - the Lincoln Cosmopolitan. Get to know our department heads. They're ready to serve you - from a "lube" and car wash - to a general overhaul of your present car - a spare part, a heater or radio - a new tire or battery.

If you're looking for a good - a quality used car you'll find it here, too - plenty of popular makes in all price brackets.

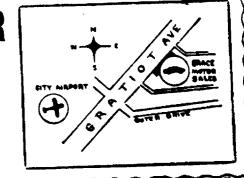

We want everyone, on the east side particularly, to feel our place is their transportation headquarters. So come in soon - we're waiting for you.
