- ### POINTE PARAGRAPHS
- by The Pointer
- 1. A self-styled Hopalong Cassidy wandered down Vernon highway one afternoon last week to watch the repair project underway. Two shiny six-shooters were draped over the top of his vest. As he neared the work project, Hoppy shoved his foot up on the curb and shyly asked a passing engineer, "Could you be my shoe for me? I can't seem to bend over that."
  - 2. Some local youngsters were eager to get into school before the opening day. Tuesday afternoon a party shattered windows in the rear of Mable School.
  - 3. The holiday spirit excited several Pointe pranksters Labor Day evening. A band of unidentified youths pumped red and blue paint on the front of the door by a blaring newspaper which the pranksters had ignited before they fled.
  - 4. The steaks were well done at the Jack Patten residence of 2185 Hampton, one evening last week. Firemen in Grosse Pointe Woods were summoned to the home when flames and smoke poured out of the electric oven.
  - 5. Local members of Zeta Psi will have their ears tanned to the radio Saturday night, 7:30 when Vaughn Monroe will sing their theme, "The Badge of Zeta Psi," over WJTB.

Saturday Is Deadline for Absent Voters

School Opens Today

Twenty four new teachers were present Tuesday, September 5 when all employees of the Grosse Pointe Public Schools assembled in the High School Auditorium for the official opening of the 1950-51 school year.

Three of the new teachers are graduates of the Grosse Pointe High School. Miss Beatrice Aech, who will teach Kindergarten in the Mason School, graduated from the local high school in June 1946 and from the University of Michigan in June 1950. Miss Dorothy Jemal will return to the Richard School as a Grade One teacher after completing her bachelor's degree at the University of Michigan in June 1949. Miss Jemal was a pupil in the Richard School for her entire elementary program and graduated from Grosse Pointe High School in January 1945. Miss Jemal taught in Detroit the second half of the 1949-50 school year.

Owen Middleton is the third local high school graduate to join the public school teaching staff this year. Mr. Middleton will teach Mathematics and General Science at the Luther School. He completed his Master of Arts degree at the University of Michigan this past month. He was a member of the Battle Creek Public Schools the past two years. Mr. Middleton is a veteran with two and a half years of service in World War II.

Two other teachers with World War II service records are in the new teacher group. Miss Marjorie Ryan, who will teach English in the Waves, spent two years in the WAVES. She has recently completed both B.A. and M.A. degrees at the University of Michigan with academic honors, including election to Phi Beta Kappa. Miss Ryan is the daughter of the Rev. Luther Church, Detroit, will join the staff of the Grosse Pointe High School in Arden Park.

As he returned home at 11 p.m. with his wife and son Terry, Elkins was unable to find the money. Police searched his store at 19253 Hurler and his home in an effort to locate the sum.

The money had been collected for American Express money orders.

Drivers Urged To Use Caution

"Don't let school bells sound the death knell for your child." This grim warning was issued Tuesday by the Michigan Department for the State Safety Commission's September program of traffic safety education, as millions of youngsters returned to classrooms throughout the country—many for the first time.

For the beginner, the child's mind may be his "big" trouble with reality—with the dangers of the street, and the problems that he must face for himself without personal guidance from home. For that reason, the danger to the very young is extreme at this time of the year.

BONING UP FOR THE PRIMARY

In an attempt to assist young people in the community who will go to the polls for the first time next Tuesday, Norbert P. Neff conducted a Voters School last Thursday evening at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Pictured in the center with two of his pupils is Norbert Neff. ## Emphasize Safety Program As Children Return to School

This emphasis on child safety—the necessary for thorough safety education by both educators and parents and the driver's responsibility for child safety—is part of the State Safety Commission's program this month.

Another important part of the program will be devoted to acquainting the public with the group of young drivers as they start out on their own.

Traffic safety education, the Traffic and Safety Council officers claim, is not a thing that we can arbitrarily end with the student's fourth, eighth, or twelfth year of formal education. Adult-year-called "mature" drivers themselves have much to learn about traffic safety, so the lesson is obviously a never-ending one. Instruction early in a child's life, however, will do much to make things safe for him and in 10 or 20 years when he is driving again, for all of us.

For kids, "Watch Out For Kids," the State Safety Commission hopes to convince of all adults that their teachings may make the difference between life or death for some youngster.

Editor Note: Fred McGraw's remarkable life story is being reprinted in the Grosse Pointe Review. Mr. McGraw's remarkable life story is being reprinted in the Grosse Pointe Review. Mr. McGraw's remarkable life story is being reprinted in the Grosse Pointe Review.

Charles W. Jones is the outstanding, current example that merit is rewarded in America—that true ability, citizenship qualities and opportunity for patriotic service is not stopped by color lines.

Appointed by the Governor of Michigan to fill a vacancy in Detroit's recorder court, Judge Jones now seeks election to the office. He is capable, intelligent, with character and poise, plus proven ability to be rewarded by keen appreciation and popular vote to the office.

Born in Kentucky, a graduate of Fisk University in Tennessee and of the University of Minnesota law school, Judge Jones is chief court assistant to William Dowling when county prosecutor, proved his capacity.

These were trying days, when the Black Legion was torturing and murdering people and the courts dismayed Detroit. It was Assistant Prosecutor Jones who got convictions in those cases. He restored obedience to law by convicting five negroes and three Caucasians for their murderous parts in the race riots. He ended the goonery of the black legion. That took both courage and high ability.

Appraising Jones, Dowling, now in private practice, told friends recently that Jones was equal to any assistant prosecutor he had ever known, "had a proper grasp of fundamental principles which should guide courts and attorneys and was a credit to his country."

In Detroit today there are about 280,000 resident colored citizens and some 60,000 or more in other parts of Wayne county. A substantial part of recorders court cases involve colored citizens. From the standpoint of racial relations alone, it would be a heartening and stabilizing influence for a man of Judge Jones' temperament, reasoning and judicial mind to pronounce sentence upon some of the colored citizens who come before that court. It comes with poor grace that performer, it has not yet done, but we urge only who sit in judgment on colored folk. This inherently is bad.

It is reasonable to assume that, other things being equal, a colored judge would deal with colored culprits with less enraging friction than a white jurist. At one stroke it would eliminate the leftist or communist cry of unfair treatment at law and before courts of colored citizens.

It is in the interest of Detroit, of this community and of respected colored citizenship to elect Charles W. Jones to the recorder's court.

He is equal in ability to any of the judges in that court; he is superior to several thereon in ethics, record and conduct.

Like the White House appointment of Mrs. Edith Sampson, the Chicago negro attorney, as an alternate to the United Nations, the Governor's selection of Jones as judge is well received.

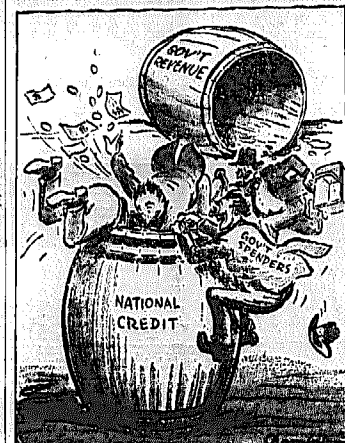

His election by the citizens would be further evidence of continuing evolutionary progress on the American home-front which began more than four score years ago with emancipation of the slaves.

Judge Jones deserves a vote of confidence that will place him in nomination for recorders court.

We advocate that.

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN FREEDOM—VOTE

Newspapers, magazines, individuals, companies, corporations and others have for months urged every citizen to get out and vote in the primaries and help choose candidates who believe in American ideals of government.

This is a crucial election year. All 435 seats in the House of Representatives and one-third of the Senate (32 seats) are to be filled. Governors and other state and county officials will soon be chosen. Elections will soon be over. But if you failed to vote in the primaries to choose a candidate not so negligent at the coming elections.

We kick about high taxes and we kick about more and more restrictions clamped on us by government and governmental bureaus. The only place we can do anything about infringing on our liberties and opportunities is at the polls. No man, no woman is too busy to vote. You are not too busy earning a living to vote because nothing else you can do is more important than choosing the public servants who are assessing and spending at least 20% to 25% of the average income. Don't think you are not interested in politics, because if you are not professional politicians will literally take the shirt off your back. Don't make the excuse that you are not acquainted with the candidates — you can find out about them and their past records, and remember, you are the one who pays them, and you will only get as good service as you demand.

The great majority of people in the United States don't want socialism which means government in business taking away the opportunity of the individual and his chances to get ahead in the world as an individual. Congress is flooded with socialist schemes under such alluring titles as public housing, social welfare, farm subsidies, public power. Federal health insurance, government money loaning, government gifts of money to public agencies and other projects (on numerous in mention, which put the government into business and the individual out. And it is all done with revenue taken from the individual in the form of taxation.

Don't say you are not interested in voting unless you are not interested in remaining a free citizen.

Mills Outlines Background As Candidate

Special to the Review
Last January I announced that I would be a Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor of Michigan. I did this because I am actively interested in our government and want to participate in it in a positive manner.

Personal history—I was born in Iowa in 1905, educated in Keokuk schools. My advanced education was obtained at the University of Florida and Northwestern University, receiving a degree in Civil Engineering from the latter school. After graduating I moved to Detroit as a representative for Engineering News Record, a professional publication. A few years later, in 1936 I entered the machinery business as a sales engineer. A year later I started my own business and conducted it successfully to the present time. I am married and have two children, a son and a daughter. I own my home, and I own a 250-acre farm which I have operated successfully. I have constantly been interested in civic, church, fraternal and community affairs.

Political history—Since first living in Detroit I have been actively interested in Republican Party affairs and organization. I am a member of the Wayne County Republican Executive Committee, Downtown Republican Club and Noontide Republican Luncheon Club. In 1944 I was a candidate for State Senator. In 1948 I was a candidate for State Representative from the Wayne County First District and was nominated. In 1949 I received considerable support for the Party's nomination for State Highway Commissioner, but finally withdrew in favor of the present office holder. I always have, and still do, support the forward and aggressive principles of the Republican Party.

Mrs. Nutto Seeking State Post

Mrs. Genevieve Nutto, Republican candidate for the State Legislature, came to Detroit in her quest for an anticipated month's rest from her native Hoosier land and adopted the Dynamic as her home.

Practically every Republican campaign in the country and Mrs. Nutto has been a movemaker.

She managed the recent successful campaigns of Hon. Charles G. Oakman, Councilman of the City of Detroit.

Nutto has lived in the Congressional District since coming to Detroit and has been elected to the Executive Board of Wayne County Woman's Republican Club for 14 consecutive years.

In 1936-1937 she was Secretary of George A. Prescott, Jr., Mayor of the Michigan State Fair. She has been active in both senatorial and presidential campaigns.

For the past six years she has been Hostess for the Wayne County Republican Committee in the American Legion where she is the office of Community Service Chairman of the Detroit District Association.

During the war, Mrs. Nutto organized a Red Cross Unit in Grosse Pointe Woods. She was an ardent worker in the War Corps.

The Michigan Voter, James Lyons said of the candidate: "You want to get something done, ask a busy person to do it, the very first person that comes to mind is a little lady well known throughout Wayne County for her many and varied accomplishments. She is Mrs. Genevieve Nutto."

Increasing Debt Is Mistake Candidate Madar Warns

Speaking before a group of businessmen Sunday afternoon, Arthur J. Madar, candidate for the Republican Congressional nomination in the 14th District, outlined his political philosophy, he said:

"As a candidate for the high office of Congressman, it is meet and proper that I acquaint you with my political philosophy, for the basic beliefs one has determine one's course of conduct."

It was long ago pointed out that politics was the highest and most important of all the sciences, because it is one science that contributes most to human happiness. Our forefathers, in the Declaration of Independence, pointed out that the pursuit of happiness, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, were the reasons why governments were instituted among men. They subscribed to the theory that government contributes most to the happiness or unhappiness of the human race. Government is a tool, an instrument to be used by man, to do those things he cannot do himself and control those things, and if necessary, prohibit them, if they work him harm. Government, therefore, exists for the benefit of man, and not man for the benefit of the Government. It is well to keep in mind the theories and doctrines of the Fathers of this country—Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness. They knew that life must be secured and that Liberty without Liberty becomes a burden, and the Pursuit of Happiness an idle dream.

For man to have any satisfaction out of life, he must be secure in his person, in his possessions, and must have liberty of conscience, of movement, of living where he will and to follow the occupation of his choice, provided at all times he does not interfere or transgress upon those same rights his fellowmen likewise enjoy. For Government to interfere for any reason whatsoever, whether the motive for so doing are good or bad, is theoretically unsound and in the long run will end in disaster.

James Madison, in the now famous tenth Federalist paper, which treated of the danger of factions, and he defined a faction as "a number of citizens whether amounting to a majority or minority of the whole, who are united and actuated by some common impulse of passion or of interest, adverse to the rights of other citizens, or to the permanent and aggregate interests of the community," he said, "that as long as the reason of man continues fallible, and he is at liberty to exercise it, different opinions will be formed. As long as the connection subsists between his reason and his self love, his

Loot Three Residences On Lancaster Over Holiday

Three homes on Lancaster were ransacked and robbed by thugs over the Labor Day weekend. G. N. Maconochie, of 20927 Lancaster, told Gratiot Township police that he had taken some $6,000 from his house Friday and deposited it in the bank before leaving town.

Sometime during the weekend robbers smashed a window in the rear of his house and made entry. Among the items reported missing to the police were a piggy bank containing $500 in change, a camera, watch and a ruby ring.

The home of George Robert, 20935 Lancaster, was also entered and looted. Stolen articles include a diamond watch, camera, diamond ring and jewelry.

A third home at 21160 Lancaster was also on the list of the traveling thieves. Mr. Beech, owner of the residence, told police that as far as he knew nothing had been taken from the house. Detective Smith, of Gratiot Township, said that this series of robberies was the work of a cunning gang of professional bandits.

Native Bloom with Ambition Is the Cosmos

Cosmos, pronounced coz-muss, is an ambitious American flower, which has shown the will to improve under the guidance of American plant breeders. Thirty years ago the large 3 to 4-inch flowers which now bloom in northern gardens from July until frost, were so late that plants were often frozen before they bloomed. Only in the deep south could the yellow cosmos be flowered.

Now we have the varieties Orange Flare and Yellow Flare which bloom in midsummer, and the Sensation strain with giant blooms of pink, rose, white and crimson, flowering in midsummer from seed sown in the spring and increasing in abundance until winter kills the plants.

Cosmos is a background plant. It develops as a loose bush, growing up to four feet tall, with its lovely single flowers terminating stems and branches. The foliage of the Sensation strain is fern-like. In the rear of the border it forms a misty screen of lovely coloring which casts no shadows, and allows free passage for sunshine and fresh air.

Flowers of this strain are excellent for cutting, lasting in good condition for 10 days. It is a tropical flower from Mexico, but it is no more demanding as to soil and temperature than the good natured marigolds.

Sow Thick and Thin Out to Prolong Garden Harvest

At First Thinning, Give Each Plant One Inch in the Row

In the small home vegetable garden, where a maximum yield is desired, there must be no vacant spaces in the row. The only way to insure this is to sow plenty of seed, but not too much, and thin out the excess plants.

No matter how high the germination of the seed, accidents may occur which destroy seedlings, and there must be spares to replace these losses. But unless the stand is gradually thinned, the plants may be so crowded that both quality and yield will suffer.

With some crops, especially those of which the roots and leaves are eaten, this method of planting starts the harvest weeks earlier, and substantially increases the total yield, because half grown plants pulled up in the thinning process, provide delicious servings.

Carrots, for example, can be allowed to grow without thinning until the roots are as thick as a little finger. Roots pulled at this stage will be sweeter and more tender than the mature crop.

Beets may be thinned the first time just when the bulbs begin to form. Cooked with their young tops they will be a dish to remember. Half grown vegetables cannot be bought in markets, but they are among the most delightful dividends which the home vegetable garden pays to its owner.

To maintain his supply of spare plants until sure of a perfect stand, the amateur should thin out by degrees.

At first, plants of row crops may be thinned out to stand one inch apart; which will insure, to each room to develop without entangling roots with a neighbor. As they grow, alternate plants should be removed, and so on until the optimum spacing is achieved.

Turnips do not grow well if crowded. If the young plants are pulled up so they stand 4 inches apart in the row, in a remarkably quick time they will be large enough to use.

All cucumbers will climb if they are permitted to do so. In a small vegetable plot, cucumbers, tomatoes, peas, beans and melons can be grown on the fence.

New Dairy Now Open In Woods

Announcement is made this week by Leon E. Ricelli of the opening of his second Ira Wilson & Sons Dairy Store at Mack Avenue at Roslyn Road in Grosse Pointe Woods.

Opening of the new store coincides with the second anniversary of his original store at Mack near Washington road, and so Mr. Ricelli is celebrating at both stores with a Grand Opening special, plus free gifts for the kiddies at the new store in the Woods.

Mr. Ricelli's new store, of course, features the famous line of Wilson Dairy Products, ice cream and candy with fountain service and light lunches and sandwiches at a modern soda bar. Carry-out service is available at both locations.

In the food business before World War II, Mr. Ricelli served with distinction as an infantry officer in the Pacific theatre of operations. Upon leaving the service, he was with Wine Shops, Inc., as manager in the Birmingham branch for a year and a half and in the Penobscot Building subsequently. Two years ago this summer he opened his Wilson's Dairy Store on Mack near Washington.

FUND HEAD

William A. Durbin of 510 Neff, public relations director for the Burroughs Adding Machine Co., has been named 1950 Torch Drive promotion chairman for the Grosse Pointe Region. Durbin will arrange special events to be held in the Grosse Pointes in connection with the "give once for all" fund-raising campaign, Oct. 17 to Nov. 9. He also will serve as a member of a committee of eight equal representatives who will conduct a promotion program throughout Detroit and the Grosse Pointes.

Cody Stresses Court Problem

Circuit Court Commissioner William J. Cody, candidate for Judge of Probate on the non-Partisan ticket in the September 12th Primary Election, in the closing days of the campaign is stressing that one of the serious problems confronting the Probate Court is the care, need and prevention of those mentally ill.

The institutions are filled to capacity with mentally ill persons who have been committed. It is an open challenge and we must attack the problem with prevention and care. It is a disgrace to our country and state to permit such an intolerable wastage of humanity. Its suffering challenges our hearts—its financial cost expended too late.

Continuing, Cody says, "I am a firm believer that it is a lot cheaper to save human lives and make them useful citizens again. I believe that legal procedure for such commitments, treatment, and care of mental patients must be modernized in terms of assistance to suffering human beings. I would propose that a clinic be founded, assisted by the best in medical help to aid these people."

During his absence, Richard Q. Studer will be acting Scoutmaster. He will be aided by Samuel Toepel and Fred Olmsted as assistant Scoutmasters.

Troop 546 is planning a full round of fall activities, starting with a day hike on Saturday, Sept. 9. Two weeks later, on Sept. 23-24, the troop will take an overnight camping trip to Grindstone City, at the tip of Michigan's Thumb.

The troop is asking all its members to report regularly for meeting following the summer vacation season.

It is also inviting new boys, 11 years old or older, to join the troop. They may make application on Thursday nights, when the troop meets in the Woods Presbyterian Church.

Don't cut the asparagus too late if you expect an equally good crop next year. Give it a dress of plant food when you stop cutting.

APPEAL TO MEN:

Someday your family and estate are quite likely to be in Probate Court—and you will not be there. Wouldn't it be nice to know that on that day a woman Probate Judge would be there to give your wife and children the attention and understanding they need at that time?

Someday a child you are interested in may be in Juvenile Court. Wouldn't it be nice to know that a woman Judge and mother was there who could talk understandingly to and help that youngster?
