A story of prayer, sacrifice and hard work will be climaxed with the dedication of the new Bon Secours Hospital Saturday.

Edward Cardinal Mooney will preside at the dedication ceremony at 2:30 p.m.

PARAGRAPHS

The girls of Grosse Pointe Farms are indeed fortunate, for Private Francis W. Marsack of 212 Muir road will be getting out of the Army in June of 1952.

Private Marsack will be going home with matrimonial expectations. His first desire, upon discharge from the Army, is to find a hometown girl and get married.

Pvt. Marsack was inducted September 26, 1950, and entered the 517th Field Artillery Bn., APO 757, on April 21, 1951.

Pvt. Marsack specifies the following qualifications for sharing the nuptial vows with him. The girl must first of all be a good cook, a brunette with blue eyes, five feet, five inches tall and weigh 110 pounds.

It's never too early to start preparing a trousseau.

LAST FULL MEASURE OF DEVOTION

Published in the Review a year ago, the above picture has again been requested by various readers. Pictured are Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, and other civic leaders. The bronze tablets in Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center were unveiled last Memorial Day. Some 3,000 names of Grosse Pointers who lost their lives in service.

Appropriations For Two Municipalities Approved by Council

Budgets for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1952 were approved by the Councils of Grosse Pointe Farms and Grosse Pointe Park last Monday night.

Reflecting the inflation spiral and higher cost of living, the Farms budget calls for $737,017.57.

In the Farms the net amount to be raised by taxes is $571,782.47. To meet the rising operation costs and continue the present high standard of service the City tax will be raised 55 cents per $1,000 valuation.

This is the first time in four years that the levy has been raised by the Farms. Revenues provided by new construction enabled the Council to maintain the tax rate of $15.53 in 1949, 1949 and 1950.

According to City Clerk Harry Furton, the new rate will be $18.06 per $1,000 valuation.

Memorial Day Observance at Center

Memorial Day will be observed in Grosse Pointe at a ceremony Wednesday at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center, 32 Lake Shore road.

The services will begin at 10:45 a.m. in the circular drive at the front entrance of the center.

In case of rain, the program will be held in the Center's front entrance hall.

Grosse Pointe Boy Scouts will raise the flag and lower it to half mast.

The invocation will be read by the Rev. Andrew Rauth, of the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church.

The Gold Star Roll of Honor will be read by Grosse Pointe Park Mayor Homer Frick.

Wage increases, additional personnel and an increase in extraordinary appropriations account for a major part of the additional money needed.

The approved budget represents an increase of more than $40,000 over last year's appropriation of $685,011.45.

A surplus of $35,000 carried over from last year is one factor which prevents a larger rise in this year's tax levy.

In the City of Grosse Pointe Park, the Council approved a budget calling for $1,044,920.

The budget as approved includes appropriation for public safety amounting to approximately $20,000 over last year's.

The public works appropriation has increased about $10,000.

The decrease in the improvement reserve, general government, parks and recreation, and debt service bring the budget total for the Park to about $14,000 less than that of last year.

The net amount of the Park's revenues to be provided by property taxes is $1,014,920.

New Members To Retirement System

Appointments to the Grosse Pointe Farms General Employees and Policemen and Firemen retirement systems were approved by the Farms Council Monday night.

Councilmen George L. Schaefer and Neil S. McEachin were named to the Police and Fire system. Ethan Perwit was selected as the citizen member.

Patrolman Vernon Sylvester represents the Police. The Fire Department is represented by Raymond Snay.

Councilmen William G. Kirby and John M. S. Hutchinson were appointed to the employees' system. Lewis Garred is the citizen member.

Public Works employees are represented by Walter Labadie. Ignatius Backman is the Water Department member.

Protest Parking

Around twelve residents of Nottingham attended the Council meeting in Grosse Pointe Park last Monday night to protest the parking of cars on the lot behind the automobile dealer on Jefferson at Nottingham.

The Council voted to restrict parking in the area in question on the west. However, parking in the lot north of the alley which has been permitted over a period of about five years will be allowed.

Boat Looted at City Pier

Edw. J. Pongrazz, Jr., 782 Notre Dame, reported to City of Grosse Pointe Police that equipment valued at $53.70 was stolen from his boat last Thursday night.

A fire extinguisher, landing net, flashlight and minnow pail were among the items taken. Pongrazz said.

The boat was moored at the City Pier.

Attractions Offered at Carnival-Fair Saturday

A Country-Fair, complete with riding ponies, a ferris wheel and cotton candy is scheduled at the Grosse Pointe Country Day School Saturday.

Proceeds from the event, sponsored by the parents' and alumni associations of the Grosse Pointe Country Day School and Detroit University School, will be used to provide scholarships to the school.

Thrill rides will be open on the midway from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. They will include the ferris wheel, a tilt-a-whirl, a pond with miniature boats, small cars for children to drive and a merry-go-round.

In addition, a white elephant booth, a garden shop, a food shop, and a Summer book shop have been planned.

Mrs. Arthur E. Dieckoff, chairman of the book shop committee, has announced that her concession will feature 3,000 of the newest books for adults and children.

Winifred Loerch Gomez, Elizabeth Howard and Antoinette Brown Suter will be on hand to autograph their books between 2 and 4 p.m.

A supper of charcoal broiled hamburgers is being planned by a committee headed by Mrs. A. C. Ledyard.

Her assistants include Mrs. Albert Mackey, Mrs. Byron Phillips and Mrs. Theodore Sedwick.

Ninth grade girls of the Country Day School will work in the Garden Shop. Mrs. John M. S. Hutchinson heads the committee in charge.

The white elephant booth promises bargains at deflated prices. The committee includes Mrs. James McEvoy, Jr., Mrs. John Finlayson, Mrs. Ford Ballantyne, Jr., Mrs. Lloyd Marentette, Mrs. John Changler and Mrs. Max Wolfe.

The food shop will specialize in baked goods. Mrs. John F. Langs heads the committee.

Society Cites Memorial Center Garden

The gardens of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial Center and Richard H. Webber have been cited by the Michigan Horticulture Society.

The awards were made at the Society's annual meeting Saturday in the White House on Belle Isle.

The Memorial Center received an award of merit in the public garden division. It was accepted by Alger Sheldon, chairman of the board of directors.

Webber's Lake Shore road estate was cited as "a well maintained lawn and garden with simple dignity."

Red Cross Blood Bank at K of C Hall

Every pint of blood donated at Gabriel Richard Council, Knights of Columbus club building, Parkview and Kercheval, on Monday evening, June 4, will go to the boys in military service through the American Red Cross Mobile Unit, announced John Bizub, chairman of the council's blood bank committee.

This will mark the fifth call by the mobile unit at the council's headquarters.

Mr. Bizub stated that the council had promised the Red Cross the entire building facilities, for any organization, church, lodge, club or individual who wanted to donate blood.

Such donors may put their own names or organizations names on the Red Cross record card.

The one objective of the council, he continued, is to get as many pints of blood as possible for the American Red Cross to forward to Korea or wherever it is most needed.

Anyone under 60 years of age may volunteer to donate. The Red Cross staff of doctors and nurses will determine who can donate, and minors are allowed to donate with a written permit from a parent.

Warn Woods Dog Owners

Dogs running at large is becoming a problem in the City of Grosse Pointe Woods. It was learned today from Philip F. Allard, City Administrator.

All dog owners should heed the warning that their pets are in danger of being impounded, necessitating a trip to the dog pound plus paying the pound fee and a fine.

Dog licenses in the Woods were due on January first, he mentioned. Licenses formerly were due in May, an income owners may have failed to note the new date.

OK Street Lights

Erection of four street lights on Harbor Hill was approved by the Grosse Pointe Farms Council Monday night.

Immunization Advised by Health Dept.

The Civil Defense Committee has issued a recommendation regarding immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus which has been approved by the Wayne County Medical Society.

Immunization is advised in infancy and this should be maintained by booster treatments at eighteen months, at five, eight and eleven years. In other words, at three year intervals.

Smallpox vaccination is advised in infancy and thereafter at five year intervals.

The primary percent of immunization in the Grosse Pointe area is high. A recent school survey indicates, however, that the booster follow-up has been neglected. Attention of parents is therefore directed to this program which is outlined for civil defense.

Dr. Davies of the Health Department suggests that physicians be consulted for evaluation of your children's immunization status.

Safety Committee Hears Plans to Widen Mack

The Wayne County Road Commission has informed the Grosse Pointe Safety and Traffic Committee that plans are under way for the beginning of work on widening Mack avenue from Vernier road to the Macomb County line. Mack will also be widened from Bournemouth to Manchester.

The announcement contained in a letter from Mr. Norton, of the Road Commission, was made at the Committee's meeting on their first birthday yesterday by George Measel, secretary.

The Committee also approved writing the Road Commission in regard to advancing their date for painting yellow lines in the pavement centers and at intersections. A request for County action on the signal light at Seven Mile and Mack was also approved. Complaints have been made that there is a traffic problem during rush hours at this intersection.

New Patrol Cars Due in Farms

Bids to replace four police patrol cars were authorized by the Grosse Pointe Farms Council Monday night.

The Council will receive the bids at its June meeting.

Diogenes Should Have Been Here

It isn't common to lose an $1,800 purse. It's probably even rarer to have one returned.

However, both things happened last week to Mrs. T. J. Dixon, 1301 Brys drive.

Mrs. Dixon told St. Clair Shores Police that she thought she lost the purse, containing two rings worth $1,700, a $50 wedding band and $45 in cash, near Nine Mile road and Mack avenue.

It was found by Ralph Brandi, 20745 Morris road.

Brandi, who returned the purse intact, refused the reward offered him.

"He's one in a million," Mrs. Dixon stated.

The last-minute jam of legislation in the state legislature, now in its fifth and final month of deliberations, has set a new record of some kind in the opinion of veteran observers.

After taking it easy for four months, the House and Senate are now trying frantically to digest an avalanche of bills before adjournment on May 25. Bills are being considered hastily; committee amendments are not being read in many instances; rules are being suspended whereby a bill goes immediately from general orders to final vote—all in a matter of seconds.

Like the old railroad collision joke lobbyists who have been legislatures function at the state capitol for many years concluded: "There ought to be a better way to run the legislature than this."

Lack of leadership in both the House and Senate prompted the Associated Press bureau chief, Jack Green, to write: "The 1951 session should be written in history as one of the weakest, most do-nothing, most plodding." Few Republican office-holders could find fault with his indictment.

In fact, one leading Republican office-holder—a popular vote-getter last November—believes that the Republican party will do something about the legislature's inefficiency if it is to merit continued support in Michigan. He proposes that the party caucus agree on legislative rules which might insure the 1951 session from degenerating into the same plight—a last minute rush to get action after months of delay and inaction.

The popular primary is blamed for the rise of leaders who are responsible for the party and hence do as they please.

Interesting enough is the trend of the "Little Hoover" fact-finding reports, as submitted by so-called experts, to recommend centralization of authority in the hands of the governor. Michigan's split between the governor and other administrative officials, and the legislature has contributed to a stalemate with consequent confusion and strife.

The House of Representatives approved a bill to increase their salaries for the second time in two years. In 1948 legislators drew $1,095. In 1949 this was raised, under authority of a new amendment to the constitution, to $2,900 plus $400 annual expenses. The House recently voted to boost this to $4,500 a year—$3,000 salary plus $900 in expenses. A Republican caucus in the Senate cooled off the legislators' fever somewhat. No increase in salary but $900 in expenses was recommended.

Senator Blair Moody, Williams' appointee at Washington, has indirectly prompted a movement among Republicans to nominate Arthur Vandenberg Jr. for the office next year. Moody pleads for continuance of the Vandenberg tradition of unpartisan foreign relations—a policy probably better known to Vandenberg Jr. than any other person at the state capitol. He was secretary to his illustrious father for many years; in fact, in appearance and speech is "a spitting image" of his dad. The appointment of Moody is being interpreted in G.O.P. circles as a move by Williams to get the Democratic nomination as vice president. The governor went speech-making to Nebraska last week.

Action on the St. Lawrence Seaway project has reached a new stage in that a meeting is planned soon for Omaha, Neb., to which 15 governors will be invited. Topics will include all improvements beneficial to the middlewest.

But it is obvious that Governor Williams is setting the stage to push as his pet project, a through route from the Labrador mine deposits to Lake Michigan's port smelters. Such a gubernatorial forum is expected to bring the proper pressure to bear on Washington for approval of the Seaways program. Some 100 miles of the St. Lawrence river would necessarily have to be dredged.

It is a logical possibility that if the gas tax veto promised by Williams is upheld by the legislature the deadline will result in a special session. Recent figures released from the governor's office indicate that a 1.197 cent gas-tax plus truck taxes already approved would bring in the $30,000,000 needed by the highway department. Williams is still holding out for a corporations tax—even if he must cut his original four percent request. G.O.P. sees such a levy as just another consumer tax.

Governor Williams has instructed the state racing commissioner to investigate a reported link between certain stockholders of the Wolverine raceway (Detroit) and Frank Costello, gambler of Kefauver committee fame—or notoriety.

Detroit has been caught with its ballots down—and is screaming. Awakening to find the senate had passed a bill eliminating straight ballots, Wayne county clerk Edgar M. Branigan looked down his nose and said, "It has all the appearance of a Republican flag."

The highway department now is in the midst of painting markings of 7,000 miles of state arteries. First lower peninsula trunklines to be painted will be US-12, US-113, US-16, M-60, US-27, US-31 and US-131, in that order.

The "Little Hoover" commission recommends that the job of superintendent of public instruction be taken out of politics, and Dr. Lee M. Thurston, now holding the position agrees. The commission urges creation of a board of laymen with power to appoint a professional commissioner of education.

Following a recommendation that the state library be tossed out of the state office building, the library board threw the book at Robert F. Steadman, state controller, and demanded that $100,000 be appropriated for architectural plans for a new library building. Where Steadman would move the library if his plans are approved is a mystery.

In backing a bill to allow old age grants to persons who take jobs to obtain a minimum subsistence standard the senate has violated a federal law. But the chamber agreed to battle it through, stating the federal social security board seeks to hold recipients to a sub-standard way of life.

Tearing off the top two floors of the state office building and remodeling the remainder of the building will cost $2,921,000. An expensive undertaking, but necessary. Former occupants of the building are scattered all over the capitol city in quaint and dingy offices.

In the small game and deer hunting season of 1950 there were 277 hunting accidents resulting in 25 deaths and 190 injuries. Three accidents caused injury to two persons.

Dependents Benefits Explained

"Children have greater protection under the new social security law," declares Francis L. Pendergast, Manager of the East Side Social Security Administration office. He points out that the new dependency test now makes many children qualified for monthly payments who could not be paid under the old law. This prevails in cases where the child was receiving at least one-half of its support from the mother or adopting mother. Now such a child under 18 is considered dependent on the mother regardless of presence of or support furnished the child by the father. She, however, must have been in work covered by social security for approximately a year and a half of the three years before her retirement at age 65 or later, or a year and a half of the last three years of her life. This new dependency test may be applied as far back as 1940, Pendergast said. He pointed out that it will result in the payment of monthly benefits where they are needed most—to children under age 18 whose working mothers have died or have retired at age 65 or later. Even though a lump-sum settlement may have been made in cases where the insured mother died some time ago, monthly benefits for the dependent child may now be started by filing an application. Benefits continue until the child is 18 years old. Pendergast explained that persons in charge of such children should file a claim at the nearest Social Security Administration office if these children are not already receiving monthly benefit payments. Claims may be filed by mail or in person. The mother's social security number and the child's birth certificate should be on hand when claim is made. The East Side office is at 8720 Mark Avenue. Fred Waring, CBS-TV maestro, has been named "Man of the Year" by the Penn State Alumni Association in Philadelphia.

Rabaut Lauds Bill on Vets' Treatment

Congressman Louis C. Rabaut this week praised the rapid action of the Congress and the President in repairing a roadblock in the law denying Korean veterans the facilities of Veterans Administration Hospitals for the treatment of service-connected or aggravated disabilities. "Because the Korean hostilities were begun without a formal declaration of war, the law, as it stood until May 10, prohibited the VA hospitals from admitting boys for treatment of disabilities connected with their service in Korea," Rabaut said. "The Congress has reacted with lightning speed to this deplorable condition and, in one day, introduced and passed and sent to the President a bill providing the same hospitalization, home medical care, burial payments, and pension rights for any servicemen on active duty after June 27, 1950, as is now available to World War II veterans." Earlier this year, Rabaut noted, Congress had passed a new GI insurance law providing a free indemnity to survivors of all persons who die in the Armed Forces on and after June 27, 1949, in the amount of $10,000. No premiums are to be charged for this insurance and it will gradually replace the National Service Life Insurance of World Wars I and II.

"I am again introducing a bill similar to the one I sponsored in the 81st Congress to extend the provision of the GI Bill of Rights to persons who have served on active duty in the Armed Forces since the outbreak of hostilities in Korea. The Congress has shown itself sympathetic to the medical problems of the already returning veterans and we should begin to lay plans for meeting their other problems of readjustment as we did after World War II," Rabaut declared.

"What a find! Here is a book which I read over and over when I was a child. I'm going to take it home for my youngsters." With a well-worn copy of JUAN AND JUANITA by Francis C. Baylor, an enthusiastic father paused at the library desk. "Do you think they'll like it? With these modern kids, you never can be sure."

No... You can't be sure. Many oldsters with nostalgic memories are disappointed when junior turns thumbs down on some of their old favorites. On rereading these themselves, they might agree with Junior. Not all books that captured our interest as children have that timeless quality of which the classic is made.

But aside from the recognized children's classics, Alice in Wonderland, Tom Sawyer, Robin Hood, King Arthur et al, there are some books of a generation or two ago that deservedly remain popular today. JUAN AND JUANITA is one of these although it was written in 1887.

It is the story of two Mexican children who are captured by the Indians and escape across three hundred miles of desert. Based on fact, there is a perennial charm about this Robinson Crusoe type of story.

It is not unusual to have a lad read Joseph Altsheler's Young Trailer Series from beginning to end because he first found a few dog-eared copies of his father's in the family library. Altsheler enthusiasts will be glad to know that many of these titles, out of print for some time, are again available.

Another author of yesterday who deserves to live is E. Nesbitt. An English writer, her books may need some introduction to American children but if they fail to become acquainted with them, they are missing first-rate fare. The stories for which she is most famous are those of the Bastable children.

Published as three books, THE TREASURE SEEKERS, THE WOULD-BE-GOODS AND THE NEW TREASURE SEEKERS, these are also bound in one large volume, THE BASTABLE CHILDREN.

Says Christopher Morley, "Every generation of children, I suppose, has its own books, and not many of these carry over from one generation to the next. Still fewer are the books that carry over from one country to another. Being to the English speaking races is that once in a while American and English children are likely to read one another's books. They do so, if my memory is correct, with a delicious sense of strangeness."

Mr. Morley confesses coming upon the Nesbitt books in later life and rereading them with some of the guilty pleasure of the parent who is discovered playing with the electric train and the doll's house on Christmas Eve.

What books written today will give tomorrow's children pleasure? We would top such a list with the eight continuous stories by Laura Ingles Wilder, beginning with THE LITTLE HOUSE IN THE BIG WOODS and ending with THESE HAPPY GOLDEN YEARS. Based on her own early life, Mrs. Wilder gives a vivid picture of homesteading some seventy years ago.

Here is a genuine chronicle of American life and of family life at its best. A desirable feature of this series is that the first book will appeal to the eight or nine year old and as the books continue the age appeal increases. Young readers, quick to recognize that the characters are real people, will enjoy growing up with the Wilders. Mrs. Wilder is now over eighty years old and lives at Rocky Ridge Farm, Mansfield, Missouri.

Speeding on U. S. streets and highways last year killed 13,300 men, women, and children.

After dinner, served by women of the Church, Mr. Marion K. Kellogg, president, opened the business meeting. He reported on the excellent work of the committee, especially the central library committee, and membership committee. The latter two, under Dr. Alfred H. Whittaker and Mrs. George R. The group then voted on directors whose terms had expired, including Mrs. Lloyd G. Hooker, Mrs. Russell Lucas, Mr. Marion K. Kellogg, Dr. Frank Pitt and Dr. Alfred Whittaker. All were re-elected for another term, the group feeling that it was important to retain their active participation on the Board.

Ibex Plans Dinner-Dance; Annual Meeting

Ibex is planning a formal dinner-dance on Friday, June 1st, at the Hillcrest Country Club.

Mrs. Robert Hunter, dance chairman, is making all necessary arrangements, as well as taking the reservations.

Mrs. Robert Weber has invited all the board members and their husbands for cocktails before the dance. Mrs. Harold Emmons and Mrs. Clark Wells are also entertaining.

The annual meeting of Ibex will be held Monday, June 11th, at the home of Mrs. J. Vernor Davis, on Cloverly Road.

After the annual reports have been read, three new members will be elected to the board. New officers will then be elected.

Tea is being served. Pretty Doris Brown, narrator of CBS-TV's "Lucky Pup," is an able seamstress, makes many of her own clothes.

Teen Talk

Prom-goers got out all their formal clothes last week-end and headed for the Junior Prom at Grosse Pointe High School. And, as usual, there was the usual round of dinner parties before the dance, and the open houses afterwards. Everybody we saw there seemed to be having a wonderful time!

Pat Barrett was hostess at a dinner party at her home before the prom. Some of those there were Pat's date, Hank Hubbard, Sue Senff and Joe Gratzler; Ann Watson and Gene Halbrook; Peggy Moreland and George McBride; Laura Lou Smith and Courtney Leckler; Tom Lister and Graechen Becker, and Elaine Kihen and Bill Rexford.

A progressive dinner party was in store for many of the seniors last Saturday evening. Jane Rippe invited many of her friends over for cocktails before the dinner. Some of those there enjoying Jane's hospitality were Bill Rupp and Donna Stearned, Bambi Wigton and Neil Lezynski, Carol Kretschmar and Herb Abrash, Bruce Allan and Barbara Westcott, Susie Sharrer and Al Mann, Annie Purdy and Bob Burges, and Peggy Fisher and Tom Marick.

After the cocktail party the kids went to Joannie Scherer's home for dinner. More of those there were Dorothy Demrose and Dick Carson, Joannie Merrill and Neil Smith, Karen Von Reis and Skip Obold, Jill Read, and Lincoln Godfrey, and Kay Lipscomb and Sam Armstrong. After the dinner, the couples went to Bambi Wigton's home for dessert.

The decorations at the Junior Prom were some of the nicest we've seen yet. The theme, "Deep Sea Dreams" was carried out by the fishnets and beautiful colored starfish on the walls, and pictures of seahorses.

Dancing to the music of Tommy Weldon were Joy Chamberlain and Jim Reindel, Joannie Hollister and Leo Kennedy, Irma Schlager and Ray Clark, Joe Murphy and Gail Sisson, Gordon Maitland and Bertie Roberts, Dale Petrosky and Ginnie Whittenberg, Gary Schroeder and Elaine Otto, and Al Meyer and Sandy Boebel.

Clare Weaver and Patti Jongs, George Reynolds and Marilyn Axford, Ruth Roth and Milton Monahan, Dave Hamilton and Fran Crowley, and Barb Waldo and Jerry Brown were more there enjoying themselves at the prom. The Grand March was led by the 11A class officers and their dates. B. G. Rich, class president, with his date Bev Riley; Joanne Rydholm, vice-president, and Bud McCullough; Pat Barrett, class secretary, and her date, Hank Hubbard; and Bill Jones, class treasurer, and his date, Marlene Climie.

As usual, there were loads of parties after the prom too. Bill Osborne was just one of people connected with Community Councils attend the meeting.

News of the World in Pictures

GENE COURTNEY, who, incidentally, holds the title, "Miss Cheesecake," spends a lot of time around photographers' studios (natch), so she takes the handiest means of cooling off on a hot day in New York—nestling among the photographs in a darkroom print-washing tank.

HE'S DOING HIS BEST to observe Foot Health week, which lasts through May 26, but Murray Tannenbaum, 7-foot, 2-inch student at Long Island university, Brooklyn, New York, has two strikes on him from the start. Trying to get new leather soles for his size 19 shoes, he is told by shoemaker at campus shoe repair shop that soles just aren't made that big.

MAKEUP MAN puts finishing touches to Dorothy Lamour in Washington as she prepares to enter the "big top" for her part in Cecil B. DeMille's new circus picture. Photographer snaps even this stage of production of the film, which is being made under canvas for first time.

ETIEMO LAUA, arriving from Belgium en route to Canada, models the very latest in comfort for the cradle set as ship docks in New York. Etiemo's parents carry him across the deck in a blanket chair with handles on sides for easy lifting.

TWO-SIDED terry cloth forms absorbent play coat and two-piece suit, modeled in N. Y.

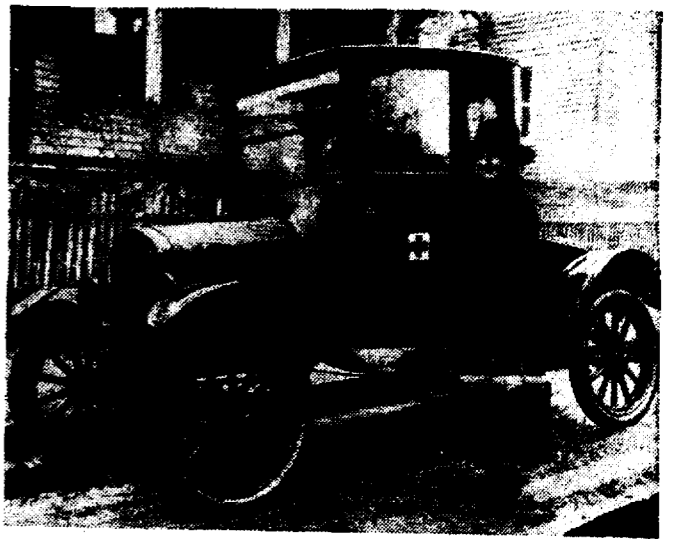

NAVY HELICOPTER from Guantanamo, Cuba, looks as if it is spinning in a whirlpool. Actually, the craft is hovering over a piece of wreckage from a Navy plane lost in the Caribbean, and the whirlpool effect is created by down-draft from rotors.

RED CROSS — 70 YEARS OF SERVICE

AT 70, THE American Red Cross is hale and hearty and planning to take on new and bigger jobs in the years to come. Formed in Washington on May 21, 1881, by Clara Barton and a handful of volunteers, the organization has grown into 3,738 chapters, with 1,650,000 volunteers, covering virtually every county in the nation. One of the largest of the 68 Red Cross societies in the world, the American chapter has aided millions of victims of disaster at a cost of more than $150 million. The Spanish-American war saw the start of Red Cross service in a national emergency. Today the organization plays a vital role in national defense effort.

On Okinawa in World War II, a Red Cross girl carries hot drinks to patients in the field.

Box of toys from American Junior Red Cross helps cheer British child waiting to undergo serious operation in London.
