

Couple Leave for Florida After Rites

Fort Lauderdale, Florida, was the destination of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hal Brey after their wedding on April 7. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frederick Brey, of Fisher road and Mary Catherine Lintner, daughter of the Clarence Lintners of Seward avenue, were married at a two o'clock ceremony at St. Paul's Cathedral. Canon Robert Bottaker officiated.

The bride's gown was of antique ivory satin with clusters of seed pearls trimming the bodice and outlining the square neckline. Her matching headress was also pearl-trimmed and her fingertip veil was of illusion. She carried a cascade of white orchids surrounded by stephanotis.

Mrs. Ralph J. Seiloff, Jr., attended the bride as matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Sexter, Mrs. William H. Erne and Mrs. Mark F. Tuck. The bride's cousin, six-year-old Carolyn Jo Lintner was her flower girl.

The attendants wore floor length periwinkle blue taffeta gowns with matching hats. The honor attendants flowers were a cascade arrangement of American Beauty roses, and the bridesmaids of yellow roses.

Mrs. Lintner was gowned in chartreuse chiffon over matching taffeta. Her flowers were sycamore orchids. The mother of the groom wore champagne beige chiffon over taffeta and purple orchids.

Attending the groom as best man was Mr. Ralph J. Seiloff, Jr., and seating the guests were Richard Klemann, William H. Erne and Robert Westcott. Master Charles Gary Lintner was ring-bearer.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Pompeian Room of the Whittier Hotel.

According to Childcraft Books, owls have other talents beside their ability to see in the dark. They are as swift as swallows in flight, and as sensitive to sound as a radio receiving set.

CENTURY-OLD WESTERN UNION FASTER THAN EVER

WESTERN UNION goes into its second century of service with the best and fastest telegraph service in the world. The company was organized April 1, 1851, as the New York and Mississippi Valley Printing Telegraph company in Rochester, N. Y., only seven years after Samuel Morse sent the first telegram. Five years later, when most of the United States was unpopulated wilderness, the name was changed to Western Union. In the old days the service was slow, and about the only thing a message sender could be sure of was that the charge would be high. Since World War II Western Union has doubled its capacity and increased its operating efficiency with automatic transmission and by spending $100 million.

First telegraph printer, which started Western Union in 1851.

Modern desk "telegraph office." Sender wraps message around cylinder, pushes a button, message is transmitted.

Telegrams pass through switching points in national network on perforated tape, are routed automatically to correct city.
