TIME FOR A NEW PITCHER ?

You Are Younger Than You Think; Life Span Doubles

A long and vigorous life lies before most of us, despite the efforts of scare merchants to worry us about disease and dying. Life expectancy has been about doubled since the Middle Ages...

"Suppose you are a white male, twenty years old—one of the most dangerous ages for the auto accidents. The chances are 1,000-to-eight against you ever being killed in a motor accident."

"What about heart disease? Here, the situation is more serious. Heart disease isn't a single ailment, it means a whole assortment of diseases—including arteriosclerosis, faulty heart valves, constricted heart arteries, high blood pressure, kidney disease and many others."

"Figures say that it's 700-to-one that the twenty-year-old will be alive and safe a year from today. 500-to-one that the twenty-eight-year-old will survive at least another year. The tables end at the age of 108. If you happen to be 108, you have a 50-50 chance of dying in the next twelve months."

Year-end deficit in the state treasury (due primarily to diversion of 78 per cent of sales tax revenues to local governments) was approximately $20 millions, according to Robert Steadman, state controller. Steadman's solution: The Williams corporation profits tax.

County prosecuting attorneys of Michigan have formally urged restoration of the one man grand jury system. The plan was repealed by the state legislature in 1949 after 32 years' experience. A legislative committee is now studying the three-man law with a view of recommending changes in the next session.

New war orders are arriving daily in Michigan. That coupled with acceleration of the postwar boom since the Korean invasion has reduced the state's jobless total to less than 100,000 persons, it is announced by Henry C. Markle, executive director, Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Strengthening of public school administration through a grant of more than $3,000,000 is announced by the Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek. The project is nation-wide and will be administered through leading universities and colleges.

Hand-cranking machinery would be replaced by modern mechanized equipment; free franked mail; air-mail subsidies would be removed from the department's budget; the "true" deficit would be cut to $150 millions.

Communist sabotage is regarded by the AFL Maritime Trades Department as a menace to the Soo canal locks. A time bomb could easily be dropped into the locks, so union officials warn.

State Treasurer D. Hale Brake questions the economy savings possible by consolidation of state boards, bureaus, agencies and commissions. Less than one per cent of current expenditures could be reduced by this method, concludes Brake.

Should Michigan voters approve a $65 million bond issue to finance more state hospitals for tuberculosis and mental patients? A state citizens' committee has been formed to seek a verdict of "Yes" next November.

The cost of living rise since the Korean invasion has crowded off the front page such mid-June political topics as the new increase in telephone rates.

Year-end deficit in the state treasury (due primarily to diversion of 78 per cent of sales tax revenues to local governments) was approximately $20 millions, according to Robert Steadman, state controller.

Every now and then a voice is heard at Washington which courageously forewarns against the needless price of inflation.

Here is a quotation: "It may be argued that the menace of inflation is not so frightful today since we are not yet at war. Actually, the danger is greater. Today our economy already is operating at full blast, with little or no slack. Our national debt is about 257 billion dollars, about six times what it was when Hitler invaded Poland. Living costs have climbed so high that serious hardship already is being inflicted on many, particularly those with low or fixed incomes."

"The inflation of the last 10 years has undermined the stability of all our colleges, churches, hospitals and other institutions, shrinking the value of endowment funds while raising operating costs. It is forcing the reorganization of health insurance and hospitalization plans, raising the cost beyond the capacity of many to pay."

GRIM BUSINESS

There are two diametrically opposed views concerning the origin of the Korean war. One is that it was stimulated by the Russians on the theory that the United States and its allies would do nothing more than write formal letters of protest; that the North Koreans would overwhelm the ill-equipped South Korean defenders in a couple of weeks or so, and that another nation would easily be added to those within the Kremlin's sphere of influence.

The other view is grim. It is that Russia anticipated in advance what we would do, and that it was a deliberate, Kremlin-conceived trap. We would spend our resources in Korea, while Russia contributed nothing to the conflict except some equipment and top leadership. In due time, this view holds, the same thing will happen elsewhere—in Iran, Formosa, perhaps Europe. The West will be forced to spread itself paper thin all around the world.

That view is enough to send chills down any spine. There is no question but what a basic Soviet technique is to have other peoples do the fighting. The Asiatics are particularly useful grist in this kind of a mill. They are fatalistic and fanatical. Human life has small value in their eyes.

LOOK AT THE FIGURES

Those who beat the drums for compulsory government medical care—which is a polite way of saying political domination of our medical system—seem to work on the theory that American people have almost no way of dealing with the financial exigencies connected with illness.

The truth is, however, that in the last 20 years this country has made remarkable progress in the field of medical economics. And it has made it through voluntary health insurance plans, of which hundreds are in existence. Some are sponsored by doctors and hospitals. Others are offered by insurance companies.

There is, of course, a comparatively small number of people who are unable to buy any protection for themselves. In those cases, there is a legitimate field for governmental aid. But that certainly shouldn't mean compulsory state medicine for all of us—at an unknown cost to the taxpayers.

BE A POT-WALLOPER

In days gone by, out citizens would walk miles through the wilderness to vote because they knew their vote was important to good government. Nowadays there is dangerous laxity on the part of a great number of voters who think that a single vote has no value.

A heavy vote is the best assurance of representative government because then a minority cannot "steal" an election. Voting may not seem important to some who have lost sight of what it cost in blood and suffering to gain the liberties we all enjoy, but they are sadly mistaken.

JUST COMMENTS

"Could anything be more stupid than capitalism subsidizing socialism to prevent communism?"—Clarence Larkin.

"Did you fish with flies?" "Fish with flies?" Yes, we fished, camped, dined and slept with them."

"Airplane pioneers Wilbur and Orville Wright were extremely taciturn. Above all, they hated to make speeches. One day at a luncheon attended by a group of inventors, Wilbur was called on by the toastmaster. There must be some mis-enemy are slaughtered, they keep on coming in wave after wave.

However, a strong case can be made on behalf of the view that this time the Kremlin woefully misjudged the temper of the United States. The Korean war has done more than any single thing since World War II to cement the Western Nations. The United Nations is no longer just a debating society on the international level—it is a belligerent, and its flag flies in South Korea. The war is a U. N., not merely a U. S. operation.

The most encouraging thing that has happened so far has been the response to Trygve Lie's appeal to the U. N. membership for substantial aid in Korea, including trained ground troops. An impressive list of countries has responded. In many instances, the size of the forces dispatched will necessarily be very small, but the total will be considerable. And, going beyond purely military considerations, the fact that many countries will be physically represented in the actual fighting in Korea must certainly cause some hard thinking in the Politburo.

Some time ago Herbert Hoover proposed the creation of a United Nations without Russia and her satellites. This may come about through the force of events. Russia is still a member, of course, but she has small influence now. The great majority of members has served final notice that communist aggression must stop.

In 1946, only four years ago, 40,000,000 people were enrolled in these plans. By 1949 the number had advanced to 61,000,000. At present the figure is approximately 70,000,000. And within the next three years, authorities on the subject forecast, 90,000,000 people will have this form of financial protection. This certainly proves that we, as a nation, can take care of the sickness problem without following the ruinous "let the government do everything" line.

There is, of course, a comparatively small number of people who are unable to buy any protection for themselves. In those cases, there is a legitimate field for governmental aid. But that certainly shouldn't mean compulsory state medicine for all of us—at an unknown cost to the taxpayers.

The tragedy is that the promoters of our destruction generally accomplish their ends with tax dollars under the guise of offering beneficent handouts.

We will lose our freedom if we permit a minority to saddle us with socialism as the result of a light vote.

So become a staunch pot-walloper (see dictionary) and get out and vote at every election to save you own bacon.

take, stammered Wilbur. 'Orville is the one who does the talking.' The latter stood up and said, 'Wilbur just made the speech.'"—E. E. Edgar in Reader's Digest.

Actor Sir Cedric Hardwicke listened while a man told a long story. The man muffed his punch line so badly that the story wasn't funny. "Why did you laugh?" a friend asked Hardwicke afterward. "I always do," the actor replied. "If you don't laugh, there's danger of their telling it over again."—Leonard Lyons in Reader's Digest.

M Offers New Major Developments

Classes in the Fall Semester at the University of Michigan will begin on Monday, September 25. Enrollment is expected to be approximately the same as last year, or about 21,000 students, according to University officials.

Some 5,000 new students, including both freshmen and transfer students, will be on the campus for the first time and an intensive orientation week has been arranged for Monday through Saturday, September 18-23, to make these students thoroughly familiar with the campus.

On the educational side, the fall semester will bring many important developments. Among the major events will be:

- (1) The start of a new School of Natural Resources to replace the School of Forestry and Conservation.
- (2) A four-year undergraduate program in public health technology leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Public Health, which will be offered in the School of Public Health. Presently, in this school has all been at the graduate level.
- (3) The opening of the new College Lake Observatory, equipped with a 24-inch Schmidt telescope reflecting telescope, will permit the Department of Astronomy to undertake research in almost any astronomical problem. Because of the largest enrollment of graduate students in astronomy in the country.
- (4) The School of Dentistry will start the year under a new dean, Dr. Paul H. Jeserich, who replaced Dr. Russell W. Fanning, now on retirement furlough.
- (5) The Medical School will begin its second century in a building which is a notable record of medical education.

There are many other educational innovations. The School of Architecture and Design is pioneering by introducing building economics into its curriculum. This will bring the social sciences along with proficiency in architectural engineering and design.

Byrd Demands S. Economy

Demanding cuts in Federal spending for non-war purposes, Senator Byrd of Virginia said in a recent letter to the president that it is possible to "trim the present budget of the extra $10 billion" recently asked by the President.

Mr. Byrd declared that the present budget provides $5.2 billion more for strictly non-war military expenditures than was needed in 1948. He believes these expenditures should be cut back to the 1948 level, and that trimming of miscellaneous items throughout the budget could increase the total saving to $10 billion.

"At home and abroad, we must choose now between guns and butter," Mr. Byrd concluded.

American Industry Is Held Ready In Military Crisis

American industry is geared to meet production demands of both military and military needs without all-out mobilization and extensive government controls, Ira Mosher, chairman of the National Association of Manufacturers' Industrial Mobilization Committee, said in a recent radio interview.

Citing the fact that industry's capacity to produce is about 60 percent greater than on the eve of Pearl Harbor, and that a labor pool of close to 65 millions is available, Mr. Mosher said:

"At this stage of affairs, American industry is geared to meet the production demands of both military and military orders which resulted from Korea—without them without all-out mobilization and without extensive government controls."

Mr. Mosher, president of Ira Mosher Associates, is a former president of the NAM, and a long-time leader in business and industrial activities in the nation.

Committee Helping

Mr. Mosher explained that the NAM's Industrial Mobilization Committee, created by NAM President Claude A. Putnam, is serving as a liaison between industry and the various government agencies concerned with leading up our national defense. The committee is composed of leading industrialists, serving voluntarily and at their own expense.

Local Entries Add Zest To Horse Show

Two Pointers have registered their entries in the seventh yearly Donnetta Farms Annual Charity Horse Show to be held August 19 and 20 at the country place of Don R. Mitchell, Donnetta Farms, near Owosso.

Dick Fruehauf, 728 Lakepointe, who recently finished his sophomore year at Michigan State College, will exhibit three entries, including Bay Warrior and Good Deal.

Black Symphony will be the lone entry of Jeanne Vance, 32 Hendrie Lane.

The two-day event begins on Saturday afternoon at one o'clock with a program of 14 classes. On Saturday evening a formal show under lights is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at which 11 classes will be run off. The Sunday morning program opens at 9:30 with three Western elimination classes and a class for Morgans shown in hand. The final event beginning at one o'clock Sunday afternoon consists of 14 stake, or championship, classes.

All four programs will be announced by Austin Grant, of radio station CKLW, Detroit and Windsor. Marvin Lyons brilliant young Owosso organizer, will be at the Hammond organ provided through the courtesy of Grinnell's Music Store, Lansing, for the Saturday night and Sunday programs.

Arrangements are completed to bring the Detroit Mounted Police Drill Team, 22 men and 22 horses, here for the Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon performances. They give a fine exhibition and have a high national place for mounted precision drill work.

Alger Charges Monteith State With Slack Defense

Charges that the administrative bungling in Michigan is closely related to the bungling in foreign policy in Washington were made this week by Fred M. Alger, Republican candidate for governor, in campaign talks.

Alger said he linked the national administration to the present state administration "because they are almost identical in their programs and in the so-called planning for the regimentation of our nation and our state."

In slightly more than five years in office, Alger stated, President Truman has had four Secretaries of State, one after another resigning because of disillusionment in trying to establish a sensible foreign policy.

"The point has now been reached where the American people have little knowledge of what our intentions are in Asia or in Europe. Unfortunately for us all, there is little confidence in the diplomats who led us into the critical situation in Korea."

"As far as Michigan is concerned there have been no real plans made to the best of my knowledge to meet an emergency which bombings would create in our main industrial centers. The administration of Governor Williams continues to play politics, and is not contributing anything to the uniting of the people of our State."

"This is not the time to be adding additional taxes to the State—taxes intended to pit class against class, because when this is done you do not present a united front. Our immediate need is to unite the forces of the State and forget about the dreams and ideologies of Governor Williams' favorites—the ADA."

Award Bid for Resurfacing Park Streets

A $35,614.65 contract for resurfacing streets in Grosse Pointe Park was confirmed by the Council, according to an announcement by Village Manager Everitt Lane.

The contract was awarded to Cooke Contracting Company and included the area on Vernier from Audubon to Wayburn.

Charlevoix, from Devonshire to Kensington, will also be resurfaced.

The contract also calls for a double seal coating on Nottingham, from Jefferson to Holly Place, from Nottingham to Beachfield.

Work will also begin on coating Bishop, from Jefferson to Kercheval.

Since only two bids for a contract calling for construction of 7,400 lineal feet of cement curbing in the Park were submitted, Lane said that the bidding would be reopened.

Best Factories Get Business

Under our system, if a small company can make something cheaper or better than a big competitor, it gets the business. That's what makes industrial America so strong.

A good instance was the Ford Motor Company's recent sale of its bus-building business to a smaller company in Indianapolis. The Ford company could build good buses all right, and build them cheaply, but it found this small part of its business took too much of its top management's time—time that could be put to better use on its main business of making passenger cars and trucks.

So it sold its bus business. Now Ford can concentrate on cars and trucks—the smaller company will make the buses, and each can do a better job, which will result in more jobs and cheaper cars.

Crowds Testify to Track Popularity

"Give the public the best possible races, and hang the expense!"

That was the policy laid down by General Manager Al Weil when he opened the current harness racing meeting at the Detroit Race Track three weeks ago. His insistence that the patron comes first has been paying big dividends, for the public has shown its appreciation by making this meeting the biggest success in the long history of the sport in Michigan.

Crowds have been larger and the mutual handle has been bigger than even the most optimistic had anticipated.

Cash Given U. S. By Immigrant

A naturalized American citizen, Dave Epstein, of Santa Monica, Calif., recently mailed President Truman a money order for $100 as his "humble donation" toward helping our country fight aggression.

Mr. Epstein, who was born in Lithuania, wrote Mr. Truman after hearing the President's broadcast on the Korean crisis. As a man who knows what life is like in countries behind the Iron Curtain, he decided to give proof of his devotion to America's freedom.

"I firmly agree," he wrote, "that no form of government can succeed by bribery and bullets instead of ballots."

Pontiacs Are Targets for Daring Thieves

A daring band of vandals have a score to settle with Leonard J. Veit, of Muncie, Indiana. On vacation, Veit was visiting his son William, at 1931 Fleetwood, in Grosse Pointe Woods.

Monday night he parked his 1950 Pontiac in the driveway. Next morning police informed Veit that his car was resting on cement blocks and the tires and wheels were missing.

To add to the confusion, the thugs rolled the car down the street to 1930 Fleetwood before removing the wheels.

A camera, leather case, first aid kit, tool kit and umbrella, were also missing from the car, Veit told police.

That same evening, the car thieves repeated their operation on a similar Pontiac model parked only a few doors away.

The car was used on company business by Fred Hanna, of 2001 Fleetwood.

Youth Suffers Alley Beating By Bandits

A 17-year-old Grosse Pointe Farms youth was beaten up and robbed by a trio of juvenile thugs as he was leaving the Punch and Judy Theater Saturday evening.

Thomas Horne, of 334 McKinley, left the movie through a rear door and was seized by the culprits as he stepped into the alley.

Horne's accosters delivered several heavy blows and then stole nine dollars from their victim.

The gang escaped toward Fisher road.

Faith Needed

We need less protest against evil, and more faith in human goodness; less fault-finding, and more truth-finding; less picking at personalities, and more reverencing of personalities; less reforming of others, and more transforming of ourselves; less talking about peace, and more living the life of peace.

Europe Offers Wide Choice of Weather

Throughout the fall and winter the capital cities of Europe have better weather than many sections of the United States, with comparatively high temperatures and long hours of sunshine, according to a weather survey of Europe made by the European Travel Commission.

The survey revealed that during the coming months Americans can pick the weather they like best and find it somewhere in Europe. The choice extends from summer in the south to winter in the north, and includes the great variety of sports and recreations that such a temperature range makes possible.

European weather is highly diversified, and on many of the high mountain peaks of the Alps, as well as in the mountains of the northern countries, it's possible to ski in mid-summer, while farther south you can swim in the Mediterranean in December.

Detroit Claims Bride In Virginia

In Christ Church, Charlottesville, Va., Faith Van Clief exchanged marriage vows with S. Pruitt Semmes, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Pruitt Semmes, of Lake Shore road, Saturday afternoon. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Courtland Van Clief, of Ivy, Va.

A reception followed immediately at Verulam, home of the bride's parents.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of ivory Chantilly lace over French tulle with an off-the-shoulder neckline. Her illusion veil was held in place by a lace cap. She carried a bouquet of white orchids.

Mrs. James Harrington, of Pinehurst, N. C., was matron of honor, assisted by bridesmaids Barbara Baird, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Audrey Ferber, of Darien, Conn.; Sally Albright, of Bronxville, N. Y.; Mary Martin Semmes, the bridegroom's sister; Jane Yoe, of Charlottesville, Va., and Joan Greimes, of Charlottesville.

Little flower girl was Valerie Smith, from Los Angeles, Calif.

The bride's attendants were gowned in gold satin and taffeta with an eighteenth century bustle effect. Their caps were of matching gold satin. They carried cascade bouquets of bronzed pom pom chrysanthemums.

Harvey Smith, of Los Angeles, Calif., served his brother-in-law as best man.

Seating the guests were Daniel Van Clief, the bride's cousin from Emont, Va.; Victor Cook, of Birmingham, Mich.; Peter Stroh, Frederick Murphy, Albert Amos, of Birmingham, Ala.; George Whaley, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Ralph Bercobici, of New York City.

The newlyweds are honeymooning in Colorado Springs and upon their return will make their home temporarily in Charlottesville.

Foot Troubles Need Care, Society Says

How do you walk? Do you have an easy graceful walk with spring in your step? Is your walking clumsy and graceless? The answer probably depends upon the condition of your feet, the Tuberculosis and Health Society states.

A "bad walk" usually is the result of neglecting to have foot trouble corrected. Some people are born with foot deformities, but the majority of foot ills have been acquired. Buying ill-fitting shoes and hose; ignoring simple rules of cleanliness and hygiene and general neglect may mean trouble for your feet. Foot care begins in babyhood. All foot deformities however slight, need medical attention and treatment. Doctors say that nearly all unusual foot conditions found in babyhood can be corrected when treated promptly.

Shoes should be bought with the greatest care. Shoes that do not fit will be painful, but more than that, they may cause permanent foot injury. Many adults now complaining of "sore feet" can blame their troubles on "shoes that did not fit in childhood."

Second to shoes is the fit of hose. They must not be too short, pulling the toes under or causing them to curl. Hose that are wrinkled or hose that are exceedingly large cause friction or pressure that may result in painful blisters.

Foot hygiene begins with a daily bath and clean hose. It includes prompt attention to cuts, blisters and other skin irritations. Removal of corns and callouses should be done by a foot specialist or chiropodist.

A "bad walk" may be the result of "fallen arches," which means a misplacement of the bones and muscles which support the feet. It usually results in persistent pain and should receive prompt attention by the doctor or foot specialist.

Swollen feet day in and day out may be due to constant walking or standing or it may be due to a serious illness such as heart or kidney disease. Persons with chronic swelling of feet should see their doctor. Give your feet attention because they support the entire weight of your body.

Are your feet doing the job? The best way to keep your dreams from coming true is to oversleep. The best way to make them come true is to wake up.

Popular Crochet-Trimmed Pillow Cases

Crocheted insertions and edgings transform your pillow cases into high-style and luxury household items. Yet the transformation is an inexpensive, simple and pleasant job for either experts or beginners at using a crochet hook. Colored crochet thread, now in full supply, can be used effectively with white cases or harmonized artistically to set off the lovely colors of fabrics found in many of today's pillow cases. A recent color-illustrated pillow-case booklet, devoted to crocheted insertions and edgings, and available in needlework departments and ten-cent stores, suggest such suitable designs as delicate wild roses and lilies, a rambling rose pattern, daisies, camellias, forget-me-nots and other appropriate designs. Two smart and pretty designs are shown in the photograph. Hand-work of this kind will turn a pair or more of pillow cases into a prideful gift for brides, mothers, teenager Misses with a yen for pretties—and for the whole family.

The group of pollen-plagued patients got complete relief from their symptoms following a course of treatment with the new compounds so effective against rheumatoid arthritis, Cortisone and ACTH, according to Dr. John M. Sheldon, professor of internal medicine, in charge of the hospital's Allergy Clinic.

He reported that Cortisone relieved symptoms in two to three days and ACTH brought relief within a few hours following administration. Patients were given twice-daily injections of the compounds for an average of three to five days in the majority of cases, he said.

Although the quick acting can be a life-saving measure in extreme cases of asthma, the compounds must be given under closely supervised conditions, Dr. Sheldon warned. Improper administration can result in skin eruptions (acne), severe blood chemical changes, high blood pressure and still other undesirable reactions, he indicated.

For these reasons, the compounds must be considered as primarily research tools and not as routinely used drugs, he pointed out. Their real value lies in providing new knowledge about previously poorly understood allergic mechanisms, he stated.

The anti-histamine compounds are still very useful for controlling some patients but they are not the whole answer for treating allergies, he said. They don't affect some symptoms at all, such as a particular type of nasal obstruction, and they should not be used to the exclusion of other types of treatment, the doctor stressed.

Pratt-Justice Rites Read at Evening Ceremony Saturday

Jean Wright Pratt was carrying a cascade bouquet of jasmine and ivy when she met Mitchell Justice at the altar of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church Saturday evening at 8 o'clock to exchange marriage vows.

The flowers accented her gown of satin overlaid with imported Chantilly lace. It was designed with a long-sleeved, molded basque which was detailed with an off-shoulder decolletage, and tulle yoke etched in scallops of the lace. The bouffant skirt fell over a nylon net underskirt.

A tiara of seed pearls secured Jean's veil of illusion, which cascaded to fingertip length. She is the daughter of Mrs. George Hunter Pratt, of Balfour Road, and the late Mr. Pratt.

A gown of French blue Chantilly lace over taffeta was the choice of Mary Louise Goodson for her duties as maid of honor. It was fashioned with a high, empire waistline, small winged collar and full skirt.

The frocks of the bridesmaids, Mrs. William F. Willmore, Jr., Mrs. Philip H. Clark II, Patti Ann Yeager and Janet Hobson, were styled like the honor maid's, of rose pattern Chantilly lace in bonbon pastel shades over taffeta.

All the attendants wore long, white gloves and carried cascade bouquets of pink roses and ivy accented with leaves of matching maine. The maid of honor's arrangement was distinguished by blue delphinium.

Relief Found for Hay Fever Sufferers

ANN ARBOR—There's better news for hay fever sufferers this year—at least for 15 of them in a research project at the University of Michigan Hospital.

TRUE ARTIST It is not every artist whose paintings are valued at $4,000. It is all the more unusual when both the paint and canvas are made by the artist himself. Yet, according to Childcraft, it was the famous European art gallery at Luxembourg and also the Chicago World's Fair which placed the price on these pictures painted by a man primarily known for his work as a research chemist—George Washington Carver. He made the paint from Alabama clay and the canvas from corn-stalk fibers.

Mary Lou McGrane Becomes Bride at Home Ceremony

The Clifford M. Sorensen home on Oxford Road was the setting Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Mary Lou McGrane and Robert Edward DeNike.

The Rev. Paul F. Ketchum officiated at the 4 o'clock ceremony and the bride, daughter of Mrs. Sorensen, was given in marriage by an uncle, Frank W. Faery, Jr.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. William R. DeNike, of Yacoma Road, and the late Mr. DeNike.

Mary Lou's wedding gown was fashioned of imported white Chantilly lace and illusion net over taffeta. A lace and illusion bonnet held her fingertip length veil and she carried an arrangement of stephanotis surrounding a white orchid.

Mrs. Harrison B. O'Brien, the matron of honor, wore white organdy over pink taffeta. The color note was repeated in the streamers of her horsehair picture hat. She carried pink rosebuds.

Alger Urges State Economy

Economy in state government is a "must" if Michigan residents are to maintain their present standard of living, Fred M. Alger, Republican candidate for Governor, declared in campaign talks. "Increased Federal taxes are inevitable because of money needed to step up the defense," Alger said, "and there is no alternative for local governments except greater economy if wage earners are to keep their take-home pay on an even keel. "The present Democratic Administration's demand for corporation taxes would increase the cost of living even more. There is no use fooling ourselves on this matter. Such taxes are included in the retail price of the product, and the consumer pays. "We can streamline our government for greater efficiency. By eliminating wasteful extravagance our state government can give better service for the tax dollars we now pay." "Maybe it will make a dull day brighter if you know that only the male nightingale sings and that mink—highly valued for its fur—has a very disagreeable smell. . . . Feel better now?" —Thomas Jefferson

Durant Hits Fumbled Foreign Policy

In a talk before the members of the Northeast Exchange Club, Richard Durant, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congressman from the 14th District, discussed the topic, "Do We Have a Foreign Policy?" Durant, a World War II veteran who saw six years service, mostly in the Pacific area, scored our present foreign policy as "defensive, confused, and futile."

"There is never any sense in crying over spilled milk," Durant said, "but it is important that we see where we have gone wrong if only to make sure that we will not make the same mistakes again. One would think that Mr. Truman and Mr. Acheson would have learned from recent history that we cannot preserve peace by appeasement—and yet this is precisely what they tried to do in Asia for the last several years."

"We gave up North Korea to the Russians at Potsdam; we gave Manchuria to the Russians at

RICHARD DURANT

Yalta—and this is the base from which the Red Armies are being supplied now; we refused to recognize that the Chinese Communists were a threat to world peace, and allowed them to overwhelm China without any protest; we ignored MacArthur's warnings of trouble; we stated openly that we would not get involved militarily in Asia—and Mr. Truman and Mr. Acheson and the present Democrat in Congress from this District urged the sending of fertilizer to South Korea, but not armed aid!

"Is it any wonder that the Russians tried to move in?"

Drawing on his college experience, Durant compared our present policy in the "warm war" to a boxing match. "Have you ever watched a match," he asked, "where one man by aggressive action manoeuvres the other into a position for the knockout blow? If you have, or if you have ever done any boxing yourself, you know that nothing is more fatal than to be continually on the defensive. And yet that has been our position all along in this struggle between Russia and ourselves for the minds of mankind."

"Do you remember how, in the last war, the French were confident that all they had to do was hide behind their Maginot Line—and the Germans would never break through? We today are adopting the same tactics—this time we will 'contain' Communism, whatever that means. We will, apparently, never take the offensive in this war of ideas."

"That is what we should not do if we are to have a dynamic foreign policy. Our aim should not be just peace alone, for if all we want is peace we might as well surrender now and get it over with. No, our aim should be to help spread the area of individual liberty. We should not be particularly interested in appealing to governments—we should appeal to individuals. We should show them that we in America want to increase their own personal liberty—that we want them to be able to find the most satisfaction in their own way, by their own efforts."

"This current craze for thinking mass terms," Durant went on, "means that we begin to think of the individual as being less important than the group. Nothing is more wrong. This is not the 'century of the common man'—this is the century of the individual man. The whole Christian idea—the foundation of our own government—is that the state exists to serve the individual, no vice-versa."

"How can we best try to widen the area of individual liberty? How can we really get a dynamic foreign policy?"

"I believe there are three ways we can do it. The first, and most obvious, is by setting the example of individual liberty here at home. For instance, it would be comic were it not so tragic, that less than six months ago Mr. Truman was scolding the government of Korea for two things. Number one, Korea was accused of undermining their economic foundations by inflating currency. (Here at home, of course, Mr. Truman has been doing nothing else.) Number two, Korea was accused of wrecking the democratic institutions we had given them by attempting to centralize control of all economic life in the capitol. (Here at home Mr. Truman has been trying to do exactly that.)

"Could anything be more ridiculous? We will have to get the beam out of our own eye before pointing to our neighbor's mote."

"The second way to widen the area of individual liberty abroad is to insist that any help we may give be contingent, not only on help in our police action in Korea, but also—and of equal importance—on the abolition of economic controls. It is no coincidence that the country in Europe which has recovered the most—Belgium—is the country which has the fewest economic controls, which the country which has recovered the least—England—has the most controls. That, I repeat, is not coincidence—that is cause and effect. Therefore, when encouraging self-help (and I do not mean a permanent dole, we should insist that foreign governments free their citizens in every way."

"The third method of spreading an area of individual liberty is to work toward a union of those countries which are politically mature, which have a democratic background. We should work toward such a union in four ways. Number one is a common defense for the obvious reason that it is harder to break a bundle of sticks over your knee than it is to break the individual sticks themselves. The Atlantic Pact goes a long way in this direction, but the coordination should be even closer."

"Number two is a common area of free trade, except where national defense makes it necessary to protect some industry or commodity, such as synthetic rubber. How can we spread individual liberty when the citizen cannot buy and sell freely, cannot keep for himself the product of his own labor?"

"Number three, we should work toward a common monetary unit, or a return to the gold standard. And number four, we should work for a common postal and communications system with politically mature countries."

"It is my conviction that if we do those things, we will prove to men everywhere, those who are partially free and those who are struggling to escape from Soviet slavery, that America is leading the way toward a real realm of individual liberty. We can change the wearied cynicism abroad to hope and a determination to struggle with us to achieve their freedom. The United States must keep on uniting states.

"This effort should contain, of course, an intensifying of our Voice of America programs to break through the Iron Curtain. In the war of ideas we must take the offensive; we cannot afford to sit back in a 'watch and wait' attitude."

"Only the brave can be free—and only those who hope for freedom can be brave."

They Can Keep It

Our English cousins pay at least 70 cents for a pack of cigarettes, and pay out almost half of their wages in income taxes. They have Socialism . . . A pack of cigarettes costs $1.08 in Russia, a loaf of white bread costs 68 cents and butter to spread on it costs $5 a pound. They have Communism, and . . . (voice from the side-lines: "Brother, they can keep it!")

Think on this a while
And try another tack:
Give a man a smile—
You'll likely get one back!
